With the school's entry in the new conference, many of the annual easier games have been eliminated. The Hawks open their schedule at the local field Sept. 19 in a non-conference tilt against | Elkton—the only out-of-league foe they will face this year. After the opener, Cass City will swing into league competition.

Every game on the conference schedule looms as a potentially. tough game. The complete list of home games include: Bad Axe, Sept. 26; Vassar, Oct. 10, and Croswell-Lexington, Oct. 31.

Road games for the Hawks are: Sandusky, Oct. 3; Marlette, Oct. 17; Caro, Oct. 24, and Yale, Nov. 7. Referendum Vote For Sunday Sale of Beer, Wine Slated

Petitions were filed last Friday with County Clerk Fred Mathews by members of Tuscola County Temperance Committee requesting a referendum vote on the question of Sunday sale of beer and wine. According to Louis Severance of Akron, workers have secured more than 1000 signatures over the required 45 per cent needed to secure a referendum.

The county dry forces have been working for several months to secure the signatures necessary for the vote in November.

At the wind-up meeting for the drive, dry forces met in the Caro Evangelical United Church and expressed confidence that the measure would carry in the November election, Severance

Experts Discuss Flood Control in Caro

The Saginaw Valley flood con-trol program which includes both of the most important projects in the north central part of the United States, E. L. Anthony, Michigan State College dean of agriculture, told the State Soil Conservation Committee at its meeting in Caro last week. "We are making history with this plan Unionville collided three miles to control Saginaw Valley floods and gone, the Home Restaurant dition of Local 83 and Cass City and provide an improved outlet for Forestville Road Sunday at 1 p. m. bushels, with alfalfa rotations, its vast drainage system as the plan deals with the entire watershed instead of the smaller, numerous problem areas individually," Dean Anthony stated.

The role of soil conservation in the flood control plan was discussed by B. A. Myers, district conservationist, U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Myers used a recently completed film to illustrate flood, drainage and erosion problems and good soil conservation practices which will prevent or nelp control them.

Gale H. Gibson, executive secretary of the Saginaw Valley Commission, said the plan was now being reviewed by the Corps of Engineers' Division Office in Chicago. Gibson said he was confident the plan would be approved by both the Division and Chief of Engineers in Washington although minor changes and revisions which may improve the plan are being The law, amending the Farmers studied by the Engineers and the

Whidden Reunion Held Near Vassar

Thirty-nine persons attended the 32nd annual Whidden family refarm near Vassar Sunday.

A potluck chicken dinner was served and members re-elected president, and Ruth Eichorn of ansing, secretary-treasurer.

Oldest member of the family vas John Whidden, 82, and the youngest member present was one-year-old Shirley Mae Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Emmons of Gagetown. Guests were present from Gage-own, Mt. Clemens, Cass City and √assar. Four Whidden brothers were present and three were unable to attend, according to a report from Arthur Whidden, Gagetown, who eported the affair.

The reunion date has changed from Labor Day to the first Sunday in September in recent years due to the heavy traffic on the annual holiday. Next year's reunion will be held on the Sunday before Labor Day.

Five hundred and eighty-seven books were circulated by the Cass Annual Benkelman. Striffler Reunion

Labor Day brought the Striffler and Benkelman families to their annual reunion which was held at the city park here. Nearly 90 enjoyed the dinner and a program presented under the leadership of Rev. Roy Striffler of New Baltimore, president of the group.

Harold L. Pocklington of Algonac, executive director of the Leader-Dog League with head-quarters at Rochester, Mich., in an instructive talk, told of the workings of that organization which provides the methods whereby a blind person may "see" through the eyes of a devoted dog. He emphasized the need for the league n a country where 13,000 persons become blind annually.

Now Is The Time To Test Your Soil

Soils need a proper diet just as animals do if they are to be top producers and dollar earners.

Properly-fed soils save both in the short and long runs, farmers are being reminded by Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. The only way to take the guessing out of the soil ration is by soil testing, he noted, adding that now is the time to do it.

Late summer is the time for soil testing because sampling is easier and the fertilization program can be planned on time. Lime can be applied to sod fields as needed and worked into the soil before spring seeding of legumes.

