

Capacity Crowds Attend Cass City's Graduation Ceremonies

Cass City High School's largest graduating class, 87 strong, heard Dr. Lawrence E. Vredevoe, of the University of Michigan, predict that the half century into which they are entering will be one of profound progress in all fields. Using as his theme, "All That is Past is Prologue," he traced the great developments of the past few decades in scientific, as well as economic and social eras, and warned the graduates not to be too disturbed by the views of pessimists who, he said, have always been with us.

He emphasized that each of the seniors would go out into life with two possessions of which to be proud, a high school diploma and the heritage of American citizenship.

Finally, he urged that the graduates find in religious faith an inspiration and satisfaction without which a really successful and happy life is impossible.

Ron Posluszny, class president, introduced the speakers, who also included Tom Schwaderer, salutatorian, and Joyce Lounsbury, valedictorian. Members of the class provided musical numbers. Principal Arthur Holmberg presented five scholarships and a number of honor awards while Superintendent Willis Campbell handed out diplomas to the large class which practically filled the auditorium stage. Grace Ann Graham closed the program with a prayer.

At their last class meeting, just before going into the graduation exercises, the seniors voted to give the balance in their treasury, about seventy dollars, to the Community Hospital Fund. They all decided to hold a class reunion at a later date.

Baccalaureate Service.

Sunday night, the graduates heard Rev. Fred Belleville, pastor of the local Nazarene Church, preach on the theme, "Surveying Our Prospects." Rev. Belleville pointed out many weak spots in our national character, giving examples from political, social and economic life. He urged the seniors to adopt for themselves high standards of character and to use their influence in making these also a part of our national life.

Capacity crowds attended both graduation programs.

Cut Costs to Balance Budget, Martin Tells Local Civic Clubs

John Martin, Jr., Michigan's auditor general and candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, reiterated the campaign slogan of nearly all Republican office seekers Tuesday noon, when he told members of the Rotary and Gavel Clubs that a pay-as-you-go government is needed in Michigan and in the United States.

"Either we put in effect some drastic economies and cut governmental services, or we increase services and head into a socialized state," Martin said, as he discussed the spending and tax problem in the country today.

According to the auditor general, the state and the national government are reaching the stage that England is in today, where taxes are getting so heavy that the average man has no incentive to work extra hours because the heavy taxes take the ma-

Elkland Farm Bureau Meets at Law Home

"Should Any Political Party Control Our Schools?" was the topic for discussion of the Elkland Farm Bureau Monday evening when 17 members met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Law.

Under the direction of Clarence Merchant, discussion leader, the group decided that the Smith-Hughes Act had been of assistance to local schools. However, the group reached the conclusion that there is too much federal aid that stipulates how funds are to be spent and said that the state superintendent of schools should not be elected on a party ticket.

William Allison, Tuscola candidate for sheriff on the Republican ticket, addressed the group.

Five Protest Phone Service From Local Exchange Area

Over 100 persons appeared at the supervisors' room in the courthouse at Lapeer to air grievances about phone service in their exchanges served by the Michigan Associated Telephone Company.

Five persons from Cass City, headed by Harry Little, represented the Cass City area and presented facts before the Michigan Public Service Commission to try and assure better phone service before the Associated Company is granted their requested rate raise.

Mr. Little presented two documents to the Commission board that he said showed that the phone company had not lived up to previous commitments.

The first was a ruling issued by the Commission on Jan. 6, 1951, ordering the company to cut the number of users on any one line to 10 or less.

According to Little, 18 lines in the Cass City area are still with over the 10 minimum.

Little also offered, as evidence to the Commission, a letter written to the Cass City Chamber of Commerce that promised Cass City dial phones in 1952 and phone service to all who wanted it by that time.

Mr. Jones, an attorney for the phone company, stated to the Commission that the average length of time it takes an operator to answer a call is 3.4 seconds.

Mr. Little said, "I doubt it," and went on to point out that when two calls came in at the same time, it was impossible to maintain that average.

After the testimony of Mr. Little, other Cass City phone users took the stand. Mrs. Lucile Champion, who has phones in Caseville and Cass City, testified her experiences with the service and Frank McVety said that his line was overloaded and, at times, out of service. The final testimony from this area were Mrs. Laura Reagh and Fred Buehrly. They both told of the overloading of their lines.

Besides the Cass City representatives, persons from Caseville, Elkton, Brown City and other Thumb communities testified at the hearing.

