

From the Editor's Corner

No raise in service charges in a community is easy to accept. The increased cost for sewage disposal in the village will be no exception.

When persons in the village are forced to pay 80 or 90 per cent more for water to take care of disposal of sewage, they might feel a little better if they remember that all Thumb communities are in similar circumstances—and that some are much worse off.

For instance, Brown City is in a dilemma. They not only need a new sewage plant, but a new water plant as well. Total cost of the project for them will be between six and seven hundred thousand dollars instead of the $165,000 that Cass City must pay. How Brown City is going to pay for the project they do not know, but they have a court order saying that they must comply.

An increase in water rates is not pleasant, but this writer, after sitting in at nearly all of the discussions over ways of paying for the new addition to the sewer plant, can see no better way to pay for the project.

There may be one. If so, the council will be happy to hear about it. Any suggestions that you have should be aired at once, as plans must be formulated now for the project that will start as soon as it is presented to the voters in the spring.

But when you plan, please remember that the cost and size of the new plant is not set by the village, but by the Water Resources Commission and cannot be reduced.

Members in charge of the Cass City Home-coming this year are knocking on wood. They are wondering if their fabulous luck will hold for the fifth straight year.

The first four years of the event have been held in ideal weather, although it has rained the day before and the day after the Home-coming.

If enough interest is shown Friday night in the exhibition game between Cass City Lions and Atlas Furniture of Bay City, softball games with other outstanding teams from larger cities may be scheduled. Manager Al Galvanek has received cards from teams anxious to knock the Lions from their undefeated status.

Need More Funds For New Elton Grade School

When Cass City lets its contract for the addition to the elementary grade school building, the district will be trusting that the estimated cost will not be as far below actual construction costs as the plans for the Elton school.

Superintendent Robert Davis of Elton High School disclosed Monday night that estimated costs of a new elementary building are now believed to be low.

Davis told residents attending a public meeting at the school that construction costs have risen about five per cent since estimates were taken. A bond issue of $200,000 was approved by voters and the district has on hand $22,000. Davis said that with present costs the building is estimated at $225,000 which is more than money that is available.

Final building plans will be presented to the school board by the architect on August 10. Bids will be asked for by the middle of September and it is hoped to have the building enclosed by fall to permit work inside during the winter months.

Completion of the building is hoped to be in June, 1955.

Village Sewage Charge Likely New Sewer System Will Cost $165,000

At a special council meeting held Tuesday evening, the Cass City Village Council was informed by the village's engineers, Hubbell, Roth and Clark, that the enlarged sewer system for Cass City will cost $165,000.

The revamped system will meet the specifications as required by the State Water Resources Commission. The new unit is designed to handle the sewage of a community with 2,500 persons.

The equipment will include a secondary treatment tank, two pre-filters and a digester. The present tank will handle the primary treatment process, according to present plans.

Tentative plans for raising the money is through general obligation bonds.

The issue would be presented to the voters at the general election next spring and the bonds would be let for a period of 30 years.

The village would be forced to pay back the bonds at the rate of $5,500 yearly plus interest at the 30-year basis.

If the measure is defeated by the voters it will probably be taken to the courts by the Water Resources Commission for compliance with their demands.

The village has two choices of raising the funds, through the use of general obligation bonds or through revenue bonds.

The council has tentatively decided on general obligation bonds because they are sold at a cheaper interest rate than revenue bonds.

More for Operation.

The new plant will cost more to maintain and operate. With the new system, a trained operator must be on full time duty at the plant.

His salary and other expenses are expected to raise the operating costs from $1,000 to a high of $8,000. The estimated $8,000 is the figure told the council by the engineers and is based on similar operations in other communities.

Water Charge.

To pay for the increased cost of operating the plant, a sewage charge is likely.

The charge would probably be based on 80 or 90 per cent of the charge for the water used.

Mrs. Wilma Fry, village treasurer, said that the village was in good financial shape to take on the burden of the $165,000 debt. She said that $3,000 is owed on water supply bonds now and that the entire outstanding debt of the village will be wiped out when these bonds are paid for Aug. 1.

