

Council Votes to Up Minimum Water Rate

Starting with the next quarter, the minimum charges for water service in Cass City will be raised from $2 to $3 for the first 5,000 gallons used.

The raise was unanimously voted at the regular village council meeting held Tuesday evening at the Cass City Municipal Building.

Records Prove It!

June is Brides' Month in County

June is brides' month—the records kept by Fred Mathews, Tuscola County clerk, prove it.

Miss Marilyn Harrison, the clerk in charge of marriages, reports that 47 couples have been issued licenses in June. That's nearly twice as many as the next biggest month this year.

May runs second in the nuptial sweepstakes and the "I Do" applications reached only 25 for the month.

The cold weather seems to have an adverse effect on budding romances. In February only 12 licenses were issued. . . the smallest quota for the first six months of the year.

January saw 15 couples declare their intentions to saunter to the altar and in March 14 licenses were granted.

The gradual spring upswing in licenses started in April when 18 were issued, Miss Harrison said.

Slow Down

The village council has asked drivers in the village to slow down on side streets and alleys.

With school vacation in progress, children are playing on the streets and excessive speed may cost a life, authorities stated.

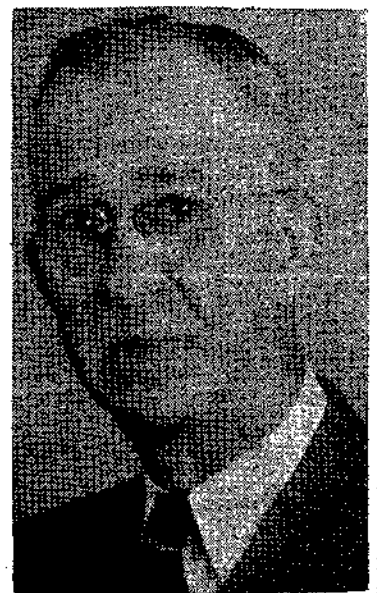

In an effort to curb careless drivers, additional policemen may be added at peak periods, the council said.

Final Rites Held For Lee Huston, 61

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Lee Huston, 61, Caro funeral director and prominent Tuscola County resident.

Mr. Huston died of a heart attack in the office of Dr. L. L. Savage in Caro Saturday afternoon.

While in downtown Caro he became ill and went to the physician's office where he died a short time later. He has served as Tuscola County coroner since 1927 and had filed nominating petitions for another term in office.

Born in Millington May 22, 1893, he served with the 128th field hospital unit of the 32nd division in France during World War I.

Mr. Huston was married in 1920 to Florence Boulton of Fostonia. Concluded on page ten.

FIRST OF A SERIES—The first of three summer band concerts in Cass City was held Tuesday evening at the Cass City Recreational Park. Before a good crowd, the band entertained with several selections under the direction of Director Ralph Powell.

From the Editor's Corner

We won't call it a flying saucer, but we saw something in the sky Tuesday, as did several other reliable persons.

The object was first sighted by Irving Parsch, who was scanning the heavens after remarking, "Wonderful day, not a cloud in the sky."

He pointed the object out to Fred Auten, Al Galvanek and your editor.

The object seemed to hover motionless in the air on a point nearly directly over the tower on Wood's Drug Store on a line from in front of the Cass City Bank.

It was extremely high and looked to us like an oversized dandelion after it became white and fluffy.

Although it looked motionless, it must have been moving. We checked the spot about an hour later and the "saucer" was no longer visible.

We aren't nearly as sorry now as we were this morning when we failed to get up to see the last total eclipse of this century. Two Cass City area persons were among the early birds and the results of their observations were frustrating.

Arthur Atwell and Fritz Neitzel report that they were ready and waiting around 5 a. m. to see the phenomena. Just as the event was to occur, a large cloud came by and obstructed their vision.

What's more, Fritz tried to record the event with the camera and reports he got "absolutely nothing."

Here's a puzzle for old-time residents. Can you remember or have you ever heard that the General Telephone building was once a bakery?

Gustave A. Schust of Saginaw wrote a letter saying that the building was once a bakery operated by his father in 1878. He wanted to know if the ovens were still in the basement.

Naturally, they have disappeared and so, evidently, have all traces of the concern. We delved into records and quizzed some of the residents with long memories, but none have remembered the concern referred to.

Position Open

Applications for employment as substitute clerk at the Deford Post Office cannot be accepted after July 7, G. M. Jacoby, postmaster, announced today.

