Roy Benson Resigns To Accept New Post

Roy Benson, agricultural teacher at the Cass City High School, has resigned his position to accept a post as Assistant Agricultural Agent in Monroe County.

He will leave the Cass City school system Oct. 1 to assume his new duties, according to an announcement made by Supt. Willis Campbell.

Mr. Benson came to Cass City after graduating from Michigan State College. His first year in the local school system was 1948-49. He has taught here four years.

Mr. Benson was released from his contract by Supt. Campbell who is now working to replace him.

At this writing, no teacher has been signed for the post.

While here, Mr. Benson was in charge of the Cass City Chapter of the FFA, as well as all courses connected with farming in the Cass City School.

Since his arrival here, he has helped maintain the high standard set by the area in the Junior Livestock Show in Detroit and other projects carried on by the farm youth of the community.

Edison Company Asks Novesta Voters for Franchise Rights

Voters in Novesta Township will go to the polls Monday, Aug. 24, to decide whether or not they want to continue using service of the Detroit Edison Company.

Original grants to the company have expired and it will be necessary to renew permission for the company to continue service.

The election will be similar to those held in other townships and villages in the area.

The ballot that the voters will see Monday will read as follows:

Confirming grant of franchise to The Detroit Edison Company, for the purpose of the erection, construction and maintenance of towers, poles, mains, wires, pipes, conduits, apparatus, etc., requisite for the transmission, transforming and distribution of electricity for public and private use.

Voters will have the option of voting yes or no on the proposal.

Coming Auctions

Two auctions are listed in this issue of the Chronicle. William Allison will sell his household goods Saturday, Aug. 22, at his home, one block west and three blocks south of the stoplight.

A farm auction will be held Saturday, Aug. 23, when John Zabinski will sell his personal property at his farm, one south and one and one-half miles east of Cass City on Elmwood Road.

Red Cross Classes At Local Pool End With Field Meet

The annual swimming classes conducted by the Red Cross at the Cass City Pool were concluded Friday, Aug. 14, when a field day program was held under the auspices of Roger Parrish, swimming instructor, who was assisted by Don Stamat, Caro, the Michigan Red Cross water safety chairman.

Six events were held for swimmers from many Tuscola County communities, including Caro, Cass City, Gagetown and Unionville.

The field day opened with a race for beginners, the width of the pool, free style swim. Betty Stebbins, Caro, won the event and Joan Osgerby, Caro, placed second.

Home-coming Cost Put at $1,000 by Commerce Board

The annual Cass City Home-coming cost the Cass City Chamber of Commerce approximately $1,000 this year, according to a report filed before the board of directors Monday evening by Cliff Ryan, secretary of the organization.

Total expenditures for the one-day event here were $1,334.27 and revenue from various sources totaled $334.34.

Lion's share of the cost for staging the annual affair was money given in prizes and the cost for electrical service which this year included a permanent service that will be available for future events here.

Revenue from the Home-coming came from a 10 per cent fee charged for concessions and $146.35 derived from the dunker's chair.

Missing this year was the proceeds from the bingo game that had been a leading money producer in the previous three years of the Home-coming.

Some of the cost of staging the celebration was alleviated by E. B. Schwaderer who donated $50 to help pay for expenses and by Sommers' Bakery who gave 40 pies for use in the pie-eating contest.

With the completion of the Home-coming, the Chamber of Commerce is turning its attention toward the Christmas decorations which promises to be the most elaborate and beautiful of any in previous years.

Football Hopefuls To Report Aug. 29

Coach Raymond said that the first practice session for the squad will be held Monday, Aug. 31.

Caro Soldier Dies In Red POW Prison

One Tuscola youth, Sgt. Edward Findlay, son of Mrs. Mary A. Findlay, of RFD 4, Caro, died while a prisoner of war of the Chinese Communists.

However, Mrs. Findlay says that the information cannot be verified and that Sgt. Findlay is still officially listed as missing in action.

