CASS CITY, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JULY 10, 1953.

From the ditor's Corner

Folks in the Cass City area should know by this time that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schuckert are the proud parents of a nine-pound baby boy, Robert Frederick. The baby was born Monday at 3:30 a. m. and the couple announced it to the area in big bold letters on the theater marquee with the caption, "It's a Boy."

Then, Tuesday at the Cass City Rotary Club, Bob, following the usual custom, handed out cigars to members celebrating the event. Little Robert is the third child in the Schuckert family. They are the parents of two girls in addition to the latest arrival.

The canisters are out and members of the Elkland Township Community Chest are anxiously awaiting the results of their special drive for funds for tornado re-

In order to send money, as has been done in other communities, the Community Chest will have to raise funds in this drive. According to authorities, funds gathered in the regular drive have been exhausted by previous commitments-so instead of pocketing that loose change this week, why not toss it in the canister-there could not be a more worthy cause

A revolutionary idea for the Cass City area is being kicked around in Cass City and will probably come before the board of directors of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce at its next regular meeting.

At least one merchant in the village is advocating closing village stores on Saturday night and remaining open on Friday night.

The idea, of course, is to give owners and employees more leisure week-end time. The Friday open hours are now in practice in many Thumb communities, including Marlette.

Burns Hospitalize Wayne Powell

Wayne Powell, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Powell, is a patient in the Cass City Hospital with second and third degree burns on his leg. He incurred the burns when he lit a bonfire Monday, June 29, and poured gas on Attract Crowds it to make it burn faster.

He was treated in the hospital Of 200 Children ized for the rest of the week, according to Mrs. Powell

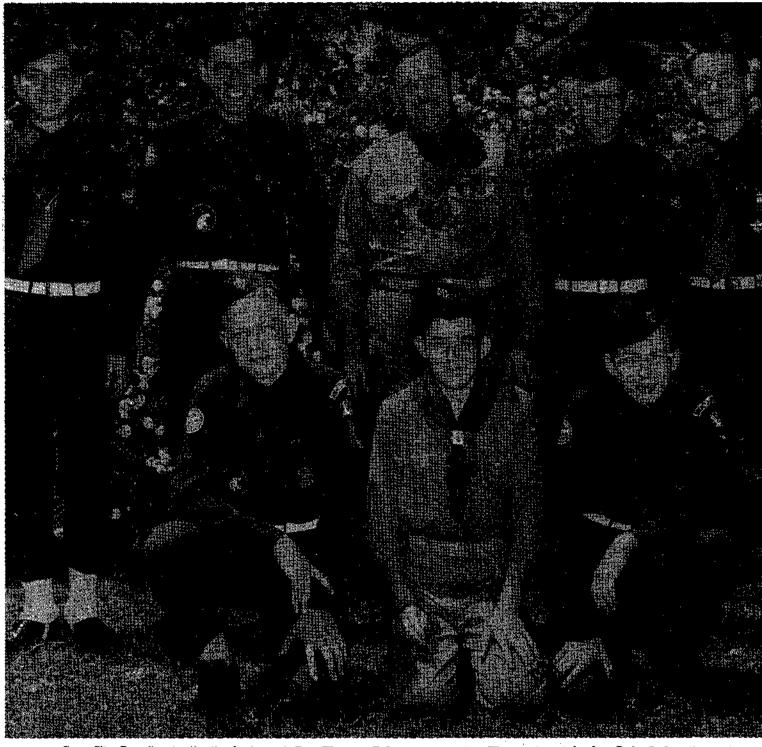

Mrs. Williamson Recovering in Home

Mrs. Charles Williamson, 73, is recovering from injuries received last week when she was bunted by a cow. According to her daughters. she is under the care of a physician and is now able to be up for brief periods.

Mrs. Williamson's daughters made a strong protest to the Chronicle over the story written last week-the accident, they said, was much more serious than the report indicated. One of the injured lady's daughters has been with Mrs. Williamson constantly since the accident

Swimming Classes

Approximately 200 children have crowded to attend the swimming classes begun Monday, July 6, sponsored by the Red Cross and under the instruction of Roger Parrish, Red Cross representative. Mr. Parrish stated because of the crowded conditions it is doubtful if more students can be entered in the classes unless some of those enroped drop out.

The classes are held every Monday. Wednesday and Friday ac cording to the following schedule: 9-9:30—Carp beginners.

SHORT STORY The Scoffer

ARE SOME PEOPLE actually psychic?

By Lorin Angevine

Polly Glen, a practical, uncomplicated young woman, had always scoffed at the idea. But she never scoffed again after that night in Mexico City . . .