Persons interested in applying for the position should apply at the Deford Post Office without delay to take the substitute clerk's examination, Mr. Jacoby said.

Forty Enrolled In Kindergarten

Mrs. B. H. Starmann announced today that 40 children have enrolled in the kindergarten class at Cass City school for the 1954-55 school year.

She said that all children must be enrolled by July 15. Parents can enroll children at the high school office. Mrs. Starmann reminds parents that birth certificates for children entering school must be brought to the school as required by law.

All children who are or will be five years old by December 1 are eligible to enter school.

Lee Russell Wins New Stove in Balloon Contest

Lee Russell of Gagetown recently won a new gas range for finding a contest balloon while hunting near Glennie.

The balloon had been released by Mark Renfro of St. Louis, Missouri, and had traveled 560 miles. Two ranges were awarded to persons who found balloons which had traveled the farthest.

The award was a part of an advertising campaign sponsored by Cribben and Sexton Company, D. A. Krug, local Shellane distributor for over 20 years, installed the stove of Mr. Russell's choice.

CAP Squadron Holds Operation Nightcap

Ninety-one Civil Air Patrol seniors and cadets from the Thumb Group participated Saturday night and Sunday in "Operation Nightcap," using the Marlette Airport as base.

The squadrons reported at the airport at 2300 hours (11 p. m.) Saturday and set up equipment for the simulated mission, based on the assumption that power had been cut off by a tornado sweeping close by, and set out at once with 16 mobile units to provide first aid and rescue for "survivors." Power was provided by CAP generators.

Meals were provided by the CAP generators. Concluded on page 10.

With Pair of Victories

Cass City Wins Top Spot in Caro League

The Cass City Lions Club are undisputed leaders of the Caro Softball League today, following a 6-0 victory over Caro Poultry Plant Monday.

Paced by a grand slam home run by LeRoy Hoag and the one-hit pitching by Elwyn Helwig, the Lions had little trouble stopping the Poultry nine.

All of the Lions' runs were the result of home runs. Besides Hoag's distance clout, Helwig hit a round tripper with a man aboard to help his own cause.

In his seven-inning stint, Helwig struck out 11, bringing his season's total to 65 in five games. He has allowed 10 hits, an average of two a game.

Thursday, June 24, the Lions won their third league start in a row by defeating Reese 3-3.

Although each team gathered only three hits apiece, walks and shoddy support made Cass City's victory easy. Helwig posted 11 strike outs in the game.

The Lions scored twice in the second inning, one in the fourth, three in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Reese failed to score until the fifth when the Lions had a six-run margin.

Friday, June 25, the Lions defeated the Mayville all-stars in a benefit game. They collected seven hits, two by Russ Foy, in their 3-1 victory.

Cass City scored all its runs in the first inning and Mayville counted its lone marker in the sixth.

Counting games pitched before he entered service, the victories during the week ran Helwig's total to 18 in a row without a loss.

Parsch's Store will be open Thursday afternoons

Commission Cracks Down

New Sewage Plant Must Be Built Soon

Plans for an enlarged sewage disposal plant in Cass City, which were temporarily halted when Nestle's Milk Company closed its plant here, were reactivated after a recent visit from a member of the Water Resources Committee.

Cass City was originally slated to have its new plant completed in June, 1954, and plans were well under way when Nestle's left the community.

With the absence of the company's milk waste, plans were halted.

However, according to the representative of the Water Resources Committee, a new plant will still have to be built.

Members of the village council will be called for a conference and a new finishing date for the project issued by the village.

According to a letter from the village's engineers in Detroit, plans for the waste system can be completed within 10 weeks.

Although no definite plans for financing the project have been completed, it is thought that the cost of the system would be borne either by general obligation bonds with a special tax assessment or a charge based on water used in the village.

Cost of the system is not known at this time. Estimates now run between $75,000 and $100,000. Until the engineers complete plans, village authorities will not be able to take any definite steps.

Okay Sewers. The council approved sewer and water installations for the building under construction by the Cass City Development Corporation and for a house on Sherman Street owned by Jake Tekieli.

Construction of the sewer for the factory site was to have started Wednesday.

Mr. Burt reported that 20 blocks of sanitary sewers have been cleaned since the sewer cleaning machine was purchased May 26. Present plans call for all the sewers in the village to be cleaned.

