

School Plans Aired In Three Area Meetings

Discussion of annexation was the highlight of the annual school meetings of the Paul and Brown schools and the proposed new school unit in Deford occupied the attention of voters in a special meeting held at the Deford school this week.

At the district number five, Novesta, (Brown School) a unanimous vote was cast to transport pupils to the Cass City Public Schools.

Twenty-two voters adopted a resolution calling for a special meeting to be held to determine whether or not a request for annexation to district number five, Elkland Township, will be made.

The election will be held at the Brown schoolhouse Monday, June 28, at 8 p. m.

In other business, an additional tax of five mills was authorized and William O'Dell was re-elected treasurer of the district for a three-year term.

At the Paul School, the 26 voters present unanimously voted to transport to Cass City Schools. They talked about annexation to Elkland number five school district and formed a committee to meet with the Cass City School board to see if they could receive a definite commitment for annexation within a few years.

The voters elected Mrs. Nellie Anthes treasurer of the district.

Deford School.
A poll of voters at the special meeting of district number four, Novesta, (Deford School) indicated that the majority of persons in the district favor circulating petitions that will present a bond issue for a new school before the voters in the district. Before residents of the district will be able to act, it will be necessary for the voters of other interested districts to hold special meetings to determine whether they want a new unit built in the Deford area.

Four Fires Set by Lightning Storm Here Wednesday

The severe electrical storm that hit the Cass City area caused four fires Wednesday afternoon and evening, causing much property damage and completely destroying the barn of Vern Watson.

The Elkland Township Fire Department received two calls within minutes around 2:15 p. m. The first sent the fire truck to the home of Ray Hulbert.

Lightning struck the house and followed the wiring through the house and started a fire within the walls, according to the firemen.

The second fire truck was called to the home of William Wagner, Cass City, where lightning struck the chimney of the home.

At 5:30 p. m., the department went to the home of Vern Watson, seven east, one south and one half mile east of Cass City, where lightning had struck the barn. The fire was extinguished. The department was called back to the farm at 12:50 when the barn was a mass of flames. This time the building burned to the ground. Whether it was struck again by lightning or an undiscovered spark ignited the building is not known.

Research May Help The Cardiac Farmer

A five-year study to provide information on time and energy-saving shortcuts for the cardiac farmer has been announced by the American Heart Association. The Indiana Heart Association, Purdue University and the Indiana State Board of Health are financing the $130,000 study, to be made at Purdue University laboratories and at selected Indiana farms.

It is anticipated that studies eventually will lead to programs for the farmer along the lines of the rehabilitation and employment counselling facilities for industrial workers which are being developed by heart associations throughout the country.

In commenting on the subject, Dr. Lowell S. Hardin, one of the directors of the project at Purdue, pointed out that much remains to be learned about heart disease in relation to the cardiac farmer's ability to continue in his occupation. Noting that agricultural work is highly varied in its physical and mental requirements, Dr. Hardin said, "Farm work simplification studies at Purdue and other institutions have shown a wide range in work methods, time requirements and labor costs among farmers accomplishing similar output. Many farm people appear to be more concerned with the welfare of their plants and animals than with their own physical well-being. Thus, concern for income-producing enterprises frequently exceeds concern for self."

A mobile laboratory will house equipment necessary to make the various field tests that will be required in the study. The unit will be transported from farm to farm as tests are completed.

Simple Rules Outlined To Ruin Farm Machine
Taking care of farm machinery properly is quite a task for many farmers.
Bob Gliden, extension engineer at the University of Wyoming, sets forth some simple rules for these farmers who want to ruin their farm machinery:
1. Don't clean tractor engine filters. Your engine will wear out several times faster when filters are clogged.
2. Use bailing wire or any piece of scrap iron as a substitute for a broken part. Soon you'll have lots of scrap iron for further repairs.
3. Skimp on grease. That way, parts wear faster and break sooner.
4. Let it rust. This is a sure fire way to the scrap heap.
5. Never clean an engine. The dirt will cover small defects so you'll have a big breakdown instead of a little one.
6. Don't buy anti-freeze in winter. If you don't burst the engine block in cold weather, you might be using the same old block for years.
7. Always use pliers on gas line connections and carburetor fittings—you'll soon have the corners worn so that the connections won't even turn with the proper wrench.
8. Let the battery run down. If it goes dead, you can get more exercise cranking the tractor.

