

From the Editor's Corner

On an inside page this week we have printed an interesting survey to rate Cass City. Although we think that Cass City is a good place to live now, any community can stand improvement.

As explained in the questionnaire, you can see how the village rates after you answer the questions.

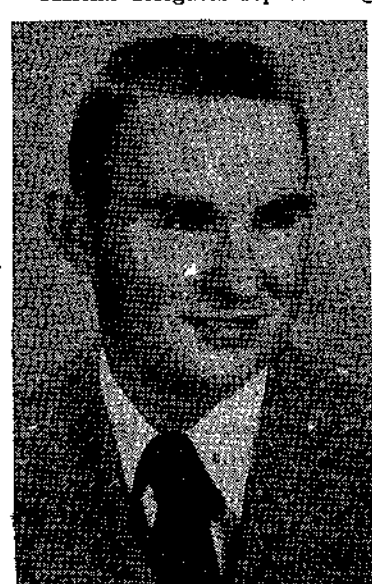

What we would like to call your attention to is the question, "What is Cass City's most needed improvement?" We will not print the names of contributors if they request that they be held back, but your suggestions must be signed to receive consideration.

We will try to print as many as we receive, although not necessarily all in one week.

Annual Girl Scout Dinner Slated Tonight

Ninety Cass City Girl Scouts and Brownies are expected to attend the annual potluck dinner scheduled at the Cass City High School tonight (Friday) at 6:30 o'clock.

Representatives from sponsoring organizations and other guests are expected to swell the total to 280 persons.

Each troop will have its own table decorated for the occasion with a cake with 42 candles, commemorating the 42nd birthday of scouting.

The program will be built around the 11 fields of girl scouting and will be presented in pantomime by the scouts. Brownies and Girl Scouts will each receive her pin for a year's service. Badges will not be given out at the program this year. Scouts now receive badges as they are earned.

The scouting program has progressed rapidly during the year. There are now seven troops in Cass City.

Other leaders are: Mrs. W. T. Musser, troop six; Mrs. Don MacLachlan, troop seven; and Mrs. D. C. Wernette, troop eight. Mrs. Chester Muntz assists Mrs. Wernette.

The Gavel Club sponsors troop three; Hobby Club, troop four; Extension Club, troop five; American Legion Auxiliary, troop six; Woman's Study Club, troop seven; and the Junior Woman's Club, troop eight.

Sponsors assist the troops through the year and are helped by the troops which assist in ushering, waiting on table or other activities at sponsors' functions.

Scouts give much of the credit for the program here to the untiring efforts of troop leaders and committee members. With a score of achievements behind them, the Girl Scouts are planning for an even more successful year in 1954.

In the place of the softball program, the group discussed the advisability of sponsoring jointly with other service clubs a young boys' softball or baseball organization.

Alden Asher was in charge of the program and he called upon members to act in pantomime various objects or song titles.

Rotarians Vote Against Parking Meters in Village

If a survey of 25 persons in the area is indicative of the general trend of thinking, parking meters are definitely not wanted in Cass City.

The survey was conducted by Rotarian Arthur Atwell, who had customers entering the Frutchey Bean Co. write their opinions of parking meters.

Of the 25 who registered, all were against the installation in the village.

The results were presented in a discussion of the relative merits of meters in Cass City by members of the Rotary Club at the Tuesday luncheon meeting at the New Gordon Hotel.

Arguing against the installation, besides Mr. Atwell, was John Haire. James Bauer and M. B. Auten presented the case for meters.

After the discussion, President Bob Schuckert asked for a vote in the club. All but two members voted against meters.

Prior to the meter discussion, Les Ross, a member of the school board, presented the facts concerning the addition to the grade building in the village.

He asked for support from members of Rotary in the coming election, April 10.

Coaches Look for Successful Season in Both Sports

Track and Baseball Squads Report

Preparation for spring sports began Monday at Cass City High School when Coaches Irv Clasen and Jerry Raymond called out candidates for baseball and track for initial practices.

Thirty-nine boys reported for track and 62 boys are fighting for the nine positions on the baseball squad.

Both squads should be better than average this year and fans can expect to see the teams in contention for the Thumb B Conference crowns.

