

From the Editor's Corner

According to reports from Reynolds, Knight of Chicago, whose job is finding out these facts, the American public can expect to see several new gadgets on the market. Among them are an all-weather electric coffee maker, imported from Germany, which is better than the flimsy, transparent bars for typewriters and that black-out of the second hand above the one you are writing to, in case you want to read it; a gadget that freezes anti-freeze with carbon dioxide to tell you how safe your radiator is for driving in cold weather; and a new gauge that tells the brake mechanic whether an automobile brake drum can be re-machined or must be replaced.

Seems to us that the transient typewriter has about told the list of inventions most likely not to succeed.

One of the best ways to become acquainted with persons in foreign countries is to correspond with them. Evidently, this must have been on the mind of Mustafa Atengbes, African youth, who wrote the paper requesting new pals of both sexes here.

His letter interested us and we reprint the text for you: "I beg most humbly and respectfully in order to publish my name and address in a fold of your widely journal as a Nigerian youth that needs pen pals, both sexes, in your country. Thanks for the courtesy of your nation, I remain here, yours truly, Mustafa Atengbes."

The youth's address is: 103 Palm Church Street, Lagos, Nigeria.

Schulze Speaks to WSC Tuesday at Local High School

Klaus Schulze, an exchange high school student of Germany, addressed the Women's Study Club Tuesday afternoon in the agriculture room of the high school building at their monthly meeting. Mr. Schulze is spending a year in this country to study American life and schools. He is making his home with Supt. and Mrs. Willis Campbell.

In his talk, Mr. Schulze said that the project of exchange students between America and Germany originated in 1947 and at the present time there are 450 German exchange students in the United States. He explained the method of selecting these students and gave a vivid description of the German school system. He finds the American people to be very friendly. At the close of his discourse, he answered several questions of his audience.

Mrs. M. C. McLellan gave a report on the "Club Woman" and Mrs. Herbert Ludlow, president, conducted the business session during which it was voted to send a CARE package to Korea.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Baker on Tuesday, Dec. 8, and will be in the form of a Christmas party. Arrangements will be made by Mrs. Harold Perry, Mrs. Robert Gross and Mrs. Harry Falkenberg.

Members are requested to bring gifts to this meeting as a good will gesture. The donations will be sent to Germany to be used in sewing classes for young girls between the ages of 10 and 20. According to Charles L. Belf, U. S. Army Vice Chief of Staff, the following articles are needed: woolens, rayons, cottons, corduroys, nailwool, flannel, pattern books, wool for knitting and crocheting, cotton for knitting and crocheting and knitting needles.

Financial Statement Reveals

Cass City in Healthy Financial Condition

The village is in a very healthy financial position this year, according to a report submitted to trustees by Treasurer Wilma Fry.

A financial report through Nov. 22, that did not include bills for November, shows that the village spent only $27,189.81 of $76,821.68, leaving a balance of $49,631.87 in the treasury.

The village has this healthy balance, despite the fact that they have retired $10,000 worth of water bonds in advance of scheduled payments. Only $1,210 was budgeted for bonds.

The treasury picture is the result of the highest amount ever received from sales tax diversion.

The council set the amount they expected to receive at $10,500 and has received $12,384.

Weight and gas tax receipts from the state have also exceeded the expected figure. Budgeted at $11,000, the village has received $12,241.18. Another item that has exceeded receipts is local fire money. Budgeted at $1,000, it has already produced $1,600. The local tax rate remained the same this year but increased valuation raised total revenue from that source slightly—from $27,000 to $27,639.

The increased revenue has been accompanied by less expenditures than anticipated in 1952. Ten thousand dollars was to have been set aside for paving Main Street.

Privileges of a sewer in Cass City do not cost the taxpayers of the village any special additional funds—costs are met through taxation.

It will cost approximately $1,000 to run a sewer from the present nearest line to Mr. Smithson's home.

Mr. Smithson has two acres where he lives and running the sewer would probably increase the value of lots around his home, the Council felt.