Mr. Burt estimated that the 120 blocks of sewer will be a two-year job for the village crew.

New Workshop. The council approved an addition to the present municipal garage to house village equipment. The building will be added to the present structure.

The present heated part of the building will be used for a workshop to repair village equipment in slack periods during the winter.

The council approved a settlement with Mr. Tekieli for sewer payment. Because the sewer extension to his property does not service all the homes, he was given a $500 rebate on the money he paid the village.

He will receive the standard 30 per cent rebate, as required by ordinance, of the balance of $1,400.

He will be requested to sign a waiver for sewer service for the balance of the homes on his property. They will be served by septic tanks.

The village received its share of tax money from local liquor and beer establishments from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. This year's amount was $523.17.

Three to Appoint County Coroner

Tuscola County Prosecutor Bruce White was busy checking law books to find who was authorized to appoint a man to fill the vacancy for county coroner caused by the death of Lee Huston.

Although they were unable to make a definite statement Wednesday afternoon, it was thought that Almon C. Pierce, judge of probate; Fred Mathews, county clerk; and White will be required by law to make the selection.

Although no appointment has yet been made, it was thought by authorities that the job would be given to Dr. Herbert Nigg, Caro physician, who is running for the office in the fall election.

Bonnie Benkelman Cited for Spring Work at WMC

Miss Bonnie J. Benkelman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Benkelman, Jr., Cass City, was among 119 students at Western Michigan College on the high scholarship list at the school for the spring semester.

She was cited by Dean John C. Hoekje for placing on the list that included only 3.14 per cent of the undergraduate student body.

A change in the supervision at the pool will place Dick Wallace in charge on Tuesday and Thursday. Mr. Parrish will spend those days at North Lake as lifeguard each week.

Many Fined in Justice Court Cases in Tuscola County

Three persons were arrested by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department this week for shooting firecrackers. Two of the men, Leo O'Hearn, 17, of Millington and Charles Hughes, 17, of Flint were fined $10 and costs of $8.22. The third man, Richard Early, 19, of Flint was found guilty of transporting firecrackers and paid a $25 fine and $8.22 costs.

Loran Lange, 45, of Saginaw was fined $50 and costs of $7.90 for driving under the influence of alcohol Sunday. He was arrested following an accident at Enos Park, the sheriff's department said. His driving license was suspended.

Norman Schmitzer, 17, of Vassar was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol Saturday at Unionville. He was also arrested following an accident. He pled not guilty and trial will be set at a later date. He has been released on a $20 bond.

The sheriff's department arrested seven men for creating a disturbance and rowdiness at North Lake Park Tuesday. Each was fined $25 and costs of $12.85. Arrested were: Gordon Gallagher, 18, Charles Lowell, 17, Larry Whitney, 18, Gordon Thompson, 19, Leo Ross, 17, and Gordon Schuit, 17, all of Mt. Morris, and Richard Norris, 18, of Clio.

Ingalsbee Loses Original $175

Jury Denies Claim For Compensation

An attempt by Chester Ingalsbee to receive more damages than originally awarded by the court from the Tuscola County Road Commission resulted in the loss of the original judgment of $175, as a jury returned the verdict of no cause for action Tuesday.

Mr. Ingalsbee asked for a judgment of $50,000 for 12 trees cut down on his property in the spring of 1951.

In an earlier court decision, he had been awarded damages of $175. Feeling that the amount was insufficient, he asked for a new trial.

The case opened Monday and continued until Tuesday at 2:20 p. m. when the case went to the jury.

The jury deliberated until 3:20 p. m. and returned the no cause for action verdict.

The decision of the jurors means that Mr. Ingalsbee will forfeit the original $175 granted him by the court.

Members of the jury were: Lou Gussell, Charles Duor, Veva Robinson, John Koepf, Stanley Kloe, Hattie Tittsworth, Horace Kilbourne, Wallace Zinnecker, Mrs. Lyle Koepf, Mrs. Dora Foster and Gretchen Ackerman.

Judge Chester M. Bach of Port Huron presided.

A non-jury trial in circuit court found Aubrey Chatters guilty of contempt of court for failing to pay alimony. He was ordered to pay $100 in arrears in alimony by July 1 or serve 30 days in jail.

With the heaviest Fourth of July traffic in history expected this week end, State Police operations have been geared to concentrate patrol coverage in the areas of congestion and high accident rates and pass days of all officers have been canceled to provide maximum enforcement strength.