The cost of the addition of the sewer plant was broken into two categories by the engineers. Cost of the addition will be $143,000, while legal, contingent, inspection and engineering costs will be $22,000, bringing the total to $165,000.

BUMPER CROP—Farmers will take to the fields this week and next to harvest what promises to be a bumper crop. One of the early fields to be harvested is owned by Norman Huff. The combine was done by Edgar Cummings with a self-propelled 12-foot combine. Combines like these average 40 acres a day. Smaller combines at work through the area will average about 10 acres a day. Pictured is Cummings, at the left, and Huff.

With Good Weather

Bumper Wheat Crop Expected in Area

Given favorable weather, farmers in the Cass City area expect to harvest a bumper crop of wheat this year. A check with local elevators revealed that, before Tuesday's rain, the combine had never received a nice grade of wheat.

Wheat arriving at the elevators Monday or before averaged about 60 pounds to the bushel and all tested 14 per cent or less moisture.

Frank Reid, manager of Farm Produce Co., said that they had received some 12 per cent wheat and said that J. C. Hutchinson brought in wheat that tested 11 per cent moisture.

Besides being of high quality, yields have been exceptionally good this year.

Farmers have reported yields considerably over the average of 30 to 35 bushels to the acre that is average for the area.

The Chronicle followed one harvesting operation from start to finish. When we arrived, Edgar Cummings was in the midst of harvesting the 5.6 acres with his new 12-foot cut combine.

Both Cummings and Norman Huff, who owns the wheat, thought that the stand would average over 40 bushels to the acre.

After the combine swept through the field and the grain was brought to the elevator, the total yield was a fraction over 50 bushels to the acre.

Mr. Cummings reported that the Huff field was the first custom work he had done with his new, big machine, but said that he was loaded with work and expected to average 40 acres a day when in full production.

Final Rites Today for Mrs. Lucy G. Lee

Funeral services will be held today (Friday) at home for Mrs. Lucy G. Lee, wife of Harry P. Lee, who died early Wednesday morning in her home.

Mrs. Lee was born May 27, 1879, in St. Clair County. She married Mr. Lee Oct. 19, 1904, in Capac.

After their marriage they made their home in Cass City, except from 1915 to 1931 when they lived in Detroit.

Surviving, besides her husband, are: two daughters, Mrs. A. E. Van, Skokie, Ill., and Mrs. B. H. Shaw, Cass City; a brother, Charles McNutt, Port Huron; a sister, Mrs. I. F. Fleisher, Albany, Ga., and six grandchildren.

Mrs. Lee, the former Lucy Glendora McNutt, was the daughter of Caroline Augusta and Major Andre McNutt.

Mrs. Lee was an accomplished musician. She showed an interest in music at a very early age. She started a lifelong career of study when she was 11 and her parents bought her an "Estey" organ.

Her first formal instruction came from a local teacher who gave Mrs. Lee 10 lessons. After learning everything possible from her original teacher, she studied under another local instructor for a short time.

Nazarene Church To Celebrate 30th Birthday Sunday

The Church of the Nazarene will celebrate its 30th anniversary in Cass City Sunday, July 25, with special services featuring former pastors, Rev. Libbie Supernois and Rev. and Mrs. Edward R. Ferguson, and the District Superintendent of the denomination, Dr. W. M. McGuire.

The Cass City Church of the Nazarene was organized July 24, 1924, with nine members. Rev. C. E. Ling was called as the first pastor. He now resides in Orlando, Florida. Since this date, 170 different persons have been members of the local congregation and they have been served by 13 different pastors. The church has grown from its original nine members to the present congregation of 47 persons.

Church property was purchased in 1924. The home located on the corner of Third and Oak was used as a place of worship and went through several stages of remodeling.

The church was incorporated April 15, 1942, and in the same year the basement structure which now serves as a place of worship was built. The parsonage at 4940 Seeger Street was purchased in 1943 on a land contract.

