

Sentence McComb 5 to 20 Years For Extortion

Judge Timothy C. Quinn sentenced William C. McComb to Jackson Prison Tuesday for 5 to 20 years, after he had been found guilty of attempted extortion and conspiracy for writing three demanding letters to Peter Temple, Silverwood postmaster.

Judge Quinn specified that McComb would have to serve a minimum of four years before becoming eligible for parole. His accomplice in the case, Martha Fox, had been previously sentenced to 60 days in jail and two years' probation.

Milton Leslie McCraight and Kenneth Warren St. Charles were each sentenced to one year's probation Tuesday for breaking in and stealing $60 from Bulen Motors in Cass City.

In addition, McCraight was ordered to pay a $100 fine, costs of $140 and to make restitution of the $60 taken.

St. Charles was fined $100 and ordered to pay costs of $50.

Norman Jeske was sentenced to probation for two years and fined $100 and costs of $250 for stealing property belonging to the Detroit Edison Company.

Richard Jenkins pled guilty to leaving the scene of a personal injury accident on M-15 near Vassar. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and Jenkins will be sentenced Nov. 3.

Divorce Cases.

Shirley Wood was granted temporary alimony of $50 weekly and temporary custody of minor children from Clifford Wood. Mr. Wood was ordered to pay attorney's fees of $100.

Gerald Houghteling was granted a divorce from Sara Lie Houghteling. Minor children were awarded to Mr. Houghteling and $1 was granted in lieu of dower.

For New Industry

Citizens of Gagetown Building Large Plant

The community of Gagetown, through the Gagetown Development Association, has succeeded in raising nearly $60,000 for the construction of a building 120x130 feet to house the Michigan Pipe Company, it was announced this week by Wes Downing, president of the association.

The Michigan Pipe Company will be the second industry to move into Gagetown. The first was the Michigan Industrial Gas Corporation. The Michigan Pipe Company will be the first industry to come to the village through the efforts of the community.

To raise the money, persons in the village subscribed to $1,000 bonds. Complete cost of the building will be about $90,000.

One of the features of the building is that it must be strong enough to support a 10-ton crane which the pipe company uses in its business. For this reason, there will be an estimated $30,000 worth of steel in the building.

Investors in the community project believe that they have a winning proposition. They point out that the development association is building just the shell of the building, while the remainder of the work will be done by the pipe company.

After the development association has erected the shell of the building, the company has said that it will install the plumbing, heating and wiring to complete the building.

The building, erected on the six acres owned by the development association, will be available to the pipe company on a 10-year lease with an option to buy at any time within that period.

The company has agreed to pay taxes, insurance and interest in addition to the purchase price if they buy the building. Payments made on the lease would apply to the purchase price of the building.

The Michigan Pipe Co. is an old established company. They have been in business since 1870, manufacturing pipe to carry acids and corrosive fumes.

At the present time, the plant is operating in Bay City and Detroit. The Bay City branch will move to Gagetown first and the Detroit branch will follow.

The plant will hire about 20 persons at the start and will increase to about 50 when all operations are running in Gagetown.

Besides spending about $30,000 in the new building, the company will move an 80x125 foot building from Bay City to Gagetown to house needed lumber, authorities for the development association said.

Chevrolet-Pontiac In Local Showrooms
Thursday - Friday

The first of the much publicized new cars for 1955 will make their appearances in Cass City this week end, when the H. O. Paul Company will have the 1955 Pontiac on display and Bulen Motors will show the 1955 Chevrolet.

Both cars have been radically changed in an effort to add longer, wider, sleeker looks.

The engines of the new cars have also been changed. The Pontiac will feature an 180 horsepower engine and the Chevrolet will have 162 horsepower in its eight-cylinder engine.

Both engines can produce substantially more power at the option of purchasers.

Farm Accident Fatal for Neil Marshall Tuesday

A neck yoke of a grain drill, drawn by horses, broke and fatally injured Neil Marshall, 64, Tuesday, who was pinned under the grain drill he was using.

Mr. Marshall, prominent farmer of Grant Township, was found by his wife, Zella, who went to the field to investigate when he failed to return from the afternoon chores.

According to Sheriff Merritt R. McBride, who investigated, when the yoke broke, the tongue was released and caused the drill to turn upside down.

Mr. Marshall suffered from a crushed chest, internal injuries and suffocation.

It was just two weeks ago that an announcement was made that oil had been discovered on the Marshall farm. The well is producing 60 barrels of oil a day.

Mr. Marshall is widely known as a collector of Indian relics, found on his farm, and of rare coins.

He was born Oct. 21, 1890, in Elkland Township, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall. He married Zella Mae Williamson, Oct. 31, 1937, in Cass City.

Surviving, besides his widow, are two brothers, Archie of Alma and Alex of Kingston.

Funeral services will be held today (Friday) at 2 p. m. at the Marshall home. Rev. Melvin R. Vender, pastor of the Cass City Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in Grant Cemetery.

President Issues
RIAL Proclamation

From the beginning, our nation has built its enduring strength on faith in God. The Declaration of Independence states that "men were endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights."

America today sets an example for all the world by guaranteeing these rights to every citizen. First among them is the right to freedom of worship.

With uncertainty and strife threatening so much of the world today, we have greater cause than ever to reaffirm the spiritual faith on which this nation was founded.

Our precious freedoms are the gift of God Himself, no matter in what terms or creed we worship Him. It is, therefore, our greatest privilege to give thanks to Him at the worship services of our choice.

To this end, the Religion In American Life program calls on all of us to designate the month of November as the President of the United States has endorsed, as a period of dedication to a renewal of our religious faith by regular attendance and support for the church of our choice.

From the Editor's Corner

Mrs. Arthur Little, Cass City librarian, says that she receives many requests from persons who are interested in Cass City that read like this letter from Edward Blades: "Dear Madam: I would appreciate it if you could give me some free pamphlets or information on the history of Cass City."

Mrs. Little reports nothing of this nature is available and says she always has to send regrets that she can not help the interested person.

She suggested that it would be a very fine thing if some civic organization would compile and print the facts of the history of Cass City for reference.

The Chronicle has papers since it was first published and a book on early Tuscola County history that they will be happy to make available to any interested organization.

Tuesday is the day that every person over 21 and eligible to vote should have circled in red on his calendar. With an important off-year election slated, each person should be deciding now who will get his or her vote.

The way you vote might not only decide the governor of Michigan, but may help elect the U. S. senator that will provide the balance of power between Democrats and Republicans in congress.

Free Show for Kids Saturday

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce reminds children in the area that, through the courtesy of the Cass Theatre, they will be the guests of the organization Saturday night in a free Halloween show.