Authorities pointed out that 80 persons lost their lives in highway accidents over the three-day Fourth of July week end last year as compared to 20 during the four-day Memorial holiday week end this year. The average for each summer week end last year was 22.5 deaths.

"Our Memorial holiday record indicated improvement and showed that when they want to, drivers can do better," Commissioner Joseph Childs stated. "It is our hope they make an even greater effort this week end to stay alive."

"The only way to avoid an accident," he said, "is by driving as if your life depended upon it, because it does."

All State Police enlisted personnel, including detectives and others on special assignment, will be on duty, which will mean a 20 per cent increase in patrol strength over the week end.

Navy Recruiter in Cass City on Alternate Tuesdays

The United States Navy will have a recruiter at the Cass City Post Office every other Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., it was announced today by Niles C. Anderson, recruiting officer.

Chief Anderson will also be in Caro on alternate Mondays from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The visits to the two communities are the result of increased personnel at the recruiting station at Saginaw.

Area persons interested in joining the Navy can be tested and receive applications when the officer visits the community.

Fair Board to Issue Premium Books Soon

Fair books for the 73rd annual Tuscola County Fair have been completed and will be distributed next week, said Carl Mantey, secretary of the Tuscola County Fair. The fair, the largest event on the agricultural calendar in Tuscola County, will open Monday, August 23, and continue through August 28.

The board this year has continued to follow the policy of a year ago and has issued two premium books. One book follows the well-known fair book pattern used for the past many years and the second book is devoted to the activities of the countryside 4-H and FFA premiums. In 1953 the book was split in two, due to the fact that the agricultural shows have grown rapidly in the past few years and the one book was no longer adequate. It is believed that the Tuscola County Fair surpasses all fairs in north-eastern Michigan in display of farm products and livestock by 4-H and FFA members.

Premiums for this year will top $7,000.00. As has been the policy in the past, the members of the fair board have placed money to be given at the head of the various departments to qualified persons from all sections of the county. Among them is Walter Goodall of Cass City, superintendent in charge of swine.

Scheduled July 9

The annual 4-H livestock judging tour will be held Friday, July 9, says George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent. The purpose of this event is to develop appreciation for what is desired in good livestock, select a county team of five members and to emphasize another important 4-H activity.

The first stop will be at Franklin Turner's farm, 1 mile east and 1 1/2 miles south of Akron, at 10 a. m. Here a class of Chester White barrows and Chester White sows will be judged. Reid Kirk's sheep farm, 1/4 mile north and 3/4 mile east of Fairgrove will be the next stop at 11:30 a. m. Here one or two classes of Oxford ewes will be judged. This will also be the noon stop. Members are requested to bring along their own lunches. The last stop is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. at Joe Young's farm, 1 1/2 miles west of Gifford. Here a couple of classes of fine Herefords will be judged.

All 4-H beef, sheep and swine club members are urged to come along on this tour and compete for a place on the county livestock judging team. This team will compete at the district eliminations at Michigan State College in August.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, CASS CITY

It appears now that it is much easier to win a war than it is to win the peace.

There may be something the matter with the youth of today—but it couldn't be from lack of advice from their elders.

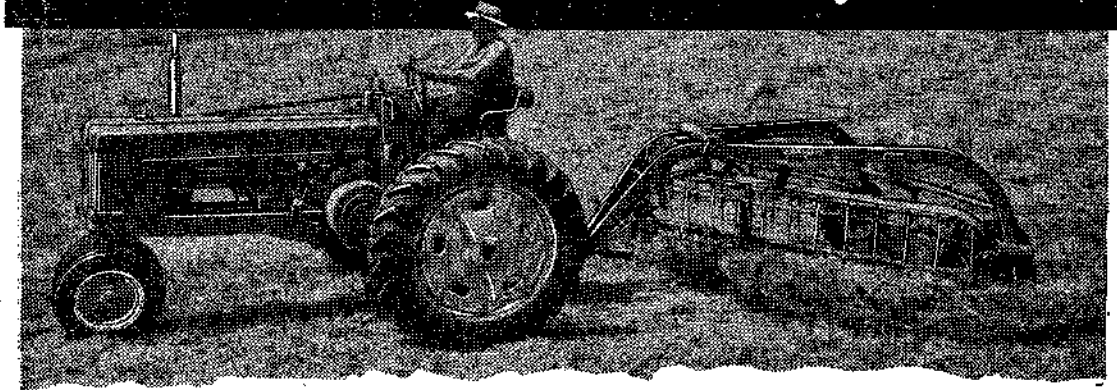

It doesn't pay to judge a man on weekdays by the company he keeps on Sundays.

