Local Phone Rates Face Price Hike

A raise in the telephone rates in the Cass City area came one step closer to realization last week when Judge Louis E. Coash in the Circuit Court of Ingham County, on July 30, set aside the Michigan Public Service Commission's rate order, dated December 5, 1952.

Fred E. Norris, president of the General Telephone Company of Michigan, remarked after hearing the judge's decision, "The company is not free to set its own price for its services. When it was found that the prices set by the commission last December were inadequate and would result in the confiscation of the company's properties, the matter was taken to the courts. We are understandably gratified that the court has seen the justice of the company's position."

The rate increases that are to be effective were asked for in Jan. 1952. They would include raises of 65 to 95 cents a month in residence telephones and 75 cents to $1.15 a month in business telephones. However, Carl Nye, manager of the Cass City office, said he had no word on when the rates would become effective.

The increases would net $9,012 annually in the Cass City area, according to R. W. Britt, company auditor.

A committee of three men from Cass City, James Bauer, Warren Wood and Clark Montague, attended a meeting of the State Public Service Commission on February 6, 1952, shortly after the announcement of the proposed increases, to protest them on behalf of the village people.

Over 100 persons from other areas served by the company joined in the protest at the meeting. The Cass City delegation told the commission that the rural telephone system in this area was in need of repair and the company was doing little about it.

The company auditor explained at that meeting that the company was realizing a profit of 4.3 per cent on the old rates and could not do justice to its investors. The new rates would raise the profits to 6.3 per cent.

Company officials said that increased operating costs had made it impossible to get along without the increase. Among the increased costs they listed the raise negotiated with the A.F. of L. union in August of 1950 and the one in the summer of 1951, plus the income tax increase on corporate incomes from 45 to 52 per cent.

The company president stated following the court ruling, "The rates, applied for in January, 1952, and soon to be collected, did not contemplate the employee wage increase negotiated by the company and the union in the fall of 1952, nor, of course, could they have anticipated what wage increases might result from collective bargaining now in progress."

Detroit Man Cut In Farm Accident

A Detroit man spending his vacation on his farm eight miles southeast of Caro was the victim of a farm accident late Saturday afternoon. John Kowalski had all the tendons in the back of both legs severed when he jumped off a tractor and into the path of the mowing machine the tractor was pulling.

Dr. Herbert L. Nigg of Caro, who treated Mr. Kowalski at the Caro Community Hospital, said that if the cuts had been a little deeper, he would have had to amputate both legs.

Decker, FFA Win Trophies—Favorites Drop Out in Final Games

Co-champs Named, Softball Play-offs On

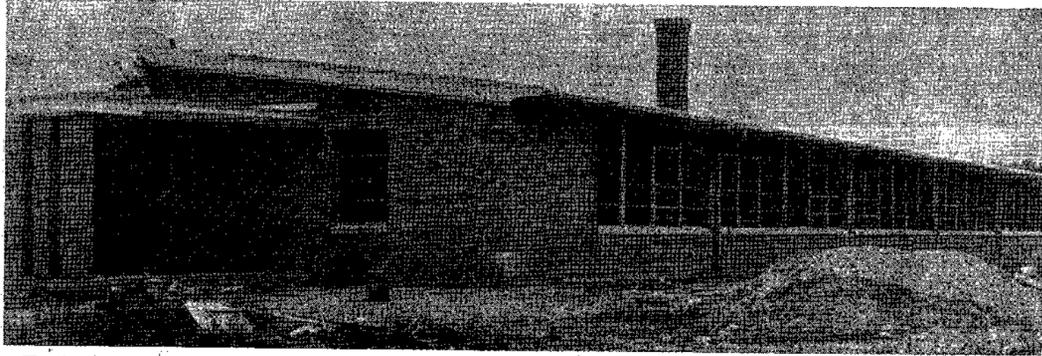

Decker and FFA have been declared co-champions of the Cass City Recreational Softball League by the governing committee this week after continued rain forced cancellation of the play-off tilt.

The two teams completed the regular season with 12-3 records and were to have played for the championship Tuesday, but rain again eliminated the chance to determine an undisputed champion.

Both of the clubs will be awarded trophies for ending tied for the league lead.

No School Bell or Red Paint - But Studies Remain

The front view of the Evergreen Township School, located just east of Shabbona, shows the five classrooms and the entrance way under construction. Windows allow the north light to fall into all the classrooms. The name "Evergreen Township School" will be placed on the block of bricks between the entrance and the classroom windows in tall, white, wooden letters. The cornerstone, dated 1953, can also be seen on the front of the building.

Coming Auction

One auction is on the agenda for the Cass City area on Thursday, August 13, according to the Chronicle advertisements. It will be held one mile east, one-half mile north of Decker at 1:30 p. m. when A. A. Reide sells his equipment because he is quitting farming.