All children that arrive at the theatre before 8 p. m. will be admitted free. They will see a double feature program. First show will be "The Cowboy" and the second, "The Big Chase."

In addition, the small fry will be treated with a "Popeye" cartoon.

Deford Area Voters Okay Consolidation

Voters in six districts in the Deford area voted 131-53 to reorganize into one district at a special election held Monday at the Novesta Township Hall.

The districts united were: Deford, Crawford, Ferguson, Seelbach, Leek and Greenwood.

First step in the reorganization will be the election of school officers. Wednesday, Nov. 3, a meeting will be held with board members of former districts to plan for the election of officers. Notices for this election must be posted at least 30 days prior to the election, Joseph Liddicoat, county superintendent of schools, said.

When the election is held, school law says that five members will be elected. One member will be elected for one year, two for two years and two for three years.

Candidates for office may be nominated by petition and printed ballots will be used at the initial election, Mr. Liddicoat said.

To become eligible to compete for an office on the ballot, a candidate must have a petition signed by at least 25 qualified school electors and must be filed with the county superintendent of schools at least 20 days before the date of the election.

The term of office of a member after the first election shall be three years, Mr. Liddicoat said. Any person in the new district who possesses the qualifications for holding school office under the general school laws may be elected as an officer.

Livestock Grading Demonstration at Marlette Yards

Don Stark, livestock marketing specialist at Michigan State College, will be in charge of a livestock grading demonstration at the Marlette Livestock Yards Monday, Nov. 8.

He will be assisted by an animal husbandry specialist from MSC and local buyers for packers.

The demonstration is designed to acquaint farmers with the grades of livestock they own and offer for sale at markets. It will illustrate the relationship between grades of livestock and prices. It will indicate the thinking of a buyer when paying different prices for different grades of livestock and help livestock producers with the proper interpretation of livestock market news.

It is expected to help farmers to develop skill in estimating the value of their market animals in accordance with current market reports.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, Oct. 30 — John Stepka will hold an auction of personal property at his farm, 13 miles east of Cass City on Freiburg Road.

Four Amendments Face Voters

Predict Light Vote In Tuesday's Election

Political experts in Tuscola County are predicting a light vote for the important general election, Tuesday, Nov. 2, when voters will decide who will run the state during the next two years.

Highlight of the campaign has been the fight for governor between Donald S. Leonard, Republican, and G. Mennen Williams, Democrat.

Behind Leonard on the Republican ticket is the following slate: Clarence A. Reid, lieutenant-governor; Owen J. Cleary, secretary of state; Frank G. Millard, attorney general; D. Hale Drake, state treasurer; John B. Martin, Jr., auditor general, and Homer Ferguson, U. S. senator.

Office seekers on the Democratic ticket, besides Gov. Williams, are: Philip A. Hart, lieutenant-governor; James M. Hare, secretary of state; Thomas M. Kavanagh, attorney general; Sanford A. Brown, state treasurer; Victor C. Targonski, auditor general, and Patrick V. McNamara, U. S. senator.

Local Offices.

Heading the candidates on the Republican ticket for offices on the local level are Arthur Dehmelt, state senator, and R. Allison Green, state representative.

The Republican county slate is: Douglas L. Williams, prosecuting attorney; William Tomlinson, sheriff; Fred Mathews, county clerk; Arthur M. Willets, county treasurer; William J. Profit, register of deeds; Freeland Sugden, county drain commissioner; H. Theron Donahue and H. L. Nigg, coroners, and Roscoe J. Black, county surveyor.

The Democratic slate has Carl Sherman for state representative and Jacob Gleeson for state senator.

Only candidates listed for county offices on the Democratic ticket are: Charles F. Becker, sheriff; Harold F. Jackson, county treasurer, and E. James Mossack, register of deeds.

There has been an unusually strong race this year for the office of U. S. representative. Jesse P. Wolcott, Republican, is facing Ira D. McCoy, Democrat, for the office.

Nonpartisan Election.
On the nonpartisan ballot, Guy G. Hill and Bates Willis are without competition for the office of circuit court commissioners.

Voters will also be asked to decide for or against four

Hines Jailed for Passing Bad Check

Harvey E. Hines, 43, of Deford, pleaded guilty in Sandusky Friday to writing a bogus check and was placed in Sanilac County jail when he failed to pay a $25 fine, $62.75 costs and make restitution for the bad check.

Hines' sentence is for 30 days in jail, unless the money is repaid.

Hines was found guilty of writing a $10 check to William Calkins of Marlette for a tire he purchased from Mr. Calkins.

Speaks at Banquet

Leonard Confident Of GOP Victory

Lashing out at the "bumbling and fumbling" of Governor G. Mennen Williams, Donald S. Leonard, GOP candidate for governor, asked 250 persons who attended a $5 per-plate dinner at the Cass City High School Monday to get out the vote in the Republican stronghold of Tuscola County.

Leonard said that a Republican victory was assured if voters in Tuscola, Sanilac, Branch and other Republican counties would turn out to vote Nov. 2.

Leonard said that unemployment and the farm problem have disappeared as campaign issues. "The steam has gone out of the Democratic campaign," he asserted.

Both Leonard and Jesse P. Wolcott, congressman from the Seventh District, asserted that unemployment is steadily dropping. Wolcott said that in the nation, unemployment has dropped to less than 3,000,000 and Leonard asserted that by Nov. 15, Michigan would have 2,400,000 employed.

Leonard pledged support to schools and said that he favored higher salaries and a larger retirement pay for teachers.

He said that he could not promise to lower state taxes. "I won't be a hypocrite," Leonard asserted, "it would be impossible for me to lower taxes as governor

Village's Share of Work on Main Street $8,415.00

Because of Federal aid received on the resurfacing of Main Street, the cost of the work here has dropped from the original estimated cost of $15,000 to $8,415.00, it was announced at the regular monthly meeting of the council held at the municipal building Tuesday night.

The unexpected drop in cost leaves the village with over $6,500 in funds to be applied on streets designated as major in the village.

Present indefinite plans call for the money to be used to resurface Seeger Street or to erect curb and gutter.

The council paid $2,500 to the state for the work on Main Street this week and has made arrangements to pay the balance of the money due before July 1, 1955.

Work on Main Street will not start this year. However, the work will be definitely done by September 1955, the completion date for the project.

Other Business.
Tom Cottick appeared before the council and inquired about the permissibility of building a trailer park south and west of the Cass City Arena.

Since the proposed park will be in the proper zone, the council said that they had no objection to the erecting of the trailer park. They indicated that they would run a sewer to the location if drainage permits, or issue permits for septic tanks in the area if it is impossible to run a sewer to the property.

The council also arranged for six men to be on duty Halloween night in the village.

