The train service will include reclining chair cars, diners and club cars provided for the seniors' comfort. Special activities and entertainment are planned en route. A short stopover will be made late Monday night at Buffalo with arrival scheduled in the city Tuesday morning.

While in New York, the seniors will make their home at the Henry Hudson Hotel. Two half days of planned excursions to points of interest in the metropolis will be included in the program and there will also be opportunity for free time when students may go shopping or explore on their own.

Wednesday evening will find the group boarding the train for the return to Detroit and they should be back in Cass City Thursday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ross and Mr. Arthur Holmberg will serve as sponsors for the Cass City group.

Baccalaureate Services. With two days to rest after their big trip, seniors will meet again Sunday evening, June 8, for Baccalaureate services in the school auditorium. Rev. Fred Belleville, pastor of the Cass City Nazarene Church, will give the Baccalaureate sermon. He will be assisted in the service by other local clergy and music will be furnished by the high school glee club.

A feature of the service will be the traditional and colorful march in which the graduates will be assisted by several members of the junior class.

Other portions of the program will include Salutatory, Valedictory and musical numbers by members of the graduating class. Diplomas will be awarded to 87 graduates.

Cass City Wins Invitational Track Meet Monday

Six track records were smashed Monday evening at the Cass City Invitational Track Meet held at the Recreation Park here before a large crowd that saw Cass City sweep to a one-sided victory with 78 points.

Yale finished in second position with 49 points followed by Caro with 36. Bad Axe finished fourth with 31 points and Marlette trailed the field with 21 points.

New field records were set by Cass City and Yale, both teams cracking three existing marks. For Cass City, Tim Burdon chalked up 21 feet, 4 1/2 inches, to break the old broad jump record of 20 feet, 10 inches; Tom Schwaderer broke the old 100-yard dash mark of :10.3 with a :10.1 for the distance and Bill Martus ran the low hurdles in :21.2.

John Hyde paced the Yale team when he broke the record in the 220-yard dash by knocking 2 of a second off of the record set by Cass City. In addition, the Yale speedster ran on the record making 880-yard relay and medley relay teams.

Council Slates Work on Many of Village's Streets

An ambitious road campaign was submitted to the council by Arlan Hartwick, who heads the committee this year. It calls for resurfacing portions of eight streets in the village and the repair of others damaged during the winter.

The total amount of resurfacing under consideration for the year will equal about two miles of streets within the village. The projects include: On Garfield, from Seeger to the depot; on Ale, Main to the park; on Church, Seeger to West; on Leach, Main to Third, and on Pine, three blocks off West street.

Other projects under consideration are: On Ale, from Main to Houghton; on Third, Seeger to Oak, and three blocks on West street.

Rotary Club Honors High School Athletes

Carl Jack Bauer, an official from the Big Ten Conference, was the guest speaker Tuesday night of the Cass City Rotary Club, which honored members of the high school track and basketball squads.

Mr. Bauer related experiences he encountered during his long officiating career and commented on both basketball and football.

He said that in many games the officiating decides the outcome of the game and said, although officials sometimes make mistakes, they are always honest ones.

Mr. Bauer briefly stated that he believed the recent sports scandals were not as serious as painted and said "the true value of sports can easily be seen by the group gathered here tonight."

After the address, Mr. Bauer showed a film, "Highlights of the Big Ten," which showed portions of major football games in the Big Ten Conference.

The dinner was served by Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer, assisted by ladies from the village.

Cass City Students Conduct Ceremony

When the charter members of Vassar High School's newly formed chapter of the National Honor Society were received into membership Tuesday afternoon, eight students and a faculty member of the local school conducted the induction service.

Cass City's group being the pioneer chapter of the society in this area, they had been invited to take full charge of the ceremony. An impressive candlelight program, similar to that recently held here, was planned by the local organization. Fifteen members of Vassar's junior and senior classes were received into membership.

Those from the local school participating in the program were: Harold Oatley, faculty speaker; Mary Wood, Honor Society president, and the following members of the Cass City chapter: Charlyne Bartz, Bonnie Benkelman, Russell Foy, Joan Holmberg, Tom Schwaderer, Ellen Sickler and Dick Wallace.

The last track meet of the year for the Hawks will be today (Thursday) when Cass City enters the county meet at Caro.

Village, Township Buy Resuscitator For Fire Fighters

Grant Patterson, Stanley Asher and Eward Rawson appeared before the council Monday in behalf of the Elkland Township Fire Department. Mr. Patterson asked the village to pay half of the cost of a resuscitator for the department.

Mr. Patterson went on to explain that Elkland Township had agreed to pay the other half of the cost that is estimated at $605.

The cost includes the machine and all necessary attachments. A similar machine in a neighboring city was credited with saving the life of a citizen after he was pronounced dead by doctors.

Besides its use in helping fire victims, the machine will be an aid to any person suffering with sudden respiratory trouble such as a heart attack.

After a brief discussion, the council voted to pay for half of the cost of the machine.

W S C S to Install Officers Monday

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will meet at the Methodist Church for 6:30 p. m. supper meeting Monday, June 2.

Mrs. John McGrath will be in charge of devotions and the supper will be served by group five, under the direction of Mrs. Leslie Profit and Mrs. Glen Densen.

