The rabbit was found in a field and instead of killing it the Brooks decided to see if their dog would nurse the motherless baby. Lady, who was separated from nine of her litter of 11 pups, immediately adopted the stranger as one of her own. The little water spaniel nurses the rabbit along with her pups and at this writing both her children and her adopted child are progressing nicely.

Supervisors Lauded For Outstanding Job At Detroit Prison

Two persons well-known to Cass City residents are responsible for making the Detroit House of Correction what is called by authorities the "Best run prison in the United States," according to a recent article in the Detroit Free Press.

The two are Supt. A. Blake Gillies, formerly of Cass City, and Deputy Supt. Ed Gardiner, who married the former Mary Strifler of Cass City.

Through the diligent, intelligent efforts of the two supervisors, they now control a prison of 1,262 inmates serving a total of 10,000 years in sentences without benefit of locks and guns.

The modern prison administration inaugurated by Gillies and Gardiner have given the "Dehoco" prison the enviable record of rehabilitating 80 per cent of serious offenders who completed their terms.

Work at the model prison under the two administrators has made the prison a paying proposition. Last year the prison showed a profit of $119,000 from 900 acres of cultivated land and prison industries.

Chauncey Furman Buried in DeBois Cemetery Thursday

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Vassar Methodist Church for Chauncey W. Furman, 33, Tuscola County Prosecuting Attorney, who died from injuries received Friday night in an automobile accident west of Unionville.

Mr. Furman was driving on M-25 after attending the Cass City-Vassar football game and missed the curve at the intersection of the Bay Park Road, hitting a telephone pole and turning over several times.

Deputy Sheriff A. M. Wallace, of Tuscola County, reported that Furman was hurled clear of his completely wrecked car before it was entirely stopped.

He was taken to a Bay City hospital by ambulance and never regained consciousness after the accident. According to Bay County Coroner William A. Trahan, Furman died of multiple chest fractures and internal injuries.

Mr. Furman was a life-long resident of Vassar. A World War II veteran, he entered service as a private and emerged as a captain after serving four years, two of which were overseas duty.

He was a graduate of the Vassar High School, Western Michigan College of Education and the Detroit College of Law. A member of the Michigan Bar Association, he was serving his second term as Tuscola County prosecutor. Mr. Furman belonged to the Atkinson Post of the American Legion of Vassar and the Vassar Methodist Church.

Surviving are his widow, Donna; a son, Donald, and his parents.

The Rev. John Zeew and H. A. Brewer officiated at the funeral and the body was taken to Battle Creek for burial in the DeBois cemetery at 2 o'clock, Thursday.

An alert defensive play by guard John Ellis, some clutch running by Tom Schwaderer and rugged defensive work by the entire Cass City High School football team broke the long winning streak of Vassar High School Friday evening at the Cass City Recreational Park. The score was 6-2.

The key play in the only scoring drive of the day came when Ellis rose up from the middle of the line and intercepted a pass to give the Hawks the ball on the Vassar 39-yard line. A moment later, Schwaderer scooted off tackle in a brilliant 35-yard run that carried the ball to the 49-yard line. Then Creason pounded the center for a yard, Schwaderer darted the rugged Vassar defense for another yard and a half and rammed over on the next play for the lone touchdown of the game. Pete Martin's try for point was short.

It looked as if Vassar was going to get the touchdown back in short order as they used power to chew up yardage in a sustained drive that netted four first downs and moved the ball to the Cass City 14-yard marker.

But this was Cass City's day. They refused to be moved and made their first two stops deep inside their own 20-yard line.

For, after failing in their initial effort, Vassar came back with another drive in the third period to threaten again. With Armour carrying the ball most of the time, the defending league champions rammed their way to the nine-yard line on fourth down with a foot to go. But with the chips down, Cass City held and took over to avert the touchdown threat.

The final points of the game were scored in the final minute of play. The Hawks had the ball deep in the shadow of their own goal post with fourth down and 15 yards to go for a first down. Rather than risk a blocked kick or a fumble, Coach Arthur Paddy sent in instructions for Schwaderer to fade back of his own goal for a safety.

Then the Hawks made a free kick and Vassar had just time for one more play before the final whistle. They tried a desperation pass that was incomplete and Cass City had the ball game.

The statistics reveal just how close the game was. In total yardage, Vassar picked up 194 yards and Cass City netted 183 yards. The Hawks made 142 yards rushing and 41 passing, while Vassar netted 167 rushing and 27 passing. Both teams completed two passes, but Cass City intercepted three Vassar tosses while none of the Hawk's aeriels were snagged by their opponents.

The victory places Cass City in an advantageous position in the race for the conference title. Using comparative scores as a marker, the Hawks should win from Pigeon this Friday and figure to go into the home-coming game with Caro undefeated. The game with the Hawk's arch rivals could well decide the championship of the league.