Coach Clasen can call on nine lettermen to fill his baseball positions. The Hawks will have power with three regulars who hit better than .300 last season.

Dean Hoag at second base and LeRoy Hoag at shortstop give the Hawks a fine keystone combination. Both are exceptional fielders, Dean rapped out a .350 average last year and his cousin, LeRoy, hit a very respectable .320.

In fact, Cass City is very strong all down the middle. Russ Foy is expected to be anchored at center field where he hit .370 last season and showed plenty of hustle.

Completing the strength down the center is Max Stoutenberg and Bob Baker. The boys are competing for the starting nod for the catcher's position. Stoutenberg played a good deal last year and indicated that he will develop into a first rate receiver in 1954. Baker has shown lots of hustle and desire and Coach Clasen is counting on him to help the squad this year.

Good Pitching.

The bulk of the pitching chores will be handled by veteran Jim Evans, who posted a 7-3 record last year. He is expected to be one of the better pitchers in the league. He has a good fast ball, good control and a fair curve.

At third base Jerry Little has the edge. He played very briefly last year and will hold down the position if his fielding meets acceptable standards.

Aaron Laffer and Don Doyen have the edge in the remaining two outfield positions. How they hit will determine how much they play.

Pushing these boys for starting berths are Dick Joos, Jim Ellis, Ed Fox, Sam Champion, Gordie Drouillard, Ron Behr, Andy Kozan, Bob Martus and Dick Hillaker.

Track Team.

Among the 39 candidates for the track team are 12 lettermen who are expected to play a prominent role in Hawk competition this year. The 12 are: Jack Clara, Clare Comment, Dick Donahue, Russ Foy, Jim MacAlpine, Bob McEachern, Wilbur Neiman, Ken Nye, Bill Tuckey, Bill Ewald, Bill Wurtz and Don Simmons.

Boys who Coach Raymond expects to make fine showings this year are: Wayne Whittaker, Bob Martus, Jim Evans, Jim Ellis, Bob Hunter, Clayton Karr and Klaus Schulze.

BOWLING NEWS

George A. Dillman

The 1953-54 Bowling Season is rapidly drawing to a close. Four weeks remain on the schedule of the City League and three weeks left in the Merchants League.

The winner of the first 11 weeks' schedule in the City League was won by the Dillman Team. The second round was topped by the Asher Team. The third and final 11-week schedule winner is yet to be determined. As of March 15 only four points separate the teams tied for first and the team resting in eighth place. It appears to be a race to the finish with a mathematical chance of the team in tenth place ending on top.

In all of the years that this writer has been associated with bowling in Cass City, scores have been more consistently low this season than at any other time. Bowlers who have carried season long averages in the 170's are in the 160's. We have been trying to arrive at the reason for this existing condition. Is it the lack of interest? If so, what is causing this lack of interest? Is it because a certain few members from different teams are not interested enough to attend and let other less important events take them away from this night set aside for bowling? Is it this lack of full team personnel that causes those members present to bowl without the usual spirit? Is it something other than interest that we are overlooking? You tell us, perhaps we might be in position to correct the condition.

Would that every bowler had the determination never to let his team down—the interest and desire to lend his efforts towards making the team, of which he is a member, a strong contender at all times and by his attendance and spirit make the program of bowling a season of success.

The Annual Cass City Bowling Association Tournament will be held April 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th. Captains of teams will be notified when their team is scheduled to bowl. We ask your fine cooperation in reminding your members of the date and time and the importance of attendance at the time scheduled. Rules and regulations, as well as schedule, are posted at the Bowling Alley and copies of regulations may be obtained at the counter.

Let's show some of that competitive spirit of old, get behind this event as well as the remaining league games and PUSH. Let's have fun competing in the world's largest of sports, bowling.

Some three hundred guests were seated in the First Methodist Church in Cass City, by Clare Brown, Gerald Lowe, Kenneth Anthes and Donald Price, for the March 20 wedding, when Miss Mary Ann Anthes and Keith Jennings Lowe were married. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anthes of Deford and Mr. Lowe's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe of Snover.

Rev. Howard Woodard of the Novesta Church of Christ performed the ceremony at eight o'clock before the altar decorated with potted palms, tall baskets of white gladioli and candelabra.