Council Briefs

Mrs. Thelma Schwaderer and Alice Nettleton resigned their positions on the library board with a letter written to the council. After accepting the resignations, the council decided the two vacancies should be filled from the township at large. Members reasoned that, since the library was now partially supported by the township that half of the members should come from outside the village. They are going to ask the Elkland Township Board to appoint members to fill the two vacancies.

While discussing the library question, trustees decided, in an attempt to have an equal representation on the board, to have the township elect half the members on their ballot.

Council gave the nod of approval for the cost of lumber for three new lockers, to be built by members of the fire department, for three new members of the department. The three who were recently added to the staff are: Harold Guinther, Tom Coddick and Dick Root.

The swimming pool is set for use, Bud Burt, village engineer, reported, with the exception of painting. The paint is on hand and will be applied in the near future.

When Mrs. Patrick, Marlette, asked permission and dates children from their village could use the pool, the council set the pool policy for the year. It will be to allow any neighboring town to use the facilities after securing proper permission. The charge will be 10¢ per child.

For further safety in the village, the council voted to erect a stop sign at the corner of Oak and Rose streets, the intersection nearest the school.

Acting on the request of Mr. Burt, the council voted to purchase an electric sewer cleaner for the village. Present equipment has proved inadequate and fails to do a lasting job on clogged sewers. When the new equipment arrives, the village will charge a minimum fee and guarantee their work for a year. The cost of the cleaner will be $269.50.

Seven building permits were granted Monday evening. Mrs. Eva Bair will build an addition to her house on Sixth Street. Mrs. Mary Boulton was granted the right to move her house to the Garden Center subdivision. Others were: Dr. Delbert Rawson, house; Keith Murphy, house on Huron Street; Ralph Partridge, three-car garage on his property; Henry Cooklin, addition to Locker Plant, and a garage on Bruce Brown's property on Oak Street.

Parsch's Store will be open Thursday afternoons.

Nine Graduate from St. Agatha's School

The annual May procession, the crowning of the statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary and eighth grade graduation took place in St. Agatha's Church Sunday evening. The school children sang May hymns dedicated to Mary. The procession was led by Rev. Joseph O'Rourke of St. Peter's and Paul's Church, Saginaw, and the altar boys were followed by Betty Burdon, who carried the crown on a satin pillow. Her attendants were Norma Neister and Janet Borodychuck. Several of the school children represented a living rosary.

Miss Irene Adams placed the crown on the statue while the children sang "Oh Mary, We Crown Thee With Blossoms Today."

Due to the illness of Rev. Fr. Cronkite, Rev. Joseph O'Rourke addressed the graduates and presented diplomas to Mary Louise Wald, Bonnie Pine, Ruth Saurynck, Irene Adams, Esther Adams, Gerald Downing, Richard Dunn, Conrad Mosack and Regino Lopez. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament closed the services.

Employment Office To Assist Company

The W. N. Clark Canning Company of Caro has made plans to hire all their seasonal help for the 1952 pack through the Caro office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

According to authorities of the unemployment office, the plan benefits both the Clark Company and their office.

The plan should provide the company with a direct contact with the largest available pool of unemployed people in Tuscola County and additional workers from other areas.

The advance plan lets the unemployment office plan for the help needed in advance and tends to make unemployed persons acquire the habit of contacting the employment office when attempting to find work.

Persons interested in working at the Clark Company this year are asked to file their applications with the Employment Security office at once to receive their referral slips and the canning company's work application.

Highway Department Cautions Drivers on Holiday Week End

The Tuscola Sheriff's Department and Charles M. Ziegler, highway commissioner, are appealing to Michigan drivers who plan Memorial Day week-end trips, to take it easy and do their part to help reduce the expected accident toll.

Past records have proven that when drivers are conscious of accidents, death, injury and property damage totals are substantially reduced.

With Memorial Day on Friday this week, a record number of holiday travelers are expected.

Six-Team Softball League Schedules Openers June 9

The Cass City Softball League, sponsored by the Gavel Club, will open its 1952 season Monday, June 9, when four of the six teams in the league are scheduled to meet in a pair of games under the lights.

While the league is two teams smaller than the eight-team loop of last year, Alden Asher, Gavel Club committeeman who arranged the schedule, said that he expected a close race for league honors among the evenly balanced teams.

One new team will be entered this summer. The FFA will compete for the first time. The other five squads played last year, but personnel has been changed so that each team will be radically different from the one that played in 1951.

Missing from action will be Baldy's which won the play-off championship last year. A good many of the championship squad have been called to service and other members have scattered to the remaining teams in the league. Games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and rained out and holiday games will be played on Tuesday.

Besides the FFA, teams competing are: Ellington, Decker, DeFord, Western Auto and Church of Christ.

Sheriff's Posse Arrests 20 at County Cockfight

Acting on a telephone call, the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department swooped down on a cockfight Sunday afternoon at the Loren Clappitt farm, seven miles southeast of Vassar.

In the raid, an estimated 20 persons were arrested and 57 fighting cocks seized after the meeting place had been located by deputies, Grant Ball of Cass City and William Thomlinson.

