

From the Editor's Corner

Although the General Telephone Company of Michigan will receive $660,000 more in the rate hike approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission, practically none of it will come from this area.

Only three lines owned by farmer groups that connect with the associated switchboard will be raised, together with a small service charge boost.

Regular monthly payments for phone users remain the same—at least till the company's appeal in the circuit court is decided.

The proposed rate hike has been under the process of examination and decision for better than a year and, with this recent appeal, no end is in sight.

The phone company says it can't operate on the amount it now receives and the phone users say that the rates are high compared to what other systems are charging for equal or better service.

It may well be that, despite the recommendations of the Public Service Commission, the courts will grant the company the right to raise the rates—it seems to be undoubtedly true that the phone company cannot make enough to interest capital for expansion—but it is also undoubtedly true that their costs to subscribers to their service is as high as users can be expected to pay.

Everybody's interested in just where their tax monies are going. A few figures in the Michigan Department of Revenue's annual report for 1951-52 drew our interest and we'll pass them on to you. In 1930, Federal taxes amounted to 28.72 per cent of the money collected; the state took 22.02 per cent, and 49.26 per cent was annexed for local taxes. Ten years later, the score stood like this: Federal, 48.25 per cent; state, 23.65 per cent, and local 28.10 per cent. In 1952, the melon was cut in the following proportion: Federal, 55.46 per cent; state, 3.20 per cent, and local, 6.34 per cent.

For the fiscal year 1951-52, the state collected $315,194,290.05 of which $953,024.41 was collected from Tuscola County.

Sixty Attend Meeting to Elect Presbyterian Officers

An estimated 60 persons attended the annual corporation and congregational meeting of the Presbyterian Church Monday evening, Jan. 12, when members of the congregation were elected to various offices of the church.

James Gross presided at the corporation meeting and Don MacLachlan was the clerk. The phase of the dual meeting deals with the temporal and legal aspects of church work, Rev. Melvin R. Vender reported.

Moderator of the congregational meeting was Rev. M. R. Vender and clerk of the meeting was Mr. MacLachlan.

Re-elected for a second term as trustees were Curtis Hunt, James Gross and Arnold Fisher. Frank Reid's trusteeship expired on the rotation plan of election and new trustees named were Floyd Reid and Harold Perry.

C. M. Wallace was replaced as treasurer of the church by John Bayley.

Mrs. Grant Brown was elected to the rotary nominating committee for a three-year term, replacing Mrs. Ernest Croft. Other members of the committee are: Don MacLachlan and Mrs. C. W. Price.

Farm Students Receive On-the-Spot Training

Junior and sophomore students in the Cass City High School received an unusual opportunity to see the results of hardware disease in cattle Tuesday, when they performed an autopsy on a cow owned by Frank Puskas. The cow died Sunday in its stallion and the boys performed the post-mortem and found a piece of wire that had pierced the cow's second stomach and went into the heart.

Sunday Prohibition Issue May Land In Circuit Court

The recount of the Sunday closing for stores selling beer and wine in Tuscola County was completed Wednesday and the unofficial tally shows 7,610 yes votes and 7,309 no votes.

The canvassing board is scheduled to meet Monday to decide the final validity of the votes.

Informed sources say that they believe that if the recount ends with the 301 votes left favoring the closing amendment, opposing forces will take the issue into circuit court.

It is believed that those in favor of opening on Sunday will claim that some of the ballots were illegally counted and should be thrown out.

With only 301 votes difference, cancelling a couple of the heavy yes voting precincts could change the outcome of the election.

Republicans Issue Financial Statement

The Tuscola County Republican Committee through the chairman, Gilbert Smith, Caro, this week released a financial statement. The treasurer's report was submitted to Smith by Harry Little, Cass City, treasurer. The report showed a cash balance on hand of $914.39, a residue from previous years.

Following a meeting, the group realized that the amount on hand would not cover costs of the fall campaign. A drive was conducted during the month preceding the campaign and as of December 11 the balance on hand (total receipts) was $2,559.17. Expenses and costs of the campaign, including the county, state and national, totalled $1679.00, leaving a balance of $880.17 to assist in conducting the spring bi-annual election campaign.

Other members on the county committee elected by Republican candidates at the fall convention are: Mrs. Margaret Willis, vice chairman; Arthur Dehmelt, financial director, and Irl Baguley, secretary.

Two bowlers from Cass City, Irene Stafford of the Cass City bowling team and Edith Little of the Cass City Hospital team, won a chicken or steak dinner at Frankenmuth for bowling a 400 series.