Mr. Nye, the manager for the phone company here, was not available for comment. He left early Thursday morning to attend a similar hearing with other exchanges at Yale.

Raise Asked.

The controversy started when the phone company petitioned the Public Service Commission for a rate increase on Jan. 26. At that time the company said that because of increased costs and taxes, it was impossible to operate with a fair margin of profit at the present phone rates.

The petition asked for an increase of 65c to 95c for residential phones and a boost of 75c to $1.15 on business phones.

Because of the storm of protests, the Michigan Public Service Commission arranged for the unprecedented meetings now in progress.

Wheat Tour Attracts Over Forty Farmers

Over forty farmers observed at first hand the results of spring top-dressing of wheat with nitrogen fertilizer, according to Loren D. Black, assistant county agricultural agent. A tour of several wheat fields was made on Monday, June 2, where farmers had top-dressed their wheat.

Paul Rood, soils specialist from Michigan State College, was in charge of the tour. Mr. Rood pointed out that wheat needs plenty of plant food when sown in the fall and that 500 lbs. per acre of high analysis fertilizer is not too much. The wheat also needs nitrogen in the spring and unless a legume has been plowed down for wheat or 10 loads per acre of barnyard manure been applied, wheat should be top-dressed with 20 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre. This 20 lbs. of nitrogen used to top-dress wheat in the spring will cost about $3.00 per acre and will return on the average of 6.5 to 7.0 extra bushels of wheat.

On the John Crosby farm at Bradleyville the wheat that was top-dressed with nitrogen fertilizer was darker green in color and was stooled out much better than the wheat that did not receive nitrogen. Mr. Crosby thinks that top-dressing with 20 lbs. per acre of actual nitrogen will increase his yield per acre by at least 10 per cent.

Phillip Stein of Bradleyville told the group at his farm that he believes that if a farmer has only a certain sum of money to spend on commercial fertilizer, he should buy the nitrogen for spring top-dressing first.

Harry Rohlfis of Akron told the group that he applied 800 lbs. per acre of high analysis fertilizer at wheat planting time and then top-dressed the wheat this spring with nitrogen fertilizer. Mr. Rohlfis' wheat is well stooled, has a deep green color, and does not show any firing due to lack of nitrogen.

Harold Metcalf of Fairgrove who won the title of "wheat king" by placing first with his wheat at the International at Chicago is out to receive top honors again this year. Mr. Metcalf said that he top-dressed his wheat with nitrogen fertilizer this spring and is also experimenting with some liquid fertilizer.

Alan Kirk, a farmer near Fairgrove, also has some excellent demonstrations on fertilizing wheat. Mr. Kirk believes that liberal applications of nitrogen fertilizer are necessary for top yields of wheat and corn.

Rood summed up the tour by saying that spending about $3.00 per acre for nitrogen fertilizer should result in about $15.00 worth of extra wheat at harvest time. This is an investment that any wheat farmer can afford to make.

The "balanced" reapportionment plan would not upset the present geographical division of members of the Senate, as contrasted to the AFL and CIO plan.

Let's Talk It Over

Lower Prices
This is good news for the housewife. Egg prices expected to average under the 1951 level. To balance that, poultry farmers may find their feed bills easier to pay later in the year.

Conditions in the poultry industry affect nearly all American farmers to some degree. Figures show that chickens are raised on nearly 80 per cent of the nation's farms. On most farms, however, chickens and eggs furnish a minor share of the total income.

In Michigan, small as that share might be, the poultry industry provides the second largest source of income. Dairying ranks number one.

Broiler Set-back

Poultry and eggs
We try to pass a trend along as fast as we can find it. Trying to keep up with crop forecasts and intentions is a little confusing. The signals change so fast.

A short while back, there was a general feeling that poultry and eggs might be a little less in volume and higher in price for the rest of the year. This is a natural assumption after prices for any commodity sag badly.

The big operators stay in and the little fellows get burned and get out. That will usually make the difference between "enough" and surplus.

Switch in Signals

After looking the whole situation over (again) the boys in the back room have this to say: "Farmers apparently intend to turn out more eggs this year than ever before."... and... "There are signs, that egg production next year may not drop as much as forecasters were expecting."

Back in February a survey indicated that farmers intended to raise 10 per cent fewer chicks than last year. By April there was a complete turnabout. Hatcheries reported that they were actually buying more chicks for flock replacements.

One thing is certain. The production of poultry meat and eggs in the first four months of this year was well ahead of production in the same period last year. And the higher level should continue for at least the next few months.

