New Soil Lab Now Operating In Sanilac County

Cooperation between Sanilac County farmers, the Sanilac Extension office and the Sanilac Soil District has resulted in a brand new soil testing laboratory for the county.

The project, started last spring, was successful because of the donations of interested persons. Farmers in the county contributed $241 and the Sanilac Soil District added $165 towards the total cost of setting up the service in Sandusky.

Equipment for the laboratory cost $498.97 and installation costs raised the total cost figure to $526.42.

Directions for taking soil samples can be had at the Sanilac County agricultural agent's office in Sandusky, said Albert T. Hall, who was one of the persons responsible for the completion of the project.

Testing will be done by William Colclough, a graduate of Michigan State College. Each sample will cost the farmer 50c.

Plans for the erection of the laboratory were started in the spring when farmers and others were asked to donate money for the erection of soil testing facilities in Sandusky.

Mr. Hall pointed out that the laboratory has been completed in time for farmers to take samples on fields for next spring's crops. He advises farmers to have tests made early so that fertilizer and lime needed may be ordered at once.

Cass City CAP to Conduct Drive for Needed Funds

The Cass City Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol is inaugurating a drive to secure funds for a trailer capable of serving as a kitchen unit to serve in stricken areas in case of disasters.

The unit needs money for cooking utensils, cutlery, stove, small refrigerator and assistance in construction of the trailer.

The group already has a start on the project. An axle and frame have been donated to start the trailer.

A letter has been sent to businessmen in Cass City explaining the project.

Donations can be mailed or addressed to Warren Wood, Edward G. Golding, Jr., John W. Bayley or Wilfred G. Jolly, officers of the group.

The Cass City Squadron meets each Thursday over the fire hall in Cass City.

Voters Select Two for Positions on Board

Members of the Elkland Township Community Chest named Robert Keating and Mrs. Audley Rawson to replace Mrs. Edward Golding and Harry Little on the board of directors of the organization at the annual meeting held Tuesday evening at the Cass City High School.

The two new members were elected for three-year terms at the meeting.

A report by the retiring treasurer, Mrs. Golding, indicated that there was a balance in the chest treasury of $104.91.

In the past year, $5,408.70 was collected in Elkland Township and some additional funds were secured in a special drive for relief of tornado disaster victims.

The money goes to the Red Cross, earmarked for tornado relief. Meanwhile, at a meeting held on Thursday, Sept. 17, at the Montague Hotel in Caro, goals for the United Chest drive in Tuscola County were set.

This year the goal for the state fund will be $12,000, authorities said, in addition to the amount needed for local needs.

The total amount asked for from Elkland Township this year is $900. Funds are usually allotted from the local drive for this purpose.

The resignation of Rev. John Zeun this summer at the Vassar church was sustained by the group.

Rev. Joan Richards, PhD, of Gilby, N. D., received a call to the Akron church and the call was approved by the Presbytery. The new minister will receive an annual salary of $3,800.

Installation service has been arranged for Sunday at 7 p. m.

In other business before the Presbytery, four commissioners reported on the general assembly meeting at Minneapolis in June.

Auto Crash Claims Two More Lives In Tuscola County

A highway crash claimed two more lives in Tuscola County Monday when Walter Martin and Bertha Martin died in an accident on the corner of M-46 and Vassar Road.

Seriously injured in the crash were Gale Sweet, 28, and three-year-old Connie Sweet, both of Mayville.

Mrs. Martin died at 12:45, the time of the accident, and Mr. Martin died at 3:30 the same day after he and the rest of the injured were taken to the Saginaw General Hospital.

According to the Tuscola County Sheriff's department, the accident occurred when the Martin car failed to stop at the M-46 crossing, crashing into the left front end of the Sweet automobile.

The impact rolled over both automobiles and threw Mrs. Martin 70 feet out of the car.

Naaman Karr Instantly Killed in Auto Crash

Naaman Karr, 79, of Kingston was instantly killed Wednesday afternoon when a car he was riding in collided with a vehicle driven by Mrs. Marr, Flint, on M-21.

The crash occurred when Mrs. Marr attempted to make a right-hand turn into a gas station and was struck by a car driven by Amber Jones, Kingston.

