

From the Editor's Corner

Monday evening voters in the Elkland Township school district number five elected three persons to the school board. We believe that the selections will result in good administration of the school's affairs.

However, we think that the method used to elect members to the board is in need of overhauling. Monday, the candidates were nominated by ballot and on one of the ballots voters were forced to select from 24 different names.

Obviously, in the five or ten minutes between the nomination and the election, it is impossible to consider each candidate for the office.

Voters had no way of knowing whether or not persons nominated were interested in the office—a job that requires considerable time and effort to be performed properly.

But the worst feature of the method used is the possibility of an organized minority controlling the election.

Even with the record turnout of over 100 voters Monday, it would be possible for eight or 10 voters to elect a candidate if the rest of the voters were evenly divided among the 24 other names on the list.

And, if only 15 or 20 persons attend, as has been the case in most years, less than 10 would be needed.

We suggest petitions and ballots at a regular election as a remedy for the situation. It takes signatures from only 10 per cent of the voters at the last election to make a petition valid—roughly, 10 names would do the trick.

Voters would have ample time to consider each candidate and members of the district who are unable to attend a meeting for a couple of hours at a specified time would be able to vote in a moment when they found time during the hours the polls are open.

The idea is not new. It's followed in Caro, Bad Axe and many other Thumb communities. Even though Cass City is an unorganized district, it could be followed here.

The Chronicle loses a valuable member of its staff this week. Mrs. Loren Trathen, who has been a correspondent for the paper between 18 and 20 years, has moved to Cass City and will no longer report the Holbrook news.

Mrs. Trathen says that she started so long ago that she cannot remember how long she has been writing. The Chronicle is deeply appreciative of her long service with the paper. Without the efforts of correspondents like Mrs. Trathen, the Chronicle could not be published.

Mrs. Clifford Jackson has volunteered to replace Mrs. Trathen at Holbrook. Persons in that area are asked to contact her with their news items.

Just a year ago today the Chronicle ran an article about a committee for Little League. Continued on page 12.

Northwest Sanilac Churches Hold 56th Home-coming

By Edith Little.

Any "old-timer" passing by the McNaughton Park, near Argyle, Saturday would stop and ponder as he heard hundreds of voices resounding through the wooded area in an old-fashioned hymn sing. His memory would go back to the "good old days" when it was not unusual to worship and sing amid nature's surroundings.

For Saturday was the 56th Anniversary and Home-coming of the Northwest Sanilac County Union Sunday School Association held at the park, one mile west of Argyle.

First Drowning in County Recorded At North Lake

The first drowning in Tuscola County this year was recorded Tuesday when Walter Mason, 32, of Saginaw lost his life at North Lake while swimming.

Mason, the father of three children, was swimming in about eight feet of water when he was struck by cramps and sunk.

At the time of the drowning, his wife and three children were watching him from the shore.

According to Coroner Herbert Nigg and the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, Mason was struck by cramps because he entered the water too soon after eating.

Linel Rayl Injured In Farm Accident

Linel Rayl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rayl, Sr., received a severely cut thumb Monday while attempting to repair a window in the silo room at the Rayl farm near Deford.

The thumb was cut to the bone and required eight stitches. Linel remained in the hospital Monday night for observation.

The accident occurred when Linel attempted to shove out a loose window and was cut by the glass. The cut severed a cord in the thumb, but is reported to be healing now.

Many Prizes Offered In Livestock Show

The annual livestock show at the Cass City Home-coming will be bigger and better this year than ever before, said members of the committee in charge of the event this year.

Because of the large number of entries and many different events, two tents will replace the single tent that housed the event last year.

For the first time, the show is recognized by the state, which will pay approximately half of the cost of the prizes for the 4-H and FFA event.

Cash and ribbon awards will be given at the show. Ribbons will be awarded for individual placing through eighth place. Prizes of $2 for first, $1.50 for second and $1 for third will be made for five group placings in each of the different breeds of cattle shown.

In the sheep division of the show, group placing awards will

Over 100 persons, the largest crowd in years, attended the annual school meeting for Cass City schools Monday night at the school auditorium.

The voters elected Grant Hutchinson to fill the unexpired term of Fred Pinney and named Luke Tuckey to replace C. M. Wallace, who announced that he would not run again for the office.

Mrs. H. T. Donahue was re-elected to the board. The terms of Mrs. Donahue and Mr. Tuckey will be for three years. Mr. Hutchinson will serve for one year in his present term of office.

Both nomination and election were handled by ballot.

For this reason, there were 24 names nominated for the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Pinney.

Mr. Hutchinson was named to the office with a total of 29 votes. In the voting for the remaining two vacancies on the school board, fewer names were submitted on the nominating ballot. Mr. Tuckey won with 45 votes and Mrs. H. T. Donahue received 52 votes.

Board Names Officers. In a meeting following the general meeting, the board members named officers. Mrs. Edward Baker was re-elected president and Lester Ross was re-elected secretary. Mrs. Donahue was named treasurer by the board.

At the meeting, Mr. Wallace presented the financial report which was approved by the voters.

The report showed that $263, $10.90 was spent from the general fund for the year ending June 30, 1954. Of this amount $16,000 was transferred to a building and sites fund and $10,000 went to a debt retirement fund.

Administrative expenses totaled $13,806.18 and teachers' salaries and other instruction expenses totaled $154,725.98.

Operation of the plant, including wages, heat, light, water, etc., totaled $19,977.07 and maintenance costs totaled $3,326.00.

Fixed charges, auxiliary services and capital outlay consumed the remainder of the money spent.

At the end of the fiscal year, the school reported a cash balance of $29,932.20 to be carried over into the 1954-55 school year.

Although the exact cost has not been ascertained, it is believed that the cost of transporting pupils will be raised this year. Present estimates place the amount at from $10 to $15 more per pupil.

