

From the Editor's Corner

For awhile Monday morning, we thought that we had another good fish story when we received a "paper" that announced that Sy Guinther had caught a 30-pound trout in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

The paper had Sy's name in big black type about two inches high across the top of the sheet and went on to tell about the huge fish he caught in the Black Hills.

On closer examination, we discovered that it was a one-paper edition put out for the benefit of the tourists for the folks back home.

Tuesday, we heard that others in Cass City received editions—one claimed that Sy had caught a gorilla single handed.

Sy is vacationing with Mr. and Mrs. Albin Stevens.

With the opening of school in Cass City Wednesday, another traffic hazard will confront motorists. It is a proven fact that most accidents are caused by the carelessness of the children, themselves, but added caution on the part of every driver can help to reduce the total that averaged 160 casualties each week in Michigan last year.

Parents have a responsibility to their children, too—by setting an example and impressing on the youngsters the importance of safe walking habits. Let's "Watch Out For Kids."

We see where several large cities are holding a voting contest to determine the city which will produce the largest number of votes—there is no inter-city contest in Cass City, but to preserve the fine record established in the primary, it will be necessary for all citizens who are not registered to do so at once. October 4 is the last day for registration for the important general election Nov. 4.

$10,000 Village Sewer Project Nears Completion

A $10,000 storm sewer project is just about completed in Cass City, according to an announcement made at the monthly council meeting Tuesday at the Cass City Municipal Building.

The project is an addition to work done in Cass City two years ago and is expected to eliminate excess water in the southwest quarter of Cass City.

The work included installation of the following tile: On Houghton Street from Brookline to West Street, 24-inch tile; on West Street, 24-inch tile; on West Street, 24-inch tile.

The first has been slated for Saturday, August 30, when Stanley Conner will sell his personal property at his farm, one mile south of Caro on M-24.

Harold Armstead will hold a sale at his farm, one mile north and one-half mile west of Wickware Store on Thursday, Sept. 4.

Guy Landon Completes Forty Years as Rural Mail Carrier

Many persons who have worked for 40 years at the same job start thinking about getting out the pipe and slippers and drawing up the rocker to spend the rest of their days sitting in the sun. But 64-year-old Guy W. Landon, who has completed his 40th year as a rural mail carrier Thursday, Aug. 21, says that he has no intention of quitting at the present time.

He can work for six more years before the government says that he must retire at 70.

Since he joined the mail carriers August 21, 1912, Mr. Landon has seen many changes in the system in the Cass City area.

"My first route was 18½ miles," Guy recalled, "and many times I walked the eight-mile square in the winter to get the mail out."

"It would be impossible to do that now," he asserted, "in my first years on the route, a mail carrier could carry the mail under his arm."

There are probably two reasons for the increase. One is, of course, the increase in the population and the amount of letters written and the other the longer routes that mail carriers have to cover.

System, Routes Change - - - Landon Carries on

Guy's big car zooming down to the mailbox is a familiar sight to farmers along route one—Guy's route since 1935. Many residents are waiting for the mail when it arrives—here, little Diane Wood, who lives with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cranick, takes the day's mail from Mr. Landon. (See story this page).

This buggy was the latest means of transportation for rural route carriers back in 1914, two years after Guy W. Landon joined the U. S. Post Office Department. Guy spent many years delivering mail to farmers on his route in this and similar vehicles.

Parker Wins Combat Infantryman Badge

Pvt. Howard F. Parker, Route 1, Decker, has won the Combat Infantryman Badge, symbol of the front line soldier, while serving in Korea with the 25th Infantry Division.

The badge, consisting of a miniature replica of a Revolutionary War flintlock rifle on a blue background, is awarded only to those who have come under enemy fire.

Private Parker arrived in Korea in June, 1952, and is assigned as an assistant machine gunner to Company K, 27th Infantry Regiment.

Before entering the Army in November, 1951, he was employed as a steel worker for the McLouth Steel Corp., Detroit.

