

From the Editor's Corner

Sometimes it seems as if Michigan's left hand doesn't know what its right hand is doing. An opinion by Attorney General Frank G. Millard holds that there is no way for the Conservation Commission to refuse permission to grant easement rights for a Canadian oil pipeline across state-owned lands, even if it leads to more water pollution.

Yet, Cass City and other Thumb communities are forced to spend thousands of dollars to clean up their sewerage disposal systems to eliminate pollution.

Already the Nestle's Company has spent thousands of dollars for a filter system and the village will spend much more in the coming years to bring their disposal system up to the standards set by the Water Resources Commission. The job is being duplicated in Caro, Vassar, Bad Axe and many other communities.

So, as it stands today, the state takes drastic measures to curb pollution by communities and opens the way for additional pollution on new construction.

Joining the Chronicle staff Monday for six weeks will be Miss Patricia Yaroch, a senior at Michigan State College. Requirements for graduation in journalism stipulate summer training in actual newspaper work. Miss Yaroch will meet the requirements at the Chronicle this summer. She will assist in the editorial work at the paper.

Early Copy Please

The Chronicle again asks the co-operation of advertisers, correspondents and others for early copy next week. Because of the Fourth of July holiday, the paper will be published one day early. All copy deadlines will be advanced one day.

Howard R. Taylor To Head Niagara Falls Hospital

Howard R. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Taylor of Cass City, takes over the duties of director of the Niagara Falls Memorial Hospital July 1 and assumes full responsibility for the administration of the hospital. His promotion was made at the resignation of P. Godfrey Savage, director since 1922.

Howard, who grew up in Cass City, was born July 28, 1918, in Grand Lodge. He received a bachelor of arts degree in hotel administration in 1939 at Michigan State College.

From 1941 to 1945, he served in the Medical Administrative Corps of the army. In 1947 he received a master of science degree in hospital administration from Columbia University. He went to Niagara Falls Memorial Hospital in 1950. Concluded on page 12.

FFA, Auten's Tied for Cass City Softball League Lead

FFA threw the Cass City Softball League into a snarl Monday by knocking off Auten Motor Sales to create a two-way tie for the top spot in the league.

FFA and Auten are tied for the league lead at this writing, but both Decker and Church of Christ are in good positions to make a stretch drive for the championship.

