From the Lditor's Corner

It's an interesting thing in the newspaper business. You scour the town asking questions and getting facts and write and rewrite, thinking you have just about every possible fact pertaining to that particular story and bingo-as soon as the paper hits the streets, people come up with new facts. Sometimes they are important ones that should have been included and sometimes they are just little things.

Like when Clarence Quick read the story of Mrs. Sarah Mac-Larty's life in the account of her 95th birthday, he recalled that she also used to teach at the Quick School (fact omitted in the original story) in 1883 and was his first teacher.

A little bit of melodrama of radio mystery programs came into Tuscola's everyday life Tuesday night and Wednesday in the Sheriff's office in Caro.

It was the eve of the trial of Donald D. MacWilliams, confessed slaver of Ezra St. Clair, Deford farmer, when word reached the department that there was a chance of a prison break. It seems MacWilliams' sister had vowed to snatch her brother from the hands of the law before his sentencing.

Just how much truth there was to the rumor was never ascertained but a heavy guard was kept on the prisoner during the night and the day of the trial. At every turn in the corridors of the courthouse during the trial, there were groups of two or three policemen or deputies carrying weapons. Fifteen men were on constant watch for the rumored break, guarding the people's prisoner from any such

Heavy Grass Clippings Aid Soil and Plants

The home gardener who rakes his newly cut lawn is wasting a great source of nutriment and organic matter.

The wise gardener leaves his clippings on the lawn. The clippings will return a certain amount of organic matter to the soil.

There is always the possibility that the grass may get too tall and when it is clipped will make the lawn unsightly. Then it should be caught in a catcher or raked up, but not thrown in the ash can.

Clippings can be used as mulch on flower beds, around shrubs and evergreen cuttings or rose beds. By spreading the clippings and applying complete fertilizer to feed bacteria while it decomposes, the gardener will greatly improve Straw is used as a mulch by hundreds of home gradeners. Although it takes considerable more grass to make a good mulch, it is as beneficial as straw and is usuhand. When he turned and moved toward the camp he caught sight of the boy by the fire. Old Charlie noticed his fine features and the look of admiration in his youthful eyes. It was then that Charlie knew he couldn't let his sister's boy down. He had promised Billy the chance to see an untamed horse captured.

"No time like the present, Billy. First off we'll plan a minute. A wrong move, boy, a careless loop and the critter's off to kingdom come and all you got left is a circle of air."

The buckskin stopped suddenly against the rising wall of granite, spun and faced Charlie.

the cliff and to keep out of the way of any danger. Then Charlie cut down the rugged trail that led to the green basin below.

He sized up the location of the grazing herd, checked all avenues of escape, and cut his little mare in the direction of the big buckskin stud. He was a rope's throw from the buckskin. The air was thick with the heavy dust set in motion by the herd as it moved toward the closed end of the draw. The buckskin stopped suddenly against the rising wall of granite. He spun and faced Charlie as the horse wrangler shook his rope out between stiff fingers.

The loop circled the air and landed over the buckskin's head. Charlie took his turns around the horn with the loose end of the rope. Leaning back in the saddle Charlie waited nervously for the wild one to start the fireworks. Charlie blinked. The big buck stood his ground calmly and let Charlie snub him up close to the little mare he was riding.

Plumb feared of me, thought Charlie, as he led his captive back in the direction where Billy was waiting, eyes shining with pride. Jess Fulton met them at the ranch. He owned the spread next to Charlie's. He had a huge smile on his sun baked face as he walked up to Charlie and Billy. "Guess I owe you a heap of thanks, Charlie. I been looking nearly two months for that buckskin you're leading." Charlie sent Billy on into the house where his mother was waiting. Then he turned back to weigh Jess' remark. "Ain't we all been looking for this wild one, Jess. I guess he's all mine." "Hold on, Charlie." Jess' smile faded. "I always thought you were a little hard of seeing; but to go and mistake a horse with a brand on it for free takings, Charlie. Well, it's about time you got some glasses." Charlie dismounted feeling the pain in his knee again. He walked stiffly behind the buck and placed his hand on the horse's flank. Jess Fulton's brand lay clean across the horse's glossy flank. "I'll be jiggered, said Charlie. "Should of known right off that this horse'd been handled before."

Jess thanked him again and moved on leading the buckskin stud. Charlie went toward the cook shack wondering what he'd tell Billy, and wondering what the city boy would think after he was told.