Yes, he did not buy the property for development, Mr. Smithson has lived at his present address for about five years and did not apply for village sewer until his septic tank became faulty.

Trustees were trying to come up with a fair policy Tuesday that could serve as a guide to future applications of the same nature.

When the discussion ended, the trustees had not made a definite decision and tabled the request for further consideration.

Final Hearing for 11 Slated in County

Eleven Tuscola County residents are expected to have their final hearing for naturalization in the December term of circuit court scheduled in Caro.

Included are two persons from Cass City, Corinne Margaret Oregano and Rosemary Theresa Patena.

Others are: Dorothy Marie Kruska and Fred Kruska, both of Fairgrove; Michellina Mary Woloshan, Caro; Helen Lee, Reese; Frances Jane Dieck, Vassar; Peter Leschkevic, Caro; Anthony Frank and Thelma Frank, Mayville, and Adam Gotler, Clifton.

IN OPERATION

Typical of the efforts of volunteers, who are giving two hours of their time each week to man the Cass City Ground Observers' Post from 6 a. m. to midnight daily, are these two men. Snapped on the first day the post opened were Phil Doerr, standing, and William Killam. Mr. Killam is brushing up on airplane identification while Mr. Doerr watches for planes in the area.

How Far to Go?

Council Perplexed by Free Sewer Problem

A petition submitted by Roy Smithson for a sewer extension to his home touched off a perplexing problem for the Cass City Village Council Tuesday night at their regular meeting at the Cass City Municipal Building.

Trustees debated for over an hour around the question of how far the village should go at their expense for sewer extension.

In previous years, an ordinance was passed that stated that sewer extension to subdivisions would be charged 70 per cent to the property owner and 30 per cent to the village.

The law was enacted by the previous Council to prevent buying undeveloped property, plotting it into lots and then cashing in on sewer and water extensions at the village's expense.

Mr. Smithson's appeal has brought into sharp focus this question: Where does the Council draw the line on free sewer extension?

Arthur Holmberg Speaks at Gavel Club

Arthur Holmberg, principal at the high school, was guest speaker for the Gavel Club Tuesday night. He was presented by C. M. Walker, townmaster, as a familiar and welcome guest.

"Nitrogen, Creator and Destroyer" was his topic. He said that to the scientist the chemical elements seem to have personalities and compared nitrogen to the two-faced Hindu idol representing the powers of creation and destruction.

He said that while the element nitrogen is necessary for all life, it is also the essential element in chemical explosives, such as gunpowder, nitroglycerine and dynamite.

Fred Auten led a discussion on the question of parking meters for Cass City streets. Many club members spoke for and against the proposal. Arguments for included that the revenue might make it possible to reduce village taxes and that it would be convenient to have parking places open near business places.

Opponents said that meters might discourage out-of-town business, and that as long as we have enough parking, there is no need for meters in Cass City.

The club voted to follow their usual practice of a village Christmas tree and a Santa Claus for the children.

Leonard Smith, program chairman, announced next week's guest speaker is to be David Boyne of Marquette, national president of the Future Farmers of America.

Second Bad Check Passer Arrested In Tuscola County

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department arrested the second man in two weeks for passing bad checks in the county.

James Johnson of Chicago, who was working on a railroad labor crew near Mayville, was arrested on a charge of fraud.

He signed the name of a county businessman to a check which he passed in the Forest Store in Mayville.

He is being held by the Tuscola Sheriff's Department for circuit court trial.

The arrest followed the apprehension of Earl Theriff, 25, last week on a similar charge.

Since Theriff was arrested, three more bad checks issued by him have been turned in to authorities.

New Police Car On Docket for Village in 1954

Judging from the informal discussion Tuesday evening by members of the Cass City Council, a new police car with a two-way radio can be regarded as a virtual certainty next year.

Trustee Ben Henckelman, who annually is in charge of preparing the budget for the village, was asked to allow money in the 1954 appropriations for purchase of the vehicle.

