

From the Editor's Corner

We congratulate Harold Oatley on his new position in the Allen Park school system. His loss will leave a gap in the school system here and will be a welcomed addition at Allen Park.

In his 11½ years in Cass City, Mr. Oatley not only has done an excellent job at the school, but has built the Cass City Scout troop to a position where it is rated as one of the best in this district.

A sad note on the Christmas projects in Cass City every year is the reports from cooperating citizens that they have had bulbs stolen.

Two displays that were robbed that we have heard of were ones at the Methodist Church and Fritz Neitzel's.

We don't believe that the thievery was as bad this year as it was last Christmas. Perhaps with cooperation of parents and law enforcement officials the situation can be eliminated next Christmas.

Joyce Donnelly Wins Scholarship For 4-H Work

Joyce Donnelly of Cass City is one of six Michigan 4-H Club girls who will each receive a $100 scholarship award as state winners of three achievement award programs.

The other state winners are: Nancy Vandell Giessen, Scotts, Kalamazoo County; Annabelle Enz, Woodland, Barry County; Patricia Green, Woodland, Barry County; Barbara Erik, Sherwood, Branch County, and Grace Langendorf, Iron River, Iron County.

Joyce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Donnelly. She has been a 4-H Club member for eight years and is a twelfth grade student at Cass City High School.

Nancy and Annabelle, as county cereal activity winners, were chosen as the outstanding girls in the food preparation project which emphasized the use of cereals. They will receive glassware as their county award and $100 scholarships as the state award.

Patricia and Barbara were the two outstanding girls in the state who emphasized baking in their food preparation projects. As county winners they received baking sets and $100 scholarships as state winners.

In the jam and jelly activity of the advanced preservation project, Grace and Joyce were chosen as state winners of the $100 scholarship. Winners in their respective counties, they were awarded jam and jelly making equipment. All county and state awards were donated by the General Foods Corporation, White Plains, N. Y.

Other county winners in this program were Grace Donnelly, Cass City, who won the cereal activity award, and Lois McMullen, Mayville, who won the baking activity award.

Sackrider Heads Polio Drive in Tuscola County

Although Elkland Township's contribution to the March of Dimes is taken care of by the Community Chest drive, other areas in Tuscola County start the drive for funds this week.

Howard Sackrider of Caro is again chairman of the polio fund drive in the county.

The national goal for funds is $65 million and Michigan's goal is $3 million. No specific goal has been set for counties, but Mr. Sackrider said that the more money obtained, the greater will be the possibilities of conquering the crippling disease.

A "Mothers' March on Polio" will be conducted in the county, he said, as will be the case all over the nation on the same day.

"Last year the mothers did an exceptionally good job," he said, "and we are counting on them again for one of the major efforts of the campaign."

Last month the Tuscola County chapter received a check for $7,800 from national headquarters to help pay a part of the bills incurred for patients locally and there is still $2,132.81 in bills owed by the chapter after applying the large check to unpaid bills.

Following is a list of the area chairmen in the county who will be responsible for fund collections during the campaign which ends January 31:

Akron, Mrs. Claire McPherson; Fairgrove, Mrs. E. C. Wolverson; Unionville, Mrs. Peter Schuch; Vassar, Mrs. Opal Servis; Millington, Mrs. Wallace Osborn; Tuscola, Henry Aldrich; Richville, Mrs. Roland Sigelko; Reese, Mrs. Charles Prior; Kingston, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller; Kingston, Mrs. William Schwaderer; Mayville, Mrs. Harold Maier; Deford, Mrs. [Name obscured].

Sandusky Voters Approve Tax Levy

Sandusky voters approved continuation of an extra two-mill tax levy for five years by a 167 to 16 margin in a special election held Tuesday.

The money will complete financing of the construction of a new municipal library building in Sandusky.

A three-fifths majority was needed to carry. Mayor Orval Finkbeiner said construction of the building will probably start this week.

Wednesday Busy Day in Circuit Court

Several cases were heard in Tuscola County Circuit Court Wednesday before Judge Timothy C. Quinn.