Mrs. Findlay was informed in 1950 that her son was missing. In June, 1951, she received a letter from him written in December, 1950, stating that he was a captive. She had no further word from him.

Sergeant Findlay was born in Caro, Jan. 28, 1932, and attended high school for one year before enlisting in the Army in 1948.

Local Service Clubs At Special Meetings

Both the Cass City Rotary and Gavel Clubs dispensed with regular meetings of their organizations to enjoy special outings arranged for their clubs.

In place of their regular meeting this week, the Rotary Club held their meeting Thursday, Aug. 13, when they were the guests of the Caro Rotary Club.

The meeting was held at the Caro golf course and members enjoyed golfing in the afternoon.

No Summer Vacation for This Crew

There's no letup for the custodians of Cass City Public Schools during the summer months. In the little time remaining before school opens here, the crew is busy beautifying the grounds near the grade school. Bill Patch is working with the wheelbarrow and Jerome Root is handling the shovel. Missing when this picture was snapped is Louis Wright, chief custodian.

They Come and Go

Bird Watcher Sees 72 Varieties in Area

Cass City has had a visitor who has aroused some curiosity and a little speculation recently. She has been seen on the village streets, along the highways and down by the river, gazing intently in all directions through binoculars. The visitor was Dr. Flossie Asher, whose husband, Cash Asher, has been a guest of his mother, Mrs. Louise Hartwick, for the past month. Dr. Asher has spent most of that time visiting in other parts of the state.

"I was told," Dr. Asher said, "that there were not as many birds here as there used to be, so I was interested in finding out how many species can be found in the Cass City area. I have checked 72 species, which is good, since August is considered the low ebb of the year for Michigan birds. Some have already begun their southern migrations. The warblers and many water birds are still in their far northern breeding ranges; but there are enough varieties here even now to make bird watching a real thrill."

Dr. Asher saw her first Michigan specimen of Northern Water Thrush down by the Cass River. She first saw that "teetering bird" by a creek in Blucher Park in Corpus Christi in May.

Some of the other birds she has listed in Cass City and its surrounding territory are: Yellow Warbler, Cedar Waxwing, Eastern Kingbird, Kingfisher, Oriole, Flicker, Catbird, Alder Flycatcher and Goldfinch.

"Of course, everybody is familiar with the Robins—rare visitors to Corpus Christi, Red-winged Blackbirds, Song Sparrows, Blue Jays, Crows, Grackles and Downy Woodpeckers."

Show Stuff of Champions

Decker Wins Play-off Title

Decker, showing the stuff of which champions are made, bounced back after an opening round defeat to win the Cass City softball play-off championship with a 7-4 victory over FFA Monday evening.

The game was a fitting climax to an interesting season that had more than its share of thrills and exciting games.

Decker won the game on the strength of two long home runs by their distance clouters, Don Krause and Pete Martin. Both played vital roles in the Decker championship game victory.

In the first inning with two away, Krause blasted a drive between Bill Martus and Chet Dorland that rolled nearly to the grandstand for two runs.

In the fifth inning with the score tied, Martin golfed one far over the right fielder's head to score before the ball could be returned to the infield.

In addition, Krause's fast fielding of a hit in the midst of a three-run fourth inning rally by FFA helped kill a Farmer rally that threatened to turn the tide in their favor.

With a run already across the plate and men on second and third, the fleet center fielder fielded a line hit and made a perfect toss to the plate to throw out Martus by 20 feet.

Decker had jumped off into an early lead by scoring two runs in each of the first two innings. FFA scored once in the third and three times in the fifth before Decker sewed up the contest with three

From the Editor's Corner

What difference a few miles can sometimes make. In the Cass City area crops are, in general, very good this year. Over by Marlette it's a different story. Wheat brought to the elevator has been reported at a minimum of 15 per cent damage and one sample of shocked wheat was reported at almost 100 per cent damage—with sprouts almost an inch long. Farmers in the area have exhausted the supply of dual wheels for combines and reports of two or three tractors hooked on to one combine are frequent.

