

More Hunters, Bigger Kill Expected in 1952 Deer Season

Cass City nimrods will join with an estimated half-million hunters who are expected to take to the woods for the deer season which opens at 6 a. m. Saturday and closes Nov. 30.

The hunters are expected to harvest a record 250,000 deer from the present million size herd, which would be the biggest kill ever registered during this century, but still below what game men say is necessary for best herd and range improvement. Last year, 104,000 bucks were shot.

For the first time in history, there will be a special three-day any-deer season in the northern lower peninsula. Most of the increase in hunters and kill is expected in that area during those three days.

Conservation experts point out that weather factors again will play an important role in the annual drama—blizzards could cut seriously into hunter success.

Cass City archers who failed to bag a deer are eligible to hunt with rifles, according to the conservation department.

Gamble Recalls Pioneer Life in Cass City Area

Editor's note: This letter was written to Mr. M. B. Auten by Walter Gamble, a pioneer resident of this area. We are reprinting portions of it that recall olden days in the village.

"... One face I missed that should have been there (Old Timers' Meeting) was Blake Gillies, who has made fame for himself as head of the Michigan State House of Correction. He wrote me a letter last summer which suggested a story of Cass City. Henry Dodge used to tell me the story of Blake's grandfather's wedding.

"Hugh Seed's farm used to extend right into town and was, at the time of the wedding, mostly forest. Andrew Walmsley's 160 acres was just east of and adjoining Seed's 160 acres. Andrew was a bachelor and needed a wife. Hugh Seed's wife sent for a girl

Hawks Close Grid Season With Easy Win Over Yale

Cass City closed its football season with a convincing victory over Yale Friday evening in a Thumb B conference game.

The victory clinched second place honors in the league for the Hawks. They yielded the top spot to Bad Axe who marched through their schedule undefeated. It was to Bad Axe that the Hawks dropped their only game of the season.

It took a last half rally by Cass City to win the game against the Bulldogs. The score was tied at the intermission, 6-6.

After a scoreless first quarter, Cass City scored in the second period when Stan Gunther dashed through the center of the Yale line and shook off would-be Yale tackle to go 27 yards for the score. Yale countered with their only marker of the game in the same quarter. It came on a pass play that covered 55 yards.

It was through the air that Yale got the bulk of the yardage they made. They were unable to run against the strong Cass City line.

In the second half, they tried to move almost exclusively by air but were unable to put forth a sustained offensive.

Cass City sailed away the game in the third quarter when they moved down the field to score twice.

The Hawks received the opening kickoff and returned it to their own 30-yard line from where they moved for a marker without losing the ball. Bob Wallace plunged over from the two and Graydon Agar converted—the first of four successful attempts in the second half.

Russ Foy personally accounted for the next score, when he grabbed a Yale punt on his own 45 and ran it all the way to the end zone. He was assisted by some beautiful blocking by his teammates in the touchdown jump.

Cass City reversed its usual scoring procedure for the next touchdown early in the final period. End Tim Burdon took a short pass over the center of the line and outdistanced the Yale defense to score. The play covered 40 yards.

The final score was credited to Dean Hoag, who slanted over from the three-yard line to cap a sustained march down the field. The marker was set up by Foy's 29-yard dash through the Yale defenses.

Chest Drive Sags Far Below Quota Set for Township

For the first time since it was organized here, the Elkland Township Community Chest drive is lagging far below the needed quota for the area.

The drive, which was expected to have been ended Wednesday, has been extended for two weeks so that more money can be raised.

In the two weeks' drive to date, less than $3,500 has been collected of a needed $6,000. The amount is far under what has been collected here in recent years.

This year the chest quota was greater than ever before in history, with the addition of several new charities to the list to receive money.

Chest drive authorities have issued a plea to persons in the township that have not yet contributed to do so at once and ask persons who have contributed to examine their finances to see if they gave as much as they could afford.

Mrs. B. F. Benkelman, Jr., is the person in charge of taking the names and records in the Cass City area and should be contacted by interested persons.

Seniors in high school are also reminded that many scholarships are available each year. Students are asked to contact their home line and outdistanced the Yale defense to score. The play covered 40 yards.

