An estimated 30 persons attended the annual school election held in Cass City Monday evening and re-elected Frederick Pinney and Mrs. Edward Baker to three-year terms as trustees on the school board.

Mr. Pinney was elected over James Gross, Harold Perry, Dr. Delbert Rawson and E. B. Schwaderer, while Mrs. Baker led the balloting over Mrs. Curtis Hunt, Dr. Rawson, Mr. Gross, Mr. Perry, Mrs. Grant Patterson and Curtis Hunt.

The total tax rate remained at 11 mills, although the division between operating and the debt fund changed. Last year the district voted six mills for operating and five mills for debt. This year the ratio will be seven mills for operating and four mills for debt.

According to the financial report, the school has $25,495.10 in the general fund as compared to $19,825.28 at the end of June 1951.

There were more pupils in the school this year than attended in 1951. According to reports from the superintendent's office, an average of 963 pupils attended the school in the school year just completed. In 1950-51, the average was 917.

Four hundred and thirty-nine of the students were in the grades and 524 in the high school, Superintendent Willis Campbell said.

The school district will again transport all students that live more than one mile from the school. The mileage is scheduled to be measured and rigidly adhered to this season.

Committee Signs Professional Act For Home-Coming

Because of the popular appeal of the professional acts at the Cass City Home-coming last year, the Chamber of Commerce has arranged to present another variety show at this year's event, Aug. 7.

Jack Terry, well-known comedian, will act as master of ceremonies for the show and he will be assisted by several outstanding performers.

Leland MacPhail's Record Indicates Local Dedication Program Well Deserved

When Cass City honors Leland S. MacPhail at the dedication ceremony at the Cass City Home-coming August 7, it will be paying a tribute to one of the most successful sportsmen this country has ever known. He is a former Cass City boy.

MacPhail has compiled an outstanding record as a promoter and sportsman in two fields—baseball and horse racing. In both cases he accomplished his mission in spite of the warning of most of the "experts" in his field.

His first move that won the acclaim of the sporting world and netted him a considerable amount of money was his manipulations as owner of the Cincinnati Reds.

When he took over, baseball was at a low ebb and the club was losing money fast. Things began to pick up as soon as MacPhail moved into Cincinnati.

Among his crowd-pleasing activities while with the Reds was a coat of paint for the stadium, new ball players and the introduction of night baseball in the majors.

He developed the team into a pennant contender and staged various stunts to attract the customers. MacPhail made money.

He quit at Cincinnati and stayed out of baseball a year before becoming boss at Brooklyn.

Hartwicks Have Children in School For 37 Years

Although they are not positive, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hartwick believe that they have set a record in the length of time that they have been sending children to school.

They started packing lunches and getting their first child, Arlan, ready for classes in 1915—37 years ago. Since that time they have had at least one child in school continuously through the end of the 1951-52 school year when Charles Hartwick graduated.

The Hartwicks have 10 children, eight boys and two girls. Twice during the 37-year span there have been six Hartwicks attending school at the same time—three in high school and three in a country grade school.

The children and the years they were in school: Arlan, 1915-28; Mrs. Stanley Mellendorf (Erma), 1917-29; Paul, 1919-31; Lawrence, 1923-33; Leland, 1925-39; Leslie, 1927-40; Mrs. J. W. Crane (Elaine), 1931-42; Robert, 1935-45; Gerald, started 1937, now in service, and Charles, 1939-1952.

All of the Hartwick children are now married except Leslie, Gerald and Charles.

The second large Brown trout caught within two weeks by Cass City anglers was reported last week end.

Although not as large as the record breaker landed by John Crawford recently, the trout scaled eight pounds, nine ounces and measured 28 inches.

The big fish was caught by Sam Vyse in Houghton Creek, the same stream where Crawford took his prize catch. He was landed about 10 p. m. with a Bristol fly rod, six-pound line and number 10 hook.

Mr. Vyse said that he used crawlers when he landed the trout and was assisted by a friend who helped net his catch.

It took the veteran angler an estimated 15 minutes to land the Brown.