In addition, many farmers are plowing under their bean fields or plan to plow them up in the near future.

Back before the turn of the century, almanacs were a fixture in many of the homes in the area. Today, of course, there are few to be found. We got our first look at an old-time almanac this week.

It was brought to the office by Mrs. Josie Brooks and was dated 1888. According to Mrs. Brooks, it belonged to her father.

We thought that an almanac furnished weather predictions and the various seasons of the year, but the sample brought to the office resembled a pocket-size encyclopedia. Besides many pictures, predominately of women who must have been the vogue in that era with long flowing dresses and plunging necklines, the almanac contained fishing and hunting information, Biblical facts, facts about the depth of the ocean and an article entitled "What to do until the doctor comes."

Summer School Work Nearing Completion

"There's not a great deal of difference between the amount of work to be done in the summer than there is in the winter," remarked Jerome Root, 12-year veteran custodian at the Cass City Public Schools.

"Yes, you can always find work to do," said Bill Patch, who has been working at the school for two years.

The work done by these two, together with chief custodian Louis Wright, who is on vacation, changes when school is out for summer vacation.

With the classrooms empty, the three men begin repairing, cleaning, constructing and working on the grounds to give the school a face lifting before the students return for classes in the fall.

This year has proved to be no exception. "The work went just about like it always does in the summer," Mr. Root remarked.

And the usual amount of work done by this trio is always considerable. This year, students returning to the school will have to become accustomed to two rooms that will be used for different purposes.

The health officer's room will be found in the southwest corner of the high school building. The restroom facilities that were there have been removed and the room converted for the health officer.

The teachers' restroom will house the art offices where the art teacher will have her office. Some of the art classes will also be taught in the converted room.

Harold Oatley will have an office this year. A converted storeroom in the southwest corner of the high school building will be his quarters.

Other additions and changes in the school done by the custodians include refinishing about 150 table arms on chairs and painting every bulletin board in the school. Naturally, the crew gave the floors its usual refinishing and has the rooms in spick and span condition.

Observant students will also be

Four Injured in Head-on Collision

A head-on collision one and one-half miles west of Kingston injured four persons Tuesday and badly wrecked automobiles driven by Donald Clark, Kingston, and Burton Howard Green, Monroe.

The accident occurred when Mr. Clark, driving east on M-46, attempted to pass a tractor driven by Elroy Gilmore, Caro R 3, and was unable to get back into his proper lane before colliding with Mr. Green.

Injured in the collision were: Gerald Green, lacerated hand and face; James Green, broken nose and lacerated forehead; Mrs. Clarabelle Green, sprained and lacerated leg, and Clara Vollmer, sprained back.

The injured were all passengers. Concluded on page 10.

Holbrook School's Problem Unsolved

Little was decided by voters of Holbrook School district at a meeting held Thursday, Aug. 13, to try and find a solution to the problem of where to find education for the children in the area.

A vote taken on the opinion of the group on where to send the pupils was inconclusive, according to members who attended the meeting.

Both Uby and Cass City schools are loaded to capacity with students and it is doubtful if there will be room for the students there.

If the students go to a school that does not transport students, parents will be forced to transport them at their own expense—another problem that is as yet unsolved.

First Area Polio Case Reported Here

The first polio case this year in a Cass City hospital was reported when Sherry McConnell, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh McConnell of Detroit, former residents in Cass City, was brought to Cass City Hospital Thursday, Aug. 13.

Sunday she was transferred to a Saginaw hospital. Her illness was diagnosed as polio encephalitis.

She was reported as improved early this week.

quick to notice the new coat of paint on every radiator in the building and teachers will be happy to see the acoustical tile on the two end stairways (a little of the tile is added each year to reduce the noise in the building).

