

Season's Worst Snowstorm Blankets Area

From the Editor's Corner

Weather note: Despite the worst weather of the year, there are signs that spring is not too far away. Glen Tuckey reports seeing a live butterfly in his barn west and north of Cass City Monday.

Over capacity crowds that flock to important basketball games pose a problem for school authorities. While attending the Marlette-Cass City game Friday, we wondered what could be done to improve the situation. No matter how the gate is handled, someone is going to be disappointed.

Friday we noticed that early arrivals were "saving" seats for late arrivals, while fans who arrived before them were forced to stand.

This situation could be avoided by numbering the bleachers and stands and selling numbered tickets at the gate. That way seats would be allotted on a first come, first served basis and authorities would know definitely just how many tickets to sell to assure a capacity crowd. After the numbered seats were sold, standing room tickets could be sold until available space was occupied.

The weather had its effects on the Chronicle, too. Several of the regular correspondents for the paper were unable to send their news to the office.

In addition, pictures sent for engraving failed to return in time for publication. The news and pictures will appear next week. (Weather permitting).

Weather Experts Predict Cold March

According to long-range weather forecasts by the U. S. Weather Bureau, there is little relief in the weather for area residents during March, as experts predict "below normal temperatures" for most of the nation.

The weather experts say March temperatures will mark a reversal from the abnormal warmth of February.

The world-wide circulation pattern that dictates the country's weather and forced cold air off the East Coast during the last 30 days is now acting to drive polar air toward the central part of the nation.

Precipitation, either rain or snow, is expected to be greater than usual for March over the northern half of the nation.

Postpone Games

District tournament basketball games scheduled for Wednesday night were postponed and rescheduled for Thursday evening.

Vassar was to have played Bad Axe at 7 p. m. Thursday and the North Branch-Cass City game was to follow immediately after the first contest.

Rotarians Vote to Hold Dance Here

In the absence of a regular program, members of the Cass City Rotary Club read three letters from the Korean "foster son" they are sponsoring and discussed the advisability of sponsoring Casey Clark and his Lazy Ranch Boys at a dance and program in Cass City.

Several dates were suggested. After discussion, President Bob Schuckert appointed a committee to schedule a date as soon after the Lenten season as possible.

In Gagetown and Cass City

Villages to Elect New Officials Monday

Voters in Cass City and Gagetown will go to the polls Monday, March 8, to elect village officials, including the office of village president.

Although no competition is listed on either ballot, a sticker campaign is expected in Gagetown to oppose some of the incumbent officers up for reelection.

The Gagetown ballot lists the following candidates for one-year terms:

President, Lawrence Cummings; clerk, Harry Kehoe; treasurer, Anna Kehoe, and assessor, Fred Kenyon.

Three trustees are also listed on the ballot for two-year terms. They are: William Hunter, Richard Burdon and Donald Wilson.

The unopposed slate on the ballot for Cass City includes the following nominees for office for one-year terms: president, James Bauer; clerk and treasurer, Wilma Fry, and assessor, Harold Jackson.

Trustees on the ballot for two-year terms are: Ben F. Benkelman, Leonard Damm and Edward Baker.

Wallace and Morley Sell Retail Store

One of the oldest business firms in the Upper Thumb, the Wallace and Morley Company of Bay Port, announced the sale Thursday of its retail store establishment, the company store in Bay Port.

H. E. Henne, president and general manager, announced that the grocery, dry goods and hardware departments have been sold to Frank Clidden, formerly of Kansas City, Kansas, and that the new owner has already taken possession. The company will continue to own and operate the lumber and farm implement business.

Explaining the sale, Mr. Henne said, "The elevator business is becoming more and more diversified every year. Formerly, an elevator simply bought and sold grain, and during that era, the company store rendered a much-needed service to residents of this community. Today, our elevator operations include such specialties as an agriculturist and feed nutritionist—both of them full time—soils testing, feed analysis, fertilizer programs, weed control, field plotting and many other services to farmers which were only dreamed a few short years ago. With these many phases, the company felt that retail store operation is not in line with its elevator operations."

The weather experts say March temperatures will mark a reversal from the abnormal warmth of February.

The world-wide circulation pattern that dictates the country's weather and forced cold air off the East Coast during the last 30 days is now acting to drive polar air toward the central part of the nation.