Urge Farmers to Mail PMA Ballots

September 8 is the deadline for returning Production and Marketing Administration farmer-committee election ballots to county PMA offices located in Caro and Sandusky.

Chairmen of the county PMA committees, advise that ballots have been mailed to all county farmers who are known to be eligible to vote in these elections. To be counted, ballots must bear a postmark not later than September 8.

Montague Attends Managers' School

Clark Montague, County Organizational Director for Tuscola County Farm Bureau, attended Roll Call Managers' School at Michigan State College at East Lansing, August 19-20.

Thirty-three counties were represented and roll call problems were discussed. Out of these discussions came many ideas that are expected to help make the membership drive more successful.

Preparations for the '53 drive are well under way, the names of captains and workers from the townships will be published very soon. The drive will be the first week in December.

The goal for 1952 was 1440 and finished with 1587 members, each membership represents a farm family.

Two Cass City FFA Boys Win Trip to Bloomington, Ill.

Daniel Alexsink and Richard Hendrick, members of the Cass City Future Farmers of America Club, returned to Cass City Tuesday evening after completing a four-day all expenses paid trip to Bloomington, Ill.

The trip was awarded to the two boys for selling the largest amount of hybrid seed corn of any member of the club. Expenses were paid by the Funk Seed Company and the contest was carried out in conjunction with Clare Turner, district supervisor for this area.

The two winners were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Benson, Mr. Benson, leader of the Cass City FFA Club, took the trip as advisor for the boys.

The quartet left Cass City Saturday and spent Saturday afternoon and evening and part of Sunday in Chicago. At the windy city, they visited the Field Museum, aquarium and other tourist attractions of the city.

Highlight of the trip for the group was their inspection of the Funk farm at Bloomington. The company has between 2,500 and 3,000 acres where they grow corn for hybrid seed.

The boys studied the farm operation and saw how the corn was crossed to make the hybrid corn.

Council Briefs

In a letter signed by Jim Gross and Melvin R. Vender, in behalf of the Presbyterian Church, the council received a note of appreciation for the use of the scout rooms for the church Sunday School during the remodeling of the basement of the church this spring.

A building permit was granted to Bertha and Iva Hildinger for the construction of a house on the corner of Garfield and Maple Streets.

Village Engineer Bud Burt reported that the construction work on Rose Street from Oak Street to the Park was completed. The work on the three blocks cost the village $1,156.75. Rose Street is the road that runs in front of the grade school building.

On the suggestion of President Clifford Croft, the maintenance crew of the village has already scheduled a tree trimming program for the village late in October or early in November.

A new committee was formed by the council Tuesday evening. President Croft appointed Trustees James Bauer and Ben Benkelman to act in a supervisory capacity over the village police department. According to present plans, the pair will meet once a month with police officials and discuss problems of the department.

Construction of a new water main on West Street will not interfere with the water supply of the residents living in the area. The work will be done at night to eliminate the inconvenience to village citizens.

Thirty-nine years ago, in 1913, the graduating class here numbered 13 with only three boys in the class. Saturday, the first reunion of the class was held when Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer entertained his class members and their husbands or wives at dinner and a social evening. Nine class members were present. One member, Irving Cooke, is deceased.

Tentative plans were made for another reunion in 1954.

Those attending Saturday evening were: Mr. and Mrs. O. Frank Foster (Belle Livingston) of Millington, Mr. and Mrs. John Beslock (Edna Colwell) of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee (Jessie Duncan) of St. Paul, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klinkman (Edith Hall) of Flint, Mrs. E. Legal Phases of Lapeer Farm Cases Explained Tuesday

Robert L. Taylor, Lapeer attorney, explained the legal phases of the controversial issues between the Lapeer Farm Mutual Fire Insurance Company and Chris and Paul Ziegenhardt and Mrs. Stevens, at the noonday luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the New Gordon Hotel.

Mr. Taylor, whose father was a member of the company and paid the assessments under protest, said that Mrs. White had an iron bound title to both farms.

He went on to say that the owners of both farms could have redeemed their farms by paying the assessment up to the final sale at public auction.