New Equipment

Several pieces of new equipment have also been added to the school. In the commercial room, a new electrical typewriter will be available for the use of the students and home economic students will be using a new sewing machine built into a desk.

The new typewriter is the first of what authorities hope will be a complete line in a few years.

Tops Beef Show

Sweeney Family's Third Win

For the third straight year, a member of the Angus Sweeney family brought home top honors in the annual beef competition at the Huron County Fair.

This year, Mary Louise Sweeney, 17, received 39 cents a pound for her grand champion fat steer at the annual sale Friday in front of the grandstand.

Reflecting the drop in beef prices, the prize steer brought considerably less than the two champions showed by Jimmy Sweeney, 16, in previous years. In 1951, the Sweeney champion steer brought 56 cents a pound and in 1952 the Sweeney top steer brought 60 cents a pound.

The champion was a Black Angus weighing 1,005 pounds. It was purchased by the Peet Packing Company, Bay City.

Miss Sweeney purchased the steer from John Zimmerman of Cass City and fed it to win the Reid Special Trophy.

In another event at the fair, Roy Copeland, Cass City, was first in the lightweight horse-pulling contest.

Mobile X-Ray Unit At Tuscola Fair

Howard Slatter and Nicholas Van Patten, Tuscola County supervisors in charge of arrangements for the Saginaw Valley Mobile X-Ray unit, announced this week the unit would visit the Tuscola County Fair. Said Slatter, "The unit will be located on the grounds Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday and will be open from 1 p. m. until 9 p. m. each day."

Chest X-Rays will be given free to any person wishing to have a check-up at no cost to the individual.

The cost of the unit and operation is paid for by Saginaw Valley counties and is maintained for the purpose of early diagnosis of TB.

George Curtis, 2, Recovering From Tetanus Attack

Little George Curtis, 2, of DeFord is recovering from the attack of tetanus (lockjaw) that threatened to take his life last week, according to a report from Dr. H. T. Donahue, physician in charge of the case.

After the serum arrived at the Pleasant Home Hospital in Cass City, the boy started to improve. Two days later he was released from the hospital and sent home.

The only danger that remains for the youth, according to Dr. Donahue, is a reaction from the drug. Dr. Donahue said that the time for a reaction to appear was nearly over and it is extremely likely that little George will make a complete recovery.

All Contestants

Draft Amendment To Affect Tuscola Youth Tuesday

The recently signed Selective Service Regulations amendment will begin to affect draftees in this area Tuesday, Aug. 25, according to the Selective Service Board for Tuscola County.

The amendment states that all registrants not deferred as fathers cannot use fatherhood as a basis for exemption unless they can show extreme hardship and privation.

The amendment is aimed at persons who have received temporary deferments under existing regulations and later became fathers, thereby virtually gaining permanent exemption from the army.

The new law has taken a burden off the shoulders of local boards who have been reluctant to grant occupational deferments, or deferments to permit registrants to attend college or work on farms, if they believe the registrants might become fathers during their deferment period and thus escape service permanently.

The new law will not affect registrants already deferred on dependency grounds. They will remain in this classification as long as they maintain a bona fide family relationship in their home and the cause for such deferment exists.

All types cost more to operate

While the trend is toward more dial telephone service, the fact remains that the common battery and magneto telephones also furnish good telephone service.

YOU CAN EAT BETTER

the year round

with an ELECTRIC farm freezer

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Walters farm about 90 acres in St. Clair County. They are general farmers with a milking herd of 12 cows. They also keep 200 to 500 laying hens, and raise 500 broilers a year.

The Walters keep their farm freezer packed with meats, fruits and vegetables, either home-grown or purchased. Mrs. Walters says she doesn't know how they would get along without it. She finds freezing easier than canning, and loves the convenience of always having tasty food at her finger tips.

You, too, can enjoy better meals and extra convenience the year round with a farm freezer. For full information see your Edison Home Service Advisor.

