

Cass Cityites Crowd Park, Pool As Heat Wave Continues

The Cass City Recreational Park summer program swung into high gear this week with the opening of supervisor Irv. Clasen's program that includes baseball, softball, basketball, volleyball and tennis.

Five teams are entered in a 10-game baseball schedule and the teams began play Monday. Mr. Clasen reports that there are vacancies on the teams nearly every day and that any boy can play if he reports to the baseball diamond.

Other sports include basketball which will be played on the east tennis court every day, Clasen said. The time set for basketball is 4 p. m. and high school students play on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, while grade school students have the use of the court on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

After July 4, there will be girls' activities every Tuesday and Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The girls will have their choice of softball, volleyball or tennis.

In the afternoon until 4 p. m., Clasen said that he will inaugurate a grade school softball program.

The playground superintendent estimated that there has been an average of 55 youths at the playground in the morning and about 40 taking advantage of the facilities in the afternoon.

Meanwhile, the hot weather has found Cass City children flocking to the pool in record numbers. Approximately 150 local children have been using the facilities each afternoon. So far this year, no outside group has used Cass City's facilities.

During the extreme hot spell, the pool has been open every night. Regularly, it is scheduled to be open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Village May Crack Down on Parkers

Improper parkers and overtime parkers may feel the wrath of the Cass City Police Department in the near future if plans under consideration by the council materialize.

In recent months, the parking problem has become acute and the council is making plans to transfer Steve Otto from night to day duty to crack down on violators.

If shoppers park inside the yellow lines, another six or seven cars will be able to park on Main Street, members of the council said.

If Policeman Otto switches to day duty, he will rigidly enforce the two-hour parking limit on Main Street, as well as issue tickets for improper parking.

An estimated 130 Cub Scouts participated in the Tuscola District Cub Field Day held at the Cass City Recreational Park Thursday afternoon, June 19.

The trophy will become the permanent possession of the Cub Pack that wins the championship three years in a row. Reese won in 1948 and 1949, Cass City in 1950 and Caro in 1951.

The $750 left will be divided equally between the two civic organizations and the bank—each paying $250.

The scoreboard will be dedicated to Larry McPhail, A plaque and his picture will appear on the board. The plaque will be inscribed "Foremost American Sportsman."

Sleeping Citizens Protest Loud, Vile Talk in Village

Two residents on Main Street in Cass City registered complaints in letters to the council over the loud and abusive noise heard during the early morning hours while they were sleeping in upstairs apartments.

One letter said that there must not be an ordinance preventing the action or that the town marshal is not doing his job. The letter pointed out that the noise is getting progressively worse and persons responsible are using vile language.

The second letter stated that the noise was out of hand and getting worse.

Policeman Steve Otto told councilmen that he had trouble getting persons complaining to file a complaint so that a warrant could be issued for the arrest of the guilty parties.

Old Settlers Meet At Deford Church

The annual Old Settlers' Reunion held at the Deford Church Thursday, June 19, attracted 90 members who helped to elect new officers and make the event successful again in 1952.

Baptist Church Asks Council's Sanction Of Street Meetings

Rev. R. G. Weckle appeared before the village council to request permission to appear on Main Street on Saturday evening with a group of young persons to sing gospel hymns and testify for the Lord.

Rev. Weckle said that the front of any business on Main Street would answer the purpose of the group and pointed out that equipment would include a portable organ and a small identifying sign.

Members of the council have taken the request under advisement. Main Street is a trunk line highway in Michigan and trustees are afraid of a traffic hazard caused by cars that are stopped to see and hear the group.

Main Street on Saturday night has always resulted in congested traffic conditions here, according to authorities.

One trustee suggested that the group be allowed the park on Saturday evening to hold their meetings. The council has taken the matter under advisement and expects to come to a decision in the near future.

Bob Fox President Of FFA Chapter

The Cass City Chapter of the Future Farmers of America elected Bob Fox president of their club for the new year at a meeting held at the home of Archie McLachlan Monday evening.

The mother of the two performers will come to Cass City from Saginaw.

The meeting is open to the public.

Get Out the Vote Campaign Slated to Start in Local Area

Any time after this week end, voters in Elkland Township can expect to receive a call from one of 80 volunteer canvassers who will cover the voting district to see that eligible voters are registered with Clerk Charles Patterson.

Every home in the area is expected to be covered prior to the last day for registration, July 14. The aim of the campaign is to have a 100 per cent registration in Elkland Township this year. It will be the first step in helping to get out the vote in this area.

Persons in the area can assist the workers if they will register now, so that the canvassers will have only to be told that you are ready to vote at the primary and general elections.

Mr. Patterson is registering voters at Elkland Roller Mills during the day and at his home in Cass City in the evening.

Primary election is slated for August 5 this year.

Council Plans Parking Lot Without Telephone Property

Former Local Pastor Moves to St. Ignace

Several changes were announced in the pastorates at Methodist churches in the Thumb area by Bishop Marshall R. Reed at the Detroit Annual Conference Sunday, June 22.

Howard Watkins, pastor of the Cass City and Gagetown churches before he moved to Yale last year, was transferred to a large church at St. Ignace.

Other transfers are: Jason P. Holloper, from Beaverton to Elkton; Herbert Cheney, from Elkton to Disco, and Stephen Chapin, from Fort Austin to Lexington.

Council Briefs

Councilman Ben Benkelman, who is out of town, was not present at the council meeting Tuesday evening.