There was a fortune teller in an apartment across the court from the one that the continent-girdling friends from the States-Polly and Claire Benson-had taken for the few days they were to remain in the city. At odd moments they had watched her and her clients.

There hadn't been many such moments to spare, however, because that tall New Yorker. Dick Ditzgerald, had been giving Claire a terrific rush from the moment the three met at a table in a crowded restaurant the first night the girls were in the capital. After that, Polly cheerfully resigned herself to being an appendage.

Claire, always restless, suggested on impulse this morning, as she watched the fortune teller, "Let's go over and find out from the old girl if San Susie will get us home." (San Susie was Claire's rattle-trap coupe.)

The dour Mexican woman riffled

"One of you will be close to tragedy before this day ends," the Mexican fortune teller said.

the cards and spread them out. She nodded slowly to herself. "One of you will be close to tragedy before this day ends!"

she intoned solemnly. Claire shivered in the hot sunlight, but Polly laughed. "Stuff and nonsense!" she scoffed.

That night at dinner Dick ordered cocktails but cautioned the girls, "Just one each, You can't take 'em like you could back in Milwaukee. The altitude, you know."

But Polly, the skeptic, laughed at him as she quickly downed hers and demanded another. Before she had finished the second she began to feel awful.

"I—I guess I'd better go home," she said, faintly.

'O.K. We'll take you," said Dick. 'Claire and I will come back and have our dinner, if you don't mind.'

In the apartment Polly went to sleep on the davenport, under the balcony window.

'In the restaurant again Claire suddenly said sharply as the dessert was served, "Something is happening to Polly! She needs me! Please, Dick, let's hurry!"

Dick clutched San Susie's side as it rocketed through traffic. "Look, Claire, not so fast! We'll have the police on us!"

"Can't help it! There's no time to spare!"

As Claire flung open the apartment door, flames licked greedily at the window curtain, only inches from where Polly lay. Claire shook her awake as Dick vanked the blazing curtains and tossed them through the open window to the balcony.

"I felt ill," Polly muttered. "I decided on bicarb. I prefer it hot, so I decided to heat water on the spirit stove . . . curtains must have caught from it . . . guess I went to sleep. It's a lucky thing you came back. How did you know?

Claire shuddered, tears in her eyes. "Oh, Polly, I don't know. It was a hunch, I guess . . ."

Dick slipped an arm around her. "Good girl," he said, "are you all right?" Claire nodded, staring through the window.

"Look!" she pointed. In the apartment across the court, the old fortune teller was studying the cards and nodding slowly to her-

"Yes," Claire whispered. "Maybe it was a hunch . . . or Fate."

It is not within the power of man to create an evangelistic movement. The Holy Spirit is He who empowers, directs and works. He has from time to time quickened the church with power from on high. Without this divine power in our hearts, we are insufficient to undertake this blessed work. The results of our efforts are not in our hands but in His. It is required of stewards that a man be found faithful.

The new long, low, sleek lines of the 1953 Chevrolet set new standards of beauty in the low-price field. Here in this superbly styled Body by Fisher you will see careful detailing and a richness of appointments always before found only in much costlier cars. Notice, too, the colorful good looks of Chevrolet's luxurious and roomy interiors.

... IN HIGH-POWERED PERFORMANCE

The most powerful engine in the low-price field! The entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine in combination with new Powerglide* brings you new high-compression power (7.5 to 1 compression ratio) and a wonderful gain in economy, too. In gearshift models you will find the advanced high-compression 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine.

..... IN SMOOTH, SIMPLE AUTOMATIC DRIVING

Expect faster getaway and greater acceleration with Powerglide's new automatic starting and passing range . . . and new economy, too. Chevrolet's new Power Steering* takes over 80 per cent of the work of steering, makes parking unbelievably easy. Thus, Powerglide driving and finger-tip steering make your Chevrolet exceptionally easy to operate.

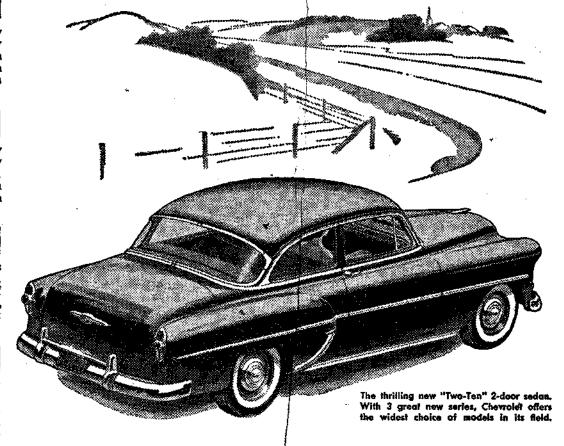

... IN ECONOMY AND VALUE

Now, you'll get more miles-many more miles-out of every gallon of gasoline. Here is the most important gain in economy that Chevrolet has ever offered you. You'll save on over-all operation and upkeep, too. Yet with all the improvements, the finer features in this new Chevrolet, it remains the lowestpriced line in the low-price field.