Roy Jones Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Armed Robbery

Roy Jones, 24, Mason, pleaded not guilty to a charge of armed robbery before Circuit Judge Timothy Quinn in Tuscola Circuit Court Wednesday morning.

Jones previously appeared before Judge Quinn last month and asked for an attorney. The same day Dale Carnahan, 21, of Flint, was sentenced to five to seven and one-half years at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson for his part in the crime Jones is accused of.

The pair was charged with holding up Arthur Erbsch of Sebewaing on June 15 at the point of a 30-30 rifle and robbing him of $30 and his car.

Jones will come up for trial later in the month.

Over 150 Students Expected

Evergreen School To Open in Fall

No old school bell will ring in September for the pupils of the Evergreen Township School, but classes will be held just the same. A modern, electric bell and buzzer system will announce the first day of classes in the new school, according to Bruce Kritzman, secretary of the school board.

School Board Quits Holbrook As Debt Raises

The three members of the Holbrook School District Board of Education decided last week that neither they nor anyone else wanted their jobs so they resigned.

The members, Lynn Spencer, director; Curtis Cleland, moderator; and Lloyd Brown, treasurer, told John R. Francis, Sanilac County superintendent of schools, that the district was in debt so far they couldn't hire a teacher.

So, Thursday, August 13, at 8 p. m., the patrons of the school will hold a meeting at the Greenleaf Township Hall to decide the fate of the school. If no one else will take the board memberships, then the county must annex the district to another district. The voters may vote at the meeting on which district they would like to be annexed to.

The resigning members told the county superintendent that the school district couldn't manage the tuition and operating expenses on the present tax rate that is below the standard 15 mills.

Eunice Tuckey Takes History-Study Tour

Eunice Tuckey of Cass City left Monday, Aug. 3, on a travel-study tour for study in Michigan history with a group of 28 other Central Michigan College students.

The 10-day tour will cover the northern part of the Lower Peninsula and the Upper Peninsula. Dr. Roland H. Maybee, head of the social science department at the college, accompanied the students.

When the building, still under construction, is completed, it will mark six months of actual manual labor by the workers and local men, but the real beginning was six years ago when the schools in the township consolidated. Then, five years later, on June 9, 1952, the township voters accepted the plan for the new school by approving a $70,000 bond issue and raising the taxes from 5 to 12 mills for 20 years.

The new school replaces five one-room schools of the seven districts in the township. It will house 155 pupils from kindergarten through the eighth grade. The grades will be divided, two to a room, except for the kindergarten which will have one of the five classrooms to themselves.

An outstanding feature of the $110 thousand building is the auditorium built to accommodate 300 persons and to be used by the school members and for community projects. The 152 by 66 foot school also includes a kitchen, storage spaces, four bathrooms, boiler room, health clinic and office.

It is situated one-half mile east of Shabbona on eight acres of land donated by the Keyworth family. It is on the south side of the road, allowing for north light in all of the five classrooms.

It is a cinder block building with a brick facing. Seven dome-like skylights allow light to enter the roof of the hallway. Fluorescent lighting is used in all the classrooms. Each classroom is equipped with a sink and drinking fountain. Heating is by forced hot water.

Wiring is being installed in the building so a public address system could someday play music or announcements into any of the rooms in the building.

Green blackboards, each two inches higher than the one for the next lower grades, and built-in closets and storage space will be in each room. Mr. Kritzman said $6,000 has been spent for furniture.

Officials Drop Plans For Bingo

The bingo game and the baseball toss originally planned for the fourth annual Cass City Home-coming, which was to be held Thursday, August 6, were dropped early this week following a consultation of Harry Little, president of the Home-coming committee, and Bruce White, Tuscola County prosecuting attorney.

Mr. White informed Mr. Little that he would definitely prosecute if a complaint was filed.

The announcement tossed a bigger bill for the Home-coming into the lap of the Chamber of Commerce, who always pick up the check for the annual free affair. Last year the bingo game eased the final total at a sum of over $300. Harry Little said the Chamber of Commerce will now have to absorb the entire amount out of their treasury. But, he said, there is enough money to cover the check.

The prosecutor's decision to enforce the controversial bingo and gambling law came as another step in the fight raging across the state, set off by Attorney General Frank G. Millard's statement before the Sheriff's Association at their convention at Marquette on July 29.

Attorney General Millard stated, "Several times in recent months I have been asked to permit charitable organizations to conduct gambling games. I have no more authority to permit anyone to violate the law."

Speaker Tells Rotary Club Of Communism

Sy Denial, president of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Co. of Detroit, spoke to members of the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon and explained the dangers of Communism and Socialism to the United States.

Speaking bluntly to the assembled group, he asserted, "I know that every person in this room knows about Communism and Socialism and its dangers, but how many of you have ever taken the trouble to do something about it?" Small business, including farmers, professional people and other similar categories, are the backbone of the nation, Mr. Denial said. Yet, he pointed out that little businessmen have done little or nothing to help their cause by keeping informed on public policy and writing their elected representatives in government.