Final Rites Held For Andrew Leitch

Andrew D. Leitch, 50, lifelong resident of the Thumb, died Friday in Bad Axe General Hospital after a brief illness.
He was born Nov. 10, 1903, in Sheridan Township.

He operated a gasoline station many years in Cass City and, in recent years, was engaged in the store business in Bad Axe.

Mr. Leitch is survived by a son, Dean Leitch, Cass City; his father, Daniel Leitch, Ubyly; three sisters, Mrs. Milton Scott, Detroit; Mrs. Steve Kowbel, Unionville, and Mrs. William Damrow, Kinde, and two brothers, Archie Leitch, Ubyly, and John Leitch, Royal Oak.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Alden A. MacAlpine Funeral Home at Bad Axe. Rev. Maurice Justin, pastor of Erskine Community Church, officiated and burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

State DHIA Cows Have High Average

Michigan's dairy herd improvement association cows averaged 9,653 pounds of milk during 1953, reports Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. They also averaged 378 pounds of butterfat with a 3.9 test.

This is a gain in milk production from 9,509 in 1952 and 8,525 in 1948 and a butterfat gain from 374 in 1952 and 344 in 1948.

The 1953 summary from Larry Johnson, Michigan State College extension dairyman, showed 44,070 cows in 2,100 herds in 111 DHIA units. There were 21 local DHIA's that averaged more than 400 pounds of butterfat. Leading groups were Huron No. 1, Shiawassee No. 1, Isabella No. 1, Ingham-Williamston, Clinton-East, Oakland No. 2 and Livingston No. 1.

Pres. Eisenhower Receives Michigan Invitation to Make Mackinac Island - The Summer White House in 1955

"To the President of the United States . . . from the people of Michigan" read the handsomely bound blue and gold invitation presented to Ike and Mamie to have the Summer White House at Mackinac Island next summer. President Eisenhower told the committee that he genuinely appreciated the invitation. While it was early yet to make a decision, he assured the delegation that he would arrange an immediate inspection of the island's facilities.

The first century of Great Lakes shipping because of the centennial of the operation of the internationally famous Soo Locks will be commemorated in 1955.

retary, Michigan Soo Locks Centennial Celebration Commission, Detroit (behind Boyle); State Senators Leo G. Roy, Hancock; Don A. Gilbert, Saginaw; William A. Elsworth, St. Ignace; State Representative Clayton T. Morrison, Pickford; Former Governor Wilber M. Brucker, Detroit; Congressman Victor A. Knox, Sault Ste. Marie; President Eisenhower; Congressman John D. Bennett, Marquette; U. S. Senators Homer Ferguson, Detroit; and Charles E. Potter, Cheboygan; Speaker, House of Representatives Wade Van Valkenberg, Kalamazoo; State Senators George N. Higgins, Ferndale; Haskell Nichols, Jackson; Harry F. Hittle, Lansing; State Representative Harold W. Hungerford, Lansing; Wilfred F. Doyle, Resident Commissioner, Mackinac Island Commission, Lansing.

Best Spray

What's the best "all-purpose" spray mixture to use on just a few fruit trees in the back yard? That's a question home owners are asking Michigan State College horticulturists these days.

Horticulturist Arthur E. Mitchell has this advice for people who want to mix their own all-purpose spray: Use one and a half level teaspoons of 74 to 76 per cent ferbam, three teaspoons of 50 per cent wettable methoxy-chlor and two tablespoons of 25 per cent wettable malathion. Those amounts are mixed together per gallon of water. You can substitute three level tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable captan for the ferbam.

