

From the Editor's Corner

We investigated a driving law this week after a recent minor accident in Cass City raised the question in many minds of legal driving on Main Street.

On Thursday, Oct. 2, Mrs. Maxine Haney, Route One, Cass City, backed out of a parking place and collided with Daryl Walker of Decaturville, who was driving close to the edge of Main Street.

Many persons have asked whether the person leaving the parking place or the driver near the edge of the street is at fault in an accident of this nature.

We checked with Steve Orto and found that the person who leaves the parking space is at fault according to the law. The legal phrase is "interrupting the normal flow of traffic."

We call your attention to the article "Michigan Mirror—News in Brief" found on page four, section two, of this issue. Although it fails to give all the provisions of the important reapportionment amendment, it does graphically explain the important results of the measure. We endorse the sentiments of the writer and urge you to read it carefully.

United States Senator Blair Moody stopped at the Chronicle office as part of a hand-shaking cruise up and down Main Street Wednesday afternoon. The senator said that he was confident of election Nov. 4, but failed to say what majority he thought he would have—maintained that all he needed was time to visit people to garner votes—hinted that big money was behind his opponent—left a copy of his "record" in the senate—rushed off to Gagetown as a stop on his way to Caseville where he had scheduled a dinner and rally Wednesday evening.

Turkish Youth Tells of Life, Conditions in Native Country

Aziz Tanrisever, Turkish International Farm Youth Exchange delegate, told students at Cass City High School and members of the Cass City Rotary Club of life, customs and farming in Turkey, when he made guest appearances before both organizations recently.

Speaking to the students, Tanrisever said that his country has made enormous strides in recent years in education, transportation and agriculture.

He said that despite the many advances in Turkey, the country is still a paradox. On one farm, it is not unusual to see a plow pulled by oxen and on the next farm, a modern tractor. This symbolizes, according to Tanrisever, the state of transition that Turkey is now passing through. The transition is not limited to things mechanical. Tanrisever said that the language and thoughts of the people are also changing with startling rapidity.

Change in language is so great that the older generation cannot understand many of the words used by younger persons.

"Even I, who have been away about three years, could not understand some of the words used in my country today," Tanrisever

Gagetown Youth Killed in Combine Accident Saturday

Michael John Laux, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Laux, was instantly killed Saturday morning when he fell under the wheels of a moving combine. The accident occurred when the youth attempted to climb on the combine while it was moving.

Huron County sheriff's officers were called to investigate at 8:30 a. m. The accident occurred on the highway near the boy's farm home, northwest of Gagetown.

The combine was en route to the Laux farm and Michael's sister, Frances Kay, was riding on the tongue of the machine. Young Michael lost his footing when he attempted to climb up beside his sister and fell. Before the combine could be halted, a wheel of the machine ran over him.

Coroner James Colgan said that the boy died instantly from internal and other injuries.

Michael was born July 10, 1938. His body was taken to the Hunter Funeral Home and remained there until Tuesday morning when funeral services were held in the St. Agatha's Church, Gagetown. Rev. Glenn Cronkite officiated at the funeral mass.

Michael was a freshman at the Owendale High School and attended St. Agatha's Grade School. Surviving are his parents and sister.

A plea of not guilty was entered for Mr. Sefton when he stood mute at the hearing.

Tyo Barbershop in Business 71 Years

A business conducted by the same family for 71 years in a town, doing business in the same location for 33 years, is very unusual. That record has been completed by the Tyo barbershop, established here in 1881 by the late David Tyo, Sr., who started barbering two years earlier with his brother, Alex.

In 1881, Cass City boasted of plank sidewalks, ten cent shaves and fifteen cent haircuts. And while automobiles have taken the place of oxcarts and the prices of shaves and haircuts are considerably more, the Tyos are still open at least five days a week to take care of their customers.

David Tyo, Sr., had two sons, David, Jr., and Clement, and a grandson, Alex Tyo, who followed his footsteps in the barbering business. In 1907, Clement Tyo started working with his father and in 1929, as soon as he had completed high school, Alex Tyo joined his father and grandfather, making three generations working in the same shop at one time.