The hospital report was read and accepted by the council. According to figures submitted, there are now $58,750.88 in the fund—a gain of $2,553.15 over the 1951 figure. The amount was swelled by $1585 in donations and $1,018.15 in interest payments. Namon Karr, John McLellan and Father John Bozek were reappointed to the board for a three-year term.

Building permits were issued to Fay McComb for a house on Maple Street, Frank Fort for an extension to his grocery store, Osborne Ferguson to move a house to Houghton Street and enlarge it and to Frank Mosher to erect a garage on Doerr Road.

Policeman Steve Otto was given an okay to attend the annual police convention in northern Michigan July 7-9. The village will pay for mileage and hotel expenses for the trip. According to Otto, members attending discuss latest police techniques and other law enforcement problems at the meeting.

The council turned down a request for a stop street on the corner of West and Garfield Sts.

Orders were issued to Bud Burt to paint parking lines on Main Street. The lines are to extend past the parked cars so that drivers will have no trouble keeping within the lanes.

Requests were heard from two different Cass City churches for repairs to sidewalks near the church building. Rev. S. R. Wurtz appeared in person to request that the sidewalk on the north side of the EUB Church be repaired so that water would not gather there when it rains. A written request was submitted for the repair of the sidewalk on the west side of the Methodist Church. Both requests were referred to the streets committee for action.

Because the village of Cass City is a non-profit organization, the village council turned down a request by Fred Neitzel to hire a village worker to repair a water main on his property.

Western Auto Takes Lead in Cass City Softball League

Deford lost its first game of the season and Ellington won its first game of the season in games played Monday in the Cass City Softball League.

The wins pulled Ellington out of the league basement and shoved Western Auto on top of the loop standings.

In the opener, Ellington topped Decker, 5-4. The winners moved into an early lead and then outlasted Decker, whose late inning rallies fell one run short of tying the game.

Two circuit clouts were knocked in the game as Sharrard powered one for Decker and Dick "Chic" Holcomb circled the bases for the winners.

In the nightcap, Western Auto whipped Deford, 11-4, in the feature game of the week. Entering the game, both teams were undefeated.

Deford took an early three-run lead in the second inning, but Western Auto tied the score in their half of the same frame and took a one-run lead in the last of the third inning. After the third, Western Auto was never behind. Western Auto won the game

The village council continued plans to establish a parking lot in Cass City, although it now appears doubtful if the lot will accommodate as many cars as the original plans contemplated.

A letter from the Michigan Associated Telephone Co., read to trustees by Clerk Wilma Fry, stated that they were unable to give the village a definite answer to their request for a lease of a part of the company's property.

The company's plans for property is not clear at this time and they were unable to give a satisfactory answer to the council. The letter stated that they would advise the council as soon as their own plans were formulated.

Meanwhile, members decided to go ahead with plans for a lot without the use of the telephone company's property.

If plans are completed, the village will use part of the Federated and Fort's store properties for the new lot.

As soon as those plans are completed, the alley in back of the stores will be made one-way to eliminate traffic problems and the area resurfaced.

If the Michigan Associated Company decides that the village will be able to use their property, it can be quickly incorporated into the new lot.

The new lot is expected to relieve some of the congestion on Main Street during rush periods of the week.

Going Up?

Not only the thermometer has been rising in Elkland Township this week. Clerk Charles Patterson reports that the number of registrations has been steadily increasing.

He reports that 25 persons have registered with him during the week.

However, unlike the heat, registrations have a long ways to go before they reach the top of the voting thermometer. You can send good citizenship up another degree by making sure that you are registered.

This week's score:
Number of potential voters, 1,100*.
Highest previous registrations, 900*.
Votes at last presidential election, 876*.
New registrations to date, 40.
*Figures are estimated.

Farm Aerial Tour Planned in Thumb

Thumb farmers will get a view of their farms and the entire Michigan Thumb farming area in a Farm Aerial Tour of the county on Saturday, July 19, it was announced today by Gleason Rohlf, associate Huron County agricultural agent. Plans for the tour were made at a meeting of the Thumb area pilots and farmers in the county agent's office.

Six four-place airplanes, piloted by licensed commercial pilots, will be used, as vision is the best in this type of ship. If it happens to rain on this date, the flight will be postponed until the following Saturday.

The tour will start from the Sebewaing Township Airport, where an interesting program is being developed. This will include Concluded on page 12.

Western Auto Takes Lead in Cass City Softball League

with bunts and several long hits—enabling Elwyn Helwig to coast to his fourth victory.

Home runs were hit by John Haire and Dean Hoag, both of Western Auto.

In the final games of the week Tuesday evening, Church of Christ defeated Decker, 9-4, and Western Auto won from FFA, 11-4.

Carl Kolb pitched the distance as the Churchmen racked up their second victory of the season. Church of Christ wrapped up the victory with a heavy hitting barrage in the late innings of the game.

In the nightcap, Bob Ryland led his mates to an easy victory over FFA, as he pounded veteran hurler "Moose" Wiley for three home runs that drove in nine runs in the league-leaders 11-4 victory.

The game was the fifth straight victory for Western Auto and the fifth straight loss for the FFA.

WHAT ABOUT CALF SCOURS?

Q: Is there more than one type of calf scours?

A: Yes, there is an infectious type, and a non-infectious type.

Q: What causes infectious scours?

A: Infectious scours, often called white scours, is caused by germs that are common to many farm lots and buildings.

Q: How fast does calf scours develop?

A: A calf which seems to be well in the morning may be dead before night. First, the calf is listless and has no appetite. The next symptom is scouring. After that, the animal may collapse within a few hours.