Other dinners were awarded for three identical games, for bowling 200 or over in one game and having a three-game series under 450 and having ten or more splits in any event.

Cass City Hospital team was represented by Iva Hildinger, Mrs. Little, Lorene Rienstra, Alma Popp and Bertha Hildinger, the sponsor.

Members of the Cass City Bowling team are: Irene Stafford, Belle Schwaderer, Mayme Guilds, June Paddy and Jennie Huff.

Two more teams will be sent to the tournament this week end.

Varied Program Community Club Tuesday Evening

Educational and entertaining films and a German band of five Cass City students provided the entertainment at the January meeting of the Cass City Community Club Tuesday night at the high school auditorium.

Before one of the larger crowds in recent months, the students played several well-known German pieces and interspersed the selections with a comedy routine.

Two of the three films presented Tuesday, depicted the advantages of vacationing in Quebec and at the French Riviera.

The Quebec film gave the audience glimpses of the winter sports offered at Canadian resort centers, while the French film took viewers on a tour of all the famous Riviera spots.

The third film, presented by the Michigan Department of Conservation, showed the state's timber business as it is conducted today. Included was all the various operations in a modern logging camp and an explanation of how the cutting was done to insure future timber yields.

The dinner was served by the ladies of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church.

"House of Magic" Slated in Cass City

The General Electric Company's "House of Magic," a show that has toured the country and thrilled millions, will be presented at the Cass City High School auditorium on Wednesday night, January 21, at 8 o'clock. The same show will be presented during the afternoon at an assembly for the high school body.

The program includes a number of fascinating and mysterious demonstrations in the fields of electricity and light. The two appearances here are sponsored by the Detroit Edison Company.

Junior Study Club Appoints Standing Committees for '53

"Are you seeing what you could?" was one of the questions asked the Junior Woman's Study Club by Miss Helen Higgins in her address, "Lighting," presented Thursday evening, Jan. 8, at the home of Mrs. Charles Bigelow. Mrs. Harold Oatley was co-hostess for the evening.

Miss Higgins, who is with the Detroit Edison Co., discussed general lighting in the ordinary home and its effect on individuals when not properly done.

After she concluded her talk, she showed various light bulbs and globes, distributed booklets on proper lighting and displayed photographs of rooms with correct lighting arrangements.

The pin-up lamp door prize was presented by the club to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hartel.

In the business meeting, standing committees and chairmen were established for the organization. They are: Home and family, Mrs. Higgins.

of the state commission in which the company was granted a $660,000 increase in rates. The phone company had requested an increase of approximately $1,100,000.

Signed by Fred E. Norris, president of General Telephone, the bill of complaint asks that the court conduct a hearing and "take such action as will protect the constitutional and statutory rights of the plaintiff to charge reasonable and lawful rates for its service sufficient to protect it from confiscation of its property."

It also asks that the court issue such preliminary or final injunctions as will permit the company to charge and collect "lawful and adequate rates and charges for its telephone service during the pendency of this suit and thereafter."

Phone company officials said today the Ingham County court was selected for filing of the bill of complaint because the commission is located in that county. When the state commission authorized the $660,000 increase Dec. 5, Mr. Norris described it as "inadequate" and said his firm would apply immediately for another increase.

He maintained the increase was based on a 1951 capitalization of $16,000,000, declaring today's total is $19,000,000, which will be increased to $21,200,000 in 1953 if

Pair of Hawk Wins Sets Stage for Payoff Battle Friday

Cass City set the stage for a showdown battle with Marlette tonight (Friday) by winning a pair of league games during the week while Marlette was also winning to keep their league slate clean.

The battle could well decide the league championship—the winner all alone on top of the ladder and the loser of the game off the title pace.

To go into the game against Marlette undefeated, the Hawks were forced to whip Caro Friday and Bad Axe Tuesday.

Both games were fairly close. Against Caro, Cass City played ragged ball, but emerged with a 58-44 decision. At Bad Axe, they annexed a 64-45 victory.

A big second quarter resulted in the victory over Caro. Paced by Don Tuckey's four buckets in the quarter, the Hawks roamed for 23 points while holding the county seat quintet to a pair of field goals and five free throws.

The first quarter was fairly even. Paced by Bob Wallace and Tim Burdon, the Hawks counted 13 points and Caro kept on Cass City's heels with 12 markers of their own.

At the intermission, Cass City sported a 36-21 lead.

Last Half Even

The last half was just about even—Caro netted 23 points after the intermission and Cass City came up with 22. In the later stages, the game became rough on Caro's small floor—making both teams appear ragged and ineffective.