During this church year, June 1953-May 1954, the church completed payment of the contract and cleared all remaining encumbrances against the church building and property including the new garage on the parsonage property.

The immediate plan for the future is to create a building fund which shall be used for erection of a new church building on the present site. A portion of the regular offering of the church is to be placed in this fund by action of the church board each month. Special contributions may be made to the building fund from time to time.

At Cass City Home-coming Professional Acts to Feature Night Show

Three outstanding professional acts have been slated for the fifth annual free Cass City Home-coming slated at the Cass City Recreational Park, Thursday, Aug. 5. Heading the attractions will be Mel Snyder, emcee and balloon sculptor.

In his comedy presentation, Snyder has members of the audience come to the stage and makes headaddresses for them out of balloons.

Among the various "hats" he creates and gives to participating persons are Napoleon, Indian, rocking horse and TV antennae.

Ted Gehrke, the second performer to be seen at the Home-coming, features tricks with four white Australian doves as well as the standard magic tricks familiar to most persons who have seen magicians work.

Completing the show will be Ray and Madeleine Samuels. The pair presents comedy, audience participation dance routines.

Mr. Samuels is a national figure in choreography and his routine in the duo's "Precision Militaire" is an outstanding bit of artistry, according to persons who have seen him perform.

As usual, the show will be held in front of the grandstand at the park and will begin at 8:30 p. m. The event, like all other features of the Home-coming, is free.

Divorce Cases Near Record High In Tuscola County

John Humm, friend of the court for Tuscola County, revealed this week that there has been a divorce for every two and one-half marriages in the county this year.

The figures were compiled through May and do not include June's marriages, the heaviest of the year.

Although divorces are high they have not yet reached record proportions. In a check of divorce applications filed for the last 10 years, Mr. Humm reported that 1946 was the year when divorces reached their peak. In that year, 115 cases were handled.

After the peak year, divorces took a decided slump—going down every year until 1950. In 1949 the fewest cases in the decade were recorded. Only 57 cases were heard in court.

However, if the trend over the past few years is followed, the figures for 1954, when compiled, may surpass the record year. Since 1949, divorces have increased each year. In 1950, 66 were recorded; 1951, 68; 1952, 90, and 1953, 98 cases.

Interested players can sign for the event by giving their names to Mr. Wallace or by calling 116.

Brooker's Track Exploits Told by Renown Editor

James K. Brooker, a former resident of Cass City who lives in Bay City, was singled out for praise by H. G. Salsinger, sports editor of the Detroit News, recently.

Salsinger, writing in his daily column, "The Umpire," said: "Farrell (University of Michigan track coach) first had an opportunity to test his theory with a 175-pound pole vaulter named James K. Brooker who came to Michigan from Cass City more than 80 years ago.

"Brooker had been a winner with the 12-pound shot when he was in high school. He had also been a good pole vaulter and hurdler.

"Shot putters of that day were considered good if they could heave the weight 40 feet. They were super-champions at 50 feet. They weighed 250 to 300 pounds and their method of putting the shot was to lumber clumsily across the ring and push the shot out with a grunt and a mighty effort.

"Brooker, compared to these giants, was a midget, but he was a frequent winner, because he had better form, greater coordination and superior speed. He had great strength, too, but not enough to put him among the super-stars of the event.

"His greatest achievement was winning the discus championship in the Conference meet twice and making the American Olympic Team as a pole vaulter in 1924.

"Farrell never had another such ideal athlete to work with."

Parsch's Store will be open Thursday afternoons.

I Will Be At the Pinney State Bank July 31 and at the Cass City State Bank August 7, to collect village taxes. August 10 last day at 1% collection fee. Wilma S. Fry, village treasurer.—Adv. 7-23-2

Increasing irritation among peach growers of the state is responsible for a campaign to encourage housewives to "put off until tomorrow what they could do today."

Peach people here have been stewing, sweating and swearing for several years about the break they get on National Peach Week. This year the promotion was scheduled for July 19-25 . . . weeks before a Michigan peach is picked. The early date is a distinct advantage to southern growers, whose orchards are ready for picking early in summer.