For the first time, since we can remember, the broiler boys are dipping into the red ink.

Some supermarkets in North-eastern Michigan are featuring cut up broilers for 45 cents a pound. That kind of a price indicates a glut on the market. Since broiler prices went below the "profit making" level, operators have cut back sharply on production. Sow breeding also cut back by some eight per cent. These two factors account for the prediction that feed will be a little cheaper in the near future.

Cut Feed Costs By Using Good Pasture

Good pasture during the grazing season and high quality roughage during the barn feeding period—that's the way to keep feed costs of producing milk at the lowest level, Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent, said this week.

D. L. Murray, Michigan State College dairyman, says that dairy herd improvement association records show that June is the month with lowest feed cost—it takes $1.14 worth of feed to produce a hundred pounds of milk on the average. December and January are the highest months when feed costs increase to $2.15 to produce 100 pounds of milk.

Those figures show the value of good pasture in cutting the cost of milk production. They also show that every effort should be made to provide good pasture for as many summer months as possible. Demonstrations on how this job can be done will be given at the Grass Day for this area (June 16, on Erv. Haskil farm, northeast of LaPeer).

The county agricultural agent suggests putting up some hay crop silage or hay from some of the extra growth during June to feed if pastures get short later this summer.

Value of roughage is shown by the fact that you can get feed nutrients from roughage at about half the cost of grain. Dairymen with low feed costs for producing milk during the winter are feeding roughage liberally and cutting grain to one pound for each six or seven pounds of milk. This program has been used successfully on herds producing up to 400 pounds of butterfat per cow average for the year.

To do this you need to plan on about four tons of hay or 12 tons of silage per cow per year. This will allow a small surplus, perhaps.

Cows Need Shade

Dairy cows sweat very little when the summer temperature climbs so their body heat rises sharply. That was found by dairy research men, according to C. F. Huffman, Michigan State College experiment station worker.

That means that cows need shade during the heat of the summer day. Otherwise milk production will suffer. Some farmers let their cows come back to the barn or shed. If it is cooler and free from flies, the cows find it more comfortable.

KNOW the facts ABOUT GASOLINE QUALITY

LEONARD X-tane matches all these

CAT GASOLINE—Catalytic Cracking is the modern method of producing high quality gasoline. A large percentage of quality gasoline is "Cat Cracked." Leonard's Houdry Thermofor Catalytic Cracking unit is new and efficient. Leonard X-Tane is "Cat Cracked" gasoline plus other gasolines blended in for even better performance.

ANTI-RUST GASOLINE—Many reputable brands of gasoline use anti-rust compounds. Leonard uses one developed by one of the country's largest chemical companies. (Name on request)

TETRA-ETHYL LEAD—This is a chemical compound added to gasoline to improve the octane rating. Most gasoline contains approximately one-tenth of one per cent by weight, of Tetra-Ethyl Lead. The amount used is controlled by the government.

OCTANE—The octane number system is a measurement of the anti-knock characteristics of gasoline. Usually there is a big difference between the octane rating of the best and worst gasolines, but little difference between the three or four best. Leonard X-Tane is always in this top group and usually at the very top.

BUTANE—Butane is added to gasoline to control its starting qualities. The amount added varies according to the weather. High butane content is required for quick starting in the winter, but such an amount would cause "vapor lock" and stall the engine in the summer. Most refiners change the amount of butane in the gasoline three or four times a year. Leonard changes the butane content at least eight times a year to meet the requirements of Michigan's changeable weather.

DHIA Herds Set All-Time Record

A new all-time high in production has been set by cows in the Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association testing program, according to L. A. Johnson, Michigan State College extension dairyman and head of the state DHIA program.

The new record was set in 1951, results of which have just been tabulated by the state association. The record was 9,466 pounds of milk and 373 pounds of butterfat per cow. The previous record of 9,221 pounds of milk and 366 pounds of butterfat was set in 1950.

The summary also shows that one high-producing cow yielding 500 pounds of butterfat a year makes as much income above the cost of feed as do four cows producing at about the 200-pound butterfat level. The average Michigan dairy cow produces about 255 pounds of butterfat a year. Cows freshening in the fall returned the most income over the cost of feed, even though their feed costs also were the highest. Spring freshening cows gave the lowest return.