The skirt featured a scalloped bottom and the bodice a nylon net yoke and Peter Pan collar. A cap decorated in seed pearls and rhinestones held in place the finger-length veil of nylon net. An arrangement of garnet red roses covered the white prayer book carried by the bride.

What is Cass City's Most Needed Improvement? (Attach Your Answer On A Separate Sheet)

Most any man will listen to reason—except at the very time when he should do it.

Experience has always been a high-salaried teacher because it names its own price.

Just because you've grown up with a business is no reason to go to seed with it.

The world expects every man to do his life's work well—if he doesn't, both suffer.

Oh, WHERE is my wandering ad tonight?

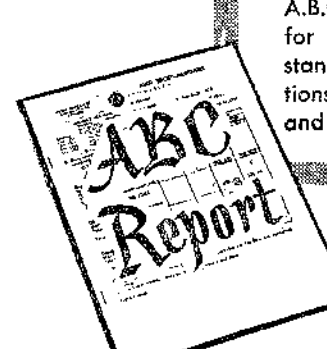

That's a fair question and deserves a factual answer. When you buy newspaper advertising you have an investment in every copy of the paper that carries your sales message because the circulation of the newspaper is also the circulation of your advertising. So, what you get in return for your advertising dollars depends on the newspaper's circulation. In order that you may buy space in this newspaper as you would make any sound business investment, we hold membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations,* well known to advertisers and publishers as A.B.C. Only publications with paid circulation—evidence that people want the paper—are eligible for membership.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office to make a thorough audit of our circulation records. The FACTS that he obtains as a result of the audit are published in A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; Where it goes; How obtained; How much people pay for our paper, and many other FACTS that you need in order to KNOW what you get for your advertising money.

It's never necessary for our advertisers to ask, "Oh, where is my wandering ad?" They get the FACTS from our A.B.C. report and KNOW. Ask for a copy today.

*The Audit Bureau of Circulations is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,450 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. established a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring circulations and methods for auditing and reporting circulation FACTS.

SHORT STORY

Whistle Stop

By Madge Adams

I WAS washing windows in the hall the day Mr. Carter, the new principal, made his speech about how he admired forthrightness and initiative in women teachers. Even then I could tell our music teacher, Miss Amy, was smitten.

But right after that Mr. Carter asked Miss Petty for a date. And knowing Miss Petty, everybody expected her to announce the engagement any day thereafter!

You'd have thought Mr. Carter would have taken to Miss Amy right off. She's much more attractive than Miss Petty. Of course, she's a quiet reserved sort of girl, doesn't force herself on folks, unless they step on her toes. But she's as pretty as a daisy with that shining black hair and those black eyes that fairly dance. She has the best order in the school system too. Kids seem to love her.

Miss Petty, who teaches fifth grade, is a tiresome sort of person. She has the habit of continually brushing back her faded blond hair and begging the children to be quiet in the hall because of her headache.

I guess there wasn't much for Miss Amy to do about the situation but to make herself as attractive to Mr. Carter as possible. And nothing might have come of it if Miss Petty hadn't found out that Miss Amy was stuck on the principal. How she found out, I'll never know. It's a cinch I didn't tell her!

One day at recess I was taking some cleaning compound to the closet in the hall where I keep my brooms and I heard Miss Petty entertaining a group of the teachers with her version of just how crazy Miss Amy really was about the principal. Miss Petty can be pretty catty when she wants to be. Miss Amy came around the corner just then. She heard the whole thing. Sparks almost flew from Miss Amy's eyes then.

But the fireworks didn't really start until that afternoon sometime after four.

I live just across the alley from Miss Petty and she lives next door to Mr. Carter. And large families live on both sides of them. It seemed every kid in the block had a new whistle that evening and was blowing it!

At seven o'clock the noise hadn't stopped yet. About that time Miss Petty made a house to house call, was trying to buy the whistles. But it didn't work.

The next afternoon the chorus began again, right after school was out. This time Miss Petty tried to get up a petition to have whistles declared a nuisance. But everybody seemed to think it was a pretty good joke and wouldn't sign.

The next morning I happened to be working on the drinking fountain just outside Mr. Carter's office when Miss Petty stormed in. She laid into Miss Amy thick and heavy.