Last year districts paid $75 for pupils through the sixth grade and $93 for children attending grades seven through 12.

Actual cost per child for the year was $138.69 as compared to $137.54 in 1952-53.

Because of the voted increase for the erection of the addition to the grade school, voters will pay a total of 14½ mills in taxes this year. Seven mills for operating expenses and seven and one half mills debt retirement.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, July 17—Donald C. Wernette will hold an auction at his farm, one mile west and one mile south of junction M-53 and M-81. Sale includes horses, cattle, machinery and household goods.

Lumber Major Area Industry

Modern Paul Bunyons Produce Thousands of Feet of Lumber

If you're one of the many who think lumbering as a major industry passed out of the picture in the Cass City area back around the turn of the century, this story is written for you.

Sawmills here produce thousands of feet of lumber daily with payrolls running into the thousands of dollars yearly.

Active in the immediate vicinity are at least five mills. The mills are run by Virgil Peters, Elmer Haggai, Martin Grifka, Wallace Farver and Basil Wotton.

A call to Michigan Lumber Fabricators produced the information that this concern alone uses about one-quarter of a million feet of lumber a month—all cut and saved in the Thumb area.

To find out just how these modern Paul Bunyons operate, we visited the sawmill owned by Basil "Slim" Wotton, owner of Wotton's Timber Products.

Naturally, the process starts in the woods. "Slim" has contracted for the lumber in several woodlots in the area.

After the contract is signed with the landowner, the Wotton Company contracts the actual cutting to two men, Arlan Brown and Richard Gaffany.

With the help of a pair of chain saws, an axe, wedges and other equipment, the two men turn out enough logs to keep the mill going.

Their job includes felling the trees, trimming them and skidding out the logs to be loaded on trucks.

The pair does almost all of the work with the chain saws. The saws not only cut the trees, but do practically all the trimming of branches after the trees are cut.

A tractor takes the logs to the loading area. Proof of the efficiency of the cutting crew can be judged by the results. The two men average about 4,000 feet of lumber a day.

After the lumber reaches the loading area, Mr. Wotton's crew takes over.

The logs are loaded on the truck with a log loader—a tractor equipped with a lift on the front. Two large prongs slide under the log and place it on the waiting truck. It takes two or three trucks to keep the mill crew busy.

It's a trip of about five miles from the woods to the sawmill. The crew at the mill makes short work of the logs. With practiced ease they cut about 500 feet of lumber an hour with the help of the big 60-inch saw and 94 horsepower motor.

Although the majority of the lumber cut is elm, a variety of types of wood passes through the mill in the course of a season. Wotton's cuts ash, maple, cottonwood, basswood, poplar and oak, besides the ever-present elm.

The crew has no trouble averaging 185 logs a day which adds up to about 4,000 feet of lumber.

About the only part of the log not turned into cash, according to Mr. Wotton, is the sawdust. The sawdust has no commercial value and the mill is glad to have the farmers pick it up for bedding of cattle if they want it.

Slabs from the outside of logs are sold for fuel. If too much accumulates, the surplus is burned.

Mr. Wotton has been operating near Cass City for about three years. In that time he has produced approximately 2,750,000 board feet of lumber.

The lumbering business wasn't new to "Slim" when he came to Cass City. He was brought up in the lumber woods. He left the business for a while and went to Canada. He returned to his first love when he started business in Cass City. "Gets in the blood, I guess," said "Slim."

Protest State Equalization Ruling

Supervisors Okay County-owned Cars

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors voted to have county-owned sheriff's cars in operation by Sept. 1, at the regular monthly meeting of the organization held Monday in Caro.

The move is expected to save the county as high as $1,438 on each vehicle.

At the present time the county runs three cars. Two of the automobiles run about 40,000 miles yearly, while the third runs about 20,000.

The cost to the county for a car running 40,000 miles is $2,800. Estimated cost of running the car if owned by the county is $1,872.

The supervisors okayed the purchase of the three cars from Auten Motor Sales.

The purchase is made on a car rental plan. After the car is originally purchased, Auten's will have complete charge of servicing the unit.

For $81 a month the concern has agreed to make all repairs, wash, lubricate, change oil every 1,000 miles and furnish insurance on the vehicle.

At the end of 25,000 miles or a year, Auten's will furnish the county with new cars.

A major savings is expected for the county in the purchase of gas. The gas will be bought from the Tuscola County Road Commission and will be tax exempt. Cost of the gas to the county will be about 15 cents a gallon.

Other business.

The supervisors agreed to close the courthouse on Saturdays during the month of August. The vote was 16 to 7 in favor of the move. First Saturday the courthouse will be closed will be Aug. 7.

Following the action taken by many counties, the supervisors passed a resolution protesting the ruling by State Attorney General Frank Millard on state equalization for counties having a fractional school district.

The resolution will be sent to the governor and all counties in the state.

The board authorized the Tuscola County Road Commission to enter into an agreement with Lapeer and Sanilac counties in an attempt to lift an injunction in force on the use of the Flint River.

Delegate Control.

The board gave the Tuscola County Road Commission control of county parks. Members voted $1,000 from the general fund for the purpose.

Members okayed $250 for the Saginaw Valley Drainage Planning Commission. They voted to hold the supervisors' annual picnic Wednesday, Aug. 11, at the Gilford Township Park.

Lions Remain Undefeated With Pair of Victories

The Cass City Lions Club registered their sixth and seventh victories of the year during the week in the Caro Softball League.

Thursday, July 8, they registered a victory over Booth's, 4-1, and Monday they swamped Deering's, 13-5.

Booth's gave the Lions the biggest scare of the year and threatened to pull an upset until the fifth when the Lions scored four times to ice the game.

Booth's scored their only run of the game in the first inning without benefit of a hit as Elwyn Helwig posted his second no-hitter of the season.