Both Mrs. Marr and Mr. Jones are in a Flint hospital, badly injured.

Mr. Karr was well known in the Cass City area. He moved here from his birthplace in Seagraves, Canada, with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Karr, at the age of eight.

While still a young man, he moved to Kingston and was in the funeral business there for 50 years. He sold his business and retired Sept. 1, 1951.

Funeral services have been arranged for Saturday at the Methodist Church in Kingston. Burial will be in the Elkland Township Cemetery, Cass City.

Surviving are: his widow, Ethel; two sons, Mark of Onaway and Harold of Alpena; a stepson, William Ruhl of Pontiac; four grandchildren, and several nieces.

Judge Leibrand Sentences Clare Wood Wednesday

Judge Karl Leibrand sentenced Clare Wood to one and one half to 15 years in prison Wednesday morning after a jury had found him guilty of breaking and entering in the nighttime last week.

Mr. Wood was brought to trial for breaking into a store at Ashmore corners. The jury found him guilty and recommended leniency after deliberating for only 12 minutes Wednesday, Sept. 16.

In other cases on the circuit court docket, Judge Leibrand granted an order amending a decree that gave the custody of the child of Audley Chatters and Joyce Chatters to Mrs. Lydia Proctor.

Mrs. Proctor had actual custody of her grandchild before the hearing. The order of the court Wednesday gave her legal custody also.

In another child custody case, John Krizov was granted custody of his child from Gladys Krizov.

Hawks Grid for First Home Game of Year With Yale

The Cass City Red Hawks open their 1953 conference season tonight (Friday) with their first home game of the year against Yale at the Cass City Municipal Park.

The team will be trying for their first victory of the year following a 6-6 tie with Elkton Friday, Sept. 18.

Friday's game ranks as a toss-up on the form sheet. Yale is not expected to be one of the best teams in the league this year and Cass City will go again with a group of inexperienced but fast youngsters.

Inexperience probably cost Cass City an opening game victory against Elkton. The club showed flashes of brilliance in their opener, but was able to put forth only two concerted drives.

Both times they scored but one marker was nullified by a costly penalty.

Cass City scored the first time they got the ball. They kicked off to Elkton and held for downs and took the ball and moved the entire distance.

Arrest Tuscola County Youths for Stealing Auto

Two Tuscola County youths were apprehended in Freemont, Ohio, Sunday after breaking into the P & T Chevrolet Garage at Millington Saturday night.

Sheriff George Jeffrey said that John C. Perkins, 18, together with a 15-year-old youth, broke into the garage through a window and moved a car and wrecker to get at the automobile they stole.

The pair was tried in justice court this week and Perkins was released on a $1,000 bond.

The case against the minor is still pending, Sheriff Jeffrey said.

Mrs. John Esau Speaks to Local Group Tuesday

Mrs. John Esau, guest speaker, presented an interesting discussion on the basic principles of color, when the Cass City Home Demonstration Group met in the home-making rooms in the school building for the first meeting of the autumn season Tuesday evening, Sept. 22. She clarified her subject by the use of a color wheel.

Mrs. Esau was followed by Mrs. Fred Maier who presented the evening's lesson on "Color in the Home." Among many helpful suggestions, Mrs. Maier said, "Select colors for the living room that make it cheerful and inviting. Choose colors for the bedroom that are restful, those in the kitchen to make you whistle while you work. Choose colors that look well together and vary the amount of color." The speaker exhibited samples of carpet, paint charts, a wall paper and drapery album, and pictures from magazines to illustrate her talk.

Preceding the lesson, a luncheon was served at 6:30 by Mrs. Herbert Ludlow, Mrs. Albert Whitfield, Mrs. Ben Kirtan, Mrs. R. D. Keating and Mrs. Harry Falkenhagen from tables decorated with centerpieces of marigolds and zinnias arranged in low baskets which had been made by members in previous lessons.

During the business session, $10 was voted for the Brownie Group of which Mrs. Kermit Hartwick is leader. Mrs. F. L. Morris gave a report of a recent county council meeting and Mrs. Kirtan gave highlights of the meeting of the week.

Power can only come as prayer returns to be an attitude of life.