One Michigan farmer saved $100 in lime costs by tests that showed that particular plot needed no liming to sweeten the soil. In some series of tests, four out of five samples showed no lime needed and the farmers could put the money they planned to spend on lime into fertilizer. Soils need phosphorus, potash, nitrogen and other things besides lime, Ballweg stresses and any farmer in doubt Novesta Baptist Church- C. E. should have soil tested before wasting money. Sunday School, 10:00 a. m.

The county agricultural agent is Morning worship, 11:00 Evening available to guide farmers in their 🛭 testing and fertilizing problems. Teenagers meet Monday, 7:30 When a major problem arises, he can call on specialists from Michigan State College.

Detroit's population has grown from ¾ of a million to 3¼ million in the metropolitan area—an increase of 433 per cent. Other Michigan cities have expanded to a comparable extent.

Providing this rapidly increasing city population with an adequate supply of the most perishable of all foods—pure, fresh milk—has posed difficult problems. To solve them called for intelligent, far-sighted planning by men who understood every phase of the complex milk supply problem, all the way from the cow to the door-step.

Association never has failed in its obligations to both the consuming public and the producing farmer. It has constantly anticipated future needs of both and met them unfalteringly on every occasion.

More than 16,000 dairy farmers working together through their cooperative organization have kept pace with fast-growing Michigan. Today, as always in the past, this Association is carefully plan-ning for the future by stimulating production of highest quality milk by its members and provid-ing the plants and transport equipment to guarantee delivery of an ample supply, handled in the most sanitary method, at all seasons of

Rye aids hogs in health and makes faster, more efficient gains with less grains and proteins, Moxley reports. Good-quality well-cured second cutting alfalfa should be fed where pasture is not available, Moxley adds. Approximately ten per cent of the ration for fattening hogs should be a good legume hay and this should be increased to 15 to 30 per cent for brood sows and gilts. Alfalfa may be ground and fed in the grain ration or free choice as hay, the extension specialist reports.

Moore, Michigan State dweller who gardens as a hobby College poultry extension specialist.

Pullets start laying eggs in five to six months but it is not until they are about eight months old that they lay large eggs, and intersection won't help much after then only if they have proper

With egg profits in the last half of the year and pullets the money makers, farmers should take special care that poor management does not cause a drop in egg production, Moore advises.

Pullets have been free, in sunshine, with green grass, bugs, beetles and everything to make them happy. Now they are being shut up in the laying house and farmers should do all possible to overcome the shock. The first thing is a clean laying house, with all refuse cleaned out, dust washed down, perches and nests treated with a good mite killer and disinfected. It should be ready when pullets start laying. Deep litter should be used in laying houses now, and it should be six to eight inches deep. Cut straw is better than long straw. Shavings, sawdust and corncobs are satisfactory. Litter should be stirred regularly and any crusted, matted material thrown out.

When the pullets are housed, feed should not be changed. If growing mash is being fed, continue it two or three weeks while pullets become familiar with new surroundings. If a shift to laying mash is planned, farmers can start the laying mash the last two weeks pullets are out on range. Housed pullets should not be startled as they are wild and shy at sudden motion such as someone entering the pens. Get acquainted with the birds and they will settle down to work. Plenty of fresh air in housing will prevent birds catching colds but it should be fresh air without drafts. At first, the pullets will need teaching to go on perches, and setting them on perches will help. Birds will have more fresh air and suffer less from crowding when they learn to perch.

So that they won't have to cover so many funerals of highway victims-and also so they and their readers are spared the grief that every such needless death brings, Michigan editors are uniting to turn the full force of the press toward arousing their readers and fellow-citizens to the tragedy that rides in our autos.

In regional conferences throughout the state in the next few weeks, editors will discuss the solution to the problem.

That solution, simply, is this: Bring all the facts to the public. An informed public opinion can be counted on the push through the necessary changes in attitudes and

That's the subtitle of the report the first Michigan Highway Safety Seminar held on Michigan State campus last Spring. The report was unveiled yesterday at a meeting of the Michigan State M. Alger, Jr., secretary of state and commission chairman.

Michigan editors are just one group of 100 different organizations that are joining forces to battle the appalling increase in death, injury and loss that mar our streets and roads.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College, was seminar chairman. General Motors, the Gas & Oil Association of Michigan, the Michigan Automobile Club and the Michigan Press Association were just a few of the organizations which took an active part in the seminar.