But, says Mitchell, many people who want to mix their own all-purpose spray, it's available at most hardware stores.

He suggests that the spray—either the commercial preparation or your own mixture—should be applied at intervals of a week or two weeks during the season. How often you should apply the spray depends on how favorable the weather is for disease and insect development. The spray can be applied up to two weeks before harvest.

It's good for grapes and raspberry bushes as well as fruit trees.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

This little thrush isn't giving her Galahad the brush. She's a teen who's keen about being a good party line neighbor . . . and she knows how.

She's hep to the fact other folks would like to talk, too. So she spaces her calls and makes them reasonably brief.

If other teens . . . and their elders, too . . . would follow her example, everyone would enjoy faster, better service straight down the party line. Telephone courtesy is as important as any other kind.

---AND A GOOD TIP FOR YOU

WHEN it comes to sales, every car maker aspires to be up at the top of his price class.

Which is only natural. Popularity like that means success.

We know, because for years Buick has held such an envied position—the unquestioned sales leader in its class. And with good reasons in styling, room, power, value.

But today, folks like you have pushed Buick success even beyond such bounds.

Today, the top sales standings of a full generation have been changed.

Today, latest sales figures for the first four months of 1954 reveal this phenomenal fact:

In total national volume, regardless of price class, Buick is outselling all cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

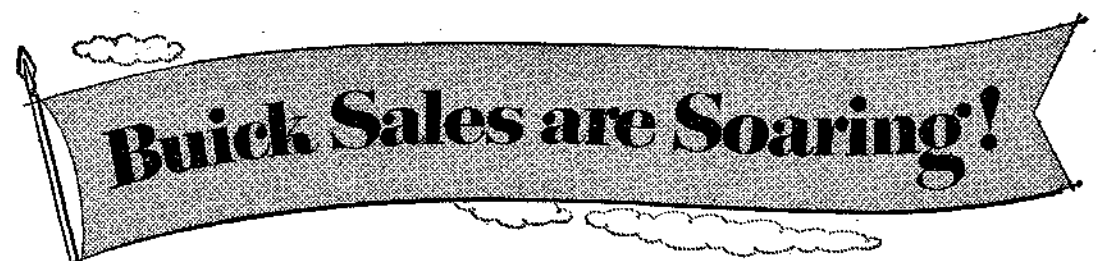

That's a tip too good to pass up.

That's the tip-off that Buick must have the hottest styling of the times and the sweetest performance of the year.

More important, that's the tip-off that Buick prices are well within the reach of more and more people — and that such prices buy a lot more automobile per dollar.

So why not look into the tomorrow-styled Buick that puts you so far ahead today?

Come in, or phone us this week for a demonstration. Then you can judge for yourself that Buick really is the beautiful buy — by far.

SHORT STORY

The White Lie

By John Connolly

“Go ahead and cry,” Dave said. “A good cry may be just what you need.”

the waist. He pulled her back inside and held her against the wall. “What are you trying to do to yourself?” he shouted at her. He felt himself shaking with panic at the thing this girl almost done.

“Why didn’t you let me alone,” she cried. “Oh, if you hadn’t come it would all have been over by now.” She began to sob quietly and spasmodically. “It had taken me so long to get the courage to open those windows. And now you’ve ruined everything.”

Dave offered her his lapel pocket handkerchief. She took it and began wiping at her eyes and using it to stifle her sobs.

“Go ahead and cry,” Dave said. “A good cry might be just what you need. Do you want to tell me about it? That may help too.”

“No. No,” she said, shaking her head vigorously. “Go away. Leave me alone. Can’t you see I don’t want your help. I’m beyond help.”

“No one is beyond help,” Dave told her. “And things are never as black as they seem, especially for one as young and pretty as yourself.”

“What do you know about it?” the girl said heatedly, looking directly into Dave’s eyes. “Young and pretty, that got me a fine husband who was killed in Korea last year. Young and pretty, that cost me my job last week when the boss’s new wife took one look at me. It’s why a lot of people are afraid of hiring me because of their wives, and others want to hire me without finding out if I can take dictation.”