Donald Budeau of Vassar, who had been on probation for stealing a drill from the Vassar Hardware Company in July, heard Judge Quinn revoke his probation.

Mr. Budeau is in jail while his case has been taken under consideration. At the time of his original sentencing, Mr. Budeau was fined $250 and costs of $250.

Since his release on probation, he has failed to pay the fine or costs and has not been reporting to the probation officer.

Gerald A. Causley, who pleaded guilty of forging checks with his father's name in December, was fined $100 and costs of $100 and ordered to make restitution of $150 at $15 a month.

Three Tuscola County residents were sent to jail by Judge Quinn for failure to pay alimony. Donald Carlisle received a sentence of one year. Emerald Malory was sentenced to 60 days and Robert Walker was jailed while his case was taken under advisement.

Donald C. McNeil was divorced from Venetta M. McNeil.

In the case of Donald Gunsell of Sebewaing against Walter Wilcox of Tuscola County, Judge Quinn allowed a motion to be dismissed to be presented.

Gunsell is trying to collect money he said he spent to appear in justice court after a complaint had been signed by Mr. Wilcox for petty larceny.

When he appeared in justice court, Mr. Wilcox failed to appear and the case was dismissed. Gunsell claims that he spent $168 to appear in court.

Hawks Resume Title Chase at Crosswell-Lex.

The Cass City High School basketball team will return to competition tonight in their first game since the Christmas holidays when they travel to Crosswell-Lexington for a league game.

Currently, the Hawks share first place in the league with Bad Axe. Both teams are undefeated and the two games they play together will have an important bearing on determining the champion for 1954-55.

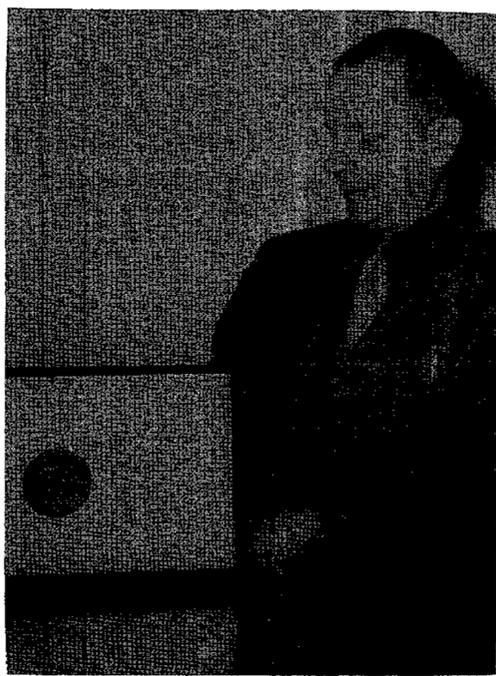

But Coach Irv Claseman is not looking past tonight's game with the Pioneers, who have a sound team that always has improved as the season progresses.

The Hawks will reign as favorites to remain undefeated tonight on the basis of previous games.

They have defeated Marlette, Vassar and Sandusky and lost to Mt. Pleasant, the fourth ranked team in the state, in their most recent game.

Coach Claseman will probably go along with the same five that have been starting all year. Dick Donahue will be at center, Jack Clara and Clare Comment at guards and Don Simmons and Bill Tuckey at forwards.

Tuesday night, the Hawks will play their first home game since the holidays when they play Yale in a league tilt.

The plaque reads: "In recognition of its contribution to and membership in a production team responsible for an achievement unparalleled in industrial history... the building by General Motors in the United States of fifty million motor vehicles."

After Over Eleven Years Here

Oatley to Accept Allen Park Position

Harold Oatley, teacher and scoutmaster in Cass City for 11½ years, has been offered the position of assistant principal of the high school at Allen Park in Wayne County. He has asked the local board of education for release from his contract here on Jan. 21, the end of the first semester, and plans to begin work in his new position on Jan. 31.

