Michigan Mirror News BRIEFS

A key recommendation of the Michigan "Little Hoover Commission" may get the spotlight before voters at the November election.

A resolution sponsored by 12 Republican senators provides four year terms for administrative officials, legislators and county officers. Present term is two years.

It would also prohibit a man from holding the governor's office for more than two consecutive terms.

Law requires that changes in the Constitution be approved by two-thirds of each chamber of the legislature and by a majority of the people.

Lengthening the terms has been approved by two-thirds of each chamber of the legislature and by a majority of the people.

Lengthening the terms has been approved by the state Republican policy committee; Democrats are reported to be split on the issue.

Legislators liked the idea so well that they added their own positions and county officials to the list requiring four-year terms.

No great opposition has developed to the two-term limitation for governor provision. The new law will permit one man eight consecutive years in the post, and most people seem to think that is enough.

Provided the resolution is approved at this session, the November ballot will ask Michigan voters to elect candidates for each office and whether or not the next term served shall be two or four years in duration. Gov. Williams would be eligible to serve two more terms if he were elected.

Charges of "steamroller" met Republican maneuvers to amend the proposed 409 page election code with a provision that state and federal ballots be combined under party labels.

GOP members in both House and Senate agreed to limit by parliamentary procedure the proposing of additional amendments to the new Michigan election law. Since Republicans control both chambers, chances are the bill will pass in this form.

Gov. Williams will be faced with a choice of letting the entire act become law or signing his name on the veto line. Republicans are not sure of enough votes to override a veto, but they seem willing to risk it.

Advantage of the combined ballot falls to the party which elects the President. It makes it easier for state politicians to "ride in on the coattails" of a popular national candidate.

State and federal ballots were combined for many years. In 1943 they were separated to prevent Democrats from cashing in on the appeal of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Since President Eisenhower has some appeal of his own, Republicans in the legislature favor going back to the old system.

Cries of politics by the Democrats were met with the same charge by Republican Sen. Joseph Cloon of Wakefield.

Cloon made no bones about favoring the switch because it benefits the GOP, and made a strong point of Democratic opposition to the bill now he reminded opponents that they supported the single ballot system when FDR provided a big election advantage; said they oppose it now because a Republican administration is in the Whitehouse.

Improving the lot of Michigan working people is a prime consideration of the session of the legislature.

At least 30 bills have been introduced aimed to better working conditions, increase unemployment or disability payments; provide broader coverage of present laws, etc.

How much, not if, is the question to be decided.

It is generally agreed that unemployment insurance will be increased, as will workmen's compensation benefits. One bill proposes a maximum of $44 per week for a person with four dependents and increasing the effective period from 27 to 39 weeks. Another bill, sponsored jointly by 34 Democratic representatives, requires unemployment payments figured from a fixed percentage of an average weekly wage, plus dependents.

It is generally agreed among legislators that the proportion of increase agreed upon for unemployment benefits will be applied to workmen's compensation.

Other proposals include: broadening workmen's compensation to include employers of one or more (present law requires that employers of less than four need not be covered); establishing higher safety standards; creation of an accident prevention fund; a minimum wage of $1.25 per hour.

All of these will be sorted out by members of the Labor committee; some will probably become law.

Cheap talk may prove very expensive in the end.

Ford's New Ball-Joint Suspension gives you the Newest Ride on the Road!

This revolutionary new Ford front suspension soaks up road shock before it reaches you! Makes all riding and handling easier!

Seals out dirt. You can forget road splash because dirt and water can't get into the ball joints in Ford's new front suspension. Each of the four joints is effectively sealed by a unique rubber-and-metal shield. This means that contact surfaces of each ball and socket remain clean—wear is kept to a minimum.

Keeps that new-car feel. You'll enjoy Ford's new-car feel much longer because ball joints are spring-loaded to compensate automatically for any wear. Front wheels hold alignment far longer than with conventional systems. Ball joints can't stick or bind. Steering remains consistently easy.

The "OLD" roads won't seem the same with Ford's new Ball-Joint Suspension "paving" the way for you. You'll enjoy a softer, more level ride because Ford's new system allows greater shock absorbing movement of the front wheels. Handling is far better, too, not only on turns but on the straightaways as well. That's because conventional kingpins have been replaced by simple, sealed ball joints that won't stick or bind. No other car in Ford's field can equal this modern ride—because no other has Ball-Joint Suspension.

Agile new performance, too, is yours in a '54 Ford. Whether you choose Ford's new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or 115-h.p. I-block Six you get the quick response and smooth, quiet operation of a modern overhead valve, low-friction deep-block engine. And no matter which of Ford's 28 new models you choose you enjoy recognized style leadership—with clean, modern lines... sparkling new colors... and harmonizing upholstery fabrics and trim.

Eliminates 12 wear points. Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension eliminates 12 of 16 points of wear found in conventional systems. Rubber-bushed supports at inner ends of suspension control arms not only reduce the number of wear points but also insulate chassis from road noises.

We cordially invite you to Test Drive a '54 Ford

Plans Set for 4-H Talent Show

Several 4-H club members plan to compete for county honors at the 4-H talent show to be held at the Gagetown school Wednesday, February 24, at 8:00 p. m., announces George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent.

This program is open to the public and is sponsored by the Tuscola County 4-H Council. Proceeds from the program will be used to further necessary maintenance and repairs on the 4-H building. The master of ceremonies will be Franklin Turner, Akron, and two judges will be Herbert Ludlow of the Detroit Edison office at Cass City and David Barrett, Vassar Public Schools and county speech correctionist. One other judge will be chosen.

This will be the fourth year this event has been promoted on a state-wide basis. Its objectives are to develop and encourage participation in many varied 4-H activities; to develop poise and confidence and thus raise standards of achievement to utilize native talent of 4-H club members and assist in developing and promoting that talent, and to provide wholesome entertainment for groups and to bring the 4-H program of activities before many people.

Acts are classified into two general classes, with three or more people and two or less people. These in turn are broken down into instrumental, vocal, dance, dramatic and novelty. Judges will choose not more than two acts from these two categories. These in turn will compete at the district eliminations in August. All contestants are urged to be on hand by 7:15 on the evening of the program so that necessary order and arrangements may be concluded.
