

From the Editor's Corner

Some of the unusual happenings that come across an editor's desk would be hoisted out of the most bizarre movie or story.

Such an item was brought in by the father of Robert Putnam. On July 4, Robert was vacationing on the Rifle River and fell in—later he discovered that he lost his wallet. Naturally, he gave it up for lost. But a million-in-one chance matured and last week he got the wallet back. A troop of boy scouts were canoeing down the Rifle River over Labor Day and fished the wallet out of the water. They returned it intact, with the six dollars still in it. The water had worn the money in two, but it was still in good enough condition to be exchanged for spendable American currency.

Sometimes large corporations are not without a heart. Carl Nye, local supervisor, said that the company is working towards a retirement pension for Miss Theresa Karl, who is retiring after 25 years of service. Normally, the money could not be paid until Miss Karl reached 60 years of age.

Mr. Nye said that the loss of his veteran cashier would severely handicap his operation, as Miss Karl knew in "just what book to look for information. After she leaves," Mr. Nye said, "we'll have to look in all the books to find information we need." All of which adds up to one of the most sincere compliments an employee can receive from her supervisor.

Auten Graduates From Banking School

Fred Auten of the Cass City State Bank has just returned from attending a two-week residence session at the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin.

This was the third year of attendance at the school for Mr. Auten which requires residence attendance for two weeks each year for three years in order to graduate from the school.

Two hundred and four seniors from 27 states received their diplomas at the graduation exercises Friday evening, September 5, which was addressed by Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, on the subject, "Commerce and American Culture."

Attendance at the School of Banking enabled Mr. Auten not only to meet a large number of bankers from all over the country but he had the opportunity to listen to many of the more than 100 distinguished lecturers who are recognized authorities in banking, economics, law and industrial, agricultural and financial problems. Concluded on page 8.

Former Reporter Describes Scenic Views, Life in Japan

Robert Clock, who resigned his position as reporter for the Chronicle in January, 1951, to enter the armed services, is now editor of the JLC Journal at Yokohama, Japan, a weekly Army newspaper with a circulation of about 15,000. The paper runs eight pages a week and is printed in Tokyo in the Japanese language. The best part of the job, according to "Bob," is a trip to Tokyo every week, a really very beautiful city with a cosmopolitan atmosphere.

In a letter to the Misses Nellie and Laura Bigelow of Cass City, Mr. Clock writes in part:

"Week ends there is quite a bit for us to do over here and I'm trying to get it all in. Special services maintain very nice Japanese rest and recuperation hotels for the troops. They are located either in the mountains or on the ocean, so it really doesn't matter much where you go, you can always get cooled off.

"A couple of weeks ago I climbed Japan's fabled Mt. Fujiama, 12,395 feet straight up—or at least it seemed that way. We left Yokohama Saturday afternoon and got down to the foot of the mountain early in the evening. We climbed until midnight (with flashlight) and finally when we reached the timber line, managed to get a place to sleep at a Japanese rest station. We started climbing again at seven the next morning and didn't reach the top until three in the afternoon. I have never been so tired in my life.

"Since you take in occasional roomers, you might be interested in hearing how the Japanese put people up for the night. First of all, you've got to have rice mats on the floor (slippery woven straw). Second, throw down any old comforter and put a horse blanket over it. That's a bed. Next,

Cass City School Organizes For Student Leadership

Final Rites Held For B. F. Benkelman, Sr.

Theresa Karl to Retire After Twenty-five Years of Service

Miss Theresa Karl will retire from work with the General Telephone Company of Michigan after 25 years of service with the company in Harbor Beach and Cass City.

In 1919 she began her career as an assistant phone operator in Harbor Beach and, with the exception of eight years when she left the service of the company, she has been a part of the system ever since.

Naturally, Miss Karl is an experienced operator. She spent her first four years as operator in Harbor Beach.