Precipitation, either rain or snow, is expected to be greater than usual for March over the northern half of the nation.

Special Services Mark Opening of Lenten Season

Special services in many of Cass City's churches this week marked the opening of the Lenten period of preparation for Holy Week and Easter, April 18. The Lenten season opened Wednesday when Catholics observed the opening of the season with the placing of ashes upon the foreheads of persons belonging to the faith.

Mrs. Stanley Kirn, general chairman, announced that a Union Service for protestant churches in the area will be held today (Friday).

The "World's Day of Prayer" service will be held at the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church as part of a nation-wide observance on that day.

Two members of the Tuscola Board of Supervisors' Education Committee attended the dinner and spoke to the group. The two were Edmund Gilliam and Henderson Graham. They both commended the group for their personal sacrifice in studying the school problems of this area.

John Kirk, Harry Russell and Bates Wills of the Tuscola County Board of Education were present. Each spoke briefly and thanked the group for their efforts to better understand the school problems of this county.

The several chairmen and the county superintendent were delegated by the group to edit the reports and prepare them for publication as soon as possible. This will take numerous meetings of the chairmen, but it is expected that the report will be ready for the public before the end of this school year.

Girl Scout Week Slated March 7-13

The Girl Scouts of Tuscola County will join with more than two million members of the organization throughout the country in celebrating Girl Scout Week, March 7-13, and the 42nd anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States on March 12.

This will be the first time that Girl Scout Week will be observed in March. Previously, Girl Scout Week occurred in October, but by vote of the Girl Scout national convention last fall, the dates were changed to coincide with the annual celebration of the Girl Scout anniversary on March 12.

The theme of the week will be "Know Your Neighbors—Know Your Nation." The seven-day observance will open on Girl Scout Sunday when troop members and leaders will attend their churches in uniform.

During each day of the subsequent week, Girl Scout troops throughout Tuscola County will feature an activity typical of the Girl Scout program, homemaking, arts and crafts, citizenship, health and safety, the out-of-doors and international friendship.

Guests of the Lions Club Monday were Rev. John J. Bozek and Harold Craig.

Few Arrests in Storm-Swept County

The snowstorm that has bogged down Tuscola County was reflected in the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department this week.

Sheriff George Jeffrey reported that his department had not brought anyone to jail for a week.

In addition to the abrupt stop of arrests, Mr. Jeffrey said that no serious accidents had been reported since the snowstorms began.

However, the department was kept busy by minor accidents caused by slippery streets.

Accounting Started For County Schools

The Tuscola County School Commissioner's office has announced that it started the work of financial and child accounting for Tuscola County schools March 1.

Commissioner Joseph Liddicoat said that every school in the county will be visited during March, April or May to complete the child accounting.

All financial accounting must be completed before Jan. 1, 1955.

Gavel Club Hears Fund-Raising Plans

Glen "Scotty" McCullough was the toastmaster at the regular meeting of the Gavel Club Tuesday evening at Parrott's Dairy Bar.

Discuss Plans for Student Council In Conference

Upon invitation of the Cass City High School Student Council, representatives of all eight schools in the Thumb "B" Conference met at Cass City last Thursday to consider the advisability of forming a student council association within their league. About 30 students and faculty sponsors were present.

Jack Cook, Cass City Council president, acted as temporary chairman. The group discussed the possible values of such an organization in terms of closer cooperation among the member councils, exchange of ideas and other possible activities. There was some consideration given to holding a late spring conference, perhaps with a dinner, to which each school might send a larger delegation.

Estimate 300 at Annual Talent Show

According to George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent, nearly 300 people attended the third annual 4-H talent show held at Gagetown school last Wednesday evening, February 24. There were 29 presentations in all with vocal and instrumental being the most popular.

The act chosen by the judges in the group of three or more persons was a vocal trio consisting of Norma, Janet and Ruth Ann Rogers, Millington, and members of the West Mayville 4-H Club.

They sang "Winter Wonderland." In the group of two or less persons, the judges chose Linda Starkey, Akron, of the Akron-Sandusky 4-H Club to represent the acrobatic dance division, and Rita Liberski, Unionville, of the Stith and Chatter 4-H Club to represent the dramatic and novelty division.