He will give full time to the development of curriculum, improvements of guidance practices, study of attendance and other pupil problems, and supervision of student activities. Allen Park High School now has 950 students in the upper four grades, will reach 1,350 in two years, and is expected soon to surpass 2000 pupils, according to W. C. Harris, superintendent of schools in Allen Park.

Mr. Oatley, who had been recommended by the assistant superintendent of public instruction, was one of seven candidates who were interviewed by the Allen Park Board of Education. Mr. Harris made inspection visits to Cass City and other high schools represented. Mr. Oatley stated to the Chronicle that he felt certain his selection was due partly to the fine reputation the local school has earned under the leadership of Superintendent Wilis Campbell and Principals Arthur Holmberg and Marie Murray. He also expressed his appreciation for the fine understanding and cooperation given by the Cass City school board to many plans for improving the local high school during his service here.

Harold Oatley graduated from Central Michigan College of Education at Mount Pleasant and received his Master's degree in secondary administration and guidance from the University of Michigan, where he was elected to Phi Delta Kappa. He taught in rural schools at Mesick Consolidated Schools and in Traverse City Public Schools before coming to Cass City. Here he served at first as teacher of social studies. He has been dean of boys and recently has been general science teacher and assistant principal.

Mr. Oatley said that he very much regrets leaving Cass City, which has so well deserved its title of the "Friendly Town" that he now thinks of it as his home town. Here he met Marion Milligan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Milligan, then teaching English at the high school. In 1945 she became Mrs. Oatley. It was not easy to decide to leave, he stated, but his duty to his family and his own professional future compelled him to accept this opportunity when it was offered.

He was enlisted as scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 194 immediately after arrival in Cass City and has continued to serve. He has also been active in the Valley Trails Club, serving on the staff of Camp Rotary near Clare for eight summers and giving leadership to the camping society, the Order of the Arrow.

He was elected to the Gavel Club in November 1948, two months after its founding. He has been first aid chairman of the Tuscola Red Cross for ten years and has taught 15 first aid classes for the chapter.

Law Requiring Mud Guards in Effect

Truck operators are reminded by State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs that the new law requiring mud guards or similar equipment on their vehicles went into effect January 1.

The law, an amendment of the state motor vehicle code, was enacted at the last session of the legislature. It provides that every commercial vehicle and every combination of a commercial vehicle and trailer or of a truck tractor and semi-trailer when used on a highway shall be so constructed or equipped, or so operated, as to prevent water or other road surface substances from being thrown from the rear wheels at tangents exceeding 22½ degrees measured from the road surface.

If a flap mud guard is used, the law prohibits having attached to it any type of lamp or reflective material or buttons. Neither can the device extend beyond the 96-inch maximum width of the vehicle.

Snover Youth Pinned Five Hours Under Tractor

Robert Shaw, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Shaw of Snover, is recovering from exposure and near frostbite in Marlette Community Hospital after he was pinned for five hours in icy water up to his neck in a deep drainage ditch early Sunday.

A tractor Bob was driving went into the 10-foot deep drainage ditch about 200 feet from Germania Road, two miles west of Snover.

The accident occurred when the farm youth was making the rounds of his trap line about 6:30 a. m. The tractor had hit a bump and Bob was looking back to see if a muskrat he trapped had been jostled from the tractor when he slid into the ditch.

He was prevented from jumping by the winter cab on the tractor. He was knocked unconscious and when he came to, he found himself up to his neck in icy water with his foot pinned between the right tractor fender and pulley.

Bob's parents became alarmed when he failed to return and his father set out on another tractor to find him.

At 11:30 a. m. he found the boy and tried to roll the overturned tractor off his son, who told him it would take two big tractors to do the job.

Keith Shaw returned a mile to his home and telephoned neighbors who brought tractors and helped rescue the boy.

While in the water, Bob had tried to signal passing trucks and cars with a flashlight and shouts without success.

Bob celebrated his sixteenth birthday Thursday.

County's Average Man Earns $105,000

Men living and working in and around Tuscola County have prospects for lifetime earnings, under present economic conditions, of $105,000 on the average.