Dave Powers smiled in spite of himself for the first time that day. “It’s the first time I ever heard anyone complain about being attractive,” he said. “In fact, most young ladies don’t even admit it. They like to hedge around the matter as a rule.”

“I didn’t admit it,” she said, her eyes blazing. “I was just using your own words.”

Dave smiled again. This was a good sign. Then he reminded himself of their incongruous situation, and of the fact that this charming person had just been interrupted in an attempted suicide.

“I take it you’re a stenographer,” he said. “I think I know of a firm who could use a good stenographer. Would you be interested?”

“Would I? I couldn’t begin to thank you.”

“It’s not much of a firm, a young architect trying to make both ends meet. The pay wouldn’t be much to start.”

She looked him directly in the eyes again, so disconcertingly that he turned away momentarily. “Are you the architect?”

“Yes,” Dave said. “Would you mind that?”

“I’d love working for you,” the girl said, meaning it.

“All right then, it’s settled. Let’s have a cup of coffee downstairs, and we’ll run over to the office.”

As they walked to the elevator the girl said, “It’s lucky you came along. I must have gone crazy for a minute. What brought you up here, business?”

“Yes,” he said. That was the only lie he ever told the future Mrs. Powers. He never did tell her he had gone to the top floor of the Byfield Building for the same reason as his own.

It’s easier to inherit a good reputation than to keep it.

It is easy to tell a good thing after it has gone by so far there is little chance of catching it.

Half the world wouldn’t know how the other half lives if some busybody didn’t spill the beans.

Answer Agronomy Problems at MSC

Tuscola County farmers with any problems in agronomy can get answers by a visit to Michigan State College on Wednesday, July 7, suggests county agricultural agent Ballweg.

The college farms will be the scene of a joint crops and soils field day with tours of research work being done by farm cropmen and soil scientists.

Wagon tours, starting at 9:30 a. m. and lasting all day, will start from the new seed storage warehouse, Mt. Hope and Beaumont roads, a mile south of the campus. Lunch will be served on the grounds and there will be a short noon program.

Farmers and industry representatives can compare Craig oats with Abegweit, Branch, Clintland and Michigan Experimental 5441. They can see white Genesee, Yorkwin and Cornell 595 wheat, red Seneca and Thorne wheat and two new varieties, Knox from Indiana and Pennoll from Pennsylvania.

Barley varieties, forages, pasture work, seed production, fertilizer placement and chemical weed and disease control will be featured. They can see the benefits of nitrogen sidedressing and high rates of corn planting. The seed warehouse, operated in cooperation with the Michigan Foundation Seed association, will be open for inspection.

This will be a rare chance for farmers to find many farm crops and soil science research and extension men, specialists in many fields, gathered in a group and ready for questions.

Unhappiness is usually only a state of mind, but happiness is always the real thing.

Kill Quackgrass

A Michigan State College weed researcher has found an easy—but rather expensive way—to get rid of quackgrass for the season.

It's using maleic hydrazide and plowing or spading under the treated grass. The treatment does the best job in the spring and doesn't harm most crop plants.

Here is the advice of the MSC investigator, Dr. B. H. Grigsby, on the way to do the job:

Let the grass grow to four to eight inches tall.

Mix four pounds of actual maleic hydrazide in 20 to 40 gallons of water. That's 10 pounds of the commercial product containing 40 per cent maleic hydrazide. Spray on the solution to wet the grass leaves.

Wait four to eight days, then plow or spade the treated grass under to a depth of six to eight inches.

Then prepare your seedbed by disking and/or a light harrowing. Plant the crop.

You'll have the spraying to do over again if there is a rain within 12 hours after treating the grass.

The chemical won't injure humans or animals. But the catch is—it costs about $25 per acre to apply. Grigsby figures that growers of high-income-per-acre crops like potatoes and truck crops—or home gardens—may be interested in using the chemical.

