

Tuscola Jury Finds Joe Babich Guilty As Charged

Joseph Babich was found guilty by a Tuscola jury of assault with attempt to do great bodily harm Tuesday in the circuit court in Caro.

The trial stemmed from the shooting of Lyle Reynolds on Saturday, Dec. 1, when Babich shot and hit Reynolds in the left knee after an argument with the younger man.

The conviction marked the first time that Babich was arrested since moving to a farm in Tuscola County many years ago.

The judge will sentence Babich in the near future.

Allison Green Speaks At Farm Bureau

Eighteen members and Representative Allison Green of Kingston, as guest, were present Monday evening when the Elkland Farm Bureau met with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Eastman. Representative Green discussed the proposed reapportionment bill.

In the business meeting, members voted to sponsor a candidate for bean queen to be selected in August. There was a discussion on the evils of liquor and narcotics and the conclusion reached was that small stores and more remote taverns were more often guilty of selling to minors.

It was decided that laws should be made to regulate liquor advertising to do away with misrepresentation and that penalty for illegal sales of liquors and narcotics should be made more severe.

Potluck supper was served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Maynard McConkey extended an invitation for the June meeting.

He had been practicing medicine in the Kingston area since 1890, when he moved to that village after spending three months in Detroit.

Dr. Bates was a graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School in 1890, and moved directly to Tuscola County to begin his practice after graduation.

He has spent over a half century ministering to the needs of the persons in the Kingston area. He maintained an active practice until eight or ten years ago.

He was honored as a member emeritus of the Michigan Medical Society on September 12, 1940.

Warden Blake Gillies Starts Final Year

Superintendent Blake A. Gillies, former Cass Cityite, entered his final year as pilot of the Detroit House of Correction this month—a vocation that has earned him a national reputation as running the best regulated prison in the United States.

Already granted two extensions beyond the retirement for employees of the institution, 68-year-old Gillies stated that there will be no more extensions possible at the conclusion of his final year as Superintendent.

Mr. Gillies says that if he had his life to live over again, he would select prison work as a vocation, "because it gives a person a wonderful opportunity to help people who need help."

Warden Gillies has given no indication of what his future plans will be with the exception of seeking ways to restore his health, which hasn't been of the best in recent months.

Hawk Nine Tops Caro, 4-1; Whips Unionville, 10-4

Behind the one-hit pitching of Gerald Whittaker, Cass City edged Caro in an Upper Thumb Conference game Thursday, May 8, as they scored four runs in the sixth inning to take the decision, 4-1.

The win was the first of two for Cass City during the week. Monday, at the Cass City Recreation Diamond, the Hawks walked over Unionville in a non-conference tilt, 10-4.

Despite the nifty hurling by Whittaker, Cass City was forced to come from behind to whip Caro. A double by Bill Taylor and a Hawk error gave the Tuscola County Seaters a 1-0 edge in the second inning.

In an unusual experiment, Caro tried to annex the victory by alternating.

A party will be held at St. Michael's Church, Wilnot, Sunday evening, May 18, at 8.—Adv. 1t.

Political Announcement.
I wish to announce that I will be a candidate for the office of sheriff for Tuscola County on the Republican ticket at the primary election, August 5. William S. Allison.—Adv. 1t.

Cass City also won the freshman meet from Caro, 76-33.

The complete results:
Broad Jump: Burdon, CC; Hoyer, C; Solgate, C. 19 ft. 8 1/2 in.

Mrs. Wetters Tells Of Japanese Life
Four women presented a Mother's Day program Tuesday afternoon when the Woman's Study Club met with Mrs. Herbert Ludlow.

Mrs. L. I. Wood, as chairman of the committee, gave a history of the origin of Mother's Day and Miss Adeline Gallagher read a number of tributes to mothers. Miss Gallagher had been a public school teacher for many years and is now retired.

Miss Hollis McBurney related stories of "Mothers I Have Known." These were women whose experiences she observed as a teacher for many years at Christ Mission in Youngstown, Ohio. Miss McBurney was a director for 25 years of this institution and is now retired and living in Cass City.

Mrs. William Wetters, whose son and his family are stationed in Japan, related firsthand information on Japanese home life and Mrs. Norris Wetters was responsible for most of the details of this interesting talk. The speaker also showed photographic views of natives and scenery of Japan, besides various souvenirs.