Following those beginning years, she reigned as both chief operator and cashier in the phone system at Harbor Beach and as chief cashier here.

At the end of 25 years, you would expect an operator to have had many experiences. Miss Karl has had her share—but it is difficult to get her to tell them.

When asked about her unusual experiences with the company, the first thing the veteran employee said was that in 1948 Harbor

Classes in Cass City's Junior and Senior High School took the first steps in organizing for student leadership this year when officers were elected at class sessions held early this week. Student Council officers were either elected or appointed last spring before the closing of school.

United Youth Groups Meet Sunday

Senior youth groups from the Methodist, Evangelical United Brethren and Presbyterian churches will hold a joint meeting Sunday, Sept. 14, at 7:15 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church.

Sponsored by the Cass City Council of Churches, the program will include a film, "Understanding Your Ideals," which is expected to be of special interest to youth groups.

After the movie, a discussion period is planned. Refreshments will be served and the program will be concluded with a devotional led by youth.

Beach had dial phones installed. Over the years, she has placed calls for the usual community crises, including floods, births, deaths and other emergencies, but none stayed in her mind as outstanding or unusual enough to rate special mention in the story of her career.

Miss Karl moved to Cass City in 1948 and has been associated with the company in Cass City since that time. She has been chief cashier for the system here and at times was in charge of the office.

25 Years In March. Miss Karl completed her 25 years of service on March 4, and will leave the company Thursday, Sept. 18. She has been in ill health and said that was the reason she was retiring.

Her plans for the future are uncertain. She said she would return to Harbor Beach, but any other future plans were uncertain.

First Fall Party Thursday, Sept. 11, at 8 p. m. St. Pancratius Club rooms. Everyone welcome. —Adv. 1t.

About 25 4-H and FFA youngsters will display the results of their summer's work at the twentieth semi-annual market hog show and sale Tuesday, September 23, at Caro, says George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent.
Trophies will be awarded to the exhibitor and the purchaser of the grand champion fat hog. Because nearly 90 hogs are slated to be shown and sold, the event will begin at 8 a. m. with weighing in and determining the class to be shown, either lightweight or medium-weight.

There will be some fine hogs suitable for the individual locker also. This project has shown its popularity by its rapid increase during the past two years. All who are interested in seeing how the hog raising industry will grow and others are invited to attend and see this show and sale.

Comfy Bed for Boxer

A three-side dog bed for a boxer can be made by cutting the sides and back from pine boards one inch thick and 10 inches wide. Sides should be curved at the opening. To the lumber nail a piece of tempered hardboard, three-sixteenths inch thick, for a splinter-free, smooth bottom. Bevel all edges of this bed, which is two feet by three feet, and paint it.

May Day

May Day has been celebrated from the earliest times. In Rome, flower-decked processions honored Flora, goddess of flowers. In medieval Europe, people went a-maying carrying branches of trees and flowers and danced around a maypole.

Embroidery Trick

To embroider initials or small designs on napkins, baste the stamped corners of four napkins together, edge to edge, and center the designs in an embroidery hoop. You can work all four corners this way, without changing hoop until you're ready to work the next four napkins.

Part Time Work

To an extent which few people realize, the economic well-being of the nation depends upon men and women and youngsters who are willing and able to work several hours a day or one or two days a week. Government studies published recently show that only about 55 per cent of the more than 60 million people who work in this country are in full-time, year-round jobs; the others are part-time workers or people who work less than 50 weeks a year.

Just Average

The average American is 30 years old, married, has a wife and two children, has a mortgaged home, owns an auto, is a semi-skilled worker in the manufacturing industry and has an annual income of around $3,000.

Good Management Can Build Pastures Renovation Program Should Be Well Planned

These "before and after" photos taken on the John Fleischenriem farm near Watkins, Minn., show how good soil management methods can build productive, high yielding pasture on wornout, undernourished fields.