Good wiring is always important. So always ask your Edison Home Service Advisor for his recommendations.

4-H's Paint Wilber Memorial Building

Several 4-H Club members and leaders spent Monday and Tuesday, August 10 and 11, giving the upstairs rooms of the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building a coat of paint. These rooms are used primarily to house 4-H boys exhibiting livestock at the County Fair.

Bruce Ruggles, Kingston, and Albert Bauer, Reese, supervised the job of brushing on several gallons of lime green paint. They are leaders of the Kingston Livestock and Van Petten 4-H Clubs, respectively, and also Building Committee members. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Young, Reese, were on hand, too, and brushed on a goodly amount of paint. They are leaders of the Gilford Community 4-H Club.

Among the 4-H club members who applied paint were John Findlay, Don Gillig, Bob Humpert, Russ Ackerman and Johnny Young, Reese; Florence Sinclair, Cass City; Betty Ondrajka, Owen-dale; Fred and Albert Ruggles of Kingston.

4-H Mothers' Club To Provide Meals For 4-H Exhibitors

The Tuscola County 4-H Mothers' Club will again manage the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building during the County Fair. This will be the fourth year they have undertaken to provide meals and lodging for the 4-H livestock exhibitors. Mrs. Milton Bedore, Unionville, president, states that this program has done much to make better conditions both in lodging and meals for these exhibitors. The club was organized originally with this thought in mind and since has expanded into other fields of 4-H interest. Any mother of a 4-H member is automatically a member and Mrs. Bedore urges all to participate in a program designed to make for more suitable conditions for our 4-H members. The campers pay a small fee for their meals and are requested to furnish a few items of food. Three good meals a day are provided and the camp is chaperoned by 4-H mothers and county extension personnel. Mrs. Vern Fader, Unionville, will cook this year. She follows Mrs. Loren Brady, also of Unionville, who has cooked for the camp for the previous three years.

Tip to motorists: Start sooner, drive slower—live longer.

STIRS UP TROUBLE

It's a proven fact that no one can do as he pleases without stirring up trouble with others who want to do the same thing.

Some say there are many things money won't buy—but still you can get some very satisfactory substitutes with it.

The experience is worth all it costs if it teaches people that Easy Street and Wall Street are different thoroughfares.

DREWRY'S IS FIRST IN SALES OF ALL 68 BEERS SHIPPED INTO MICHIGAN FOR 50 CONSECUTIVE MONTHS

The latest Michigan brewery sales figures for fifty consecutive months show Drewrys Extra Dry Beer the leading seller of all beers shipped into the state. For 1953 to date, Drewrys outsells the next leading brand by over 2 to 1 and outsells the next two leading brands combined. Drewrys is first in sales of all beers shipped into Michigan.

Michigan folks are demanding even more Drewrys...but Drewrys quality can't be hurried

You hear it everywhere in Michigan—the preference for Drewrys is growing so fast that folks would like us to supply even more Drewrys Extra Dry Beer than our present record-breaking volume!

We are trying to do this . . . but only as rapidly as our high and exacting standards of quality will permit.

Please remember that Drewrys Quality cannot be hurried. It takes added time and expense of extra brewing care and extra aging (as well as costliest ingredients) to make a beer as fine as Drewrys. That's why Drewrys is so wonderfully light you can enjoy as much as you want without a feeling of fullness afterwards . . . yet so hearty in flavor that Drewrys is always completely satisfying.

Absolutely no other beer has this method of brewing and aging. Today—prove to yourself what a tremendous difference this makes in beer enjoyment. Then—like thousands upon thousands of Michigan folks, you too will say, "I LIKE DREWRY'S BEST. IT'S THE FINEST BEER I'VE EVER TASTED—AT ANY PRICE!"

No full feeling
...yet always satisfying!

Training School at Presbyterian Church

The departments of the Presbyterian Church School were well represented at the potluck supper and business meeting held in the social room of the church Monday evening.