The two deputies spotted the meeting place by flying over the southern part of the county in a plane. Tip-off of the location came when the pair observed a large number of cars about the Clappitt farm.

Sheriff George Jeffrey, who led the raid, said that between 75 and 100 persons were at the fight and when the posse struck, many of the cockfight fans ran into the swamps and fields to escape. Many were arrested when the police held their cars in custody.

The officers found five dead birds and 57 live cocks in pens. The fighting birds are valued from $50 to $500 apiece.

Other equipment captured in the raid included two mains, stands, scales and betting records. Sheriff Jeffrey said that $5 and $10 bets were placed on the fights.

Total value of birds and equipment seized was placed at $3,250. The sheriff's department has the haul from the raid under guard. It is providing a feeding problem for the sheriff and his staff.

Tickets were issued for residents of Ewart, Pigeon, Bay City, Wayne, Detroit, Saginaw, Flint, Mt. Morris and Clio. The arrested persons were scheduled to appear before Justice Bruce White Wednesday.

Paul O'Harris Lands Six-Pound Pike

It doesn't take fancy fishing equipment or a world of experience to land the big ones these days and Paul O'Harris, 14, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trathen, has the evidence to prove it.

Fishing with a small reel in the Cass River near Greenleaf, Paul landed a 27 1/2-inch pike that weighed six pounds. What's more, the young angler was on his first fishing trip and the large pike was the first fish that he ever landed.

Trustee Curtis Hunt reported to the council that plans were well under way for the erection of a parking lot for village shoppers in the area back of the Federated and Fort's Grocery stores in Cass City.

The village has received tentative permission to lease property in back of both Fort's and Federated for the purpose. Yet to be secured is the use of the property that is owned by the Michigan Associated Telephone Company.

If the plan is successful, the village will use part of the alley as part of the lot. After the alley has been resurfaced, a one-way street will be made of the alley and cars will park in the lot facing the same direction to eliminate confusion.

With the space available in the area, it is estimated that 50 cars will be able to be taken off the Main Street during critical periods.

Besides the growing parking problem in the village now, the situation may become worse if the state forces the village to instigate parallel parking on Main Street.

Paving Main Street in the village with the help of the state cannot be done at the present time, without a change in parking here.

According to the State Highway Department, parallel parking must be established if work is to be done on the road. However, a delegation from Cass City is expected to go to Lansing this week to see if the order can be rescinded.

The property for the lot will either be leased or purchased according to present plans. Other sites for lots are under consideration by the council.

Sewer Construction Slated by Council Monday Evening

The council decided on an extensive sewer project for the summer months at their regular meeting Monday night when they O. K'd an estimated 3,000 feet of sewer and 500 feet of connections to be installed in the village.

The project is expected to eliminate excess water trouble in one section of the village. The proposed program, to be followed as long as funds are available for the project, will go from Brooker Street to Seeger Street on Pine Street. Another branch will go from Pine to Houghton on Brooker, Brooker to West on Houghton, Houghton to Third on West and on West past Seeger Street.

Taxes Not Needed To Balance Budget

Fred Alger told Thumb newsmen that he thought that the state budget could be balanced without an increase in taxes by eliminating unnecessary costs now prevalent in government.

Alger, a candidate for governor on the Republican primary ticket, explained his policies in a question-and-answer period Saturday night at the New Gordon Hotel.

He said that he believed that taxes had gone about as high as they possibly could and said that added taxes, whether an excess profits corporation tax or a personal income tax, could not be tolerated by the people of Michigan at this time.

The meeting was the first of its kind in the Thumb area and may be repeated with other candidates in the future.

I Had Arthritis

For twelve years I suffered the pains and torture of this dreaded disease. It was almost impossible for me to rest at night. The pains in my feet, hands, shoulders and knees would cause me to wake up mornings, fatigued, actually more tired than when I went to bed. I tried nearly everything I heard of during these twelve years to get relief, but with little results. About two years ago I tried a product that has given me blessed relief. I cannot express my appreciation for the marvelous improvement I have experienced.

If you are one who is suffering with the pains of arthritis and rheumatism, and would like to know what I took to get results, just send me your name and address and I will be glad to forward the name of the product and where it can be gotten.

Aluminum as a Sealer

The sealing properties of aluminum paint make it valuable for many purposes. It is often used as a barrier over bituminous paints, oil stains and other coatings which sometimes bleed through and discolor finishing coats. Many painters use it as a sealing medium when they wish to change the color of interior woodwork that has been previously given a mahogany stain.

After the aluminum paint is thoroughly dry, it can be finished with white or any light tint.

Annual Grass Day Near Lapeer June 16

Tuscola and Sanilac County farmers have been given a special invitation to attend the Grass Day at the Ervin Haskil farm, located 3 miles northeast of Lapeer on June 16.

Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent, has been assisting the Lapeer County agricultural agent in planning the Grass Day to give all the latest information on growing and using grass and legumes. The Grass Day program is planned and conducted by county agents in this area, working with specialists from Michigan State College's Cooperative Extension Service. "The day's program is aimed at bringing to farmers of this area the most recent information concerning establishment, management, harvesting and utilization of high-yielding, high-quality forage crops," Ballweg said.