This measure of what the average man is worth these days, from an earnings' standpoint, is based on figures supplied by the U. S. Census Bureau and on other studies.

The effects of inflation considered, his present economic stature is more than double what it was 15 years ago, according to the report.

The spectacular improvement in the lot of man in this country since the last World War is attributed to several factors. Among them are the rising educational level and skill of the working population, the marked increase in national productivity, better health and the longer span of life.

The value of education is dollars and cents and is brought home forcefully by the Census Bureau. It shows that prospective earnings rise rapidly with education. College graduates earn two-thirds more than high school graduates who, in turn, earn one-third more than high school and three ounces.

Traffic Slowed by Icy Road Conditions

The Cass City area is suffering from a prolonged siege of extremely icy roads that old-time residents say are the worst in their recollection.

The condition of the roads forced Cass City Schools to close Wednesday, after only about 80 per cent of the pupils were able to get to the buses from their farm homes.

Other neighboring communities' schools and rural schools had been closed for several days.

A freezing rain Wednesday on top of glare-ice roads prompted Supt. Willis Campbell to close the Cass City Schools.

School bus drivers reported that they had very little control over their vehicles on some of the roads they were forced to travel.

One of the buses turned sideways in the road while trying to creep down a slight hill and had to be hauled away with a wrecker. The bus was undamaged and no children were in the bus when it slipped on the ice.

Guy Landon, who has been carrying mail from the Cass City post office for 40 years, says that the roads are the worst he can remember.

"We've had days that the roads were as bad as this before," he said, "but never for as many days as this ice has lasted."

Mr. Landon asked for the cooperation of rural home owners at the Community Club meeting Tuesday night. He said that all carriers in the area would be helped if straw or ashes were placed in front of the mailboxes to give traction for cars.

The carriers report that the icy roads have nearly doubled the route time each day. Milk haulers and others forced on the roads reported similar difficulties.

Little Change In Marriages Or Divorces

Applications for marriage licenses and divorces in Tuscola County are close to figures compiled in 1953, according to information released this week at the courthouse.

A check of the files at the county clerk's office showed that 271 applications for marriage were received in 1954 as against 278 in 1953.

John Humm, friend of the court, said that 97 applications for divorce had been received in 1954 as against 98 in 1953.

Divorce applications, he said, had dwindled sharply in the last quarter of 1954. Earlier in the year, divorces were considerably ahead of 1953 and Mr. Humm thought that well over 100 would be recorded until the last quarter decline left the number almost the same as 1953.

Quick Voters to Decide Annexation

Voters in the Quick school district will decide whether or not to join the newly organized Deford area consolidated school district at a meeting to be held at the school Tuesday, Jan. 11, according to an announcement made by Director Robert Phillips.

At the meeting a vote will be taken to decide for or against annexation.

Harold Mills, 22, Injured in Accident

Harold K. Mills, 22, of Cass City suffered cuts on the forehead and a sprained ankle when he lost control of his car on East Cass City Road, about two blocks east of the M-81 and M-53 intersection, Sunday.

The car skidded into a roadside ditch and hit a tree and telephone pole. Mr. Mills was treated at Pleasant Home Hospital.

Mr. Mills told Bad Axe State Police that the car went out of control when he applied the brakes on the icy surface.

The crash broke the telephone pole and Mr. Mills' car was a total wreck, State Police said.

At Cass City Community Club Emerson Scott Shows Travel Film

Emerson Scott, well-known lecturer from Caro, entertained members of the Cass City Community Club Tuesday night with a film and commentary on "Adventure in Colorado."

The film showed pictures of animals native to Colorado and scenic views of the country.

In one sequence, he showed pictures of baby antelope captured by the conservation department of the state and in another, close-up views of mountain goats.

The last half of these outstanding pictures depicted a boat ride down a river through Dinosaur National Park. The film featured the thrills of shoot rapids between massifishing in Jones Creek, an outstanding trout stream that cannot be reached by automobile.

Mr. Scott told members of the club that he spent eight and a half months in Colorado and shot 17,000 feet of film in taking the pictures he presented Tuesday.