The greatest bore is a person who has nothing to say, but takes up a lot of your time trying to say it.

It's a fact that most people trust in God—you can tell that by the way they drive.

It's easy for most people to be broad-minded when it's their neighbor who is confronted with a grave problem.

You'll Rake Faster...Get Leafier Hay

...with a JOHN DEERE No. 851 Side-Delivery RAKE

Leaf-saving performance even at speeds up to seven miles per hour is yours with the John Deere No. 851 Side-Delivery Rake. This gentle handling at faster speeds is made possible by the John Deere Right-Angle reel, which moves the crop directly to the left in forming the windrow... reduces forward movement of the crop to half that of conventional rakes. Curved teeth lift the hay gently into leaves-inside-stems-outside windrows that cure evenly... ground drive keeps reel speed in correct relation to ground speed to form windrows with a minimum of movement. Extra-strong construction, wheel-and-reel-in-line design, floating reel, adaptability for hydraulic control, and generous use of lifetime lubrication-sealed bearings are other outstanding features. See us for details.

Green Pastures for Green Dollars

By Quentin R. Ostrander, Assistant County Agricultural Agent

Now is the time to start turning under weedy legume-lacking pastures and get set for re-seeding, especially if you have sudan-grass ready to take over on the job of pasturing livestock. Legume or legume-grass pastures where the legume stands have thinned out and weeds have come in should be re-seeded, agree Michigan State College specialists. Field locations or erosion hazards may make it advisable to seed without other crops in between. In these cases, points out Soil Scientist James Porter, August seedings are the best. Now is the time to prepare the soil.

Plow or re-work the field once or twice a week—more or less—for control with a disk, spring-tooth harrow, field cultivator or even a corn cultivator with sweep shovels. If erosion is a hazard, a system of soil preparation which leaves trash on top will offer wind protection and slow the run-off from rain. Field cultivators or disk-type implements can be used in these cases for both the first and additional operations.

Lime and fertilizer should be used as needed; now is the time to take soil samples and get them tested at your county laboratory. If lime is needed, it should be applied soon enough for it to be thoroughly mixed with the soil during tillage operations. Fertilizer—the full amount called for in soil test recommendations—is best applied with the grain drill at seeding time, in mid-August generally.

The band seeding method which places the legume seed directly above the fertilizer band is good insurance that the re-seeding effort and expense will be rewarded, suggests Porter. The regular grain-fertilizer drill can be adapted to band seeding quickly and with little expense. Instructions are available at your county agricultural agent's office.

Ed Golding at Cass City has a new seeding of alfalfa in oats that is now six to ten inches high and is also a very thick stand. Ed used 5 lbs. per acre. This was his first experience with band seeding.

A good seeding combination is 5 to 6 pounds of alfalfa, a half pound of ladino clover and 2 pounds of bromegrass per acre. If this seeding is intended for several years of pasture—or hay and pasture—before re-seeding, Ranger variety of alfalfa is recommended; Ranger has resistance to wilt.

The alfalfa and ladino seed should be mixed thoroughly and band seeded. A good way to sow the bromegrass is to mix it with oats, about a bushel of oats per acre. The oats also give the alfalfa some protection and, in favorable years, may provide some fall pasture.

Sudangrass is ready to pasture when it is about 18 inches high. The sudan fields planted between May 20 and June 1 usually are ready to turn in livestock soon after July 1.

The possibility of prussic acid poisoning from grazing new short growths of sudan is slight in Michigan but it is a wise precaution to avoid pasturing short plants. This is regardless of the cause of the short growth. The "low prussic acid producing ability" of Piper sudangrass is one of the advantages of using this fairly new variety.

Be yourself always—if other people will stand for it.

Ancient Plant Thrives in Texas

Sesame Provides Oil For Various Uses

Sesame, an ancient oilseed plant which was used as food in India and China as early as 1,000 B. C. and which grew in the Nile Valley when Pharaoh's daughter found Moses in the rushes, is now being grown commercially in Texas.