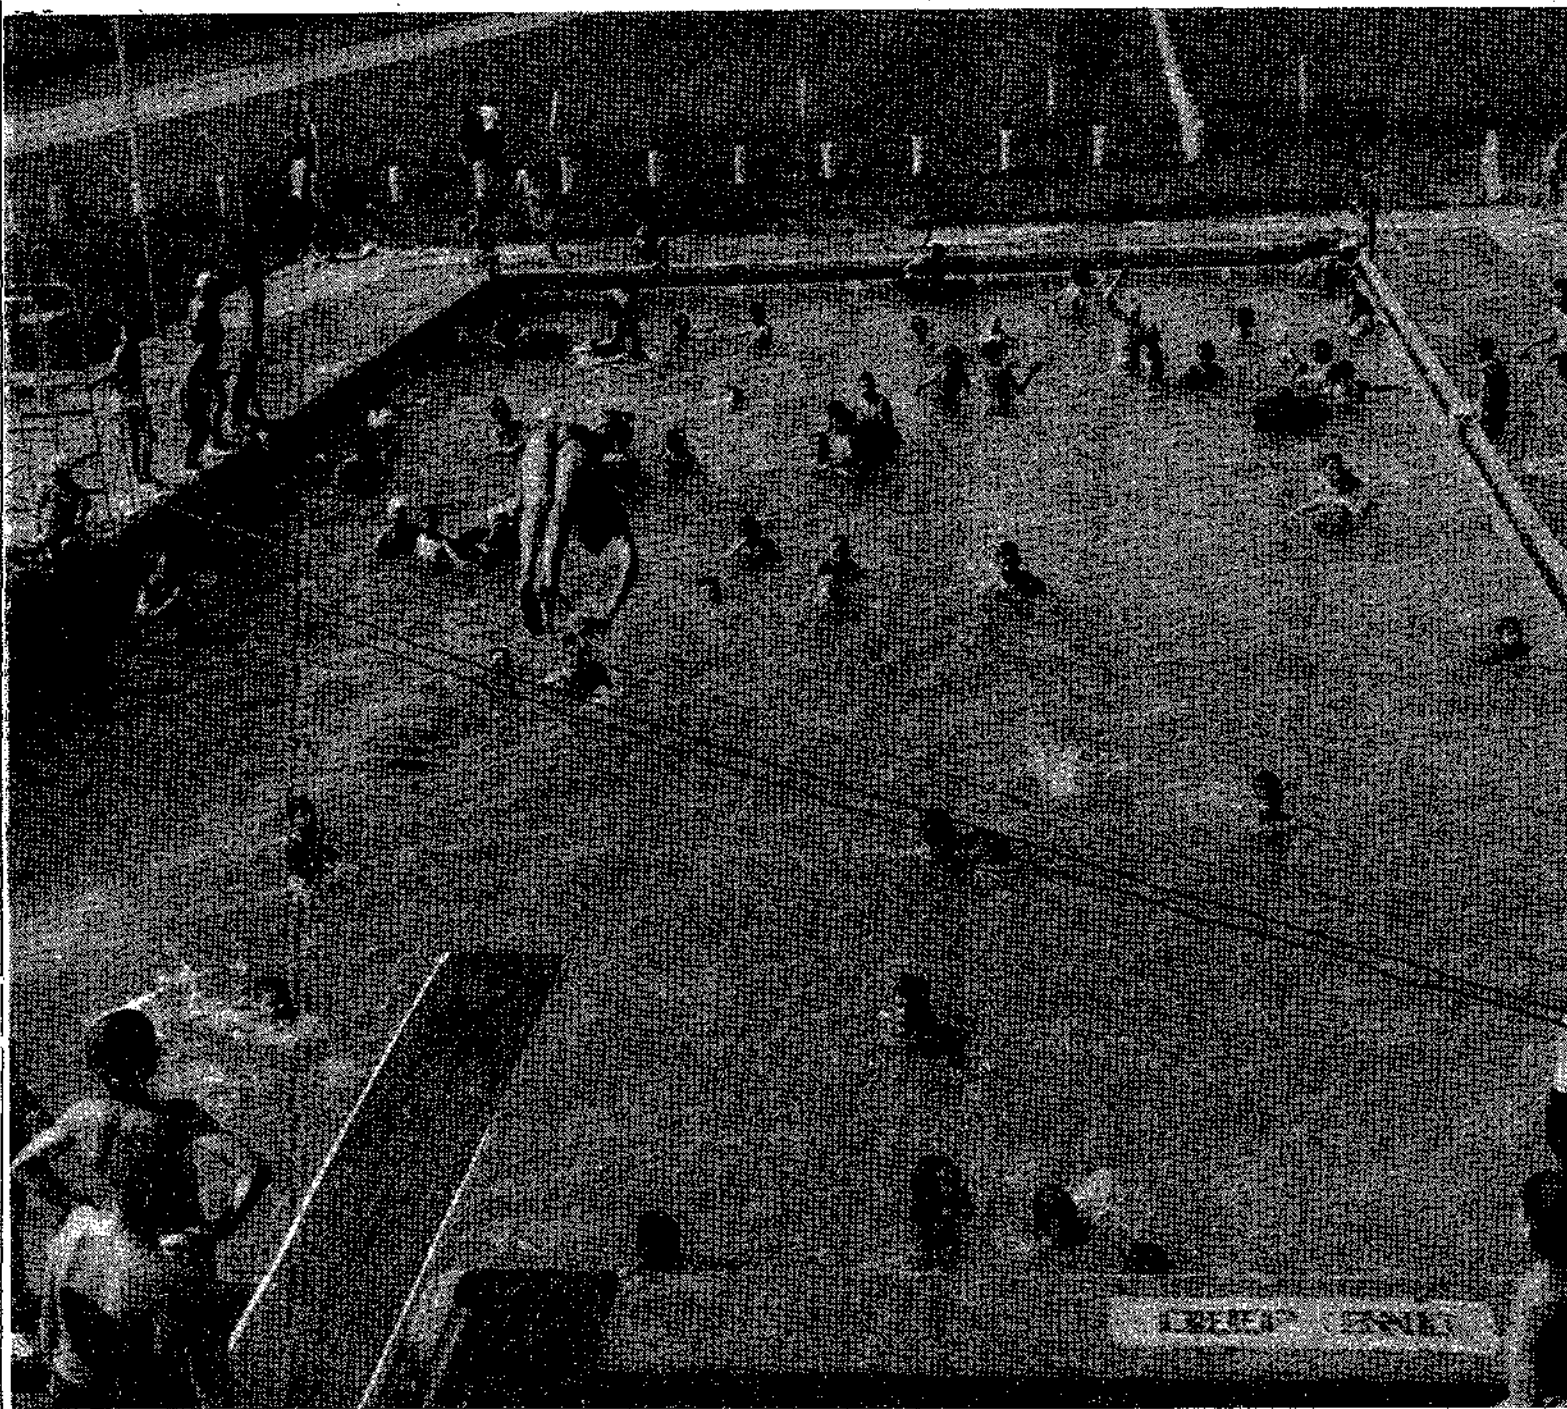

With the season just one-third gone, any of these nine could easily cop the championship. Gagetown and Cass Tavern have a mathematical chance to win, but are given only an outside chance of finishing on top.

But, as predicted by many observers before the season opened, the league this year is the best balanced it has been in many years. Not a team in the league dominates the play when they take the field.

Pitching has been a weak spot for most clubs this season. In every game played this week, at least one of the clubs has reached the double figure mark in runs scored.

Wednesday, June 17, the young FFA squad staged the first of two winning last inning rallies during the week to snatch a victory from Church of Christ, 7-5. They scored three tallies in their seventh inning rally to give Dean Hoag the victory. Maynard Helwig and Lee Hartel shared the hurling chores for the losers.

Auten's remained undefeated in the nightcap when they whipped

Cass City's swimming pool has been crowded this year as more Friday and Saturday crowded the facilities. Pool records indicate that and seventy-five of Friday's admissions were paid and 125 of Saturday's admissions were purchased. In addition, Arthur Holmberg, pool director, stated that 33 season tickets have been purchased—the largest and more young persons are using the pool. The heat wave that struck 325 persons used the pool on Friday and 245 on Saturday. One hundred y's admissions were purchased. He explained various safety rules for the use of firearms and stressed safety measures while driving as he gave his demonstration.

In the business meeting prior to the performance, the club voted to sponsor Klaus Schulze, a German youth, for a year's study at

Among the selections to be presented Saturday are: "Northwoods," "Victory," "I've Been Working on the Railroad," "Across the Field," "Hail Purdue," "Magnus," "On Wisconsin" and "Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech."

Committee of Ten to Investigate Program

The Cass City Gavel Club appointed a committee of 10 to investigate Little League Baseball in Cass City in 1954 at their regular Tuesday meeting at the New Gordon Hotel.

Eight of the men on the committee are Gavel Club members. The remaining two, George Dillman and Jim Bauer, were drafted from outside the club to help with the work.

Establishment of a Little League entails considerable money and time donated by adults. Little Leaguers play four nights a week and each team is completely uniformed, has a manager and a coach and two umpires for each game.

If a league is formed here, it must comply with the rules established by the national organization.

This advertisement is the third in a special series which began over a year ago, and which is designed to give you, as a prospective buyer, detailed and helpful information. We'd be happy to have your comments about this type of advertising.

This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car...

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling, of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so many people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrill-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission* is an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It is the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field.