Other members of the fishing party also reported good fishing. Ronald Vyse netted a three-pound Brown the same evening.

First Step

With the first step toward good citizenship completed with a record registration, Cass City voters should be preparing themselves to make the right selections on Aug. 5, when the primary election in Michigan will be held.

Just what the right step is, is up to each individual voter. Voters should examine the candidates and select the ones they think are best—remember though, that you may vote only one ticket in the primary. In the general election only do you have the right to split your ballot.

Fight for Title, Play-off Spots Holds Fans' Softball Interest

If Western Auto wins three of their last five games of the season, they will become the regular season champions of the Cass City Recreation Softball League.

With two-thirds of the season in the record book, the automen have a record of 10 victories while second-place Deford stands 7-3.

However, Elwyn Helwig, who has sparked the league leaders to their victories with his mound performances, pitched and won his last game of the season for Western Auto Monday. He is slated to enter service July 17. Western Auto has signed Bill Andrus to replace Helwig.

Meanwhile, the interest of fans centered around the fight for the top four play-off positions. Three teams will battle for the coveted third and fourth positions. At this writing, third-place Ellington is one-half game in front of Church of Christ and Decker who have identical 4-7 records.

All three teams have shown marked improvement in recent games and are capable of knocking off any team in the league on a given night.

Games this week served to illustrate the point. On Wednesday, July 9, Ellington soundly trounced Decker, 12-3, and then the Decker nine upset Deford and almost knocked Western Auto from the undefeated list.

A three-car smash, two miles north of M-81 on M-53, killed one person and injured four others Tuesday at 6:30 p. m.

Killed was Mrs. Fred White, 58, of Imlay City. The injured included: Rev. Fred L. White, 61, of Imlay City; Narcissus White, 81, Higobee, Mo.; Melvin F. Smith, 49, and Donald Matson, 32, both of Detroit. Leonard Damm of Cass City escaped injury.

According to Sgt. John Carstensen of the Bad Axe State Police Department, the crash came when Mr. Smith attempted to pass Mr. Damm going north on M-53. In the left hand lane of the road, Mr. Smith apparently saw that he was going to be unable to get around the car and tried to return to his own side of the road and crashed into the back of Mr. Damm's car.

The collision swerved the auto into Rev. White's car coming south on M-53 and the two cars met in what was described by police as a head on collision.

The injured were taken to the Pleasant Home Hospital in Cass City. One patient, Narcissus White, was in critical condition Wednesday afternoon. She suffered a deep throat cut and cuts around the mouth and lips.

Rev. White's injuries included a dislocated left hip and deep cuts on the knee and face. Mr. Smith was reported to have severe gravel burns and Mr. Matson suffered cuts on the forehead and chest. All patients suffered from shock.

The car driven by Smith was completely demolished. Mr. Damm's car was wrecked in the rear and Rev. White's automobile was badly damaged in the front.

Store Wheat Now For Larger Profits

This looks like a good year to store your wheat and sell later. Clarence Prentice, Michigan State College agricultural economist, says that flooding markets at harvest time and marketing wheat while moisture content is too high are costly to farmers.

Every year since 1938-'39 the market price of wheat has advanced to above the support program sometime following harvest. Prentice points out. The seasonal low price usually has been at harvest time.

The problem of low prices at harvest time is apt to be worse this year because the largest wheat crop in Michigan's history will be harvested this summer.

Due to the lack of adequate commercial storage, a larger portion of the wheat crop will be stored on farms. For successful storage, the grain bin must be in good condition before filling with wheat or other grain. It should be tight, rat, and mouse-proof, clean and disinfected properly prior to use.

Wheat should be stored containing less than 14 per cent moisture. Growers should wait until the grain is dry before combining. Wheat containing 14 per cent moisture or more just won't keep in Michigan, Prentice says. It spoils and becomes "sick wheat." Too much "sick wheat" moved to market from farmers' grain bins last winter at discounts as high as 50 cents a bushel.

The head never swells until the brain stops growing.