Last year farmers in 25 Texas counties representing nearly all of the major soil types tested sesame and report it to be a crop which may open the door to new markets and bigger profits. The total yield of 400,000 pounds brought growers 11.7 cents a pound—a total of $46,800. The crop was produced from improved varieties of semi-shattering sesame developed at Texas Research Foundation at Renner, Texas.

Here is sesame growing in Texas. Production records indicate cost of producing one acre ranges $10 to $25, depending upon commercial fertilizer used. Growers netted about $50 per acre in 1953.

Sesame seed contains about 50 per cent oil which is used in the manufacture of many essential products such as drugs, insecticides, soaps, cooking oils, margarine and shortenings. The whole sesame seed is used in garnishing bakery products and in the manufacture of candles.

Sesame is well adapted to the climatic and soil conditions throughout the cotton growing areas of Texas. It will grow under a wide range of soil conditions but grows best on well-drained fertile soils. Neutral soils are preferred but good results can be expected from either acid or alkaline soil. Generally speaking, sesame will grow well on any land that will grow cotton.

Production records obtained from farmers cooperating in a testing program for three years indicate the cost of producing one acre of sesame will vary $10 to $25, depending largely upon amount of commercial fertilizer used and management.

Lessons learned by experience seldom need explanations.

The man crowned with success is the one who does ordinary things extraordinarily well.

Plans Set for 4-H Summer Camp

Summer 4-H camp time is drawing near. Many Tuscola County 4-H'ers have already expressed their desire to attend by submitting their reservations. Camping is a great experience in the life of any youngster. Through this program they experience the art of group living, learn more of their own capabilities and develop further talents already present.

Much planning is necessary prior to camp. One important key to a successful camp is a corps of trained counselors. George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent, has been busy securing and training several counselors for this job. Among the counselors lined up for this year are: Mrs. Mary Cramer and Mrs. Bertha Achenbach, Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, Fairgrove;

Mrs. Joe Young, Reese; Barbara Wenzloff and Barbara Ruggies, Kingston; John Ziegler, Unionville; Mrs. George MacQueen, Caro, and Miss Jean Gillies, county home demonstration agent; with a possibility of Duane Gettel and Mrs. John Krause, Unionville, and Louis Meyer, Bach. This group will meet on Wednesday, July 7, at 8 p. m. at the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building to put the finishing touches on the camp program. They will have an opportunity to practice crafts and share program ideas.

In the meantime all 4-H club members are urged to submit their two dollar deposit by check to hold their reservation. The remaining four dollars will be collected at camp on Wednesday, July 14. Camp will close Saturday noon, July 17. From the way the reservations are coming in, there should be a large group at camp this year.

Michigan Mirror News Briefs

Michigan citizens will see engineers and businessmen do what chemists have tried to accomplish for many years: make gold out of sea water.

Perhaps the comparison is a trifle figurative. The feat will be achieved with dredges, barges and construction equipment; not elaborate chemical apparatus.

Approval of the St. Lawrence waterway by Congress this year ended a 40 year battle with interests which argued that such a project would mean financial ruin for them. Waterway supporters by no means agreed that these gloomy predictions would come to pass for opponents. But they are sure that the channel will do much to develop this part of the nation.

How much will Michigan benefit from the seaway? Several people have made predictions on this subject. One of the best qualified is John Beukema, chairman of the Transportation Advisory Committee of the Michigan Economic Development Commission.

Beukema was for years the secretary of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce. He knows the seaway subject extremely well since Muskegon, as a port city, has an intense natural interest in seeing the channel become a reality.

"The seaway will have as great an effect on Michigan's economy as the invention of the automobile, but it will take time," Beukema told Economic Development Commission members at a recent meeting. "What we must look for is an evolution rather than a revolution."

Beukema dwelled on the time factor. He pointed out that it will take about six years before the seaway is finished. Industries now using railroads and trucks will not change overnight to using ships, he remarked. "It takes time to build up a commerce—and the shipper has to be sold on the benefits of water travel."

Major benefits were divided in two groups by Beukema: commercial and industrial. He predicted that Chicago and Milwaukee will gain most because they are natural supply points for foreign trade to the entire area from water's edge to the Rockies.

Detroit, Saginaw and Muskegon, he predicted, will be "sharply competitive" to supply Michigan.

Michigan people, Beukema thinks, have a limited appreciation of foreign trade, even though it means much to the state even now.