David Tyo, Sr., passed away in December, 1938, but Clement and Alex are still carrying on at the same old stand.

Announce Plans For Adult Courses At High School

Superintendent Willis Campbell of the Cass City Public School announced today that adult classes would again be given to interested persons this year.

A tentative list of courses that may be offered will include book-keeping, typing and shorthand, Campbell said. The determining factor will be the interest of persons taking courses, Campbell added.

Those who desire to attend a class in any subject are asked to contact the school and make their desire known to authorities.

"It takes about 15 to make a class," Campbell asserted, "and we will teach any course that interests enough persons, provided we can secure competent instructors for the course."

Classes that are formed will be operating within 30 days, according to present plans.

From the office of the state civil defense program will come two members of the United States Air Force—First Lieutenant Goudzwaard and Airman 2/c Farmer—to explain orientation, organization and mission of the ground observer corps.

Of added interest to persons in the area will be a United States Air Force film, "Air Defense," that shows the attack warning system of the United States.

According to civil defense authorities in Lansing, the film not only shows what volunteer ground observer groups do, but shows the activities in the filter stations and the actual interception of enemy forces by United States planes.

Elect Mrs. Fry and Leonard Smith to Chest Board

Leonard Smith and Mrs. Wilma Fry were elected directors of the Elkland Township Community Chest at the annual meeting of the members held at the Cass City High School Tuesday evening. The newly elected directors will serve for a three-year period.

Mr. Smith and Mrs. Fry will replace President Delbert Rawson and Vice-President Lewis Bishop. Other members of the board are: Harry Little, Frances Golding, Leonard Damm and Dave Ackerman, the secretary of the organization.

A meeting of the board of directors was to have been held Thursday to elect officers for the 1953 campaign.

At the Tuesday evening meeting, a reading of the financial report revealed that $4,889.11 was spent in 1952, leaving a balance of $407.18 to start the new year.

Participating were: Dr. Ballard, Howard Wooley, James Gross, Les Ross, Bruce Shaw and Harry Little.

The men, with the exception of Mr. Ross, who was non-partisan, took sides and argued the question pro and con, according to reporter, Howard Ellis.

Mr. Gross told the group that people are being misled over the issues in the coming election by the press, radio and television.

After the meeting, members of the club went to Brinker Lumber Co. to work on the village's Christmas display under the direction of Lloyd Vyse.

Girl Scout Leaders Meet In Caro

With the school year well under way, girl scouts all over the nation are once again taking up their activities under the guidance of their adult leaders and consultants. With the motto, "Be Prepared," and the slogan, "Do a Good Turn Daily," girls are learning, through working and playing together, how to be resourceful out-of-doors, helpful at home and useful in their communities.

In Tuscola County, the adults are organized to strengthen and assist in promoting the girl scout movement in the county. This group met in Caro on Tuesday evening, Sept. 30, for the first meeting since the Girl Scout Day Camp which was held in Akron this year.

Mrs. Cookingmaster, chairman of the Caro Girl Scout Council and hostess of the meeting, introduced five girls from Tuscola County girl scouts who told of their experiences as campers at Sleeper State Park this past summer, when they camped there under the guidance of the Bay County Girl Scout Council.

First Half Drive Nets Hawks First Conference Victory, 12-7

A sustained scoring drive and an 85-yard punt returned by Stanley Guinther, both coming in the first half, enabled Cass City to stand off a second half rally by Sandusky and win their first conference game of the year, 12-7.

Cass City started the first quarter as if they were going to make a one-sided contest of the game. They staged two quick scoring drives in the opening period and one of them netted their first touchdown.

The first drive was stopped on the Sandusky 13-yard line. But the next march went all the way for the touchdown. The drive was featured by a run by Wallace for 16 yards around end.

Neither team could put forth a concentrated drive in the second period until Guinther made his long gallop for a touchdown.

Sandusky booted to Cass City on fourth down and Wallace, who played double safety with Guinther, caught the ball on about the ten-yard line. He crossed the field and handed off to Guinther, coming around the short side.

