

Commencement Programs Lure Crowds to High School

Capacity crowds greeted Cass City High School's Commencement programs this week as, forty-four girls and forty-four boys, the largest class ever to graduate from the local school, came to the end of their high school careers.

At Sunday night's Baccalaureate service, Rev. Floyd Porter, pastor of the Methodist Church, reminded the seniors that there were four things they might do with their lives, the highest and noblest of which was to surrender them to the leadership of Christ and to seek to follow in His footsteps. The traditional procession, with floral escorts furnished by the junior class, added to the effectiveness of the service. The girls' glee club, under the direction of Miss Clara Boone, furnished music for the program while other pastors of local churches also assisted in parts of the service.

Dr. John Stanley Harker, president of Alma College, addressed the graduates at Tuesday's Commencement exercises. Using as his theme, "Life is a Landscaping Job," Dr. Harker admonished the seniors to make the most of the talents and capacities that were theirs. One of the most important things to learn, he warned them, was to live with one's self. The abundant life, as Dr. Harker put it, comes to those who take what life has given them and then proceed to make from it the finest and most beautiful thing possible.

Tim Burdon, class president, presided and presented a light oak speaker's stand as a gift of the Class of 1953 to the school. Co-Salutatorians Faith Parrott and Bob Fox presented a very effective resume of what their high school days had meant to them while Joan Holmberg, as valedictorian, used the class motto as the general theme for her message. A number of special awards, as well as eight scholarships to Michigan colleges, were presented by Principal Arthur Holmberg. An innovation this year was the wearing of two different colors of caps and gowns, the girls being dressed in white and the boys in maroon. The effect, with equal numbers of each group on the well-filled stage, was very impressive. Music during the program included an ensemble of twelve senior girls, a piano solo by Annette Pinney and a vocal solo by Joanne Caister. Diplomas were handed the graduates as they left the stage by Superintendent Willis Campbell and the program ended with Joan Holmberg singing "The Lord's Prayer" as the last senior left the platform.

Open House Will Mark Murphys' 30th Anniversary

Relatives and friends will help Mr. and Mrs. Harold Murphy celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary Sunday, June 14, with an open house gathering at the home of their daughter, Miss Patricia Murphy.

Harold Murphy and Miss Myrtle Curtis were married in the Methodist parsonage in London, Ontario, June 14, 1923. The couple has spent all of their married life in Cass City with the exception of approximately a year when they lived in Detroit.

Mr. Murphy was born in Elkland Township. Mrs. Murphy was born at Park Hill, Ontario. She graduated from Sarnia General Hospital School of Nursing in 1916. Before their marriage, Mrs. Murphy nursed in Pleasant Home Hospital and later in the Morris Hospital.

The couple has two children, Keith Murphy and Miss Patricia Murphy, and one grandson, Michael.

Chamber of Commerce Okays Electrical Service for Park

Members of the board of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce approved the installation of a permanent electrical service at the Cass City Recreational Park Monday evening at a meeting held at the Municipal Building.

Estimated cost for the project will be $200. It will give ample power for concessions and other groups which need more power. During previous home-comings, the electrical source was taxed to its capacity, limiting the amount of growth of the annual event.

With the new service, electrical demands of the foreseeable future will be answered.

Graduation Exercises For Kindergarteners Draws Large Crowd

An overflow crowd attended the kindergarten graduation exercises held in the kindergarten rooms of the grade school Thursday afternoon, June 4.

Mrs. Marie Murray presented diplomas to 65 boys and girls for completing their first year of school work.

Parents and friends were entertained by a welcome poem recited in unison by the kindergarten students and music from the morning and afternoon groups' rhythm bands.

At the completion of the program, cookies and ice cream were served.

Mrs. Murray also announced the names of 13 grade students with a perfect attendance record for the school year.

The students who were neither absent nor tardy are: second grade, Richard McNeil; third grade, Betty Jean Spaulding and Jimmy Gunther; fourth grade, Gordon Goodall, Ramona Maytoreno and Larry Merchant; fifth grade, Marian Neiman, Shirley Wright and Roy Tuckey; and sixth grade, Margaret Graham, Margaret Lee Shaw and Arnold Wisenbaugh.

Summer Band Program Started At Public School

A summer band program has been inaugurated in the Cass City Public School. Each person studying instrumental music from the sixth grade through the senior year is scheduled for a group lesson of one-half hour each week, Ralph Powell, music director, said.

A rehearsal for the high school band is scheduled for each Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock. Four band concerts have been planned for this summer. The first will be Saturday evening, June 20. Dates for the other concerts will be announced.