Deep Litter System Cuts Cleaning Time

If poultry raisers want to use the deep litter system they can simply add fresh litter to the present litter in the laying house. This idea should meet with approval because it saves the job of cleaning out the laying house, suggests J. M. Moore, extension poultry specialist at Michigan State College. Aside from the labor-saving angle, the deep litter system will help overcome the problem of damp litter—if the poultry house is well-insulated. And this well-insulated part is important, Moore says. He suggests 4 inches of wood shavings along the sidewalls and ceiling. Or a straw loft can replace the wood shavings for ceiling insulation. Ventilation above the ceiling insulation is important in the poultry house so the moist air can escape instead of condensing and running back down into the house. The deep litter is built up by simply adding more litter and letting the hens mix it up with the old litter. It should be built up to about 10 inches deep by the time cold weather comes. Deep litter gives off heat, making the house warmer. Bacteria in deep litter also produce vitamin B12 and certain traces of the new wonder drugs, antibiotics, for the birds. Continuous stirring is necessary to mix the wet litter with the dry and speed up drying. Stirring 15 pounds per bird a week of hydrated lime or superphosphate into the litter at night will help keep down ammonia fumes and help keep the litter dry in freezing weather. An Arabian prince bemoans the fact that they just don't have water. Everytime they drill for water they strike oil. What a sad state of affairs.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Thirty-five Years Ago.
The village council, in regular session Monday evening, put down the lid and enforced the curfew ordinance adopted in 1895 to stop petty thieving on the part of several youngsters in Cass City during recent months. Contractor John Ginzle completed the repairs to the government breakwater at Harbor Beach. The job called for an expenditure of $65,000 and the work has required six months' time, two months last summer and four this. Glen C. Huffman had his knee cap broken, his wife suffered two scalp wounds and their little son of 15 months escaped with a few scratches in an automobile accident which occurred about eight o'clock Tuesday evening. The automobile which was driven by Mr. Huffman and belonged to David Law was badly wrecked. The accident occurred about three miles north of Cass City. Mr. and Mrs. Huffman and little child were returning to town from a short trip into the country.

Twenty-five Years Ago.
A quiet wedding which has caused a great deal of surprise among their friends took place Thursday, Sept. 12. The contracting parties were Andrew Nolton Bigelow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Bigelow, and Miss Alice Marie Martin, daughter of Mrs. Harriet Dodge. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Pumsrey, pastor of the Methodist Church at Fairgrove. The Sunday School classes at the M. E. Church, taught by Mrs. I. W. Carogo, Mrs. Thos. Colwell and Mr. Holmes enjoyed a wienie roast at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath Wednesday evening from 6:30 to 8:30. Lieutenant and Mrs. James F. Cooper and daughter, Jane Marie, who have spent the last two and one-half years in China, spent the week end with Mrs. Jessie Pettit. They will leave Tuesday for Philadelphia.

Ten Years Ago.
Mr. and Mrs. Chris Seeger discovered fire in their bedroom as they were eating supper in the adjoining kitchen late last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Seeger planned on extinguishing flames with a pail of water, but found on closer investigation that the fire had progressed too far for such treatment and the fire department was called to subdue the flames.

Miss Lena Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brooks, of Cass City and Joseph Malock of Romeo were quietly married on Wednesday, October 1.

A daughter was born in Morris Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dorland of Decker. The second week of the Cass City Bowling League produced some top-flight scores. The pace was set by Walt Mann, who in his last game of the evening, tossed his ball for a rousing 246-pin total.

Five Years Ago.
Cement pouring started Monday on the five-mile stretch of highway which is being improved this fall on M-81 between Cass City and Caro. By Wednesday night, one-fourth of a mile had been completed. The work of grading will be finished this week.

The Cass City Community Club opens its autumn schedule of dinner program next Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium. Howard Wooley, program chairman, announces that Rev. Arthur Delamarter of Port Austin will be the speaker of the evening. Sixty odd Cass City huskies are hilariously preparing for a big benefit show, "Womanless Wedding," sponsored by Cass City Memorial Post V. F. W.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

Meat War.
Most Americans don't like controls. They don't even like the sound of the word. Most business men shudder at the thought of government red tape and controls. And so it follows—that when controls are announced for any segment of our way of life—we have a first class disagreement in the making.

In the case of controls on meat, up until last week, it was mostly a war of words. Then the OPS sent the enforcement agencies out of the trenches. According to latest reports, many violations were found. Thus, the battle is joined.

Confusion.
The current controversy over meat prices and slaughter quotas—the daily bickering between government price fixers and the meat industry—has created public bewilderment comparable to the confusion of tongues at the Tower of Babel.