At the present time, the village pays Constables Steve Otto and Bill Schram mileage for the use of their cars. Council authorities expect to save enough money in mileage payments to make the investment for the car a profitable one.

Other Business

Several other projects and changes are on the docket for next year. In fact, the Council has hired a pool director, a lifeguard and recreation director to man its summer program.

If conditions warrant the change at the time, the Council wants to eliminate the recreation director and hire a man to supervise the playground in the mornings and act as lifeguard in the afternoon and evening.

The tentative proposal was discussed because of the short tenure of the recreation program in the morning and the almost complete absence of interest in a formal program in August.

However, trustees said that if this year proves to be an exception to the rule, no interest is shown in recreation, a man will be hired for duty to supervise the program.

Trustees spent $97, the same amount as last year, for membership in the Michigan Municipal League. The Council felt that the village called on the organization enough times in 1953 to make the investment a profitable one.

In addition to Main Street, which the Council believes is a virtual certainty to be resurfaced next year, trustees plan to resurface Steeger Street.

Members estimated that there would be about a mile of black-top needed on the streets in the village.

The Council okayed a building permit for Richard Erla for a garage erected on Maple Street in Cass City.

Brownies Vote to 'Adopt' Grandmother

All three Cass City Brownie Troops met Tuesday in the Girl Scout rooms and to promote a feeling of respect for elderly persons. Two of the troops have "adopted" a grandmother for the year. The third group plans special attention to patients in the Stevens Nursing Home.

Mrs. Musser's group, number six, assisted by Mrs. Jay Crane, made turkey favors at the meeting. The group has chosen Mrs. Maude Wayne for their grandmother of the year and the girls presented her with a box of fruit for Thanksgiving. Every girl wrote a note to enclose with the box.

Group number seven, which has Mrs. Don MacLellan as leader, also adopted a grandmother for the year. A letter of welcome was written to her and signed by each troop member. The girls made turkey favors Tuesday and concluded on page eight.

Questions Reveal Dilemma Home, School Council Notes Space Problems

The need for more space in the Cass City School system was brought into sharp focus Monday night by a group of questions related to school problems presented to a panel for discussion.

Under the direction of Mrs. K. I. MacRae, members discussed the physical education program, length of class periods, a hot lunch program and the noon-hour arrangement for discussion.

All persons acquainted with the school system want to see a physical education program that would include courses for high school girls and grade students. A careful explanation of the facts revealed that with the available space the program is not feasible.

The same problem is apparent in the search for the solution to a hot lunch program and a better noon-hour schedule for teachers.

The panel did say, however, that perhaps some girls could be used as assistants to give the instructors a break at lunch time.

The problems brought forth by the discussion have been apparent to the school board for some time and the group is actively campaigning for an addition to present facilities to alleviate a situation that promises to become worse instead of better.

Members of the panel participating in the discussion were: Ephraim Knight, James Gross, Miss Thelma Hunt, Mrs. Norman Huff, Miss Grace Chisholm, Mrs. Ed Baker, Lester Ross and Arthur Holmberg.

The group was well entertained at the meeting by the seventh grade band, under the direction of Ralph Powell. The guests played three selections, "Indian Boy," "Toonerville Trolley" and "Sky-rocket March," for their entertainment.

Concluded on page eight.

Foy and Eckilsen Honored

Cass City placed two men on the Thumb All-conference football team for 1953. It was announced at a meeting of the coaches of the teams at Marquette, Monday evening.

The two Cass City selections were Russell Foy and Clint Eckilsen. Foy was the athlete plug for the Hawks all season and proved to be an elusive open field runner and effective defensive ball player.

Eckilsen made the team the hard way. A veteran quarterback on the Hawk team in 1952, the hard-driving, two-way player shifted to the line for the good of the squad. He well he adjusted to the new position as seen by his selection on the mythical squad. Both of the boys are seniors.