The next and last meeting of the club year will be held May 27 in the home of Mrs. Wood and will consist of a potluck luncheon at one o'clock, served under the supervision of the reception committee of which Mrs. Joseph Benkelman is chairman. A white elephant sale will also be conducted and officers and chairman will present their annual reports.

To The Voters of Tuscola County:

I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of Prosecuting Attorney at the primary elections to be held August 5, 1952. Your support toward my nomination and election will be sincerely appreciated. Bruce D. White.—Adv. 1t.

The Altar Society of St. Pancratius Church will sponsor a party Thursday, May 15, at 8:00 o'clock. Public invited.—Adv. 2t.

Forty members of the Bay City Chorus entertained a capacity crowd at the Ladies' Night program of the Cass City Community Club Monday evening at the high school auditorium.

The group sang 19 selections, including solo, duet and barbershop quartet numbers.

Many of the persons present believed that "The Lord's Prayer," sung by tenor Robert Dean was the outstanding number of the entertaining program.

The group presented a variety of music that varied between religious spirituals such as "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" and semi-classic numbers that were typified by songs like "Make Believe."

The group from Bay City has three sponsors, according to Mrs. Merrill Groulx, who directs the program in communities in Michigan are the Continuous Education Department of Bay City Junior College, Bay County Recreation Department and the Bay City YWCA.

Other songs that brought the applause of the group included two selections by the organization's barbershop quartet, "Strolling Through The Park" and "The Man In The Moon," two favorites of barbershop singers, were ably presented by members of the chorus.

Barnaby Blackwell, baritone, presented "Deep River" and "Road To Mandalay" as an encore.

The baked ham supper for Ladies' Night was served by the ladies of the Church of Christ.

Table grace was given by Mrs. Elwood Eastman, Mrs. Howard Woolley and Anne Marie Lorenzen. Marilyn McConkey provided piano music during the meal.

SCIENCE AND YOUR SPINE

Everything changes these days except the human spine.

While scientists work at break-neck speeds revolutionizing industry, splitting atoms, the spine remains the same—the shock absorber for the entire body, the control panel of all bodily functions.

The farmer vibrates all day on a tractor. The railroad engineer gets a crimp in his neck from looking out of one side of his cab. The mailman gets stoop-shouldered. Miners get cramps. Stenographers get cramped fingers.

And what happens? People in nearly all walks of life find themselves suffering from stomach trouble, headaches, lumbago, sciatica, kidney trouble or failing eyesight.

And why? Any of these conditions may have developed originally from a misalignment in the spine.

Chiropractors are experts on the spine and its important body functions. Chiropractors know by experience a simple adjustment may end months of pain, suffering and misery.

Treat yourself to the best in health.

Your chiropractor in the Cass City area is DR. B. V. CLARK, at 148 W. Lincoln Street, Caro, or phone 370 for an appointment.

McConnell Tells of Flood Battle

Editors Note: This is the second of three installments of the letter written by Pvt. McConnell.

You look around at your companions just to sort of take inventory. A lot of the fellows don't know each other but they will before long. They have roughly 600 miles to travel together in the rear of that truck. You read a while and talk a while and soon it is twilight. It gets dark in the truck and about all you can see is the red glow of 3 or 4 cigarettes. Every once in a while the conversation will stop and you ride for a while in silence.

Then another topic of general interest pops up and the talking starts again. There are two Mexicans talking to each other on your left. They are of Spanish descent but just as much G. I. as you. Once in a while you hear them mention Pusan or Seoul and you know they are talking about their Korean experiences.

The guys are trying to settle themselves for a little sleep now and it is quite a task. A dozen men with duffel bags makes it pretty crowded.

You have a sweater, field jacket, and hood on but you are getting cold so you drag out your blanket and wrap up.

It is completely dark now and all you can see is the sky and stars out the rear end of the truck. Someone says "lights out" and drops the rear canvas and fastens it and then even the stars are blotted out.

You brought a couple of candy bars along so you start munching on one and think about what a long night it is going to be. And a long night it is. You are laying on one of the seats along the side of the truck and it isn't very comfortable. Every time someone moves, somebody else gets a foot in his face. You don't sleep very long at a time. You just keep dozing off and waking up again. It is pretty cold and every once in a while you sit up to rearrange your blanket and wrap up a little better.