That was the end of the scoring until the fifth when the Lions counted all their runs.

A pair of walks and a bunt single loaded the bases and the Lions tied the game on a sacrifice fly by Keith Little. Russ Foy followed with a single and Leroy Hoag doubled to chase around three more counters and the Cass City victory.

The Lions collected only three hits during the game in the pitchers' duel.

Monday the Lions easily whipped Deering's, scoring in every inning but the fifth.

They started with three runs in the first, added two in the second, one in the third and sixth and three in the fourth and seventh.

Deering's scored a pair in the first and three in the seventh. Elwyn Helwig hurled the first

The flash blaze singed most of the hair from Mr. Mudge's head and Wednesday he suffered considerable swelling around the eyes. Hospital authorities said that he was still able to see and was suffering much less pain Wednesday afternoon.

Personnel at the Food Locker said that no damage was suffered in the store from the explosion.

Young Farmers Earn More Than Their Elders

Young farmers make larger net incomes than do older farmers, according to studies in New York and Vermont. The studies show that as the age of the operator increases labor income decreases. A New York survey of 151 large dairy farms (made in 1951) disclosed that operators less than 36 years of age (average 30 years) earned a labor income of $5,002. The group from 36 to 40 years, on the other hand, averaged $3,977; the 41-50 age group, $3,144; the 51-60 age group, $2,569; and farmers 61 years or older, $408. Each group had from 24 to 35 farmers. The studies indicated that the youngest farmers made the highest incomes because they were better farm managers. It was shown that they made better use of their labor, and their production per cow and per dollar invested was higher. These findings, extension experts say, emphasize two important points: (1) A man who wants to farm for a lifetime should make every effort to buy and pay for his farm while he is young and his earning capacity is greatest; and (2) where father and son are farming together, both should capitalize on the asset of youth in the business. The young man should be encouraged to take over as the chief operator early in life.

Isolation Unit Plan Prevents Diseases

Farmers concerned with swine disease will be interested in an "isolation unit" plan for raising disease-free baby pigs. The units, as described in the American Journal of Veterinary Research, have already been used in viral infection research and in limited experiments on the elimination of disease from herds. The isolation units are tightly sealed compartments in which the air is changed constantly through sterile filters which screen out all the disease organism. Thus the baby pigs are raised in infection-free surroundings. Experimenters say one possible use of these units is to eliminate such diseases as atrophic rhinitis, brucellosis, erysipelas, transmissible gastroenteritis and dysentery from extremely valuable blood lines. Pigs from prize gilts could be raised in these units, to break the pig-to-pig contact essential to the transmission of many swine diseases. In experiments so far, a colony of pigs has been raised to breeding age free from TGE and dysentery, two diseases which plagued the herds from which they were taken. The pigs raised in isolation were adapted to ordinary farm conditions after they matured.

Bean and grain drying equipment in Gremel barn. The fan at lower right is also used to mow-finish hay.

ELECTRICITY

ENDS THREE-YEAR SEARCH FOR EFFICIENT GRAIN and BEAN DRYER

For three years, Harold Gremel, Huron County farmer, searched for a better way to dry his beans and small grains. Then, with some help from Edison Farm Service Advisors, he successfully developed this electrically powered system that enables him to dry six to seven thousand bushels of beans and grain per season. Result: He can harvest when his crops are ready and cut down weather losses. This means higher prices on the market.

Mr. Gremel farms 370 acres of land—100 in beans, 80 in small grain, 35 in beets—and milks a herd of 13 cows. As do many Michigan farmers, he is each year finding new ways to put electricity to work to lighten his load and give him greater security. For further information on farm electrical equipment, see your Edison Farm Service Advisor.

Our Supply of New Cropland Limited Key to Future Lies In Increasing Yields

Will there be enough productive land 25 years from now to feed America's expanding population? There will be, economists say, if farmers are able to continue increasing yields per acre on present crop and pasture land while improving a moderate acreage of new land for cultivation. The supply of possible new cropland, however, is limited.

Since 1940, American farmers have boosted their output nearly a third, through more use of machines, fertilizer, and other crop production improvements.

Some experts are worried that we may not have enough productive farm land to feed our growing population 25 years from now. They say we must get increased yields from lands such as these shown.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture also cites other important factors in the increased output. Some of these are: Drainage of 17 million acres and irrigation of 8 million more acres of farmlands; extensive improvement of existing farm drainage in the South and Corn Belt; and provision for supplemental irrigation water in many parts of the West.

American needs for food and other farm products so far have been supplied by only this moderate increase in new cropland. This accomplishment resulted from increased crop and livestock production, shifts to products requiring fewer acres, and release of many acres for crops by humans substituting tractors for horses and mules.

Present surpluses seem temporary. The question that needs to be answered is this: How are we going to get more farm production when we need it in the longer-term future?

"Bargain" Painters May Cheat Farmers

Tuscola County farmers are urged to be on the look-out for traveling painters who are now in this area, says Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent. These painters usually have attractive offers of a bargain paint job on farm buildings and metal roofs. After the farmer has paid his money and the painter has gone, the farmer finds that his nice new paint job consists of a little paint and a lot of thinner that soon washes away with a few good rains.

There are several good reputable painters who use quality materials, Ostrander says. For galvanized metal roofs the paint recommended by Michigan State College specialists is a metallic zinc with a minimum weight of 22 lbs. per gallon.

Slate Homemakers' Conference at MSC

Planning to attend Homemakers' Conference?

Any Tuscola County woman is eligible to attend the four-day educational meeting at Michigan State College, July 20-23, says home demonstration agent, Jean E. Gillies.

This is the 27th year for the annual event sponsored by the home demonstration staff of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service. The 1954 conference theme is "Better Families—Our Goal."

The program of educational events includes classes conducted by the MSC faculty members and other authorities in their fields.