He said that he has shown the film to several schools in Colorado, in addition to his numerous speaking engagements in Michigan and vicinity.

Supreme Court Upholds Phone Rate Boost

According to a decision by the State Supreme Court Wednesday, Dec. 29, residents in the Cass City area served by the General Telephone Company of Michigan will continue to pay current rates for phone service.

The company has been charging a rate that brings in $1,100,000 more gross revenue than rates prior to July 30, 1953, when the company increased its rates after the increase had been found permissible in Ingram County Circuit Court.

The company had gone to the court after the Michigan Public Service Commission, in an order dated Dec. 5, 1952, had ruled that the increase in rates should be held to $660,000 yearly.

After the circuit court had ruled that the commission's ruling was "unreasonable, unlawful and confiscatory," the commission ruled on page ten.

The list includes the USA-Canadian border, the Great Lakes and several other key waterways.

SHORT STORY

New Suit

By Sally E. Eads

I WAS waiting by the car when Daddy came out of the house. I told him about the suit at Daulton's store that was marked down to ten dollars and was just my size. But he said he could not get the suit for me. Too many other things to buy.

"But, Daddy, since we've moved to town, I've got to dress better than I did on the farm," I protested. "The town boys'll make fun of me if I don't."

Mother came to the door and said something about a chicken, and Daddy nodded.

"Well, you know those chickens on the farm that roosted in the barn, and we couldn't catch them when we moved to town?"

"Yes, Daddy, I remember them."

"They're as wild as pheasants," Daddy went on. "If you'll run out to the farm and catch one for your mother, I'll give you a dollar. In fact, I'll give you a dollar each for every one of those chickens you bring home."

"Whoop-ee!" I yelled, and my parents laughed.

After Daddy had gone, I got an ear of corn and a ball of twine. I drilled a hole in a grain of corn and ran twine through the hole and tied it. Then I unwound about twenty feet of twine from the ball and cut it off. I kept on till I had twenty strings with corn made fast to one end. Then I lit out to the farm. When I arrived, there wasn't a chicken in sight. But I went to the old beech tree in the meadow and tied twenty pieces of twine to as many low limbs. If I could scare a chicken up to that tree and she swallowed a grain of corn, I'd get me a dollar, as sure as anything. Because with a grain of corn with a string to it in the chickens' gizzard and the other end of the string in my hand, I could lead her home without hurting the chicken. I scattered corn all around the tree, and went out in search of chickens.

Not far away, I found the flock, and sailed a stone amongst them. You should have seen them scatter. And just as I had hoped, they went to the beech tree. I hurried after them, and sure enough, three frying size roosters were trying to get loose from the twine they had swallowed. I untied the tree-end of the twine and led the three chickens to the barn, where I fastened them in the crib, and went back to the beech tree.

Two pullets had swallowed my twine-tied corn. But to my disgust, a crow had gotten one of the stringed grains of corn and he was fussing and flopping till he had scared off all the other chickens. I cut the crow's string loose right at his beak and told him to go. And he went.

After I had led the last three chickens to the barn, I had to search for the others. I thought I would never find them. I had built up my hopes about making enough money to pay for the suit. Now, I was discouraged. I hunted all over the fields, but could see no sign of a chicken. Then I heard a cackle and hurried back to the beech tree. When I came in sight, I was almost overcome with joy. I had caught six more chickens.

Unless you happen to be another boy about to get a much needed new suit, you can't imagine how happy I was, as I led those eleven fat fryers down the highway. I led six by strings of twine in one hand, and five in the other.

When I reached home, Daddy was there. He and mother both came out to see my catch. Mother said, "Oh, Well!" but Daddy just grinned.

"Eleven dollars worth of chickens, Daddy," I told him. "Ten dollars for my suit and one for my pocket."

Daddy shoved his old hat to the back of his head and took out his billfold. "That was the agreement, son," he said as he handed me eleven dollars.

Running for political office takes a man into the open and often leaves him there.

Did you know that Americans ate about five and one-half billion pints of ice cream, sherbet and other frozen dairy foods last year? That's the second highest amount ever recorded.