TURN ABOUT

One day when nylons were on sale at Marshall Field's, a dignified middle-aged gentleman decided to get his wife a pair. But he soon found himself being buffeted and stabbed by frantic women. He stood it as long as he could. Then with head lowered and arms flailing, he plowed through the crowd. "You there!" challenged a shrill voice. "Can't you act like a gentleman?" "Heck," he replied, still charging forward, "I've been acting like a gentleman for an hour. From now on, I'm acting like a lady."

A nodding acquaintance is one with whom you have nodding in common.

HELPFUL HINT

"Young man," the father said sternly, "do you think you should be taking my daughter to night clubs all the time?"
"Indeed, not, sir," the swain replied, then added hopefully, "shall we try to reason with her?"

Odd Bones

Fossil hunters dug up near Manchester, Ohio, the remains of giant "sea scorpions," some of them six feet long, locked in volcanic ash in the bed of the ancient salt sea which once covered Ohio. A pair of fossilized dinosaur eggs were discovered in southwest Tanganyika, first such ever found in Africa.

'Wet Water' Valuable New Weapon to Fight Fires

A valuable new weapon for fighting smoldering fires in stored grains and other farm products—"wet water"—now is available for the use of rural fire departments, a fire safety expert revealed in a recent report.

The new "wet water" for fighting fires incorporates a small percentage of a detergent, the cleaner so familiar to housewives on laundry day. However, the detergent solution, about 2 per cent, is of the non-sudsing variety for use in pumps and extinguishers.

Dale K. Auck, fire prevention engineer for the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies, said the detergent breaks through greasy surface oils and gets water to the heart of a fire immediately where ordinary water merely runs off many burning substances.

"Many stored hay or baled cotton fires have smoldered internally until entirely consumed, despite tons of water poured on the surface," Auck said. Experiments have shown, however, that only 40 gallons of the new "wet water" will do the work of 300 gallons of ordinary water in fire fighting.

Rural fire fighting organizations are being urged to make "wet water" a part of their regular equipment because water damage can be lessened considerably and fire destruction held to a minimum with the use of "wet water."

The want ads are newsy too.

One Nutrient Will Not Nourish a Crop

Balanced Food Elements Needed for High Yields

It takes the teamwork of plant nutrients, good soil tilth and plenty of moisture to produce 100-bushel per acre corn crops.

Each of the principal plant food elements—nitrogen, phosphate and potash—has its particular job to do in building strong roots and stalks and developing well finished, fully matured ears. Each reinforces the others.

University of Illinois agronomists demonstrated that you can't depend on any one nutrient to do the whole crop feeding job. When nitrogen alone was added to corn, yields were only one-third as much as when lime, nitrogen, phosphate and potash were used. Phosphate alone gave only half as many bushels of corn per acre and potash alone, only one fourth.

Keeping the soil in good tilth is just as important as maintaining a balanced nutrient level. This can be done by following a rotation that puts in a well fertilized legume-grass crop a year or two before corn planting.

Land plowed out of a good soil crop is well conditioned to make maximum use of nutrients and moisture and to produce extra bushels of corn per acre. Such soil is mellow and porous. Drainage is good. Water is absorbed quickly and more of it is stored for the use of the crop.

Agronomists point out that another requisite for high corn yields is good seed and a stalk population sufficient to make use of the soil's nutrient supply. They advise planting well adapted hybrids that are particularly suited to your growing conditions. A stalk population of from 14,000 to 16,000 is needed on most loam soils.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Halfway between the Republican and Democratic national conventions today, Americans can pause to catch their breaths and take a quick look at November.

They're sure of one thing, they will elect one president then.

But Michigan voters face a more unusual situation on their state ballot. They can approve two amendments to the state constitution, two amendments that are as opposite as the GOP and Dem. candidates will be.

That prospect is causing brow-wrinkling in Lansing as the experts study the odd situation. And with most of those experts already wrinkling their foreheads over problems of their personal political campaigns, we may wind up with a lot of Michigan prototypes of the famous Mrs. Pruneface of Dick Tracy notoriety.