Hawks Improve To Hand Vassar 31-14 Defeat

Cass City gave notice last Friday that they will be a team to be reckoned with in the final two games of the season. The club has shown steady improvement since an opening league-game trouncing by Crosswell-Lexington.

Although they failed to win a league tilt before administering a 31-14 defeat to Vassar Friday, they were in every game except the Crosswell-Lex. tilt.

On the basis of Friday's game, they will enter tonight's (Friday) game as better than an even bet to top Marlette and will not be an underdog when they meet Caro in the final game of the season.

The Hawks scored in the opening quarter of their home-coming game with Vassar. Jack Clara broke over the center of the line and dashed 80 yards to score. The point was missed.

Vassar tied the score in the second period when Bill Main capped a drive by going across from the one-yard line. When Dave Freeland converted, Vassar led 7-6.

Cass City took the lead for good later in the same period. Don Simmons passed to Jack Clara, who was all alone, and Clara dashed for the score. The play covered 40 yards.

In the third period a Hawk drive was capped by Simmons who sneaked over from two yards out. Clara passed to Jim Ellis for the extra point.

Clara counted his second long run of the game in the final quarter when he dashed 82 yards to score. Shortly after Clara's marker, Simmons made a beautiful twisting 58-yard scamper to chalk up the Hawks' final touchdown.

Vassar scored a consolation touchdown late in the final period when the Hawk reserves had taken over the game.

Now Chevrolet, the leading builder of valve-in-head engines, introduces the "Turbo-Fire V8." It carries the V8 design to a new high in efficiency with its high horsepower (162), high compression (8 to 1), high performance and surprisingly high gas mileage. Available with standard transmission, or with the extra-cost options of Overdrive or Powerglide.

You can choose from two new sixes, too! Chevrolet also offers the last word in six-cylinder performance and economy! There's a new "Blue-Flame 136" teamed with Powerglide and a new "Blue-Flame 123" with either standard transmission or Overdrive.

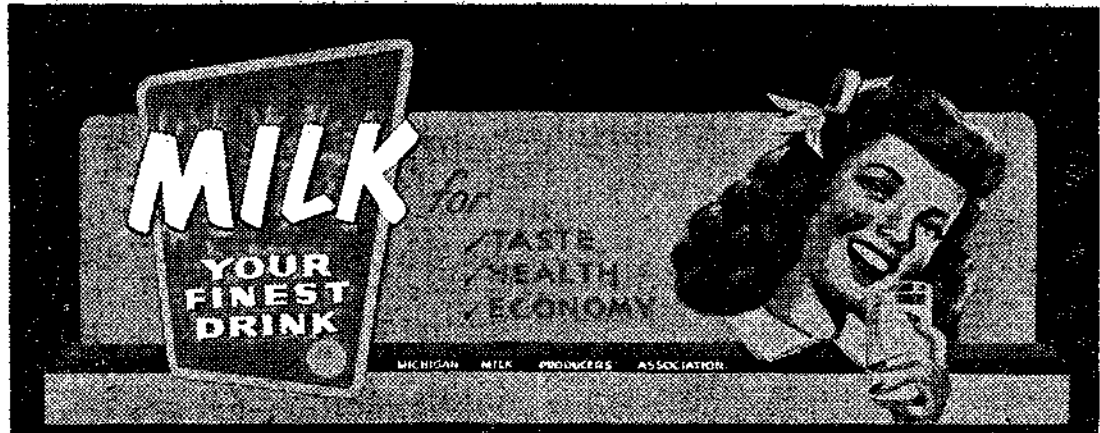

Can't you tell just by looking that Chevrolet and General Motors have come up with a completely new idea about the low-priced car? The idea is this: to build a car that offers the very newest thing in styling, the most modern features, the finest kind of performance and the highest quality of manufacture—all at a modest price. It's something that took a lot of doing and that only the world's leading car builders could do. Everything's new in this Motoramic Chevrolet from its lower top right down to its tubeless tires. ## "SELF-HELP"

Increasing sales and expanding its market have been foremost objectives of this cooperative during the past three years. Through the mediums of advertising and publicity "Milk as a Beverage" has been promoted as never before in the greater Detroit market with gratifying results.

Creating new markets and strengthening old ones is a "self-help" project instituted by the members of this organization as a cooperative means of protecting farm income by the same methods as are used in successful private industry. It is a demonstration of forward thinking on the part of farm cooperative membership.

Dairy farmers are able to carry out such a project by means of a strong cooperative.

CARS ARE MY LINE

By H. M. Bulen

Maybe you remember a few weeks ago I mentioned the law in Memphis, Tenn., against blowing car horns inside the city limits.

That was a good or a bad law, I suppose, depending on which end of the car horn you happened to be at. Since men first started to push themselves around in horseless carriages they've been passing laws about it, and some of them have been pretty foolish. In the years I've been around cars I've tucked away a few of the stranger ones.

We might have had cars almost 100 years sooner than we did, for instance, if it hadn't been for an English law passed around 1830. Steam coaches were operating in those days, one man had three of them on a regular route of more than 3000 miles near London. Another Englishman had nine steam buses on regular routes.

But then came the famous Red Flag law which required a man to walk in front of the coaches with a red flag in the daytime and a red lantern at night. The fare on the toll roads and bridges was raised and raised (even in those days horseless carriages were seen as a good source of revenue) and the first practical self-propelled vehicles were forced off the roads.

As a result, there was no advance in motor transportation until after 1896 when the silly, restrictive laws were repealed. Quite a difference from today when the buyer expects—and gets—some new advance in motoring every year.

The rapid advancement of automobile design and craftsmanship means, too, that a car a few years old still has lots of dependable miles, economical transportation and even luxury in it. In buying a used car you have even a wider range of choice than in buying a new car. And room to splurge on a little luxury without busting your bankbook. Glad to show you how, the next time you drop around the lot.

DON'T FAIL TO SEE THE COMPLETELY NEW 1955 CHEVROLET THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28TH (moved up one day from advertised date). It's TERRIFIC, COLOSSAL, BOMBASTIC, and WE LIKE IT. Confident of your reaction. We will, of course, remain open all day Thursday, celebrating the Glad Event.

SHORT STORY

The Scheme

By F. L. Rowley

"YOU'RE much too excitable, George," said Mrs. Gavin reprovingly as the car nosed into the dark driveway. "Our Mary may be young but she's not silly enough to elope. I do wish you hadn't dragged me away from my bridge club meeting like this."

"And I tell you that this thing has come to a head!" snapped George Gavin as he turned off the car's headlights. "Less than an hour ago I saw Mary's suitcase lying on her bed; and on top of the suitcase was an envelope containing two airline tickets—for Cuba!"