A Detroit Board of Commerce survey shows more than 900 leading industries and establishments in Michigan engaged in import or export trade. Most of this, according to Beukema, moves by rail to New York or some eastern seaport. "Shippers are often surprised," he stated, "to find that the rail rate to New York is as high or higher than the ocean rate to north European ports. They don't realize that much of this cost is due to expense of rail-to-ship transfer at the harbor."

Importance of commerce to a city can be well illustrated by the late Mayor LaGuardia, who once stated that New York's greatness depended on three things: its port and waterborne commerce—its 300,000 visitors and the trade they produced—its manufacturers. He listed them in that order. And he further said that without the port, New York would be a second class city.

Intercoastal shipping is even more important than foreign, says Beukema. "What is it going to mean to the Michigan manufacturer when he can save a third of this freight cost by shipping direct through the Panama Canal to warehouses in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle?"

Prices on bananas, pineapple and other tropical products should also drop sharply for Michigan consumers when these things can be shipped in by water.

"It takes money to make money," the old saying goes. Faced with the need for expenditures, municipalities are looking into what needs to be done.

A Port of Detroit Commission was formed some time ago. Almost immediately it locked horns with Wayne County supervisors over finances, charging such "penny-pinching" that proper operations were impossible. The salary ceiling set by supervisors for a port director was so low, said commissioners, that competitive offers were expected to lure best men to other cities.

Other Michigan cities face similar problems. Although they are smaller in dollars and cents, they are just as big proportionally. The Alpena News, for instance, felt it necessary to point out editorially that more foresight should be shown where the seaway is concerned when planning in suburban areas. It urged that city fathers do some serious thinking at this time and set up zoning areas that will make for maximum efficiency in developing city property and adjoining areas.

Improved docks are needed almost everywhere. Beukema predicted year-round lake traffic between Detroit and ports of Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan. The St. Lawrence, he thinks, will be open only about 7 1/2 months each year.

If conclusions of this man who has studied for years the significance of the seaway turn out to be accurate, Michigan will develop into an even more prosperous state.

Improved docks are needed almost everywhere. Beukema predicted year-round lake traffic between Detroit and ports of Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan. The St. Lawrence, he thinks, will be open only about 7 1/2 months each year.

If conclusions of this man who has studied for years the significance of the seaway turn out to be accurate, Michigan will develop into an even more prosperous state.

Pre-harvest Combine School Scheduled

Farmers in Tuscola and surrounding counties will have an opportunity to learn first-hand the proper operation and adjustment of their combines at a pre-harvest combine school to be held at the Reese High School on Thursday, July 8, starting at 8 p. m. This event is being sponsored jointly by the Michigan State College Cooperative Extension Service and farm implement dealers.

Loren Black, Denmark Township Agricultural Agent, states that thousands of dollars are lost every year by farmers due to improper combine adjustment and operation. It is the purpose of this pre-harvest combine school to teach farmers how to harvest their grain properly so as to maintain maximum yields and quality.

The program starting at 8 p. m. will have a three point approach. The first part of the program will be taken up by Milton Erdmann, farm crops specialist at Michigan State College. Erdmann will discuss the importance of moisture and moisture testing, storage problems, including sick wheat and insect damage, weed control and a brief review of crops varieties. Temporary storage requirements under ASC loans will also be discussed.

The second portion of the program will be handled by Bob White, agricultural engineer at Michigan State College, and will deal with the problems of combine operation. Such items as grain losses, trouble shooting and adjustments will be discussed.

The farm implement dealers will handle the third part of the program and will discuss the service and operational function of their own particular make of combine. It is hoped that every make of combine used in Tuscola County will be represented. At this time commitments have been made on the following makes of combines: John Deere, International Harvester, Case, Allis Chalmers, Oliver, Wood and Minneapolis Moline.

Self-admission proves there is no accounting for tastes.

If you can't make the grade step aside and let someone perform who can.

CAP OPERATION

Cass City Supply Squadron and the seniors and cadets were quartered in hangars and tents at the airport.

A third problem was a mock attack. The cadets were divided into two squads, one attacking, the other defending. The attackers won through slipping a "bomb" through the "defense" lines in a car.

Squadrons participating included: Bad Axe, Cass City, Caro, Marlette and Imlay City. Lt. Col. Carl Nye was in command. 1st Lt. Warren Wood of Cass City was operations officer, with Maj. Leon Gaylor of Dryden, staff director of training and operations, supervising the maneuvers.