Buck brush and June grass were about all that would grow on the field in the upper photo. Fleischenriem says he got only one month's grazing a year out of this pasture.

The lower field shows what happens on such land when a renovation program is undertaken, supported by the use of plenty of fertilizer.

Fleischenriem plowed and disced this field in the fall. As soon as frost was out of the ground in the spring, he seeded a mixture containing mostly brome and some alfalfa with a fertilizer spreader. He didn't seed a nurse crop.

He added fertilizer at the rate of 250 pounds per acre of 0-20-20, then followed with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

The first year, Fleischenriem got two crops of brome. The second year he didn't need it, because he had 80 tons of hay in reserve, in case of trouble.

Fleischenriem pastures 83 head of dairy cows—mostly Holsteins for most of the summer on this pasture.

Mrs. Carl E. Hurd.

Mrs. H. O. Paul, Jr.

Helen Jean Northey Bride of Carl Hurd

Rev. Leo J. Griffin officiated when Helen Jean Northey and Sgt. Carl E. Hurd exchanged vows at a candlelight, double-ring ceremony at the Marlette Baptist Church at 7 p. m. August 16.

Mr. Alvin Forbes sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Iva Cousins at the piano.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ray Briggs of Snover and the late Mr. Edgar Roland Northey, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hurd of Decker are the parents of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Ray Briggs of Snover, chose a nylon tulle gown covering a nylon net slip over satin that covered her hoop skirt. The neckline was of nylon tulle with a bodice of lace over white satin. The white lace sleeves were arm length, covering the backs of her hands. Her finger-tip veil of white nylon tulle, trimmed with lace, was fastened to a white lace hat trimmed with small white pearls. To match her hat, she wore a pearl necklace of four strands and a pair of horseshoe-shaped pearl earrings.

For her bouquet, the bride chose gardenias centered with a light colored orchid. The flowers were placed on green ferns for the streamers. The bride received as a wedding gift from the bridegroom, a white gold watch.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Alice Ayling, sister of the bride, wore a blue nylon tulle gown over a nylon net slip over taffeta that covered her crinoline skirt. The bodice was a strapless blue organza covered with white lace-effect embroidery. She wore a blue organza, short-sleeved jacket, buttoned down at the neck, trimmed with white embroidery to match the bodice and blue sleevelets and a blue picture hat to match her gown. She wore a rhinestone necklace and earrings to match. Her flowers were American Beauty roses centered with white carnations.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Jean Patterson, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Sandra Hurd, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, wore identical gowns in different colors. Mrs. Patterson wore pink and Mrs. Hurd aquamarine. The gowns were taffeta over hoop skirts and lace over taffeta bodice with Peter Pan collars. They wore sleevelets and tiana style hats to match their gowns and carried red carnations centered with white carnations.

The flower girl, Miss Virginia Northey, niece of the bride, wore a yellow nylon net gown over a satin hoop skirt. The dress had miniature pleats and ruffles, trimmed in yellow velvet ribbon. In her basket, she carried an assortment of small flowers and streamers were made to match the pale yellow lace in her gown.

The bridegroom was married in his Army uniform and received as a wedding gift from the bride, a flashbulb camera.

The ring bearer, Master William Hurd, nephew of the bridegroom; the best man, Mr. William Hurd, brother of the bridegroom; the ushers, Mr. Donald Patterson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mr. Earl Northey, brother of the bride, all wore summer tuxedos and carnation boutonnières.

The mothers of the bride and groom both chose navy blue crepe dresses and wore corsages of yellow carnations and white mums.

The couple, Sgt. and Mrs. Carl E. Hurd, left after their reception, which was held in the church following the wedding, for Northern Michigan. They plan to live in Battle Creek until Sgt. Hurd is discharged.

Guests at the wedding came from Marlette, Cass City, Brown City, Pontiac, Detroit, Yale, Argyle, Bad Axe, Uby, Sandusky, Peterboro, Ont., Canada, Miami, Florida, Van Dyke and Warren.