Your county agricultural agent can tell you what dosage of the chemical to use.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

The Michigan Legislature will take a new look at chain store taxes in 1955.

A Senate Study Committee appointed by Lieutenant Governor Reid to inquire into alleged inequities and to bring punitive tax measures into focus will hold hearings in the fall. The committee consists of Senators Carlton Morris of Kalamazoo; Harry F. Hittle, Lansing; Charles T. Prescott, Prescott; Clyde Geerlings, Holland; and Robert Haggerty of Detroit.

A similar committee one year ago recommended elimination of certain nuisance taxes.

Among those who will ask to be heard are chain stores through their state organization, the Michigan Chain Stores Bureau. Briefs and arguments are in process of preparation to substantiate their claim that the chain store tax is not only punitive, but costly to the state, unsound economically and detrimental to a large segment of the retail business.

"Our industry feels and rightly so that chain store retailing is of sufficient importance to the economy of Michigan that any punitive tax constitutes a backward step and is not in the best public interest," said W. F. Doyle, chain store spokesman.

He pointed to the facts that chains last year did in excess of one billion dollars of retail business in Michigan, and also returned to the state's economy a like amount. "They paid $64,750,000 in 1951 state, federal and local taxes," said Doyle. "They bought $712,756,000 worth of merchandise from Michigan manufacturers, processors and farmers and paid out $81,000,000 to Michigan landlords. They spent in excess of $20,000,000 advertising their wares in newspapers and other media."

Chain stores pay the state handsomely under the new "business receipts tax," currently producing $38,000,000 in state revenue. The revised corporation franchise tax which yielded $3,500,000 in 1947 now brings in $38,000,000 to the general fund.

Major chains are sizeable taxpayers by virtue of their interstate operations. Because of this fact, they believe the time is ripe for the legislature to give serious consideration to elimination of the anti-chain tax. Also affected are 7,736 retail stores and 1,997 chain store companies in all parts of Michigan.

Under Michigan tax law any retailer with more than one outlet is defined as a chain. It is by no means a "big business" tax as evidenced by the fact that 95% of all the companies paying the chain store tax operate less than 10 stores. So the "little fellow" as well as the "giant" is affected. Among them are 352 automobile retailers, motion picture theatre concessions, cigar stands and tombstone retailers, only to mention a few. The tax ranges from $10 per store for the second unit to $250 per store for all over 25 in one chain.

Michigan, like the rest of the nation, need not worry about domination of big business when it learns that in 1929 big corporations got 6.1% of the national income and only 5.3% in 1948. Brookings Institution in Washington reports that unincorporated business enjoyed 15.9% of the nation's business in 1929 and 17.8% in 1948.

The history of chain store taxation is revealing. The whole subject came to life in the early 30's when many small retailers entertained the fear that chains would run them out of business. It didn't happen. Whereas the chains did 24.8 per cent of the national retail business in 1935, they did only 20.7 per cent in 1950.

Selling techniques of chain and independents are much alike today. Both strive to please the consumer in time and money saving devices.

In the field of food retailing, Michigan chains and independents find much in common. As early as 1940 under the inspiration of the Michigan Press Association the Michigan Retail Food Dealers Association and the Michigan Chain Stores Bureau established high marks in harmonious trade relations.

The three groups formed the Michigan Food Council. As immediate achievement was the successful sponsorship of "Michigan Days" to promote sale of Michigan-grown food. The campaign made national history.

Times have changed radically in the relations of chains and independents here in the past 20 years. Little or no bickering any longer exists. Neither seeks punitive action against the other.

Statistics show the small operator is more than holding his own. That is one of the reasons the Michigan legislature will take a new look at chain store taxes in 1955.

It may be true that patience is a virtue—but not when it is spent waiting for something to turn up.

Green Pastures

for

Green Dollars

By Quentin R. Ostrander,
Assistant County Agricultural Agent

"Pastures Pay"

The best pasture in the world will not offer a dairyman a profit if he loses milk production and cattle through bloat, warm Michigan State College dairy and veterinary specialists.