Company A is leading the battalion but they are moving awful slow. About twenty-five miles an hour. You wish they would go a little faster. At this rate, it will take forever to get there.

Sometimes the convoy will stop and you can hear the drivers and the officers talking outside the truck. You don't get up to see what's going on though. It's too darned cold and besides you would step all over everybody if you tried to crawl out. You just stay put and huddle in your blanket trying to keep warm. Before long the convoy is moving again, droning on through the night and crawling over the hills like a giant centipede.

Yes, it's a long night but dawn finally comes and about 0500 the convoy stops and the mess truck sets up its kitchen to serve chow. You have traveled half way across the state of Colorado and are just outside of the little town of Norton, Kansas, now. The vehicles all gas up from the tanker trucks while chow is being served and about 1030 hours you are on your way again.

You don't get chow again until about 1700 when the convoy stops in the town of Mankato, Kansas. The weather has been gray and sulen all day and to add to your depression it has been raining since noon. Not a warm rain but a cold, murky, chilling rain. The rain stops when you pull into Mankato though.

You are terribly hungry but you don't want to eat at the company mess so you go downtown and get about three dollars worth of groceries. A lot of the other fellows do the same and you all crawl into the truck and have a feast. The back of that truck is just like home by now. You made sure that you got enough groceries to last the rest of the trip and you are quite satisfied. You fill your canteen from the pump at a nearby house and are already to go again.

You are ready to go but the convoy isn't. They have to wait around for another 3 hours to get instructions by telephone. Finally we have a formation and the C. O. tells us that there is nothing definite but that he thinks the battalion is going to split up. He says that he thinks A company is going to a little town called Oregon about 33 miles north of St. Joe. He says that the whole battalion will move on to the town of Hiawatha and that we will receive definite orders there by phone.

While we are in Mankato you notice that some of the trucks have "St. Joe, Moe" and "St. Joe, Moe or bust" chalked on their sides.

Our drivers have had very little rest and the lieutenant warns them to stay alert during the night's drive. B company put one truck in the ditch and smashed the radiator on another last night. A company never had a mishap though.

You hit the road again and this time you really roll. You guess they must be making up for lost time. They are doing fifty and sixty all the time.

It starts raining and you pull your blanket a little closer. You have one of the favored places on the floor tonight and you sleep pretty good.

B and C company leave the convoy at Hiawatha and A and H & S go on alone. About 0900 you pull into Fort Leavenworth. We gas up and get the trucks greased, then we have chow. The sun is shining now and you have a couple hours to lay on the grass and relax. The green fields of Kansas are a pleasant change after the rocks and mountains of Colorado. They make you homesick though.

Just before you hit the road again you roll up the canvas on the truck. The sun is shining nicely now and everybody's spirits rise a little as we roll along. You sit and watch the countryside flow by. The people seem glad to see you.

Everybody waves. You are only a little way from St. Joe now. We don't go into St. Joe though. H & S company goes into St. Joe but A company goes around it. Our destination is Oregon, 33 miles further north. We finally pull into Oregon about 1630 hours. It is a dinky little place of 800 people. Part of the men move into the

NOTES from the TUSCOLA COUNTY EXTENSION OFFICE

Tuscola County dairymen may be interested in the new extension bulletin No. 310 "Ventilation for the Modern Dairy Barn," by J. S. Boyd and R. L. Baddex, of Michigan State College. Copies may be had by calling or writing the County Extension Office.

All farm land in Tuscola County would be kept as good if not better than when first acquired if farmers were as sincere about keeping the soil in a high state of fertility as is Fred Buehry, Elkland Township farmer near Cass City. Mr. Buehry has operated his farm since 1926 and believes in balanced farming and good soil conservation practices.

Twenty-two new members have been added to the Tuscola County artificial breeding associations during March and April. Huron-Tuscola ABA added 8 new members, Millington ABA, 4, Kingston ABA, 4, Vassar, 5, and Cass City, 1 during this two-month period. The Cass City ABA had the largest number of first services with 119 first services in March and 88 during April. Oley Frost and Steve Ziemba, both members of the Cass City artificial breeding association, reported twin heifer calves born in April.

The Dairy Herd Improvement Association board of directors will meet Tuesday, May 27th, at 8 p. m. in the courthouse, Caro.