... IN AMERICA'S FAVOR

Again this year-as in every single postwar year-more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. In fact, latest official registration figures show that Chevrolet is over 25% ahead of the second-place car. Nearly 2 million more people now drive Chevrolets than any other make.

*Optional at extra cost. Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine available on "Fwo-Ten" and Bel Air models only. Power Steering available on all models

Trathens Honored On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trathen of Holbrook were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday, June 27, at a turkey dinner in the dining room of the Fraser Presbyterian Church at Old Greenleaf.

Thirty-five friends and relatives attended the dinner given by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rienstra.

Among the guests were Emerson Hill, cousin of Mr. Trathen and his attendant at their wedding, and Mrs. A. J. Knapp, a guest at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Trathen presented Mrs. Knapp with a corsage.

Low bowls of red and white roses and a large oblong wedding cake topped with a silver bride and groom decorated the table. The dining room was decorated with baskets of garden flowers and wedding bells. Mrs. Trathen wore a beige crepe an orchid corsage. A rhinestone necklace and earrings, a gift of her husband, completed her outfit. Following the dinner, the couple's twin grandsons, Dennis and Dean Rienstra, sang "Our Silver Wedding Day." Mrs. Knapp spoke on memories of other years and the Rev. S. Mosienko of Deckerville, former pastor of Holbrook, spoke on marriage. On Sunday, June 28, open house was held at the Trathen home from 2 to 5 p. m. Over one hundred friends visited the couple. Ice cream and cake were served and the couple received gifts and a purse of silver dollars. Mr. and Mrs. Trathen have one child, Mrs. Rienstra, and three grandchildren, Melbourne, Dennis and Dean Rienstra of Greenleaf.

CARAMEL, PECANS GILD DATE ROLLS (See Recipe Below)

Candy Treats That Are Simple to Make

Here are some elegant date and pecan logs which are quite simple to make. As ingredients you'll need one recipe of date nut roll (for four rolls), one recipe of caramel coating and 1½ cups of pecan halves.

This is what you'll do: make date nut rolls first so that rolls can be chilled thoroughly. The caramel coating adheres well to chilled rolls. Next spread pecan halves closely together on waxed paper, to roll as soon as the logs are dipped in caramel. Then make caramel coating, and while it stands to stop bubbling, unwrap the rolls. To dip, use a fork at each end of roll for dipping, lift quickly and place on pecan halves. Roll quickly to cover with pecans before caramel hardens. Place on waxed paper. Gather remaining ball stage stirring constantly as pecan halves again on waxed paper before dipping remaining rolls.

Date Nut Roll 2½ cups sugar 1 cup evaporated milk 11/4 cups chopped dates

2 cups chopped nuts Cook sugar and milk over medium heat to soft bell stage (235°F.), stirring constantly. Add dates. Cook again to soft ball stage, stirring all the while to blend dates. Stir in nuts. Cool. Turn into buttered pan. Knead until creamy and stiff. Shape into four rolls. Wrap each roll in waxed paper or aluminum foil and place in refrigerator to chill.

¼ cup butter % cup evaporated milk

½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Cook sugar, salt and syrup rapidy to firm ball stage (245°F.) stirring occasionally. Add butter and milk gradually so that mixture does not stop boiling at any time. Cook over medium heat to firm mixture sticks easily at the very least of the cooking. Add vanilia. Let caramel mixture stand until mixture stops bubbling. Then dip the date rolls in caramel to coat and roll at once in the pecan Dated this 6th day of July, 1953.

HORACE MURRY, Township Clerk.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of resolutions adopted by the Township Board of Novesta Township, Tuscola County, Michigan, at a special meeting held on Monday, the 6th day of July, 1953.

HORACE MURRY,

Township Clerk.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Danger exists that Veteran Trust Fund monies will be misused if the Legislature keeps casting the $50,000,000. The principal may envious eyes on cash surpluses not be spent. Only the income can earned by prudent administration. D. Hale Brake, State Treasurer.

The risk of loose spending, he said, will be more severe if local committeemen, who grant individual benefits, act on the theory that any of their allocation they do not spend in one year will be taken away.