Nine of the 107 associations completing a year of testing averaged over 400 pounds of butterfat. In order of rank, they were: Ingham-Williamston, Isabella No. 1, Shiawassee No. 1, Livingston No. 1, Oakland No. 2, Huron No. 1, Barry No. 1, Mason and Missaukee.

Why Window Panes Crack
Lack of putty and paint on the frames of windows may cause cracked glass. Moisture absorbed by unprotected frames during heavy rainfalls causes swelling of the wood. The resulting pressure on the glass often cracks it.

Not a Murder in a Carload
"Body-deadener" is a term used in automotive plants—not for murder—but for a black asphalt coating. This material, which has a sound-deadening effect, is sprayed or brushed onto the floor pans and doors of a car, as well as under the cowl and trunk lids.

It's in the Tips
The bristles in nylon brushes must have long, fine tips. By holding the brush up to the light, fanning out the nylon and looking closely at the tips, you can observe these. The way a brush will pick up paint and release it is affected by the tips of the bristles. In other words, they govern the smoothness with which paint can be applied. Because of the wearing qualities of nylon, it is not necessary to obtain a long brush. A good 4-inch brush should not have more than 4 1/4" of bristle extending out of the ferrule.

If the green manure crop is left to grow too late, it will use the soil moisture for its growth, then the soil will be dry when plowed. When you plant beans late in the dry soil, they are apt to germinate late with a poor yield. On the other hand, if the green manure crop is plowed early enough, the soil will be moist and the beans will make normal growth and give a high yield.

Take special care in handling a pressure canner. Be sure to protect your hand with pot holder or heavy dry cloth when opening petcock. Never remove the lid until you have released the steam. When removing the cover, lift back of rim first to permit steam to escape away from face and arms.

SHORT STORY Personal System By Richard Hill Wilkinson

JEFF CHAPPELL was dumb. He was a big, burly lad. You couldn't help liking him. But he was dumb. I was assistant coach that fall at Redfield and I had all I could do to keep Jeff in the first string varsity. Head Coach Charlie Judd was impatient about it.

"There's no place on this team for a guy who can't remember signals," Charlie said. "We can't afford to take the chance. If you and I are going to keep our jobs we've got to chalk up a few scores—after last year's record."

"He's the best halfback I've ever seen work," I argued. "You'll make a mistake dropping him. He's our big hope for this year."

Charlie consented to let Jeff play in the first three games. After the third he came stomping into my room, his face black "Well," he snorted, "what you got to say now? Your friend lost today's game. He lost it because he got his signals twisted in the last quarter."

"But how about the first two games?" I asked. "It was that same boy that turned defeat into victory for us. Two to one isn't bad, Charlie. It's better than any of those other lugs are doing."

"Nuts!" said Charlie. "But when Charlie thought it over he agreed. He was still pretty sore. Any kid who couldn't absorb a set of simple signals ought to have something done about him. I tried to do it. I got Jeff up to my room nights. We went over and over the signals.

The next Saturday we played Herick, and beat them easily. Or Jeff Chappell beat them. You couldn't stop the boy. The victory gave us a lift, but behind it there was always that haunting fear that next Saturday or the next or the next, the kid would go haywire and start running in the wrong direction, or something.

Charlie and I held our breaths all fall. Figuratively, of course.

NOVEMBER came around and it was time for the all-important Hubbard traces. Hubbard was our traditional enemy. Beating them was all that was necessary to make the season complete.

Two days before the game Charlie came up to my room. "If we win Saturday," he said, "we won't have to worry about being in solid." He looked thoughtful. I knew what he was thinking.

"If you don't let the kid play we won't have a chance," I said. "There's a bare hope of winning without him." Charlie scratched his chin. "If I put him in there's always a chance—"

"The kid's got the signals down pat," I said quickly. "He's proved it. You know as well as I that without Jeff Chappell we're licked."

Charlie wasn't sure. You could see he was scared stiff. He wanted assurance, and I gave it to him. My confidence in the kid settled the thing in Charlie's mind. He agreed to play Chappell. Despite our record and the fact that we had Jeff Chappell the odds were on Hubbard. Hubbard had a clean record. Their victories had been won by big margins.

The first quarter and the second ended with no score. In the third, the Hubbard fullback snaked through our line and sprinted 30 yards for a touchdown. They failed to kick the point.

In the fourth the Hubbard left half came around right end on a trick play. Our whole backfield was fooled. All except Jeff Chappell. Uncannily Jeff, a lone figure, was there to stop him. That gave us the ball. We made three yards in three downs, and then, instead of booting, Cole, our quarter, gave Jeff Chappell the ball and Jeff made as pretty a run as you'd ever seen anywhere. Cole kicked the extra point. A minute later the whistle blew.