Mr. Powell is urging parents to encourage their children to attend each lesson, band rehearsal and band concert. The lessons have been carefully planned so that students with similar abilities and instruments are in the same group. A summer program, Mr. Powell asserted, will allow students to work on their instruments without having to think about other classes. He added that it affords them excellent learning experience, wholesome recreation and an opportunity to serve their community through the Saturday night band concerts.

A list of the classes will appear in the next issue of the Chronicle.

Furnish Their Own Power

Although the loss of power Monday night and Tuesday did not put the phones out of commission, it made operation exceedingly difficult despite the addition of three special operators. The phones were kept running by the constant turning of cranks to furnish power. Six persons were busy at the switchboards almost continuously. Pictured are: Jacqueline Deneen, Sadie Fordyce, Clara Seeley, Fleeta Cowell and Myrtle Sowden. Also assisting in the work, but not pictured, were Dorothy Phillips, Almeda Profit and Arlene Wills.

These members of the Elkland Township Fire Department came up with an idea for gas for their cars despite the lack of electrical power Tuesday. They hooked a power-driven lawn mower to their tanks to be sure of a gas supply.

Standing with his hand on the handles of the mower is Jimmy Ellis, Fireman Basil Bigham watches as his car tank is filled. Standing by the pump is Dick Root. Kneeling is Howard "Baldy" Ellis, Fireman "Moose" Willy watches the gas proceedings by the pump. The picture was snapped by Fireman Fritz Neitzel and Fireman Al Avery came up with the idea of lawn mower power.

Gavel Club to Meet All Year

The Cass City Gavel Club voted to change its policy of closing during the summer months as has been the custom in recent years and will now hold meetings throughout the year.

The change in policy was decided by members at the regular Tuesday evening meeting held at the New Gordon Hotel.

The program was in charge of Alden Asher who supervised a quiz game among the members. Using questions of common knowledge, two quizzes were held. Bud Burt eliminated all the members to take a prize and Jack Esau won the second elimination contest.

Harry Little described his eyewitness account of the Flint tornado disaster.

Cass Cityite Killed In Auto Crash West of Caro

Frank William Brigham, 26, Cass City, was killed and two others injured when an automobile driven by Walter Stanczak, 39, of Marlette went out of control while attempting to go around an 'S' curve on Gilford Road, west of Caro, Sunday.

Injured were Stanczak and Francis Lintner, 23, of Argyle.

Tuscola County Sheriff George F. Jeffrey said that reports indicated Mr. Brigham was thrown about 70 feet from the automobile. The car went through a ditch and into a field.

Mr. Lintner is in the hospital in serious condition with chest injuries.

Remains were at the Douglas Funeral Home where funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. S. R. Wurtz of the Salem Evangelical UB Church officiated. The Tri-County Post No. 607 of the American Legion conducted military burial rites at the Elkland Cemetery.

Surviving are: his mother, Mrs. Frank Bundo, Tyre; his stepfather, a brother, Edwin, of Grant Township, and grandparents, Mrs. Jeanette Brigham, Pontiac, and Mr. and Mrs. George Moss, Decker.

Mr. Brigham was born Feb. 23, 1927, in Farmington. At the time of his death, he was employed in a Flint automobile factory.

He received a degree in Bachelor of Business Administration, majoring in accounting. Mr. Karr was an honor student, third in standing in a class of over 200 students. He posted a 3.6 average.

He is a member of Omega Alpha Pi, honorary fraternity, and has an honor award from Kappa Sigma Kappa Fraternity. He was vice-president of the senior class.

The graduation exercises were held in the Masonic Temple. Those attending from this locality were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anson Karr, and aunts, Mrs. Doris Mudge and Mrs. Eleanor Morris. Keith was a graduate from Cass City High School in 1934.

Approve Assistant Agricultural Agent

Tuscola County Extension Advisory Board members met June 5 to interview and approve the appointment of Quentin Ostrander to fill the position of assistant county agricultural agent, reports Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

For the past four and one-half years, Mr. Ostrander has served as district 4-H club agent for Antrim, Kalkaska and Crawford counties. He grew up on a farm in Cheboygan County and took active part in 4-H club work. He is married, age 33, and has three children.

It is expected he will start work about July 1, Ballweg said.

Games Cancelled

Rain cancelled the opening game of the Cass City Softball League Monday night after Auten Motor Sales and Church of Christ had played three innings.

The game will be played Tuesday. Tonight the softball was resumed when FFA plays Cass Tavern and Church of Christ plays Gageton.

Cass Tavern and Gageton and Auten and Decker were to have played Wednesday.

Parsch's Store will be open Thursday afternoons.