"Was Mary in the house at the time?" asked Catherine Gavin. A note of anxiety had crept into her voice.

"She was not. So I decided to get you. Perhaps you can drive this wild scheme out of her head."

"If it's not already too late,"

George Gavin paced the floor for what seemed like an hour—actually was about 15 minutes.

sighed Catherine. She pointed to a ladder half-hidden by the bushes.

George's eyes ascended it painfully, rung by rung, settling at last upon Mary's bedroom window. He gawked as if he'd been hit on the head with a crow-bar. Mrs. Gavin squeezed her husband's arm tenderly as she led him away from the ladder and into the house.

"I'll call the police!" she said as they entered the parlor. "I'll have those foolish children picked up."

A ray of hope flickered in George's eyes. "Good!" he said. Then—"But I thought you approved of Henry? I wanted to separate them long ago but you wouldn't hear of it. You were always so sure that he'd make Mary a good husband—bahl!"

"I still think so—but they don't have to sneak off like this. Mary has always talked about a church wedding. I want her to have it. Will you see if the suitcase is still in her room, dear?"

George reentered the parlor as his wife was placing the receiver back on the hook. She turned to face him. "The police say they'll pick them up at the airport."

"Why didn't we think of that?" "It doesn't matter, dear. The police can get through if the gates are closed. We couldn't. The suitcase—is it missing?"

"Of course. Wait until I get my hands on Henry—I'll mangle him."

"And have our daughter married to a hospital case?" asked Catherine.

George Gavin grunted. (He paced the floor for what seemed like an hour)—actually it was something less than fifteen minutes. At the end of this time a uniformed policeman ushered Mary Gavin and her blushing suit-into the parlor.

"Got 'em!" he announced proudly. "Standing in front of the gates they was. Now I'll bid ye good-night—never could stand a scene."

"He's an idiot!" said Mary hotly as the door closed behind her. "And whoever sent him after us is also an idiot. Of course he got us—we weren't going anywhere. You'd think it was a crime to see a couple of friends off for Cuba."

"But," objected her mother, "didn't you have airplane tickets?"

"Naturally I had tickets—I bought them for my girl friends. I also lent them one of my suitcases; I suppose the police know that too!"

"Henry, my boy," said George Gavin placing his hand on the young man's shoulder, "how about a nice quiet game of chess? My nerves are on edge."

The two women watched until George and Henry had settled themselves on the porch. Then Mary kissed her mother.

"I couldn't go through that again," said Catherine. "Your father almost had heart failure when he saw that ladder. I know he'll agree to a fine church wedding for you and Henry. I only hope your father's business never calls him to Cuba."

"Why?"

"Because if it does he's sure to uncover our (little) scheme. Our little airport, my dear, does not and never did schedule flights to that country."

The secret of success lies in finding a more efficient way of doing your work—not running away from it.

Rev. Spencer Speaks At Rotary Club

Rev. Wilson Spencer, Bad Axe, explained the meaning of the "Religion in American Life" program to Rotarians at the regular meeting of the organization held at the New Gordon Hotel Tuesday noon.

"Undergirding this program is Christianity as a personal thing to each individual," Rev. Spencer said. He said that the RIAL program was good, but that it takes a continuing effort by each individual to make the program and expanding Christian religion a reality.

Prior to his address, the club voted to sponsor three Cass City students to the Model Assembly to be held in April. It will be the second year that Rotarians have sent students to the Model Assembly.

In keeping with the theme of the address, Rotarians sang two hymns and Dr. George Carrick presented a solo.

SHORT STORY

The Pledge

By F. L. Rowley

NO ONE in Hillcrest knew what it was that prompted Red Peepers to divorce himself from that well-worn hip flask. No one, that is, except Sheriff Giles, and he had promised Mrs. Bodkin to keep quiet about the whole embarrassing affair. Not that Mrs. Bodkin would have anything to do with Red Peepers. As far as I know she's never spoken to that gentleman either before or after the Hillside Open-Air Masquerade — yet she was mainly responsible for effecting the much talked about cure.

Mrs. Bodkin had beautiful hair. Her hair was a favorite topic of conversation at most social gatherings. She'd been congratulated dozens of times on the gleaming black ringlets that circled her queenly brow. Hair styles would come and go but not for Mrs. Bodkin. She looked exactly the same today as she did on that day eight years ago when Peter Bodkin had proudly carried her across the threshold.

Sheriff Giles gasped that hot afternoon as Mrs. Bodkin entered the picnic grounds.

You look lovely, Mrs. Bodkin.

He was about to raise the second glass to his lips when his eye caught a flash of white in the meadow.

with that long gown and that thighamajig in your hair—you should win first prize!"

"Thank you sheriff!" said the good lady, beaming. "You look pretty good yourself in that Italian getup! Why, you even have no-casino and a little hatchet—now cute!"

Sheriff Giles wandered off in search of a cider barrel. "Hey sheriff!" cried a would-be Napoleon from the other side of the orchard, "I just saw Red Peepers down by the creek—he's got a bottle of his spirit friends with him. Going to lock him up?"

"Leave him be!" said Giles good-naturedly. "He wouldn't be noticed in this crowd anyhow."

Then he saw the cider barrel. It was on a stump near the old rail fence. He was about to raise the second glass of cool cider to his lips when his eye caught a flash of white in the meadow.

This was followed by a flash of brown—Murphy's prize bull. Mrs. Bodkin, one hand on top of her shiny locks, was skipping across the meadow with the eager bull in her wake.

Giles to the rescue! He leaped the fence and raced after the bull. Then it happened! Mrs. Bodkin, skirting a thicker undergrowth, lost her hair! Her precious locks, dangling from a thorny red-haw branch, looked more beautiful than ever in the warm sunlight. The bull stopped—this was a new one on him. Mrs. Bodkin covered her bald head with both hands. When she saw Giles approaching she let out a scream and headed for home.

Giles ran to the bush, chopped the wig free with his little hatchet, and made off over the hill in pursuit of poor Mrs. Bodkin.

The bull stood there shaking his head. About this time Red Peepers began to hear noises. He'd scooped up quite a snootful of the strong stuff and had a good seat for the usual parade of animal friends—but noises bothered him. Rising uncertainly from his precarious perch on the creek bank he turned slowly around. Then he blinked. Then he grasped a sapling for support.

For there—in broad daylight—an Indian was pursuing a screaming woman along the crest of a hill. In one hand the redskin held a hatchet, and in the other—here Red blinked twice—a scalp of black hair. This was too much! Red Peepers pulled the worn flask from his pocket. He looked fondly at it for a moment—then he tossed it quickly into the creek.

Sheriff Giles overtook Mrs. Bodkin before any real harm was done. He swore that he'd carry her secret to the grave.