Machinery companies have again been invited to exhibit equipment used in forage crop production and utilization. In addition, they have been invited to take part in a field demonstration at the Grass Day of forage harvesters, field balers, crop blowers, forage wagons, bale loaders, hay crushers and tractors.

Ballweg added the opinion that many farmers in the county could increase the profits from their farm business if they would use more grass. "This Grass Day program is planned to furnish ideas for profitable use of grass," he added.

Wheat Field Tour Planned Monday

Tuscola County farmers will soon have an opportunity to observe the results of spring top-dressing of wheat, according to Loren D. Black, assistant county agricultural agent. A tour of several wheat fields is scheduled for Monday, June 2, at 1:30 p. m. Paul Rood, soils specialist from Michigan State College, will be in charge of the tour. The tour will start at the Bradleyville Elevator, located 5 miles west and 1 mile north of Akron at 1:30 p. m. The first stop will be at John Crosby's farm at Bradleyville. The results of top-dressing wheat with ammonium nitrate (33% nitrogen), 10-6-4 and 5-12-12 fertilizers will be observed at this stop. This is an excellent demonstration of the results of top-dressing wheat.
 The second stop will be at the Phillip Stein farm, located 1 mile south and 4 mile west of Bradleyville. The results of top-dressing wheat with nitrogen fertilizer can clearly be seen at this farm. Also wheat following sugar beets and field beans can be observed.
 The third stop will be at the Beth Hovey farm, located 3 1/2 miles west of Akron. At this farm the value of a legume in the rotation is clearly demonstrated. Last stop on the tour will be at Harry Rohlf's farm, located 1 1/2 miles south of Akron. The results of a good rotation and heavy fertilization can be observed at this farm. Mr. Rohlf applied 500 lbs. per acre of a high analysis fertilizer at wheat planting time and then top-dressed the wheat this spring with a nitrogen fertilizer. Agent Black states that wheat for the most profit needs plenty of plant food and that 500 lbs. per acre of commercial fertilizer at planting time is not too much for highest yield. Experiments on top-dressing or fertilizing wheat in the spring show yield increases of about six and one-half bushels per acre.
 Anyone interested in wheat fertilization is invited to join the tour.

Storing Liquids
 In storing flammable liquids, the experts recommend galvanized steel gasoline and oil cans, which cannot be broken and have tight-fitting covers to keep in explosive fumes.

Honor Deford Couple At Shower Saturday

Miss Doris McQueen of Deford, bride-elect of Kenneth Tousley, was honored at a shower and party in the annex of the Methodist Church Saturday evening.
 Young persons formed the majority of persons at the party, although a few older Deford citizens also attended. The annex of the church was decorated in yellow, green and white crepe paper and bouquets of tulips and lilacs.
 After a recreational period under the supervision of Miss Carolyn Chapin, the honor guest opened her many gifts. She was assisted by her sister, Cheryl, Miss Joan Green and Miss Evelyn Bays.
 Mr. and Mrs. Warren Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hicks and Mrs. Earl Rayl served orange juice, cake and ice cream.
 The party was originally scheduled to have been held at the Rayl home but because of the illness of Laine Rayl, plans were changed.
 The co-hostesses were Miss Joan Green, Marilyn and Carolyn Rayl, Mrs. Gerald Hicks and Mrs. Rayl. Guests from Applegate, Caro, Kingston and Deford attended to honor the engaged couple.

McInally - Warner Rites Told Saturday

The couple was attended by Miss Dorothy Tyo of Cass City and Ronald Phillips of Deford.
 The bride wore a beige suit and Miss Tyo a navy blue suit. Both wore corsages of red roses.
 After the ceremony, a small reception was given the bridal couple at the home of the bride's parents.

Winchester - Lorenz Wedding Saturday

On Saturday, May 24, at 3:00 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, decorated with baskets of lilacs and tulips, Miss Althea Winchester became the bride of Mr. John Lorenz, Rev. A. Wilson officiating.

 Miss Gwendalin Winchester, Gagetown, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and William Winchester of Gagetown, the bride's brother, acted as best man.
 The bride chose for her wedding a white net taffeta dress with strapless bodice and a white lace jacket and finger tip veil. The bridesmaid wore a powder blue dress similar to that of the bride. They both wore bands of seed pearls and their flowers were red and yellow roses.
 A wedding supper was served to the sixty friends and relatives present from Gagetown, Cass City, Caro and Owendale.
 The groom is a graduate from Owendale High School and is employed at Automotives Industry there. The bride was also employed by the same company.
 The couple will make their home in Gagetown.

High Food Costs Not Farmers' Fault

Ham and eggs have been pretty cheap recently, according to Arthur Mauch, Michigan State College agricultural economist, and farmers have been hurt financially in those products.
 But Mauch also pointed out that consumers are still blaming farmers for high food prices.
 A year ago, hogs brought the farmer more than $21 a hundred pounds—the April price figure recently was less than $17 a hundred. Eggs a year ago brought the farmer 44 cents a dozen; less than 34 cents a year later. In fact, the average of all farm prices dropped seven per cent in the last year while consumer incomes have continued to rise.
 Mauch cited two other factors which consumers frequently forget. One is that changes in farm prices aren't always reflected in the retail store. For instance, when the price for meat products dropped $14 annually for the farmer, the consumer saved only $2 because marketing costs went up $12. And while hogs declined 22 per cent, pork chops came down only six per cent and bacon 10 per cent.
 The other factor is that while the high cost of living is painful, many of us are suffering from the cost of high living, Mauch pointed out. We are eating more meat, eggs, milk, fruits and vegetables and less of the cereal grains and potatoes. And we are buying more packaging and other services.
 It takes 10 per cent less power to farm on the contour than up and down hill.