Mr. Denial pointed out how his company spent one-half million dollars on advertising to educate people about dangers of Communism in the United States.

While discussing business and Communism, Mr. Denial asserted that he thought good times in this country would remain indefinitely.

New technical advances, he said, will keep the country prosperous.

McIntosh Family Holds First Reunion

Sixty members of the McIntosh family attended the first annual McIntosh family reunion held at the Caseville Park Sunday, August 2.

Officers elected for the 1954 reunion to be held the first Sunday in August are: secretary, Earl McIntosh of Detroit; recreation chairman, Francis Gould of Flint, and recorder, Mrs. Thomas Van of Caro.

A potluck dinner was served. Guests attended from Clio, Marion, Big Rapids, Flint, Detroit, Bad Axe, Owendale, Cass City and Caro.

August 10 is the last day for village taxes at one per cent. Signed Wilma Fry, Village treasurer.

Sanilac to Vote On Fate of New County Jail

The fate of the construction of a new jail will be up before the Sanilac County voters Tuesday, August 11, when they go to the polls to vote on a proposed one and one-half mill tax increase.

The money gathered from the proposed tax increase would be added to the $76 thousand already in the jail fund to replace the presently condemned jail with a new one estimated at $165 to $175 thousand.

The tax increase would last for a period of two years.

The present condemned jail was built in 1881. It would remain standing on the site it now occupies and according to tentative plans, could be reconducted for use as an office building.

The new jail would house the sheriff's office and the jail facilities. It would contain automatically opening and closing doors on the cells and be built of cinder blocks with steel constructed cells. If the tax proposal passes, construction on the new jail would begin immediately.

Village to Get $2,387.56 for Street Fund

Cass City will receive $2,387.56 as its share of the money collected the second quarter for 1953 for the State Motor Vehicle Fund, Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler announced this week.

This is a drop from the $2,784.54 the village received for the second quarter of 1952.

The county of Tuscola will receive $96,253.69 as its share of the fund, Huron will receive $92,837.98 and Sanilac will get $92,628.07.

The allotments are part of the $23,841,478.96 net receipts of the fund for the second quarter of 1953. The fund is divided between the State Highway Department, the counties and the cities and incorporated villages. Forty-four per cent goes to the State Highway Department for expenditure on state trunklines in both rural and urban areas; 37 per cent to the counties for expenditure on county roads and 19 per cent to the cities and incorporated villages for expenditure on their roads and streets.

Allotments for other area villages and cities are: Caro, $4,259.89; Gageton, $905.23; Kingston, $581.03; Owendale, $735.56, and Ubyly, $956.18.

Caro Woman Dies Following Collision

A car-truck accident three miles east of Saginaw claimed the life of a Caro resident, Mrs. Cora Lee Stadlberger, 29, Saturday. She was fatally injured when the car, driven by Mrs. Donald Moore, 23, of Caro and a gasoline truck collided. The passenger car overturned several times and caught on fire. Mrs. Stadlberger and Mrs. Moore were taken from the wreckage before it was enveloped in flames.

Mrs. Moore was reported in serious condition in St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw early this week. She is suffering from a brain concussion and cuts about the face and head.

Cass Cityites Donate Money to Flint Area

The Cass City drive for relief for the tornado-stricken Flint area was closed this week. The total amount turned in the canisters and at the banks was $165.58, according to Harry Little, chairman of the drive.

From the Editor's Corner

Although everyone outside the village received their paper at the usual time last week, the paper was about four hours later than usual hitting the streets in Cass City.

Along about five p. m. rumors of every kind and description started flying around the community—all with the real low-down on the reason for the delay.

One story said that one of the staff caught their fingers in a machine and was seriously injured—another said that the press had broken down—another that it was the Intertype that had failed in the clutch.

Strangely enough, there were elements of truth in these stories, although none were the real reason for the delay.

Ed Marshall, Chronicle shop foreman, did catch his finger in a machine and needed a doctor's attention, but the injury never kept him from working. The staff had a little trouble with the Intertype (the type composing machine) but it was relatively minor—the Chronicle has been out on time with worse trouble.

The reason for the delay was much simpler. Miss Donna Hillinger, crack Intertype operator for the paper, was on vacation. A substitute operator was expected to help out Wednesday, but was unable to come—placing the typesetting burden on a rank amateur, your editor. His inexperience, plus the trouble with the machine, resulted in the delay last week.

We were quite pleased to learn that you were back on the job. Concluded on page 10.

Cash Asher Speaks To Village Gavel Club

Cash Asher of Texas was the guest speaker at the Cass City Gavel Club Tuesday evening at the New Gordon Hotel.