Now Red Peepers is a new and respected citizen of Hillcrest. He didn't tell anyone except Sheriff Giles about what happened at the creek that day.

The lucky man points with pride at his superior judgment.

The almighty dollar figures in a multitude of angles and triangles.

Some people live by their wits—others by the lack of other people's wits.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Crawford celebrated their golden wedding with open house at the Caro VFW Hall on Sunday, October 24.

Clayton Crawford and the former Anna Handley were married at the Baptist parsonage in Caro on October 27, 1904, and have lived most of their married life on their farm three miles east of Deford.

The couple have eleven children, eight sons and three daughters, Arthur, William and Leslie, all of Pontiac, Glen of Birmingham, Mrs. Harold (Mable) McComb of Detroit, Mrs. Glen (Marion) McClorey, and Milton of Cass City, Clare of Silverwood, Harry of Marlette, Norman of Deford and Lewis of Caro.

They also have twenty grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Guests came from Detroit, Birmingham, Pontiac, Inlay City, Marlette, Midland, Mayville, Gagetown, Cass City and Caro.

Pair United in Candlelight Rites

Miss Margaret Cowan repeated her marriage vows with Lester J. Battel at a pretty candlelight ceremony in the Kawkawlin Community Church on Saturday evening.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Cowan of Bay City and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Battel.

The seven o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Abe Hartsema of Muskegon in the presence of 150 guests. Bouquets of white gladioli, banked with palms, decorated the altar. Bill McKendrick was soloist accompanied by Mrs. Lester Staudacher on the organ. A reception was held in the church basement after the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of "chintilly-type lace and nylon tulle over traditional satin. The fitted bodice was complemented by a portrait neckline and long fitted sleeves that formed points over the wrists. The lace extended down to the hipline of the gown. Falling below the lace was a very bouffant chapel length skirt of nylon tulle over satin. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was secured by a band of traditional orange blossoms.

The bride's twin sister, Miss Mable Cowan, was maid of honor and Miss Marilyn Humphrey was bridesmaid. The attendants wore matching floor length gowns of nylon over taffeta in azalea and Cattilion blue. The fitted bodices featured a portrait neckline and tiny cap sleeves of pleated tulle and very full skirts of nylon tulle. They wore matching picture hats of nylon tulle and carried colonial bouquets of roses.

Mack McAlpine of Cass City assisted the bridegroom as best man. John Cowan, brother of the bride, was the other attendant.

Ushers were Robert Humphrey and Maynard Lempke. The bride's aunt, Miss Margaret Gibson Chase, wore a navy blue dress with matching blue accessories. Mrs. Battel also chose a navy dress with white accessories. Both had corsages of red roses.

After a short wedding trip in the south, the couple will reside in a new home on the Battel farm.

Life goes better for people who take things as they come.

The workman who is thrifty at home seldom wastes his employers time or material.

Pvt. Fleming Arrives in Japan

Pvt. John A. Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fleming, Decker, recently arrived in Yokohama, Japan, for duty with the Yokohama Engineer Depot's 8056th Army Unit.

Last stationed at the Atlanta General Depot in Georgia, Fleming entered the Army in April of this year and completed basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark. He is a 1952 graduate of Marlette High School.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Michigan's tourist industry, biggest and best in history, is looking for another pot of gold.

That was the reason that the Michigan Tourist Council decided to ask the legislature for another $100,000 next year to advertise the state's attractions.

"We just can't compete with the other states which spend more money on promotion," said Chairman Robert W. Budd.

Michigan ranked third as a tourist state three years ago, behind New York and California. Now it has slipped to fifth, with Pennsylvania and Florida moving up.

Budd says Michigan is paying out the same number of dollars as before, but they don't buy as much advertising.

Last year, the Council received $331,000, but turned over $100,000 to the four regional tourist councils. With another slice taken out for administration, the state office is spending $146,000 for promotion this year.

Bull said tourists spend millions in Michigan each year—most of it taxable. This turns back money to the state treasury in liquor, sales, cigarette and other levies.

Legislators in the past have heard requests for more advertising money with an almost phenomenal lack of enthusiasm. They threaten to cast the council into oblivion and turn over the function to local Chambers of Commerce.

But, 1955 will be around Jan. 1 and the election will be history for another two years.

Children are being politely asked by the State and Federal governments to drink more milk. Federal authorities have released $1,500,000 to the state this year to expand the school milk program and the kids are being asked to help.

Under the old arrangement, the schools received a 1-cent rebate on each bottle of milk sold. The new money gives the schools 4½ cents back.

In Michigan last year, school children drank 60,000,000 half pints of milk.

"The biggest problem will be to make the expanded program available to all schools on an equal basis," said Dr. Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction.

Newest idea for selling more milk, paid for in part by the Federal government: install milk vending machines in the schools.

A young lawyer who gambled in politics and lost is gambling again.

He is William B. Elmer, the second Democratic member of the Michigan Public Service Commission, which regulates utilities—telephone and power companies, truck and bus firms and railroads.

Elmer started in state government as a lawyer appointed as assistant attorney general. He resigned to become a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth district, embracing Ingham, Livingston and Genesee counties.

He lost that gamble when the constant campaigner, Don Hayworth, a Michigan State College professor, nosed him out in the primary.

Elmer was off the payroll again.

Gov. Williams then appointed him to fill the vacancy on the commission created by the resignation of John M. Veale of Mt. Clemens, who also quit to run unsuccessfully for the Congressional nomination in his district.

Republicans hope Donald S.

Leonard will be governor. If he is, Elmer will be off the public payroll again in the make-over of the executive and administrative phase of government. If Williams stays, Elmer still faces confirmation troubles with the Republican Senate.

Republicans have a prediction: it's off again, on again, gone again Elmer.

Political battles over prisons have become major pre-occupations for legislators and Gov. Williams.

They started with the first Jackson State Prison riot in 1952 and have raged since, both sides hoping for peace in the cell-blocks and setting up self-saving excuses if the lid blows again.

Key points of past skirmishes are pretty well known—the blame-fixing after the riots, the surveys, the demands for more prison space and the reluctance of lawmakers to spend unmitigated money.

The next will be fought over a plan developed by the corrections commission, all appointees of Gov. Williams.

It envisions a long-range multi-million dollar building program. A new 1,200-man prison, a separate reception center, a new women's prison and other things. Start looking for the first shots in the 1955 session of the legislature.

Save time! Save steps! There's no lugging heavy wet wash when you have an electric dryer

She's also doing the laundry

The modern housewife can be busy as a bee elsewhere—and still be doing the wash. All the time she needs to spend in the laundry room is just the few moments it takes to load or unload her electric washer and dryer.