Women who enroll for the entire conference can choose from 19 subject matter topics to be offered this year. There will be a special class for day visitors, explains Miss Gillies.

Special morning, afternoon and evening programs and entertainment have been planned. Most of the sessions will be in the college auditorium just across the Red Cedar from Shaw Hall where women attending reside.

Outstanding speakers this year include Mercedes Hurst, public relations representative for International Harvester; Laura Lane, an associate editor for Country Gentleman; Frances Scudder, director of the home economics Extension Service program for the U. S. Department of Agriculture; and Mildred Buchanan Flagg, author-lecturer of Boston.

For more information about the conference, contact the county extension office, courthouse, Caro.

SHORT STORY

Paper Shroud

By Ray Trail

BARNABY BATES and his brother Jed closed the iron gate of the Carterville Cemetery behind them and carried their mattress and spade up the path that led to the newly-dug grave.

"We'll have to work fast," he told Jed. "Ain't much time left before daybreak."

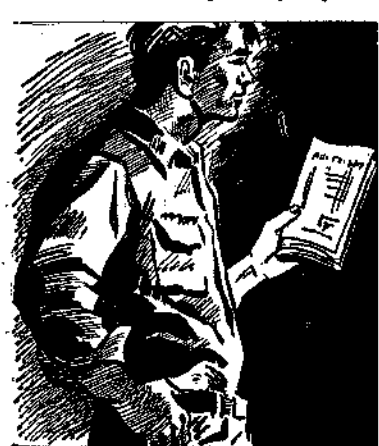

Jed, the younger and stronger of the two brothers, gripped his spade and leveled the mound. Jed watched him closely. "How do you know the old lady's money is buried with her?" he asked.

"I told you a dozen times, that's the way she wanted it. They say she even had some of it stitched together like a gown and wrapped around her!"

"Didn't she have any relatives?" "I don't know. If she did, I never heard of them."

"Well," mused Jed, "I hope you know what you're doing. If Sheriff Tyler ever finds out it was us did this—"

"I ain't worried about no Sheriff. Everybody knows she was buried with all her money. They say the

He leaned back against the dirt wall. "Well, I'll be darned."

Bill's are stacked all around her, and that some of them are for a hundred dollars."

"That's a lot of money."

Jed swung faster and faster, his strong young muscles almost bursting with excitement at his brother's statements. For a moment he looked up and ran the back of his hand over his mouth. "Why do you think nobody has dug the coffin up before now?"

"I don't know," said Barnaby. "Unless they think it's too early. I guess somebody would get around to it, but I ain't aiming to give them a chance." He looked toward the cemetery gate. "There must be a small fortune in that coffin. I heard tell she had a lot of old bills, and even one that was for three dollars."

Jed lodged the mattress against a huge rock, pried it loose and lifted it out. "I ain't heard tell of a three dollar bill."

"You ain't heard of a lot of things."

Half an hour later the mattress struck the top of the coffin box. "I've hit it!" Jed said excitedly.

Barnaby jumped down into the hole beside him. He scraped the spade along the box until the large screws securing the lid were completely exposed. Then he switched on his flashlight and turned the looped screw heads with a small, metal rod.

"Here, tie this rope around the lid and climb out," he told Jed. Together they lifted the wooden slab carefully off and out; then they did the same with the upper half of Emma's coffin lid. Placing two small cross-boards over the box to stand on, they slid quietly back down.

Barnaby stared at the paper shroud. He reached for a large stack of papers at one side, and when he directed the light beam on it, he could see the paper was not green. He pulled the stack apart and leaned back against the dirt wall. "Well, I'll be darned!" he said.

"What's the matter?" asked Jed. "See what this top piece is?"

He held the light close. At the top of the sheet was the letterhead: THOMPSON'S DEPARTMENT STORE, and the typing under it was plainly a bill for three dollars for a pair of shoes. Immediately under the bill was another letter for one thousand dollars from a large furniture store. "Probably never paid for that, either," Barnaby said almost to himself as he flipped through stacks of unpaid bills.

"What does it mean?" Jed asked.

"It just means that we're suckers, I reckon. When they said she was buried with her bills, I guess that's what they meant!"

Any man who insists on having his own way discovers how many contrary people there are.

Thrift is a wonderful thing—especially when it was practiced diligently by our ancestors.

Army Worms Hurt Tuscola Field Crops

Farmers are cautioned to be on the look-out against a build-up of army worms infestations in field crops, advises Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. Several small heavy infestations have been reported in the county and appropriate control measures have been taken by farmers.

The army worm does not overwinter here, however, the moth that lays the eggs are carried by winds from the south. The eggs are laid at night on grasses or other plants and hatch in about five days. The young larvae become full grown in about twenty days and then enter the soil and change into pupae. The pupae lasts about ten days.

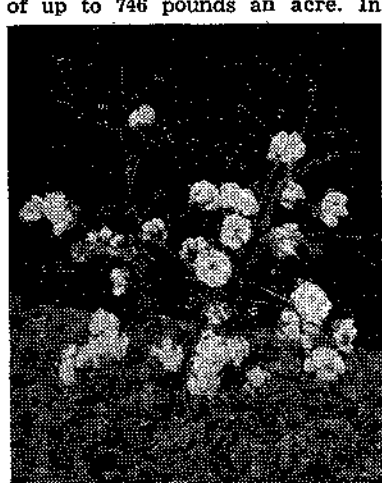

Early detection is of prime importance. Late afternoon, early evening or night treatments are best because these insects feed at night. This is also the best time to check fields for detection of the army worm, said Ballweg.

New Insecticide Said All-Purpose Believed Best Yet Among Cotton Sprays

One of the newer organic insecticides, endrin, has been found to be perhaps the best insecticide thus far tested against the combination of the bollworm and the boll weevil, two of cotton's most destructive insects.