The Caro quintet was the first team this year that was able to partially stop Burdon in the scoring column. He was held to 17 points, the first time this season he failed to score 20 or more. The all-state center still topped the Hawk scorers, but yielded honors for the evening to D. Hover of Caro, who collected 20 points on seven buckets and six gift tosses.

Bad Axe Game

Bad Axe fell before Cass City Tuesday night as the Hawks rang up their fifth straight league victory by outscoring the host team in every quarter for a 64-45 victory.

Even though they had a slight edge in the first two cantos, it was not until the end of the third period that the Hawks had sewed the game up against the Huron quintet.

In the first period, Cass City came up with a four-point margin as they counted 17 points while Bad Axe hit for 13.

The second period was even closer—Cass City added just three points to their margin to leave the floor at intermission with a 35-28 lead.

After the half-time rest, the Hawks got rolling along offensively and tightened their defense to settle the issue and kill whatever chance Bad Axe had of pulling an upset.

They scored 17 points while holding their hosts to a meager two baskets and three charities for seven points. Going into the final period, they had a commanding 51-35 margin.

Burdon led both teams with seven field goals and eight gift heaves for 22 points. Joe Lynch paced Bad Axe with 16.

Second Team Loses

The Cass City reserve squad failed to keep pace with the varsity. They dropped both games during the week. They lost a 50-41 decision to Caro and a 42-32 duke to Bad Axe. In the Bad Axe game, inability to cash free throws was costly for the Hawk cagers.

NATIVE FARMER, SANILAC County
PROSECUTING ATTORNEY, Sanilac County, 6 years

VETERAN, WORLD WAR II, served 34 months

I received the following commendation of C. L. Brody, Executive Secretary, Michigan State Farm Bureau, dated Sept. 13, 1941.
"We are happy to state that we regarded you as an outstanding champion of rural interests in all the various controversies which came up throughout the session. We think especially of the earnest part which you took in helping obtain the best possible milk control law and the fight which you made relative to rural property rights as they are affected by hunting laws."
"Because of your previous legislative experience and the ability and energy which you manifested during the 1939 session, you were accorded some very important committee assignments. Of particular interest to us was your membership on the Committees of Agriculture, Conservation, Education, Highways, Judiciary and Finance and Appropriations. This latter assignment required a great deal of time, travel and study and we commend the part which you played in helping provide for the pressing needs of the state and its institutions and activities and still maintain a balanced budget."
"Throughout the session we always found you very approachable and considerate of our recommendations and the interests of the rural people. We are sure that Farm Bureau members of your three great agricultural counties are very appreciative of the fine service which you rendered the rural interests during the past two sessions."

Your support will be appreciated.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, leaves his post next June 30 to become dean of education at Michigan State College.

The intent listener might hear a gentle scuffling in the higher echelons of Thurston's department over who will be nominated by the G.O.P. state convention Feb. 21.

Top men on the pole are Dr. C. L. Taylor, deputy superintendent, and Dr. John S. Haitema, assistant superintendent.

But there is a fly in the ointment. Both men are "available" to succeed their boss—and both men are civil service employees.

The rub is that according to civil service commission ruling, no worker under its jurisdiction may become a candidate for election or take a leave of absence at the time petitions are filed.

From here on it gets complicated. Since this is a spring election, no petitions will be filed—the G.O.P. nominee will be selected at the state election. Taylor and Haitema figure they can keep on working until convention time, and then the chosen one will take a leave of absence until the April 6 election.

But Arthur G. Rasch, civil service chief, announces that it is his interpretation that the political candidacy rule becomes effective when an employee makes a move to win the nomination—and that includes the early jockeying before the convention.

The question is are they candidates before the convention meets to select the party representative? Mr. Rasch says yes. Messrs. Taylor and Haitema say no.

Two other gentlemen surely will be highly interested in the outcome. They also would like to head the department of public instruction. They are William Emerson,

Tulip Motif
The tulip originated somewhere in Turkey. Turkish textiles of the 16th century used the tulip in floral motifs while the Persians used it on their pottery as a symbol of love. By 1539 the tulip was being cultivated in Germany, and in Saxony craftsmen scratched tulip designs in pottery which came to be known as "tulip ware." When William and Mary occupied the British throne toward the end of the 17th century, Dutch craftsmen came to England with them and used the tulip motif in marquetry work on walnut furniture.

The Condemned Man
The ancient Aztecs of Mexico used captives as human sacrifices to their gods. Often the prisoners lived in luxury and ceremonial splendor for a full year before the sacrificial ceremony.

Oakland county school superintendent, and George Schutt, member of the field staff of Central Michigan College.