Q: Is this primarily a problem of young calves?

A: Yes, chiefly animals less than one month old. The older calves may scour, too, but the chances of survival are somewhat better.

Q: What can an owner do if an outbreak of scours starts?

A: A veterinarian should be called promptly. The calf should be isolated, and the stables disinfected to safeguard other calves.

Q: What about treatment?

A: It is a waste of money to give drugs unless the basic cause is first determined. The veterinarian may recommend serums, sulfa drugs, or penicillin depending on the diagnosis.

Q: What preventive measures can be taken?

A: Feed cow balanced rations to help her produce a strong, healthy calf. See that the calf is born in clean, well-ventilated quarters on clean bedding and obtains colostrum milk. On infected farms have serum administered soon after birth. Be sure that young calves are fed properly, but not overfed.

NOTE—Due to space limitations, general questions cannot be handled by this column.

For a lot of protection at little cost, keep a portable fire extinguisher on every tractor, Michigan State College safety specialists urge.

Chronic complainers are convinced that every season comes at the wrong time of the year.

If you have a green manure crop ready to be plowed under for a bean crop, you'd better do it soon if you want to get the most profit.

Coat each venetian blind slat with wax to help prevent dust collection, recommend Michigan State College home economists.

Water should be available to a calf on a "self-serve" basis from as early in life as two weeks.

Rising farm costs call for efficient farming—high production for each man, machine, acre, animal and farm.

The quick easy way to rid your lawn of broad leaf plants is spraying with 2,4-D weed killers. But be careful the spray drift does not get on shrubs, trees and flowers.

Danger lurks everywhere during haymaking season. Safety pays off even greater in seasons where manpower is so important.

Set your lawn mower so it does not cut grass shorter than one and a half inches. If you cut away too much leaf surface, the grass cannot manufacture food for new growth.

IS YOUR SON A MURDERER?

This message deals with the boys in Korea. Some religious groups won't fight, others will. Some say a boy killed on a battlefield has gone straight to Hell. What does the Bible say? If your son killed a North Korean or a Chinese Red, and then in the next instance was killed himself, can he go to Heaven under such circumstances? Will a Christian fight? The Bible answers these questions and more on this subject. You will always Thank God you heard this message.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

June 26, 1950! Do you remember it?

It was a blistering hot Monday. But people weren't talking about the weather. They were talking about names that were still strange on their tongues—Pyongyang, Seoul, Pusan.

The day before, while Michigan had taken to the road to dodge the heat wave, North Korea forces had crossed the Republic of Korea borders and were advancing with the speed of Hitler's panzers.

Today, June 26, 1952, Michigan Civil Defense officials are preparing to set up a 24-hour aircraft spotting service. Twenty-seven states, including Michigan, that ring the vulnerable northern perimeter of the nation will go on the alert, July 14.

But, with only 9,000 volunteers lined up in Michigan, and 18,000 needed, CD chiefs worry about the apathy of people whose lives have been on the whole quite unchanged by the Korean "police action."

That apathy is due to the rapid oscillation of news, from good to bad, from the 38th Parallel.

There was the period of shock when American soldiers entered combat, the shrinking beachhead at Pusan, the bitterness of defeat.

Then came mounting hope, spurred by MacArthur's brilliant landing at Incheon and the GI drive toward the Yalu. The gloomy days of the epic retreat from the Chonjin Reservoir again gave way to hope when truce negotiations began a year ago.

But the protracted sessions in the circus tent at Panmunjon have dulled America's tenseness. You can't stay at hair-trigger alert indefinitely without the stimulus of danger. Maybe Uncle Joe bases his truce talk strategy on that fact.

How, then, to find 9,000 volunteers to man ground observation posts?

Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, Michigan CD director, believes the "cards-on-the-table approach" is the way to do it.

"We're not trying to scare anyone," he affirms. "We're just going to present the facts. I think that's all the American people need—to know the danger their country faces."

"Russia has 400 operational bombers—and the atom bomb."

Maitland came back from the Yucca Flats atom tests with a soldier's respect for the potency of the bomb. But "proper preparation and a well organized Civil Defense Corps can combat atomic attacks," he is sure.

By the Arctic route, Maitland points out, Michigan and its huge war plants are close to Russia. Detroit, Flint and Grand Rapids are critical targets; the Soo Locks are "island targets," just as tempting to the Red Star fly-boys.

"We'll never start a war. If one comes it will come when Russia starts it—and we'll know about it when their bombers hit."

"A $300 million radar network enables us to track planes in from Alaska but under 5,000 feet radar won't work. That's where the ground observers come in."

Spotters won't have to learn laboriously to recognize all types of aircraft, says Maitland. All they have to do is report. Civil Aeronautics and Air Force liaison will start interceptor pilots scrambling if the plans are unauthorized.

"There are fighter units (I can't tell you where, but in Michigan) which can take off in five minutes. Each minute saved means six air miles gained. An alert ground observer could save Detroit," the general points out.

If Russia attacks, she knows we'll retaliate with bombing. That means she needs fighter planes to protect her cities. She has them, 4,000 to 5,000 Migs. They're good planes—but they're not night fighters.

So it is to Stalin's advantage to strike when his fighters have the most daylight hours. That's in the Summer, of course. Many important Soviet bases are so close to the Arctic Circle that daylight stretches for 20 hours.

Long days help navigators, too. The men in the Kremlin will add that up in their battle plans.

America will never begin a "preventive war," all authorities agree on that.