Although Cass City placed two men on the squad, Caro dominated the squad with four members. They placed Allen Downing, and Jerry Holben, center; Ralph Fuester, lineman, and Jerry Moore, back, and Holben and Downing are juniors and Fuester and Moore are seniors.

Rounding out the first team are: Jim Kervin, Bad Axe, and Dean Boomgardner, Marquette, and Ken Francis, Sandusky, Linemen; Orlie Lemanski, Bad Axe, and Wayne Withers, Vassar, backfield.

Second Team. Cass City also placed one man on the second team squad. He was Bill Tucker at center.

Other selections: ends, Lynn Davies, Marquette, and Ted Puhl, Crosswell-Lexington; linemen, Chuck Toytan, Vassar, Dick Palm, Bad Axe, Clark Polenta, Yale, Tim Quinn, Caro; backfield, Dale Catred, Caro, Bob Case, Bad Axe, Ronald Taylor, Sandusky, Douglas Valters, Marquette.

The honorable mention list for this year included three Cass City players. They were: Don Simmons, Don Doyen and Jack Clark.

The complete honorable mention list ends: Jerry Hynek, Bad Axe; Dick Wedge, Sandusky; Burton Allen, Vassar; Hoseney, Gary Macklin, Crosswell-Lexington; Norm Schmider, Vassar; Paul Byrnes, Marquette; Joel Hiley, Crosswell-Lexington; (Robert) Pennington, Crosswell-Lexington; centers, Tom Storey, Marquette; Wilford Bowron, Bad Axe; backfield, Tom Rude, Marquette; Clint Elliot, Crosswell-Lexington; Clarence Vining, Marquette; Bob Hyle, Carl Case, Yale; Bob Hyle, Yale, Ron Rogers, Bad Axe.

In other business at the meeting, the coaches voted to hold annual conferences at Caro, March 23, and at the conference at Sandusky, March 24, to discuss basketball, football and letter.

New Chev. Trucks Arrive Saturday

H. M. Bolen returned recently from Flint where he saw a preview of the new Chevrolet trucks scheduled for display to the general public here Saturday at Bolen Motors.

Because of the many new features, Bolen said that, in cooperation with the parent company, a special, individual showing of the trucks would be made.

This is the first time in many years that Chevrolet has exhibited new trucks apart from new passenger car models and one of the very few times that the procedure has been allowed in the history of the company.

Farm Groups Supporting Present Administration

The voice of Michigan agriculture—what is it saying on current issues such as price support, the firing of Charles Figy, the Michigan State Fair?

Politicians are weighing resolutions recently adopted by two Michigan agricultural organizations for answers.

The Michigan Farm Bureau, spokesman for nearly 60,000 farm families and the Michigan Grange, leader for some 30,000 members held their annual conventions recently. If you analyze their resolutions carefully, you'll be fully convinced that the two groups constitute collectively, in spirit at least, a "voice" representative of the thinking of Michigan farmers who are a sturdy and independent lot.

"Who shall speak for farmers?" asks a Farm Bureau resolution. It "deplores the attempts of federal government action groups to speak," stating, "Only farm organizations maintained through the initiative and voluntary membership of farm people themselves can adequately and truly represent farmers."

A third organization, the Farmers Union, is believed to claim nearly 5,000 families, but even this figure is challenged by some.

Hottest political stand is that supporting Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson. Farm Bureau members offer this support completely. Their resolution also charges that "unwarranted attacks are made upon his administration by the very individuals and interests that are chiefly responsible for creating the problems he inherited."

The Bureau also backs the controversial reorganization of the U. S. D. A., which somehow has become confused with lack of support by the administration for soil conservation. Carl Buskirk, Paw Paw, president of Michigan Farm Bureau, said soil conservation would be supplied more efficiently under the new plan. "What some people are really worried about is job conservation," he said.

"Everyone seems in favor of government economy until the loss of job situation arises," the president continued. "Then economy seems to take on an 'evil' aspect."

"We keenly resent this sinister trend." That's a quote from a Farm Bureau resolution which refers to politics in the state Department of Agriculture.