Robert Poe, vitriolic, outspoken lobbyist for the Michigan C.I.O. council, has waxed bitter over Gov. Williams' appointment of James M. Moses, Marshall publisher, to the civil service commission.

It would appear that the C.I.O. was thumping for Walter Krapohl, Flint attorney. Mr. Poe made it very clear—as only he can—that his union might easily be very busy with other things when the Democrats look for help in the spring election.

Michigan now has 6,000 doctors. Not an earthshaking statement, but compared to the war years when the number of medical men dropped to 3,900, it's a comforting feeling.

The recent increase in the number of physicians may be partly due to the liberalization of basic science and medical practice requirements in 1952. The new laws permit doctors from foreign countries to practice in Michigan on one-year licenses while they are becoming U.S. citizens.

"While we still don't have a doctor for every community," says

FARM DIGEST

In a vague sort of way, most of us are aware of the enormous change that has come over American Farming in the past few decades—a change so far-reaching that it amounts literally to an agricultural revolution.

It is hard to realize how far we have come until we stop, look back and add up a few things. Only then can we understand why farming practices are undergoing such rapid improvement today.

Back in 1910, the average farmer was able to feed 8 people three meals a day throughout the year. In 1930, he was able to feed 11 people.

In 1950, he was feeding 15 people. American farmers are doing a better and better job of feeding the country. Authorities tell us that more farming progress has been made in the last 75 years than all the world's farmers were able to make in the previous 7500 years.

What brought it about? Improved machinery, greater use of mechanical power, improved new livestock, new fertilizers, new seed, better crop rotation, improved insecticides, and irrigation—to mention only a few things. And perhaps most important of all—better management.

Why has so much of this progress taken place in the last 10 years? Because so many of the great new improvements made in the laboratory have only begun to reach the farm.

Particularly is this true of Michigan's great sugar beet industry. Even though you live close to the heart of it, I know you will be amazed to know some of the things that have happened right under your nose, so to speak—and thrilled to hear about some of the developments now being planned for its immediate future.

The fact is that the growing of sugar beets in Michigan is fast becoming a modernized, mechanized business which is producing better and better yields for less and less work and more and more profit to the farmer; a progressive industry destined to make still bigger contributions to the welfare of the state, and all of its people.

If you are a farmer who has not grown beets during the last 10 years, or if you are a citizen who hasn't had the opportunity to keep pace with new developments in sugar beets, prepare to be pleasantly surprised.

Just look at the way the yield per acre has increased in the last five years for Michigan's sugar beets.

Year	Yield Per Acre
1948.....	8.11 tons
1949.....	9.35 "
1950.....	10.17 "
1951.....	11.15 "
1952.....	10.71 "

Average tonnage fell off slightly in 1952 due primarily to some unseasonable weather in certain areas but notice now the trend is rapidly moving upward. Between 1948 and 1952, there was an increased yield of 2.60 tons per acre.

Just to illustrate, let's say that sugar beets are worth $16.00 per ton. At this figure the increased yield of 1952 over 1948 brought the sugar beet grower an extra $41.60 per acre. The grower who harvested 10 acres of beets that year had an extra income of $416—just from the increased yield alone.

That's a grand example of the almost unbelievable changes rapidly taking place in Michigan's sugar beet industry. I'll have more to say about it on my broadcasts at 12:30 p.m. each Saturday on WJR—and in later columns in this paper too. Hope you'll be listening and reading too.

Good Results from Sowing Craig Oats

Farmers who are laying long-range plans including extensive oat seeding in 1954 will have a new Michigan-tested variety to use—Craig oats—a cross between Victoria, Richland and Ithaca varieties in New York state.

Dr. Kenneth Frey of Michigan State College farm crops department reports that, in three years of Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station tests, Craig oats out-yielded Clinton oats several bushels per acre. Craig oats will be grown for certification this year and seed will be ready in 1954.

Craig oats resist loose and covered smut, crown rust including Race 45 and some races of stem rust. It has a white grain color, runs medium to light test weight, matures about five days later than Clinton and has a short stalk.

Rural Fire Losses Can Be Cut Down

More than $100,000,000 worth of rural property will be destroyed by fire in 1952-'53 unless building practices change radically.

The Title Council of America warns in a recent report that the 1951 loss of $122,000,000 worth of farm buildings and equipment probably will be repeated unless greater attention is paid to construction of dwellings in areas where organized fire-fighting apparatus is not available. It is estimated that at least half the farm fires could be easily prevented through safeguarded construction, and that dwelling fires will be most common in the winter season coming up.