So what do we do while an enemy makes up his mind to strike?

"We try to give them cause to think," says Maitland.

"If we have an alert ground observation network, we can rob attackers of the important element of surprise. That worked in England. With civilian spotters alerting the RAF, Germany lost the Battle of Britain.

"If the Russians know we have spotters every eight miles, they can't hope for another Pearl Harbor. That may make them pause in their considerations," he believes.

Anti-aircraft guns are ringing important targets. Batteries are on constant alert in downtown Detroit, for instance.

The sight of them may give a sense of urgency to people who live in those A-bomb target areas. But what about the grocer in Clare, the miner in Negaunee or the farmer in Bad Axe.

"It's cold and dark at 2 a. m.," admits Maitland. "A man's tired after he puts in his day's work."

"But our fighter pilots are on duty 150 hours a week. That's right, 150 hours when they have to be ready to scramble in two minutes flat."

America—and Michigan—need observers who will serve even when the calm of a Summer's night or the brilliance of a Fall sunrise chase away thoughts of Korea, Red saber-rattling in East Germany, the shooting of a Swedish plane in the Baltic.

"We need people who, if they don't see any bombers, will just say 'Thank God!'" says Maitland.

"We've got to put this over. We're not crying wolf but nobody's resting easy in the Pentagon these nights."

"I may be an optimist. But I feel that if you lay it on the table honestly, the American people will respond."

Maitland is big, stern, a soldier. When he says something it has the ring of brusque sincerity.

"I believe Michigan people will respond," he says.

In planning meals give attention to variety. Avoid all hot or all cold foods and try to include as many colors as possible. Do not repeat a food in the same meal—such as tomato soup and tomato salad.

Generally fat fishes such as salmon or shad should be baked or broiled because the fat content will keep them from drying out. Lean cod or haddock, on the other hand, are best steamed or broiled.

One of the best ways to handle the bloat problem with dairy cows on pasture is to provide a rack of dry hay or straw for the animals. Michigan State College dairymen say that if placed near the watering or resting place the cows will eat the hay, which need not be of the best quality.

Try a new egg dish. Devil eggs in your usual way, heat them in a double boiler and pour a cheese sauce or a well-seasoned cream sauce as they are served.

4-H Club Members To Attend Club Camp

About 22 4-H club members in Tuscola County have circled June 30 on their calendars as the day 4-H Club Camp at Michigan State College gets under way. Final preparations are being made by more than 1,400 lower peninsula youngsters who will converge on the East Lansing campus for their 34th annual camp. George C. MacQueen, 4-H Club Agent, announced today.

A well-rounded program of educational and recreational activities has been set for the four-day meeting. Facilities of the college, including the modern Shaw Dormitory, will be turned over to the 4-H'ers.

Climax of the activities will be announcement of achievement booth and scholarship winners. Three $250 scholarships from the National Farm and Garden Association are among the presentations to be made.

A dress revue staged by 4-H girls, and an impressive candle-lighting ceremony are on evening programs, MacQueen said. Kathryn Stencil of Ionia, International Farm Youth Exchange delegate, will talk on her experiences in Austria last summer.

On the final day groups will visit the state capitol in Lansing and be greeted by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Members of 4-H Clubs in the upper peninsula will attend Camp Shaw at Chatham in late July. For the first time this year members from the northern part of the lower peninsula are attending the MSC camp at East Lansing.

Those attending from Tuscola County are: Soil conservation—Dan Davis, Vassar; Handicraft, Telford Proffer, Vassar; livestock—Jack Gallagher and Bill Zinnecker, Cass City; crops—Clarence Tacey, Fairgrove; Pat Sheridan, Fairgrove; electrical—Kenneth Pike, Caro; clothing—Norine Cramer, Akron, Wave Socier, Unionville, Lois McMullen, Mayville; food preservation—Joyce Donnelly, Cass City, Ruby Lou Horwath, Fairgrove; dairy—James White, Silverwood; James Schlattman, Mayville; garden—Lynn Staples, Clifford, Carol Irish, Akron, Shirley Haske, Reese; achievement booth—Barbara Ruggles.

Testing and constant use in Michigan State College household equipment laboratories have proved that plastic varnishes and sheet coverings will produce easy-to-keep surfaces that repel many stains or heat discolorations.

ON EVERY ELECTION DAY

Yet the records show many of us do forget to vote

In the last presidential election in this district only 875 of an estimated 1100 eligible voters paused long enough to register and vote. Obviously this record is not one that will safeguard the future of the greatest nation on earth. If we find reason to complain about the way our government is being run, we cannot, with this record, blame anyone but ourselves. Again the opportunity is here to DO SOMETHING. Register and vote at all the elections.

Vote and stay FREE --- Register by July 14

Montesquieu said--

"The deterioration of every government begins with the decay of the principles on which it was founded."

Many of us do forget our American principles of government. We forget our duty to vote on election day. By failing to vote we may give government the power to limit our individual rights—to take away our liberty and property. Unless we are eternally vigilant by going to the polls on election day we will betray the principles on which our American government was founded.

We May be at the Crossroads

On page four of this week's issue of the Chronicle is a message that should not only be read, but closely studied by all readers of this newspaper.

In this age of platitudes and catch slogans, there is a tendency to disregard phrases heard over and over again. But the words the pursuit of life, liberty and the ownership of property have as much, if not more, significance today as they had when they were written into the constitution of the United States.

For, today, we may well be standing on the crossroads between a socialistic, state-controlled government and a free, Democratic-Republican nation.