Extension Dairyman George Parsons, Research Dairy Nutritionist Carl Huffman and Extension Veterinarian Glen Reed joined forces to tell the bloat story:

Bloat is caused when a dairy animal fails to rid itself of gas through belching. It can cause death and every dairy farmer should watch for it, take action to prevent it and know how to treat it.

Three kinds of bloat—frothy, free gas and combination—are liable to occur on pasture. Frothy bloat fills the rumen with a tough viscous foam of small tough-walled sticky bubbles and seals off the lower end of the gullet. Free gas bloat occurs when the gas fails to escape as it normally would.

Cattle going out to new lush pasture—or on to pasture after a growth-promoting rain—should be watched, especially if the pasture is heavy in legumes. There's no substitute for watching cattle.

If bloat strikes, and it's an emergency—the animal is in great distress, near death—stab into the distended rumen, left side, between "hook point" and the ribs to let the gas out. Make the slit as small as possible—but it may be a couple of inches long, and you may also have to hold the slit open if there is forage or froth blockage.

In serious bloat, without an emergency, give the cow a drench.

Prevent bloat by encouraging a thin stream of saliva—to break up gas bubbles—through a "licking" in the front part of the rumen. Soft young legumes do not tickle the rumen but grasses do. Grasses should make up about 50 per cent of a pasture. A good seeding is 6 pounds alfalfa, 2 pounds of bromegrass and 1/12 pound of ladino per acre. Straw or hay should be available in the field to provide the "lickle" and cattle will eat a lot of it—even on good pastures—if it's palatable. They prefer oat straw and grassy hay.

Bloat is caused by stoppages: One theory—A paralysis of belching muscles from fresh legume juices or nerve trouble; saponins in legumes have caused bloat, in experiments, and cutting brain nerves has done it all too. Another theory—A mass of wet forage seals the lower end of the gullet and the rumen "belches" but the gas can't get by; succulent ladino and alfalfa forage is heavy and stays in the lower rumen contents; when fermentation is very rapid, bubbles float this forage to the top and clog the end of the gullet. Internal tuberculosis, hardware disease and lymph enlargements may cause "chronic" bloating.

The harder a man tries to forget the tobacco habit, the harder it is for him to think of anything else.

Mystery Tour

On Tuesday morning, June 8th, four cars carrying 19 members of the Shabbona Home Demonstration Group left Shabbona for a destination known only to the three members of the committee which planned the trip, Mrs. Frank Pelton, Mrs. Harold Peters and Mrs. Norman Heronemus.

Prepared maps guided the drivers to Flint, where their first stop was the Buick Motor Car Division.

After touring the plant and watching the complete assembly of an automobile, the group was taken to the Grosse Pointe Inn for lunch.

The next stop was the Michigan School for the Deaf. There the group visited the classrooms of the lower grades and witnessed the difficult task of teaching the deaf to speak. They also were taken through the kitchens and dormitories where these students live during the school year. Everyone was much impressed by this visit.

The Flint Institute of Arts was the last place on the list. Enough of the day still remained to do some shopping before returning home.

The boys were accompanied by Dan DeLong and Harold Oatley, leaders of the local troop, and by William J. Doser, camp director at Rotary. Boys in the group were Jack Hartwick, Tom Hulien, Tom Devine, Edward DeBlois, Fred MacKay, Don Loretzen, Jim Hutchinson, Harold Patterson, David Ackerman, Wesley Ball, Dick Hunt, Bradley Roberts and Jimmy Profit.

Rev. Floyd Porter To Begin Fourth Year as Pastor

Rev. Floyd Wilfred Porter was reappointed pastor of the Cass City Methodist Church by Bishop Marshall R. Reed at the Detroit Annual Conference which closed in Dearborn Sunday. Mr. Porter will begin his fourth year as pastor of the church which last year successfully assumed full-time pastoral support.