The final score was credited to Dean Hoag, who slanted over from the three-yard line to cap a sustained march down the field. The marker was set up by Foy's 29-yard dash through the Yale defenses.

Growing Hogs Need Minerals and Proteins

Some pigs may be hogging down various stepped up rations so fast they are outgrowing their frames, warns Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. He notes that the various B vitamins and some of the antibiotics are great for growth but a pig needs balanced rations.

Swine specialists at Michigan State College point out that farmers can make a mistake in their efforts to gain better growing rations with B-12 vitamin. Calcium and phosphate also should be added to the ration, they note, to build bone so hogs can carry their weight to slaughter without becoming crippled. Plant proteins used in rations do not build frames like animal proteins, they explain.

Experiments are being made to find how much phosphorus—in short supply nationally—and calcium are needed with various growing pig and hog fattening rations.

A buffet dinner followed the ceremony at which Miss Mary Kay Brown served the punch.

Letter To The Editor

Korea Saturday Nite 1 November '52

Dear Mr. Editor: I have a few minutes on my hands tonight so I decided I would write you and tell you of the wonderful job you did when you responded to our plea for magazines. By printing a few words in the Chronicle, as so many other newspapers from all over the United States did, the magazines are now rolling in here by the ton. The response was so great in one large city they set up a special branch post office, manned by two postal clerks, for the sole purpose of weighing and stamping packages bound for the 14th Infantrymen.

I have been stationed here in Korea, with the 14th Infantry ever since I came over. Assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters company, the same place where the PIO office is located. Although I'm not with the PIO office, I'm a very good friend of Cpl. McClelland who is. He started out by asking everyone in the company to give him the name and address of their home town newspaper. Of course I gave them mine, the Cass City Chronicle. Then he sent out the letters, like you received. The results are tremendous. From every corner of the states, package upon package is arriving. The PIO staff is busy from morning until night shipping them out to the different companies.

I'm taking it upon myself to thank you and all the wonderful people who helped by donating their magazines to such a good cause. Thanking you again, I remain.

Yours truly,
 Pvt. Robert F. McDonald.

300 Attend Crop Show in Fairgrove

Approximately 300 persons were on hand Monday evening, November 3, at Fairgrove High School to hear Russ Mawby, former international Farm Youth Exchange delegate, and presently on the Agricultural Economics Extension Staff at Michigan State College. The "IFYE" man was the main speaker on the evening program which highlighted the 4-H and FFA crops show. His talk was illustrated by colored slides taken while in England showing his experiences as a delegate on this youth exchange program. Mawby emphasized the fact that not only should qualified youth apply for this exchange experience but that we also should make all adequate provisions to receive youth delegates from foreign countries.

Earlier in the day the 4-H crops club members and Fairgrove FFA chapter members exhibited a colorful display of beans, corn, small grains, poultry and produce in the gymnasium and Ag room. There were 129 4-H exhibits and about 75 FFA entries. Ray Roles, manager of the Hart Brothers Elevator, Vassar, judged the bean sample of Betty Lou King, Caro, as the top. Betty belongs to the Lewis 4-H Club. The top 10 ears of corn trophy went to Jim Montgomery, Gilford, of the Gilford Community Club. Alan Aldrich of the Fairgrove FFA Chapter won the small grains trophy. The sweetstakes trophy, sponsored by M. W. Aymer of the Fairgrove Elevator, was won again by Bill Pike, Fairgrove. This award went to him as the best over-all exhibitor as to number of exhibits and placings in those exhibits. The Akron-Santee 4-H Club retained possession of the 4-H bean club trophy by having 15 bean exhibitors. Trophies were awarded during the evening program by Earl French, master of ceremonies and advisor of the Fairgrove FFA Chapter, and George C. McQueen, county 4-H club agent.

About 115 exhibitors and parents enjoyed a potluck supper at the Masonic Hall in the host town prior to the evening program. The Fairgrove Businessmen's Association was instrumental in this.