Three alternate acts were also chosen. They were instrumental, Jack and Patty Poppy, Unionville; vocal, Bonnie York, Unionville, accompanied by Buddy York, and novelty was Betty Joe Prime, Fairgrove, with her baton twirling act.

The program was continued at a pleasing pace under the direction of Franklin Turner, Akron, master of ceremonies. Mrs. W. J. Donnelly and Mrs. Daniel Aleksink, Cass City, organized the contestants into an orderly presentation. The county was fairly well represented and an estimated receipt of $95.00 will be used to help pay for needed upkeep of the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building.

Judges were Mrs. Fred Black, Akron; Herbert Ludlow, Detroit Edison Company, Cass City, and Dave Barrett, speech correctionist, working out of the Vassar schools.

The judge for the show will be Maurice Hill, assistant state 4-H club leader from Michigan State College. Mr. Hill has had many years' experience with livestock, first as 4-H club agent in Calhoun County, then as public relations man with the Michigan Livestock Exchange. A trophy will be awarded again this year to the purchaser as well as the exhibitor of the champion hog.

Parole County Lifer To Saginaw County

Clarence Adams, sentenced to a life term from Tuscola County Dec. 24, 1921, for killing his brother-in-law with a revolver, was released on parole Friday, Feb. 26.

Adams' release was made possible by Gov. Williams' commutation of his sentence from life to 56 years on Dec. 30, 1953, with a special good-time allowance.

The parole board said trial officials voiced no objection to Adams' four-year parole to Saginaw County.

Adams' prison record was good. He had a perfect record since 1926 and only three misconduct reports in his entire sentence.

Students Stranded in Gagetown School Bus

The worst snowstorm of the year blanketed Tuscola County and the Cass City area this week, closing schools and making all but main roads impassible.

The snow started Saturday evening, abated Sunday and struck with renewed fury on Monday, Tuesday morning and Wednesday.

Weather bureaus estimated that about 10 to 12 inches fell during the storm.

Gagetown residents reported Wednesday afternoon that it was impossible to either enter or leave the village.

Many farm homes were running short of bread, flour and other staples after being snowed in for three days.

Wreckers were kept busy all week extracting stranded cars in snowdrifts and at least one Cass City business place closed Tuesday as customers were unable to come to the stores.

Stranded in Bus.

A Gagetown school bus with four children and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wiles was stranded four miles west and one and one-half miles south of Cass City. The occupants were stranded from 4:30 p. m. Monday until 11 p. m. Monday night before abandoning the bus.

Mr. Wiles spent the night at the Alvah Hillman home and Mrs. Wiles and children stayed at the T. C. Hendrick home.

A snowplow from Deford, operated by Clarence May and Glenn Tousey, was unsuccessful in freeing the bus and both men also stayed at the Hillman home.

Tuesday, a wrecker and plow were dispatched from Caro. The plow and wrecker were not able to open the road and the bus was still mired in the snow late Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Wiles, accompanied by his wife, had delivered other children to their homes before getting stuck on the hill.

Rural mail carriers were unable to travel their routes on either Tuesday or Wednesday.

Complete Plans for Fat Hog Show

Final plans are being completed for the twenty-third semi-annual 4-H and FFA market hog show and sale, says George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent. This event will be held at the Caro Livestock Auction Yards, Tuesday, March 9, with the show starting at 10:00 a. m. and the sale at 2:00 p. m. About eighteen 4-H and FFA members are expected to bring in about 65 head of hogs.

The judge for the show will be Maurice Hill, assistant state 4-H club leader from Michigan State College. Mr. Hill has had many years' experience with livestock, first as 4-H club agent in Calhoun County, then as public relations man with the Michigan Livestock Exchange. A trophy will be awarded again this year to the purchaser as well as the exhibitor of the champion hog.

Concluded on page eight.

Fire Razes Farm Home of Duane Nicol Tuesday

The one-story frame farm house of Duane Nicol burned to the ground Tuesday morning when an oil stove exploded and enveloped the house in flames.

Mr. Nicol's wife and two children escaped the blaze but the entire contents of the home were destroyed.

Snow-blocked roads prevented the fire department from Snover to come to the Nicol home.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Tall Marlette Squad Defeats Hawks Friday

Control of the backboards by Charles and Wayne Smith gave Marlette a 75-57 victory over Cass City before a capacity, turn-away crowd Friday evening at the Cass City High School gym.