Here are recommendations from leading fire-prevention authorities for protecting rural property against flame:

1. Be sure there is a clear space of 150 feet between major structures. If one catches fire, such as a hay barn from spontaneous combustion, other buildings will be less endangered if flame cannot spread.
2. Fireproof surfaces such as clay tile should be installed in as many parts of the home as possible, including kitchen, basement, garage and bathroom.
3. Take prevailing winds into account. Plan the layout of buildings against the wind, so that fire from one structure will not be carried to the next.
4. Don't have a firetrap fireplace. It should be constructed of fireproof materials, such as clay tile, with the outside chimney of brick or masonry.

No freedom in our great nation is more precious than the freedom of enterprise.

Parker - Kerns Wedding Saturday

In a lovely winter wedding Saturday at one p. m. in St. Pancratius Church, Miss Eunice Jenette Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Parker, became the bride of Wm. James Kerns, son of Mrs. Louis Yaroch, Jr., of Kinde.

As the bridal party entered the church for the side altar ceremony performed by Rev. John J. Bozek, the church choir sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin made by Mrs. Fred Ritchie, grandmother of the bridegroom. The gown was fashioned with a full train, fitted bodice and a Peter Pan collar. She wore satin gauntlets with the gown. Her illusion net veil edged in lace fell from a satin cap edged in lace and veiled her face. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid and lilies of the valley.

Charlotte Turner of Akron, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor-length white satin dress and carried a basket of white roses. Gary Gates of Richmond, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

The bride chose three friends as her attendants, Miss Mary McCloy as maid of honor, who wore gold colored satin; Miss Esther Olenicz of Detroit, and Mrs. Glenn Meiser of Flint, as bridesmaids, who wore aqua satin gowns. Their flowers were colonial bouquets of red carnations and they wore headbands fashioned of the same flowers.

Ronald Robbins of Saginaw performed the duties of best man for his cousin and other groomsmen were Douglas Partridge and Glen Meiser.

Guests were seated by Larry McCloy and Philip Olsow.

Mrs. Parker chose for her daughter's wedding an orchid street-length dress with which she wore black accessories. The groom's mother wore a chapeau suit with black accessories.

Some 100 relatives and friends attended the rites. Guests from a distance came from Detroit, Pontiac, Saginaw, Flint, Richmond, Brown City, Kinde and other Thumb towns.

Following the ceremony, 55 were served dinner in the Knuckles home, given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ritchie, grandparents of Wm. Kerns. Some 250 attended a reception for the couple in the V. F. W. hall at Elkton Saturday evening.

The newlyweds left to spend a few days with relatives in Detroit and will be at home at 274 Grand Traverse, in Flint, where both are employed.

Extension Advisory Board Holds Annual Meeting

Members of the Tuscola County extension advisory board held their annual meeting Wednesday, January 7, to review extension program activities during the past year and to advise on plans for carrying forward all phases of the program during 1953, according to County Agent Alfred P. Ballweg. Advisory board members were served a noon luncheon through the courtesy of the State Savings Bank of Caro. Elected to serve on the executive committee of the board which will meet quarterly with extension agents were: Jesse Treiber, Unionville, chairman; Mrs. Fred Black, Akron, vice chairman; Mrs. Eva Massoll, Fairgrove, secretary-treasurer; J. C. Kirk, Fairgrove, member; Bruce Ruggles, Kingston, member, and Clarence Keinath, Caro, member.

District and state extension advisory boards are elected from county boards to advise on extension program policy. Representing Tuscola County on the district board are George Foster, Fostoria; Mrs. Fred Black, Akron; Charles Wells, Vassar; Maynard McConkey, Cass City; Mrs. Dayton Davis, Vassar, and Mrs. Charles Witkovsky, Caro.

District advisory board members will meet in Lapeer on January 14, advises Ballweg.

Too many people are always willing to help others if it helps themselves.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barry of Caro announce the engagement of their daughter, Vada M., to A/Sc James P. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson of Gageton, and is stationed with the USAF at Biloxi, Miss. No date has been set for the wedding.

Terramycin Aids In Pigs Growth

Four Michigan State College scientists have offered proof that pigs fed a proper ration, including fortifying vitamins, can gain as well on lower protein diets than are usually recommended. This growth depends considerably, however, on the addition of terramycin to the feed ration.

Tests were made on 80 cross-bred, 26-pound pigs by J. A. Hoefler of animal husbandry, R. W. Luecke of agricultural chemistry and Frank Thorp, Jr., and R. L. Johnston of animal pathology, at Michigan State College. Both the high-protein and low-protein groups received 5 milligrams of terramycin for each pound of food. At the end of 105 days, the low-protein group averaged 198 pounds or two pounds heavier than the high-protein group.