Take for example the Army's attempt to buy some 10-million pounds of fresh beef to feed American troops. The Army didn't even get a nibble on its offer to buy the meat domestically. It was forced to go into the foreign market to buy needed supplies.

Yet on that same day—the USD A reported that the nation's cold storage meat supplies as of September first were the highest since 1945. Very confusing—until an Army Procurement officer explained that meat held in cold storage isn't good enough for Army Specifications. (I'll take some.)

Charges.
Everyone connected with meat is being charged with "price gouging."—the farmer—the packer and the butcher. The meat industry blames high prices on inflation. Too much money to spend for the available supply. The old law of supply and demand.

Meat Situation.
There's enough meat in this country to give every man, woman and child 144 pounds of pork, beef and mutton in 1951. This supply has been topped only once in the last decade—1940.

The experts say that at our present rate of earning—we would buy about 200 pounds of meat per person per year if the price was right.

That's the ammunition the American Meat Institute is using in its fight against controls. They say that if meat prices go down the American housewife will buy a lot more and quickly exhaust our available supply. And—they continue—that would mean ration books again.

Production.
The Happy solution to all this is greater production of all meat animals. If consumers can buy all they want—then prices would drop to more normal levels—whatever that is. That's why farmers were asked to expand their corn and other livestock feed acreage.

The key to the whole problem is incentive. The farmer and rancher must be able to make a profit on livestock or he won't stay in the business—let alone raise more than usual. Even with controls—nobody works for free.

And there it is—the whole argument, pro and con, in a nutshell. Or to be more exact, in a circle.

If you can figure out a solution—there's need for you in Washington.

About 50-years ago the old industry had a by-product of kerosene which was called gasoline. The problem then was how to get rid of it. Today we are wondering where we can get more.

Too many speeding car drivers follow the middle of the road policy.

Nothing is more pathetic than a man who guesses right once and considers himself an expert.

Frequently you hear it said certain problems will be taken care of as soon as the election is over.

The complexities of our existence are increasing with the passing of each day.

Tour to Stress Top Profits from Labor

Getting top profits from expensive labor is essential in these times of high prices. Helps in accomplishing this goal will be featured in the state farm management tour, set for October 16, in Kent County.

Four stops are scheduled for the state event, according to F. E. Ferguson, extension specialist in agricultural economics at Michigan State College.

The first stop at the farm home of Forrest Squires, Rockford, will feature a farm on which a young man is getting started in the farming business. Efficient use of labor is especially important in the organization on the Squires farm and farmers will get pointers on saving labor on their own farms, Ferguson said.

Ed Parmiter, also of Rockford, will be host at the second stop. Here visitors will see a well-established farm with cash crops furnishing the income.

Tour members will eat lunch at the 4-H Club camp at Bostwick Lake and a practical farm manager will discuss features of successful farm operation at noon.

The third visit will be at the Lyle Hunsberger farm, near Grand Rapids. This stop will be of interest to dairy farmers because they'll see an efficient operation with breeding stock furnishing a profitable sideline, Ferguson pointed out.

A diversified operation with dairy, poultry and fruit as the main enterprises will be viewed at the Raymond Jost farm at Comstock Park.

"All farmers in the state are invited to take part in this tour," Ferguson said. "We feel it will be helpful and profitable."

John Gambell Opens Offices in Bad Axe

John C. Gambell, Public Accountant, is establishing offices in the Hotel Irwin, Bad Axe.

Mr. Gambell was formerly an executive of a national book-keeping and tax accounting firm with home offices in Lansing. A graduate of the University of California, he has taken postgraduate work at the University of Southern California, including special instruction in government regulation of business.

For several years, during and prior to the war, Mr. Gambell was employed by the Federal Government in various supervisory and administrative capacities.

Farm Loan Group To Meet at Caro

National Farm Loan Association members in Tuscola County will hold their annual meeting on Wednesday evening, October 10, at the Wilber Memorial 4-H Club Building in Caro.

One director for a three-year term will be elected at the annual meeting and Wilson Kirk, Secretary-Treasurer of the Association will present the annual financial report. An educational film will be the Detroit Edison Company and shown through the courtesy of some musical entertainment is being arranged. Refreshments will be served following the business meeting.

4-H Leaders Meet

All new 4-H club adult leaders are urged to attend a meeting designed for them on Thursday evening, October 11, at the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building, says George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent. Material will be presented at the meeting that will aid leaders in understanding the 4-H club program and their jobs as 4-H leaders. The agent goes on to say that this meeting will be a good one for other leaders to attend too, because an opportunity will be offered to bring all leaders up to date on 4-H club work.

A psychiatrist says none of us are responsible for the things that happen to us, but we are responsible for the way we act when they do happen.