He pointed out that there had been poor management by the directors of the insurance company and by the state insurance commission, but that neither of the farmers now had a legal right to the farms.

Farmer members were assessed for a deficit built up through the years in the company.

The directors of the company failed to set the insurance rates high enough each year and ran further into debt each year they operated.

Farmers, who were shareholders in the company, were li-

The contestants were first interviewed by John Baker, County 4-H Club Agent of Gratiot County, and then the booth and 4-H record were reviewed. The winners will receive a trip to Chicago during the International Livestock Show in November.

Two Children, Mother Injured In Wreck

Mrs. Martha Emmons, route one, Cass City, and her two small children were severely injured in an accident at the corner of Nineteenth and Farragut Streets in Bay City Friday evening.

Little Leonard Emmons, three years old, received emergency care at General Hospital in Bay City. He suffered a broken collar bone and a shoulder injury.

Mrs. Emmons was treated for facial cuts and bruises and her daughter, Ruth Ann, five, sustained a cut lip.

Mr. Emmons, who was driving west on Nineteenth Street, collided at Farragut Street with a south-bound auto driven by Norman J. Sugen of Bay City.

Record Number of Exhibits At Fair

According to George C. MacQueen, County 4-H Club Agent, 785 4-H and FFA exhibitors supplied better than 1400 exhibits at the 1952 Tuscola County Fair. This is an increase of 115 exhibitors over 1951. This year brought the largest livestock exhibit the County Fair has ever seen, the 4-H Club man added. A total of 179 head of dairy cattle, 22 beef, 70 sheep and 6 swine were exhibited by 4-H and FFA youth.

In addition, there were 189 vegetable basket exhibits, 318 crops, 21 poultry, 56 rabbits, 36 conservation, 270 food preparation, 86 food preservation and 248 miscellaneous exhibits.

A Holstein cow of Carl Bauer, Reese, was declared grand champion in the junior section. Frances Foster of Fairgrove had the junior champion, a senior yearling heifer. Robert Stewart, Vassar, had the grand champion Guernsey cow. The junior champion was a senior yearling heifer of Paul Findlay, Reese. The grand champion Jersey was a cow of Jean Parish, Fairgrove. Bob Parish had the junior champion Jersey, a senior heifer calf.

Rex Colman, Vassar, exhibited the grand champion Milking Shorthorn; Alvin Humpert, Reese, had the junior champion. The grand champion Ayrshire was a senior heifer calf of Mary Ester Elaylock, Vassar. Bonnie Hartz, Fairgrove, had the grand champion Brown Swiss animal.

In the dairy showmanship competition, the exhibitors placed as follows: Paul Findlay, Reese, first; Barbara Baraboll, Mayville, second; Jean Parish, Fairgrove, third; Jo Ann Fischer, Gagetown, fourth; Gary Montgomery, Gifford, fifth; Leo Schian, Reese, sixth; Dick Donahue, Cass City, seventh, and James White, Silverwood, eighth. In the 4-H sheep classes, Dick Blackmore of Millington had the champion Oxford ram and Raymond Baur, Unionville, the cham-

Plans for off street parking, resurfacing of Main Street and waste control were the principal items discussed by trustees at a comparatively quiet meeting of the village council Tuesday night at the Cass City Municipal Building.

With the permits signed for the use of property in the alley, the trustees ordered Clerk Wilma Fry to purchase "one-way" and "do not enter" signs to post at the entrance of the alley when it becomes a one-way street to facilitate parking.

Work will begin on the lot within two or three weeks and a light will be placed in the alley for easy parking at night. Spaces will be marked off in the lot to assure the maximum amount of parking in the area.

Pollution Problem.

E. A. Hanna, superintendent of the Nestles Milk Products Company, appeared in the council chambers before the regular meeting to request a meeting with the village's engineer to find out what must be done to meet the requirements of the Water Resources Commission.

Trustees decided to call their engineer in Detroit and arrange a meeting with him, council members and representatives of Nestles to iron out the problem.