Little Stories about Great Hymns
Jesus Loves Me

Jesus loves me, this I know
 For the Bible tells me so;
 Little ones to Him belong,
 They are weak, but He is strong.

Yes, Jesus loves me!
 Yes, Jesus loves me!
 Yes, Jesus loves me!
 The Bible tells me so!

This is perhaps the first hymn learned at Sunday School. The words, so simple, so lovely, were written by an American woman, Anna Warner, who lived on a Hudson River island. She busily wrote stories and taught Bible classes, but will be forever remembered for this beautiful children's hymn. The pretty tune by Wm. Bradbury certainly helped to make it popular. For half a century, children the world over have loved and sung this simple hymn of a child's faith in Jesus.

Thirty-one Present At 4-H Meeting

A "Friends of 4-H" meeting was held Tuesday night, May 6, at the 4-H Building in Caro.

A color film, "4-H in Action," and several speakers presented a comprehensive survey of the 4-H club program to businessmen, club representatives, and 4-H club leaders, who were present.

County Agent, Alfred P. Ballweg, opened the meeting, noting that the first 4-H club in Tuscola County was organized in 1917. Only 20% of the total young people in the county eligible for 4-H work were enrolled, he said. There are now 65 leaders and 59 4-H clubs in the county, said Ballweg.

Nevels Pearson, assistant state 4-H club leader, explained the national scope of 4-H work. He said that the goal of the 4-H club program was to spur farm youth to greater individual effort and make them good citizens.

Janis Black of Wisner told of the benefits that she had derived from eight years of club work and twelve completed projects.

Mrs. Bertha Achenbach, Akron, gave an especially interesting account of her experiences as a 4-H club leader which started in 1936.

4-H club agent, George C. MacQueen, outlined the financial status of the county 4-H program. He stressed the need of community support for the local program. He asked for suggestions on leader recognition.

A short discussion period ended the program. Refreshments were served by the courtesy of the 4-H Club Council.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Well here we go again.

The Michigan legislature, probably the most volatile outfit in the nation, is back again. Members are squabbling, squawling and bleating for more of this, less of that and none of the in-between—which is as ambiguous a statement as can be found this side of the Iliad.

But what is more confusing than our state government these days? It's a story as old as politics and who are we to change it? Not until we have a one-party administration, that is, or until that nebulous, hazy day when non-partisan politics takes the conflict—and the interest out of government.

The legislature, grumbling in its collective beard, is back again at Lansing this week, snarling and snapping at anything which doesn't follow the party line.

The Republicans face a beautiful impasse. They look down the throat of taxation and appropriation knots they left not too long ago. After whomping up what they figured was a taxation program to fulfill the budget (some $33,000,000) they gave up and went home, only to have the governor veto a heavy chunk for reasons which are old hat by now.

And the tax difficulties are complex enough to keep the estimable lawmakers in session for quite a spell. Of course, the G. O. P. could override the vetoes on two tax bills Williams has stomped on, but the Republicans just don't have the two-thirds majority in the house of representatives to do it. They'll make a fast try, but it's a waste of time to even consider it.

Then, if the Republicans adjourn the session Williams can call them back into special session and dictate the subject matter—and you may be sure it will encompass his well-worn corporation tax. However, if the lawmakers recess—and the Republicans have a simple majority to do that—they can let their committees work on the tax situation.

Sen. George Higgins, the dynamic gentleman from Ferndale, says he has three more tax bills which could solve the fiscal problem. What are they? The used car dealer who votes Republican won't say—but he does hint that one of them is a revised form of his original used car tax bill, the one which met such a cold eye from the governor.

Of course, there is the old discussion of the original Republican program. Williams says the G. O. P. $33 million plan would have yielded a small $17 million. The used car title transfer tax, which Higgins claimed would raise some $12 million (Williams said it would add a slim $3,440,000 to the general fund) and a liquor-handling tax the G. O. P. figured would add around $3 million (Williams said $1,021,000) are dead dodos. That is unless, of course, they can be revised to meet Williams' objections.

The governor has asked that from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000 be appropriated to repair the riot damage at Jackson prison. And he wants more cash to hire more prison guards.

This doesn't include, of course, the expected request for money to expand the state police, which the governor says has been below the margin of safety for years.