He paused outside the door, listening to the voices filtering out into the dusk. He heard Billy talking to his mother . . . "and I saw the brand on the horse, mom, but I guess Uncle Charlie's eyes aren't so good. But it doesn't matter whether the horse was tame or not; 'cause Uncle Charlie can sure rope and ride. No wonder they call him "Wild Horse," he's the best cowboy in the West."

Charlie Carter smiled to himself as he walked into the kitchen, Suddenly he felt twenty years younger.

County Agent Gives Suggestions for Milk Production Profits

Many farmers who have milk rejected at the milk plants have no one to blame but themselves, according to Albert Hall, Sanilac County agricultural agent. The best way to stop it, says Hall, is to get rid of the cause, Hall suggests a program of santation and efficient cooling to get the profits you want to repay you for the high present day production costs.

He lists reasons compiled by Michigan State College specialists why milk may be rejected at the plant. They include:

Cows not clean. Milk not handled properly. Can lid dropped carelessly or left where it can catch dust or otherwise be contaminated while the strainer is on the can.

Failure to rinse strainer each time the pad is changed. For best results use a strainer pad for each can. It's cheap insurance. Strainer pad not put in proper-ausing bypass.

Teat cups pick up dirt when allowed to get close to the floor. Milk not poured into strainer correctly. Milk should be poured in the sides of the strainer—not lirectly on the baffle plate.

Using contaminated water to inse cans and utensils.

Bouncing or jamming strainer. Single face pads placed in strainer with gauze side up. Cotton side should be up.

The pathetic part about it is that some college students find that the final exams are final.

Before you cast your vote conider what a man has been-not what he promises to be.

Wheat Marketing Royal Oak visited from Thursday For Farmers' Votes

About half of Michigan wheat Mr. and Mrs. Gail Parrott and farmers can vote Friday, Aug. 14. on national wheat marketing quotas proclaimed by the secretary of agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Adrian and Quotas will apply to farmers boys of Davison called Sunday planting 15 or more acres of wheat on Mr. and Mrs. Clark Zinnecker this fall-and therefore, only they can vote, explains Clarence E. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doyle and Prentice, Michigan State College mother, Mrs. Minnie McCain, of farm economist. As an extension Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ba- marketing specialist who has been iley and three children of Lapeer, very close to the wheat situation for many months, Prentice was granddaughters of Harbor Beach, recommended in mid-July to be state administrator for the new Michigan Production and Marketcy of Kingston were all Sunday ing Administration Committee.

afternoon callers at the George Secretary Benson has set the national wheat allotment for 1954 Mr. and Mrs. George Jacoby at 62 million acres-a reduction traveled to Atlanta Sunday and of 15.5 million acres, This 20 per cent cut will be allocated to states and counties on basis of 10-year wheat production history, notes Prentice, with adjustments for unusual trends.

Michigan farmers will know, before they vote, their exact 1954 allotment, Prentice advises. Individual allotments will be based on the past two years production. Michigan's exact allotment will be tails of the fifth annual State computed in Washington.

If two-thirds of voting farmers reports County Agricultural Agent favor quotas, the wheat price support will remain at 90 per cent of parity; if more than one-third vote "no" support will drop to 50 fairgrounds are included in the per cent for all farmers. Under tour, in which Michigan State Col- quotas, excess production will tour, in which Michigan State College farm economists headed by the parity price. Without quotas, Prentice doubts that support prices would be effective.

With or without quotas, allotments will apply, and excess production will make a farmer ineligible for price support, under a at the John Sahr farm, 3 and % loan program purchase agreement, or otherwise, sums up Prentice.

Caro Man Joins FMA Governing Committee

A. B. Quick, Caro, was appointed to the Farmers' Home Administration committee for Tuscola County, July 1, John McDurmon, local supervisor for the agency. announced this week. The appointment was made by Leland H. Small, acting state director.

Mr. Quick is a dairy and cash crop farmer and long-time resident of the Caro community. His experience in developing a successful family-type farm, McDurmon said, fits him well for his new assignment in aiding other farmers to do the same. He will serve for three years.

Mr. Quick succeeds Loyd Petiprin, Sr., also of Caro, whose three-year term ended June 30. Members who continue to serve are Alfred Goodall, Cass City, and Gustave Haas, Mayville.

Mr. Goodall has been chosen tó serve as chairman of the committee through next June 30. Petiprin was chairman last year.