"You've got to make her stop all that noise!" she demanded.

At this Mr. Carter looked startled. "You mean Miss Amy, our music teacher? What makes you think she has anything to do with the whistles?"

An ugly red spread over Miss Petty's sallow face then. She'd trapped herself right there! She made some kind of an excuse about Miss Amy being angry at her. But Mr. Carter didn't need a map to figure that one out. He had a kind of pleasant dazed expression on his face when I went in a few minutes later to tell him the drinking fountain was working again.

Miss Petty didn't show up for school the next day. She sent word that she was resigning and that her check was to be sent to Quiet Rest Sanitarium. When Miss Petty departed the whistle concerts ended too.

It wasn't long before Mr. Carter began dating Miss Amy and soon she was wearing a big diamond on that important finger. Of course there was a lot of talk. Folks never were sure just how she captured his attention, her being so reserved and all. Some folks thought he asked her to marry him in order to have some peace and quiet in the neighborhood. But I always thought he married her because he admired forthrightness and initiative in women teachers.

Eternal triangles cause trouble only because those involved view them from the wrong angle.

One worry brings on another and before long you have several worries to replace the one.

Program Started to Improve Pasture
Thirty Tuscola County dairy men met at the courthouse in Caro on March 18 and heard Milton Erdman, extension specialist in farm crops from Michigan State College, discuss possibilities of a pasture improvement program for Tuscola County and how farmers could benefit from such a program. This announcement came from Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent.

Erdman told how the program was operating in some other counties in Michigan.

Farmers enrolled in the program are divided into neighborhood groups of five or six. Farmers in each of these groups, with the use of a standard score card, select the best pasture program in their group. A committee then selects the best three or four pasture programs in the county and these farms are visited on a county tour.

During the course of the year all farmers in the program will continually receive from the extension office, suggestions on pasture development, management and utilization, Erdman stated.

According to Ostrander, any Tuscola County farmer who desires to enroll in the program this year should send his name and the location of his farm in to the county agricultural agent's office in Caro, so that he may be put into one of the neighborhood groups.

Schedule Poultry Meetings in County
Poultrymen in Tuscola County are reminded of the three meetings scheduled to be held Monday and Tuesday, March 29 and 30, announced Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent.

Present to meet with the poultrymen will be Don Miller, extension specialist in poultry from Michigan State College. Mr. Miller will discuss poultry management, feeding and disease control.

The schedule for the meetings is as follows: Monday, March 29, at 8:00 p. m. at the courthouse in Caro; Tuesday, March 30, at 1:30 p. m. at Vassar High School, and Tuesday, March 30, at 8:00 p. m. at the Reese High School.

Any woman's life would be comparatively simple if she didn't have to convince a man that his intentions were serious.

Fertilize According To Soil Tests
Farmers should use soil tests as a tool to find out whether their fields need lime, phosphorus and potassium, advises Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant Tuscola County agricultural agent.

Ostrander says a farmer will raise better legumes if a soil test is made and if he uses the recommended grade and rate of fertilizer at planting time.

L. S. Robertson, Michigan State College soil scientist, agrees with the agent. He counsels farmers to consider the ease and advantages of band seeding in spring grown grains, remembering to top-dress with phosphorus and potassium if soil tests show a need for it.

Several years ago random tests showed that 90 per cent of the legume fields in the lower peninsula responded to spring top-dressing. Only soil tests will tell if the 90 per cent figure is still correct.

Field Burning Spoils Soil Fertility
In spite of widespread publicity against the burning over of fields in the spring, many farmers will still practice the evil, says Alfred P. Ballweg, Tuscola County agricultural agent.

Frank Trull, soil conservation extension specialist at Michigan State College, is equally emphatic in opposing the practice. Burning over land is the same as throwing money in the fire, he insists. Farmers are burning nitrogen whenever they set fire to cornstalks, straw, grass, leaves or organic matter.

The nitrogen destroyed in burning cornstalks from a 60-bushel crop was worth up to $6 per acre. Fire also destroys organic matter in the soil, wrecking the moisture-holding capacity.

Organic matter returns plant food to the soil with it and creates a favorable condition for earthworms and bacteria. After it is burned the runoff of rain from the soil increases greatly.