Following the supper, the pastor led a devotional on the theme, "Jesus sat a child in the midst," and Mrs. Ella Croft, superintendent, presided over the business meeting.

Among the plans for the autumn and fall quarter will be a special training school for teachers and parents, scheduled to begin Sunday evening, Aug. 30, at 8 p. m. The course will last for six weeks.

Rev. Melvin R. Vender will introduce the course, "Why Am I Teaching?" The pastor said, "The course is aimed primarily to help present teachers, but parents and prospective teachers will be welcome and find the discussion profitable."

Three MSC Bulletins Available at County Extension Office

Three Michigan State College publications of interest to farmers are available, free of charge at the office of Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent. They are:

Extension Folder F-175, "Electricity Provides Economical Farm Labor." The folder presents the account of a study of the records of electrical power use on the Ralph Cook and Sons farm in Calhoun County. The publication shows how the efficient use of electricity can replace many of the services of a hired man. The folder is authored by B. E. Henry, Calhoun County agent, and R. L. Maddox of MSC's agricultural engineering department.

Technical Bulletin 238, "Forest Cutting Practices in Michigan," by Lee M. James of MSC's forestry department. The publication presents a study of cutting practices in sawlog, pulpwood and fuel wood operations which throws much light on the question of species composition, quality and size of timber in Michigan forests. These operations result in nearly nine-tenths of the total timber drain in the state.

Technical Bulletin 237, "Nutritional Condition of Michigan Orchards: A Survey of Soil Analyses and Leaf Composition." The publication shows that certain fruit producing areas in Michigan appear to be considerably lower than others in the supply of nutrient elements available in the soil.

Russell O. Blakely Promoted to Sergeant

Russell O. Blakely, whose wife, Marjorie, lives at 10400 Parkview Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, recently was promoted to sergeant while serving in Korea with the 7th Infantry Division.

Blakely, a radio repairman in the 7th Signal Company, entered the Army in March, 1952, and arrived in Korea in February, 1953. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Blakely, live in Cass City.

Chapman's Holstein Averages 15 Quarts Of Milk Daily

With 12,099 pounds of milk and 433 pounds of butterfat to her credit, ElmCha Bessie Grandmaster, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Elmer F. Chapman, Decker, Michigan, has completed a 365-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry.

She was milked two times daily, and was two years of age when she began her testing period.

Her record averages approximately 15 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

Testing was supervised by Michigan State College, in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Michigan Mirror News Briefs

Chances to bag a deer are about as good as last year. And pheasant hunters can figure to shoot about the same number of birds as in 1952.

That's the prediction of Gerald E. Eddy, director of Michigan's Conservation Department, whose job it is to know such things.

Maintaining a wildlife census is only one of the responsibilities of the Conservation Department. Most of its duties, usually taken for granted by the public, have a direct effect on every Michigan citizen.

"To give the people the maximum benefit from natural resources is the aim of the modern conservation department," explains the director. "The old idea was to conserve by many restrictions," he continues. "But now we know that by careful planning, we can use more and have more left."

Illustrations of this are studies which show that short fishing seasons can actually result in overpopulation of fish in inland lakes. Deer, it was learned, multiply "nearly as rapidly as rabbits." Six were released in a protected area under ideal conditions. In six years, the same area contained 136!

This season will include one day when any deer, doe or buck, can be taken. The day is December 1; the area is limited to the territory north of M 65 in the lower peninsula.

A double problem is created for Conservation officials by the rapid expansion of Michigan's population. More people in the state mean more fishermen, more hunters, more campers. And living space for more people leaves increasingly less of Michigan's 37 million acres to devote to outdoor activities.

"What our department needs, says director Eddy, "is some organized support." He was referring to support which could lobby on behalf of conservation interests with the state Legislature. "Nearly everyone benefits from parks and other activities of the department," the director said. "But lack of organized pressure results in appropriations too small for park expansion which we think necessary."