The group has only four months left to submit a plan to the health department to control pollution in the Cass River.

Main Street.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, in a letter to the council, has stated that he will approve the state's aid for resurfacing Main Street in 1953, providing the village will guarantee to install 60 degree parking at once and set a date for the installation of parallel parking in the village.

The council advised Mrs. Fry to write Mr. Ziegler and say that they would be happy to comply with 60 degree parking, but that they would be unable to bind future councils to a definite date for the installation of parallel parking.

Inadequate off street parking had been cited as the reason why it was impossible to have parallel parking at once in Cass City.

Final Rites Sunday For Suicide Victim

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Barney Turner, 80, an Ellington Township resident who ended his own life Sunday by slashing his wrists and shooting himself in the head with a shotgun.

Mr. Turner's body was found by his son, Lee, at his farm home, six miles northeast of Caro, where he had lived for several months.

Coroner Lee Huston, who investigated, called the death suicide, adding that Mr. Turner was despondent over his ill health and that of his wife, who is a patient in Stevens Nursing Home in Cass City.

Mr. Turner had been a resident of Tuscola County all his life.

Surviving, besides his widow, are two sons, Lee and Edgar, both of Caro; a daughter, Mrs. Ray Gibbs of Caro; a stepson, Charles Grady, of Gagetown; a

PMA ELECTION

Concluded from Page one. They said that this year these elections are of particular significance because of the added responsibility which will be given to community committeemen in administering the 1953 Agricultural Conservation Program.

At these elections the farmers in each community will have an opportunity to vote for three members of the PMA community committee, a delegate to the county convention to name the 1953 county committee, and alternates.

The community committeemen elected in September will be responsible for contacting every farmer in the community to help him check the conservation needs of the farm, determine the most urgently needed conservation practices, and make the most effective use of available assistance in carrying out the practices.

300 Attend Blair, Schultz Wedding

Miss Elva Marie Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskett Blair, Bad Axe, was united in marriage to Vernon Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schultz of Owendale, by Rev. Jason Holloper, at the Grant Methodist Church Saturday evening, August 23, by candlelight service in a double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with ferns and bouquets of white gladioli. The bride wore a nylon net over white satin floor length dress with tight lace bodice, finger-tip veil and lace mitts, and carried a white Bible with an orchid on it. The matron of honor, Mrs. S. S. St. Clair of Adrian, sister of the bride, wore a ballerina length aqua nylon net dress with stole and hat to match, and carried a nosegay bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gerald Bock of Pigeon, sister of the groom, and Miss Barbara Burrows of Memphis, college friend of the bride. They wore yellow nylon net dresses, ballerina length, with stoles and hats to match and carried nosegay bouquets.

The groom was attended by Arnold Sticken of Owendale, groomsmen, and his brother-in-law, Gerald Bock of Pigeon and Elmer Hoffman of Gaytown.

The flower girl was Mary St. Clair, two-year-old niece of the bride, who wore an aqua dress, stole and hat, identical to the one worn by her mother, the matron of honor.

The ring bearer was Siah St. Clair, nephew of the bride. The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Blair wore a navy blue dress and corsage of roses.

Mrs. Schultz wore a print dress with a corsage of roses. The grandmothers, Mrs. Jennie Martin and Mrs. Ferdinand Schultz, each wore corsages of gladioli.

Miss Retta Charter, cousin of the bride, played Mendelssohn's wedding march and Mrs. William Hereim sang, "Oh Promise Me," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Around 300 attended the wedding and reception which was held immediately following the service in the basement. At the reception, Keith McTaggart of Elkton, master of ceremonies, directed the following program: Solos, "Down By The Old Mill Stream," and "Let The World Go By," were accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Moore; accordion solos, "Aloha" and "What A Friend We Have In Jesus," by Miss Donna Moore; reading by Keith McTaggart; duet by Mrs. Arthur Moore and Mrs. Clark Sowden, "Wonderful Jesus," accompanied by Mrs. William Hereim, and prayer by Rev. Jason Holloper.