Mr. Asher, who is the publicity director for Padre Island, off the coast of Texas, told Gavel Club members about how the deserted island was turned into a tourist attraction through the efforts of the county that owned it.

The county built a causeway to the island from the mainland and advertised it as a "Robinson Crusoe" type vacation and it has caught the public fancy, judging by the number of tourists that now flock to see its sights.

According to Mr. Asher, among the interesting items found on the island were 16th century gold coins, remains of old ships and mahogany logs.

When the island was opened, Mr. Asher stated, it was covered with drift wood. From this highly polished, bleached wood a museum was started. It features animals made entirely of the plentiful drift wood.

Dr. Edwin Fritz was program chairman for the evening.

Beverly School Voters Decide to Keep School

The voters of the Beverly School District voted to maintain their school for the coming school year by a vote of 44 to 9 at a special election held Friday, July 31.

The school will also continue to operate their school bus. It is believed it was the first school in the county to use one in the rural districts.

Parsch's Store will be open Thursday afternoons.

SHORT STORY
Never Too Old
By Henry Suter

EVERY day as long as the town's folk could remember, "little" Miss Hatherway, as she was called by her friends, had always gone to pick up her mail at exactly 9 o'clock, which usually consisted of a magazine and possibly a bill or two.

As the minutes passed, Bill Benton, the town's only policeman, became more and more anxious as to the reason she was late. He had become so interested in the place and was growing quite fond of the pert, little Miss Hatherway.

Everyone knew her by her light, sprightly step, the somewhat haughty glances with which she appraised the weather, the orderliness of the town, and other lady's hats. At 65 she ridiculed women who were sensitive about revealing such personal data, she was bright and gay about it all, and had even showed her birth certificate to prove it to those who seemed skeptical about her age of which she was proud.

As for Bill Benton, he would say he had never seen Miss Hatherway wearing a dismal expression; rather, it was one of detached amusement at what went on about her.

Now this day happened to be her birthday, but the long hand of the rustic town clock was nearly upon the half past nine, when Miss Hatherway stepped gingerly over puddles on the worn sidewalk, heading for the postoffice. As she approached the policeman, she glanced up at him and smiled.

Everyone knew that he and Miss Hatherway were the best of friends. The first time that he had tried to escort her across the street, however, she had resented it. Bill Benton merely smiled, an amiable smile that showed even white teeth, and he exclaimed, "Yes'm," but still held on to her arm. She had conceded.

On this particular morning, Miss Hatherway stepped from the curb and hesitated. Never before had she done this, but kept at a steady pace, as much as saying to the motorists, Miss Hatherway was crossing, and cross she would.

But this morning she hesitated. Bill Benton hurried to her side, grasped her elbow, and led her across the street.

"You're a little late, Hathy. How come?" asked Bill, grinning.

"E'm. Didn't think you'd even notice," she answered pertly, and drew away.

But Bill sensed that it was without her usual gaiety. She turned her head; she couldn't help feeling just a little blue. The weather was as crisp, the sun as bright and warm, but there was something else on her mind.

One was never too young or too old to receive a birthday card, but last year she received not one. Why, when she was in high school, she received more than a dozen cards from her friends, and, perhaps, because of this, she was aware, yes, intensely aware, of her years.

Miss Hatherway pushed such thoughts from her mind and went on toward the postoffice, a little grimly, for she was still wondering about her present birthday, and questioned whether there might be any remembrances this day.

She entered, and the clerk mumbled greetings and handed her an envelope the size of a card—a birthday card! Her slender fingers trembled and she had some difficulty opening it.

Bill Benton, his wife, Margo, and Tom, Jr., had sent her a card! Little Miss Hatherway smiled and years faded from her face. She walked to the door, opened it with a mighty shove, powerful for such a fragile lady, and went forth into the morning sunshine. She did glare at the atrocity that a Mrs. Brown dared call a hat, stepped primly from the curb to cross the street.

She saw Bill Benton still at his duties there, waved the tiny envelope, and gave him a beaming smile of thanks. He smiled as he saluted her in turn. Both kept smiling for the rest of that day.

The want ads are newsy too.

This demonstration showed me the way to a better deal!

I'd been planning to buy a higher-priced car until I found out all Chevrolet offered—and how much I could save!

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel. Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the rich-looking upholstery and appointments and roomy, comfortable seats. Just turn the ignition key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You got more power on less gas. Here's all the power and performance you could ever ask for. And along with it comes the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history! That's because of Chevrolet's two great high-compression engines.

You can see all around. You look out and down at the road through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

It's heavier for better roadability. You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady ride. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide. Finer performance on less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

Even Power Steering, if you want it. You ought to try Power Steering to see how easy driving can be. You can spin the wheel with one finger! It's optional, of course, at extra cost, and available on all models.

Top Beef Profits Require Planning

Early Marketing May Be Answer This Year

Considerable planning will be necessary for top beef profits this year, cattlemen report.

