Two hundred dollars in bonds and a week's professional engagement at the Fox Theater await the winners of the final contest.

Miss Holmberg has been taking private voice lessons for a little over a year. Her other training includes three years in the Cass City High School Glee Club and work in the church choir.

In advancing to the finals, she was selected over many contestants who have had years of training in their field.

Many Cass City area residents heard Miss Holmberg sing over "Motor City Melodies" Sunday as a special guest on the program.

Miss Holmberg will continue to study music and will make career of the work.

First of all, the crop should be cut at an early stage of maturity. Legumes should be cut in the early bloom stage and grass crops before bloom. Mixtures of grasses and legumes make the best silage. They should be cut at the stage best for the predominating kind of forage and wilted slightly, specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Michigan State College point out.

Wilting the crop slightly - 18 beneficial, if it is cut early, but excessive wilting is harmful. Moisture content should be reduced below 70 per cent, but not below 60 per cent. Stalks and leaves should appear distinctly wilted and limp. The forage should feel cool and moist, but should show no free moisture when twisted, rubbed or compressed in the hands.

Fresh unwilted crops should be used in the top layers of both trench and unright silos. Long crops, or crops chopped long can be used in filling trench and stack silos. Crops stored in upright silos should be finely chopped. Thorough packing of the crop and a good top seal are also essential for producing good silage and reducing storage losses. In trenches and stacks, driving over the crop with a truck or dual-wheeled tractor throughout filling operations is the best means of packing. Ky. The patient, a middle-aged Yankee, had been wheeled into the operating room. Just before the anesthetic was started, he asked how long his incision would be. The surgeon gave him a noncommittal answer. "Well, Doc," said the patient, "I have just one request. My wife's incision is four and a half inches long, and her sister's is four inches. I want you to make mine longer than both of them put together, so I won't have to listen to any more nonsense."

It takes about two pounds of grain to replace three pounds of hay in feeding value, or three pounds of grass silage to replace one pound of hay, Johnson adds.

Frying Potatoes Prepare potatoes for French frying as usual. Before frying, dip them in corn meal. Add salt, of course.

Lack of Deep-Rooted Legumes Cuts Yields Legumes Give Organic Matter to Worn Fields

"Corning" some soils year after year without restocking the organic matter via deep-rooted legumes in the rotation, will cut yields to the tilizer and install drain tiles. Ohio soils specialists demonstrated that in tests at the Paulding experiment farm. The results of the tests are shown in the accompanying photographs taken on adjoining fields. Both fields had been fertilized and tlle-drained. The top field was continously in corn. The lower field had a rotation of corn, small grains and two years of alfalfa.

Year after year of corn crops had robbed the top field of its organic matter. The soil became packed down and stuffy. It was so

Chick Brooders

The secret of successful brood ers for young chickens is uniform heat. For those housewives and farmers who may be receiving their hatchery chicks in the next few weeks, here is an idea that may fill their needs. The double socket (see above) directs heat outward and gives better coverage, preventing crowding in the center.

In the August issue of Capper's recently from a two weeks' Bible Farmer, an article and cover picture feature the Michigan State College 4-H Fair. Entitled "State 4-H Fair Goes to College," the article praises the Michigan event that has "No midway, no side-shows, no carnival rides but plenty of entertainment and excitement just the same."

The State Show has been held on the MSC campus since 1942, MacQueen said, when the state fair in Detroit was abandoned during the war. Since then, the boys and girls have wanted to return to the campus to hold their final state-wide competition each year. This Michigan State Show is the only one in the nation held on a land grant college campus, he said. Activities ranging from archery and softball to livestock judging to food preparation will engage more than 2,000 youngsters from August-26 to 29. About 500 different classifications and divisions will be exhibited, demonstrated or judged during the four days. EveHempton, who had been visiting relatives for the past week, returned with them.

Jack didn't say a word, but that night he thought things over and suddenly he understood the cause for the change in his wife's disposition. He had become a nagger. He was getting on her nerves. Lord! He hadn't meant to.

THE next day he called up from the office and suggested that she come in town for dinner. They could go to a theatre afterward, he said. He'd meet her at the hotel at 6 o'clock. Grace was delighted. She was already sorry for her sharpness on the evening before. She decided to be especially nice.

She reached the hotel 15 minutes before the appointed time so there'd be no cause for friction because she was late. But at 6 o'clock Jack wasn't there, which was unusual for punctual Jack. In fact he didn't arrive at 6:15 or 6:30. Grace began to get alarmed. The awful feeling beset her that she had misunderstood where they were to meet. No matter what she said by way of explanation, Jack would think she'd forgotten again.

Another 15 minutes passed and Jack didn't appear. She stood up and strolled about the lobby. She considered calling his office, but remembered that he would have left. She cudgeled her brain, trying to think of his exact words when making the appointment. She felt sick and upset. At 7 o'clock she decided dismally there wasn't any use. She'd forgotten again and might as well go home and take her medicine.

About to leave, she saw Jack coming toward her through the crowds. There was a worried look on his face, distraction in his eyes. "Gosh, honey! I'm terribly sorry.

was so darned busy this afternoon, forgot all about our date." "Forgot! You?" Grace's eyes grew wide. Her mouth fell open. And then suddenly she smiled. Into her face there came a look of vast relief, a sense of equality. "Forgot? Why, Jack, that-that's wonderful! That's the grandest thing you've ever donel' Jack smiled broadly. He under-stood-perfectly. He wanted her to feel that way. That's why he had Pigeon 183

SCS Report Stresses Conservation Progress The rapid progress in soil conservation for the last 20 years is the keynote of the annual report of the Soil Conservation Service for the 1951 fiscal year. The report also emphasized the need for soil conservation to aid the current mobilization effort and stresses the fact that total conservation is essential. Tremendous progress has been made in the science and practical application of soil and water conservation during the last two decadès.

The service helped 128,502 farm ers and ranchers develop conservation plans on 36,259,299 acres last year. This brought the total as of June 30, 1951, to 883,348 plans covering 246.740,009 acres of land.

There are now about 2,400 organfzed soil conservation districts operated by farmers and ranchers under state laws. The survey spent a total of some 64 million dollars for the fiscal year. Of this amount, about 52 million was for regular operations in soil conservation districts. About seven million was used for flood control work. About one and a half