The Conservation Department is proud of its system of state parks. Figures show that more than 13,250,000 picnickers and bathers will make use of them this season. Camping in park sites has been increasing for several years; is now at an all time high. "We could do and should do much more," states Mr. Eddy.

Pride is also taken by the department in its record of reducing loss from forest fires, its program for public fishing sites, forest management and its watershed developments.

William J. Pearson, Boyne Falls, Michigan's first fire warden and later member of a Conservation Commission, once said that a "normal year's" loss from forest fires was about 250,000 acres. This year's loss is 5,105 acres from 801 fires. The department's tower watch, air and forest patrols, all with radio communication, locate fires before they do much damage.

Every year more road signs are seen saying, "Public Fishing Site"—an important part of the department's program. Parking and boat launching facilities provide free access to lakes and streams and reduces trespassing problems for nearby landowners.

Riverbanks are now protected in the watershed program. This prevents cattle from killing plants along riverbanks and reduces soil erosion. Dirt washed into the water is wasted. Worse, it covers natural food sources for fish. Work with riverbanks was done along the Rifle River, the Pine River and is under consideration for several others.

Trees are cut for lumber market under the forest management program. The department auctions off the right to harvest mature timber from the 4 million acres of state forests. Trees are taken selectively, only when ready; and at a rate which will perpetuate Michigan woodland.

Facts and Figures: nearly 1,500 people make up the department's regular staff. This sum swells to 2,100 during summer when life guards, fire watchers, fish crews and other temporary workers must be added.

It costs more than $11 million annually to operate the department. About $7,200,000 come from fishing and hunting licenses; (2,535,206 were sold last year, more than any other state.) Balance of the budget comes from $250,000 in federal grants and $4,100,000 from the state.

Money is kept in separate funds. The portion appropriated by the state is used only on programs of general public interest. This includes forest care, geological surveys, parks and the like. Sportsmen support their own activities through the fund made up of license fees.

Organized in 1921, Michigan's

Conservation Department is controlled by a commission which has been, for the most part, free of political influence. Currently a battle has been raging concerning one commission chair. It is that of Harold Glassen, whose term expired early this year. The Governor appointed Ben East, well known sports man and outdoor writer, to succeed Mr. Glassen but the Legislature disapproved the appointment. Whether Mr. Glassen is a legal member, serving until his post is taken over by Legislative approved member, or whether the governor can appoint a member to serve now and until the Legislature either approves or rejects him, is a matter open to argument. If the Governor attempts to make a new appointment and if Mr. Glassen refuses to give up his chair, a lively political battle may take place.

"Scope of Michigan's department is the broadest of any in the country," says Director Eddy. Equipment to handle the task includes three airplanes used for fire spotting and emergency rescue work; several patrol boats on the Great Lakes; three Chris-Craft speedboats for checking on commercial fishermen, a photography lab and enough motor vehicles to fill the department's needs.