Already taxes have reached the stage where the common man has less and less incentive to work extra hours for more compensation, as taxes take more and more of the extra dividends that make the labor pay.

The time has come when you, as a voter in this country, must take a stand at the polls for the kind of government you want in this nation. Today you have the opportunity to choose—register and exercise your rights at both the primary and general elections this year.

Vote of Thanks

Residents of the Cass City area this week must be giving a vote of thanks to the Cass City Gavel Club and other members of the village for their foresight in building the facilities of the Cass City Recreational Park. Cass City is the only village of its size in the Thumb with a swimming and wading pool and both have been receiving record crowds during the heat wave. Picnic tables and other facilities have been jammed as grateful citizens are taking advantage of the efforts of the many civic minded citizens in the village.

Evening Ceremony Unites Little - Hartel

The Novesta Church of Christ, decorated with potted palms, baskets of peonies and candelabra, formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Leta Ruth Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Little of Cass City, and Leland J. Hartel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartel, Cass City, at 8:00 p. m., June 20, which was also the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. Rev. Howard Woodard performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of about 300 guests.

Mrs. Audley Horner was the pianist and Hazel Little, sister of the bride, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." At the close of the ceremony, Mrs. Jack Kilbourn sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white satin gown with bodice and scalloped yoke of lace, edged with seed pearls and wrist point sleeves. The panels of the skirt and train were of brocade satin and her veil was of finger-tip length, edged in lace. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a white Bible. Her flowers were gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Maid of honor, Joyce Little, sister of the bride, wore a dress of blue marquisette with matching shoulder length veil and her flowers were yellow carnations.

Mrs. Keith Little, sister-in-law of the bride, and Joan Atkins, friend of the bride, both of Cass City, were bridesmaids. They wore coral rose and light green satin gowns, respectively, with matching shoulder length veils, and their flowers were pink and white carnations. Miss Arlene Lane of Detroit, friend of the bride, was also a bridesmaid. She wore a yellow embroidered organza dress with matching shoulder length veil and her flowers were yellow and white carnations.

Chester Dorland of Cass City was best man. Other attendants of the groom were Harold and Keith Little, brothers of the bride, and Tom Schwedder.

Ring bearer, Gordon Bigham, of Cass City carried the rings on a heart-shaped white satin pillow.

Janice Turner of Flint, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and wore white organza with shoulder length veil and carried a colonial bouquet of carnations.

The mothers of the bride and groom both wore aqua street length dresses with white accessories and corsages of yellow roses.

A reception was held at the Cass City Arena where Miss Almada Profit registered the guests and Lowell Slicker announced a program of instrumental and vocal selections.

The bride's table was decorated in yellow and white, and a four-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom and wedding bells, centered the table.

When they left on their wedding trip to northern Michigan, the bride was wearing a navy blue dress with white accessories and a pink hat. They expect to return June 27, when they will go to their home on Garfield Ave., Cass City, which they recently purchased.

The newlyweds are both graduates from Cass City High School with the class of '51 and are employed in Cass City.

Bonnie Mark Weds Richard Dill Saturday

Miss Bonnie Mark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mark of Cass City, became the bride of Richard Dill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dill, of 3999 Devonshire, Grosse Pointe, in a ceremony performed at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, June 21, in Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. Rev. Richard Williams, pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church, officiated.

Members of the immediate families and friends of the bride were seated by James Mark, brother of the bride, and Peter Marty of Bridgeport, Ohio, friend of the groom.

Baskets of white peonies decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina length gown of champagne nylon net. Her flowers were a nosegay of white daisies and her headpiece was also daisies.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Ruth Wurtsmith of Grosse Pointe Woods, with whom she has been living. Mrs. Wurtsmith's gown was of shrimp colored nylon net. Her nosegay and headpiece were of blue daisies.

Robert Dill of Detroit performed the duties of best man for his brother.

Mrs. Mark wore for the wedding, a navy blue dress with pink accessories. The groom's mother wore dusty pink with white accessories. Both mothers wore an orchid corsage.

A reception in the home of Mrs. Wurtsmith, at 1561 Roslyn, Grosse Pointe Woods, followed the ceremony. A circle of gardenias and daisies surrounded the wedding cake, a creation of the bride's sister, Mrs. Wm. Martus.

Mrs. Dill was wearing a navy and white linen suit and a corsage of red roses when they left on their two weeks' wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park.

They will make their home at 1561 Roslyn, Grosse Pointe Woods. The bride is a registered nurse, graduating with the class of 1948 from Providence Hospital. Mr. Dill received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Michigan in 1950.

New Product

A new product designed to control seepage and erosion in ditches and canals is now on the market. The material is a fiberglass-reinforced prefabricated asphalt membrane lining and is easy to install. On the Frank P. Rodriguez ranch in California (above) it was used as a lining for a pond in which irrigation water was stored.

Being content with one's lot shouldn't be difficult—especially if he has a lot.

SHORT STORY

Joe Gets Into Trouble

By M. J. Collins

IT was about six-thirty and Jenny and I were eating supper. The phone had rung several times but, it being a rural line with nine parties on it we didn't even bother to listen.

3-Minute Fiction

"That was our ring!" Jenny suddenly exclaimed. I answered the phone.

"Your Uncle Joe went to town this morning and he ain't back."

"It was Aunt Martha and she sounded a bit worried."

"Maybe he had trouble with his car. What was he in town for?"

"Took four fat hogs to market."

"Perhaps you should have gone with him."