Best of all, dryer-dried clothes come out soft, fluffy, and remarkably wrinkle-free. And, remember, an electric dryer is the lowest priced, the cleanest, most modern there is.

It's easy... when you dry clothes electrically

See The New Pontiac At H. O. Paul Co.

The hand-buffed leather upholstery of the Pontiac Star Chief Custom Catalina matches the two-toned exteriors. Rich carpeting and matching headlining complete the sumptuous interiors. Pontiac's new instrument panel features aircraft-type instruments mounted 90 degrees to the driver's vision and a centrally located glove compartment. Control knobs are recessed for increased safety.

109 New Features On the 1955 Pontiac

The great new 1955 Pontiac embodies more engineering advances in its mechanical make-up than has any model since the introduction of the first Pontiac car in 1926.

It has 109 new features, a number of them new to the automotive industry and all of them important to the safety, comfort, performance and appearance of Pontiac's finest car in history.

Important, this year, is Pontiac's "all new" body styling. Long, low and road-hugging, it is designed to utilize the full power of the new engine with safety and comfort to the driver.

The overall height of the new bodies is two and three-fourths inches lower while the hood line is lowered three and three-fourths inches.

The panoramic windshield and increased glass area in all windows give it a "Dream-Car" look and adds to the safety and pleasure of driving. The area of the panoramic windshield is 7.07 square feet and the area of all windows on a four-door model is over 23 square feet.

Prominent in the low silhouette of the 1955 Pontiacs is the imposing front end. A massive heavy chrome bumper in three parts protects the front fenders and radiator grille. Pontiac's famous twin Silver Streaks sweep back from the radiator grille along the hood to the windshield. Futuristic air crescents above the headlamps, new parking lamp bezels and a flying-wing hood ornament complete the modern front end.

Below the windshield, the new ventilation intake extends the width of the cowl. Well above the exhaust fumes and road dust, it admits the purest air into the car.

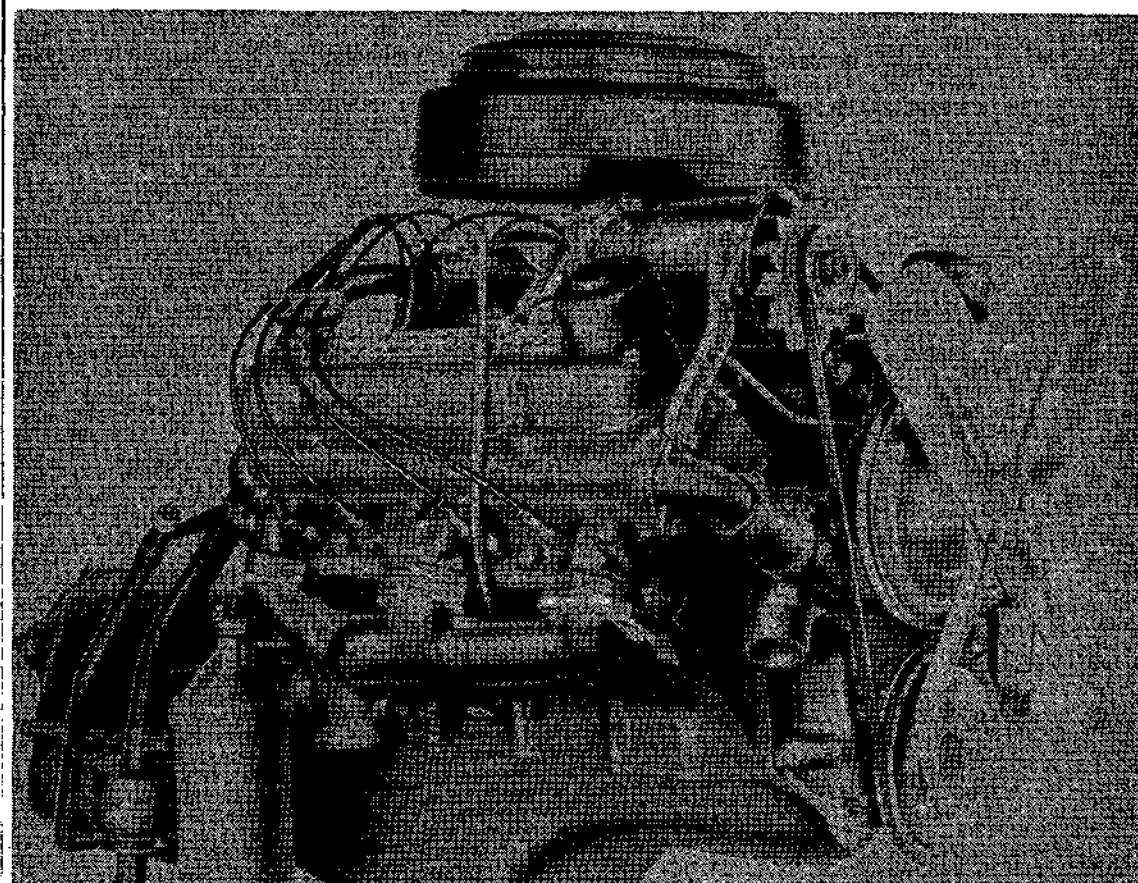

This arrangement also eliminates the longitudinal air ducts from the engine compartment making added room under the hood for the power plant.

The styling of the 1955 Pontiac is gracefully carried out by the rear-end design of the cars. The twin silver streak theme is repeated over each rear fender fin. A rich but simple trunk door handle with wing-and-circle motif add distinction to the sleek contour of the rear deck. The rear bumper consists of two impact bars to protect the rear fenders and tail lights, with raised center bar which holds the license plate bracket.

The interiors of the 1955 Pontiacs are equally striking as the new body. The front seats of all models are a full three inches wider providing a substantial increase in hip and shoulder room. There is also more head room over rear seats. Additional rear seat leg room is provided in the convertible and the three-seat station wagon.

An eye-catching new feature of the tasteful Pontiac interiors is the safety styled instrument panel. Scientific lighting, strategic placement and aircraft design of the instruments, recessed control knobs and anti-glare provisions add to driving safety.

The surface of the instrument panel sweeps across the front passenger compartment emphasizing the contour of the panoramic windshield. The top surface rises slightly over the speedometer and continues around to join with mating garnish moldings on the door for compartmentalized effect. Pontiac's new "safety arc" speedometer has a continuous red curve instead of the conventional needle to indicate speed.

Heading its new features is the 180 horsepower, overhead valve, Strato-Streak V-8 engine. This fine new power plant is Pontiac's long sought for goal of engineering a V-8 engine with high performance, stamina and economy—qualities which have made Pontiac engines famous through the years, and at the same time, have the compactness, power and quick response that modern drivers demand. The Strato-Streak, after years of development, road testing and millions of miles of dynamometer tests, meets these requirements.