Endrin is a toxic not only to insects but also to man and other warm blooded animals; and is closely related to dieldrin, one of the cotton insecticides widely used at present to control the boll weevil. Endrin has been tested by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service entomologists under the widely divergent growing conditions found at locations such as Florence, S.C.; Brownsville and Waco, Texas; Tallulah, La.; and San Fernando, Tamaulipas, Mexico. At Florence, endrin-treated plots yielded gains in seed cotton of up to 746 pounds an acre. In Tests with endrin indicate that it will help produce cotton like this. This particular plant was treated with a defoliant which caused it to drop its leaves. Endrin protects against enemies of the cotton plant, the Boll weevil and the Bollworm.

Mexico, use of endrin increased the seed cotton yield 1,071 pounds an acre during a heavy boll weevil infestation.

With cautions optimism entomologists state that the new material comes closer to being an all-purpose cotton insecticide than any yet tested. Applied in quantities varying from 0.2 to 0.5 pound per acre, it is effective against the boll weevil and bollworm. At the rate of 0.1 to 0.2 pound per acre it is effective against such other cotton pests as thrips, cotton leafworms, cotton fleahoppers and lugs bugs.

Cattle Grubs Rampant At This Time of Year

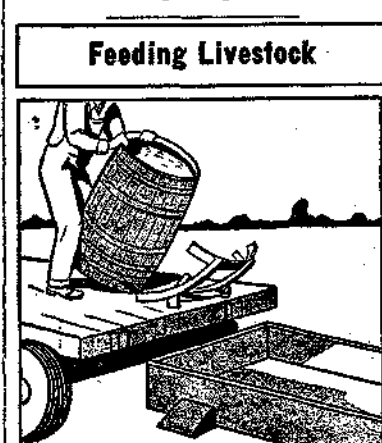

Cattle grubs are on the rampage in some sections of the country—as they usually are each year from December through June—bringing misery to infested animals and profit losses to stockmen.

Grub bumps on animals' backs should be the tip-off for immediate action, entomologists say, and treatments should begin 30 to 40 days after the first bumps show up, with repeated treatments at 30 to 40 day intervals until grubs disappear.

Rotenone, the killing agent in derris and cube powder, is recommended as the most effective insecticide for controlling cattle grubs. It is warned, however, that successful treatment depends on proper application at the right time, whether the method used is power spraying, hand dusting, or hand washing.

In hand dusting, for example, farmers and ranchers can buy commercial cattle grub dusts or mix 1 pound of 5 per cent rotenone powder to 2 pounds of cream triphosphate or pyrophyllite. Mixing is easier in a tight container using egg sized rocks as agitators.

For best results well-mixed materials should be dusted over the backs and thoroughly rubbed into grub holes, using a hard rotary motion of finger tips.

Wet-feed handling is made much easier and safer with this barrel tilt-rack which can be made to fit conveniently the back of any truck or trailer. Placing the barrel on its "tilted" rack makes a simple job of pouring feed into self-feeders.

Everyone's days may be numbered—but some people live as if they were endless.

Prepare Now for Wheat Harvest

Tuscola County farmers will take to the wheat fields (in a few days) to harvest their share of Michigan's bumper crop, predicted to run the highest yield per acre—28 bushels—since 1866.

That means a lot of wheat to handle, stresses Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. By now, farmers should have checked combines, wagons, bags and grain handling equipment so they won't carry old bugs into the clean wheat. They should have adequate storage ready and have them sprayed with methoxychlor for sanitation.

Hubert M. Brown, Michigan State College farm crops specialist, adds his voice to the urging for plenty of clean storage. He quotes Dale Butz, Michigan State College agricultural engineer, as pointing to dangers of a glutted market forcing a price lower—with old grain still in commercial storage. It will pay to build storages, and disinfect them, before combines roll.

The extension folder, F-134—"Prevent Damage to Stored Wheat"—is available from the county agricultural agent, who also can give advice on getting wheat in at a low moisture content to prevent "sick" wheat.

Brown recommends getting wheat down to 18 per cent moisture to be safe and points out that elevators can run checks. The grain and straw must be mature—if you bend your fingernail instead of denting the grain, it's mature.

Allow the morning dampness to go off fields before combining, advises Brown, if you don't want tough straw and wet grain. Keep grain cool after combining by putting it out of the sun. Keep bags of wheat picked up—bags lying on the ground will pick up moisture on the bottom and get hot on top. Avoid field sprout damage by combining as soon as grain is mature, the moisture down to 13 per cent and the weather good, sums up Brown.

Most every politician has an axe to grind and expects you to turn the grindstone.

A conclusion is reached by some people without using fact, reason or judgment.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

The "do or die" period of the primary campaign is at hand.

Little more than two weeks remains before the Aug. 3 balloting. Candidates and party-workers are busy with personal appearances, radio and tv programs, newspaper ads and news stories supply election information for the voter.

The unusual offer of Democrat senators from Washington supplied campaign fodder for guns of Moody's opponents, both Democrat and Republican.

Senators Lehman (N. Y.), Douglas (Ill.), Mansfield (Mont.), Jackson (Wash.), Kennedy (Mass.), Humphrey (Minn.), Magnuson (Wash.) and Monroney (Okla.) all offered to fill speaking engagements for Blair Moody, whose physical condition prevents the active campaign originally scheduled.

Moody's primary opponent, Patrick V. McNamara, was heard from immediately after the offer was announced. In burning telegrams to each of the eight senators, Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, former President Truman, and the 1952 presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, McNamara roundly denounced the proposal.

"I find the announcement unbelievable that you will campaign in the Michigan primary for my ailing opponent," he stated.

Blunt facts in the Democratic camp are said to be these: McNamara is not actually considered to have much chance to beat Moody.

Although Gov. G. Mennen Williams has not blessed Moody officially, there is little doubt about how he feels.