A new district superintendent was appointed to replace Dr. E. Ray Willson, whose six-year term of office expired. The Rev. Arthur E. Smith, formerly of Jefferson Avenue Church, Saginaw, will now head the Port Huron District. Dr. Willson becomes pastor of Mount Hope Church, Detroit.

During the conference sessions, a beautiful marker was dedicated on Butler Road near Greenfield, which was the location of the earliest building of the oldest continuous Protestant Church in the State of Michigan, now First Methodist Church, Dearborn. The building was erected in 1818. Mr. Porter, as chairman of the Conference Historical Society, exhibited a cane made from the old log church. The local pastor spoke for the Methodist Church, while state and city historical groups were represented by their chairmen. Bishop Reed conducted the ritual of dedication, after the marker had been presented by Mayor Orville Hubbard of Dearborn.

A special feature of the conference this year was a section of junior members. In this the Cass City church was represented by Miss Carol Hulien. Mrs. John Sandham was the representative of laymen. Mrs. Porter and the children, Merry and Paul, attended part of the sessions.

Oatley Chairman of Steering Committee

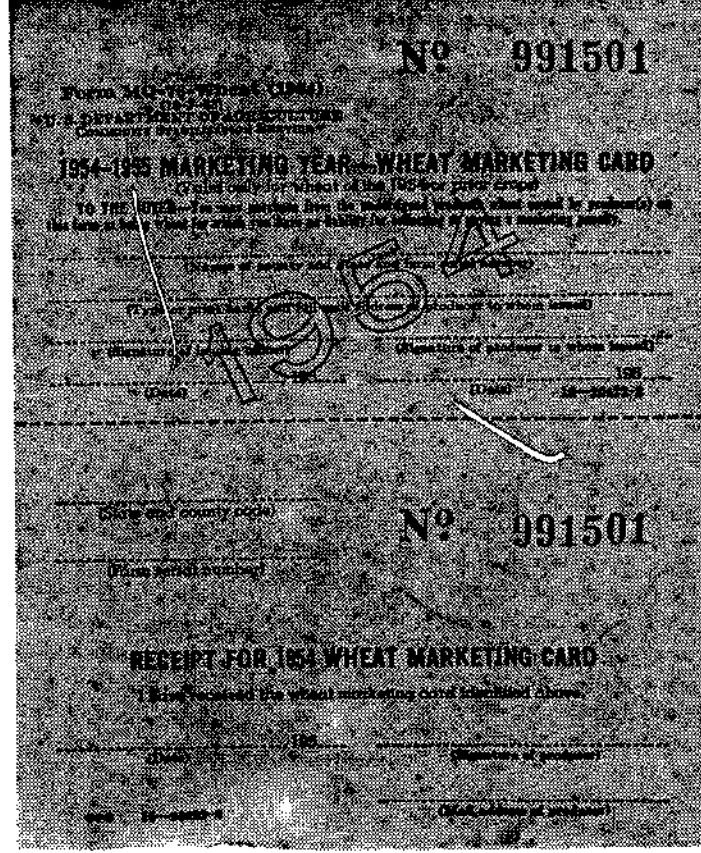

The East Central Association of College Agreement Schools has announced the election of Harold Oatley, assistant principal in Cass City, as chairman of the steering committee, succeeding Benjamin R. Leyrer, principal of Everett High School in Lansing, who had held the post for the past two years. Herbert N. Stoutenburg, assistant registrar of Michigan State College, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The East Central Association includes high schools and colleges, members of the agreement in Lansing, Flint, Bay City and many smaller towns in the Thumb and adjacent areas.

The association holds two general workshop meetings yearly for representatives from all the member schools and usually four special meetings in the fields of guidance and curriculum. Each meeting is planned to help the attending teachers and administrators provide better service to the pupils and parents in their communities.

As steering committee chairman, Mr. Oatley will have general responsibility for all the meetings and projects of the association. The next project will be the fall workshop at Higgins Lake, September 10-11, on the theme "Mental Health Insurance for Pupils and Teachers through the College Agreement Program."