"The last time he took pigs to the market, they didn't want to stay in the trailer so he made me get in with them and if you think that's a nice way for a woman to ride to town—I don't!"

Hardly had I hung up the receiver when Aunt Martha's number rang. I stuck my hand over the mouthpiece and listened. It was the police department and Uncle Joe was in jail. One of the constables had found him trying to open the door of his car, the only trouble was that Uncle Joe insisted the radiator was the door, so he was locked up for safety's sake. I hung up and a short time later she phoned and told me her trouble.

By that time Uncle Joe had a grin a mile wide—and a gleam in his eyes.

"Now don't get so excited," I soothed, "I'll be right over."

The miscreant was stretched out in a stupor when the officer opened the cell door.

"Hu!" Aunt Martha sniffed. "The nerve! You can still smell the stuff." It boded no good for Uncle Joe.

WHEN we reached their place I helped put the still groggy Uncle Joe to bed.

Uncle Joe was just beginning to be himself.

"Oh, my head!" he groaned, "my poor head." He raised himself up on his elbows. "Did he get away?"

"Did who get away?" Aunt Martha asked, belligerently.

Uncle Joe ignored her. "I parked our car down near the lakeshore, I wasn't paying a nickel to park on the main street, and when I was comin' back across the short-cut, you know where it's all groved up with brambles and bushes, someone came up right smart behind and knocked me out. I think he used a bottle." He shook his head.

"Hu! A fine way to account for that smell!" Aunt Martha snorted.

"Did he get my money?" He suddenly remembered it.

"Well, you haven't got it if that's what you mean." Aunt Martha informed him tartly. "Here, you get back into bed, you're wobbly, and let me have a look at your head."

Still growling and protesting he did as he was bid.

"Now you, Joe Quinn, stay quiet!" She wagged a finger under his nose. "I'll get something for your bump and your supper also."

Aunt Martha grinned at me as we went out to the kitchen. A car pulled up by the door.

"Good heavens!" she cried with dismay. "It's Mr. Morrison, the minister! Everything is in a mess—and the condition Joe's in—I, you keep mum, Joe Quinn, I'll shut the door and he won't know anything about you."

"I won't stay quiet!" Uncle Joe cried. "You can't treat me like a culprit, O'mon in!" Uncle Joe yelled at the top of his voice.

"Well, Joe, you certainly had a spot of trouble," Mr. Morrison said when he came into the room. "That bottle must have been strong stuff."

Aunt Martha gasped.

Mr. Morrison dug into his pocket and brought out a pocketbook.

"Where'd you get that?"

"Well, Joe, the man that hit you with that bottle and robbed you had a very bad accident and I was called. I'm glad to be a help to both of you," he said handing him his pocketbook.

By that time Uncle Joe had a grin a mile wide, all his money was intact and I could tell from the gleam in his eyes that Aunt Martha would have to dance attendance on him to get back in his good graces.

The want ads are newsy too.

Grass-Legume Is Key to Conservation

Good grass-legume mixtures for soil improvement must not be overlooked despite the fact they do not bring cash returns, Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent, advised.

The grass-legume mixtures are the key to most soil conservation on farm land, that's because your sod crops add home grown organic matter and nitrogen, reduce erosion and leaching losses, improve soil structure and increase intake of water. Of course, productivity of the soil is also increased, the agricultural agent concluded.

The amount of grasses and legumes required for soil improvement depends on kind of soil, texture, topography and climate, according to L. J. Braamse of Michigan State College soil conservation department. Sandy and hilly soils usually require a larger percentage of land left in sod crops.

Thousands of acres of row crops still go over winter with little or no protection, Ballweg pointed out, adding that there is great need for more complete cover crops and rotations which give more protection from wind and water erosion during winters.

There is seldom such a thing as having too much hay or pasture. Though there may be too much from a standpoint of feeding to livestock, there is rarely too much for soils on the farms that are low in organic content and would be greatly benefited by additional

LET'S TALK IT OVER

trying to take a rainbow trout. The place we picked isn't just a fisherman's paradise. The swimming is excellent—the scenery like it ought to be. Our "Bit-o-heaven" is Silver Lake, near Wolverine. Two long weeks—without a typewriter or microphone.

The other day—just out of curiosity, I happened to ask a Bay County farmer how much land was worth these days. He said that considering the location—and if the land was tiled—good land ought to bring from five to six hundred dollars an acre.

With that in mind—let me tell you some figures about the country as a whole.

Too Expensive.

In the first place—land is so expensive that the door is closed to prospective farmers. These are young men who want to farm but can't raise the down payment on either land or equipment.

Economists always said that we would never again reach the high levels of the land boom of 1920. During that year, farm values went up to 69 dollars an acre. (on an average for all the country) In 1933 values were down to less than thirty dollars per acre.

As of right now, the price is 81 dollars. That's a long way over the top of 1920.

Average Cost.

There's another interesting set of figures about farms and their values. Back in 1940 the average farm in the United States included 174 acres. It was worth, in total, about 55 hundred dollars.

Today—there are no exact figures—but experts estimate that the average American Farm is worth between 17 and 18 thousand dollars.

That higher value may be comforting to the man who owns a farm but it's discouraging to young would-be farmers, and tenants who want to become farm owners.

Sales of farms have been falling off. Demand is weaker now than it was one year ago.

The ironic thing is: Even though the whole set-up is worth more money—it's harder to make a profit now than at any time since the depression.

In other words, "What good is the fifty cent dollar?"