Moody's backers strongly asserted that the former senator did not suffer a heart attack. A particularly virulent form of pneumonia laid him low, they say with complications that resembled a heart attack.

Campaign plans for Moody went up in smoke with the onset of the illness. After a complete rest which doctors insist upon, Moody will attempt to sell himself via a state-wide television hook-up scheduled for July 29.

The illness proved an unexpected source of material for GOP leaders. They were quick to point out in the words of Republican State Central Committee Chairman John Feikens that "Michigan citizens are able to pick their candidates without having out-of-state people help them form opinions."

Republicans expect to hit Moody hardest on his voting record as a senator. They point to his support for the 1951 tax program which "cost the people of Michigan $466 million in consumer taxes." Included in the bill, which was advanced by President Truman at the time of the Korean "police action," was 1/2 cent increase per gallon for gas; 1 cent per pack for cigarettes; 11% hike in income taxes; increase from 7% to 10% in excise taxes for automobiles.

Democratic answer is that taxes were voted for only a short period; were necessary to meet additional expense of military operations.

Provocative action by Gov. Williams in seeking to disown George S. Fitzgerald, candidate for the Lt. Governor's office, from the Democratic party makes more apparent a split in ranks that has existed.

Williams is said to have taken the action in an effort to discredit Fitzgerald rather than aid Phil T. Hart, the governor's choice for the post. "If Hart were opposed by a 'legitimate' Democrat," say party leaders, "the governor would not have spoken out."

Except for their "bad boy," the Republican campaign is running a little more smoothly.

Dr. Eugene Keyes, who refused to go along with a GOP move to maintain unity by not attacking fellow candidates, is being pointedly ignored by party leaders.

Michigan's improved financial situation, with the state operating in black for the first time in years, makes excellent campaign material. Republicans point with pride to "their" legislative program that made it possible to eradicate deficits of $65 million. Moving forward due dates for corporation taxes and passing the business receipts tax are responsible for the happy financial state. GOP supporters are quick to point out that Williams supported neither move.

Democrats, however, refer to the end of red ink operation as a "joint achievement." "The solution found was not to everyone's liking," they say, "but at least it worked."

Despite the vigorous activity in primary campaigns, the big battle is expected to take place before the general election in November.

Each party machine will make every effort to win Michigan in its camp.

Whether the Wolverine state sends a Republican or Democrat senator to Washington is a question which has immense significance at the national level. With so much at stake, and the situation as unpredictable as political observers believe it to be, no time will be lost when the primary is over.

Stakes will be higher in the fall balloting; the campaigning will be harder.

Green Pastures

Green Dollars

By Quentin R. Ostrander, Assistant County Agricultural Agent

Put steers on pasture also on feed now, stresses Harry Moxley, Michigan State College extension livestockman.

Most feeders use maximum roughage and many feeding cattle go to pasture before going into the feedlot—but the idea is to bring cattle to proper weight, finish and grade to command a good market.

Frequently, there is too long a delay before steers are started on feed, explains Moxley. Pastures become dry, sparse and short and steers may fail to gain—or lose weight—in the late pasture season.

Good to choice steers started on feed in mid-summer get up to their market grade and sell on a steady to rising market when few grain-fed cattle are coming to market. During this season, they are competing with lower-grade grass-fat cattle sold on a highly competitive uneasy market.

Ground ear corn and barley—a good buy now—are plentiful on farms and these are the basic grain ration. Steers should be fed where they congregate and can get feed and should be worked up to 10 pounds or more per head per day for 700-pound steers. They should be fed once a day and eat all that day's ration that day.

If pasture is poor, each steer should have 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of high protein supplement per day. Soybean oil meal and cottonseed meal are excellent high protein supplements commonly fed to livestock.

If your pastures are getting short, now is the time to be feeding grass silage. If farmers have put up good grass silage for summer feed, they should not have to buy additional protein supplement to maintain milk production during the short pasture period.

If flies are getting to be a problem around the barn, try using "malathion." This is the new spray for dairy barns and is very effective on flies that are resistant to other chemicals. Caution: do not spray it on the cows.

A while ago mention was made of tests for control of yellow rocket and other winter annual weeds in legume fields. Michigan State College weed specialists now recommend using MCP at 1/2 lb. per acre of actual chemical. It must be applied late in the fall after the legumes have stopped growing. When properly applied, it gives excellent control with no damage to the legume.

A. B. C. REPORTS — FACTS AS A BASIC MEASURE OF ADVERTISING VALUE

Before an altar decorated with white and pink peonies, Miss Joan Copeland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Copeland of Cass City, became the bride of Glenn Mittletat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mittletat of Snover.

Rev. S. R. Wurtz performed the double-ring ceremony Saturday, June 19, at 8:00 p. m. at the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church in Cass City.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Stanley Kirm of Cass City. Mrs. Joyce Roberts of Ash-tabula, Ohio, sang "Always", "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of lace and tulle over satin, fashioned with a round neckline and wrist-point sleeves. A lace crown trimmed with seed pearls held her finger-tip veil and she wore a pearl choker, the gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible with satin streamers, topped with an orchid.

Elaine Copeland, sister of the bride, acting as flower girl, wore a ballerina length dress of white lace and tulle over satin. She wore a matching headband trimmed with tiny flowers and carried a basket of pink asters and fern.

Miss Audrey Behr of Snover was maid of honor. Her ballerina length gown was of pink nylon over taffeta, fashioned with a stand-up collar and cap sleeves. She wore a matching headband trimmed with tiny flowers and carried a cascade bouquet of pink asters, white babe mums and fern tied with satin streamers.

Miss Mary Helen Mittletat, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a mint green gown identical to that of the maid of honor and carried a cascade bouquet of pink asters, white babe mums and fern tied with satin streamers.

Jerry Hazard, cousin of the bride, performed the duties of ring bearer. He carried the rings on a satin heart-shaped pillow. The best man was Ronald Chard of Decker. The other attendant was Mathew Mittletat, brother of the groom, of Flat Rock.