In the past few years long grazing periods have produced top quality beef for top prices. Some cattlemen are suggesting that an early finish may mean top profits this year since many factors point to lower prices in the fall.

These cattlemen reason:

Cattle numbers are high with nearly 94 millions on the nation's farms. Cattle on feed in many states are up over last year.

Many cattlemen are debating the problem of a long grazing period for beef cattle like those pictured above or full feeding in order to make an earlier market. It is an important decision and one that may decide whether the farmer makes a profit on his beef this year.

Plenty of corn is available and will produce quality finished beef.

And a number of unexplainable circumstances later may cause another great marketing rush as was experienced earlier this year.

Therefore, these cattlemen plan to feed during late summer and rush their beef to market in December.

It would be wise to do a lot of thinking about this plan before adopting it, however.

Secretary Warns Against False Economy

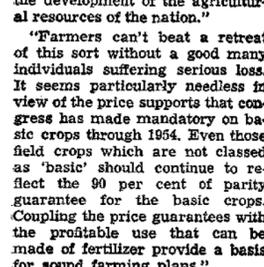

Under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse, writing in the June issue of Country Gentleman, warns that some farmers are going to be hurt by "false economy" this year by trimming some expenditures "that should not be cut."

"Spending money that maintains or increases your net return is usually wise management," he writes.

He called attention to estimates that less fertilizer will be used this year than in 1952 and he said this indicates "a slowing down in the development of the agricultural resources of the nation."

"Farmers can't beat a retreat of this sort without a good many individuals suffering serious loss. It seems particularly needless in view of the price supports that congress has made mandatory on basic crops through 1954. Even those field crops which are not classed as 'basic' should continue to reflect the 90 per cent of parity guarantee for the basic crops. Coupling the price guarantees with the profitable use that can be made of fertilizer provide a basis for sound farming plans."

Poultry Roosts

Cleaning poultry roosts is always a problem. The above roosts may help solve this problem for some producers. It is made in sections that can be removed easily for cleaning. They are hung with sash hangers. The hook part of the hangers is screwed to the studs of the poultry house, while the other part is screwed to the roosts as shown in the inset.

Get an Electric Air Drier

(Dehumidifier)

Sweaty, dripping pipes are not only annoying—they indicate excess moisture which causes other, more serious trouble. Partitions warp, doors stick, tools rust and other valuables are attacked by rot and mildew. Dry out basement air with an electric dehumidifier and you stop the moisture condensation which causes all the trouble!

Electric dehumidifiers are compact—easily moved from one trouble spot to another. They plug in, just like a floor lamp.

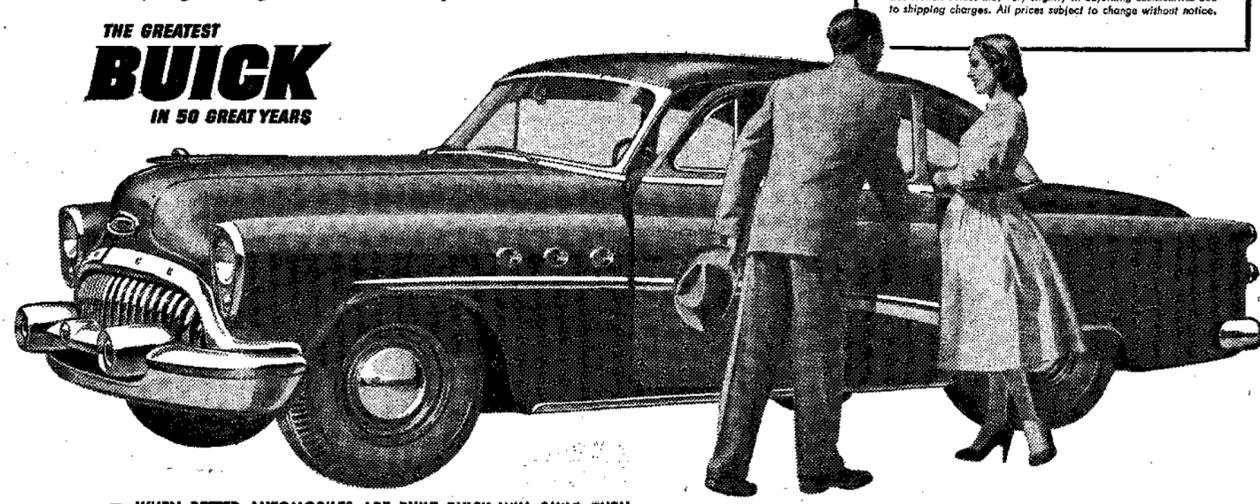

Most air driers are under 25" high; weigh under 80 pounds.

Letter to the Editor

Having been a resident of Caro all my life and more or less interested in your town, thought it my duty to send in my "beef".