To keep that Christmas poinsettia in condition for blooming again next year, give it much light during the day and complete darkness through long nights. Protect it from drafts and extremes of temperature.

CARS ARE MY LINE

By H. M. Bulen

One of the rules every car owner knows is that oil should be changed regularly and often. It's one of the easiest and most effective ways of keeping up a car, yet every once in a while we hear of an "economy minded" motorist who thinks oil doesn't need to be changed.

The exacting job assigned to motor oil helps explain why it has to be up to par. When the gasoline vapor in an automobile cylinder is firing, the oil between the moving piston and the cylinder wall is exposed to flame of more than 3000 degrees Fahrenheit and pressure of more than 700 pounds per square inch.

Yet one drop of oil will lubricate an engine for 600 of these explosions.

The bottom piston ring does the job of scraping excess oil off the cylinder before it can get into the combustion chamber (and cause that telltale blue smoke from the exhaust). The motorist who runs on old oil soon finds plugged oil holes or stuck piston rings.

You can expect to use a quart of oil every 600 to 1200 miles in a new passenger car, but poor driving can make a good car eat up oil like a youngster with a bowl of ice cream. High speeds in low or second gears for example, throw a lot of oil on to engine parts and some cars will use 6 to 8 times more oil at 70 as at 40.

The best way to cut down oil problems, and all problems of car ownership, is to make sure you're buying a sound car in the first place. This is our job, bringing reliable cars on to our lot, cars that have served another owner well and have been spruced up to tip-top shape before they're ever displayed. You buy a car whose name you know for reliability; buying from a dealer who has a reputation to maintain is good sense too.

We now have one expert mechanic whose sole job is to put our Used Cars and Trucks in the best possible condition, and, he is doing a swell job. Besides, we guarantee every car and truck (over $300.) in writing. Our ambition is to deserve the reputation of being the best place to buy a used car in this part of Michigan.

Here is a good example. Mayor James Bauer's (The Candy King) 1952 Chevrolet Deluxe Four Door Sedan. This car has the famous Air Flow Heater, Deluxe Radio, Underseating, very good tires. Jim seldom drove it over 100 MPH either. We would be glad to demonstrate it for you.

What's the NEW news in the '55 cars?

Is it V-8 Power?
 Ford has had it since 1932
 Ford was first to offer a V-8 engine in a low-priced car. And since the original Ford V-8 was introduced in 1932 more than 14,000,000 Ford V-8's have been built. This is more V-8's than all other manufacturers combined.

Is it Ball-Joint Suspension?
 Ford had it in 1954
 Ford introduced Ball-Joint Front Suspension to the low-price field in 1954. This superior type of suspension is the most advanced chassis design in 20 years. And now, it's standard.

Is it suspended pedals?
 Ford introduced them in 1952
 Introduced in the 1952 models, Ford was first in the low-price field with suspended pedals. This advanced type of pedals eliminates the space for the driver's feet and eliminates dusty, drafty holes in the floorboard. Suspended pedals are extremely easy to adjust.

Is it oil and battery signal lights, curved instrument panel, rotary door latches, push-button door handles, power-lifts for all windows, Overdrive, Hotchkiss Drive?
 Ford has had all of them, too!

Is it hood-high fenders?
 Ford introduced them in 1952
 The 1952 Ford brought a new look to the American car. The long, low look of the car. This styling innovation met the demand for a more modern, more aerodynamic design.

The NEWS is Thunderbird Styling
 It's not the look you saw in any of last year's cars. It's the new look inspired by the Thunderbird. And it set the styling for Ford's '55 lines.

The NEWS is Trigger-Torque Power
 It's trigger-quick "GO" which can obey your commands in 7/100 of a second—four times faster than you can wink.

Slate Free Film at Methodist Church

The new motion picture, "John Wesley," is coming to Cass City. It will be shown at the local Methodist Church on Sunday, Jan. 16, at 6 p. m. and again at 8 p. m., according to the pastor, Rev. Floyd Wilfred Porter.