Tuscola County Wheat farmers will be issued wheat marketing cards during the latter part of June, according to Chas. B. Eckfeld, county office manager of Tuscola County ASC Committee.

The official wheat marketing card MQ-76, will be needed by every wheat farmer when marketing his 1954 crop. A marketing card will be issued to every wheat producer who shares in the wheat crop on any farm where the wheat acreage is more than 15 acres and also to producers on farms where the wheat acreage is more than 15 acres and where the acreage allotment has not been exceeded.

Final measurement work on 1954 wheat acreages has now been completed and each wheat farmer who has exceeded his wheat allotment has been notified of the acreage that he would have to dispose of as green manure, cover crop, hay or pasture in order to avoid marketing quota penalties. Mr. Eckfeld advises any wheat farmer who is not sure of where he stands as far as marketing quotas are concerned on his farm to get in touch with the Tuscola County ASC Office located at Caro.

Farmers who share in the wheat crop on any farm where the wheat acreage is more than 15 acres and is in excess of the farm allotment will not receive a marketing card until the penalty on the wheat produced on the excess acres has been satisfied. Mr. Eckfeld stated that the penalty for excess wheat is $1.12 per bushel and can be satisfied in one of the following three ways: (1) Payment of the penalty in cash at the ASC Office, (2) Storage of the excess wheat either in a warehouse or on the farm, (3) Delivery of the excess wheat to the secretary of agriculture through the local ASC office.

Storage or delivery of excess wheat must be accomplished within 60 days after the harvest period ends, otherwise the penalty can be satisfied only through cash payment. Farmers who store excess wheat will be permitted to underplant their 1955 wheat allotment and will then be authorized to remove all or part of their 1954 excess wheat from a storage and sell it on the open market.

All elevators, warehousemen, feed dealers, milling companies and other wheat buyers are co-operating in the control of wheat marketing, beginning July 1. Commercial wheat buyers are required to maintain certain records and account for all wheat purchased during the marketing year July 1, 1954, through June 30, 1955.

Instruction meeting for wheat buyers will be held to review the marketing quota regulations and the forms to be used.

Mr. Eckfeld cautions individual farmers, who may buy wheat for feed or seed from other farmers, that the farmer who is selling the wheat must show a marketing card showing that the wheat is free of any penalty, otherwise the farmer who buys the wheat is subject to payment of the penalty.

Cull Books from Library to Make Additional Room

Mrs. Arthur Little, librarian for Cass City and Elkland Township Public Library, June 10 received a check for $187.31 from the state board for libraries from the general library fund grant.

The amount is practically five cents per capita on the Elkland Township population. The money received will be used to extend and increase library service. Howe; "Pocahontas" by Flora W. Seymour; "Clara Barton" by Augusta Stevenson, and "Will Rogers" by Guernsey Van Riper, Jr.

Library board members, Mrs. Fred McEachern, Mrs. M. C. McLellan and Mrs. Earl Douglas, together with the librarian, donated their time and effort this week to cull about 400 books to make room for more desirable reading.

Conkey, Joyce McLellan and Marlene Ricketts.

Four in the eleventh grade were not absent nor tardy: Edward Fox, Leeta Henry, Sally McGrath and Janet Spencer.

One senior, Marion Meininger, was able to keep her record perfect.

Mr. Oatley emphasized that very many other pupils, too numerous to list, had acceptable records. They were absent only for illness, to attend church conferences or for other meetings of educational value, and were never tardy. Such a list would probably include a majority of the student body, he stated.

Wheat Allotment Available Now

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for grain for all the years, 1952, 1953 and 1954, may apply for a 1955 wheat acreage allotment, according to Chas. B. Eckfeld, county office manager of the Tuscola County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for grain for any of those years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county ASC Committee by June 20, 1954.

Blank application forms are available at the county ASC office for use in filing requests for allotments.