Profitable Journey

By Dennis H. Pratt
 LUCIE shuffled back into her corner as the train rapidly gathered momentum and sped out into the country. She thought of the lovely week-end she was going to spend in the glorious sunshine. It was with rather startled anxiety that she looked at the sharp featured owner of the traveling case, marked with J. W. L. in large white letters, who sat on the seat opposite her.
 Vaguely she felt a sense of hostility radiating from him. His eyes seemed to pierce into her. She wriggled uncomfortably under his gaze and noticed the twitching of his fat fingers. Saying nothing she recoiled sharply further back into her corner.
 The train lurched slightly as it rounded the bend and the man, of rather prodigious proportions, lurched with it, his wide brimmed hat falling down over his dreadful eyes. He gasped and muttered some unintelligible remark, that although unheard, was by the look on his face, not very becoming.
 Lucie, so discouraged of her better emotions and her momentary fear, gave vent to a burst of laughter.
 "Pardon me," she grinned, "but you did really look so funny."
 The man glowered at her with a look like a dying hyena.
 "I cannot see why my unforeseen accident should have any conceivable effect, such as your raucous remark and ungracious yelps, upon you. Being unable to refrain from such utterances inevitably leads to vulgarity."
 Lucie giggled at him and again experienced something akin to hostility. But the conversation was not brought to an abrupt end by the gentleman's climactic resentment. Indeed, it was the man himself who carried the conversation further. His vocal chords were not stiff from lack of exercise.
 Within a few minutes, Lucie knew that the initials stood for Jeremia Winconsin Lennox, a name, the man emphatically declared, that could be traced back to a slave that rowed in one of the ships in which the Romans invaded Britain. Lucie hardly believed this, but she certainly took for granted that Lennox had madness in his family.
 The incessant rolling and rocking of the train went on with unbroken rhythm and finally had its effect. Lucie's eyes fluttered downwards and she dozed off.
 HOW long she had been peacefully asleep she did not know, but suddenly a queer feeling seemed to penetrate and whelm through her. Something dark and shadowy seemed to grow and then recede over her eyelids. The overpowering sense jerked her eyelids open.
 The fat man's fingers had stopped their idiotic switching. He was motionless in his corner. Lucie looked closer. Asleep, she unconsciously told herself. But she could not forget that intangible sense that had swept over her, that vague premonition and warning. Yet everything seemed in order.
 She fumbled in her pocket for a piece of chocolate. Her pocket was empty. Suddenly flurried she felt in all her pockets. Ah, her purse was in the other one. She opened it. By heavens, it was empty.
 Four pound notes and two tens were gone. Five pounds, her holiday money had been taken. Lucie remembered that feeling, that strong impression of someone near her. That man.
 She almost leapt at him, but instead rummaged furiously for a cigarette. As she struck the match the train screamed into a tunnel. Lucie drew in her breath then, and dropped the match. Heavy breathing told her the man was sound asleep. Quietly she shifted over beside him and slowly put her hand into his pocket. Yes, she was sure it was a roll of banknotes she felt. She pulled the roll out. Yes, she was right. Four pounds and two tens. Quickly she went back to her own corner. A surge of elation went through her as she stuffed them back into her purse.
 "Yes, a nice journey," Lucie smiled at her aunt after the taxi had dropped her at the house on Douglas Avenue.
 "Oh, you managed all right then," said her aunt, "because Jeff phoned and said you had left the five pounds on your dressing table and he will be sending it on by post."

Choose Right Time to Spray Small Grain

Many small grain fields in Michigan can be improved, and in some cases actually saved, by spraying them with 2,4-D to control weeds, says B. R. Churchill of the Michigan State College farm crops department.

Not all species of weeds are controlled by 2,4-D but wild mustards, wild radish, ragweed and lamb-quarter are not difficult to kill if the 2,4-D is applied at the right time and in the right amounts.

Small grains, including oats, barley and wheat are more susceptible to injury from 2,4-D at some stages of growth than at others. Greatest injury comes when seedlings are only two or three inches high. They should not be sprayed at this stage.

When small grains are six to eight inches high, they are rather tolerant to 2,4-D and young weeds are most susceptible, Churchill says. Later the weeds will be more tolerant and difficult to kill.

A maximum of one-quarter to one-half pound acid equivalent per acre should be used. The lower rate would be for the ester formulations of 2,4-D. Your county agricultural agent can explain 2,4-D formulations to you and advise the best type for your weed problem.

If a legume seedling is made with the grain crop, the problem becomes more complicated. The salts of 2,4-D rather than the ester formulations should be used at rates not to exceed one-quarter pound acid equivalent per acre if red, alsike or ladino clover is the legume.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Five Years Ago.