Other placings in the classes were as follows: 10 ears of corn; Elson Baur, Unionville, second; Lloyd Johnson, Caro, third, and Dick Harris, Mayville, fourth. Peck of shelled corn: Lyle Higgins, Akron, third; Muriel Kay Williams, Caro, fourth, and Jerry Jeffrey, Akron, fifth. Peck of Navy beans: Gary Kramer, Akron, second; Bill Pike, Fairgrove, third; Pat Sheridan, Fairgrove, fourth, and Carl Vollmar, Jr., Caro, fifth. Peck of wheat: Pat Sheridan, second, and Raymond Schlattman, Mayville, fifth. Any placing not listed between first and fifth placings in these classes was won by an FFA member.

Cause of Polio
 Though many people still believe that the cause of polio is a mystery, science now has a very good idea of what brings on the malady. It is caused by the attack of viruses which enter the body cells and injure nerves by consuming vital chemicals. And there is very little mystery today about what kinds of virus are responsible.

Invisible Coating
 A manufacturer has devised an invisible coating you can spray on the insides of windows to prevent fading of drapes, furniture, and floor coverings. Screening out rays of the sun that cause damage, one application is said to last 4 months despite repeated window washing. You can spray it on lamp bulbs, too, to prevent lamp shade fading.

Used His Head
 On Mt. Shasta, Calif., Mountain Climber Dan O'Neill, 34, slipped and fell on the snowy slope, escaped with only minor cuts and bruises after a 40-m.p.h. head-first slide of nearly a mile, because "I kept my head, used my toes as brakes, and steered with my forearms."

Before you move: Notify your electric, gas, water, and telephone companies, so they can shut off service at the time you wish. Ask your postman or post office for a change-of-address card. Notify your life-insurance companies, newspaper office, magazine companies, and the stores where you have charge accounts, of your change of address. Ask your physician and dentist to recommend doctors in the community which is your destination.

Week of Nov. 3. City League—The Knoblet Team rolls along without too much opposition toward the winning of the first round of the thirty-three-week schedule. Unless they go into a "tail-spin" and drop six of the next eight points, they should win with points to spare. Wallace hit another 600 series on games of 234, 179, 190 for a total pin fall of 603. This pushed him into top position with an average of 184, two points ahead of Musall's 182. Wallace's team also was high for the week by spilling the maples for a three game team score of 2490 actual, and high single game of 886. Other 2300 team series were rolled by Knoblet 2348, Huff 2341 and Musall 2319. High single games were rolled by Landon 875, Galloway 863, Hubbard 842, Knoblet 822, Huff and Musall 821 each, Wallace 814. LET'S TALK IT OVER

Ed Vallender, Farm Editor
WBCM - Bay City
One Week Later

The administration will be new in January. But on Capitol Hill, as far as agriculture is concerned, the faces will be pretty much the same.

The Nation's Farm Policy is made in the White House and in the agriculture department's block-long administration building. But the whole Nation's farm laws are made a mile away on Capitol Hill.

The key men there are all coming back. In the Senate—Republicans Aiken of Vermont, Young of North Dakota and Thye of Minnesota. Democrats—Ellender of Louisiana, Anderson of New Mexico, Eastland of Mississippi and Holland of Florida.

In the House, Republican Cliff Hope of Kansas was re-elected, so was August Andresen of Minnesota and most other GOP Farm Block leaders in the lower chamber. The story was the same on the Democratic side—new terms for Cooley of North Carolina, Poage of Texas, Abernethy of Mississippi and Grant of Alabama.

With a shaky Republican majority in the house, Hope is in line to become the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee—the post he held during 1947 and

'48. But the lean, quiet Kansas may have another office next year—as the first Republican secretary of agriculture since 1932.

If that happens, leadership of the agriculture committee will probably fall to another midwesterner—gravel voiced August Andresen of Minnesota.

Guessing
With the election out of the way, a guessing game is on—newsmen, politicians and would-be experts trying to line up President-elect Eisenhower's cabinet.

For Secretary of Agriculture, most Washington observers tag Kansas Congressman Cliff Hope—as we mentioned before. For that matter, most of the prominent ones mentioned are from the middle-west.