Fire is one of the worst enemies of wildlife, destroying food, cover, nests, eggs and young birds and animals, adds Trull. Animals will stay away from burned over places indefinitely.

The want ads are newsy too.

County Groups To Help Workers
At the recent meeting of the Tuscola County home demonstration council, the group decided to support a project for migrant workers, reports Miss Jean E. Gillies, county home demonstration agent.

Groups plan to gather clothing for child care, sewing kits, Bibles and religious pictures, sturdy toys and books and craft kits. These items will be brought to the home demonstration county achievement day in Fairgrove, April 29. They will be used with migrant workers in this area of Michigan.

When baking, leave at least one inch of space between pans, and between pans and the oven walls. This allows for even heat distribution to give uniform browning, explains foods specialists at Michigan State College.

Report Good Alfalfa Seed Plentiful
Ample alfalfa seed awaits Tuscola farmers wishing to cut feed costs with improved grasslands, points out Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent. Grain seed is plentiful, he reports, and for farmers with wilt problems there is an ample supply of certified Ranger. Alfalfa is not bothered by wilt unless the stand is left over two years. Grain and Ranger are priced about the same.
More good news is added by Hubert Brown, Michigan State College farm crossman. The new Vernal variety, developed in Wisconsin, shows promise in Michigan State College tests. Rated as more winter hardy and more wilt resistant than Ranger, it is less susceptible to yellows from leaf-hoppers and drought and is a good yielder, according to reports. Seed will start appearing for sale in the fall of 1955, Brown notes.

Plan for More Silage Space Now
Farmers who will be making silage within three to four months are reminded by Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant Tuscola County agricultural agent, that they should take time now to plan the storage for it.
Acreage allotments plus a sound crop and livestock program will force some farms to produce more grass in 1954 and the years ahead, according to Michigan State College agricultural economists. Storage is always a problem.
Art Bell, extension farm building specialist, reports that horizontal silos are being made with home-grown lumber in Michigan for as low as $800. for 300 ton capacity.
Now is the time to get out the plans and the home-grown lumber and poles for horizontal silos, suggests Ostrander, who can help farmers with plans.

Don Karr, Elwyn Helwig, Keith Fulcher and Harold Little were awarded State Farmers' degrees in the FFA organization in Lansing Tuesday and Wednesday. Delegates to the meet were Koert Lessman and Sheldon Martin.
Evard Rawson was the first supervisor in Tuscola County to contribute toward the war memorial to be erected on the courthouse lawn at Caro. Other contributors include Mrs. William Petersen, Mrs. Anna Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Asher and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Asher. Funeral services for Lewis Law were held Sunday at the Evangelical United Brethren Church. Rev. S. P. Kim officiated.
Farmer friends were guests of Rotary Club on Tuesday evening at the New Gordon Hotel. President Melvin R. Vender extended a welcome and Frank Reid presided as program chairman. Musical numbers were a vocal solo by Miss Nancy Delong, accompanied by Miss Joan Holmberg, and two quartet numbers by Donald Borg, Geo. Dillman, Fritz Neitzel and A. C. Atwell.
Ten Years Ago.
At the annual settlement day of Elkland Township Tuesday, the board voted to require permanent care on all cemetery lots sold thereafter; thus, raising the price of a full lot in the new part to a resident to $100 and for half a lot $60.00. In the old part, the price is $60 and $45 to a resident.
Elkland raises $1680 for 1944 Red Cross war fund, which is $480 over the $1200 quota assigned to Elkland.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS
Michigan's 1954 primary election campaign is off to a roaring start.
And, as usual, all of the primary fireworks are expected in the Republican contest for the gubernatorial nomination.
So far, five candidates have tossed their hats in the ring for the GOP nomination. The field may be reduced by one or possibly two contenders by the time voters go to the polls Aug. 3.
Already there are rumors that this candidate or that candidate plans to drop out of the race if the right "deal" comes along. But publicly they all say: "I'm in to the finish."
All five GOP hopefuls are "name" candidates.
They include D. Hale Brake of Stanton, Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti, George N. Higgins of Ferndale, Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn and Donald S. Leonard of Detroit.
Brake, 63, has been state treasurer since 1953. Known as Michigan's "Mr. Republican," Brake has wanted to run for governor for years but held off each time in favor of someone else who party leaders believed had a better chance of beating Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Brake will stay in the race to the finish.
Cleary, 54, is completing first term as secretary of state.
Active in Civil Defense during World War II, he rose to rank of brigadier general in Michigan State troops. Cleary served on state Liquor Control Commission with Williams in 1947-48 and was chosen chairman GOP State Central Committee in 1949.
Higgins, 53, has been in state legislatures since 1938 except for two years after his unsuccessful bid for Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in 1946. Author of the highly-publicized Business Receipts Tax, which is credited with getting state out of red, Higgins is only non-lawyer among candidates. He's an auto dealer.
Keyes, 63, Dearborn's doctor-dentist-lawyer, has been on state primary ballot every two years since when he first ran for lieutenant governor. He has served as state's No. 2 official—1943-44 and 1946-47—and was unsuccessful GOP primary candidate for governor in 1950 and U. S. Senator in 1952.
Leonard, 50, is making his second bid to carry the Republican banner in final election for governor. He ran second behind Fred M. Alger, Jr., in 1952 primary as best known as former State Police Commissioner. He has been Detroit Police Commissioner since 1953, headed state Civil Defense during World War II.
In many ways, this year's primary looks much like repeat of 1950 when five candidates fought for Republican gubernatorial nomination with Harry F. Kelley getting the nod.