On July 10, I submitted to major surgery at the Pleasant Home Hospital and was doing fine until on July 14, when the meeting of the Civil Air Patrol and the council meeting was held. (Editor's note: the council meeting was not held on that day and was never held near the hospital.) While not condemning the CAP, personally, I think there could be a much more appropriate place for them to hold their meetings than next to the hospital. The noise from the motors of the fire trucks and the mike was almost enough for anyone hospitalized to endure, which was over about 10 p. m.

Then came the packing up of the equipment, the discussion of the daily activities, the wheat harvest, etc., until it was around midnight before we patients would dare take our sedatives and try for a good night's rest, which would be over at 5:30 a. m.

May I suggest that at the next meeting someone would suggest finding a more appropriate place for this meeting where it would be less disturbing to the efforts of those associated with the wonderful work that is being carried on by some of your residents, Mrs. Freeman and her nursing staff and Dr. Donahue.

Respectfully
Mrs. Fern Riley
120 Monroe St., Caro

Morell-Cregeur Reunion Draws 96

Ninety-six persons from Hammond, Indiana, Detroit, Royal Oak, Dearborn, Utica, Flint, Fenton and many other Thumb towns attended the annual Morell-Cregeur family reunion Sunday, August 2, at the American Legion Hall in Cass City.

Mrs. Loretta McQuade was hostess. The eldest member present was Mrs. Mary Morell Cregeur of Alpena who celebrated her 85th birthday at the reunion.

For the first time in many years, one of the four brothers and four sisters of the Morell family was unable to attend. Wilford Morell, Jr., of Uby is a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Ann Arbor.

A potluck dinner was served at noon and plans made to hold the 1954 reunion at the home of Mrs. Wilford Morell, Jr., in Uby.

Late the gambling laws, regardless how worthy the cause, than I have to give a permit to commit murder, to steal or to rob. Let me state plainly that I have no personal feelings in the matter of charitable bingo. I can only take the laws as I find them and endeavor to do my duty in the office to which I have been elected.

The Attorney General further said that only the legislature and the people have the power to change the gambling laws.

Since the legislature is not now in session, the purge on bingo games is continuing throughout the state. Sheriff Merritt R. McBride of Huron County closed two games at the Elkton triennial Home-coming last week end and State Police closed a bingo game in Lexington that was being operated for friends to build a recreational center.

Prosecuting Attorney White issued a statement last week that he would enforce the law banning bingo, raffles and other forms of gambling in Tuscola County. Cass City is one of the first places in the county that has felt the sting of the statement, but it is likely it will affect many others including the Tuscola County Fair slated for August 24-29.

A good thing to lay up for a rainy day is a reputation.

COLUMN

Concluded from page one. that the Chronicle liners had been praised highly by area persons in Lansing. State Senator George Higgins of Ferndale called the paper Wednesday afternoon to place a liner for help at his automobile concern and said that the paper had been highly recommended to him for getting results.

The roadside produce stand converts crops into cash unflinchingly, especially if it is neatly built, painted and clean. A stand like the one shown can be built quickly and economically. The framework is of two-by-fours lumber. The sides can be made of preshwood or other material, which comes in panels. Note the drop shutters which close the stand at night and protect it through the winter. Painted it will make an attractive stand that will cause motorists to stop.

Old values and new ideas is an unbeatable combination.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Is taxpayers' money wasted? Of course, it shouldn't be. And it's the job of the Auditor General to see that it isn't. The department he administrates makes certain that all money is used as the Legislature intended and approves each of the 200,000 checks written each month. This means handling about $650,000,000 in state expenditures this year.

Present Auditor General is John B. Martin Jr., a tall, quiet, handsome man with wavy hair prematurely gray. Because he deals every day with Michigan's bank account, he is in a good position to discuss state financial matters.

Little danger exists of a deficit in this year's state budget, states Mr. Martin. "In fact," the Auditor General said, "if sales tax returns maintain their present level and we collect what we expect from the new business receipts tax, we can probably reduce the deficit, perhaps by as much as $10,000,000." Best estimates of revenue to come from the business receipts tax, according to Mr. Martin, amount to $36,000,000 per year.

in state finance, the Auditor General is called in to see if there's actually a fire. If things are not in order, it's his job to find the cause and recommend a way to prevent a recurrence.

This is exactly what happened several months ago when it was suspected that a school district in Michigan had been overpaid in state aid money because of false enrollment figures supplied to the state department of public instruction. An investigation carried out by the Auditor General, working with state school authorities, showed that Michigan taxpayers had been defrauded out of some $359,000 over a 10-year period. In addition, about $28,000 could not be properly accounted for.

head with any recommendations for changes in procedure that would improve service or lower cost. The Auditor General also requests a report from the department concerning what has been done about putting the recommendations into effect. This report is often submitted to the Appropriations Committee of the Legislature. An uncooperative department head needs some good answers if he fails to act on the Auditor's suggestions.

