Hawks Nip Caro In Opening Round Of State Tourney

Lightly regarded Caro handed Cass City a scare Wednesday night at the Cass City High School gymnasium before bowing to the undefeated Hawks, 62-48, in the opening round of the State class "B" district basketball tournament.

Playing with a revamped lineup, the Tuscola County seat cagers played Cass City on even terms for three full quarters before fading in the final period as the Hawk attack finally started to mesh.

In the opening quarter, Cass City looked very ragged. The usual smooth passing and accurate shooting of the club was missing, as time after time the Hawks lost the ball with bad passes that went out of bounds.

Despite their poor showing in the opening canto, Cass City managed to be on the long end of a 15-12 score. But in the second period, Caro reduced the margin a point with aggressive rebound work and accurate shooting. At the half, the score was 14-22.

In the third period, many Caro fans had visions of one of the biggest upsets of the year. For Caro, who Cass City had soundly trounced twice during the regular season, moved into a three-point lead midway through the quarter.

Graydon Agar fouled out at this point and Roy Wagg replaced him and the tide slowly turned. Cass City rallied and ended the period on the long end of a 39-37 count.

In a see-saw fight in the last quarter, Cass City gradually moved further ahead and with four minutes left, it became apparent that Caro's vision of an upset was fading fast behind the Hawk's concerted drive. With a six-point margin, Cass City made Caro check far out in the court and the Hawks drove in for repeated short shots to add to the score.

The Hawks were to have played Bad Axe Thursday night in the second round of the tournament.

Members of Women's Clubs in Cass City and surrounding area, together with other interested persons, had the privilege Tuesday of hearing Mrs. Philip Gentile of Detroit, lecturer for the University of Michigan extension service, and one of the most outstanding speakers ever to appear in Cass City.

Organ music by Mrs. Stuart Merchant was enjoyed while members of the reception committee of the Cass City Women's Study Club registered and seated 103 guests from Lancaster, Ohio, and women's clubs in Bad Axe, Caro, Kingston, Gagetown, Owendale, Uby, Elkton and Cass City.

Cagers End Perfect Season By Routing Harbor Beach

Cass City and Hawks tuned up for their coming battle in the state eliminations by toying with woefully weak Harbor Beach Friday night to rack up a 71-33 decision and end the regular season with an unblemished record.

The game, so one-sided that many of the comparatively small crowd left at half-time, was decided in the first five minutes when Cass City jumped into a 12-point lead and seemed to score almost at will.

Meanwhile, the Hawks were putting on their finest defensive display of the season. The defense was so effective that Harbor Beach failed to tally a field goal until halfway through the second period. At this time Cass City led 26-4.

A moment later, Coach Art Paddy pulled his starting five and cleared his bench in an attempt to hold down the score within reason.

The reserves played the rest of the second quarter and practically the entire third period. With the bench in action, Harbor Beach managed to outscore the Hawks, 16-14.

In the final period, Coach Paddy sent his first team back into action to keep them tuned for the coming state title chase and the regulars took control of the game again. With Tim Burdon, Bob Wal-

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

To this legislative observer it is the under-statement of the year to say that Governor G. Mennen Williams is making political hay out of the state's financial mess.

By posing as the champion of the people against "consumer taxes," these being the kind you pay openly and knowingly, Williams is trying to put his Republican opponents on the defensive. And, it can be truthfully added, he is succeeding to a marked degree. Here's the situation, as we see it.

Your 1951 dollar bought only 54 cents worth of merchandise and services as compared with 1939 (pre-war). This dollar affects everyone alike.

During this inflation decade Michigan schools and cities combined to woo voters' approval of an amendment to the state constitution, diverting a fixed ratio of state sales tax revenue back to schools, cities and townships. Whereas 42.18 per cent of the state revenue dollar in 1940 was derived from the sales tax, all being available for state needs, this had grown to 52.01 per cent by 1950. But the constitutional amendment arbitrarily decreed that 78 per cent must be returned to local governments, leaving only 22 per cent for state needs.

Result of these two forces, more needs and less money: A state deficit. In the 1949-50 fiscal year (ending June 30, 1950) the operating deficit was $45.7 millions. The net deficit, due to previous treasury balance, was around $21 millions. The deficit by June 30, 1951, had grown to $40.8 millions. Now the bottom of the barrel is in sight and an accumulative deficit of $50 to $60 millions is seen by June 30, 1952.

Obviously a source of more money must be found at once by the State Legislature. The question is: Where?

Governor Williams offers a painless remedy of a tax on corporation profits. He insists, with a straight face of innocence, that "big business" would foot the bill for public benefits. It smacks of Huey Long's spread-the-wealth cracker crusade: "Every Man a King!"

Auditor General John B. Martin comments: "It is imperative that the legislature should act in 1952 to solve this financial problem. The state lacks authority to borrow money. We must get back on a pay-as-you-go basis."

This year, G. O. P. legislators are trying to solve the problem in one or more of the following ways:

(1) Immediate economy by "holding the line," saying "no" to requests for more money.