One family from the Cass City area was involved in the ghastly wreckage left in the wake of Michigan's worst tornado in history that caused an estimated property damage in excess of $15,000,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Taylor and three children, who live southeast of Cass City, were caught direct in the path of the twister while visiting Mrs. Taylor's brother, Everett Sheffer, at Columbiaville.

According to Mr. Sheffer, a patient at Cass City Hospital, the tornado razed every building on his farm, including the house, barn, tool shed and chicken coop.

"It all happened so fast I really can't say what happened," Mr. Sheffer reported. At the time the tornado struck, Mr. Sheffer and Mr. Taylor were in the barn where Mr. Sheffer was milking. When the tornado approached, Mr. Taylor started to rush towards the house to the two families. He never made it. The tornado picked him up and he suffered possible fracture of his arm.

Mr. Sheffer was buried under debris and struck on the head. Hospital authorities were to have X-rayed him late Wednesday or Thursday.

The families of the two men escaped serious injury, although they suffered cuts and bruises. The group hurried to the basement of the house and avoided the full blast of the raging holocaust.

Another eyewitness account of the wreckage was reported by Harry Little, who was pressed into service with his ambulance in Flint. Speaking to members of the Gavel Club Tuesday night, Mr. Little reported that the tornado-stricken persons in the Flint area were the most mutilated that he had ever seen.

He reported that the victims were hurt more than the victims of the worst automobile accident that he had seen in connection with his ambulance service. Every body was cut from head to foot and many had sticks and stones impaled in the flesh from the driving force of the wind. Practically all the dead suffered broken necks, Mr. Little said.

From the Editor's Corner

There was remarkably little grumbling over the loss of power after persons in the area learned the reason for the failure. In the early hours of the morning, the local branch of the General Telephone Company of Michigan was swamped by queries about power for milking machines and lights.

But when citizens learned of the disaster, they did the best they could without the power. The power failure closed some businesses and made other establishments boom. Restaurants with gas cooking equipment did a booming business. At least one, which cooked with electricity, closed for the day.

Most businessmen took the loss of power philosophically. Typical of the attitude was evidenced in a sign on the door of the Tyo Barber Shop which closed for the day. Alex' sign on the door read "What's the use? ... No Juice."

Another interesting sidelight on the lack of electricity occurred in the stockyards at Marlette. When the lights failed to return Monday after a brief interval, pigs were auctioned in the pens by flashlight. According to Henry Cooklin, who was buying at the yards, the sale went smoothly and the pigs brought a good price.

Summer Program at Village Park Slated to Start June 15

The summer program at the Cass City Recreational Park will officially begin the week of June 15, according to Irv. Claxman, in charge of the program this year.

Opening with the playground will be the swimming pool. The schedule for the summer has not yet been released. When the pool opens, the Red Cross will conduct classes three mornings a week.

The pool will again be under the direction of Arthur Holmberg. Back again to assume lifeguard duties will be Roger Parrish.

Present plans call for the majority of the recreational activities to be held in the morning with swimming the feature attraction in the afternoon. All girls in the area will be scheduled for activities every Monday morning. Grade school boys will have authorized activities Tuesday and Thursday mornings and junior and senior high boys will meet on Wednesday and Friday mornings.

Tuesday evening will be devoted to a basketball program. The practice will be held either at the Cass City High School gym or the east tennis court at the park.

Although these hours will be devoted to a planned program for the various age groups, Mr. Claxman pointed out that the park facilities are open all of every day for the benefit of area youth.

Local Scouts Attend Week-end Camporee

Thirty-six Cass City Scouts and Explorers and three leaders attended the Valley Trails Council Camporee at Ojibway Island Park in the Saginaw River Saturday and Sunday.

Twenty-nine boys, with Scoutmaster Harold Oatley, slept in the troop's tents as a unit of the camporee. They were joined early Sunday morning by Assistant Scoutmaster Keith McConkey. Seven boys camped with the council's Jamboree contingent, training for the long trip to California and for camping with fifty thousand other boys at Irvine Ranch in July.

With them was Troop Committee Chairman Ray W. Fleenor, who will serve as Scoutmaster of one of the two troops going to the Jamboree from this council. Three Cass City boys have been appointed to leadership positions in the Jamboree troop: Stuart Little will serve as Scribe and Jack Perry and Ronald Fleenor will be Patrol Leaders.

Explorers Robert Baker, Fred McConkey, Jerry Perry and Dale Iseler are part of the largest Jamboree group from any town in the council except Saginaw.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

"Weather co-operating, Michigan could be headed for the best tourist season ever," predicts Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of Michigan Tourist Council. That is the office that shows people where and how to enjoy themselves in this "Water Wonderland" state.