All of these organizations, representing every type of industry, commerce and profession in Michigan, realize that only the public an make highways safer.

One of the requirements of the City League this season pertaining to substitutes for absent members is: The member, who will be absent, is responsible for furnishing a substitute to take his place in the line-up. If unsuccessful in finding one, the bowler is requested to notify his captain no later than 4 clock in the afternoon on the late scheduled to bowl.

This co-operation will aid your captain to the extent that he will have a full member team. Only in your captain are you to call the alleys or your league secretary. We will endeavor to keep you informed, through our "Bowling News And Views" column, of special bowling efforts performed by the various members, unusual scores, high team and individual scores, and other bowling news gathered here and there as the season rolls along. We wish you lots of luck and have fun.

FHA LOANS

Concluded from Page 1. ment period is seven years. Previously the initial loan was limited to $3,500, the maximum indebtedness to $5,000 and the maximum repayment period to five years.

In amending the loan terms, Congress recognized that the costs of farm operating expenses have increased sharply in recent years. The main objective of the Farmers Home Administration is to help family farm operators make the most efficient use of their land and family labor supply.

A farm and home management plan is drawn up with each family who receives a loan, and no loan is made unless the plan shows that the family will receive enough income to pay operating and living expenses and retire their debts, McDurmon pointed out.

Loans are made only to farmers who are unable to obtain necessary financing from other sources. Veterans receive preference. Committees of three local farmers avprove each applicant. The Tuscola County Committee members are Loyd Petiprin, Sr., Caro; Alfred Goodall, Cass City, and Gustave Haas, Mayville.

Winners of Truckers Safety Prizes Named

5,000 Drivers Compete In 7-Month Contest

Top honors and prizes in the second Chicago Livestock Truckers Safety Contest were awarded recently to John Simpson of Earlville, Ill., and R. Vandevier of Lebanon. Ind., the two truckers posting the best records for safety in hauling livestock to the Chicago market in their respective zones of competition. Both had taken top honors in their states in last year's contest. Along with the safety distinction of topping nearly 5,000 competitors each received a $1,000 U.S. government bond at the "Truckers' Day" celebration in the Chicago Convention Building and International Amphitheatre at the stock yards. Simpson won first honors in the zone designated as "Short Haul" comprising 62 counties in Illinois, Indiana. Wisconsin and Michigan:

Iowa truckers again came through with outstanding safety records, claiming the six next places, second through seventh, behind the grand prize winner in the long haul competition. Last year, Iowa won the first six awards. Illinois virtually captured the prizes in the short haul zone, taking most of the honors.

Safety awards totaling $12,000 in bonds were awarded to 130 winners (65 in each .zone), climaxing the seven-months contest. The bonds ranged in value from a top of $1,000 down to $50 value. Truckers from 23 states and Canada who had hauled livestock to Chicago for sale hetween September 1 last and March 31 of this year, were enrolled. The contest was sponsored by the Chicage Stock Yards company, in cooperation with firms engaged in or associated with the industry

Bright Colors Help Prevent Farm Accidents

Color can save lives on the farm! Used for many years to prevent industrial accidents, color is now considered just as effective in saving lives and limbs in rural areas. For instance, one hazardous area is the stairway leading from the loft to the barn floor. For better visibility, the front edge of each step should be painted white or bright yellow with black stripes.

And one of the best investments in safety is a hand rail for these stairs. If painted white or red, it almost shouts "grab me."
Tools such as pitchforks, rakes, and shovels often find their way to the ground or to dark corners of the barn, even on the best regulated farms. In this case, they are easy to spot and are not likely to be stepped on if their handles are painted bright yellow.

To provide adequate visibility in work areas, good lighting should be supplemented with light background. The wall behind a work bench in a shed or barn will reflect more light and make work conditions safer if painted white. A farmer should study his barn and other buildings carefully, then apply color where color can prevent accidents.

Windproof Feeder

This feeder will prevent loss of salt and mineral mixtures trom wind. Split a 55-gallon barrel and mount it to rotate on a frame. Flared sides keeps it turned away from the wind. It can be moved easily since the frame acts as a skid.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.