This season, for the first time, the Michigan Department of Agriculture took some definite steps to help the Michigan grower market his product.

"We have long been concerned over Peach Week publicity coming a month ahead of Michigan harvest," said G. S. McIntyre, director.

The department made available $2,500 in funds which could be matched by the peach growing industry and used to remind housewives that Michigan peaches would be ready about Labor Day. "Michigan grown peaches are worth waiting for," states McIntyre. "They are excellent in quality, and low in price. The crop this year is expected to reach 2½ million bushels, somewhat smaller than other years."

Conferences to provide a better market for northern peaches were arranged. Representatives from independent and chain grocers, growers and packers met with ag department leaders to see what each could do to help out.

If Mrs. Housewife can peaches later this year than others, there is a good chance she is doing so because several Michigan groups cooperated to help the peach grower.

Was the $150,000 battle with the gypsy moth a success? The first part of June state officials were shocked to learn that this parasite, which destroys nearly all green plants, had been identified for the first time in history west of Pennsylvania. It had been found in several areas in central Michigan. Plans were hastily prepared for a spraying project aimed at killing every moth in the state. It took four airplanes about a week to finish the attempt.

"As of today no live gypsy moth has been seen in Michigan since we sprayed," said C. A. Boyer, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry.

A necessary part of the fight against this pest, Boyer explained, is a trapping program to test the efficiency of the spray. Traps have been located over a 1,600,000 acre area in a 25 mile radius of Lansing; 10 miles further in each direction along key highways.

They are baited with portions of the female moth which will attract males from a distance of one half mile. "We feel our traps are 100% foolproof but we can't say for sure for another 50 trapping days that our spray has killed all the moths," explained Boyer. "Even if none are trapped," he added, "a visual search will be continued for eggs that might have been laid by untrapped females."

"It looks very good, so far," Boyer stated.

First "Dry Run" tests of the new State Police emergency trailer were entirely successful according to Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

The trailer was built by police personnel after a need for such a vehicle was experienced at the Flint and Port Huron disasters. Barring unexpected emergencies, plans call for the official use of the trailer at the International Air Show in Detroit, July 24-25.

Principal use of the trailer is to serve as headquarters-control point for state police when they are called into an area. It provides communications between men in the field and with other

County Grangers Take Mystery Ride

Twenty-five cars carrying 100 members of subordinate granges in the county left the fairgrounds at Caro Saturday evening on the annual "mystery ride," with the eventual destination Murray Hall at Wahjamega. Each grange represented was expected to provide one number for a miscellaneous program. The Millington Grange also put on part of the degree drill. Potluck supper was enjoyed.

Highlight of the evening was the choosing of a Cinderella to represent Tuscola County at the state grange meet in October, when one session will be devoted to the Cinderellas. Selected were Miss Coral Baxter and, as her alternate, Miss Estella Mae Engler, both from the Millington Grange.

Among those present were the district deputy and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hildebrandt, of Saginaw.

Farm Safety Week Theme Will Be Accident Prevention

National Farm Safety Week next week, if conscientiously observed by all, will mean money in every farmer's pocket this year, claims Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. Farm accidents last year cost more than 17 million man-days of work time. Most of the accidents were preventable. The majority stemmed from carelessness.

Make a safety check of your farm today, he advises. A little time and effort now will prevent that costly accident before it happens. Check the farm home for loose stairs, unsafe ladders and shaky chairs. See to it that matches, drugs and insecticides are out of the children's reach.

Be sure that ladders, stairs and floors in the barn are sturdy and sound, adds David G. Steinicke, safety specialist at Michigan State College. Check all mechanical equipment. Be sure your electrical circuits are not overloaded—that your electrical devices bear the seal of the Underwriter's Laboratory. That seal means they are properly designed to do their job safely.

Adopt safe practices for yourself and family. Never try to oil or repair machinery while it is running. Always pour gasoline and kerosene in the open. Keep youngsters away from the livestock. Remember, there is no such thing as a "gentle bull," says Steinicke.