"This threat to a department's appropriation in government acts much like a desire to make a profit in the business world," explains Mr. Martin, "and is a fine lever to secure increased efficiency."

VACCINES SAVE FARM PROFITS

New vaccines developed by veterinary science during the last few years are saving livestock and poultry raisers millions of dollars. Unhatched chicks play a big part in the advances that have Vaccines now produced from chick embryos. been made. New methods have made it possible to grow disease-producing viruses in the chick embryos. By this technique, scientists now produce vaccines against such diseases as equine sleeping sickness, fowl pox, Newcastle disease and laryngotracheitis of fowls from the infected embryos.

Through similar methods, veterinarians have developed a vaccine which protects cattle against rinderpest — the deadly "tropical cattle plague".

Another system is being used to make effective vaccines against foot-and-mouth disease of cattle and contagious sore mouth of sheep. This method is based on removing the disease-causing power of a virus, but leaving its ability to immunize. Thus, when the vaccine is injected into an animal, the animal does not come down with the disease, but builds up resistance to it.

Not only have these discoveries proved valuable in veterinary medicine, but also they are being used to develop vaccines that will protect human beings against virus diseases.

The search for new vaccines is by no means ended, for many of the known virus diseases of man and animals have yet to be conquered.

This school scandal, and a few others involving much less money, led to a new law requiring annual audits of all school districts. The legislation was recommended by the Auditor General and the state Superintendent of Public Instruction. It was passed in the last legislative session.

School districts receiving more than $100,000 from the state each year must have a Certified Public Accountant handle the audit; districts receiving less are not required to employ a CAP but must have an audit.

"This will supply protection for everyone," explains Mr. Martin. "Local school boards and superintendents will be free from suspicion and the taxpaying public won't be overcharged."

Main responsibilities of the Auditor General's office amount to a sizeable task. Briefly the staff must perform these duties: 1. Audit records of all state agencies. 2. audit books of all counties (except Wayne which maintains its own Auditing Board). 3. Handle the collection of delinquent taxes. 4. Pay bills.

Mr. Martin, now in his second term as Auditor General, is particularly suited for this task. A native of Grand Rapids, he graduated from U. of M.'s law school. During World War II he was at various times a naval secret service agent in Europe, head of the National Office of Civil Defense and a member of the prosecutor's staff at the Nurnberg trials. He has also represented Kent County in the state Senate.

Payroll padding and liquor stealing was recently uncovered in a Detroit Liquor Control Warehouse. An auditor's investigation revealed need for some new methods. They were suggested and put into effect. Improvements were almost immediately noticeable in the records.

All examples of the Auditor's functions are not so dramatic but every year they find 10 or 12 More cases of embezzlement or instances where money is spent in an unauthorized manner. "These matters are usually small and relatively easily rectified," said Mr. Martin.

Questions sometimes arise concerning the Legislature's intentions. For instance, money was appropriated for a number of new beds for a hospital. Does that mean for beds only, or for beds and other equipment needed to service the patients? Can part of this money be used to outfit quarters for the increased staff, laboratory equipment, more instruments, etc.? That question is under discussion.

Taxpayers can look with a little more understanding upon the problems of state finance when they consider the elaborate care taken to get a dollar's value for a dollar spent.

For there can be little doubt that a keen Auditor General's staff can increase economy, reduce theft and embezzlement, and help guarantee efficient operation in government.

Ice cubes made of ginger ale or cherry or orange juice will brighten summer beverages, according to Michigan State College food and nutrition specialists.

when the car's standing still. Imagine how helpful this can be whenever you're tightly parked! Yet on the road Ford Master-Guide, unlike some systems, gives you the same natural "feel" you'd have without power steering... and it's safer, too... takes hold only when you need it. Come in and try it!

Handling and parking's a pushover! With the car standing still, you can "dial" the steering wheel with one finger... Master-Guide supplies the "muscle" for you! Of course, Fords have always been easy to handle, steer and park. But Master-Guide does up to 75% of the work!

See it...Value Check it...Test Drive it today!

NO RADICAL CHANGE IN DRIVING HABITS

There's no need to learn how to drive all over again with Ford Master-Guide. This natural feel comes mainly from having the force applied close to the wheels. Steering ratio is the same, so you really have complete control at all times!

SO SIMPLE... SO SAFE!...

Master-Guide lets you turn with ease, steer as you're used to! Driving on rutted roads is even safer. And should the hydraulic system ever lose its power (which is highly unlikely) the conventional steering system remains operative as usual.

SHORT STORY
The Pinch
By Orlan Jones

"DID you get a look at her in there?" John Carson asked his wife.

"Yes," Mrs. Carson said quietly. "Did you ever see anything like it?"