This is how the unprecedented situation comes about.

There will be two amendments to reapportion the state legislature on the November ballot. Voters can say yes or no to each one. If they say yes to both there will develop the question of which one will be effective.

Obviously both can't be, any more than we can have two presidents in the White House.

If voters say no, then both sides will be unhappy because it will settle long-held plans and hopes for overdue realignment of representation in the legislature, something that hasn't been done in the past 26 years despite the tremendous growth and shift in Michigan population in that time.

"When in doubt, vote no." That old political maxim might be followed if the voters get too confused between now and November.

There's plenty of room for confusion.

In the first place, reapportionment is hardly the subject for a third grade English theme. It's a complicated question with more side-roads than a Miami Beach subdivision.

Because it's sheer Greek to so many voters, it gives a good chance for the silver-tongued boys to appeal to emotion and prejudices. The phrase-coiners are minting "bright terms and witty sayings." Well fed on oratory coming out of the Chicago convention halls and due to be served even more generous helpings as the campaign progresses, John Q. Citizen is apt to "frow up."

Even the names of the sponsoring organizations are enough to make the best informed Capitol newsmen pause to unwind his tongue once in a while.

The Committee for Representative Government filed its proposal first.

The Committee for a Balanced legislature came in with its own just under the deadline.

Both groups are made up of many different segments in the best tradition of politics making strange bedfellows. But in each committee there are dominant groups. They'll lend their names to the proposed amendments and make it a little easier to follow the game without a program.

The CIO sparks the Representative Government committee; the Farm Bureau and mutual insurance companies are the dynamo for the Balanced Legislature group.

Briefly, the amendment would set up legislative representation on strictly population basis.

The farm-business amendment would keep the Senate on an area-representation basis and divide the House on population lines.

Opponents say the CIO proposal would give Wayne, Oakland and Genesee Counties, with their huge industrial units, dominance over the whole state.

Anti-farm-business factions contend that that plan gives representation to "beans and cherry trees instead of people."

Just what will happen if both proposals get an affirmative vote is something that can kick up an argument as fast as the assertion that Freddy Hutchinson is a better baseball manager than Red Rolfe.

There has never been a similar case in Michigan history so there is no clearcut precedent. Attorney General Frank G. Millard (officially) is waiting until he gets to the bridge before crossing it. But unofficially he's looking at the roadmaps books in his library, for a rough idea of where the highway might cross the river come November.

Common sense might lead to the assumption that if both amendments do carry, the one with the greatest majority would be in effect. But common sense and the strict letter of the law don't always coincide and every i has to be dotted and every t crossed before an amendment gets hemstitched onto the Constitution.

As one State House newsmen puts it, "We, the people, will probably have to go to the Supreme Court to tell what our votes say we intended."

The only bright spot in the whole snafu is the consolation it could have been worse. The A. F. of L. and a Detroit teachers organization scrapped their plans to enter amendment proposals of their own.

Had they come into the tournament, we might have wound up with four amendments!

Whether Gov. Williams enjoyed the spirited GOP convention last week as much as he'll enjoy the Democratic powwow next week is problematical.

But its timing couldn't have been any better for him.

Preoccupation of Michigan delegates with the big Chicago fracas took their minds off another golden opportunity to unleash their big caliber guns against the governor, the second riot at Jackson Prison.

Actually it didn't begin to compare with the vicious and costly one this Spring. But coming in the dog-days news slump, it would have made black headlines (and ideal oratorical black powder) if the Ike-Taft hassle hadn't crowded

Put A Chronicle Want Ad To Work For You—

Small Cost—Big Results

Here is the McCormick No. 64 Harvester-Thresher demonstrating its exceptional capacity for handling rank, heavy oat straw.

Make quick work of harvest

You can combine faster... save more grain with the NEW McCormick No. 64 Harvester-Thresher

Now you can save short, down, or tangled grain... combine heavy, shoulder-high crops without slowing to a crawl. Many owners who have tried this 6-foot McCormick straight-through combine report they can pull it a full gear faster than combines they formerly used. The No. 64 is built extra strong to withstand continuous operation at fast speeds.