Fifty million dollars were set aside for a trust fund in 1946. At that time the state had accumulated more money than it could There was a general feeling everywhere that returning veterans were entitled to all possible help in adjusting to civil life.

Idea was that the $50,000.000 was to be invested, the income to meet emergency needs of veterans, their wives or depend-

"Diversion of trust fund income," says D Hale Brake, "has been growing to a point where it absorbs more than half of the in-

To prove his point, the treasurer quotes figures starting in 1947 when the Legislature took $120,-000 for a veteran's association billet. In that year $50,000 was needed for administration expense. Each year the Legislature diverted more money until 1953 finds more than $638,000, including $120,335 for administration substracted from the fund.

The state official was careful not to question on the value of the projects where the money was spent. His objections centered on appropriation of money from the trust fund for any purpose other than emergency use.

Although no permanent harm is lone, Treasurer Brake is concerned with the effect upon local committeemen by the Legislature's actions. "One can hear among county committees the expression of the thought that they might just as well use up the complete allotment because otherwise the Legislature will take the money from them," the treasurer warned. That is not desirable thinking and the practice that promotes it should be discontinued.

Understanding was shown by the state treasurer for the plight of the Legislature when he said: We must recognize that the Legislature has been in a very difficult position. Keeping essential services going in the face of a steadily mounting deficit has not een easy. Perhaps it's safe to say that they reached for more of the trust fund income in desperation

SHORT STORY

Clothes And the Man By Kathryn Roberts

WHEN Sam Gleason awoke down in the jungle, the keen spring air mingled with the odors of wood smoke and boiling coffee. Carefully he folded the newspapers he had slept under and weighted them with a rock. Through the greening willows he heard coarse voices. When he approached them, they addressed him brusquely.

"Where's your dibs, Gleason? Coffee's done." "I musta overslept," he apologized, looking at the sun. "I'll be back soon. It don't take no time at all to hit U a couple of back Fiction doors. What do you want? Ba-

"Never mind," Dude decided. They's enough for three. You fetch the grub for lunch."

"Yeah," Shorty leered, double for you, or don't come back! Sam grinned assent and lent himself to the breakfast. As soon as he had wiped away the remains of egg from his stubbled chin, he proceeded down the tracks and through the poorer part of town. When he came to the better

It was then he met Reardon Reardon was fat, well dressed, rather simple looking, and brimming with kindness. "A dime for a cuppa coffee, Mister?" he suggested hopefully. "Sure! Sure! Poor fellow," Rear don said, fumbling in his pockets. He finally located a coin but withdrew it just as he was about to drop it into Sam's open palm.

"You have no other clothes?" Sam shook his head sadly. "That's a shame. I tell you what. I'll fix you up." He put his arm around Sam's soiled shoulder. At first bewildered, Sam allowed himself to be led to Reardon's car in which he was driven uncertain-

"No buts about it. It's a pleasure." He insisted on Sam's downing two eggs, a stack of hot cakes, sausages and coffee.

. Again he got him into the car and drove a circuitous route to a neat bungalow.

"My domain, Sam. Enter." "Nothin' doin'. I ain't goin' in there. How do I know it's your "Sure it's my house. Come on in," Reardon pleaded. "Be a nice fellow."

"You don't know what it is, Sam. You don't have a nice wife to quarrel with. She's a fine wife, and I love her, but every time we quarrel I feel so guilty. It's terrible. Then I have to do some good deed to square my conscience You're my good deed, Sam."

He sighed before continuing and regarded the potted plant, now re posing on the bathroom rug.

"Just one thing more. I want you to give me your ragged clothes and dirty hat, Sam." "Oh, no, I won't!" Sam said.

Without trying to coax him, Reardon snatched the disreputable heap of clothing and dashed out of the house. Sam waited with misgivings.

An hour later Reardon returned with new suit, tie, shirt, underwear and socks. He still wore his benevolence like a halo. Before he turned Sam loose, he achieved a haircut to which Sam submitted dejectedly. Reardon beamed with satisfaction when he said goodby

Sam made his way to the public park. Discreetly at long intervals he moved from one bench to an other. Breakfast time found him there. Where else could he go? No to the jungles empty handed. His friends had warned, 'Double for you, or don't come back!"

A man sat down beside him. He started to say hopefully, "A dime for a cuppa coffee, mister?" Then he remembered that he looked like a bank clerk. He pulled his new belt tighter around his empty stomach.

A robin in a bed of daffodils braced its feet and stretched back its neck, pulling on a worm. "Lucky bird!" Sam said.