Living With Peace of Mind

By Kirby Page

Expose yourself to great music; if you would experience the peace of soul which flows from the deeps of life. Through the ages man has found music to be a source of spiritual vision and power. The ancient Psalms were aspirations set to music. Charles Wesley and John Wesley made popular the singing of hymns. Charles Kingsley found that "there is something very wonderful in music. It speaks not to our thoughts as words do, it speaks straight to our hearts and spirits, to the very core and root of our souls. Music soothes us, stirs us up, it puts noble feelings in us; it melts us to tears, we know not how—it is a language by itself, just as perfect as speech, as words; just as divine, just as blessed. Music has been called the speech of angels; I will go further and call it the speech of God Himself."

Jean Paul Richter exclaimed: "O music, thou who bringest the receding waves of eternity nearer to the weary heart of man, as he stands upon the shore and longs to cross over, art thou the evening breeze of this life, or the morning air of the future?"

Carl Sandburg shares with us this experience: "A man saw the whole world as a grinning skull and cross-bones. The rose flesh of life shriveled from all faces. Nothing counts. Everything is a fake. Dust to dust and ashes to ashes and then an old darkness and a useless silence. So he saw it all. Then he went to a Mischa Elman concert. Two hours' waves of sound beat on his eardrums. Music washed something or other inside him. Music broke down and rebuilt something or other in his head and heart. He joined in five encores for the young Russian Jew and his fiddle. When he got out, side his heels hit the sidewalk in a new way. He was the same man in the same world as before. Only there was a singing fire and a climb of roses everlastingly over the world he looked on."

SHORT STORY

Chicken And Dumplings

By Norman Disher

MR. WINKLE had been a bachelor for forty years but his landlady, Mrs. Emily Lumley, widow of two husbands, intended to put an end to it. Her last husband had passed away over a year ago and Emily was beginning to feel the need of companionship. Mr. Winkle was a small, but good looking man, and he had a fine job in the downtown bank. He was what Mrs. Lumley termed, "responsible and secure."

Emily knew Mr. Winkle's ideas on marriage were negative but she intended to remedy that. One morning when she met Mr. Winkle at the bottom of the stairs she started her campaign. He'd just told her about his latest promotion.

"Why Mr. Winkle, that's twice now in three months. I think it's wonderful!"

"Yes it is," Mr. Winkle replied, "but not wholly undeserved. I've introduced several new shortcuts in the system for handling accounts and statements. One must use his head, you know."

"Yes, yes, that's true," Emily answered thinking how nice it would be to have such a confident ing in East Lansing, April 10. This is the Annual Training Conference held with the cooperation of the Continuing Education Service of Michigan State College.

One thousand officers and members of this organization of the Methodist Church, of which Mr. Brown is an official member, will hear his address on "Why I Am For the Church."