Most of the Redskins took off to follow Wallace who continued running toward the west sidelines. The two or three Sandusky gridders who failed to be fooled were mowed down by Red Hawk blockers and Guinther streaked down the east sidelines untouched.

for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Cass City was extended to the limit to hold the charging Sandusky gridders from winning in the last half.

The aroused Redskins forward wall outcharged the Hawk linemen and it was a Sandusky lineman who gave his team their only score.

In the third period, Wallace dropped back to his own goal to kick on fourth down and a Redskins lineman blocked the punt. Sandusky recovered in the end zone for their lone touchdown.

When the kick for the point was good, the Sanilac County seat was within one touchdown of winning.

But the Cass City line stiffened and held on to their slender margin throughout the last quarter to win the game.

Bulwark on defense and offense for Cass City was Tim Burdon who snagged passes and made the majority of tackles for the Hawks when Sandusky had the ball.

Tonight (Friday) Cass City will be host to Vassar at the Cass City Recreational Park. It will be their third conference game.

The village of Cass City has written the State Highway Department requesting an agreement for the village to have charge of keeping Main Street clean of snow this winter.

The plan, already adopted in many Michigan communities, would bring an estimated added $3,000 into the village each year.

President Clifford Croft pointed out, as he explained the project, that the agreement would bring added revenue to Cass City with very little added work.

Since snow equipment was acquired by the village shortly before Christmas last year, the Cass City Street Department has been doing a large share of the snow removal work on Main Street and with a little added effort can receive the funds from the state for the work.

The council has agreed to the plan and a letter has been written that indicates the village's willingness to sign an agreement.

Before an agreement is signed, approval must be obtained from engineers of the state who inspect the equipment and work to be done.

Payment is made to the village after an agreement is in force by the amount of work needed to be done and the equipment that is used to do it with.

Discussion of the plan revealed that signing an agreement would not eliminate highway snowplows from the street.

The major portion of the village's work under the new proposal would be removing snow from portions of M-81 within the village limits that is not touched by highway equipment.

Cass City Grange to Hold Open Meeting On Reapportionment

The Cass City Grange, No. 1711, has arranged an open meeting to be held in the Bird Schoolhouse Wednesday evening, Oct. 15, at 8 o'clock.

A film which depicts the important points of the reapportionment problem will be shown and Senator A. P. Decker and Rep. Herbert Clements will be on hand to join in the general discussion following the picture.

Many persons regard the reapportionment problem as the most important issue before the voters in the election Nov. 4. It was for this reason that an open meeting was planned by the Grange to show the film.

Music and lunch will complete the evening's activities at the meeting.

Hybrid Corn Harvest

Tuscola County corn producers may be interested in attending the 1952 Michigan hybrid corn trials harvest day at the Walter Reinbolt farm of Reese beginning at 1:30 p. m. on Friday, October 17.

The purpose of the field day is to provide an opportunity for farmers, seedsmen and other interested persons to observe a number of the corn hybrids from most of the commercial seed producers growing in comparative trials.

The performance of these hybrids will be reviewed and there will be an opportunity to discuss various phases of corn production, says Tuscola County Agricultural Agent Alfred P. Ballweg.

PROHIBITION DOES NOT PROHIBIT

Prohibition, the ignoble experiment, which was discarded by the people of this county has been resurrected and is making another bid to come into your community. It is up to you to see that it is kept out. Remember your vote is the one that counts on November 4th.

The following editorial will show you what harm prohibition will do in your own community.

From the Publication "The Cavalier" by Thomas Lomax Hunter.

"If there was any popular demand for such an ordinance expressed by the people, there might be some reason for the suggestion, but to force such a prohibition on all people because wine and beer maketh some people to offend, is to revive a discarded and discredited social experiment.