After it was over I got Jeff up into my room. "Listen," I said, "how about it? That trick play of Hubbard's was a corker. How come it didn't fool you, too?" He grinned sheepishly. After awhile I got the story. Jeff never did get the signals straight, but he discovered a system all his own. He'd watch the toes of the opposing players. If the toes was going left, the majority of toes would point that way. Instinctively. And the same applied to our boys. It never failed. Jeff said he'd hear something like that on the radio.

I never told Charlie.

BAD AXE

Michigan Mirror

Concluded from page 9. want to see control of the legislature go to big cities. Under the inspiration of the Michigan Industrial Conference, a group representing business, industry and agriculture, a third reapportionment plan has been advanced. Sponsors operate under the name of the "Michigan Committee for a Balanced Legislature." They also are circulating petitions to amend the constitution. A "balanced" legislature, under the third plan, would be attained by apportioning the House of Representatives on a population basis, as at present, with what is known as the "moiety" clause retained and clarified. Senate seats would be increased from 32 to 34. House seats would be increased from 100 to not more than 110. In Detroit where 21 representatives are now elected at large, the supervisors would create districts whereby not less than two nor more than three representatives would be chosen by voters in the district. Result: More intelligent and selective voting by smaller ballots. "Captive minorities" would elect representatives of their own party instead of being snowed under by the preponderant strength of one major party. Advertise it in the Chronicle.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Michigan labor unions, CIO and AFL, believe they possess the key to more and more social benefits—all magically financed, without direct cost to the workingman, by a tax on profits.

Get control of the Legislature! How is this to be accomplished? It's simple, mister.

Just reapportion the Legislature, such as the map shows would be done for the State Senate, by putting legislative representation strictly on a basis of population, not population and geographical needs as at present. Petitions are being circulated to place the plan before the voters at the November election.

is being fronted by the "Committee to Enforce Constitutional Reapportionment." Population is again the sole basis for arranging Senate Districts. The present distribution of members of the House of Representatives, according to population, would be continued. Reapportionment of both the House and Senate would be taken away from the Legislature and turned over to the Secretary of State.

Under the AFL plan the present "bedsheet ballot" would be continued in Wayne County whereby all Detroit representatives are elected at large. This burden on voter intelligence has led to "name" voting rather than selective judgment of candidates' merits.

The end result of the AFL plan would be pretty much the same as that of the CIO scheme: Power control over legislation by heavily populated urban centers.

Why are these reapportionment plans getting voter attention in 1952?

Here is some factual background information.

When the present state constitution was adopted in 1908, the charter provided that in 1913 and each tenth year thereafter the legislature shall rearrange the senatorial districts and apportion anew the representatives among the counties. Thus, 1953 becomes a reapportionment year.

Since the beginning of the Century Michigan has changed from a rural and agricultural state to an urban and industrial state. Population growth has been 163.2 per cent since 1900. The 1950 census shows that Wayne, Oakland and Genesee counties and the city of Saginaw had one-half of the 6,371,766 people residing in the state.

It is quite apparent that if both the house and senate were to be organized on a strict population basis, these urban centers could theoretically attain a near majority control over state legislation. From the viewpoint of the CIO and AFL labor union leaders, who seek constantly to improve the welfare of their dues-paying members, such control is most desirable.

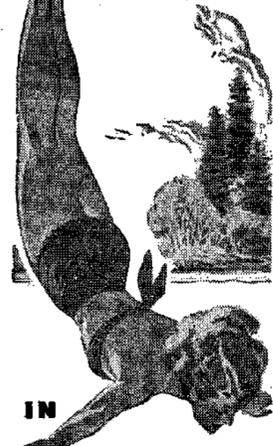

The governor's office is already sympathetic to the cause of the workingman; Governor Williams constantly pleads the merits of financing public benefits by a tax on corporation profits. If the legislature would be responsive to popular needs, the combination would be perfect, so the argument goes.

It should not be a surprise to the reader of this column, in view of the above facts and the writer's own interpretations, to add that leaders of Michigan business, industry, professions and agriculture are alarmed about the AFL and CIO ballot plans.

These leaders obviously do not

The Michigan CIO plan, fronted under the name of the "Michigan Committee for Representative Government," would ask Michigan voters in November to approve 33 Senatorial districts for the entire state, all on a strictly population basis.