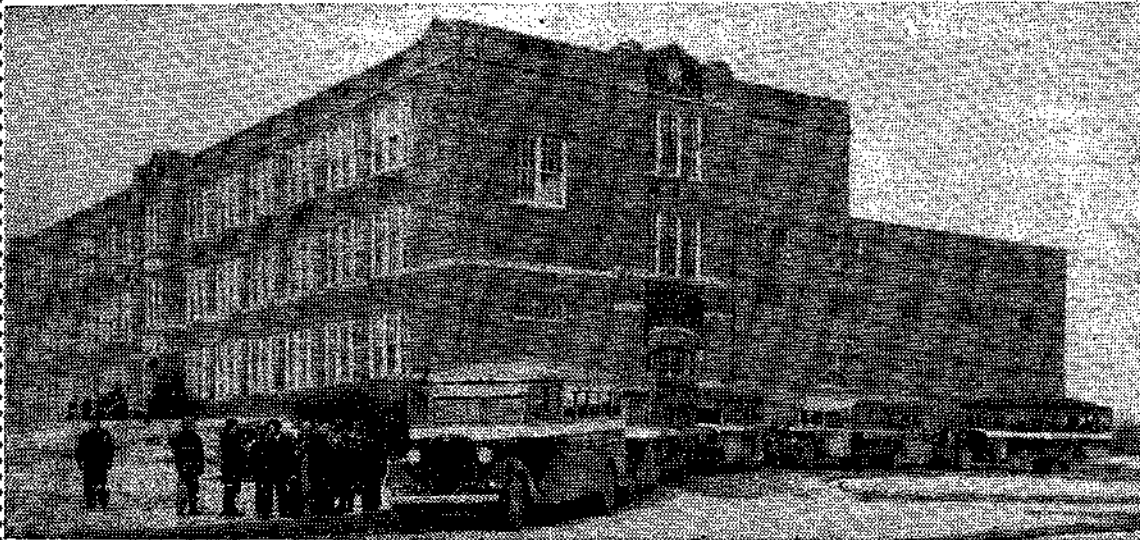

Wise use of Michigan's resources will guarantee recreational areas for sportsmen of today as well as tomorrow.

Take Soil Samples Now Says Agent

Now is the time for Tuscola County farmers to take soil samples for fertilizer recommendations, says Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent.

The county soil testing laboratory which is located in the Farm Bureau office in Caro is set up for rapid testing of all soil samples.

The laboratory tests the soil for lime needs as well as for the amount of available phosphate and potash in the soil. The results of the test are then sent to the county agricultural agent's office where fertilizer recommendations are made and mailed to the farmer.

According to Ostrander, information as to what crops were grown on the field in the past and the crop that is to be grown next year is needed to make a good fertilizer recommendation.

A good soil sample, says Ostrander, is one that represents the top six inches of soil in the field. The best way for the farmer to take this sample is to make a hole six to seven inches deep with a spade and then cut a slice of soil about one inch thick and six inches deep from the side of the hole. Mix the sample well. Then take about a cupful of this soil as the sample for testing.

If the field has about the same type soil throughout, Ostrander suggests taking several samples from different areas of the field and then make one composite sample to send to the laboratory.

If there are different soil types in the field, a separate sample should be sent in for each type.

Soil Erosion Cuts Productivity Contour Plowing Will Help Retain Soil

Soil erosion continues to be one of the major factors in the destruction of the nation's agricultural production. It is recognized as the most destructive agent in the depletion of the fertility of cultivated lands.

Contour plowing, terracing, water diversion, and proper use of crop residues and timely tillage aid will cut erosion to the point where fertility will be stabilized. Prevention of water run-off not only reduces the erosive action of water but adds to the supply of soil moisture which is necessary for plant growth.

Erosion is brought about by the removal of the organic matter, nitrogen, clay and silt fractions which are the life of soil; as well as through the physical removal of the soil body itself. These selecting and sorting actions of wind and water separate the lighter material from the coarser and heavier sand particles and carry them off leaving the more inert and less productive material behind.

Contour plowing, as pictured above, with alternate strips of plowed land, pasture and forage crops will help retard water run-off and hold moisture in the soil. It is one of the standard practices to prevent soil erosion.

For continued production and soil fertility conservation practices are a vital part of farming.

Exhibitors in the junior yearling class who received much ringside comment on outstanding calves were Audley Horner, Ronald Reagh and Kenneth Maharg.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Doerr were very fortunate in not being seriously injured when their car collided with another near Minden City Sunday. With Mr. and Mrs. Doerr were Mrs. Anna McDonald, Mrs. Herman Doerr and three children.

WAY TO HAPPINESS

Having everything you like will not make you happy—but liking everything you have will turn the trick.

COST OF EDUCATION

In buying a college education today a boy's father usually has to pay more for football than education.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.