Safe Farm Practices Cut Farm Accidents

Farm accidents caused 81 deaths in Michigan last year. This toll was recently revealed by the state department of health. And this costly loss is even greater when we consider also the crippling, hand-capping injuries that cause so much lost time.

David Steinicke, Michigan State College farm safety specialist, says this report points up the need for National Farm Safety Week, July 20-26. The week should be the beginning of an all-out effort to cut farm accidents to a minimum. The Michigan farm and home accident toll can be cut nearly to zero, Steinicke reports.

There's a big "if" in that statement though. It is "if farmers and homemakers will eliminate all ten danger spots on every farm in their county."

A good way to begin a safe 12 months is to eliminate at least ten hazards on the farm right now, Steinicke believes. Here are some suggestions for eliminating hazards. Repair all defective steps and ladders. Remove all nails from loose boards. Clean yard of rubbish, garden tools, forks and hose. Avoid storing loose materials overhead, Steinicke urged.

Store gasoline out-of-doors, underground, or in an isolated building. Clean stairways of brooms, mops, tools, magazines and toys. Get rid of oil-saturated or paint rags. Build a safe bull pen to keep bulls in.

In addition, there are many more hazards that can be eliminated on every farm, Steinicke feels. Eliminating them may mean saving you or a member of your family from serious injury or death.

Poultry Industry May Set New Record

Output in 1952 May Hit Fourfold of Decade Ago

The poultry industry may break all production records during 1952. Production of broiling chickens, for instance, which makes up over half the chicken population, is expected to jump this year to more than 850 million birds. Last year's production was 784 million. Just a decade ago, fewer than 200 million broilers were raised in a year.

Turkey production is forecast at 11 per cent higher than the record 53 million of last year, about 80 per cent above the pre-war 1941 output.

Egg production is expected to stay about the same as last year when some 60 billion were produced. That was 40 per cent above the production of 1941.

Poultry production gains have far outdistanced the U.S. population increase. That means some huge jumps in per-capita consumption.

More and more flocks like the one above will be seen on the nation's farms this year.

Last year, the average American downed over 400 eggs, against less than 300 yearly in the 1935-39 period. Chicken eating per person was nearly 30 pounds in 1951, against a 1935-39 average of under 19 pounds. Turkey consumption more than doubled in the same period.

Spreading Manure Aids Wildlife, Specialists Say

Farmers who spread manure on their fields in late winter and early spring are helping wildlife as well as crops, extension specialists report.

Value of manure spreading for plant food is recognized, but few people realize that good farming practice also is a wildlife conservation help. Most manure contains weed and crop seeds that make good winter feed for pheasants, quail and other birds.

February, March, and sometimes April, are lean months in many northern states for the wildlife population. Pheasants and quail are weakened by lack of cover during earlier winter months.

Since much of their winter food supply has been exhausted, many birds will not survive lean pickings and rough weather during the last months of winter.

Agronomists always have emphasized that prompt spreading of manure saves plant food that might otherwise be lost through leaching. From now until full spring, manure should be spread when field conditions permit. Spreading now will put nutrients in fields instead of down barnyard drains, extension specialists say.

Record
Since 1900, West Virginia has produced five billion tons of coal.

Lost Motion

Many of us know too well the effects of paralysis—loss of power of motion.

But what is it that causes a limb to fail to respond, refuse to move? Chiropactic says the answer may be an interruption of nerve communication—an interference with the supply of nerve energy to that limb; a break in the body's power line.

The nerve may have been severed as a result of an accident—or it may be due to a spinal misalignment, causing a bone of the spine to press on the nerve in such a manner so that the power it carries cannot pass that point.

Chiropactors do not claim to mend a break but such cases are so rare they are not a common factor in the care and cure of paralysis.

By far the most common cause of paralysis is the spinal misalignment and here, Chiropactic has a brilliant record of complete cures and substantial improvement in others.

Chiropactors are skillfully trained to locate such misalignments and adjust them. If you are suffering from any type of paralysis see your chiropactor without delay.

The shorter the period of paralysis, the quicker the cure. See for yourself by calling on your local chiropactor, DR. B. V. CLARK, at 148 W. Lincoln Street, Caro, or phone 370 for an appointment.—Adv.

demonstration of the many uses for the airplane in farming operations. A feature will be the rescue by seaplane of someone in distress on the bay. With radio in the plane, Frank Hofmeister, flying his Luscombe Seaplane, will direct rescue operations from the air.

Arrangements for farm women to make the tour are being made. Mrs. Frank Hofmeister of Sebewaing will be in charge of the event. She will also be in charge of the wiener roast, which will provide the lunch for those making the trip.

Civil Air Patrol cadets will be on hand to demonstrate their part in the defense plans of the nation and will help in the landing and parking arrangements of the planes, as well as supervise the loading. The cadets will be under the direction of Capt. Carl Nye of Cass City, newly appointed commander of the Thumb Group C. A. P. The cadets will be in uniform. They will present a drill.

It is expected that a number of flying farmers who own their own planes will also fly in to lend a hand in the event, although these planes will not be used in the tour. Only four-place ships will be employed.

Pilots and plane owners have been enthusiastic in their support of the plan and have offered the use of their planes at practically cost. The price for the entire tour has been set at $7.50 including the wiener roast. Reservations may be made and tickets obtained at the office of the county agent.

WHAT ABOUT ATROPHIC RHINITIS?

Q: Why is atrophic rhinitis one of our worst new swine diseases?
A: It is spreading rapidly, causing severe losses.