Now add up these little problems and you will find one gigantic headache for Michigan Republicans: How to keep their tax program and still raise money for the articles the people darn well will insist on. The Jackson affair has acquired too much publicity and is obviously too serious a situation to pass off.

But the present budget won't allow for it without adding more to the deficit. If Republicans don't raise the money their reputations are at stake—to say nothing of their votes. If they do raise the money Williams will veto the bills.

Political volley ball of the season, of course, is the Jackson riot. Two days it was biggest story in the nation, four days top in the state and still merits page one play whenever one of the myriads of investigators opens his mouth.

The Republicans say Williams sold out the state. Democrats declare just as firmly that the niggardly G. O. P. legislature refused to allot funds for proper maintenance.

Probably both sides have points, but this coming election is going to be so covered with such screening issues the real points will never reach the sunlight.

It'll take a discerning voter to penetrate the smoke and dig out the real battlelines—which, incidentally, neither side has made quite clear to capitol observers yet—except for corporation and non-corporation tax land mines.

When selecting new dishes, bear in mind that all colors do not go well with food. A purple sauce dish will clash violently with stewed tomatoes, for instance, say Michigan State College home economists.

To wash a fabric lamp shade, dip it in a thick suds of warm water and mild soap. Repeat with clean sudsy water and then rinse twice in clear water. Blot the shade between turkish towels. Dry quickly with an electric fan, so the frame won't rust.

Come on In . . . the Water's Fine

And it's pumped electrically in this up-to-date farm home. With two small children to keep clean and healthy, Mrs. Vern Whims, Oakland County, says water under pressure is a real help around the clock.

There's no lifting or lugging. And no need to skimp. Electricity puts water where you want it—when you want it.

A well-planned electric water system helps farm folks in other ways, too. More milk, eggs and meat; fewer hours of hard labor; extra fire protection.

Get in touch with your Edison Farm Service Advisor. He is an expert on farm water systems; proper size pumps and motors. No charge or obligation—but plenty of good, practical advice.

Coating Makes Anthrax Hard to Kill

"One reason why anthrax is so hard to control is that the tiny rod-like agent that causes the disease has a plastic-like protective coating which enables it to live for long periods of time."

Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent, made that statement after conferring with Dr. Glen Reed, Michigan State College extension veterinarian, about the disease that has broken out in several parts of Michigan and has farmers throughout the state worried.

In the dried form these anthrax spores have to be boiled at 270 degrees for 10 minutes to kill them. Once they gain entrance into the body of an animal, they multiply rapidly by simply splitting in two parts over and over. In a short time the blood stream is completely contaminated.

The spores make dams in the capillaries and their by-products destroy surrounding body tissue, making holes in the circulatory system. These holes cause internal bleeding and clots. They destroy the blood directly and ruin it.

The animal then has trouble getting its breath, and may pant, puff and show other signs of labored breathing. When the animals realize that something is wrong, they may "act a little crazy." The more acute form of the disease usually results in death before symptoms can be recognized.

Farmers should contact their local veterinarian in case they suspect the disease. One Michigan farmer recently lost several animals because he didn't check when a cow died from anthrax.

You can't buy good will—you have to cultivate it.

New Tractor at H. O. Paul Company

The H. O. Paul Co., International Harvester dealer here, has just received the first McCormick Farmall Super M, the new model which is described as the "world's most powerful all-purpose tractor." The tractor is now on display at their showroom.

"The new Farmall Super M has 21 per cent more power and faster field speeds than the famous Farmall M which it replaces," says Mr. Paul. "It will handle a regular four-bottom moldboard plow easily in practically all conditions and plow more than 20 acres in a 10-hour day."

All mounted implements that fit the Farmall M will work on the new Super M. The tractor has hydraulic control for mounted equipment and can be equipped with hydraulic Farmall Remote-Control for trailing machines.

POLITICIANS GET CREDIT

GAIT TOO FAST
The reason some boys don't follow in their father's footsteps is because the father's gait is too fast for them.

Ernest E. Spencer Arrives in Germany

Airman Third Class Ernest E. Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Spencer of R. F. D. 3, Cass City, is a recent arrival at Frankfurt, Germany, where he has been assigned to the 60th Troop Carrier Wing at Rhein Main Air Base. His wife, the former Juanita Jackson, is currently living in Cass City.