Faster Growth

Science may have uncovered another secret leading to faster plant growth with profound implications for farmers. Corn (left) sprinkled with water containing a tiny amount of the antibiotic, terramycin, grew taller faster than same seeds in untreated soil (right). Experiments conducted by Dr. Louis G. Nickell in the Brookline laboratories of Chas. Pfizer & Co. showed that as little as one part terramycin to one million parts of water make more seeds sprout into plants. Here, after three and one-half weeks, terramycin-treated corn averages 17.45 inches in height, while untreated corn is 14 inches high. Corn sprinkled with terramycin-spiked water also was found to be heavier both wet and after removal of all water.

New Ford Miracle Ride

Here's new freedom from bounce, pitch and sway ...
an entirely new standard of riding comfort!

If you've thought it takes gas-eating weight and hard-to-park length to give real riding comfort you ought to try this '53 Ford. For Ford's new Miracle Ride actually seems to lay a carpet of smoothness even over the roughest roads. There's no bounce, pitch and sway to bother you, no uncomfortable roll on curves. Ford's new Miracle Ride marks a new era of riding comfort and quiet. It's another big reason why Ford is worth more when you buy it ... worth more when you sell it!

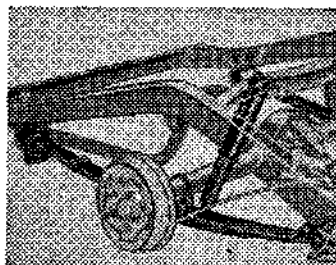

White sidewall tires optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.

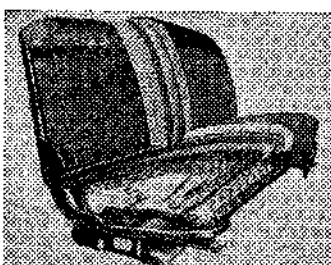

The New Standard of the American Road

80% less road shock! By increasing front wheel travel and redesigning the rubber compression bumpers, front end road shock is reduced as much as 80%. Springs are tailored-to-weight of each model, for best riding comfort, whichever model you buy.

Automatic Ride Control! Ford's Variable-Rate rear spring suspension actually makes the effective spring "stiffness" vary automatically as road and load conditions change. You get a smooth, level, comfortable ride on boulevard or roughest back road.

All day comfort! Scientifically designed contour seats, both front and rear, have thick foam rubber cushions. Non-sag spring construction is firm yet resilient. Automatic Posture Control provides the most convenient seating position for all drivers.

You've got to Value Check this new Ford's 41 "Worth More" features to know why Ford is worth more when you buy it ... worth more when you sell it!

In this new '53 Ford you'll find not only a new concept of riding and driving comfort ... you'll find more of the things you want and need than in any other car in the low-price field.

You'll find the "Go" you need, in Ford's high-compression V-8 and Six engines (and both thrive on regular gas). You'll find the great, all-round visibility ... the easy handling, braking and parking you need for today's traffic. And you'll appreciate beauty that "belongs" wherever you may drive. No wonder Ford is the New Standard of the American Road.

Crops, Soils Tips Featured at MSC

Cash crop tips, ways to get more out of fertilizer, new farm research and many other points of interest to farmers will be on the crops and soils programs during Farmers' Week, the last week of January, at Michigan State College.

"Sugar Beet Day" will be observed Tuesday, January 27, in MSC's Kellogg Center, with a motion picture—"Sugar U. S. A."—at 10 a. m. Milton H. Erdmann, MSC farm cropsman, who last year discussed forage mixture yields from fertilizing, will follow through this year with "The Results of a Forage Sugar Beet Sequence Experiment." He will tell of the sugar beet yields from plowing down the forage mixtures.

Demonstrations at the Ferden Farm, near Chesaning, will be discussed by Paul J. Rood, soil scientist. Legume and fertilizer experiments and rotations have been under way for several years at the Ferden Farm.

"My Experience with Spring Mechanization," a round table discussion followed by a question-and-answer period, will close the Tuesday morning program. Perc A. Reeve of Saginaw, agricultural supervisor of the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar Association, will be moderator.

Another panel on "Increasing Sugar Beet Yields with Nitrogen" will open the Tuesday afternoon sessions, which include a seed bed preparation report by R. L. Cook, soil scientist, and "A New Look at Michigan's Beet Industry" by Max C. Henderson of Saginaw, general field manager of Michigan Sugar Co.