Low-angle feeder, 64 1/2 inches wide, keeps rank, heavy crops from balling up and slugging the full-width cylinder.

Widest cylinder—64 1/4 inches—of any combine built. This six-bar rasp-type cylinder can be operated at speeds ranging from 600 to 1600 rpm. to thresh any crop clean.

Big separating unit puts grain in the bin that smaller-capacity machines leave in the straw.

Combine many crops—small grains, soybeans, sorghums, legumes, and lots of others. The McCormick No. 64 Harvester-Thresher is an all-purpose combine for average-size farms.

See us for all the facts about the new No. 64 the next time you're in town.

Other No. 64 Features

- Full-width, straight-through design
- Auxiliary engine or tractor PTO driven
- Grain tank or bagger
- Sealed, self-lubricating bearings
- One-piece all-steel straw rack

♦ LET'S TALK IT OVER ♦

Ed. Vallender - Farm Editor
WBCM - Bay City

Turning Back

Oh, how we hated to pack up and come home. The feeling of depression actually started a few days before we rolled southward. How fast those days slipped by.

Mrs. "Y" won the lake marathon derby. She caught three big Rainbows. Your reporter caught just two. We had several right along side of the boat. Then would come the famous "rainbow roll." I will swear they actually spit the hook out. In spite of the ones we lost, we had all the fish we could eat. The stream fishing in the vicinity of Wolverine was most enjoyable. Time was divided up equally. About five hours on the lake, another five in the stream.

Weather

We had the good fortune to avoid the terrible heat which paralyzed the lower part of Michigan. The cold front lay right across our vacation area. At night, the warm air sliding over the top of the cold front would produce gigantic electrical storms and drenching rains.

If we only could have sent some of that surplus down to the Saginaw Valley.

Rain Needed

We arrived home to find our once beautiful lawn a brown carpet. The garden, except for the corn, was standing still. Buckets of water were carried to the thirsty plants. It is still an amazing thing to find that drought touches only the domesticated plants. The weeds grow with their vigor.

The story, because of the drought, is different with each major crop. The wheat looks fine, oats and barley are suffering. Some bean crops look thrifty. Those planted a little later are very sparse. Sugar beets are standing still. Good stands are the early planted ones.

Potato Belt

In the great potato belt around Munger, the need for rain is most acute. If there is no soaking rain by the time this piece is printed, the yield will be cut in half and quality will suffer proportionately. This in the face of the best price year farmers can remember.

Honor

Maynard Coe, director of the agricultural program for the National Safety Council, has asked this reporter to participate in a coast to coast hook-up July 19th. ## Warm Milk HELPS HEAT MILK HOUSE

Electric pump attached to milk cooler does the trick

William Canfield, Oakland County farmer, uses an electric heat pump in connection with his modern front-opening milk cooler. Taking heat from warm milk and well water, it keeps the milk house comfortable in freezing weather.

Mr. Canfield and son, John, farm 160 acres, most of which are devoted to seed corn. They use electricity where ever possible. It powers corn drying, ventilating, conveying, and elevating equipment. It operates water heaters in the milk house and home, providing him and his family with plenty of hot water to make speedy work of dairy and household chores.

Is electricity doing all it can for you? For further information, see your Edison Farm Service Advisor.

Childs Asks For Safety On Highway

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs appealed to Michigan motorists for more vigilance and less speed on the highways. Stressing the importance of speed control, which is the theme of a state-wide traffic safety campaign, he warned that many persons are driving themselves to death.

The speed control campaign was announced recently by the commissioner on behalf of the State Safety Commission, sponsor, which asked the State Police to take the leadership. Municipal police, sheriffs' departments and others interested have joined in giving the program vigorous promotional support.

"Speed control is more than a safe driving practice," Childs said. "It is a legal responsibility. Those who fail in their responsibility often lose their privilege to drive. Many lose their lives, the victims of their own recklessness. But frequently the innocent die, too."