As the CIO reapportionment map shows, Wayne County (Detroit) would have 12 out of 33 Senators. Oakland County would have two; Flint and Grand Rapids, as cities, would each have one. By electing social-minded legislators to the Senate from a handful of urban counties, labor could dominate the legislative chamber.

Furthermore, the CIO reapportionment plan would give Wayne County (Detroit) probably 36 representatives out of a total of 99. Under the CIO plan, no district could have less than 85 per cent nor more than 115 per cent of the ratio resulting from dividing the total population by the number of seats. Wayne gets a real break!

Thirty Million Boosters

Thirty million chiropractic patients can't be wrong in their praise because they and they alone are responsible for chiropractic's position today as the second largest healing profession in the world.

Ask the man or woman who has visited a chiropractor and he will tell you that these men in white are blazing a new trail in restoring the sick to good health.

Why? Because chiropractic disregards the symptoms of disease and deals with its cause—a cause traced directly to improper functioning of the glands and other organs of the body.

Because chiropractic operates on the undisputed theory that all function is directed and controlled by the nervous system—the brain the directing center, the spinal cord the main cable.

Like a telephone system, the nerves reach out to every part of the body and it must be obvious even to the lay person that these delicate nerves must not be disturbed.

Chiropractors locate disturbed nerves quickly, without pain and minimum expense to the sick.

Visit your chiropractor and join the parade to good health. See DR. B. V. CLARK, at 148 W. Lincoln Street, Caro, or phone 370 for an appointment. —Adv.

Shady Pasture Will Prevent Sheep Bloat

Bloat is an ever-present problem of sheep owners during the pasture season. But Graydon Blank, Michigan State College animal husbandry specialist, has suggestions to help cut losses from bloat.

Blank says that you should provide shade in the pasture. Otherwise sheep will spend most of the day away from the pasture and will be too hungry by the time they walk to the pasture in the evening. Water also should be available in the pasture.

A phenothiazine and salt mix should be kept available for the animals in the field. Another suggestion which seems to help is to turn sheep on lush pasture only after giving them a full feed of dry hay. Then keep a supply of dry hay before the flock while on pasture. Some farmers do this by spreading several loads of chopped hay over the pasture with a manure spreader.

Past Glory
The Ancient Mayas of Central America had a brilliant civilization with cities of stone, paved streets, and magnificent temples and public buildings. Today, less than fifteen hundred years later, the typical Maya of Central America, lives with his brown, barefooted children, in a mud and wattle hut. All that remains for him of the past glories of his people is the hybrid cereal named corn or maize, developed by some half-savage ancestor in Mexico, about 15,000 B.C., to mark the dawn of a once great culture.

Farm Wife May Equal Spouse in Crop Know-How

The hand that rocks the cradle is regaining its traditional skill in agriculture.

Prof. Grant B. Snyder, head of the Department of Olericulture at the University of Massachusetts and a modern youth leader, predicts that rural farm wives will soon be growing out of the kitchen into full working partnership with husbands.

He bases his opinion, he said, on records of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association, an organization that offers rural youth in 46 states "apprenticeship" training in the best methods of commercial gardening. This training program is a year-long production-marketing contest sponsored by A&P stores, which provides $8,000 annually in scholarship funds.

In the 1951 contest, Prof. Snyder pointed out, "more than 40 per cent of the 148 winners who split the $6,000 melon were girls."

"Many of these future farm wives," he added, "are college students taking agriculture, and I am sure they will put their education and their NJVGA experience to good use on their future farms."

Prof. Snyder, co-founder and chief adult adviser of NJVGA, said the 1952 contest, which is open to boys and girls 12 to 21 years of age, "is expected to be the biggest in NJVGA history."

Windows

Large windows of double-pane insulating glass, admit an abundance of sunshine and daylight into the poultry house. Pictured above is the poultry house on the Henry Zumsteln farm near Fairview, Ill. Agricultural engineers say this design helps to reduce moisture and sanitation problems.

Minnesota Farm Receipts, Expenses Hit New Highs

Both cash receipts and expenses of Minnesota farmers reached new high marks in 1951. Receipts from the sale of farm products reached a peak of 1,391 million dollars, topping 1950 by 14 per cent and the previous record in 1948, by 4 per cent. At the same time, cash expenses in 1951 rose nearly 12 per cent above 1950. The actual increase in net cash income over 1950 was only moderate.