New fertilizers, better uses of manure, a grass silage symposium and many other programs are planned during the week by the farm crops and soil science departments of Michigan State College.

Tuscola Soil District Schedules Meeting

The annual meeting of the Tuscola County soil conservation district will be held at the V. F. W. Hall in Caro Wednesday, January 21, at 8:00 p. m. This is the ninth annual meeting since the district was first organized in 1944. A progress report of work done by the district during the past year will be available to those attending, advises Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. Highlighting the program will be a talk by Dr. Floyd M. Turk, head of the soil department, Michigan State College. Of local interest will be the first showing of a moving picture taken in Tuscola, Saginaw and Lapeer counties. The picture deals with local area land problems and people.

A business meeting will precede the program at which time two directors will be elected for a term of three years. Directors whose terms expire are Bruce Ruggles, Kingston, and Reid Kirk of Fairgrove. Mr. Kirk is retiring and not seeking re-election. Listed on the ballots are three names for each area as follows: Eldon Bruce, Deford; George Burns, Millington, and Bruce Ruggles, Kingston. To replace Kirk are Milton Bedore, Unionville; Maynard McConkey, Cass City, and Floyd Werdemann, Cass City.

SHORT STORY

Dead Past

By R. H. WILKINSON

A MAN with a past is at a disadvantage with the world. Johnny Martin realized this now more than ever.

He felt once more in his inside coat pocket and then searched through all his other pockets. But the envelope containing the money that Fred Carson had given him to bring to the bank was gone.

For perhaps five minutes Johnny stood on the corner of Main and Hill streets trying to decide what to do. Fred Carson, despite the fact that he had never questioned Johnny about his past, would wonder when told that the money was lost.

Fred might look into his past. He'd be sure to find out about that six months in jail.

Six months ago Johnny had hit Hillside. He liked the town. Between it and the scene of his past life there were almost 2000 miles. He got a job as helper with Fred Carson, who ran a tree nursery.

Fred Carson was middle-aged and fat and kindly. He hadn't asked a single question, except what Johnny knew about trees.

Then there was June Stafford. She was probably more reason than any why Johnny liked Hillside and why he wanted to stay. He regretted now that he'd put off telling her about himself, about his past.

Too late now. She'd find out from Fred Carson or some one else, and then there'd be no use trying to make her understand. Only a half-hour ago he'd met her at the post-office and they'd talked of the picnic.

For perhaps five minutes Johnny stood on the corner of Main and Hill streets trying to decide what to do.

they'd planned for next Sunday. Sunday! By that time Johnny could be hundreds of miles away. It would be an easy thing to do. He could take a bus up to Avon, then hop a train.

Down the street Johnny saw the big blue-gray Avon bus coming toward him. He was so used to running away. Automatically he began to make his plans.

It flashed across his mind that maybe this was the cause of all his unhappiness—because he had always run away. Because he never had the courage to face a thing down, to live it down.

THE AVON bus came roaring up to the corner, its driver looking questioning at Johnny. But Johnny shook his head, turned resolutely and headed back toward the nursery.

During the 15 minutes it took him to get there he decided what he was going to do. First of all he was going to tell about losing the money. Then before Fred Carson could do any investigating he was going to tell all about his past and the six months he'd spent in jail.

Fred was in the shop. Johnny stopped short at the look in his employer's eyes. There was something about Fred's expression that provoked apprehension.

"Look, Mr. Carson," Johnny said. "I lost that money. I thought it was in my inside pocket, but when I came to take it out the envelope was gone." Fred's expression hardened. "There's something else I wanted to tell you too," Johnny rushed on. "It's about me. I should have told you long ago, but, well, I guess I didn't have the courage. I—I spent some time in jail once. When I was a kid. For breaking and entering. I've been trying to live it down ever since, but it always seems to catch up with me. And now, if you don't want a jailbird working for you—"

Fred's face had undergone a change. The hardness disappeared. "So that's it? And me just fixin' to bawl you out for mailing that money instead of deliverin' it. I was in a mind to do it, too, on account of the frost getting a whole double row of seedlings last night. Why, shucks, the money got to the bank all right. Tom Davis called up and said I was crazy for sending loose bills through the mails thataway. I figured you musta met June Stafford somewhere and mailed the envelope so's you could talk to her."

Johnny gulped. "And now that you know about me—?"

"Know about you! Why, shucks, sonny, I've known since two days after you came to work for me. June knows, too. A feller come through here who used to know you back East. He talked a lot." Fred's blue eyes twinkled. "Now stop gapin' at me an' get to work. I'm in no mood to argue."