Finally, make Farm Safety Week a year around pledge. Safety should be your motto 365 days of every year, agent Ballweg reminds.

Bang's Control Broadcast Slated

This series will be broadcast each Monday through August 30. Appearing on the broadcasts will be leading authorities on the control of Bang's Disease in farm herds, said Alfred Ballweg, County Agricultural Agent.

Pair Speaks Vows Saturday Morning

Miss Marjorie Ann Hutchinson became the bride of Mr. Theodore E. Czaplak Saturday morning, July 10, in St. Michael Catholic Church at Wilmet. Rev. Fr. Sigmund Haremski performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Hutchinson of Caro. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Czaplak of Cass City.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a strapless, ballerina length gown of nylon tulle with a molded bodice and a bouffant skirt which was accented by a tier of pleated nylon tulle edged by a border of French Venice lace. The dress was topped by a fitted lace jacket with a wing-back collar and long, fitted sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Her finger-ring veil of imported French illusion was held in place by a tiara of nylon tulle leaves centered with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a purple orchid.

Miss Patricia Czaplak, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of blue net with a matching headpiece trimmed with rhinestones and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by Richard Orlovski as best man. Ushers were Melvin Williamson and Norman Adams.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hutchinson chose a royal blue crepe dress with white accessories. Mrs. Czaplak, mother of the groom, wore a navy blue dress with black and white accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

Put A Wide-Awake Want Ad To Work For You

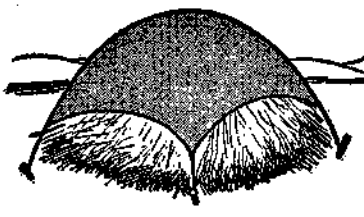

Four States to Study Meat Hog Production

Four states in the eastern corn belt area—Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Michigan—have set up a vigorous five-year research program for improving the production and marketing of meat type hogs. The results of the program have two aims for the consumer, leaner and higher quality pork on the dinner table; for the producer, a modernized system of breeding, feeding and marketing.

The work is to be done in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture whose approval and support are needed before the program can be fully initiated.

Importance of the program is emphasized by the fact that in 1951 these four states marketed over 17 per cent of all hogs received by packers in the United States for a total of $674,808,000. Consumers favor hogs with a greater proportion of lean meat. Because of the greatly increased production of competing fats, lard and pork fat are in much less demand than formerly. In 1952, surplus in lard alone was 2.9 billion pounds.

Nylon Tarps

Tarpaulins have many uses on farms, covering baled hay, equipment, etc. Handling tarps, large or small, during rainy or wintry weather is usually a tough job, but has been lightened through the use of nylon in tarp construction. Nylon tarpaulins are fifty per cent lighter, but manufacturers claim the same qualities of long wear and tough construction that has made the material popular in the garment trade.

Rat Census

One census-taker outlines the following plan for deciding how many rats there may be about a farm: If rats are never seen, but signs are: 100 rats; if seen occasionally at night, 100 to 500; if seen every night and in daytime, 500 to 1,000; if plenty seen at night and several every day, 1,000 to 5,000.

Moisture Problem In Attic Easy Found

Check your attic to see if you have a moisture condensation problem. You can expect trouble if your farmhouse ceiling is insulated but doesn't have a vapor barrier, and if the attic isn't ventilated. Moisture tends to condense in the insulation and will reduce its effectiveness. In addition, it can cause wood to decay.

The best time to check for this trouble is on a cold day when there's a lot of moisture in the house. If you find condensed frost on the roof sheathing and rafters, take steps to correct the situation. Engineers recommend putting slanted louvers in the gable ends or screened vents under the eaves. There should be one square inch of opening for each square foot of attic floor area. The purpose of these openings is to get circulation of air in the attic that will carry out the moisture. If there is no vapor barrier under the ceiling insulation, painting the ceiling with a waterproof paint will help.

Mr. Consumer, Too

He's a producer, yes, but the farmers of America each year need: 7 million tons of finished steel. 50 million tons of chemical materials. 16.5 billion gallons of crude petroleum, more than is used by any other industry. 15 billion KWH of electrical power, enough to supply Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore and Houston for one year.