Serving as ushers were Milton Hazard and Delbert Copeland of Van Dyke and James Moraniec of Decker.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Copeland wore a light blue dress with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a navy dress with dark accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink asters and white babe mums.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. After a short program, salad, sandwiches, ice cream, cake, punch and coffee were served an estimated 300 guests.

The bride's table was centered with a round, five-tier, elevated cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, with pink-candles, pink asters and fern on either side.

The bride is a graduate of the Cass City High School with the class of 1953 and is employed at the Frutheby Bean Company in Cass City.

The groom graduated from Marlette High School in 1952 and is a farmer.

The newlyweds took a trip through northern Michigan, after which they will make their home at the farm of the groom's parents near Snover.

Hill Family Reunion Held at Oak Beach

The Hill reunion was held at Oak Beach Sunday, July 11. Fifty-four were present with eight visitors. A potluck dinner was enjoyed by all.

Sunday was also the birthday of Mrs. Rodney Karr and a beautiful birthday cake with candles, made by Mrs. Pete Menstra, was served.

After dinner a business meeting was held. It was decided to meet in 1955 at Oak Beach on the second Sunday in July with dinner to be served at one o'clock. The same officers will act next year: president, Mrs. Loren Trathen; vice-president, Edward Marshall; secretary, Mrs. Emerson Hill, and treasurer, Emerson Hill. Committees were appointed.

Annual Swine Types Conference Slated

The ninth annual swine types conference sponsored cooperatively by the Michigan Swine Breeders' Association, Michigan State College and State Swine Interests will be held at the Eaton County Fairgrounds, Charlotte, Michigan, Wednesday, July 21, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

Each of nine state swine breed associations have selected the breed classes to be used for types study, judging and demonstrations. Individual animals used will come from a wide area of the state and from some of Michigan's leading swine herds.

Clifford Breeden, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, will make all official placing and act as discussion leader. Mr. Breeden has had charge of the Purdue University swine herd for many years. He is known as a leading judge at major shows and has bred, fitted and exhibited many champions in the several breeds for Purdue University.

Swine breeders realize the importance of following and keeping up with the current changes in swine types which are more pronounced and rapid than in any other class of livestock.

Current hog prices, an accelerated breeding program, the approaching show season, and the emphasis now placed on the meat hog indicates added interest in the conference.

Added features of the field day will be an exhibit of the high production litter in the 1954 sow testing project, live grading of market hogs, and current improved practices in swine feeding, management and disease control.

Dr. Frank Thorp, animal pathologist, MSC, and Dr. J. A. Hoefler, animal husbandry department, MSC, recognized as leading authorities in the field of animal disease and animal nutrition, both appear on the day's program.

The Eaton County 4-H club will serve sandwiches, cold drinks and short orders to those who find it inconvenient to bring a picnic lunch.

Steinmann Reunion Held Here Sunday

The eighth annual Steinmann reunion was held at the park here Sunday with 57 present from Grosse Pointe, Detroit, Allen Park, Marlette, Peck and Cass City. A potluck chicken dinner was enjoyed at one o'clock and ice cream served at five o'clock before the guests departed for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith of Marlette were in charge of the short business meeting, in which Mr. and Mrs. Renon Proctor of Marlette were elected as officers for the coming year. Plans were made to hold the 1955 gathering at the same place the second Sunday in July.

Recognition was given Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steinmann as the oldest couple attending and to Leslie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Redmond, as the youngest person present. One other baby was born during the past year, a son to Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hurley. Cards were signed to be sent to Mrs. Louise Gebureck of Detroit, 84, the oldest member of the clan, and to August Elsholtz of St. Clair, who were unable to be present because of illness.

$2,350 Offered in Prizes At Tuscola County Fair

The 4-H and F. F. A. divisions of the Tuscola County Fair have announced their premium list for this year's fair to be held August 23 to 28. A total of $2,350 is being offered in this department, according to the booklet.

Superintendents in charge are Alfred Ballweg, Agricultural agent, George MacQueen, 4-H agent, Ed Cole, FFA instructor, Mayville, and Bruce Ruggles, fair board representative.

This department will include the combined exhibits of the work of the boys and girls enrolled in 4-H clubs and in the Vocational Agriculture classes throughout Tuscola County during the 1953-54 school year.

General regulations listed include:

1. Open to any boy or girl regularly enrolled in 4-H or vocational agriculture in the county.
2. Each exhibitor will pay a 25 cent entry fee which will cover all exhibits made by him in this division. A season pass will be issued upon receipt of the entry fee. 3. Premiums will not be paid until final report records are received and accepted by the county agent or the vocational instructor. 4. Exhibits will be judged and premiums awarded on the blue, red and white ribbon group basis. 5. Livestock exhibits must be on the fairgrounds by noon August 23. 6. No animals or articles entered for premiums shall be removed from the grounds until after 3 p. m. the last day of the fair unless by written permission. 7. Advance entry is required for all livestock exhibits and must be in the county office not later than August 9. 8. Health regulations for all livestock entries must be strictly adhered to.

Exhibits for premium awards are divided into 64 sections. These sections are grouped into 11 major categories which include dairy cattle, beef breeding, sheep, swine, saddle horses and ponies, special poultry, eggs and rabbits, vegetable crops and gardens, grain, seed and sheaf, home economics and miscellaneous.

Not only are the usual categories being offered, but under the miscellaneous section there is a wide choice including clothing, electricity, leadership, fire prevention, insects and birds, and photography.

As the fair seems a long time off from now, active parties are busy with their projects so that all will be set when fair time comes to Tuscola County.

Silicone May Be Used in Medicine Says Dow Expert

A Silicone rubber substitute may soon be used extensively in modern medicine, said Delmar C. Youngs of the Dow Corning Corporation speaking before the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon.