"The only form of prohibition which has any moral value is that which the individual imposes upon himself. I do not drink wine and beer, but that does not give me warrant for saying that my neighbor shall not drink them. In its many years of trial, it was shown conclusively that prohibition was completely impotent and there is not any proof or reason for supposing that it ever stopped a single person from taking a single drink during its whole continuance. It furnished moral sadists with an opportunity and an excuse for practicing many aggressions and oppressions on their neighbors in the sacred name of the law. It succeeded in making the largest army of law violators ever mobilized on this footstool of God. It proliferated crime as it was never before proliferated. It mothered the gangster, underwrote him and made him rich. The struggle of the spirit of human freedom and liberty against the vengeful tyranny and oppression called prohibition plunged America into a civil war of many years duration which raged until those who violated its constitutional and statutory provisions became so large a majority of our voters that politicians scuttled the derelict uplift to the hosannahs of a free people. Nothing could be more futile and absurd than to attempt to resurrect the malodorous corpse of prohibition. We know now, beyond the shadow of a doubt, what the result would be. The wine and beer that could not be sold lawfully on Sunday would be sold unlawfully. The bootlegger would blossom like the rose and flourish like the green bay tree.

"You may think it quite possible to lay in a supply of beer and wine on Saturday afternoon to last over the First Day, but experience has shown that we are an improvident people, living merrily and taking no thought of the morrow. The beer we forget to buy on Saturday we will pay a third more for from some thrifty and provident person when Sunday comes. Snoopers will be set to watch thirsty, but otherwise innocent people, and those who cater to their Sunday thirst and spies will go about the streets. The courts will be filled with criminals whose only crime was catering to a Sunday thirst. The police, who always look with amused contempt on such laws against imaginary sins, will be expected to leave their more important business of protecting society from real anticostal members, like burglars and highwaymen, to prevent the crime of having a bottle of beer or wine on the First Day of the week. We do not want to bring back this discarded and discredited plan of salvation. It has been tried in the balance and found wanting. It was not found guilty without a fair trial. We know that it was regarded by some as a religion. But it was persecuting religion. It reached a frenzy of fanaticism where its priesthood was perfectly willing to enforce its faith with the sword. Many of its fiercest dervishes were men who openly declared that they had never tasted liquor, yet were willing to wholly condemn it on hearsay testimony. They hated something which had never done them the smallest harm, had never afflicted them with a hangover and which did not menace them with hurt.

"To pass an ordinance against the Sunday sale of wine and beer is easy, but to put any virtue into such an ordinance is beyond the power of the councilmen. The ordinance will prevent the legal sale of beer, but it will not prevent the sale of beer. The net result will be that the soldier and all others will pay a higher price for beer on Sunday. It is hard to see how this could pleasure any god but the great god HYPOCRISY."

Be Sure to Vote November 4th and Vote NO on the Closing Sunday Amendment.

Remember your Vote is the one that Counts

Here in Cass City, the Edison Company is putting a new, reverse twist on an old educational practice—it's sending school to students instead of students to school.
The students, in this case, are Edison Customer Servicemen taking training or refresher courses on the repair of ranges, water heaters, clothes driers and other household electrical equipment. The servicemen's classroom—and laboratory—is a big mobile coach which literally brings the Company's fieldmen's training school right to the door of local offices throughout the system. Placed in service by Edison Sales Department, the 33-foot long vehicle is furnished with a screen and projector for training films, chairs and power and water facilities for the actual operation of appliances.
Electrical appliances of all kinds, as well as meters and wiring panels, can be installed in the motorized classroom. Repair and emergency situations can be set up and the actual repairs performed for the benefit of trainees.
"The school-on-wheels saves money on out-of-town trips that would otherwise be necessary," says H. J. Ludlow, local Edison manager.

Final Rites Held For Christopher A. Croft
Funeral services were held Sunday, October 6, at 2 p. m., at Hunter's Funeral Home for Christopher A. Croft, Rev. Henry Kuhlman officiating.
Mr. Croft died October 2 at Stevens Nursing Home, where he had been a patient since August. He was born in England May 9, 1881, and came to this country when a young man.
In 1921, he married Miss Carmita Carter, who died 24 years ago. Until two years ago, he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Freeman of Gagetown for 18 years.
Surviving are one son, Herbert, 30, who resides in Blackburn, England, and one sister, Mrs. Lillie McLeod, also in England.
Burial was in Gagetown Cemetery.