More happy tourists in Michigan mean better livelihoods for resort owners and louder jangles of vacation dimes and dollars. Most of this, sooner or later, finds its way into the hands of Michigan retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers.

People are surprised to learn that tourist trade ranks among the top three industries in Michigan. Manufacturing is first. Agriculture and resorting come next, but most representatives of both fields are unwilling to state flatly which is second.

Surveys show that of 10 billion dollars spent yearly by Americans, well over $500 million (about 5 per cent) will be spent in Michigan. More than half by residents from outside the state who learn of sunny sands, deep forests and blue waters. Surveys also show that sightseeing is Michigan's biggest attraction. Mr. Furlong says that 70 per cent of people touring here include it in their program. "About 55 per cent go fishing," he added, explaining that, "nearly all tourists enjoy several different activities during their visits."

Michigan Tourists Council is a clearing house which attempts to co-ordinate all tourist promotion. The staff consists of only five hard-working people in Lansing, headed by Mr. Furlong, who has a conservation department background. Administrative assistant is John Gray, who for five years has been speaking, photographing and writing about the glories of our state. The council works closely with Michigan's four existing regional associations: East, West, Southeastern and Upper Peninsula.

A sum of money, appropriated each year by the Legislature, finances the Tourist Council. The state carefully designates how much of this shall be spent on promotion.

The remainder can be used for administration. In 1945 when the council was originated, $250,000 was appropriated. Recently it was increased to $296,000; this year it is $326,000.

Of this, $25,000 is credited to each regional office which must use it for advertising. Most of the balance is used for ads in national magazines and Michigan newspapers.

"A careful check is made of coupons returned from these ads," says Mr. Furlong, "so the council will know which are worthy." Coupon senders are asked to check the part of Michigan they want to visit; their names are referred to one of the four regional associations.

Thousands of beautifully printed Michigan vacations are distributed to interested people. Other publications about activities like canoeing, fishing and winter sports are sent out daily.

Upon request, art and information is available to writers or news commentators. Pictures of Michigan scenes are supplied for calendar or promotion pieces. Much material for a fine article in National Geographic was provided by the Tourist Council. It was called "Work Hard—Play Hard Michigan" and must have appealed to thousands of travel loving readers.

Long range tourist programs are also examined. At present, several are under consideration. They include a plan to keep school open 12 months a year, giving classes and teachers vacations as long as present, but staggered around the calendar. This will permit fuller use of schools and, incidentally, benefit the tourist trade.

Another idea is to encourage "off season" vacations in industry. This would permit the resort owner to use his facilities all year while more people could enjoy fall and winter sports or spring fishing.

The council supports Senator Don Vanderwerp's proposed law which would change all except religious holidays to Monday so that the public would have more play time every year.

More immediate concern is the matter of estimating tourist increase resulting from the proposed Mackinac bridge. Mr. Furlong believes the bridge will be a terrific boom to travel. "Its convenience will permit the passage of many, many more people across the straits than were willing to wait for ferries."

A "Know Your Michigan" week is already under consideration by several state agencies and when it comes into existence about a year from now, you can be sure that the Michigan Tourist Council had a hand in its creation.

Nine men make up the Tourist Council. They are selected from various groups in the state's economy. First are the secretaries of Michigan's four regional tourist groups. The fields of transportation, press, agriculture, consumer sales and resorting are each represented. It's a job with no pay and no expense allowance, but six of the original members are still serving.

Earl M. Johnson, Houghton Lake resort owner, is chairman. W. Webb McCall, former publisher of the Isabelle County Times-

News in Mt. Pleasant, is vice chairman. Other members are Lee Wilson Hutchins, Grand Rapids, president of the Hazeltine-Perkins Drug Co.; W. G. Armstrong, Niles, a member of the Board of Agriculture; George E. Bishop, Marquette, Upper Peninsula Development Bureau; Frank Davis, East Michigan Tourist Association; Chester C. Wells, West Michigan Tourist Association; Robert W. Budd, president of Great Lakes Greyhound; J. Lee Barrett, Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity Association.

Michigan's Tourist trade did not develop by accident. It is the result of favorable treatment by Mother Nature and the hard work of many people. Among these are the members and the staff of the Michigan Tourist Council.

Politics are just as good as you are—for the way you vote creates politics.

There has been a vast increase in the past half century in the amount of processing demanded by the American family. For example, at the turn of the century 95 per cent of all the bread consumed on American tables was baked in home kitchens. Today the housewife bakes only 8 per cent of our bread.