The two Smith boys, Charles (six feet, four inches) and Wayne (six feet, two inches), were the big factors in the rebound work that enabled the Red Raiders to snare five out of six rebounds both offensively and defensively. Their work enabled Marlette to share the Thumb B Conference crown.

Despite the stellar work on the boards by Marlette, it was not until almost the end of the third period that the Raiders started to pull away from the Hawks.

In the opening stanza, Cass City went into the lead and held it almost all of the first half.

The Cass City team hit an astonishing nine out of 16 tries in the opening quarter and converted the only two free throw tries they had.

Don Simmons and Russ Foy were the big guns in the attack in the opening quarter. Foy hit four for four from the field and Simmons netted three field goals and a pair of gift tosses.

Simmons continued his stellar play in the second period. He connected twice from his pivot position and added five free throws. During the evening, Simmons converted nine out of ten attempts from the free throw line.

Parsch's Store will be open Thursday afternoons.—Adv. 1t.

Demonstration Clubs Learn First Aid From Mrs. Gray

Square knots, arm slings and first aid kits are on the minds of home demonstration members in Tuscola County this month. A leader training lesson on first aid grew out of group requests from the last several years. A member of the North Vassar home demonstration group, Mrs. Glen Gray, was the teacher. She collected material, prepared and taught the lesson for two groups of leaders in Caro last week. A qualified first aider, Mrs. Gray completed the Red Cross standard and advanced courses in first aid in 1950. She then enrolled in the teachers' course in Saginaw. Incidentally, Mr. Gray also took these courses, so the Gray household is well prepared for emergencies.

The Vassar Girl Scouts and an adult class in Vassar were given first aid instructions by Mrs. Gray. Together, the Grays taught a Reese High School class in 1952, with 40 students completing the course. They also worked with an adult class in Reese.

The Glen Gray farm is on M-81 about 8 miles from Vassar. There are four children ranging in age from 9 to 19. Mrs. Gray's activities include being vice-chairman of the county farm bureau women, and serving as Blue Cross secretary of her local farm bureau in Vassar. And, of course, she still finds time to teach Red Cross classes in first aid.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Michigan Week, to be held May 2-8, may provide an answer to critics who charge that Michigan's tax structure is too high to hold present industry and to attract new factories.

The impressive list of plant expansion already scheduled for Michigan is headed by the General Motors three-fourths of a billion dollar program and includes many other sizable installations underway or about to get underway.

Voters may get a chance to decide on spending $500 million for highways during the next five years by bond issue. They may also get a chance to vote bonuses for veterans—an $80 million item which will probably be financed from cigarette taxes. Both subjects are under consideration in the legislature for reference to the people.

The state has already approved a bond issue of $99,800,000 to pay for the Mackinac Straits Bridge. This venture is to be paid back by revenue from toll charges.

State residents have an important job to do in addition to determining the tax structure under which industry must function, say ardent boosters of Michigan.

That's where Michigan Week comes in.

Michigan Week is concerned with a healthy economic atmosphere that can be created by a general understanding of the state's economic machinery.

Importance of the "atmosphere" was outlined by Michigan Week's chairman, Jay D. Runkle, when he introduced the program to a group of newspaper people. "Now days when an industry is looking for a new location they check to see whether there is the proper type environment for their people and their plant. We want to help every community develop that kind of human atmosphere which will provide favorable conditions for economic growth."

Residents should hear about Michigan Week from local groups in this community. Organizations of every type are taking active part in the program. The list includes church, PTA, veteran, labor, business and civic groups.

Schools will acquaint the state's youth with the observance through channels directed from the department of public instruction at Lansing.

Important point in the plan is to provide a state-wide opportunity for Michigan people to become more conscious and appreciative of the state's economic factors: its resources, industry and commerce; its problems and opportunities.

Some well-known citizens are shaping the program.

Sponsor of Michigan Week is a non-profit corporation devoted to the state's improvement called Greater Michigan, Inc. The president is Walter L. Cislser, who is also president of Detroit Edison Co. Chairman of the Michigan Week Committee is Mr. Runkle, general manager of Detroit's Crowley Milner & Co. Serving with him are 28 civic leaders from every field of society, representing all parts of the state.