(2) Long-range economy by streamlining state government, such as recommended by the Little Hoover Commission which was created by the legislature.

(3) Revision of the state constitution by convention to modernize our present crazy-quilt system.

(4) Raise $50 to $60 millions more revenue by recapturing some state aid now returned to local governments and levying a number of small taxes on both business and consumers.

(5) Reducing the inventory of the state liquor control commission from $17.5 to $15 millions.

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake is of the opinion that the state must get some "quick money" this spring. "Our cash balance has been running down to around $15 millions," he said. "We're in a danger zone at that point."

What kind of "quick money" does Brake suggest?

"The liquor inventory could be reduced, for example," he explained. "The state's markup of profit could be temporarily boosted."

"Some of the intangible tax revenue could be recaptured. These are quick ways to get more money as contrasted to new taxes which might not be productive until next year."

Governor Williams' answer is emphatic: Republicans are controlled by "big business," they wish to put tax burdens on the consumer. The governor defends the needs of local governments; he champions the colleges and public schools and so on.

It is all window dressing for the November election. Williams knows he must swing over the independent Republican vote if he is to be re-elected for a third term. The CIO labor vote is already in the bag. Hence the strategy: Divide the Republicans.

It's an old military tactic. Williams believes it will work.

A very dim outlook is held by legislators on any new building programs for colleges or other state institutions. Rep. Arnell Engstrom (R-Traverse City) says capital outlay will be drastically cut except for buildings already under construction.

Dr. John Hannah of MSC was hit hard by the announcement by Rep. Engstrom that the programs would be slashed. He pointed out that a new library for the college is "imperative," the old one being constructed for an enrollment of 2,500 students. MSC now has 13,000 students. The college has requested $1,500,000 to start construction on a $4,375,000 library building. Williams says he will put the full amount in the next budget.

The St. Lawrence Seaway project is gaining momentum in Washington despite Upper Peninsula complaints that it would hurt the UP mining industry. Latest development is a move by Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) to set up a government controlled operation with authority to issue $485 million in revenue bonds to finance the project.

College students apparently share apathy honors with their parents when it comes to voting. At Michigan State College the 2,000 seniors were given ballots to decide definitely if a Saturday commencement program should be set up. Students had been complaining bitterly of the Saturday plan of last year. In one week the students returned only 340 ballots.

However Michigan's new elections director predicts the state will cast a record 2,500,000 votes this fall. Reason: mounting party interest, high potential strength of candidates, increased public attention to political and governmental issues such as possible vote on gasoline tax or reapportionment.

Michigan, still uncommitted on its choice for Republican presidential nominee, may hold the hammer in the Chicago convention next July. The state has a sizeable chunk of delegates to the convention—and it has not yet had a standing count of delegation leanings. The delegates should be well treated in Chicago—at least until they declare themselves.

Some Seed Prices Predicted to Rise

As seeding time approaches, it appears likely that seed prices will advance for red clover, alsike clover, brome grass and alfalfa, predicts Karl A. Vary, Michigan State College agricultural economist.

Although estimated seed supplies in the United States are somewhat larger than a year ago, due to record carry-over stocks, red clover, sweet clover, brome grass and chewing's fescue are in shorter supply.

The 1951 crop season was unfavorable for the production of Michigan and Canadian-grown alfalfa seed. This short supply is offset by this year's large crop in the Northwest and a record U. S. carry-over two times that of last year. Michigan-adapted alfalfa seed is expected to retail at about 75 cents a pound.

Keep Flowers Alive

Annual flowers will keep blooming if the flowers are not allowed to go to seed. Many varieties slow down, but can be revived by cutting back the top growth severely.

* LET'S TALK IT OVER *

Egg prices
Folks in the egg business have been pretty disgusted the last few months. It shows up best in the report on "intentions" of farmers in ordering chicks to replace the laying flock. The reason, of course, is prices. The wholesale price of eggs dropped from 60 cents a dozen, on November 15, to about 35 cents a dozen just a few days ago. Egg producers tell you they can't break even on the feed at 35 cents a dozen.

This is actually true. According to official figures, the egg-feed ratio is the lowest in history. This is one more bit of evidence proving that the squeeze is on the farmer. In spite of high retail prices, he can't make a profit.

Comparative figures
In viewing the following figures, it's well to keep in mind that prices don't always indicate profits. In 1919 and 1920 the average wholesale price of eggs was 64 and 58 cents. From then on, egg prices dropped steadily thru the depression in the mid-thirties. In 1933 the average price was 15 cents a dozen.

In the year of 1939, when economists say a dollar was worth a dollar, the price of eggs was 19 cents a dozen.

When the now present inflation started in 1948, prices jumped to 49 cents, and have remained at about that figure for the last five years.

Profit
Whether or not a farmer can make any money on chickens depends entirely on how efficiently the farm flock is managed.

We suspect that most farmers never really know if a profit is made because of the bother of keeping records.

New Angles
From now on, the post office will be filled with chick cartons. This is as much a sign of spring as the first robin. Folks are forever buying some fancy brand of catalogue chick with high hopes of a super egg production come fall.