Silicone, practically impervious to heat or cold, has been successfully used in experiments on animals for artificial arteries and other uses of a similar nature.

In his address, Youngs explained the origin of Silicone and its many uses in industry and by people in such forms as eye glass cleaners, waterproofing, car polishing and numerous others.

In the business meeting, the club voted to attend a joint meeting of area Rotary Clubs at Caro Thursday, July 22.

Chemical Kinship Points to Danger New Sprays Same As War 'Nerve Gas'

Farm safety experts are pointing out a chemical "kinship" in warning orchard operators and farmers to treat the new spray materials — Parathion, E.P.M., Dieldrin, T.E.P.P. and others—as potential killers, not only of farm insects but also of human beings and livestock if handled carelessly.

They point out that the Germans, in World War II developed "nerve gases" which Allied agents and chemists identified as organic phosphates — and these are the chemicals used on U.S. farms and orchards because of their value as powerful insecticides.

These materials can enter the unprotected human body through the skin, or be carried into the lungs and the blood stream by inhaling the dusts or mists blown by the wind, or in a number of other ways.

They are insidious—as their effects are cumulative, and give no warning. Small doses, spread over several weeks, can be dangerous and even fatal.

Here are the warnings being issued by safety officials, the Department of Agriculture and manufacturers of these spray materials:

Wear protective clothing, as shown and described in accompanying photograph. Open bags with a knife, as tearing tops causes powder to "billow" or scatter. Remove cattle and other livestock from vicinity before spraying. Be careful wind doesn't blow dust onto nearby people, edible crops or livestock.

Buying Good Seed Worth Extra Price Poor Yields, More Weeds Are Bad Risk

Cheap, low quality alfalfa seed may turn out to be the most expensive for farmers in the long run, report Midwestern agronomists.

That's particularly true if a farmer has added fertilizer to the soil and spent time and money on seed-bed preparation.

If you harvest a poor yield due to poor quality seed, your soil building investment gives little quick return. And if there is a high percentage of weeds, you face an expensive weed control program.

The agronomists say it is cheaper to make sure the seeds you use are the kind you want, than it is to save a few cents a pound and then have the alfalfa winter-kill or give low yields because less desirable seed has been mixed with the good kind.

It's a rare batch of seed that is really pure unless it is "certified," say the agronomists.

baseball in the village. We are sorry to see that the program did not take hold here as it has in other communities. Bad Axe and, we believe, Pigeon have flourishing leagues operating this year.

With the finest facilities in the Thumb lying idle for the program, Cass City should be the next community to organize baseball for the small fry.

One last word on the Schust bakery controversy. Mrs. O. W. Nique reports that after talking with two or three of the old-time residents, she has been convinced that she was mistaken when she said the bakery was located where the present Sommers' bakery is. The building where the telephone office is is the correct one.

THUMB AERIAL TOUR

with high commercial ratings.

Capt. Bailey wished to emphasize that the tour is not confined exclusively to farmers, that it presents a wonderful opportunity for all to see the Thumb from the air. Persons who have lived in the Thumb all of their lives express amazement at the beauties of the area when seen from the air, particularly the shoreline and the area around Harbor Beach, as well as the park area around Caseville. The routes are all laid out so as to present the best scenic points of the Thumb, as well as the farms of most interest to farmers of the area. In addition, special trips will be flown if desired.

Flights will start at 8:30 in the morning and continue all day. Lunch will be available on the field and motion pictures of the Civil Air Patrol in action will be shown. An actual Civil Air Patrol mission will be carried out by all five squadrons of the Thumb Group. Some 100 CAP seniors and cadets, under command of Lt. Col. Carl R. Nye, are expected.

56TH HOME-COMING

of Argyle. Seven churches from the area were represented when over 500 persons gathered for the annual celebration. An old-time basket picnic dinner was served at 11:30 amid fellowship and recreation.

After the dinner, each church carrying their own colorful banner passed by the reviewing stand and marched around the park, each carrying a small American flag. As they came back to the stand, they sang their favorite church hymn and when all the churches had completed their round, they all joined in singing, the woods echoing the 50 voices which could be heard from afar.

Many "old-timers," crowding the 90's, look forward to the Home-coming and gather to "spin a yarn" of the good old days. One of the old-timers, Mr. Ed Bullis, prided himself on not missing a celebration in the last 56 years and liked to recall the first picnics.

He told how each church in those days had their own teams of horses and wagons, gaily decorated with cedar bows. They would meet in Argyle and march out to the grounds, one and one half miles to the picnic. "That was the days when people weren't afraid to walk—it's different now-a-days," he said with a faint twinkle in his eyes. "And in those days weather didn't get anyone down, rain or shine, we held our picnic."

The original park was one half mile west of the present site and called the Walker Park. Later, the new site was donated by the McNaughton family and is a beautiful five-acre wooded area.

The Salvation Army Junior Band of Port Huron was one of the highlights of the day with vocal and instrumental music by local talent. The secret of the success of the whole affair is that all churches are as one unit and everyone has a part. It is a big moral builder for unity and cooperation throughout the year, say the directors.

Oscar F. Buschlen, Sanilac County clerk, was president and master of ceremonies; Stuart Armstead, vice-president; M. E. Stauffer, secretary—treasurer; Jay Stoutenburgh, marshal, and Roy Severance, Floyd Roberts and Gene Dorman in charge of sports.

of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America in Youth Service.

The award is granted by the church and approved by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America and is one of the highest in scouting. The emblem is worn over the left breast pocket at the left of the Eagle Scout badge.

The ceremony was unique in that Pfc. Roger L. Little of the First Armored Division, presented the award to his brother, Roger, having received his "God and Country Award" four years ago. The two brothers are the first to receive the "God and Country Award" in Cass City, both through the Presbyterian Church.