The optimistic, confident approach to a spiritual universe, with a childlike receptivity, as we stand passive before the high God and endeavor to commune with and utilize the ethical and moral processes of the world and become fired again with a zealous intensity of application and go forth to the great adventure.

And I see Jesus of Nazareth walking down the lonely, age-long highway of human life, deserted by the times, misunderstood by men, out of step with the on-going crowd, but filled with power.

So I see Jesus of Nazareth going down the great highway of human life in time with the celestial music of the most real and abiding world, the eternal world, whose we are, whence we came, and whither we go. And in the power of it, even now, Lord God, help us to win! Build a prayer life. Attend a prayer service.

Basic Rules Outlined For Tractor Efficiency

When you step into the tub for a cooling cleanup after a hard day, remember your tractor or truck. Heat and dust can make them balky.

A few basic rules for humans, if applied to your equipment, can mean greater efficiency. The rules: drink plenty of liquids, stay clean, go on a light diet and don't work too hard.

Here's how they compare: Frequent drinks are needed by the radiator because heat hastens evaporation of water. If radiator water is muddled with rust, drain and flush system, then add rust inhibitor when you refill.

Cleanliness, inside and out, will make an engine run cooler and better. Keep the ignition system free of dust and grime. And don't forget air filters.

Light diet is comparable to a leaner carburetor mixture. You don't need rich food in hot weather, neither does your engine. A fat carburetor "diet" in hot weather can build up carbon and heat, not to mention wasting fuel.

Less exertion means cutting down on friction and watching your driving habits.

Change in Feed Affects Milk Flavor

Changes in feed and management practices of dairy cows can be blamed for off flavors of milk in the fall, according to Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent for Tuscola County. During the fall months, Ostrander says, many varieties of feed flavor appear that would cause complaint from discriminating milk buyers.

J. M. Jensen of Michigan State College's dairy department reports that the most usual defects in milk are caused by perfectly good quality silage and hay. He suggests that faulty feeding practices can be blamed for any trouble.

Roughages fed at milking time or within two hours before milking are practically guaranteed to put feed flavor in milk. Hay, silage and mangles should be fed shortly after feeding, while concentrates may be given the cow at milking time without danger of off flavor milk.

In addition to normal roughages, other fall-time feeds cause trouble, too, notes Jensen. Potatoes, garden waste, apples and sugar beet tops are among them. With the exception of beet tops, however, these roughages may be fed safely shortly after milking.

Milk plants usually warn producers during beet harvesting time that they will not buy milk from herds that are fed beet tops. The flavor from beet tops in milk is not seriously objectionable when the milk is first drawn, reports Jensen. Morning milk received at the processing plant may be entirely wholesome. But chemical changes take place that eventually result in a decidedly fishy flavor, according to Jensen.

Adequate Corn Crib Profit Farmer

This year is one of the times that a farmer will be at an advantage to build adequate storage for his corn, suggests Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

He points out that the 13-cent government payment under the loan program for resealing will help defray part of the cost on some farms. And a new change in the tax law provides for depreciating a corn crib over five years instead of the customary 18 to 30 years.

Plans for building several types of corn cribs are available at County Agent Ballweg's office: (1) double crib with driveway, (2) single bin crib, and (3) storage of Earl Corn on the Farm, Farmers' Bulletin 2010. These plans also show how to rat-proof the crib. A catalog also is available to facilitate ordering of plans the farmer chooses from Michigan State College's agricultural engineering department.

New word for GETAWAY "TT" DYNAFLOW!

The 1953 Buick Super Riviera. Wire wheel covers, illustrated, optional at extra cost.

We'll get right to the point. The comments we've been getting from many new Buick owners about the new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow are terrific. And the reason is—this fully automatic transmission is, in itself, terrific. It has a new, firm, solid "take-hold"—gives you instant getaway response. It has new quiet—you can barely hear the acceleration build-up. It has unique and utter simplicity of operation. You just move your Selector into Drive range, press the pedal, and go. That's all. But the sweetest thing of all about TT Dynaflow is its smoothness.