In spite of the increase in services demanded and delivered, the proportion of the consumer's dollar spent on these costs is still about the same. The farmer's share was 46 cents back in 1913, earliest year for which official figures are available. The remaining 54 per cent went for processing and distribution.

The farmer's share in the last survey is only 47 per cent.

Wurtz-Haley Rites Told Saturday

Potted palms, baskets of white gladioli and candelabra decorated the Salem Evangelical U. B. Church for the lovely June wedding Saturday evening, June 6, at eight o'clock, when Miss Hope Ellen Wurtz became the bride of Keith Haley of Bad Axe, in the presence of 250 relatives and friends. The bride's parents are Rev. and Mrs. S. R. Wurtz.

Guests were seated by William Wurtz, brother of the bride, and the groom's brother, Richard Haley. Mrs. Stanley Kinn, on the church organ, played traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Maurice Joss as she sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, who also officiated at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. L. E. Burgess of Elkton, chose a white Chantilly lace over satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice which featured a roll back collar and long wrist-point sleeves. The full skirt ended in a train. Her veil was square scalloped nylon tulle with appliqued flowers on the scalloped edges. The headress was a brim of lace and seed pearls. Her flowers were an arrangement of white gardenias on a white Bible with lilies of the valley streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Mary Ann Harmon of Bay City and bridesmaids were the Misses Carolyn Hirsch of Snover and Barbara Gordon of Cass City. Their gowns, veils and flowers were identical. The waltz-length gowns of nylon over satin were made with a fitted halter type bodice and full skirts. They were pale green the same as their veils and their flowers were gardenias, set off by pale pink rosettes on white Bibles.

Ellis Gardner of Elkton, friend of the groom, was best man and Robert Anderson of Owendale and Jerry Ross of Caseville, cousins of the groom, completed his attendants.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. The table from which refreshments were served was beautifully decorated. A four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with tinted roses and pale green leaves, centered the table which was covered with a white linen cloth. Candles flanked the cake and ferns, in keeping with the color scheme of white and green, circled the cake.

Mrs. Wurtz chose for her daughter's wedding, a rose colored nylon lace dress with which she wore white accessories. Mrs. Haley, mother of the groom, wore Navy blue chiffon with white accessories and both wore white gardenias.

When the newlyweds left for a week's trip through Northern Michigan, the bride was wearing a light tan figured dress with white accessories.

The couple will make their home on a farm near Bach. Guests came from St. Joseph, Mich., Flint, Saginaw, Detroit, Royal Oak, Mio, Brown City, Snover, Bay City, Mt. Morris, Patuxent River, Maryland, and many Thumb towns.

Net earnings of Michigan State College farm account cooperators declined about one-third from 1951 to 1952. Cash incomes were as high, but the value of livestock and "working capital" inventory on the farm "shrunk" to make a drop in real income. Economists predict net earnings to drop further in 1953, reflecting further cost price squeezes.

The summer hog market looks good. Slaughter probably will continue to run 10 to 15 per cent behind last year. In addition, there was one-third less pork in cold storage in March than a year ago, Michigan State College farm economists point out.

Electrical Picnic for 4-H Members Slated

The annual 4-H electrical picnic, sponsored by the Detroit Edison Company, will be held at Caseville County Park on Wednesday, June 17, says George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent. 4-H electrical club members, who completed their projects this past winter, and their local volunteer leaders will be Edison Company guests.

As it was last year, this event will be held jointly with Huron County electrical members. This is another fine opportunity for 4-H club members who take electrical projects. The Detroit Edison personnel, under the direction of Wes Raven and Percy Nugent, farm service advisors of Tuscola and Huron counties, have made this day a most enjoyable one for the 4-H'ers. Being good hosts, Edison has always supplied ample food, fun and supervision for this event.

Prison life in this day and age seems to be getting more and more revolting.

SHORT STORY

One Woman To Another

By Dorothy Kilian

AS Dick reached up and tapped the knocker on the big oak door, Kay squeezed his other arm tight.

"I'm just plain scared, Dick. Country girls aren't used to such elegance as this."

"Don't be silly, honey. My Grandmother doesn't bite."

"I know, Dick. And I know what ambitions she has for you; her giving you such a wonderful position in the firm so soon after college shows that."

"The firm!"

Dick groaned. "The firm is going to fade away like an old soldier if someone can't talk Gram out of this stubborn notion of hers. She claims to run the business by Gram's journal—swears by the thing—and she says he would be dead set against expansion. We've got to change her mind!"

"How can I help, though?" Kay said. "I'm just a nobody to her."

The maid opened the door just then, and led the way into the front parlor where Gram sat erect in a straight-backed horse hair chair.