The want ads are newsy too.

For More Fun In A Boat!
Use Common Sense Afloat

KNOW YOUR BOAT
Every boat has its limitations. Learn what you can expect from your boat.

HEAD INTO THE WAVES
If waves are high, head your boat at an angle towards the waves at slow speed.

BALANCE YOUR LOAD
Distribute weight evenly in the boat — from side to side and from bow to stern.

WATCH THE WEATHER
Head for shore before a storm breaks. If caught out, seat passengers on floor.

USE THE RIGHT MOTOR
Too much power can damage your boat — may even swamp it. Look for OBC recommended horsepower plate.

DON'T OVERLOAD
Seats do not indicate capacity. Two or three adults may be a full load under many conditions.

KEEP LOW
And step in the center when boarding the boat or changing seats.

AVOID SHARP TURNS
Fast, sharp turns are hard on equipment — and sometimes on people. Take it easy.

Follow the eight simple rules shown here for more safety and fun afloat this season, says the Outboard Boating Club of America, national organization of outboard boat and motor owners. Boating is the safest of outdoor sports, says OBC, if you'll use common sense and courtesy.

Down Memory Lane
FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Five Years Ago.
Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Krapf were pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening when a group of relatives came to help them celebrate their 59th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ewing were killed in an auto collision Sunday afternoon at the intersection of Decker and Phillips roads. Joint funeral services were held Wednesday.

Announcement has been made that the Pinney State Bank will move to temporary quarters in the Priesskorn building while the bank building is being remodeled. Plans call for an addition to the rear and for the building to be reduced to a one-story structure.

Thirty-five Years Ago.
"Buddy" Burt innocently created quite a sensation at Oak Bluff when he took a nap on the water. Persons on the beach noticed his boat bobbing up and down on the waves with no signs of its occupant. Becoming alarmed, they sent boats out to determine the trouble. There they found Buddy, peacefully sleeping in the bottom of his boat, unaware of the terror he had caused.

Fire was discovered Friday night on the east side of the Ale block, occupied by the Pastime Theater, Ruhl's ice cream parlors and Joe Coscarelli, fruit merchant. The fire department soon had the blaze under control. A second alarm brought the department back to the scene. The buildings were not greatly damaged.

A new law requiring that every person operating a motor vehicle on the public highways of this state must secure an operator's license from the Secretary of State, will become effective August 14.

Self-confidence is the first requisite in solving any problem.

Ten Years Ago.
Charles Kercher, Jr., 12, played with the Elks' band in Bay City Wednesday for a flag raising ceremony at the Chevrolet plant and in the evening, at a city concert in the Central High School stadium.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Krug of Gagetown have been notified that their son, S. Sgt. John Krug, has been seriously wounded in action. Dr. F. L. Morris has been elected president of the board of education of Cass City schools. Other officers chosen were F. E. Hutchinson, secretary, and Ernest L. Schwaderer, treasurer.

Twenty-five Years Ago.
A comfortable two-room apartment in a hollowed out section of a Douglas fir tree, 16 feet long and nine feet in diameter, will be on exhibition at Cass City next Thursday. The truck is driven by E. A. Wade, who, with his wife,

Farmers who use alfalfa for pasture will be interested in the results of the Overstate Alfalfa Variety Demonstrations, points out Leyton Nelson, Michigan State College extension farm crops specialist.

Ten of the more promising new varieties, along with the familiar varieties, are planted at five locations in Lower Michigan. Included are new varieties like Vernal—from Wisconsin, Rhizoma and Nomad—from the Northwest, and Atlantic and Narragansett from the East. They are shown in comparison with Ladak, Hardigan and Ranger, the Michigan standbys for the northern areas, for short-time stands and for wilt resistance, respectively.

Forage crops breeders are developing varieties which have growth characteristics making them easier to manage for pasture, advises Nelson. For example, some of these varieties have the ability to spread either from the roots or from underground stems—similar to quackgrass. In addition, some of them have deeper crowns; this makes them less susceptible to trampling injury by livestock.