A Great Gain in Gasoline Economy

Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

This year's Chevrolet is the only car in its field to offer you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can seewav in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars. Driving is easier, safer.

A Smoother and a Safer Ride

Chevrolet is the heaviest low-priced car. Model for model, a Chevrolet will weigh as much as 200 pounds more than the other makes. You often hear people say they buy high-priced cars because they're heavier, hold the road better and ride better. Well, isn't it logical, then, that Chevrolet's extra weight (which comes from extra strength of body and frame) would result in a better ride?

Chevrolet is the Lowest-Priced Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more cars than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want—more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the road.

*Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

Pay more? What for?

Fifty Years Forward on the American Road

You don't have to pay costly-car prices for costly-car comforts. Ford brings you everything [and we mean everything] you've ever wanted in a car, at a price that's well within your reach! And according to recent surveys, a Ford returns more of its original cost when sold than any other car at any price!

Here are a few of the "Worth More" advantages you'll find in the '53 Ford:

- 1. V-8 engine—powerful and smooth! Ford's famous high-compression V-8 is a leader in quiet, flexible, economical performance. Ford, remember, has built more V-8's than all other makers combined—over 13 million!
- 2. America's most economical Six engine! If it's a Six you want, Ford offers you the high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker . . . the engine which, with optional Overdrive, won over all other cars, regardless of size or weight, in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run! And it's yours for the same kind of money that buys less modern sixes in other cars.
- 3. America's finest and most versatile automatic drive! Fordomatic Drive is the "automatic"

- which gives you both the get-up-and-go of automatic gears and the smoothness of a fluid torque converter. If you choose Fordomatic, you will find that it makes all your driving easier . . . more relaxing.
- 4. Automatic gas savings! Ford's Automatic Power Pilot (on Six and V-8) meters just the right amount of gas, times ignition precisely, burns fuel evenly and completely. You get full high-compression performance from every drop of gas—regular or premium.
- 5. America's newest and finest power steering! Ford's Master-Guide power steering gives you new ease, stability and safety in guiding your car on smooth roads or rough. Your car gains in sure-footed roadability and you expend up to 75% less effort in driving—and parking.

- 6. Largest choice of models in the low-price field! Ford alone gives you a choice of 18 different models . . . a SIX or V-8 . . . Fordomatic, Conventional or Overdrive . . . the widest variety of body, color and upholstery combinations. You can practically "design" your own Ford!
- 7. A body that's the style-setter! Only Ford in its field gives you the advantages of a hull-tight Crestmark Body . . . the trend-maker in design and beauty. Ford's body is the longest and Ford's trunk, the largest. You enjoy more usable space.

- 8. New driving conveniences! Ford's first in its field with such "Worth More" features as easier-acting, suspended pedals that eliminate floor holes . . . foam rubber cushions on front and rear seats in all models . . . and convenient Center-Fill Fueling.
- 9. An automatically controlled ride! When you Test Drive this Ford, notice how the wide front tread (widest in the low-price field) takes tilt out of turns . . . gives you a more level ride. With new "balanced suspension," new spring and shock absorber action and new rubber compression bumpers, road shock in the front end alone is reduced up to 80%.
- 10. It's worth more when you sell it! An impartial survey of used car prices proved that Fords return a greater proportion of their original cost than any other cars in America. It's another fact to add to Ford's reputation as the "Worth More" car. But don't take our word for it. Stop in and Test Drive this Ford for yourself. We predict you'll be sold before you're in second! It was true last year and it's even truer this year: you can pay more, but you can't buy better than Ford.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

"Psychological warfare" is the newest weapon in Michigan's battle to reduce its mounting highway death and accident record.

It became available last week when the governor signed into law a bill revising state driver licensing organization. Important provisions of the law are:

1. Centralization of authority with the Secretary of State for issuing drivers licenses.
2. Permits a training program for licensing officers in which they will be made conscious of their responsibility to issue licenses only to qualified drivers.
3. Requires a state central file showing accident and violation records of Michigan drivers.

Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary, who will direct administration of the new law, believes that every driver will soon become conscious of this file and make constant efforts to keep it clean. If a driver's right to hold a license is ever questioned, the information is immediately available with evidence of his ability.

Marked improvement in highway safety is expected to result when machinery to administer the new law grinds into action in October. Claims that it might reduce traffic fatalities by 30% were made by its supporters when the bill was under consideration by the Legislature. "Revocation or suspension of driving privileges can be ordered as soon as accident-prone or habitual violators are identified," says Secretary Cleary. It will reduce traffic tragedy, sharply, he added, but he is unable to predict exactly how great the reduction will be.

An important function of the new law is the training of licensing examiners to recognize poor driving risks. Experts from Northwestern University's Traffic Institute and the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators are now working out a training program for local officers and new qualification tests for applicant drivers.

The new department is now being organized. It is headed by Lee C. Richardson, present director of the motor vehicle division. His staff will include about 52 people. Fourteen will be trained as supervisory examiners to work in various districts of the State. The others are needed to maintain the master file for Michigan's 3,162,000 drivers and for routine clerical work.

Initial appropriation for the department is $260,000. All jobs from director down are under civil service, thus removing dangers of politics creeping into administration.

Most apparent effect on average Michigan driver is the change in the expiration date on the license he now holds. The new law makes license expiration coincide with the driver's birthday at three year intervals. "This reminding device eliminates the need for sending notices from Lansing—a savings of $80,000 each year.

Cost of license renewals will go from $1.25 to $1.50. A driver applying for his first license in Michigan must pay $3, the added amount to cover expense of road tests.

Local licensing agencies will receive from the state $2 of each $3 collected and 50 cents for each renewal to help finance their operations.

More comprehensive tests face beginning drivers, including a demonstration by actual driving, that they are qualified for a license. With evidence from the central file available to courts of the state, Secretary Cleary expects judges to clamp down on habitually reckless drivers; revoke or suspend more licenses than previously.

These are the two mechanisms expected to raise standards for drivers on Michigan highways.

A major change in public attitude is hoped for by traffic safety experts. They want people to feel that the possession of a driver's license is a privilege (for those who have proven themselves physically and emotionally capable) rather than a right for anyone who requests it. They hope the public will realize the new regulations are designed for everyone's safety and protection, not as a means of further tormenting a driver with the "tough luck" to have a series of accidents and traffic arrests.

An appeal board is also set up by the new law. Any applicant who considers he is treated unfairly by an examining officer can appear with evidence to support his case. The board has the power to reverse, affirm or modify the original decision.

"The opening wedge," Secretary Cleary termed the new law. "It's the first step," he said, "in what we hope will be a long series of improvements in Michigan's highway traffic problems." He and Mr. Richardson, who is now devoting full time to organizing the new department, indicated that they expect little trouble getting underway.

Personnel must be selected and trained; local officers must then learn the new system. They are receiving, they say, the finest cooperation from Michigan State Police and from sheriffs and police chiefs, all of whom are involved in the new plan. Once things are organized, the department expects to function smoothly.

"My main effort while in office," said Secretary Cleary, "will be dedicated to reducing as much as possible the loss of life and money from automobile accidents in Michigan." This goal, he added, is one requiring much thought and understanding on the part of every citizen of the state.

Before an altar decorated with summer flowers, palms and lighted candelabra, Rev. Fred Wager of Genesee performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of some 300 guests.

Miss Emaline Bullis of Gageton was pianist and accompanied Mrs. Voyle Dorman who sang "Always," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a princess style gown of white Chantilly lace which featured a high neck and wrist point sleeves with a very full skirt ending in a long lace train. Her fingertip veil fell from a rhinestone tiara. Her only jewelry was a pair of rhinestone earrings, a gift of the groom. Her flowers were white carnations with a removable orchid corsage.