"During the last 10 years 13,616 persons have been killed and 351,476 injured in Michigan traffic accidents. Nearly all of these accidents could have been avoided. A large percentage were due to excessive speed, the No. 1 killer on the highways."

"Let's use good common sense behind the wheel. Follow the slogan of the campaign, 'Now, Take It Easy.' Remember, if you're trying to get there in a hurry, death is willing to meet you more than half way."

Nitrogen Starvation Due To Appear in State Corn Crops

Some Michigan corn will start showing signs of nitrogen starvation any day now, according to Paul J. Rood, Michigan State College farm crops specialist.

This nitrogen starvation will be shown by firing, starting at the tip of lower leaves. After the tip turns yellow the brownish symptom of lack of nitrogen moves up the mid-rib of the leaf.

Rood says that corn needs an extra shot of nitrogen right now, unless a green manure crop was plowed down before, or barnyard manure applied at the rate of 12 to 20 loads per acre before this crop of corn.

Experiments by college farm crops researchers have shown that you should side-dress corn with about 200 pounds per acre of sulfate of ammonia or 125 pounds per acre of ammonium nitrate. Either of these rates of application cost about $8 an acre and should increase corn yields by about 20 bushels per acre on the average.

Nitrogen is the plant food which produces growth and to really grow, Rood says corn needs enough nitrogen immediately. The corn has been cultivated two or three times, weeds are under control and the warm weather makes corn really want to grow, he says, so nitrogen will pay off in profits.

Psychologist Defends Hotrod Drivers

Stuart Atwell, Cass City, called the Chronicle's attention to an article in a Detroit newspaper that defends the hotrod driver.

According to the article, a survey just completed by Peter E. Siegle, consultant psychologist for Marquette Automotive Products, Inc., the hotrod driver is less accident prone than the average person because his drives are channeled in constructive pursuits.

Siegle said the average driver can be a greater menace on the road "because of his inability to understand the limitations of his car and himself." Siegle explained that the hotrod driver is less likely to suffer personality problems such as daydreaming than the average driver does.

The study was based on interviews with police officials, school authorities, parents, parts dealers and the hotrodders themselves.

Homemakers To Go To School at MSC

Women in Tuscola County are making plans to turn the tables. After a winter of getting children off to school every morning, they are planning to go to school themselves. The school is the 25th annual Homemakers' Conference at Michigan State College from July 22 to 25. More than 1,500 women are expected to attend.

Sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of MSC, any woman is welcome to attend, Miss Jean E. Gillies, county home demonstration agent, said. She emphasized that women do not need to be members of a home demonstration group to attend.

On the agenda for the four-day meeting is a well-rounded program of educational events. Classes on world affairs, family life, gardening, music, public speaking and leadership will be conducted during morning and afternoon sessions by MSC faculty members. The program will be highlighted to a special 25th anniversary event. Plans have been made to recognize Michigan women who attended early Farm Women's Week—now changed to Homemakers' Conference.

Listed on the agenda are such outstanding speakers as John Strohm, associate editor of Country Gentleman, who recently traveled in Russia, and Margaret Hickey, public affairs editor of Ladies' Home Journal. Mrs. Kathryn VanAken Burns, state home demonstration leader in Illinois, and Mary Barber of Battle Creek, food consultant with the U. S. Department of Defense, will give talks during the Conference. Special event of Thursday evening will be a talk, Blueprint for Contentment, by Dr. Tennyson Guyer who has been called Ohio's Ambassador of Good Will.

The former Jane Monroe married Stephen Dillon who preceded her in death. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. May Secord, Detroit, and Mrs. Patrick O'Brien of Bad Axe; six sons, who were pallbearers, Lee, Leslie, Stephen, Vincent, Edward and Robert, all of Colwood; and one brother, William Monroe of Detroit; 25 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Rosary devotions were held at the Hunter Funeral Home Friday evening and funeral services were held Saturday at 9:30 a. m., June 12, at St. Agatha Church, the Rev. Glenn W. Cronkite officiating. Burial was in St. Agatha Cemetery.