Mrs. Carson didn't answer. She was wiping the supper dishes, and he was sitting at the kitchen table drinking a cup of coffee. Mrs. Carson didn't answer because she knew her husband was pretty steamed up, and she knew he was going to do enough talking for both of them.

"I've never seen her look so pretty," Mr. Carson said. And what does she do? She sits in their looking like a scared rabbit. Why, all she'd have to do is flutter one eyelid and that Billy what's-his-name would fall off the sofa in sheer joy.

"His name's Billy Simmons. And you just remember that Helen's shy, and we won't get anywhere pushing her. She'll have to come out of it herself," Mrs. Carson said.

"But when? The girl's twenty now."

"I don't know when. But I do know this date with Billy means a great deal to her. He's the one

"Now look here, boy," he said. "I heard a noise out in the kitchen. Did you pinch my daughter?"

she mooned about all the time she was in high school. So don't you do anything to spoil her date tonight."

"She'll spoil it herself," Mr. Carson snapped. "When I came through the living room, she was sitting on one end of the sofa and this Billy what's-his-name was sitting on the other end. Billy looked bored, and she looked like she was going to pass out."

"I know, but there's nothing you can do."

"When that girl was growing up," Mr. Carson said, "I knew she was going to be a looker. I remember how I used to say I'd break the arm of any of these wild boys who came snooping around. But do you know what I wish right now?"

"No," Mrs. Carson said.

"I wish that Billy what's-his-name would pinch her, or something."

Mrs. Carson stopped washing dishes. "Now look here," she said. As he got out of his chair, Mrs. Carson clutched frantically at his arm. "What are you going to do?" she asked. He didn't seem to hear. He just pushed past her and went into the living room.

Helen and Billy were sitting exactly as Mr. Carson had seen them when he passed through the living room a few minutes earlier.

Mr. Carson waited until he was towering above them in front of the sofa before he spoke.

"Now look here, boy," he said. "I heard a noise out in the kitchen. Did you pinch my daughter?"

Billy Simmons' mouth flopped open in protest. Helen turned red, then yellow, then green, then red again.

"Answer me, boy," Mr. Carson said. But his answer came from a different source. Helen rose and stood erect before her father.

"If you ever say anything like that again," she said in a tone that even surprised Mr. Carson, "I will never bring another one of my friends into this house."

"It's all right," Billy said.

"It's not all right," Helen snapped. "You didn't pinch me, and I won't have my father accusing you of such a thing."

"I don't blame him for worrying about you," Billy said. "You're awful pretty."

Mr. Carson watched the compliment soften her. It was wonderful to see her take it without blushing, or getting confused.

Then Mr. Carson watched Helen as she realized for the first time that she stood toe-to-toe with her shyness. He saw the whole story in her face. At first there was surprise, then full understanding, and finally something very strange. Mr. Carson didn't understand the last expression until she spoke.

"All right, Billy," she said. "If you think I'm pretty, how about taking me dancing?"

When Helen and Billy had left, Mr. Carson turned to his wife and smiled.

"Did you see that look on her face?" he asked. "It was brazen—downright brazen."

New Test Developed
Aid to Farmers

Scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have developed a test that will determine the degree of fatness of live cattle, sheep and hogs. It will be most useful for purebred breeders who are selecting their best young animals to be kept for breeding stock, the department reports.

A new device that can be a big aid to farmers is the light spray gun pictured above. It generates toxic-charged fog, which deals death to crop-destroying insects. Reports of tests say it will cover two acres with pest-killing fog in less than twenty minutes. Farm agents and farm machinery dealers can furnish further details about the new aid to farmers.

Wheat Growers Urged To Vote On Quota Question August 14

Wheat growers should weigh both sides in the wheat marketing quota situation and then vote on August 14, said Alfred P. Ballweg, Tuscola County agricultural agent, this week.

A two-thirds "yes" vote will provide 90 per cent of parity support under penalty controls. A one-third "no" vote will give free marketing but cut support to 50 per cent—and that only on allotted wheat. Here's the situation in capsule form from Agent Ballweg.

"Yes" will put quotas on all farms with more than 15 acres producing more than 200 bushels of wheat. It will penalize excesses, give 90 per cent support for farmers planting within allotments, and hold down production—bringing the supply closer to effective market demand.

"No" will throw out quotas and penalties, but not allotments. Price support will drop to 50 per cent for "acreage cooperators" and nothing for non-cooperators, and production probably will continue high—possibly increasing the surplus that forces allotments by law.

The national 62-million-acre 20-per-cent-less allotment is divided by counties on a 10-year history and on farms by past production, tillable acreage, rotation practices and other factors.

Excess production under allotments takes away price support for the producer; excess production under quotas is subject to a 45 per cent of parity penalty.

Any wheat grower who will plant more than 15 acres of wheat in 1954 should turn out to vote August 14, Ballweg said.