Proceeding the bride to the altar, as maid of honor, was her sister, Barbara. She wore an orchid strapless gown with stole and matching headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of roses and carnations.

Her headpiece was net with tiny orange blossoms, and she wore a waist-length veil. Her flowers were a miniature bouquet of roses and carnations.

Elwood Morell, brother of the bride, was the miniature groom. Miss Janet Lynn Wilson of Yale was flower girl. She wore a full length dress of pink taffeta with a net overskirt and matching headpiece. She carried rose petals in a basket.

Jimmy Copeland, also of Yale, carried the rings on a heart-shaped white satin pillow.

The grandmothers of both the bride and groom wore corsages of gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception and dance were held in the Shabbona Community Hall for over 300 guests. Ice cream and cake were served.

Following a wedding trip through the Northern part of Michigan, the groom will return to his army duties. Plans as to where the young couple will reside are incomplete.

They wore yellow and blue faille dresses, respectively, with net overskirts. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and yellow roses tied with blue and yellow ribbons to match their gowns. They wore sweetheart hats of faille edged in lace.

Larry Teets and Don Swayze, both of Sandusky, were the groom's attendants. The guests were seated by Don Doerr of Cass

Mrs. Robert Stollker, City, uncle of the bride, and the groom's brother, Lee Stollker, of Sandusky.

The flower girl, Bonnie Butler, of Cass City, cousin of the bride, wore a pink floor-length dress and carried a pink basket of rose petals.

SHORT STORY
Resort Girl
By Clarence Sydney

3-Minute Fiction

BEN tugged up his swim trunks and scowled his anger at the same idea that had been nagging at him for almost two weeks. His features were set as he gazed across the pool at the girl and the man.

The man was typical—the balding head, the ever-widening waistline, the flamboyant swim trunks—all served notice on the other guests that here was a successful business man who had entered what is called "the dangerous age."

But it was the girl that made Ben's face stern. There was nothing flashy about her. She had nothing of the "resort girl" stamp about her, except the way she clung to the man. You never saw them apart—except early in the morning, when she came down for a swim.

It was at those early morning swims that Ben had met her. Her smile and her fresh beauty stopped his heart in its beat. It was that surrender that had made his face harden when he first saw them together. He was angered to see the way she was always with him. He had worked it to sit with them, the day everyone took the bus down to the old ruins. He had gone into it with two ideas. The one he told himself was to make himself sick of her by being with her and her companion. And the real reason—the one he wouldn't even admit to himself—was that he hoped somehow to make her fall for him.

He felt sick at her actions, but after the day was over, he was more in love with her than ever. The man was brusque, his humor crude and unfunny, but she laughed on cue. She seconded all his inane suggestions, such as playing that silly question game which no one enjoyed but the old man.

Ben clamped his jaws together. He couldn't stand anymore of that fawning attention she gave the old buzzard. He turned back to the hotel and started packing. He was throwing away two weeks of the richest life he had ever lived, but his prize could be hanged. For six months, Ben had led the race in sales for the company, and this was his prize—a month at this resort with the company picking up the check. And now she had soured it. With her rapt attention to everything that tub of lard said, her constant obedience at his every burlish command, Ben hated whatever made the type of girl who flattered an ugly old man into spending money lavishly for her.

Packed, he stalked out with his bags, and the elevator deposited him in the lobby. "Why, Ben," a voice said.

Ben turned to see her smiling face. "I thought you had another two weeks."

Ben started to push past, then stopped. He glanced around. "Where's the old buzzard?"

She laughed at his tone. "He's over at the desk—checking out. Oh, here he comes."

"Well, Ben, boy. Are you leaving?" the old man asked.

"Yes sir. I feel rather out of place here. You see, I'm here on the company, as an award. I don't belong."

The old man grinned. "You hear that Nancy? I told you he was not a playboy. He earned his month here by hard work. She had the idea you were one of those 'idle rich'." He stopped and smiled at Nancy. "You've got two more weeks of that award, haven't you, boy? Nancy, you've got two weeks coming. Why not spend it here—as an award for some good hard work you've had to do. It seems to me you and Ben might find you have a lot in common. It's on the company, of course."