Kansas Senator Frank Carlson is a possibility. He worked for Eisenhower's nomination and became one of the General's leading advisers. But observers say the new President may not be willing to disturb his Republican team in the Senate.

There are other possible choices. President John Hannah of Michigan State College was mentioned recently—and a dark horse candidate—although highly unlikely—could be brother Milton Eisenhower of Penn State College.

Like we said last week. It'll be interesting to see what happens.

Start Early to Raise Calf Properly

The way to raise a calf right is to start working on its pen before the calf is born, advise dairy extension specialists at Michigan State College. The pen should be cleaned and disinfected so the cow can go into it several days before calving and help should be at hand for the cow when it is needed. If the cow does not clean up the calf, the dairyman should do it. As soon as possible, within an hour or two, the calf should be given some of the cow's new milk for the colostrum and its vitamin A.

Dairy Farmers Clean Barns by Machines

Dairymen are turning more and more to using mechanical barn cleaners or gutter cleaners, developed four or five years ago. They find they can remove manure from stables to fields without hand labor, reports Robert L. Maddex, extension specialist in agricultural engineering at Michigan State College.

Two main types of gutter cleaners are being marketed. The rectangular, or endless chain, cleaner circulates around the entire barn and up an elevator where manure drops into a manure spreader. The single gutter cleaner has one motor to put it back into place. Some other types use rubber belts and wire meshing.

Almost any type of cleaner will be satisfactory if properly installed, notes Maddex. Manufacturers have taken the kinks out of the drive units, which originally caused headaches. Most cleaners now give little trouble and need little maintenance. Cleaning time for most barns is about 10 minutes.

Farmers who can afford the original cleaner costs will find operation costs very low. Records kept on several Michigan farms showed a cost of two to four cents per cow to operate the cleaners for the winter season.

Cleaners were put in first mainly by large operators but there is no minimum size herd to be serviced by a cleaner. Labor supply, physical handicaps and finances are the ruling factors.

Maddex reports that most farmers who have gutter cleaners would rather give up any other appliance on the farm.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

One thing about Michigan elections, with these nip-and-tuck gubernatorial races that hold the final decision way past the normal vote-counting period, folks in this state can get full conversational mileage out of elections. While other states relax and recuperate, Michigan is still waiting to find out who's going to sit in the governor's chair.

The power of the press, so long sneered at by political opponents, demonstrated itself in an almost-overlooked facet of the election: The resounding support of Amendment No. 1, the anti-narcotics measure.

With very little campaigning or advertising and a bare minimum of radio mentions, the amendment was brought to the public's attention almost entirely through newspaper stories. That the public read—and remembered—is evidenced in the vote.

Michigan farm earnings will net about the same in '53 as they have the last two years. So says the Michigan State College department of agricultural economics. Farm prices will be slightly higher; so will agricultural production; so will farm expenses.

On the other hand, the United States Department of Agriculture says: Farm output will be the same as '52; Prices will be slightly down; Net farm income will be down 5% from this year.

The Washington prediction was made before the election. So maybe it ought to be taken with a political grain of salt.

Look for proposed legislation to make Michigan election officials (a) have adequate voting supplies for all possible voters and (b) report results as soon as possible after polls close. There are laws now—but no penalties!

Michigan dairymen are keeping a wary eye on the northward spread of "frozen desserts." Already doing land-office business in Texas, Oklahoma, Illinois and Missouri, where it may legally be sold, the new product is made of vegetable oil substitutes for expensive butterfat and taste much like ice cream.

American colleges and universities—and Michigan's, too, naturally, are expecting that their enrollment will more than double between now and 1965. Birth rates are doubling. Michigan college heads got a head start by conferring with both gubernatorial candidates long before the election.

Lake Michigan dropped 7.5 inches in October say the U. S. Engineering Department. It was only the second time in the past 13 months that the lake has gone down but it's still two inches higher than a year ago. August was the worst month for high water and autumn winds can wreak a lot of damage to shore properties.

Life is getting easier all the time for the lazy man. Now he no longer need go through the laborious process of turning the calendar 12 times a year. A Tecumseh, Mich., firm has just placed an all-electric calendar on the market.