"I've been very anxious for you to meet Kay," Dick said. "Remember."

"I listen to my husband's journal and that's enough for me," Gram retorted.

ber, I was telling you about her the other day."

"How do you do?" Gram said primly. Then she turned to Dick. "The store manager was here again last night, pestering me about that expansion business," she snapped.

"But, Gram, you must listen—"

"I listen to my husband's journal, and that's enough for me," Gram retorted. "On page 47 he tells about some flighty fellow whose business had just gone under. He was always switching around to the newest area in the county, he over-expanded, and finally went bankrupt."

"Richard has told me about that journal of Mr. Watkin's, and how much it means to you," Kay said.

Gram really looked at Kay for the first time. "Yes, I treasure it," she sighed. "I guess because John seemed to set such a lot of store by it himself."

"I remember in school," Kay said, "when we were talking about the development of the West, our teacher pointed out what important source material journals are. You know, so many of the most prominent travellers and early settlers kept them."

"Go get them, Richard," Gram ordered.

Kay picked up the first volume and carefully opened it. "What beautiful penmanship!" she exclaimed.

"Yes, it's all in that same handwriting," Gram said. "I don't refer to that first volume so much. I guess it's because it was written up before I knew John."

"But beginnings are always so interesting," Kay murmured. She flicked over a number of pages, then read aloud, "I arrived in Los Angeles last night. Will lose no time in picking out a good site to buy. Fortunately, business lots are still within the range of my savings."

"Think of his having real savings when he was only twenty-one!" Gram interrupted.

"He had been in business back East?" Kay asked.

"Oh, yes, for four years. He had practically taken over his father's store in a little town near Rutland, Vermont."

"Why did he leave it?" Kay asked quietly.

"Because he was always one jump ahead of everyone," Gram answered.

"You mean to say he was willing to take the chance of moving an already prosperous business three thousand miles west, just to follow the trade?" Kay asked.

"Why, yes, if you want to put it that way," Gram answered, a little flustered.

There was a long, loud silence in the room. Then Gram chuckled, a deep sustained chuckle.

She cleared her throat and then finished briskly, "You'd better telephone our agent right away, so he'll be prepared to buy that suburban property the first thing tomorrow morning. At my time of life, I can't afford to see things drag."

WINDSTORM INSURANCE

THE ONLY PROTECTION AGAINST WIND DAMAGE

AGAINST most of the common hazards of life we can at least exert some elementary precautions. But wind is a frightening foe. There is so little you can do to protect your property.

There are, in this country, an average of 140 destructive WINDSTORMS annually. No section of the country is immune. So you cannot be sure that YOUR buildings are on "the safe side." Even structures of wind-resistant construction, such as brick, concrete or steel, may suffer heavy damage when they are so unfortunate as to lie in the path of a violent tornado.

BUT—and this is important to remember—you need not meet a tornado, or even a cyclone, to sustain sizeable damage. There are lots of little winds that can throw you for a big loss.

SO, the only really safe course—the course that will give you a feeling of serene satisfaction—is to have ADEQUATE WINDSTORM PROTECTION. THE COST? So little it is sure to prove a pleasant surprise. Especially is that true when you pause to reflect on the possible cost of not having WIND PROTECTION.

BE SAFE, and insure with us; the oldest and largest company of its kind in Michigan, and the second largest of its kind in the World.

Farm Topics
Corn Production Cost Eats Profit
Three Major Factors Will Help Yields

Corn production costs can eat up from 30 to 70 bushels per acre, depending on the market price of corn and the value of the land on which it is grown, according to a recent study by University of Illinois agricultural economists.
So it is important to get as many bushels as possible over the break-even yield level.
The Illinois economists figure that with corn at $2 per bushel on land worth $100 an acre, 30 bushels would be needed to pay the cost of production. With corn at $1 on land worth $500 an acre, 70 bushels would be required.

Analyzing cost account records from northwestern Illinois farms, the economists report that it took $59.50 to pay the production cost for corn on $200 an acre land. That represents 40 bushels with corn selling at $1.50 per bushel.

Production Costs
Production costs eat up many farmers' profit on his annual corn crop.

The Illinois estimates are borne out in other states. Missouri agronomists report that on the average in that state, 40 bushels of corn must be grown on every acre before there is any left over for profit.

Getting profit-building corn yields depends on three major factors: 1—A well balanced supply of nutrients; 2—A good stalk population to make use of those nutrients and; 3—A soil that has good tilth and structure.

Many a good reputation has been given the tar-and-feather treatment by idle gossip.

It is a proven fact that a fact-finding commission is a fault-finding commission.