Mrs. Max L. Baker of Detroit was matron of honor and Mr. Baker was the groom's attendant. The bride chose for her wedding a salmon colored nylon gown with white accessories and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

The matron of honor wore a beige nylon dress with white accessories and wore a gardenia in her hair.

The bride is a former employee of the Stevens' Nursing Home and she has a business of his own in Detroit, where the couple will make their home.

The bridal gown was of Chantilly lace fashioned over a white satin bodice with long tapered sleeves. She wore a veil of Chantilly lace in mantilla style.

The bride carried a prayer book with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Miss Eleanor Sadowski of Detroit was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Grace Tansil, Phyllis Kerley, Joan Coates, Mary Lebling, Betsy Allen and Janet Osmond.

Jack Paul, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Austin Faulker, John LaGorce III, Joseph Lanchester, Richard Hanson and William Morris.

Hot Lunch Programs Good 4-H Project

Rural school and 4-H club personnel can work together on hot lunch programs to benefit pupils and members, suggests George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent.

Many schools are too small to have paid personnel for hot lunch programs, he explained. Through cooperation, pupils can supplement cold lunches from home with hot dishes. This tends to improve nutrition, table manners and school work.

"Two cold sandwiches, a piece of cake and an occasional apple is a poor lunch for any boy or girl," commented Assistant State 4-H Leader Corinne Ketchum in connection with hot lunch programs. She reported that teachers find school work improves with improved lunches. She reported that well-fed children are mentally alert, contented, have fewer problems in behavior and lose less school time through illnesses such as frequent colds.

Pupils of 10 years or older can plan the program with aid of teachers, parents and 4-H leaders. Planning includes equipment such as cups, plates, silverware, pots, pans, dish towels, cupboards and tables. A steering committee of mothers can help direct what food should be prepared and served. Other planning covers food purchase and procurement and division of work for preparations and clean-up.

Requirements as a project, the agent pointed out, are the serving of at least one hot food to all pupils for 45 days, an exhibit on the program for 4-H achievement day and a complete report and story.

Pictures of the Moon

Samuel Dwight Humphrey secured a series of exposures of the moon at Canadigua, New York, in 1849. He used an ordinary portrait camera. As the moon traveled across the heavens, he made several exposures on one daguerreotype plate. The images were hardly more than a quarter of an inch in diameter, but Humphrey demonstrated that it was possible to record with a camera the moon's disk.

On Fashion Scene

Cottons which wash yet look like wool are coming out on the fashion scene. In black or navy and white checks sparked with red gros-grain or black velveteen, they are less expensive than wool, and are economical as to upkeep.

Artificial Breeding Helps Hart Farmer

Artificial breeding makes some of the best sires available to all dairymen, according to A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State College extension dairyman. He points to the record of the Frank Aert herd near Hart in Oceana County as an example.

During his first two years of testing in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, 1950 and 1951, Aert's herd of grade and registered Holsteins averaged 474 pounds of butterfat and 478 pounds of butterfat, respectively. Tester Russell Kenfield, of the DHIA, says that the association average for 1951 was 384 pounds of butterfat per cow for the year.

Baltzer points out that if a dairymen's herd of cows approaches the state DHIA average for the first two years of testing, it is considered good. "When a herd of 12 cows averages 100 pounds of butterfat above the state DHIA average, that is really something," he adds.

At the present rate of production, Aert estimates his cows are returning each year about $350 per cow above feed costs. That is about $130 above the state DHIA average per cow for return over feed cost.

"With sires proven for type and production available to every dairy farmer in the state, farmers have easy access to greater production ability in their cows," Baltzer says.

Anthony Dorr, Tyre, Buys Registered Bull

Anthony Paul Dorr, Tyre, recently acquired a registered Holstein-Friesian bull from the herd of Russell E. Campbell, Sandusky. Change of ownership for this animal, Fayne Lakefield Ona, has been officially recorded by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The Association issued 21,807 registry and transfer certificates to Michigan breeders during 1951.