The Strato-Streak with a compression ratio of 8:1 develops 180 horsepower. Its maximum torque occurs at low engine speeds. It has tin-plated aluminum pistons which have a stroke of three and one-fourth inches. The cylinders bore on the Strato-Streak is three and three-fourths inches giving the engine a displacement of 287 cubic inches.

Hydraulic valve lifters, a harmonic balancer and a completely machined anti-knock combustion chamber with large quench areas all add to the silent operation of the Strato-Streak.

Several Strato-Streak engineering advances are new to the industry, being introduced by Pontiac for the first time this year. Among these are the engine's ideal flow pattern pressure-suction crankcase ventilation which forces water vapor and gases from the crankcase. Strake.

Another is its reverse-flow gusher valve cooling system which feeds water directly from the radiator to the cylinder head, the hottest part of the engine, and from there to the cylinder block, or coolest portion, increasing cooling efficiency and decreasing chances of cylinder walls being distorted by cooler water. A third "Pontiac first" is its quad-gallery, full pressure lubrication system delivering lubricating oil under pressure to crankshaft, connecting rods, camshaft bearings and to the valve actuating mechanism. A new ball pivot valve rocker arm which requires no manual adjustment is a fourth development contributing to the superiority of the Strato-Streak.

New Pontiac Called G M Masterpiece

"The 1955 Pontiac, more than ever before, lives up to our car's reputation as 'The General Motors Masterpiece,'" Robert M. Critchfield, Pontiac General Manager and General Motors Vice-President said as the Division announced its new models. "Our designers have created an exciting combination of beauty, safety and comfort in the new Star Chief and Chieftain bodies. Improved frames and suspension provide unbelievable comfort and driving ease.

"The new Strato-Streak V-8 engine, which will set new standards of performance and economy, is produced in our new engine plant equipped with latest automatic machinery.

"We have just completed an extensive modernization and expansion program. Tool manufacturers throughout the United States who have built machines for our plants are referring to Pontiac as the showplace of the industry. These expanded, modern facilities allow our Pontiac craftsmen to build automobiles of unmatched quality in the medium price field.

"Pontiac has enjoyed a high place in the esteem of Americans since it was first introduced in 1926. Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

"One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged —its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest automobile that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer."