Wedding cake, cake, sandwiches and punch, were served by the ladies of the W. S. C. of the Grant Church. The couple received gifts and money for their wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Bad Axe High School and attended college at Mt. Pleasant. She has taught school the past two years and will teach in Elkton Community School this year.

The groom is a farmer living west of Owendale, where they will make their home. The newlyweds left on a wedding trip in northern Michigan Saturday.

SUICIDE VICTIM
Concluded from Page one. brother, Jarvis, six grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Rev. Ted Hastings, pastor of the Sutton Methodist Church, officiated and burial was in Ellington Cemetery.

A columnist says there are two things wrong with capitalism: There isn't enough capital for all of us to have some, and the wrong kind of people seem to have most of what there is.

Plan Special Course For Rural Builders

In answer to a demand for men skilled in rural building, a special course will open in September at Michigan State College, East Lansing.

The Rural Building program will be a 72-week training course consisting of three 12-week terms of resident work at the college and a similar period of placement training under college supervision.

The new course is designed to meet a demand for men to become farm carpenters, general farm mechanics and service men who plan to engage in farm construction and maintenance.

With farm building designs becoming more complicated, construction work requires greater skill. The department of agricultural engineering and department of short courses together sponsor the course.

Entrance requirements are for high school graduates or a person 18 years of age with satisfactory work experience.

Details regarding the course and enrollment for the course which begins in late September may be obtained from the Short Courses Department at Michigan State College.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

"Hello! This is the Sooper Hooper Manufacturing Co. We've got a contract for hydrogobinators for the Air Force. But we need a subcontractor to turn out the frammins on the globbis for us. Do you know of any firm that can make 'em?"

Such a request is duck soup for the Michigan Department of Economic Development.

From its files of over 22,000 Michigan plants, it quickly comes up with the right answer.

So the hydrogobinators go into production, the Air Force maintains its defense schedule and a new contract—and more payroll—comes to Michigan.

This is just one of the services the DED performs to build Michigan.

"Our Industrial Development service takes credit for assisting in bringing two large plants to Michigan recently and has helped persuade several plants not to move or expand out of the state," says Don C. Weeks, director.

"Up at Iron Mountain, the former Ford body plant stood idle since last December. One of our agents was hired by the owners of the building to spend full time filling the plant with new industry and already has 20 per cent of the space occupied.

"Meanwhile the division is working with five other hard-hit areas to help stimulate all-out community programs to attract industry."

That phrase "community programs" is the key to Michigan's economic future.

Michigan business itself has subscribed $20,000 for a survey of the economic potential of the Upper Peninsula. In progress is a program to raise an annual $100,000 by subscription by business for a Michigan-wide promotion program.

Business realizes, in the words of Weeks, that "nothing is more important to the whole community of Michigan than that it be recognized as a place which has an economic climate favorable to industry. That climate can't be improved until Michigan residents know what has to be done and action is then predicated on careful planning to unite Michigan in attracting industry."

A survey made last year by the University of Michigan, with business footing the $20,000 bill shows what industry thinks of the state, why it stays, why it moves out. Answers eventually will determine the number of dollars and cents in every Michigander's pocket.

Always working with the community, itself, the department has an average list of 150 industrial buildings available for rent, lease or purchase.

The Industry Service Division has played a prime part in getting defense contracts and sub-contracts for Michigan plants since the start of the Korea police action.

The Research Division provides technical services to the other divisions and communities which want to survey their own assets (and liabilities) and prepare brochures to attract industry.

"Economics" is an awfully dry-sounding term.

But reduced from all those syllables, it means, basically, how much money does John Q. Citizen have in his pocket and what can he buy with it?

In those terms, economics is something that concerns everybody all the time.

That's why Michigan citizens are lucky that the Department of Economic Development is directed by a Commission made up of 19 prominent business and professional men from all parts of the state.