Step Storage

Here is an idea for storage of rubbers and gaskets. It can be used as a handy place for ball bats and catchers' mits, etc., that kids collect. Hinge a step in the stairway that's near the back or side door and use the space underneath. It will keep the entry neater and eliminate a great deal of picking up and extra work.

Casserole Cookery

BUSY DAYS CALL for cooking foods in a casserole! Here you can combine your meat and starchy foods, with or without a vegetable and cook it all at one time, while you set the table.

Casseroles are kind to budgets, and they're kind, too, to the appetite. They're flavorful, nourishing and delicious when the ingredients used are flavor team-mates.

Another thing which homemakers like about casseroles is that they can be prepared early in the day, refrigerated, and then popped into the oven while you prepare the table, put on the salad and beverage.

There are many varieties of casserole dishes, so the family need never get tired of them. To be certain, serve the favorites frequently enough to please the family, but never overwork them so they fall into disrepute.

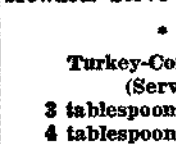

Here are new ones which you'll enjoy for variety:

Macaroni-Frankfurter Bake
(Serves 4-6)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces elbow macaroni
6 frankfurters
1 cup chopped onion
1½ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¾ teaspoon caraway seeds

Add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Split frankfurters lengthwise and stuff with ¾ cup of the cheese. In a bowl mix the remaining ingredients; add cooked macaroni and mix lightly. Pour into a lightly buttered baking dish and place stuffed frankfurters on top. Cover and bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 30 minutes. Uncover and continue baking for 10 minutes or until top is lightly browned. Serve immediately.

Turkey-Corn Casseroles
(Serves 4-6)
2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup turkey broth or milk
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) cream style corn
2 cups diced, cooked turkey
1 cup soft bread crumbs
4 tablespoons butter, melted
Melt 3 tablespoons butter, and flour and blend; cook over low heat until bubbly. Add broth all at once and cook, stirring constantly until thickened throughout. Season with salt and pepper. Alternate layers of corn, turkey and sauce in 6 individual or a 1½-quart casserole. Top with crumbs blended with the melted butter. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven until crumbs are bubbly at the edge, 25 to 30 minutes.

Corn-Cheese Bake
(Serves 6)
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) cream style corn
¾ cup milk
1 cup cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons grated onion
3 tablespoons pimiento
1 cup grated American cheese
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Beef-Potato Scallop
(Serves 4)
1½ pounds round steak
4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons fat
4 potatoes
2 onions, chopped
2 green peppers, chopped
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Cut meat into 2-inch pieces and roll in flour mixed with mustard. Brown in hot fat. Pare and slice potatoes in thin slices. Place ½ the potatoes into casserole. Add browned meat, onions, green pepper, bay leaf, salt pepper and remaining flour-mustard mixture. Add remaining potatoes. Cover with milk and bake 1½ hours in a slow (325°F.) oven.

***
Barbecued Sausage Casserole
(Serves 6-8)
1 pound sausage links
2 tablespoons water
1 onion, chopped
½ green pepper chopped
6 pieces celery chopped
1 can tomato soup
½ cup catchup
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) kidney beans

Beef Pilau
(Serves 5)
½ cup raw rice
3 cups cooked beef (leftover, if desired)
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) tomatoes
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups butter
3 tablespoons bread crumbs
Drop rice into at least 1 quart rapidly boiling water, salted. Cook briskly until tender, about 20 minutes. Drain; combine with beef, tomatoes, Worcestershire sauce, onion and salt. Turn into greased baking dish, dot with butter and sprinkle crumbs over top. Bake in a moderate (375°F.) oven about 25 minutes or until nicely toasted.