"Yes, sir," he managed to say. "You bet, Mr. Carson!"

the company continues expansion and improvement of facilities. He said the difficulty was in the long delay between the time of application for the rate increase and its approval, adding the company filed supplementary information on its increased capitalization this summer, but this was not taken into consideration by the commission.

He said the increase granted would provide the company a return of 6.55 per cent on invested capital of $10,800,000 and no earnings on the remaining $7,700,000 of 1952 average capitalization.

In its bill of complaint the company said the rate order of the commission "is unreasonable, unlawful, confiscatory, discriminatory and is contrary to the great weight of the evidence presented to the commission." It declares the order "deprives the company of its constitutional rights to charge reasonable and lawful rates for its service and to charge rates sufficient to protect the company from confiscation of its property."

It further states that the decision of the commission to grant an increase in pay phone charges from 5 to 10 cents will not provide increased revenue of $30,000 annually, as estimated. Mr. Norris previously declared this was not requested by the phone company, adding it will take from six to nine months to complete changes in current pay phone equipment to enable collection of the increased charges.

The Tuscola-Kingston A. B. A. will hold their annual meeting Thursday, January 22, at 1:30 p. m. in the Kingston High School gym. On Thursday evening, the Millington A. B. A. will meet for a dinner and program in the high school gym, beginning at 6:30 p. m. On Friday, January 23, the Huron-Tuscola A. B. A. will meet in the agricultural room of the Unionville High School at 1:30 p. m. The Cass City A. B. A. will hold their annual meeting in the Home Restaurant, Cass City, at 8 p. m. also on January 23.

Presidents of each association wish to remind members to attend the annual meetings and are entitled to vote in the election for directors of the association. The program planned by the directors, with the help of the county agricultural agent, will include reports by A. B. A. secretary and treasurer and by inseminator-managers. Dick Bell, farm crops specialist, Michigan State College, has been secured as the annual meeting speaker and will discuss "Forage Crops in Relation to Dairy Production." Another feature of the program will be the showing of the movie, "The Right Semen Produces the Right Calves."

Delegates also will be selected to represent the local organization at the annual meeting of the Michigan Breeders' Cooperative to be held later at East Lansing, advises Ballweg.

characterized the development of southeastern Michigan during the past half century.

Fifth Plant to Open in '53

Fifty years ago, the company's electric generating capacity was about 4,900 kilowatts. Today, its four steam electric plants at Trenton, Delray, Commers Creek and Marysville are capable of carrying a load of about 1,900,000 kilowatts or more than 2,500,000 horsepower. And a highlight of Edison's anniversary will be the starting—next August—of the first turbine-generator at the company's new St. Clair Power Plant.

Now under construction between St. Clair and Marine City, this new plant will eventually bring the total system generation up to 3,350,000 horsepower—doubling the company's pre-World War II generating capability.

In another observance of the 50th anniversary, Edison will offer 50 scholarships at various colleges of the state. The scholarships, valued at $200 each, will be open to students in the high schools of southeastern Michigan.

Vassar Farmer Tells Of Pasture Tests

Dayton Davis of Vassar, well-known farmer and chairman of the Tuscola Soil Conservation Districts, who has been in the dairy business for several years, is changing to the raising of beef on his farm as a step towards the completion of a complete soil and water conservation plan.

To gain maximum income per acre on the sandy soils of his farm, Davis established a seeding of alfalfa, 8 pounds, broom, 3 pounds, and Ladino clover, two pounds. (Was established on 19 acres in 1951.)

The seed bed was plowed, disked once and then seeded with a nurse crop of oats at the rate of two bushels per acre at which time a 4-24-12 fertilizer was applied at the rate of 200 pounds per acre.

In the summer of 1952, Davis put 7 grade steers weighing 4310 pounds on the pasture, in addition to the dairy herd, and took them off after 122 days of pasture at 5870 pounds. This represents a gain of 1560 pounds total or 1.83 pounds gain per cow per day. This gain was the result of pasture alone without the use of grain.

Because Davis placed seven steers on the 19 acres of pasture for maximum utilization, it netted him an additional $25.00 per acre. He therefore feels that just growing good pasture is not the complete answer in efficient grassland farming. Proper utilization of the pasture after it is established is essential.

In 1953, along with his present pasture program, Davis is cooperating with the Tuscola Soil Conservation District in establishing a pasture demonstration plot in Birdfoot trefoil.

Farmers are constantly seeking new methods that work on the soil type of individual farms.

Since the Davis farm is indicative of much of the soil in Tuscola County, his experiments will benefit other farmers.