H. O. Paul Offering Best Deals on Used Cars

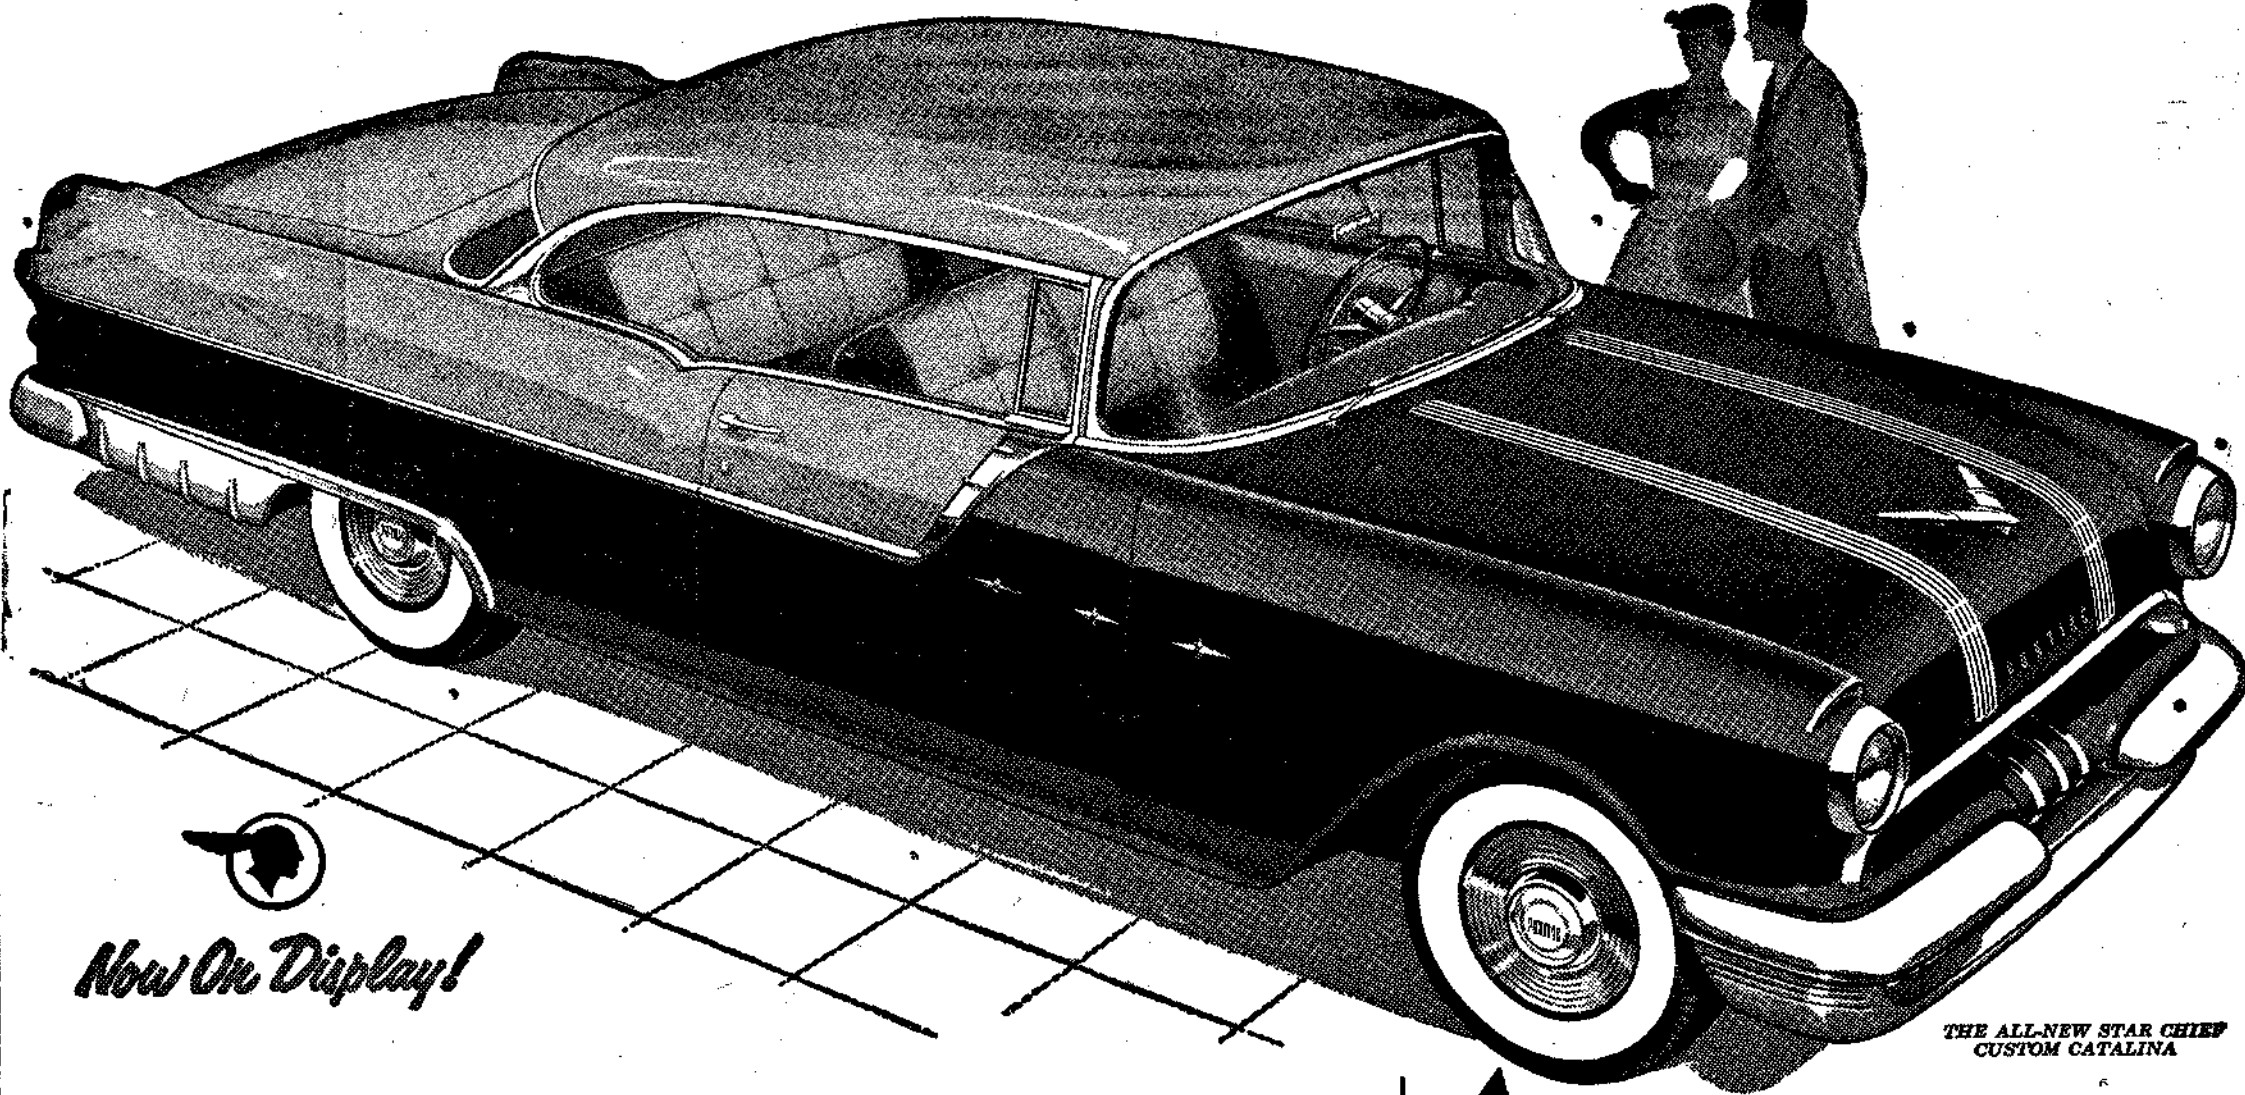

New car buyers will have a double barreled advantage when shopping for a new car this year at the H. O. Paul Company.

For, besides offering the most advanced car in the industry, the H. O. Paul Company is prepared to offer the "longest" deal in town to area buyers who are looking for the best at a moderate price.

Company officials said that their used car inventory is way down and they are prepared to offer the best trade-in deals in the area to build their inventory for the new season that looms as one of the greatest in history for Pontiac dealers.

The all new Pontiac is now on display at the H. O. Paul Company and members of the organization have issued an invitation for buyers to come in and see just what their car is worth when traded for a new Pontiac.

New Feeding Method For Calf Growth

Feeding calves a milk replacer such as Master Mix Calflac so they grow fast and stay healthy is important. However, the Master Mix folks believed there was a more natural way than ordinary pails or the buckets with nipples commonly used for feeding calves. They collaborated with a noted product designer, Robert J. Jauch of Fort Wayne, Indiana, to study the problem. Nurs-A-Calf Bag was the result of that study.

Because it's more natural, calves learn to feed quicker, they are more satisfied and bunt less.

Nurs-A-Calf Bag has a patented valve which prevents the calf from sucking air. When the bag is empty, it collapses.

The Frutchey Bean Co., Master Mix Feed dealer in this area, is now featuring the Nurs-A-Calf Bag and is stocked with new Master Mix Calflac, complete milk replacer.

14 Local Scouts At Fall Camporee

Fourteen representatives from Troop 194 of Cass City attended the annual Tuscola Fall Camporee at Camp Pine Acres near Caro Saturday and Sunday. They received training in outdoor living, through sleeping in tents they set up themselves and eating food they cooked over fires they built themselves.

During the camporee, they were guests at the dedication of the new cabin built on the banks of the Cass River by Caro scouts and scouters. Cass City scouts were invited to use the cabin for cold weather camping in the future.

During the ceremonies, a prize was presented to Jim Hutchinson of Cass City for being the first scout in the Valley Trails Council to register for the 1955 season at Camp Rotary.

The Cass City boys were led by their Scoutmaster Harold Oatley and by Explorer Douglas Glingrich, who served as assistant scoutmaster.

With Patrol Leader Robert Johnson of the Eagle patrol were the three newest members of Troop 194, who had been invested as Tenderfoot scouts only three days before. At last week's troop meeting, Ray W. Fleenor, chairman of the troop committee, presented badges to Dick Albee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Albee, Jim Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ross, and Gary Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hutchinson.

With Patrol Leader Delbert Law of the Panther patrol were scouts Bill Ross and John Starmann. The Beavers included Patrol Leader Jim Hutchinson, Newell Harris and Wesley Ball. The Wolf patrol was represented by Assistant Patrol Leader Robert Fischer and John Cottick. The cismore also included a group from Troop 160 in Caro, led by their committee chairman, Emil O. Brande, and Scoutmaster Jack C. Bell.