LYNN SAYS:
Slices of bologna are delicious in sandwiches if they're placed in a skillet to cook slightly with barbecue.

Sweet corn on the cob is an all-American favorite among vegetables. Unfortunately, however, it doesn't always taste as delicious as it might. For it's a vegetable that's frequently mistreated on its way from the field to the table.

The ideal way is to bring the ears of corn in from the garden at the last possible moment before you cook them.

Next best way is to buy freshly picked corn at a local roadside stand or market, rush it home, and keep it unbaked in the refrigerator until just before mealtime.

Short cooking gives you sweet corn at its best. Young slender ears need only 3 to 4 minutes in boiling water; larger size ones, 5 to 6 minutes.

Agriculture Faces Big Task in Next 25 Years

Agriculture faces a tremendous task in the next 25 years. U.S. population is now growing at the rate of 2½ million a year and will reach 190 million by 1975. If the nation continues to consume food and fiber at the current rate, the nation will need the equivalent of an additional 115 million acres of cropland, assuming yields per acre continue at about 1950 levels.

How is this to be accomplished?

Experts say the nation can expect to have 15 million acres of land for food production by 1975 that is now producing feed for mules and horses. In addition another 30 million acres will be added by irrigation, drainage, clearing and flood control.

The deficit will have to be made up by better use of the land we now have. This calls for greater efficiency in production on farms and improved distribution, utilization, and marketing after the products leave the farm.

Sell Old Hens to Cut Disease in Pullets

Sell old hens in the fall to cut disease in the pullet flock, recommend poultry specialists at Michigan State College.

Mixed flocks have more avian tuberculosis than young flocks, research has shown. If old hens are sold before pullets go off range, poultrymen will have a chance to clean and disinfect laying houses thoroughly.

It's also a good time to do the necessary rat-proofing work for the winter, they note, adding that rats spread disease in poultry. County agricultural agents can offer complete details on laying house preparations.

Farmers Invited to Attend Field Day

Possibilities of rebuilding cash crop-depleted soils with fertilizer, for yields similar to those in alfalfa rotation plans, will be outlined September 18 at a Saginaw County field day.

Nitrogen side-dressing results that surprised research workers will be revealed at the open house program at 1:30 p. m. at the Lee Ferden farm, 3 miles south of Chesaning. Invitations to the program, co-sponsored by Michigan State College and the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar Association, are being extended to all interested farmers by Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

Research work, now covering at least 1,000 comparisons, has been carried on at the farm by the college's Agricultural Experiment Station for more than 25 years. F & M funds and technical help have been available for more than a decade.

Farmers following a steady cropping practice might not have to change methods drastically if they could make adequate use of nitrogen, according to Paul Rood, MSC extension specialist in soil science.

"Shall farmers content themselves with 12.6 bushels of corn, without helping the soil in any way, or put on $7 worth of nitrogen side-dressing and gain 37.6 bushels of extra corn for a 50.2 bushel total?" asked Rood, reviewing some research statistics. "Extra corn at only 18½ cents a bushel is worth growing," he surmised.

Average corn yields in five-year rotation tests at the farm, with one or two years of alfalfa brome grass in a rotation, were 59.5 bushels. Some of the research workers think they can boost output of corn from 50.2 to 59.5 with more nitrogen, Rood commented.

Nitrogen, applied at a cost of $7.00 per acre, increased sugar beet production from 9.03 tons, to 12.3 tons. This compares favorably with 14.45 tons of beets in alfalfa rotations. Barley yield was increased from 39.2 bushels, without legumes in rotation, up to 57.4 by use of chemical nitrogen.

Nitrogen is in short supply, but if the supply were made available, farmers could build their soils for high profits, experiments at the Ferden Farm indicated.

Roof Demonstration At Reagh Farm

Arrangements have been completed by County Agent Alfred P. Ballweg to hold a metal roofing maintenance meeting on the farm of Mrs. Laura Reagh in Elkland Township, 2¼ miles west of Cass City, at 1:30 p. m. Monday, September 15.