Twenty-five Years Ago
Leland Kelley, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelley of Saginaw, was shot near the hip Sunday afternoon by a lad in a near-by field who was shooting at crows.
Harry Duke, instructor in science and principal at the Cass City High School, has accepted a position as teacher in the science department of the public schools in Dearborn.
The annual school meeting of School District No. 5, fri., Elkland Township, was attended by 222 voters at the high school Monday evening. S. B. Young was elected trustee to fill vacancy caused by the expiring term of John McLarty and A. A. Ricker was elected to succeed himself as trustee.
Caro is winner in county track meet held Friday, June 8. Robert Edgerton of Cass City was individual high scorer with 18½ points.

Thirty-five Years Ago
Cass City High School is undefeated in 10 out of 13 track meets. Among the high individual point winners are: Arthur Cooley, Frank McComb, Leslie Koepfgen, R. D. Keating, Clifford Gracey, Alex Miller, Robert Orr, Everett Higgins, Ernest Wood, Arthur Walker and Earl Gowan.

Wheat Allotment for New Farms Available

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for any part of the years 1951, 1952 and 1953, may apply for a 1954 wheat acreage allotment, according to Chas. B. Eckfeld, chairman of the Tuscola County Production and Marketing Administration Committee. To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for any of these years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county PMA Committee by June 15, 1953.

Blank application forms are available at the county PMA office for use in filing requests for allotments.

If you've missed the boat, there's little use in waiting for your ship to come in.

Railroad Engineer Dies Running Train

Charles D. Ferguson, Wilmet, died as he was driving his locomotive on the DC&S lines in Wells Township, Dayton, Mich., Monday, June 8.

An engineer for the railroad line, his death was said to have been caused by coronary occlusion. Mr. Ferguson was born August 2, 1893, in Flat Rock, Mich., and moved to Tuscola County in 1909. He married Gladys Huffman in Wilmet, October 15, 1917.

Surviving, besides his widow, are: two children, Mrs. George Mosak, Flint, and Mrs. Joseph Gedro, Caro; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Jack Little, Cass City, a brother, W. P. Ferguson, Detroit; seven grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Mr. Ferguson was a member of the Caro Odd Fellows Lodge. Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church, Caro, at 2 p. m. Thursday, Rev. Joseph Dibley officiating. Burial will be in Caro Cemetery.

Michigan State College agricultural economists say heavy milk production will prevent any strengthening in prices of dairy products in June. However, there should be some seasonal price increase beginning in July.

TORNADO STRIKES

No Power.

Cass City was fortunate enough to miss the path of the twister and suffered only minor inconvenience by the loss of electrical service. Because the tornado tore down 34 transmission lines of the Detroit Edison Company, service was interrupted for a total of 18 hours.

The loss of power brought forth the inventive abilities of persons in the area. Many farmers ran their milking machines with power from trucks, etc., the phone company generated ringing power by turning cranks by hand, Baldy's Gas Station ran a pump with a lawn mower motor to site a few examples of makeshift arrangements used to supply temporary power.

Nearly every home and business was affected and progress was at a standstill most of Tuesday. Home freezer owners reported that food stayed good for the time power was missing.

Special music will be furnished by the King's Trumpeters from Ontario. There will be a live song service led by a well-known Tuscola farmer, Harold Blaylock, and special vocal numbers.

These rallies are well attended by the youth of the Thumb area and many churches of various denominations work together in these monthly meetings. Everyone is cordially invited to this rally which begins promptly at eight o'clock.

SHORT STORY

Out Of Order By Clarence Sydney

"I'm sorry, Dab, but the dumb-waiter seems to be stuck," Sally said.

Dab Jenkins brushed an unruly lock of hair back, and nodded solemnly to the pretty young girl. "I'll fix it right up." He crossed the room, opened the door of the dumb-waiter shaft, and began working inside. A few seconds later, he pushed his way out, and tugged the box up to Sally's floor.

"What was wrong with it?" Sally asked.

"It must have been those kids on the floor below. Someone tied a knot in the rope so you couldn't pull it through the pulley."

Sally smiled. "Well, thank you, Dab. Won't you have a cup of coffee? I have some all made."

"Well, don't mind if I do," he said. Sally poured the two cups. "I wonder," she asked herself, "if he thinks it strange that I always just happen to have a fresh pot of coffee ready when I call him up to fix something?"

For there was nothing accidental about the coffee. If Sally found something that needed fixing, she always went to the kitchen, made coffee, and then called Dab. Dab wasn't the janitor, really. He had a job downtown somewhere during the day. In the evenings, he acted as janitor in return for his room.