The folks at the college say that you've got two strikes on you if you don't buy close to home where the chickens are used to the local climate.

In other words, breeding can never take the place of management and feeding. Yet some farmers continue to chase the will-O-the-wisp high producing chick that comes from some far away hatchery.

Feeding
We've mentioned this before, but it bears repeating. We saw conclusive tests, made with farm flocks of average chickens on GOOD feed, out produce the fanciest hen on farm-run rations. The same is true of pigs or dairy herds. In a lecture we recently heard by a national authority, the statement was made that breeding is way ahead of feeding, in this country.

The chick you buy at your neighborhood hatchery is just as good as any chick in the catalogue. You try to give your family an adequate diet, why not the chickens?

Solve Problems
The mopane insulating window units are being used in chicken houses, cattle barns, milk houses and hog pens to help solve moisture and daylighting problems.

Utah History
Utah, named for the Ute Tribe of Indians, was originally called Desert, a name used in the Book of Mormon, meaning "honey bee."

News and Views

George A. Dillman, Sec.

At a recent meeting of the Bowling Association, plans were discussed and approved pertaining to the Annual Cass City Bowling Tournament. This tournament is open to both the City League and Merchants League. Any bowler, who is a member of a team in the two leagues, may bowl with each team entered in the team event. You may bowl only once in the doubles and singles event. Tournament fees will be as follows: Entry fee $2.00, bowling 90c, tournament expense 10c, Total $3.00 per man per event. If you wish to participate for all events total prize, you will pay into the all events prize fund the sum of $1.00. Your first team event score will be used in computing your score in all-events total. Entry blanks will be available soon. Let's make this a big affair. We want every team to enter (30 teams). We don't know of another tournament where you can bowl THREE events and participate in all-events prize for the sum of $10.00. Your usual cooperation will be appreciated.

Michigan 4-H Club Project Expands

The Michigan 4-H Club talent search program of "Share the Fun" which attracted more than 2,000 youth in 46 counties last year has mushroomed into a national 4-H Club project.

Michigan was used as a proving ground for an idea of developing and proving outstanding 4-H Club entertainment talent. Success of the venture in Michigan has resulted in the sponsorship of a similar program in ten additional states.

Arden Peterson, assistant state 4-H Club leader at Michigan State College, was in charge of the program.

George Taylor, director of agricultural development for the U. S. Rubber company and former Michigan State College staff member, recently announced expansion of the project at a meeting in East Lansing.

Slate Salad Making Meeting in Caro

Salads for winter and early spring will be demonstrated at the meeting held for leaders of Home Economics Extension groups, according to Miss Jean E. Gillies, Tuscola County home demonstration agent. The leaders will meet at the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building on Thursday, March 13, and Monday, March 17, at 10:00 o'clock.

A feature of the meeting will be a Vitamin C check-up which will help each homemaker to rate her family's meals easily.

Recipes for salads for every occasion—appetizers, main dishes, dessert salads and party salads will be distributed to all group members. Salad dressings with that "different" flavor to add variety to Michigan fruits and vegetables will also be included.

Alimony has been defined as the high cost of leaving.

Little Stories about Great Hymns

Dear Lord and Father of Mankind

Dear Lord and Father of mankind,
Forgive our foolish ways;
Reclothe us in our rightful mind,
In purer lives Thy service find,
In deeper reverence, praise.

Our own John G. Whittier gave us this gracious hymn. He grew up on a New England farm, where hard work left little time for study or writing. His family were Quakers; he learned to live simply, as Jesus did, and to love all mankind. He fought ardently against Slavery. "Love God and serve your fellow-men" was his ideal, which he lived and expressed in his quiet but careful way.

New Frigidaire on Display in Cass City

Frigidaire is showing its 1952 model refrigerators which are now on display in Cass City at the Cass City Tractor Sales.

Among the many changes in the new system are roll out shelves and a new kind of cooling system that the company has named Levelcold.

According to the company's engineers, the new cooling system has made possible a constant temperature under any weather conditions and during automatic defrosting.

Levelcold temperatures are maintained in the refrigerator section by concealed cold-wall chilling coils and a refrigerant on the back wall of the compartment. The system regulates the flow of cold, controls humidity and banishes frost before it collects. The elimination of frost makes conventional defrosting unnecessary, spokesmen for the company said.

SHELL HORSEHIDES

I HAVE both soles and uppers of tough Shell Horsehide.

ARE tanned slipper-soft by secret triple-tanning process.

NO other work shoes are made like the Wolverine Work Shoes.

Imitations? ... PLENTY!

Duplicates? ... NONE!

That has been proven on millions of the workers' feet. Month for month—mile for mile—Wolverines cost less to wear, yet they are moccasin-soft, dry out soft, stay soft, thanks to Wolverine's triple-tanning process, a carefully guarded secret for over forty years.

Come in and let us show you a pair of these wonderful work shoes.

See That Shell!

..... It's the tough, reinforcing center layer found only in SHELL Horsehide.