These demonstrations were established beginning last year and were completed this spring. Field tours will be held when the stands are well-established.

The present alfalfa varieties are mostly erect-growing plants. This makes them well-suited for hay production, points out the farm cropsman, but they are more difficult to manage for pasture.

Since ladino clover has become a common addition to the alfalfa and brome mixture, many farmers have found that after fields were pastured closely ladino predominated. This ladino increase is at the expense of the alfalfa. In dry seasons, this is a very decided disadvantage, stresses Nelson, because ladino clover does not possess the drought resistance of alfalfa.

George Parsons, MSC extension dairyman, points out that dairy cattle need good pasture but they also need good water—cool, clean water—to produce milk.

"Don't let the water tank get dirty," cautions Parsons. "Clean out the green scum and the debris. Suggest to Junior that he run his boats in some other tank. Provide cool clear water at all times for the dairy herd. Don't forget the water buckets in the barn, either. If the cow wants a drink while she is being milked, have water available."

This is the floor of Michigan Limestone's new dolomite quarry in upper Michigan. The rig is drilling holes for blasting for the foundation of the crusher which will process the high-grade magnesite bearing stone.

The seven story high screening house shown here processes the dolomite into eight grade sizes which move into the storage galleries shown protruding from this Michigan Limestone plant at Port Dolomite.

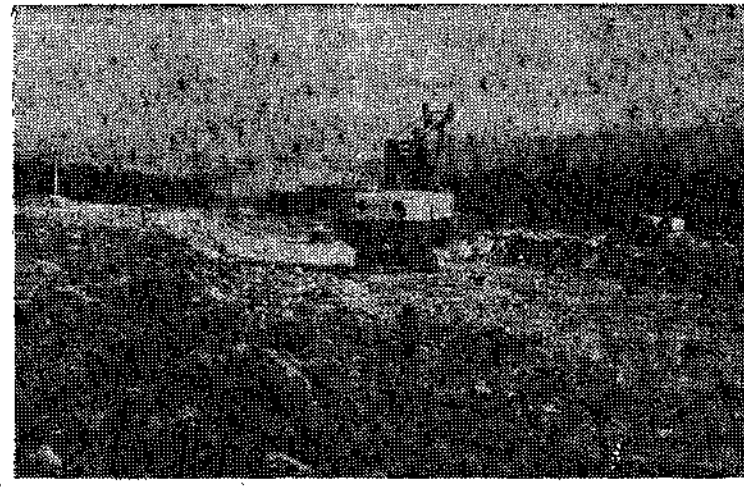

There is a new name on the Great Lakes—"Port Dolomite"—which next spring will become the shipping point annually of upwards of 8,000,000 tons of high-grade dolomite limestone.

Naming of the port was announced by Hugh S. Lewis, president of Michigan Limestone Division of United States Steel Corp., which expects to open its new dolomite quarries and complete construction of processing plants on the Upper Peninsula of Michigan in late fall.

The new port is located between McKay and Bush Bay on Lake Huron 34 miles south of Sault Ste. Marie. Its name comes naturally from the product of the quarries which lie five miles inland near the town of Cedarville.

One of the outstanding units among the new facilities is the 620-foot long and 117-foot wide dock which stands at the edge of a natural water channel leading out into Lake Huron. Channel depth is 26 feet from low water datum. The unique feature of the dock is the traveling loading shuttle which enables a boat to tie up and be filled in about five hours time without being moved back and forth to receive the various sizes of limestone available at the plant. The dock lies in a snug harbor and is protected by off-shore islands.

To deliver the dolomite from this dock to customers on the Great Lakes are the seven self-unloading freighters of Michigan Limestone's Bradley Transportation Fleet. Among these is the 666-foot John G. Munson, one of the largest self-unloaders. Also calling at Port Dolomite will be ships of U. S. TERMS -- CASH

To The Voters Of Tuscola County

When you go to the polls Aug. 3 to cast your vote, the following is written for you to think over.