Ben's jaw went slack. "You mean—" he stammered. "You mean that she—that you and she—that you—"

"Best private secretary a man ever had. You want that vacation, don't you, Nancy?"

Her eyes were shining as she answered, never taking her eyes off Ben. "Yes sir. That is, if Ben does have two more weeks."

"She'll take them, boss man," Ben answered happily. But the old man had already gone.

Stocks of frozen vegetables are above a year ago, but the increase in use of frozen vegetables is expected to influence another big pack, report Michigan State College farm economists.

The total pack in 1953 will about equal that in 1952, they say, with some ups and downs in specific vegetables.

Start Fall Build-up of Alfalfa Fields Now

Start your August-September build-up of alfalfa fields now, as soon as your first cutting is harvested, advises Edward D. Longnecker, extension soil scientist at Michigan State College.

One principal cause of unsatisfactory alfalfa yields in Michigan is lack of readily-available plant food in the soil, he claims. The 1950 agricultural census showed the average Michigan alfalfa acre yielded only a ton and a half of hay. Yields of twice and three times that amount are not uncommon—where plant food is available.

This necessary plant food can be added to the soil any time during the growing season, Longnecker explains, but there is no better time than shortly after the first cutting. This provides for the important August - September build-up.

This fertilizer application right after first cutting should increase next year's yields more than nutrients put on in late summer, fall or early next spring, he notes.

Farmers should not try to place fertilizer in the soil on established stands, the MSC soil scientist warns, because discs of the drill will injure plant crowns; this might be a factor in spreading bacterial wilt. He advises broadcasting the fertilizer over the surface.

On heavy clay soils, use 0-20-10 analysis fertilizer, Longnecker suggests. For light or sandy loams, he prefers 0-20-20, and 0-10-20 or 0-10-30 are better adapted to light sands. Don't skimp on quantity, he adds. Plan on at least 200 pounds per acre per year of this fertilizer.

Proofing Bins from Birds, Rats Advised

The only sure cure against rodents and birds contaminating grain is to have rodent-proof and bird-proof storages, says Don W. Hayne, Michigan State College zoologist.

Rodents may be killed by poisons or traps, he adds, but it's only a matter of time before their numbers increase again. In fact, he asserts, killing most of the rats and mice makes living much easier for the few survivors, or for animals that wander in.

If you're going to poison rats, Hayne advises, remember that the pests must have poison almost every day until they are dead. He suggests using warfarin as the rodent poison most generally useful on the farm. He makes these points on its uses:

1. Be sure the bait is exposed continuously where rodents can get it easily.
2. The bait must be kept clean, palatable and attractive to rodents and kept away from other animals. And the bait must be inspected and renewed as long as rodents continue to eat it.
3. Bait stations are best for exposing warfarin bait. A station may be a board fastened slantwise against a wall or a box with hinged lid and holes for the entrance of rats. One bait station should be placed at each center of rodent activity. When you're mixing the bait, he advises, use this mixture: Corn meal (freshly ground, if possible), 65 per cent; rolled or ground oats, 20 per cent; powdered sugar, 5 per cent; vegetable or mineral oil, 5 per cent; warfarin (0.5 per cent concentrate), 5 per cent.

Screening of all openings into grain storages, and covers for bins above which birds might roost, says Hayne, are by far the cheapest and safest ways to prevent contamination by birds.

It is very important to work out air bubbles in jars filled with fruit or vegetables and ready for sealing. Work the blade of a table knife to remove the bubbles, recommend Michigan State College home economists. Add more liquid if needed to cover the food, leaving the necessary air space at top of jar.

A peak in commercial broiler marketing is expected in early July by Henry Larzelere, poultry marketing specialist at Michigan State College. A steady cut in marketing, with some increase in prices, will start in late July and run into early September. In the fall, broiler growers will have usual seasonal farm chicken competition.