Nitrogen Still Good For Extra Yields

If nitrogen side-dressing of corn, beans or sugar beets or top-dressing of small grains didn't pay off in extra yields in Michigan this last summer, do not reach the conclusion it never pays. Dr. Ray Cook, Michigan State College soil scientist, explains it this way.
In a summer of hot weather, extra nitrogen application does not "pay-off" as effectively as it would in a normal or cool summer. When the soil is cool, the small organisms do not work to break down the organic matter very fast. That means less nitrogen is liberated to help the crop. So the nitrogen you add gives yields quite a boost.
When the summer is hot, the organisms work much faster and let off much nitrogen which the plant can absorb. As a result, the extra nitrogen you apply is not as efficiently used.
In 1951 experiments at the Fenden Farm near Chesaning, side-dressing of corn made extra bushels cost only 13.6 cents each when 40 pounds of nitrogen an acre were added. Sugar beets were produced at a cost of $2.14 a ton with the same amount. Extra beans made possible by 40 pounds of nitrogen cost only $2.35 a bushel.
For the same year, 40 pounds of top-dressed nitrogen produced extra bushels of wheat at 22 cents a bushel, barley at 19 cents a bushel and oats at 23 cents a bushel.
But the soil scientist is not expecting such good returns from nitrogen applied to crops this year. On the average, however, it will give good returns for the cost of fertilizer and labor to add nitrogen to these crops during the growing season.

Don't Rush Bulls To Slaughter House

Dairy farmers who rush their three-year-old bulls to slaughter may be sorry when the final reports are in, cautions George E. Parsons, dairy extension specialist at Michigan State College.

"If he was good enough to use as your herd sire, he is good enough to keep alive until the proof is made," Parsons urges.

Farmers buy bull calves, nurse them through the first year, start using them occasionally at a year of age, and head most of their three-year-old bulls off to the slaughter house, explains Parsons. Then, two years later a farmer has a daughter milk production average or a U. S. D. A. proof of the value of his herd sire, but no sire left, he notes.

In many cases, the proof indicates the bull might better have been butchered as a calf, Parsons admits. In other cases, the proofs are so good that everyone wants to buy the proven sire—but he's gone on the fateful trip to the slaughter house.

Some dairymen are equipped with bull pens to handle these three, four and five-year-old bulls and find it comparatively easy to keep them around until the proof is made. Others work out an agreement with a neighbor to keep the bull as a herd sire for a couple of years, Parsons suggests.

The original owner can keep ownership or sell his neighbor a part interest, according to the dairy specialist. In other cases, a three-year-old bull may be sold to another dairyman, he comments, but at least he is alive in case his record indicates he has greater value living than butchered.

Navigation

Ship captains are advised to hug the Gulf Stream, paralleling the coast along carefully charted seasonal tracks, on their way north from the Gulf. Returning, the best course—except in stormy weather—is a straight line far out to sea that avoids the breasting current, the navy says.

Use a quarter of a cup of honey and butter, each, and 18 graham crackers for your next graham cracker pie crust, suggest Michigan State home economists.

Slate Equipment Tour

Tuscola County farmers are invited to attend a farm grain-hay drying and dairy barn ventilation tour beginning at 10:00 a. m., October 16, says Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

During the past spring and summer several county farmers installed drying systems in connection with their grain handling facilities. These are among the first to make their appearance in Tuscola County.

Attending the tour will be Bob Maddex, Michigan State College agricultural engineering specialist in grain and hay drying equipment and dairy barn ventilation. This tour may hold the "key" to future profits, says Ballweg. Farmers are urged to attend any one or all of the stops.

10:00 a. m. Clifton Metcalf farm of Fairgrove, 6 miles west and 1/4 north of Caro.

11:00 a. m. Alan Kirk farm of Fairgrove, 3 miles west, 2 north and 1/4 west of Caro.

1:30 p. m. Emil Engelhardt and Son, 2 miles west and 1/4 south of Unionville.

2:15 p. m. Harry Rohlf, 1 1/2 miles south of Akron.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

Ed Vallender -- Farm Editor
WBCM
Farmers Get Less.

Economic experts in Washington report the spread between farm and retail food prices increased again during August.