Q: Is rhinitis infectious?
A: Yes, very infectious, and can where hog raising is no longer easily spread from one animal to another.

Q: Why is rhinitis so costly?
A: It does not kill many swine outright, but it may stop gains to the point of being profitable. Affected pigs fail to put on weight.

Q: What are the symptoms?
A: Pigs sneeze frequently. Later their snouts become "pushed in" or twisted, due to distortion of the bones of the nose. Scours, unthriftiness and pneumonia may follow.

Q: Is this the same as "bull nose"?
A: No. The two conditions may look alike, but bull nose starts from an injury and barnyard germs. It is not contagious.

Q: How is rhinitis spread?
A: Careless buying of breeding stock and feeder pigs is an important factor. Unless detected early, the entire herd may have to be sold, to get rid of the disease.

Q: Is there any cure?
A: Not yet. Prevention of losses depends on an immediate veterinary diagnosis at first suspicion of trouble so prompt control measures can be applied.

Man's Duty

By Anna E. Wilson

UNCLE JONAS always held that it was a man's duty to look after his women folks, but that was before he got caught out in his dory in a storm and was brought home with a twisted leg.

He sat, now, on a discarded sawhorse in Timothy Donovan's backyard and whittled.

Yet not later than this morning, his sister Abbie had said, "It does seem to me, Jonas, as if you could get something to do; ever since you lost that dory, you've done nothing but sit around and whittle. It don't seem right for a man your age to be a burden—not that I'm complaining," said Abbie righteously.

"though it's hard on a woman my age keeping boarders, without," she finished plaintively, "cleaning up a mess of chips."

Jonas had promptly moved his whittling out of Abbie's kitchen and over into Timothy's backyard which he shared with a moth-eaten old goat, Nicodemus.

His gnarled hands handled the knife skillfully, and his fingers caressed the tiny craft his skill had produced. He rescued a piece of calico, purloined from Abbie's work basket and fashioned tiny sails to billow out from the miniature mast.

He sat, now, on a discarded sawhorse in Timothy Donovan's backyard and whittled.

And spars, and set her assail in Donovan's pond, a full rigged fishing schooner.

He had just finished and looked up to see Abbie bearing down on him full sail.

"Now, Jonas, there's no call for you to sit out here in the sun with that old goat. Folks'll be saying I drove you out of the house."

"Folks'll be right," said Jonas stoutly.

Abbie's face broke up, she was close to tears. "Now, Jonas, you don't need to take what a person says to heart."

"Thirty years," said Jonas stubbornly, "I kept the house fed and respectable. Don't seem any call for you to go fretting now."

"I know, Jonas," said Abbie, wiping her eyes with her apron. "But it does seem—"

Nicodemus had finished chewing the label from a tomato can, he bleated, his vindictive little eyes swinging around in Abbie's direction. Abbie left in a hurry and Jonas patted the goat.

WHITTILING could be hard work, he thought, when you did it eight hours a day. He counted his little fleet carefully, they were all there; stout, water tight, in full sail. He looked up to see Abbie coming down the street with a man.

Abbie's voice was uncertain. "Mr. Golstein came all the way down from the city to see you, Jonas. Mr. Golstein keeps a curio shop—" but Mr. Golstein was shaking hands with Jonas, showing all his teeth.

"Well, well, I see you've got them finished. Are they all there? He started counting them into his bag."

Jonas nodded, he was unaccountably tired, a man got that way working under strain; his shoulders ached, his fingers were blistered, and his bones cried out against the hardness of the sawhorse.

Mr. Golstein finished packing the ships, took out his wallet. "$250," he said cheerfully counting it out. "And say, Jonas, that figure of the little goat is going over big. Can let you have an order for a hundred of them. Same price."

He turned to Abbie, "Lucky day for your brother and me, Miss Abbie, when he came into town to have his leg attended to and saw some carved figures in my window. Tell you what, Miss Abbie, not many people's got so much foresight these days." He went off chuckling.

"Now Abbie," said Jonas gently, "there's no call for you to be crying. It's a man's duty to look after his women folks. I didn't tell you before because Mr. Golstein wasn't sure. He wanted to see them first. Seems that now it's getting colder, we could let the boarders go and I could sit in the kitchen. It's more companionable like—for you and me."

Corn, Grain Draining Nitrogen From Soil

High yielding hybrid corn and improved small grain varieties are draining nitrogen from midwestern soils faster than it can be replaced by legume crops, Dr. R. H. Tyner, University of Illinois agronomist, says. If crop yields are to be maintained, nitrogen supplied either by commercial fertilizer or manure will be needed in addition to the nitrogen added by legume crops, agronomist report.

IFYE Delegates To Visit Michigan Soon

According to a recent letter from Vern Freeman, acting state 4-H club leader, Michigan will be visited by six IFYE delegates this summer, says George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent. They include four young men from Belgium, The Netherlands and India, and two young ladies from North Ireland and England. Mr. Freeman stated that the delegates are to be placed on farms "where they may not only live, work and share experiences, but also have opportunities to take an occasional tour with Extension Agents, attend meetings, fairs and community events." They should stay two to six weeks with the same family if possible. The 4-H leader also stated that part time pay, perhaps at one-half or less of the "going rate" is recommended. Past experience has shown that these exchanges are well worth whatever pay is given. The main purpose of their visit is one of good will and education so they need to be flexible as to their activities. If any Tuscola County farm families are interested in being host to one of these delegates, please call Caro, 330, and let the 4-H club agent know of their wish and preference as to boy or girl. Telephone numbers and addresses are essential.