Pioneer Resident of Cass City Area Dies

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday at the Evangelical United Brethren Church for Mrs. Catherine Buehly, pioneer resident of this community, who died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Anthes. She had been in ill health the past two years.

The Rev. S. R. Wurtz and Rev. Stanley Kirm officiated.

Mrs. Buehly was born in Waldhausen, Wurtemberg, Germany, August 16, 1865, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Buerk and came to this country with her parents when she was seven years old. They settled on a farm three and one-half miles northeast of Cass City.

On March 24, 1885, she married Mr. Leonard Buehly at her home in Elkland Township. Following their marriage, they made their home on a farm near the homestead.

Mr. Buehly died February 4, 1939, and in 1945 Mrs. Buehly came to live with her daughter, Mrs. Anthes, where she has lived until her death.

Mrs. Buehly had been a faithful member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Cass City since early childhood and attended services when they were being held in the Walmsley School. She watched the church grow to the present time.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Walter (Elsie) Anthes of Novesta Township and Mrs. S. C. (Mary) Striffler of Elkland Township; three sons, Fred, Edward and Lawrence, all of Elkland Township; ten grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

One daughter preceded her in death.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Little's Funeral Home and burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

METHODIST WOMEN

The entire program will be of interest to every Methodist woman.

BENNETT DEATH

She was a member of the Holbrook Methodist Church in Greenleaf Township and attended the Presbyterian Church while she lived in Centerline.

Surviving, besides her foster son, Mr. McKenzie, are one sister, Mrs. Leslie Hewitt, and one brother, Mr. Charles Tanner, both of Cass City, four nephews, two nieces and two foster grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p. m. Wednesday at Little's Funeral Home with Rev. Sergi Mosienko, pastor of the Decker-ville Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

"Chicken and dumplings!" he exclaimed. "Wonderful, wonderful!"

man for a husband. Her last two husbands had been small men in their fields. "Why haven't you married? Now that you have such a good position you ought to have a home."

"My dear Mrs. Lumley," Winkle assured her, "I have never in my forty years found a woman capable of fulfilling the virtues of domestic and mental qualities that I admire in womankind. Until then I am content to live alone."

Later in the day when Emily thought about their conversation she decided that she knew a way to ensnare Mr. Winkle. "After all," she remarked to herself, "I've been through this before and there's one sure way of convincing him about married life."

Emily intercepted Mr. Winkle when he returned from work and invited him to have dinner with her on Friday evening. Mr. Winkle readily accepted.

Friday evening Mr. Winkle appeared at Mrs. Lumley's door. "Come in, come in," Emily beamed at him.

Mr. Winkle entered into a neat, modern living room. He mentally checked his list of domestic virtues on the good side. Dinner was waiting on the table.

"Chicken and dumplings!" he exclaimed. "Wonderful, wonderful!"

They sat down and ate in silence (another good check on the list) while some light dinner music tinkled in from the phonograph in the front room.

"Mrs. Lumley," he rejoiced, "this dinner is exquisite. It's my favorite dish. Wonderful indeed!"

"Well, thank you, Mr. Winkle."

After they had finished their dessert and had discussed the banking business, which surprised Mr. Winkle no end since he'd always contended women knew nothing about banking. Mr. Winkle started to leave. It had been over an hour since he'd checked the last item on his mental list and he'd been so overcome by the easy manner of Mrs. Lumley that he'd forgotten to look further. Now it was time to go.

"Thank you, Emily, the dinner was excellent."

"You're quite welcome, Robert. We'll have to do this again soon. Goodnight," Emily smiled.

"Goodnight," Mr. Winkle answered feeling exuberant.

She let him eat out for two weeks and then one evening there came a knock on her door.

"Emily," he practically shouted, "Emily, you must marry me, you just must!"

"Well goodness gracious, you don't have to shout. Of course I will."

"When?"

"As soon as you want."

Emily never did show her husband the book of matches he'd dropped the day she had spoken to him at the bottom of the stairs. The cover advertised:

"Come to THE NEST CAFE, the best Chicken and Dumplings in Town."

Any successful man has to be a good mixer—he mixes brain power with tireless energy.

All our lives are made up of habits—so why not make one of them the church-going habit.

The want ads are newsy too.