Airman Spencer is a former student of the Fairgrove High School. Prior to entering the Air Force, he was employed as a machine operator with the Pontiac Motors. He has been in the service since July, 1951, and is now assigned to Rhein Main as an automotive mechanic.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

Letter from India
Got a letter from a colleague, now doing point four work in India. He takes most of the letter to explain just one of the problems in that famine ridden land. It should be of interest to all the gardeners and farmers and cause us all to count our blessings.

The subject is weeds.

Compared to the bindweed, chickweed, sow thistle and assorted nuisance we have around here, the KANS grass affliction in India is frightening.

launched on February 18, 1950. They plowed up 80-thousand acres in 1950 and 282 thousand last year. The resulting increase in production of food crops is conservatively estimated at 200 thousand tons.

Hard Fight
The battle won't be won easily. You have to keep after this stuff with a shallow cultivator or it'll grow back. The torrential rains can stop operations and allow the Kans grass to get another hold.

India is hopeful. The goal is to plow about 300-thousand acres of Kans land each year. At this rate, it's hoped that within seven years at least two million of the ten million acres of Kans land will be providing food to help stave off future famines.

Next time you hack at the Quack Grass, count your blessings.

FIGHT FOR FREEDOM
It seems probable that any of the free peoples of the world who want to maintain their independence will have to fight for it.

NOT A BAD FAULT
Just because a bad fault turns up now and then with our democratic form of government it doesn't mean—or even suggest—that Communism is good.

Too many people run behind trying to keep up a front.

American Legion to Hold Poppy Day

The annual Poppy Day sales will be conducted by members of Tri-County Post, American Legion and Auxiliary members, May 22, 23 and 24. Workers volunteer their time and services and every penny received goes for aid to disabled men and to needy children of veterans.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans in hospitals and for many it is the only means of earning a little money for the hospitalized veteran during the year.

Twenty-five million poppies have been made in anticipation of this year's sales. The bright red Memorial Poppy handed to you by a member of the American Legion or Auxiliary on Poppy Day was made by hospitalized veterans to honor the dead of the recent wars.

Officers elected.
The city league also named their officers for the 1952-53 year. President of the organization will be Genevieve Bartle. Other officers include: Dorothy Muntz, vice president; Pauline Johnson, secretary; Jennie Huff, treasurer, and Margaret Wallace, sergeant at arms.

Awards were also presented to members of the merchantette league. Winners have been previously announced in the Chronicle. The estimated eighty bowlers enjoyed an entertaining program, presented by members of the leagues, after the awards had been distributed.

Many Acts.
Betty Dewey was the master of ceremonies and introduced the various acts.

A trio, Betty Carmer, Betty Jo Agar and Virginia Bryan, opened the show with two numbers. A pantomime of "Frankie and Johnny" was presented by Doris Klinkman, Mary Rabideau and Dorothy Vargo, while the bowling skit offered by Jean Hutchinson, Leone Shaw, Irene Stafford and June Paddy brought the applause of the appreciative ladies.

Laura Profit was on and off the stage during the performance to add comedy to the program. She also entertained the group with a piano solo.

Virginia Strickland's and Betty Ryland's song and dance act, "Me And My Shadow" helped make the program a success.

terminating two pitchers throughout the game. He used Taylor, a right-hander to pitch to right handed batters and Raymond, a southpaw, to pitch to Hawk port side swingers.

It looked for awhile as if the experiment would work, but in the sixth, Cass City solved the deliveries.

Pete Martin and Maynard Helwig singled and Foy walked to jam the bases. Whittaker whiffed, but LeRoy Hoag drew a base on balls to score Martin. Tim Burdon forced Helwig at the plate.

Don Tuckey reached first on an error to score Foy and Tom Schwaderer banded out a single that scored Hoag and Burdon with the final runs of the game.

Whittaker was in his finest form in the game, as only one man reached first after the second inning. He reached base on a Cass City bobble.

Monday, the Hawks had little trouble whipping Unionville in a game that was called at the end of five innings because of rain.

Big inning for Cass City was the fourth when they scored six runs on three hits, two walks and two errors. In the rally, Whittaker pounded out a double that drove in two runs.

Two circuit clouts were recorded in the game by Cass City. Tom Schwaderer hit one in the fifth with the bases empty and Bob Wallace drove out a long homer with one abroad in the third.