All of the necessary procedures to put a metal roof in good repair will be demonstrated by Art Bell, Extension Agricultural Engineer, Michigan State College.

An interesting feature will be the use of asbestos wicking, sheet metal screws and screw type nails.

A report will be given on paint tests that have been carried on for the last 16 years. There were 92 paint tests used and only a few proved effective.

Talks will also include seal of quality sheets, application of sheets and grounding for lightning protection.

The public is invited to attend.

it's the figures on the price tag.

For some reason, lots of people just can't believe they can buy a Buick at a price so close to "the low-priced three."

Maybe it's because a Buick seems so much better and bigger.

Maybe it's because they think Buick has so much more power and room—which is true.

Maybe it is because so many distinguished people own Buicks—which is also a fact.

But the fact remains—if you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—so let's see what you get.

You get the thrilling power of a Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—as much power as you can get in cars costing $300 to $400 more.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

More over, Texas! Michigan will soon have something to brag about that even the Lone Star State can't match—a bridge five miles long, with a 3,800-foot span, soaring 525 feet above the historic Straits of Mackinac.

"The bridge is closer to reality today than ever before in our history," says Prentiss M. Brown, former United States Senator and now chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

Let's ask Brown a few questions that Michiganders have been wondering about:

Can a bridge be built at reasonable cost which will withstand all the forces of nature?

"Yes," asserts Brown. "Leading engineers, experienced with long-span construction, say that a Straits bridge would pose no problem which hasn't already been solved."

Winds are pretty strong up at the Straits. Will we be having another Galloping Gertie, the bridge that blew down at Tacoma on our hunk?

"The bridge is designed to withstand 130-mile-per-hour winds; the highest ever checked there has been 78 miles per hour. Piers and anchorages have been designed to stand under the thick ice and heavy currents of the Straits, too."

A University of Michigan professor said the rock on which the bridge would stand is enormous and would collapse. How about that?

"He has since retracted his statement. Expert geologists have made tests that emphasize the fact that the bridge would stand on very substantial foundations."

Do you have to dig far to reach solid rock?

"The south anchorage would go down 140 feet. The San Francisco Bay Bridge went down 240 feet."

How long would it take to build the bridge?

"Four or five years, depending on weather and availability of materials."

Will the bridge be usable in all kinds of weather?

"In any kind of weather you can ordinarily drive a car and, particularly, in all weather that the ferry boats can operate in."

All that sounds mighty good but there's always a joker in buying anything you like very much: How much does it cost? How do we pay for it?

Brown has an answer for that, too.

"Toll rates—exactly the same as those charged by ferries now—would pay for the $85 million project. The State would not have to obligate any of its general fund money for that," explains the dynamic chairman.

"Present ferry tolls gross $1.4 million a year. That wouldn't be enough to pay interest and principal but traffic experts predict that a bridge would increase traffic so much that in the early years of the bridge, tolls would be $2.5 to $4 million. That would grow, too, just as ferry crossings have in the past."

On August 23, a Saturday but nowhere near a holiday, nearly 8,500 vehicles were carried across the eight-mile ferry route. That was an all-time record and nearly doubled the peak load of 1942.

More than half of the present ferry business comes from Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and points east. These are all heavily populated and rapidly growing sections of our nation. The potential added tourist trade from these parts hasn't been touched yet. The bridge itself would lure tens of thousands of visitors and its convenience would take many more along. US-2 for transcontinental travel, say men who study traffic trends.

There's another economic factor involved in crossing the Straits. The State loses more than a half-million dollars annually operating ferry service. As demand increases, they do every year—that deficit gets larger.

The $8 to $9 million invested in new boats and docks in the past three years would have built a lot of State highways, Brown points out.