Their names are too many to enumerate here. But Dan Gerber, president of the nationally-known Gerber's Baby Food Company, is chairman of the Commission and is typical of the stature of the men who guide this program since the Commission was created five years ago by the Legislature.

How's business in Michigan?

The report of the Michigan Department of Revenue just released for the month of June indicated it's improving steadily since March.

Total sales and use tax collections for June $21.96 million, an increase of $618,031 over June of '51.

Michiganders spent at least $706 million in retail stores in June. At least 3% of that figure is $21.1 million, the amount reported as retail sales tax that month.

Autos, apparel, building material and food—in that order—produced the greatest sales tax revenue during that month.

The perennial private industry-government control argument can churn up a couple degrees of temperature by comparing a pair of figures from Arenac County.

More Trout Inc., a sportsmen's organization, is building a fish-control and rainbow trout impoundment dam on the AuGres River near Melvor. Their cost will be under $10,000; the Michigan Conservation Department estimated it as $22,000.

Sea lampreys, those eel-like destroyers of fine Great Lakes fish, get their come-uppance from More Trout Inc. As spawning fish and pursuing lampreys move up stream, they pass through a fish sorter. There the lampreys, which have lived off other fish all their lives, are removed—permanently. And, in perfect irony, they're ground up and used as fish food.

Republican visitors to the State Fair are apt to give vent to a few pyrotechnics of their own when they see the big fireworks display. One of the pieces will be a glowing portrait of Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The GOP-ers will probably find it hard to accept that this is just a deserved tribute to the chief executive of the state and that it's just a happy coincidence that the jovial governor is a candidate for re-election.

If you live in the average small town of Michigan, you'll probably see more candidates this year than you ever have in any one campaign.

Both parties will be "ringing doorbells," calling on smaller communities as well as working the bigger cities in the state.

Several Republican newcomers scored upset victories in the primaries by this very method. And Gov. Williams is a past-master at the art.

So, if you want a gubernatorial candidate or the next U. S. Senator at your Ladies Aid meeting or Volunteer Fireman's Picnic, all you have to do is extend the invitation. Political hands are outstretched to receive it.

Traveling Advice

Use a snap clothes pin to hang your hat in the car when taking a trip. Just snap your hat to the rope stretched across the back of the front seat. Snap road maps there, too. Handy for those riding in the back seat.

Supply of Pennies

The supply of pennies has fluctuated widely through the years. Among factors affecting demand are sales taxes and parking meters, inflationary pressures and price controls which may bring about sudden mass changes in fractional costs.

The first fall lesson for Tuscola Home Demonstration groups will be held at the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building on Wednesday and Thursday, September 3 and 4. The lesson on citizenship is for group leaders and will begin at 1 p. m., according to Miss Jean E. Gillies, County Home Demonstration Agent.

Foreign Mahogany

African mahogany grows on the Ivory Coast, the Gold Coast and in Nigeria in West Africa. It is also found in the Cameroons, French Equatorial Africa and in Belgian Congo, but these sources are not well known and so far have contributed little to American imports. There is mahogany on the east coast of Africa and on the island of Madagascar that has not reached American markets.

Dairymen Explains New Dairy Rulings

Two items in the amendments to the milk law recently passed by the legislature are of particular interest to dairymen who sell milk and cream for direct consumption or bottling purposes. The amendments which become effective September 17, 1952, have to do with milk house and equipment for handling the product, and minimum quality standards. D. L. Murray, extension dairyman at Michigan State College, said today that the law now states that milk houses are required to contain facilities for cooling, handling and storing milk. They must have facilities for cleaning and storing equipment, a two-compartment wash tank, metal rack for storing utensils and a water heater. A self-closing door is required between milk house and stable in place of the vestibule which was or still may be required by some local markets. Minimum size standards of the milk house have not been specified by law, but ten by 12 feet should be the minimum for convenience of the operator, Murray advised. Quality standards are that milk must test not less than three percent butterfat. The bacteria count must be not more than 100,000 per cubic centimeter, as determined by plate or direct microscopic count, or a reduction time of not less than four hours as measured by the methylene blue test.