The report is based on market basket charges for a typical consuming family. August figures show that marketing and processing charges have risen to an all-time high—an average of 395 dollars a year for the average family. That's 36 dollars over the rate in August, 1951.

This increase has raised consumer prices without any comparative gain for farmers. In August, 1951, farmers were getting fifty cents of the consumer food dollar. In August of this year, they were getting only forty-eight cents of the consumer dollar.

The trend toward higher marketing charges without any important increase for farmers has been continuing in recent months. In July, for example, the typical consuming family was paying for its food at an average rate of 756 dollars a year.

Breaking this down—385 dollars went to farmers, and 391 dollars went to pay the cost of processing and marketing.

In August, the consumer was still paying at the rate of 756 dollars. But farmers were getting less of that money—they were getting 361 dollars instead of 365.

With farm prices down four dollars, consumers might have expected lower food prices. But it didn't work out that way. The four dollars cut in farm prices was balanced by a four dollar increase in marketing charges.

Agriculture Department officials point out these figures don't measure the exact cost of food to American families. In most families, food expenses run much higher than the figures given in the market basket report—that's because the report doesn't take into account imported foods, or foods not produced on farms—fish, for instance. It also doesn't measure the expenses of families eating in restaurants.

For all these reasons, the detailed figures of the market basket report sometimes vary a little from the cost-of-living reports made by other agencies. But these details don't challenge the main point—most food price increases are due to the rising cost of processing and distributing food, and not to higher prices on the farm.

Since World War II, there has been an increasing amount of the so called "middle-man" profit. Farmers say, "We're still getting 1939 prices—how come the consumer pays so much?"

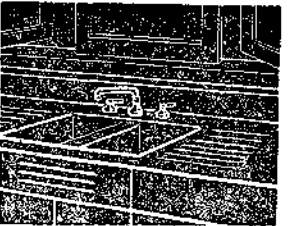

We think this can best be illustrated by an example—in potatoes—a product not changed one iota from the time it leaves the farm 'til it reaches the consumer.

This is a true story. Recently a produce dealer in Kentucky called a potato broker in Chicago, asking for a 225 bag load. The Chicago broker called another dealer in Kalamazoo who subsequently got in touch with a trucker doing business near the Munger potato field. The trucker called the potato Co-Op—the Co-Op called the farmer—so now, let's count everybody that made a profit.

The farmer—the Co-Op—the trucker—the Kalamazoo dealer—the Chicago broker—the wholesaler in Kentucky—and finally the retailer store that finally put the potatoes in the hands of the consumer.

No wonder food prices are high.

Michigan Mirror - - News in Brief

Battle lines are being drawn over who is to control the Michigan Legislature—CIO labor leaders of four counties or the citizens of Michigan in 84 counties.

And if you don't think the CIO is wheeling big guns into the fight, look at the battle-plans the labor bosses have charted in Muskegon County alone.

They've earmarked $9,000 to be spent in that county—in fact, mainly in only 17 precincts within the cities of Muskegon and Muskegon Heights!

In as detailed plans as a general has on D-minus-1, the CIO has drawn up its field strategy.

They'll spend $2,400 for workers in those 17 precincts in the final three days of registration for the general election. On election day, they'll hire seven crews to distribute campaign literature, with supervisors getting $16 per day and boys hired at $5 a day.

On election day, they'll hire 180 field workers for $2,830 to haul voters to the polls and will spend over $900 just to pass out campaign literature.

That's just one county.

Figure out for yourself—by comparing Muskegon County to Wayne, Oakland, Genesee and Kent—just how much money the CIO is willing to spend in this, their golden opportunity to capture the Legislature as they've captured the governor's post.

Here's how the labor bosses plan to take over.

On November 4, Michigan voters will choose between two amendments setting up a new system for allocating the seats in the State Legislature.

Amendment No. 2 is sponsored by the Michigan CIO. Governor G. Mennen Williams has given it his blessing; the Democratic Party put it into their state platform.

Amendment No. 3, sponsored by business, professional and farm interests, has the endorsement of Republican nominee Fred M. Alger, Jr., and Republican legislators.