Sally lived for these minutes over coffee with Dab. She was the type of woman that the kids in the apartment below seemed to like to plague. Something went wrong at least twice a week, and the kids were behind most of them. But Sally wasn't surprised at that. A school teacher is rather fair game for kids' tricks. Why, they might even be in her class at school. She had never seen them.

A few nights later, the dumb waiter again was stuck. Looking inside, she again saw that the children had tied a knot in the rope. It would have been simple enough to fix it herself, but she prepared a pot of coffee, then pushed the bell that called Dab. Dab seemed rather pre-occupied as he fixed the dumb waiter, but he readily accepted her offer of coffee.

"Sally," Dab said, "there's something I have to tell you. I've been sort of fooling you. My job as janitor here is just been sort of training. You see, my father owns this apartment building—along with several others. He's been training me to take over. He says that a man has to learn how to handle all kinds of calls for repairs and things before he can handle a whole chain of apartment houses."

"I didn't tell you," he said seriously, "because I was afraid if you knew dad owned the place that you might not be so nice to me. And I—well, I wanted you to know that I—I think you're wonderful."

He gulped the last of his coffee, and mumbled something, and left. You fool, Sally told herself. He was trying to say he loved me, and didn't have the nerve. I've got to get him up here.

She snapped her fingers, and walked over, opened the dumb waiter, and calmly tied a knot in the rope so the waiter was again stuck. She rang for Dab.

"Dab," she said when he came, "those kids have done it again." She was trying to work up the nerve to tell him that she loved him, when his arms circled her, lifted her off the floor. Dab kissed her. "I love you," he whispered.

"Oh, Dab. I love you, too. I was trying to think of a way to tell you."

"You did tell me," he said. "You see, there aren't any kids in the apartment house. Haven't been for over a year—unless you count me."

Farm Bureau Group Meets at Law Home

The Elkland Farm Bureau group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Law Monday evening, June 8, with 14 members present.

The group decided not to sponsor a bean queen this year.

The discussion topic, "Should There be Tariff on Farm Produce?" was led by Clarence Merchant.

Potluck lunch was served by candlelight.

Edison Co. Helps Sufferers in Thumb

Following an airplane survey of tornado damage to homes and farms in The Detroit Edison 7,600 square mile service area, members of the company's District Customer Organization are ministering in every way possible to sufferers from the disaster.

The aerial survey was made personally by Walker L. Cisler, Edison president, and John W. Drummond, head of the company's overhead lines department, in the early hours of the morning after the storm. Flying low, the observers spotted areas where damage was most severe, as in rural neighborhoods of Washtenaw, Oakland, Lapeer and St. Clair counties, and in the village of Milford.

Edison people from district offices were immediately assigned to call upon and help principal sufferers in their specific areas. This aid included the furnishing of emergency lighting, heating and refrigerating equipment, repair or reconnection of damaged household appliances, transportation of needed supplies and installation of complete emergency electric service wherever possible.

The program of assistance is still going on and personnel, vehicles and equipment of the company will continue to be used for relief purposes until rehabilitation is complete.

In addition to the direct assistance program, and at the suggestion of Prentice M. Brown, Detroit Edison board chairman, and Mr. Cisler, the company has contributed to the American Red Cross Disaster Fund, sponsored by the Port Huron Times Herald, and supported by numerous other companies and individuals.

At this time of year all baseball teams—like all candidates before an election—look like world-beaters.

SCOUT JAMBOREE

In charge of the five cooking and tenting groups. The boys cooked three meals over charcoal fires. At the end they took pride in cleaning the camp site to show almost no evidence of its use.

Teams of Scouts from Troop 194 qualified in three competitive events on the camporee program. A team of nine boys, organized by James McCarthy, placed near the top in the rope rescue relay, demonstrating skill in knot-tying and rope throwing. The team included James Johnson, Tom Huellen, James Hutchinson, Glen Guilds, Jr., Mike Fritz, Bob Copeland, Clayton Neiman, Bob Johnson and David Ware. Clayton Neiman and Harold Patterson qualified for the Eagle Patrol in the compass and pacing contest. Clayton Neiman and Glen Guilds, Jr., formed the only one of three teams from the troop who qualified in the string burning contest, which demands skillful and speedy fire building.

The feature of the Saturday evening campfire program was a series of Indian story-telling dances by the boys of the Flint Lodge of the Order of the Arrow.

They performed the deer dance, the chief's dance, a war dance, the dance of the wounded eagle and several others, all in beautiful feathered costumes made by the boys themselves.

The cooperation and teamwork of Cass City boys on this occasion was the best he had observed for some years, the Scoutmaster stated.