You move from standstill to your legal speed in one progressive build-up of power delivery. You feel a constant "carry" of forward motion, unbroken in any way—because here no gearshifting takes place, either manually or automatically. Even your deceleration is infinitely smooth and gradual, with the cushioned control of flowing oil slowing down. Wouldn't you like to sample this wonderful new getaway and pleasant quiet and immaculate smoothness? We'll be glad to seat you at the wheel of a new 1953 Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflow—and let the thrills come where they may. Drop in soon, won't you?

Marshall to Attend 4-H Tractor Clinic

Tractors become more important on the farm every year, points out George C. MacQueen, Tuscola County 4-H club agent. Four-H club members realize the role power plays in agriculture, where one worker turns out the food to feed, and the fiber to clothe, 15 city workers.

National and local production depends more and more on tractors operating efficiently, without breakdowns and accidents, and that means proper maintenance. Join a 4-H club tractor maintenance project and learn how to do the job, invites MacQueen. The projects are set up primarily for boys of about 14 who have some experience in, and responsibility for, tractor operations on their home farms, he stresses.

Poor carburetion in tractors is wasting millions of gallons of fuel every year, according to agricultural engineers at Michigan State College. Lessons learned and applied by 4-H club members, and passed along to fathers and brothers on the farm, can reduce this waste, points out Robert G. White, MSC farm engineer.

Agent MacQueen invites youths to see their local 4-H club leader or contact his office in the court-house at Caro for information on 4-H club tractor maintenance projects.

For the tenth successive year, the 4-H tractor clinics will be held. Lapeer is the site for the clinic for this area, the spot being the County Center Building. Here on October 6-8 the leaders learn the "inside dope" on the project and how to conduct their local tractor club. John Marshall, Cass City farmer, will be a delegate to this clinic. Mr. Marshall was awarded a tractor clinic scholarship which is a new phase of this program this year. Plans for the coming year will again include several county-wide events, such as roller skating parties, tractor operators' contest and plowing contest.

Final Plans Set for Management Tour

Final plans are being completed for the Tuscola County Farm Management Tour which will be held Thursday, October 1, according to Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent.

Three farm stops and a special noon program will be featured on the tour, Ostrander stated.

Stop Number 1 will be at the Walter Hecht farm, located 2½ miles west of Vassar Road on M-46. At this farm special emphasis will be given to cash crop farming and the figuring of the soil productivity balance.

Stop Number 2 will be at the Austin Woodward farm, located 1 mile south and 2 miles east of Millington on Barnes Road. Intensive dairy farming on a small acreage will be the main feature at this stop. Attention will also be given here to the farm shop and use of labor saving devices.

The noon program will be held at the vocational building of the Millington School. Lunch will be provided. Jake Meachum, vocational agriculture teacher, will act as program chairman. Special feature of the noon program will be a talk by Warren Vincent, agricultural economist from Michigan State College. The title of Vincent's talk will be "Management to Meet the Future."

Stop Number 3 will be the Ted Keinath farm, located 4 miles west and ½ mile north of Millington. Here special attention will be given to a diversified farming program which includes cash crop, dairy, beef, sheep, swine and bees. A special feature at this stop will be an airplane dusting demonstration by the Welch Brothers Flying Service of Vassar.

The tour schedule will be as follows: Stop Number 1—9:30 a. m.; Stop Number 2—10:45 a. m.; Noon program—12:00 o'clock, and Stop Number 3 at 1:30 p. m.

All Tuscola County farmers and their families are urged to attend.

The chief reason we should remain armed to the teeth is to keep friendly nations friendly.

law passed in the last session of the Legislature.

Immediate effect upon all drivers is the expiration date of their licenses. Each license must be renewed upon the owner's birthday at three year intervals.

A central file will be set up in Lansing as soon as possible and all moving violations or accident records will be noted on each driver's file. This is a recommended method to maintain better control of the state's poor drivers.

Safety experts predict better driving and fewer accidents if law is enforced.

Now a mess, the files must be completely reorganized. Mr. Richards says that money was not provided for many years to keep adequate records and none were kept. He estimates that present files contain names of more than five million drivers—though he believes Michigan has only three and a half million. "People have died or moved out of the state," he explains, "and their names were not removed."

No "oversight" proposition, several years will be required to conform to all provisions of the new law. At present a new filing system is under consideration. This is no small item in itself. The system looked upon with favor at this time costs $800,000 over a three year period. It is more economical than it sounds, however, for this equipment could be staffed at much less expense for clerks.