The State Liquor Control Commission is working to get "dogs" off its inventory. That canine appellation refers to liquor brands that don't move and keep state funds tied up—or is bottled up the correct terms?

From here on in, brands will be put on an introductory basis. If Michigan palettes don't like the stuff—as demonstrated by sales quotas—out it goes.

Maple syrup has appeared on many Michigan markets during the past two weeks. The pancake downs is selling at 85c a pint in Lansing.

There still will be chicken for your Sunday dinner although the egg hatch in Michigan dropped in September. August was 600,000; September 460,000. Michigan Department of Agriculture spokesmen say it's just seasonal, though, and the hatch was still a September record and 7% above September of '52.

"I'm a stranger in town myself." If a Detroit'er should say that to you, he probably isn't fooling. Sixty per cent of Detroit's inhabitants came to the city as adults.

The largest group (14%) came from the South; 11% came from outstate Michigan. Thirty per cent lived on farms before coming to the Motor City.

Ninety-eight per cent have religious preferences, 56% Protestant and 37% Roman Catholic. But only half belong to a church. A team of 30 graduate students and professors of the University of Michigan made the survey of which this information was only a small part of the total statistics obtained.

In Indiana, one fourth of all 1,247 fatal accidents in the state last year involved commercial trucks.

Michigan is paying special attention to the commercial truck driver. For the second year, Michigan State College is offering a course for drivers. Surveys show that if a driver is delayed in leaving his terminal, his desire to make up lost time is often a factor in accident. So MSC goes right down to that root and offers a course for warehouse foremen, too.

Front-and-back license plates have the endorsement of State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs. The Michigan Municipal League has asked the Legislature to restore the front plate, eliminated as an economy measure but derided by most law enforcement officers.

Check Seed Labels

Michigan has a seed labeling law that permits condemnation of seed lots containing noxious weeds, reminds Richard W. Bell, Michigan State College extension specialist in farm crops. These weeds include quackgrass and Canada thistle. Farmers will also find it pays to examine seed labels before buying, notes Bell. Good seed is the start of good crops.

tions (English and speech), mathematics, science and health. Other groups worked on guidance problems and on reporting to parents.

Ross acted as chairman of the discussion group on communications of which Miss Hunt was a member. Miss Mitchell was recorder and reporter for the group on citizenship.

Prof. W. Robert Dixon of the University of Michigan addressed the conference on the 20-year research on child growth at his school. He stated that the conventional ABCDE marking system used in many high schools is unfair and harmful because it ignores the widely differing growth rates of children of the same age.

Dr. Byron VanRoekel of Michigan State demonstrated the tachistoscope, other machines, special films and many other devices used to improve speed and understanding in reading at the college.

friend down east to come and visit. She came, she met Andrew. Naturally, all went as Mrs. Seed had planned and Andrew had a wife.

"The wedding was at the Seed home, which I well remember as a log building used in my time for storage of hay.

"Elder McKinney, whose granddaughter was at the Old Timers' meeting, was the only preacher in the country then. By appointment, one Sunday morning he took his rifle in hand, for deer and elk were numerous then, and started on the nine-mile walk through the forest to the Seed homestead. He arrived.

"The Seeds served a good pioneer dinner and then the young couple stood by the fireplace and the ceremony was performed. After an hour or two of visiting, the newly marrieds started on their wedding tour through the woods, eastward to Andrew's new log house, one mile east of the Seed mansion.

"Thus was begun the Walmsley family and Blake was of the second generation.

"I was surprised Oct. 9 to learn that my mother was the first teacher of the first school in Caro and that father built the first store in Caro.

"... Along that line, I must tell Blake that I remember when he was born. His mother had complications and her life was despaired of for some days. His father strewed straw on the sidewalk in front of the house, in a desperate effort to prevent her being troubled by passers on the plank sidewalk.

"We boys spoke in whispers in that locality and feared every morning to see crepe on the Gillies door. She did live and recovered her health, to the joy of the whole town. Everybody knew 'that Walmsley' girl."