Godfrey Scharich, 67, was seriously injured Tuesday while grading a ditch bank with a horse-drawn grader and was struck in the abdomen when the grader hit a stone.

E. O. Lounsbury, Cass City, was featured in an article in the June issue of Capper's Farmer entitled "Adaptable Elevator."

The Woman's Study Club held their last meeting of the year with Mrs. J. D. Turner as hostess.

Twenty-three new members were added to the Ladies' Auxiliary of Tri-County Post, No. 507, of the American Legion.

Ten Years Ago.

Arthur Holmberg gave his usual annual address at the Rotary Club gathering Tuesday. Dr. P. A. Schenck was program chairman and Mr. Willis Campbell announced considerable progress had been made in the salvage for victory program.

Lester Hutchinson of Cass City received a broken leg and Miss Mary Ward of Caro a broken collar bone in an automobile accident Friday afternoon.

Homer Hillaker announces that he will be a candidate for the office of sheriff at the Republican primary and Edmund Miller also announces that he will be a candidate for the nomination for drain commissioner.

James Slack of Novesta had the misfortune to fall on a barn floor Sunday. Three stitches were required to close the cut on his head.

While fishing Sunday afternoon, Jimmie Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker, had the misfortune to get a fish hook caught in the back of his head. He was taken to Morris Hospital, where the hook was removed.

Fixed Ideas

Fixed ideas are generally giving way to logic, thanks to the powers of education.

And so it is that chiropractic, after 50 years of hard, tried scientific evaluations, is gradually finding its way into the realm of drugless healing wonders.

From a crude theory that the spine is the backbone of good health, chiropractic has developed into an exact science.

Where hundreds once spoke of its curing effects, millions today all over the world bless it for saving lives.

From a handful of practitioners it has grown into the second largest healing profession in the world.

It just didn't happen that way. Chiropractors had to prove their way and they have. They know a healthy body is dependent on a healthy, properly functioning nervous system.

They know what harmful effects result from a misaligned vertebra in the spine. Chiropractors know too that the vast majority of sick people can, under chiropractic care, be restored to normal health.

Be modern. See your local chiropractor today. DR. B. V. CLARK, at 148 W. Lincoln Street, Caro, or phone 370 for an appointment.

—Adv.

Twenty-five Years Ago.

A meeting of the Thumb Printers' and Publishers' Club will be held at Cass City June 3. The publishers will have dinner at the Hotel Gordon.

Local Presbyterians have set June 25 and 26 as dates for observing the 50th anniversary of their church. The anniversary sermon will be delivered by Rev. E. H. Bradfield. Mrs. A. D. Gillies and Mrs. Edward Pinney are preparing the history of the first 50 years of the church and Mrs. J. D. Brooker is chairman of the committee in charge.

The contract for wrecking the old school buildings at Cass City was let to Walter and Amasa Anthes of Cass City on Wednesday afternoon. They offered $100 for the material in all the buildings and will have the larger building torn down by Sept. 1. Housewreckers from Bay City entered a bid, but the offer of the local men was by far the better one.

Thirty-five Years Ago.

Auten and Tindale, local Ford dealers, will commence the erection of a modern garage building this month. They have purchased the Schneider blacksmith shop property at the corner of Main and West Streets which has a footage of 66 feet on Main Street.

Rev. J. W. Hamblin gave the address at the Memorial Day services and Edward Pinney, J. W. Penn and President Striffler followed with short speeches. One noticeable fact was the small number of G. A. R. men present; the number of the old heroes grows smaller year by year.

The formal dedication of the new lodge rooms of Cass City Lodge, I. O. O. F., in the Sheridan Building will be held Wednesday evening, June 6, at 7:30 p. m.

Jacob Anthes was most pleasantly surprised Monday when about thirty friends and relatives came to spend the evening with him at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schwaderer.

Prevents Ugly Stains

Copper and bronze, used structurally on exterior surfaces, should be varnished to prevent ugly stains from forming on surrounding paint. The metal surface should first be wiped clean with a turpentine rag. One coat of spar varnish will serve your purpose.

Ash Containers

Galvanized steel utility baskets make convenient containers for hauling smoldering ashes out of basements and utility rooms. The baskets are of fireproof construction and have well-placed handles.

Newborn calves like any babies need extra special care, say Michigan State College dairymen. They offer farmers some tips based on observation of the MSC dairy herd.

Don't overfeed the calf on milk, the dairymen suggest. Give it ten per cent of its body weight or less daily. Too much milk upsets the calf's stomach.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

The riot guns have been put away at Jackson prison and to all appearances everything is quiet in the world's largest prison.

But the issue is far from dead in Lansing. Heads are beginning to fall like apples in the fall. Vernon Fox, former assistant deputy warden at Jackson who made the now famous "congratulations" speech has "resigned" and Warden Julian N. Frisbie's job is shaky.

But that by this time is old news. The question is, what is the situation in Jackson now?

The bloodletting has been halted, but to be sure, the situation is anything but pleasant. Prisoners and guards both are taut and the situation could be set off again.

The unpleasant job of putting the prison's affairs in order has fallen to Seymour J. Gillman, 16 years a veteran of the correction department. If he doesn't get results soon his corrections career may come to an abrupt end.