Upper Peninsula businessmen would purchase many more of their requirements from Lower Michigan if a bridge between Michigan and Illinois if a bridge speeded transportation.

"Seven of businessmen hesitate to expand above the Straits because they cannot depend upon the arrival of shipments on schedule," says Brown. He knows, too, because he spent most of his life on the northern shores of the Straits. "They can't afford to tie up their men and equipment waiting for ferries, either."

He envisions the new bridge transporting fresh economic blood into the UP County which hasn't been flush since the days of the copper and lumber booms. And that, he contends, will help the financial security of all Michiganders.

Sen. Brown's group was formed by the legislature in 1959 to study the physical and economic feasibility of the bridge. After it reported that no real obstacles stand in the way, the Authority was empowered to finance and build the structure.

Since then the Authority has been vying desperately to find the millions needed for the job. It has applied to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for such a loan and has invited private financial firms to bid on bonds it would issue.

The latter have reported that without the State underwriting the loan to some extent, such bonds would be hard to sell. The law creating the Authority prohibits pledging the faith and credit of the State so it appears that the RFC is the key.

A report due any day now is expected to lend much weight to the Authority's arguments. It's by Coverdale & Colpitts, New York traffic experts, who made preliminary reports and now are bringing data up to date that the Authority feels sure will demonstrate both to RFC and private financiers that their investment would be sound and profitable.

"For fifty years, the people of Michigan have dreamed about a bridge to link the two great peninsulas of our state," Brown recalls. "We believe that if people can have the bridge at no greater cost than they now pay for ferries, they would much prefer it."

"I know that many people enjoy the best ride across the Straits. Most people enjoy a horse-and-buggy ride, too, but they wouldn't swap their auto for a survey with a fringe on top."

"Warning appeals in the international situation, it appears that a bridge at the Straits is virtually on its way," observes the former senator.

Trans! Better do your bragging now; Michigan is coming up with a real whopper!

Leather Too Precious

In ancient Rome, you didn't have to look above the ankles of a passerby to tell whether he was a gladiator or a patrician. Fine leather was so precious that the wearing of high shoes was restricted by law to the latter, while the poor had to wear primitive sandals or walk barefoot.

Clammy Joke

A tired-looking man walked into a restaurant, handed the waiter two vitamin pills, and asked him to dissolve them in a bowl of clam chowder. After a long interval he asked the waiter why he hadn't been served yet. "You'll get your soup, sir," said the waiter, "as soon as we get the clams to tie down."

Let's Talk It Over

Ed Vallender, Farm Editor
WHCM - Cass City

Wheat

Let's of city folks ask, "What are farmers working the land for this time of year?"

Twenty years ago, you could have answered the question with just one word: wheat. Today, the story is encouragingly different.

True, there is a lot of land being tilled for winter wheat. More significant, however, is the increasing use of cover crops to enrich the land with green manure—and to stop the damage from erosion.

For years men took from the soil without ever a thought of replacing for the future years.

Then came the rule-breaking. The land began to run out. Yields dropped. Rain took the top soil into the ditch and then the rivers.

The men of the soil depleted the good earth and left far greater acres.

Last Chance

For most of the land, there is still the opportunity of reclamation. Some of it can be done in five years—for other acres the change will be more gradual. There has been an acute awareness, in recent years, that the real wealth of this country begins and ends with the land and its relative productivity.

Not factories, or purchasing power, but how much food we can produce for ourselves and others. The men in high places have come to recognize how important our land is to the future welfare of the country.

Industry has finally come to recognize its responsibility in agriculture.

Cover Crops

That, in part, is why farmers are working their land this time of year. Looking forward to a new generation or even to a new crop in 1963, farmers realize that they must put something back.

There is a better reason for cover crops, when financial return is considered. Plowing down the "green manure" increases crop yield from 10 to 30 per cent.

The question then, is not resolved in theory. It is a matter of good common sense.

A good farmer will plant a cover crop and reap a rich return.