They hope to make every person living in Michigan a salesman for his area. Direct result, the hope is, will be the desired atmosphere in Michigan for economic development.

Celebrations will be controlled in your area by a committee now being set up on a county basis. Four to six people will act as a clearing point for plans coming out of the state committee. They will decide the best way to apply the general idea in their own communities.

In most cases the committee will consist of the county school superintendent, county agricultural agent, a chamber of commerce secretary and the newspaper publisher in the county.

Much of the work at the state level is handled through the Michigan Economic Development Department and its director, Don C. Weeks.

Theme for this year's promotion is "This Is Your Michigan" announced Mr. Cislser, who pointed out, "The success of the observance will depend largely upon the work and enthusiasm demonstrated by local committees." He emphasized that the program was state-wide—not a Detroit plan.

Specific promotions are suggested to fit the needs for every group from agricultural to youth organizations. They include programs, contests, pageants, displays, special editions of newspapers and recreational events.

Michigan is the second state to adopt the idea of a special week. "Pennsylvania has conducted a similar week for eight years—and with considerable success," says Mr. Cislser. An important difference is that Michigan's plan is financed privately, and Pennsylvania's promotion uses tax funds.

Michigan's program is starting with a $20,000 budget set up by promotions, however, will be financed by the communities that support the idea.

Slip Cover Class

The county home demonstration agent reports there have been several requests for lessons in making chair slip covers. If enough people are interested, a class can be arranged. Classes usually involve four or five all-day meetings. Anyone wishing to enroll in a slip cover workshop, please drop a card to Jean E. Gillies, county home demonstration agent, courthouse, Caro, Michigan.

Wheat Pasture Should Be Avoided

Farmers running short of good roughage for beef and dairy animals should buy some hay if absolutely necessary rather than pasture their valuable wheat fields, advises Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant Tuscola County agricultural agent.

Wheat is a valuable crop under allotment and what little it offers in pasture may be lost many times over, cautions Milton Erdman, Michigan State College farm cropsman. Much of Michigan's wheat is on heavy soil, explains Erdman, and cattle would cut it up if they went into wheat fields early. By the time wheat is dry enough to turn cattle in, it's past the pasture stage, he adds.

With no winter oats and very little winter barley to pasture, Michigan farmers must rely on their grasses and on rye to take care of the end-of-winter roughage shortage, suggests the MSC farm crops specialist.

Some nitrogen boosting on early grasses will put it into good pasture quickly. If a farmer has no rye now and wants early pasture, it would be a good plan to seed some about August for next year, advises Erdman.

Clip Cows for Better Quality Milk

Dairy cows are getting haircuts this year as farmers follow the advice of "clip 'em to keep 'em clean." Clipping the hair around the udder, flanks and barrel will make the dairyman's cleaning job easier, Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant Tuscola County agricultural agent, points out. This is a good practice for pen barn owners as well as stanchion barn owners.

The main advantage in clipping is to reduce the time of readying the cow for milking. It helps reduce sediment and bacteria count and improves the milk quality. Better quality, the agent says, naturally leads to greater income.

A few clean sweeps with the clippers up the sides of the tail, starting about four inches above the end of the tail bone also makes the animal appear neater, Ostrander sums up.

Window Contest
For 4-H Clubs

Lester J. Kauffman, Caro, plans again to sponsor awards for the 4-H window display contest, announces George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent. This contest will be held during National 4-H Club Week March 6-14, and is designed to help people become more familiar with the work of the local 4-H clubs. Many business concerns find opportunity to cooperate by offering their window space to a 4-H club for a display.

Prizes will be awarded to the top three displays, the 4-H man stated. They will be judged on the basis of theme, 40 points; vision and clarity, 40 points; material used, 10 points, and neatness, 10 points.

To date the following 4-H clubs plan a display: Reese 4-Leaf Clover, Wegner's Hardware, Reese, Taggett's Corners, Detroit Edison, Caro; KFT Tractor Club, also at Edison; West Mayville Club in Mayville; West Elkland Club in Cass City, and Kingston Willing Workers in Kingston. Several other clubs are probably planning on entering the contest, however. Displays are requested to be completed by Tuesday, March 9, and will be judged on Thursday, March 11.