He is the new whipping boy. Like Hercules who was instructed to clean the Augean stables, Gillman has been told to perform the almost impossible.

He received specific instructions to iron out the long-standing conflict between the counseling and custodial staffs of the prison.

Could it be that the prison's difficulty may not be an open wound but the inner sickness of dissension and politics among its high echelon employees?

In any event Jackson's 5,000 prisoners are upset and the cauldron of unrest still bubbling behind those high walls will bear watching.

Another phase of the situation to consider brings us to that old bagabab—capital punishment.

A bill asking for the death penalty on first degree murder convictions is as sure as winter in every session of the legislature. For at least 20 years such a bill has been introduced. Every year it is tossed out like an old grapefruit rind.

But this year we have a new twist. Rep. Robert M. Montgomery (R-Lansing) has a bill (House Bill 482) which provides for the death penalty for first degree murder by a person in custody after he has been convicted of a felony.

The bill as written would protect officers and civilians alike in jails, prisons and in transit between courtroom and prison—just as soon as the person is adjudged guilty.

Execution would be by electrocution in Jackson.

"If we don't do something to protect guards, we will have no guards," Rep. Montgomery says.

The issue: Would such a law help the situation? Ernest C. Brooks, correction commissioner, says no. He illustrates his point by citing the case of the pickpockets of old England when that profession was punishable by death. "While hanging a pickpocket, the hangman's pocket was picked," he says.

"I do not believe in capital punishment in any form. It would not be a deterrent to uprisings such as we had at Jackson." He pointed out that New Jersey which has capital punishment had riots, as did Georgia, where seven convicts were killed.

Warden Julian N. Frisbie of Jackson State prison says: "The threat of the electric chair would not have affected the Jackson mutiny because we are not dealing with rational persons."

Rep. Montgomery agrees that capital punishment generally doesn't deter criminals, but feels guards and prison workers should have additional protection.

However, his bill could be the entering wedge for general capital punishment. Once his bill is on the books it need only be amended to include all first degree murder. Montgomery admits it could be used by some to attempt such a move, but he at the same time feels the sentiment against it in Michigan precludes its success.

It's better to die boosting than to live rusting.

Let's Talk It Over

Ed: Vallender - Farm Editor
WBCM - Bay City
Big Wheat Year.

Michigan farmers planted 27 per cent more wheat acreage than last year and 58 per cent more than the average. The big question. Why? This crop is drilled in early fall. It's reasonable to assume that the accumulative decision was made last summer.

Two big factors stand out. First, the government guaranteed price. Second, the growing shortage of available labor for other cash crops.

Historically, farmers will produce the crop they think will bring the best return. This is only natural.

It stands to reason that a 50 per cent increase in a major crop will result in sizeable shortages in others.

Fewer Dairy Herds.

A natural question might be: Where is this extra acreage coming from. The answer is not comforting.

In spite of all the education and effort to promote and enlarge the dairy industry in Michigan, the statistical totals tell the sad story. Cow numbers and herds are gradually shrinking. Thousands of acres of once pasture land has been carved up by the plow and disk. If this trend continues, we will, in a few short years, become like many eastern states, forced to import an increasing amount of our fluid milk for the metropolitan markets.

It is to the everlasting credit of dairymen still in business that we still supply our own needs from fewer animals. Milking herd owners, as a group, have continued to raise production—getting more from less. There is a limit to what bossy can do in filling the milk pail for our ever increasing population.

To meet the demand for milk just five years from now, we must have a ten per cent increase in cow numbers, whether it be in existing or new herds.

The Lean Years.

So you ask, "Why don't more farmers keep cows?"

It's the easiest question in the world to answer. There ain't no money in it. And if a farmer does decide to dedicate his life to a bale of alfalfa, he can't figure to make a dime for the first three or four years. It takes 23 to 30 months before a cow can enter the milking line. All the milk a cow gives her first year will just about pay for her board while she was a young one.

If a farmer decides to buy a "ready-made" herd, he might be another year or two before he takes the cap off the bottle of black ink.

Drudgery.

Not making money is a pretty good reason. Maybe there's one even better than that.

When a farmer finds himself with cows—or any kind of livestock for that matter—he must make up his mind that he has practically put himself in prison for the duration.

Livestock have to be tended and milked twice a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year.

Go on a picnic? sure. But hurry home by milking time.

Visit friends? sure. But hurry home by feeding time.

Trip to the big city? Sure. If we can make arrangements with the neighbors to do the chores. After years of trying to beat this rap, dairymen find it easier to just stay home—OR GET OUT OF THE BUSINESS.

Lots of them did. That's why we have such a big wheat acreage.

Modern coal-preparation plants very nearly approach the idea of automatic push-button factories.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Make Steamed Pudding for Holidays Now
(See Recipes Below)

HAVE ONE OF THOSE big turkeys for Sunday dinner? There are bound to be leftovers, but they can be delectable morsels that the family looks forward to having if you'll use some ingenuity.

Turkey need not get tiresome on the second and third time around if you prepare it differently than the roast bird served originally. Dress it up, serve with different accompaniments and the family will be thoroughly pleased. So will you, when you see how your ingenuity has changed a leftover into a real favorite.