You'll be hearing more about the new licensing law. The change-over might be a little painful, but the total result will benefit the people of Michigan in lives saved.

The sad plight of nine high school athletes showed signs of improving after a meeting of Administration Code Committee of the State Legislature in Lansing. The nine boys were ruled ineligible by the Michigan High School Athletic Association by order of its executive committee. They were found guilty of accepting "gifts" or "prizes". But trifling values were involved. Circumstances showed that the boys did not understand acceptance would bar them from school competition as professionals. Articles were returned by boys unused.

Words of anger and disgust from parents, fans and state legislators were directed at the athletic association which made the stern ruling. Amusement was expressed that the school committee should deal so sharply and with such lack of understanding. Six of the boys from Hastings had accepted fish rods valued at $2.41; two U. P. boys had received small prizes for winning a local golf tournament.

The same law which the committee so rigidly enforced also provides that appeal can be made to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Dr. Clair L. Taylor, who holds that position, agreed last week to hold such a hearing.

Educated fish now stock Michigan's streams! About 5,500 legal-sized trout were planted in northern streams as part of a Conservation Department attempt to teach "home grown" fish to deal with facts of life... when and where to feed to avoid natural enemies, and make them better game fish.

Electric shocks were used to teach fish to adapt themselves to safer parts of streams. Training was carried on at the Oden Fish Hatchery under the direction of tary of the Michigan Historical Psychological Research Association, Inc.

Improvement was demonstrated for a group of newsmen who agreed that the untutored fish reacted differently from the "graduated" groups. Planted fish are tagged or fan-clipped so that a check can be made on results or training later.

A free copy of a new history book about Michigan will be sent to every recognized library in the state. The volume will be published in the fall of 1954. Author is Dr. F. Clever Bald of the University of Michigan, who compiled the history at the order of the state historical commission. It is designed for 10th grade reading level but should be interesting to adults as well.

Publication of this book will fulfill half the endowment provisions of the late Dr. John M. Munson, president of Michigan State Normal College from 1933 to 1948. Dr. Munson willed $104,000 to the historical commission for the preparation of a history of Michigan and an account of the history of education in the state. Arrangements for the second book will be made after the history is published, according to Dr. Lewis Beeson, secretary of the Michigan Historical Commission.

Public access to welfare records will be permitted under a new law which takes effect October 2. To examine a specific case, the inquiring person must sign an application blank giving his reasons. Records of all welfare grants, including aid to dependent children, and old age assistance are covered by the law.

People proved less nosy about welfare cases than was claimed by opponents of the law. A major argument against opening the rolls was the citizens forced to accept such help would lose their "rights of privacy." Important argument in its favor was that open records would discourage chiselers.

Neither claim seemed valid when viewed in the light of experiments in two counties. Ingham and Lenawee opened their rolls a few months early under a previous law which permitted them to do so. Records show there was little public interest. Harold Hough, Lenawee welfare director, said, "No one came to see our books—not even a reporter." The Ingham director, Daryl V. Minnis, said, "We had seven requests to see our rolls, two from newsmen. The other five were from members of the board of supervisors."

Plant Cover Crops To Check Erosion

Government allotments, cutting wheat acreage about 35 per cent this fall, will leave many acres unprotected and subject to severe soil erosion, cautions Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. Rolling ground is especially liable to fall and spring erosion, he explains, if it is not protected with a cover crop.

Land not going into wheat this fall because of the allotments should not be left bare to await a spring crop, agrees Richard M. Swenson, soil scientist at Michigan State College.

There are several crops that can protect soil from erosion and add needed organic matter to be plowed down in the spring, suggests Swenson. Wheat can be used as a cover or green manure crop if permission is obtained ahead of time from the local Production and Marketing Administration office.

Rye will make a good cover this fall but many farmers dislike rye because of the "volunteer" rye to be found in succeeding crops. Oats is a crop to appeal to many—even though oats freeze down during the winter, they will provide a protective cover. Rye grass also can be used. Success of a cover crop in preventing soil erosion depends on a good ground cover, notes the Michigan State College soils man.