The Michigan State Grange makes itself equally clear on the same subject by charging that Gov. Williams violated the intent of the 1945 "bipartisanship" statute by "replacing members (of the agricultural commission) whose terms of office have expired regardless of their ability, qualifications or periods of efficient service."

Both groups were talking about the controversial firing this summer of Charles Figy, director of agriculture, and the subsequent replacing of commissioners who opposed the action.

The Grange also expressed fear that the state fair board will be subjected to even more pronounced political pressures. This they hoped to avert by proposing that control of fair be transferred from the board to the agricultural commission.

Most important and far-reaching Farm Bureau resolution, in the opinion of its spokesmen, is the stand it takes on research and education.

Terming price supports and stabilization plans "temporary and economic pain killers at best," the resolution calls for study to find new uses for farm products and higher return from land under cultivation.

"Only through an accelerated program of research and education can the farmer receive a fair return for his investment and labor, and provide a dependable, adequate supply of food and fiber for the consumer," says Clark L. Brody, vice-president of the Bureau.

"High price supports are hard on the integrity of a nation," he said. "It presents a difficult ethical problem to farmers when they are paid money for crops that they know are not put to efficient use."

A state speed limit is backed by the Grange. They suggest a 60 mile an hour limit by day, 50 mph after dark. The Bureau, however, is not sure a speed limit will solve the problem. It urges more study.

Support for distributing money from sales tax on a current basis is forthcoming from both groups. This matter is expected to be considered in the next session of the legislature under a bill proposed by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin, (R Lenawee). Under the present system, there is a two year lag between the time sales tax money is collected and the time it is returned to local branches of government.

Township government, now under attack as unfair and inefficient, also gets backing of both groups. "We believe in home rule, but we also realize that we must be willing to do our part to make good government a reality in our local communities," reads a Farm Bureau resolution.

Other subjects advocated by the Grange include: no limits on earnings of people drawing social security benefits; hospital privileges for osteopathic physicians; uniform inter and intra state traffic laws.

Grange resolutions opposed: voting rights for 18 year olds; lifetime front and rear license plates; additional fortification of milk, which would be a move "to turn it into a patent medicine."

There was approval from the Farm Bureau for: improved state grading; uniform Sunday hunting regulations on a regional basis; promotion of the "Ask the Farmer First" campaign for hunters.

Bureau resolutions were against: changes in the state sales tax diversion plan; taxation on a state equalization plan; compulsory social security for farmers; a federal sales tax.

These policies were expressed only after much serious thinking and discussion. The responsibility for them was keenly felt. This is best demonstrated by a few lines in the foreword of the Farm Bureau list of resolutions. They read: "We cannot, as the spokesman for nearly 60,000 Michigan farm families, afford the luxury of unsound decisions. The prestige and strength of the Farm Bureau requires that our policies be a part of the solution—not part of the problem."

The worst bad habit consists in boasting about not having any.

Why the big swing is to Ford!

More than a million buyers decided on Ford this year . . . because Ford's

"worth more when you buy it . . . returns more of its worth when you sell it!"

They like it in traffic!

They're swinging to Ford for good reason. Only Ford in its field offers you a choice of V-8 or Six, with the smooth, agile performance you need for getting around in today's kind of traffic. You get a choice of three great drives . . . conventional, fuel-saving Overdrive or Fordomatic, the only automatic in Ford's field with an automatic intermediate gear for extra GO. You get the full visibility you want, too . . . the most in Ford's field.

They like it in the hills!

Both V-8 and Six give you hill-flattening GO on "regular," thanks to the Automatic Power Pilot. And Master-Guide power steering, available on all V-8's, makes turning up to 75% easier yet retains the natural "feel" of steering on the straightaway.

They like it for ride, for room, and for just plain good looks!

Front end road shock alone is reduced up to 80%! Ford's wide seats accommodate six, while the trunk is a whole suitcase bigger. And Ford's good looks speak for themselves.