Sometimes people get so tired of leftovers, they just throw away the last of them. Waste of food? They get so bored with the same taste, they don't care. Don't let it happen to you.

BIG, JUICY SLICES of turkey are first on the program, as long as you still have a half or most of the half left. Lay those slices on your prettiest platter, all along one side. On the other side serve a new and different relish in pear cups prepared like this:

Pears with Cranberry Sauce
Cooked pear halves, canned or fresh
1 cup liquid from cooked or canned pears
¼ cup sugar
2 cups fresh cranberries
½ lemon, sliced thin
Few whole cloves

Place pear halves in refrigerator to chill while preparing the sauce. Combine pear liquid, sugar, cranberries, lemon and cloves in saucepan. Cook over moderate heat until berries pop, about 10 to 12 minutes. Cool in saucepan, then chill. To serve, fill pear hollows with cranberry sauce. Spoon some sauce over filled pears to give a pinkish tinge. Use a garnish and relish with meat.

Chicken Chow Mein
(Serves 4-6)
¾ cup shredded onions
4 tablespoons fat
2 cups diced celery
2 cups diced cooked chicken or turkey
2 cups bean sprouts
¾ cup cooked or canned mushrooms
1½ cups chick stock
1 teaspoon head molasses
2 tablespoons soy sauce
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup cold water
Chinese noodles

Fry onions in fat until delicate brown. Add celery and cook 3 minutes. Add chicken, bean sprouts, mushrooms, chicken stock, molasses and soy sauce. Cook about 15 minutes. Blend cornstarch with cold water and add to chicken mixture. Cook for a few minutes, stirring, until thickened. Serve on top of Chinese noodles. Note—Chopped turkey may be substituted for chicken.

Fresh or Canned Fruits
Yield Delightful Desserts

If you canned a lot of applesauce, try this: whip ¼ cup of heavy cream, blend in ¼ cup confectioners' sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Fold in ½ cup applesauce. Chill. Then serve dusted with nutmeg. This serves two.

Dice some oranges and mix with sliced bananas. Place in serving dishes and top with whipped cream and a grating of lemon peel.

Turkey Puff

(Serves 4)

1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs yolks, beaten
1 cup milk
1 cup turkey, cut fine
2 teaspoons grated onion
½ cup grated raw carrot
2 tablespoons melted fat
2 eggs whites, stiffly beaten
Turkey gravy

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Mix beaten egg yolks with milk and blend in with flour mixture.

Mix with turkey, onion, carrot and melted fat. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in buttered baking dish in a hot (425°) oven about 25 minutes.

*Scalloped Turkey Supreme

(Serves 4)

¾ cup turkey or chicken broth
¾ cup cooked rice
4 tablespoons butter, melted
6 tablespoons flour
1½ cups turkey or chicken broth
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon ginger
2 cups diced cooked turkey

Mix together ½ cup turkey or chicken broth with rice. Melt butter, add flour and blend well. Combine 1½ cups turkey or chicken broth with milk and add to butter-flour mixture and cook, stirring, until thick. Add salt, pepper, ginger and turkey. Better a large casserole and place a layer of rice on bottom, then turkey mixture. If desired, sprinkle with finely chopped pimiento, sliced mushrooms and sliced, blanched almonds. Repeat until all ingredients are used. Sprinkle top with buttered bread crumbs and paprika. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 30 minutes.

Molded Turkey Salad

(Serves 8)

2½ cups cold cooked turkey, diced
¾ cup diced celery
¾ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons gelatin
2 cups turkey stock
¼ cup mayonnaise
½ cup cream, whipped

Mix turkey, celery and pepper. Soften the gelatin in the cold stock and dissolve by bringing to the boiling point. Add to the first mixture and let stand until it begins to stiffen. Fold in the mayonnaise and whipped cream. Turn into a ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold onto a bed of lettuce hearts. Fill the center with mayonnaise to which has been added an equal quantity of whipped cream.

If your refrigerator gets cold enough, or if you have a freezer, freeze fruit right in the can. Open, slice and serve with whipped cream and a sprinkling of coconut. Do something different with your prune whip: alternate layers of prune whip with sliced bananas in parfait glasses, top with whipped cream and a cherry.

Peach halves that are good enough for a party are filled with ice cream and topped with raspberry jam. If desired, place peach halves on a sponge cake square.

Labor Saving Idea

A suggestion for saving labor in getting water to field water tanks comes from Michigan State College agricultural engineers. They point out that some farmers may want to look into the possibilities of the new plastic pipe now becoming available.

It is light, flexible, easy to handle and is not subject to rust or corrosion. You can cut the material with a pocket knife and a screwdriver will secure the fittings, making installation easy. For temporary service, unroll it on top of the ground. For longer use, it should be covered to protect it from sunlight.

Breeders Plan Black And White Show

Directors of the county Holstein Breeders' Association have scheduled the annual Black and White Show for July 15, to be held at the Fairgrounds in Caro, according to Alton Reavey, Association president. Holstein breeders should plan now to exhibit and to use this medium to promote the breeding of Holstein dairy cattle in Tuscola County. Details regarding the show will be mailed to breeders soon, says Reavey.