Shortage of Lime Cuts Alfalfa Yield

Liming Acid Soils Is Must for Good Legumes

If your alfalfa fields show yellow streaks where growth is sparse and puny, the cause is probably a shortage of lime in the soil.

The light, bare streaks on the alfalfa field near Evansville, Wisconsin, shown in the above photograph, were due to soil acidity that hadn't been corrected by liming. The spreader truck had lapped too wide when the field was being limed and some areas didn't get any.

The thick alfalfa growth came from parts of the field that were limed.

Agronomists emphasize that liming acid soils is a "must" if you want to get efficient results from the fertilizer you add. Acid won't produce good legume yields, they say, even if plenty of fertilizer is used. They point out that the entire alfalfa field was fertilized with 400 pounds per acre of 0-20-20.

Note the thick and light alfalfa growth in the above picture caused by uneven application of lime.

Liming helped the fertilizer increase alfalfa hay yields 4 1/2 times and the protein yields by 5 1/2 times.

Hay yields on the limed soil averaged 6,100 pounds per acre, compared with 1,400 pounds on the acid soil. Alfalfa hay from the limed soil had a 14.5 per cent protein content, with a total yield of 886 pounds per acre; from the unlimed soil the hay had an 11.5 per cent protein content, with a total protein yield of 161 pounds per acre.

Beef Cattle Numbers Lag Behind Population Trend

Beef cattle numbers in the United States have increased during the past three years. The increases: In 1949, 2.5 per cent; 1950, 9 per cent; 1951, 13 per cent. The 52.3 million head on hand January 1 this year are 26 per cent above the number reported on January 1, 1949 and an all time high. These figures include all cattle except those considered milk cows.

However, building to this total resulted in a marked decrease of animals for slaughter in 1951 and thus was one important factor in the high average prices received for beef cattle.

It appears likely that in 1952 and for a number of years ahead, increased numbers of cattle are likely to go to slaughter, thus increasing beef supplies. Other things being equal, lower prices would be expected to result.

Human population in the country is currently increasing at the rate of about 2 per cent per year—a rate substantially below the rate of increase in cattle numbers.

Cattlemen may find themselves vulnerable from three standpoints in the next year or so: (1) Any weakening demand resulting from a downward change in consumer income; (2) drought range conditions which would cause widespread herd liquidations; or (3) a shortage of feed concentrates which would limit demand for range animals.

New Product

The above photographs show the inhibiting effect of a new product that retards potato sprouting. Both bags, from the same crop, were stored for three months. The untreated bag (top) was covered with sprouts and no longer usable. The treated potatoes (lower) showed comparatively few sprouts and remained firm and edible.

The want ads are newsy too.

WHAT ABOUT BRUCellosis?

Q: Are swine brucellosis and cattle brucellosis caused by the same germs?

A: No, though the germs are closely related.

Q: Can swine brucellosis appear in human beings, too?

A: Yes, in humans it is called undulant fever. Farmers can get the disease when handling infected animals at farrowing time or by contact with infected meat at butchering time.

Q: How does swine brucellosis act?

A: It may cause brood sows to farrow stillborn or weak pigs. The germ may also cause damage to boars.

Q: How can the owner be sure the trouble is brucellosis and not some other breeding disease?

A: The only way is to have a veterinarian check the herd and take blood samples for laboratory tests.

Q: If brucellosis is found, what can be done?

A: If the infected herd is a commercial one, infected breeding stock should be finished and sent to slaughter. In cases where the owner wants to preserve breeding lines, the pigs should be segregated at weaning time. Pigs from infected sows can be kept on clean ground and given periodic blood tests to weed out diseased animals.

Q: How can pig raisers keep this disease out of their herds?

A: Breeding stock should be bought only from herds known to be free of brucellosis. If in doubt, owners should isolate newly purchased animals and have them blood tested.

Q: Can brucellosis be cured?

A: No known drug or combination of drugs will cure brucellosis in swine.

"Not necessarily, sir," the policeman replied, "but your client was also trying to roll up the white line on the highway."