1. Tuscola County has had the same treasurer for 16 years (8 terms) now he is asking a ninth term.

2. If the job of treasurer, a public office, is good enough one for a man to ask a ninth term, the job should be passed around instead of one man holding it for life.

3. Remember no man is indispensable to his job. He can always be replaced by one who can do just as good a job. Sometimes a lot better.

4. Your present treasurer when seeking office back in 1938, it was his opinion that no man should make a career or ask a life lease of public office.

5. George is not asking a lifetime job. He is asking for a fair chance to prove himself a good accountant and in the meantime be of a valuable service to the people of Tuscola County.

6. George is a young man of 28 years asking for only two terms in office. The voters will receive from him an excellent job if they elect him as their treasurer for the reason he is a young man and will be working hard to be successful in his chosen profession of accounting. Let's support him at the primaries and elect him as our next treasurer.

Signed: A voter of Tuscola County.

With the start of construction this May, operation number one of the bridging of the Straits of Mackinac got into high gear.
Construction of the major part of the suspension bridge foundations involving the placing of about 300,000 cu. yds. of concrete, is placed for this year.
Climatic conditions, and especially the ice, limit the working season for the construction of the piers of the main crossing to the eight months of April through November. Construction of the substructure, and particularly that of the main tower piers, therefore, determines the time of completion of the bridge.
The bridge is expected to be open to traffic by November 1, 1957. Completion of such items as wrapping of the main cables of the suspended spans and final painting may be done in the 1958 season without interfering with the normal flow of traffic.
During 1956 and 1957 separate contracts will be let for the construction of the administration building, toll booths, maintenance buildings and equipment. Completion date for these structures will be October 1, 1957.
Engineering-wise, the feasibility of this project has been amply demonstrated by the investigation of five groups of engineers in the past 25 years and by the design here described.
A probably annual traffic of 1,927,000 vehicles and a gross annual income of $5,935,000 for 1958, the first full year of operation, were predicted in the December 1953 report of the traffic engineers, Coverdale and Colpitts, who are outstanding in their field. The coverage for a $99,800,000 bond issue, to include all costs of constructing and financing the project, is 1.47 times the principal and interest requirements, and the bond issue can be amortized by the year 1975.
With the two major construction contracts already let, the greater part of the work is under contract.
Four Lanes to Expedite Traffic
On a bridge of this length (26,000 ft.) there will undoubtedly be breakdowns and car stoppages for various reasons. With fewer than two lanes for traffic in each direction, such a stoppage would result in serious interference with traffic. A four-lane structure was therefore adopted to insure a smooth flow of traffic at all times.
A center mall or traffic barrier of the low type, 2 ft. wide, was also adopted. Vehicles can stay closer to a low, well-marked barrier than to a high mall, thus justifying a somewhat narrower traffic lane next to the mall. These considerations, as well as reasons of economy, have led to an overall width of roadway between curbs of 48 ft. of which 2 ft. will be occupied by the center mall, 12 ft. by each outer lane, and 11 ft. by each inner lane.
No provision is considered necessary on this four-mile-long bridge for regular pedestrian traffic. However, footwalks on each side are essential for maintenance and operating personnel and also in vehicles. A width of 3 ft. between curb and railing has been adopted for each of the two emergency footwalks. The overall width of the floor between railings is 54 ft.
Tolls are to be collected at the plaza located on the St. Ignace approach. Adjacent to the toll plaza will be an administration building to house operating and maintenance personnel and equipment.
Construction schedule for 1954 is: construction of south truss span piers; construction anchorage pier; construction of main tower piers and construction of cable bent pier.
Schedule for 1955 is: completion of all foundations, erection of truss spans, erection of main towers and cable bents.
In 1956 spinning of cables will be done, erection of truss spans and construction of Mackinaw City approaches.
The bridge will be completed in 1957 with the construction of mole approach, completion of anchorages, completion of cable and suspender erection, erection of suspended spans, paving of roadways and construction of St. Ignace approach.