The CIO amendment would make population the key to the whole Legislature.

Reapportionment Plan No. 3 would follow the system of the United States Constitution whereby geographic areas as well as population assures against domination of our federal legislators by the sheer weight of population.

CIO labor strategy in backing Proposal No. 2 is crystal clear.

A few populous counties would be able to dominate the Legislature by sending a majority of senators and representatives to Lansing. Four counties—just four—would be able to control Michigan.

They're Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Genesee. All have heavy concentrations of CIO membership. And Kent, with its big Grand Rapids industries, and Muskegon and perhaps Saginaw and the labor bosses have plenty of insurance.

Gov. Williams is sympathetic to the CIO to put it mildly. He sees the labor-dominated Legislature as a perfect solution to the impasse that arose when the GOP Legislature consistently opposed his corporation profits tax.

The CIO thinks the plan is swell. They'd like to have the law-making body sit up to their whistle.

The CIO's Walter Reuther demonstrated his power this Summer when he turned down Alben Barkley as a presidential possibility and approved the draft that made Aldai Stevenson the Democratic standard bearer.

He wouldn't be human if he didn't savor the taste of such power in national circles, he wouldn't be human if it didn't irk him to see his control of the governor go for naught because he can't control the Legislature the same way.

The Republican position, as outlined by Alger, is: "The Legislature should function for all citizens, all sections—not for any special class or area."

Any plan which would make 79 of Michigan's counties controlled by organized minority groups in four counties just couldn't give the state a Legislature that could equably represent the best interests of Michigan as a whole.

Michigan's rural counties would be stepchildren of the auto workers under Plan 3. So it's natural that the Michigan Farm Bureau should get into the fight. And it's a plenty hard fight facing out-state Michigan.

According to the Constitution, the seats of the House and Senate must be reapportioned every 10 years. That has to happen in 1953.

There must be some revision; everyone agrees to that.

The traditional solution of voting no to a puzzling amendment would be a mighty bad way out of the present situation.

The out-state voter must vote

NO on Proposal 2 and YES on Proposal 3 to protect himself from UAW-CIO domination and assure reapportionment on a basis accepted as equitable through all Michigan's history.

Because it is such a complicated issue, backers of Plan No. 3 will hit on a few major points such as:

The whole Upper Peninsula and four Lower Peninsula Counties would have only two Senators.

Fifteen areas will be "gerrymandered;" that is, their boundaries will waver and wobble all over the map to make labor unions dominate each voting area.

The plan would destroy the basic American principle that the lower house should be set up to represent population and the upper house to represent areas.

By giving labor the majority voice in the Legislature, union bosses could rewrite the Constitution to suit themselves. Delegates to a Constitutional convention which the Legislature could call, would be selected on the same basis as State Senators are—again with the majority under union domination.

There are only three weeks before the election. Can backers of Plan No. 3 sell the voters on a "Vote No on No. 2; Vote Yes on No. 3" program in those short days?

On their success or failure rides the future of Michigan.

Michigan State College foods and nutrition specialists say don't hesitate to can grape juice for later jelly making. Jelly from juice stored up to six months will have good texture and flavor, they advise.

All frozen foods are readily subject to bacterial action as soon as they have thawed. Therefore, it is necessary to use thawed foods immediately, caution Michigan State College foods specialists.

Meat cooked in water or steamed is juicier if cooled in the broth for an hour or more, advise Michigan State College home economists.

Worshipped Trees
The 15 tribes of Indians who inhabited what is now the Mexican state of Oaxaca believed at the time of the Spanish conquest that they were descended from trees. As a result many trees, particularly large or old ones, were held in veneration.

Hardest Substance
Only diamonds are harder than boron carbides. The latter are often used where resistance to abrasion is desired, as in dies for drawing wire and in jeweled bearings. Boron carbides also have been used increasingly in the past few years in abrasive materials.

Saving Eggs
Eggs with clean shells keep best. Wipe off soiled spots with a damp cloth, but don't wash eggs until just before you use them. When eggs are first laid, the shells have a film known as the "bloom" which seals the pores and helps keep out bacteria and odors. Washing removes this protective film.