The feature-length film is in the new Eastman color and was produced by the Methodist Church in cooperation with J. Arthur Rank. It brings to the screen for the first time the story of the dynamic and colorful 18th century evangelist and educator.

The film was described by Life magazine as "deeply moving." Newsweek praised its "superb photography." The Hollywood Citizen-News describes it as "one of the most inspiring, heart-warming films ever produced in the interests of a church." The Roman Catholic Our Sunday Visitor calls it "a good example of positive filmmaking," while the Protestant Motion Picture Council hails it as "one of the most valuable religious films of our times."

The public is invited to see this remarkable new film at either showing. No admission charge is made, but an offering will be received toward the expense.

SHORT STORY

Straw Boss

By Hal Borden

AT FIRST Mabel Turner had been overjoyed to find the "For Sale" sign tacked to the clapboards of the Cape Cod cottage. Even more so when Stuart Clark, young freelance architect, had offered to move out almost immediately.

But now the pleasure seemed to pass. In all her twenty-four years she couldn't recall having seen any one so discouraged as the young man before her. Earlier the real estate man had told her Stuart was a returned POW recuperating from the Korean ordeal. He had been left with a five-year-old son following his wife's accidental death.

It seemed like misfortune had literally rained upon him for all the major builders had rejected his low-cost housing plans. "It's harmful," she said, "To just quit this way. Why, your model houses are wonderful. There must be someone—"

Stu looked up at her sharply. His face still thin and gaunt. "Every major builder has had a look at them," he said with bitterness. "Now what," she asked simply. "He shrugged his thin shoulders. "I'll probably become a floor walker in one of Uncle Lloyd's department stores." And there was sarcasm hidden in his voice.

The heavy silence was shattered by five-year-old Bobby who, in a world of his own, was playing with one of his father's model dwellings.

Mabel was forced to smile at the way Bobby was directing his imaginary workmen about the tiny house. Then she turned back to Stu. "That playacting helps to fill in the blank spaces of his life," she said.

"From here on in there will be no blank spaces in his life if I can help it. He'll have to learn to like Uncle Lloyd."

Mabel said a shaky goodbye when Stu handed her the key to the cottage, told her where things could be found and what repairs should be attended to.

In the weeks following she thrust herself into her new home and her town job. Loneliness seemed to melt away during the busy, spring days.

Her surprise engulfed her when Stu and Bobby drove up one Sunday afternoon.

"Just in time for lunch you two," was her happy greeting. "Toss your coats over any chair."

"We'll have to skip lunch," Stu told her. "We've just come after that fool model house for one thing. Bobby seems lost without it."

"Then you're lucky I saved it!" Mabel answered. Remembering secretly how she had carefully packed it away, Bobby's eyes lit up at the sight of it.

"Uncle Lloyd bought him a big new one," Stu stammered, "but Bobby didn't care for it so he—"

She never finished.

Silence again shrouded the cottage and somehow Bobby had momentarily been forgotten. Now, softly and industriously, his voice came through the open window leading off the porch.

They both watched silently as the five-year-old boss put the finishing touches on the model home. To his workmen he was issuing orders.

"—and if daddy doesn't marry Miss Mabel and we have to go back to that big spooky house, I want you men to take good care of this house and see that Miss Mabel always has a nice place to live."

Mabel lifted her tear-joggled eyes away from the scene and started to walk away from the open window, but when she turned she saw that Stu had removed his coat and had tossed it over the back of a familiar chair. His hand reached out and took her arm and before she could speak, he kissed her.

"I can't let those tiny workmen do it all alone," he said. "I think we'll all have to pitch in and help out, darling."

"Then after he kissed her again, he straightened up and asked like a hungry bear. "But first, what about that invitation to lunch?"

Dairy Barn Tour Slated in County

A dairy barn tour has been scheduled for Tuscola County dairymen, says Quentin R. Ostrander, assistant county agricultural agent.

The tour will be held Monday, Jan. 10, starting at 1 p. m. There will be three stops on the tour.

The first stop will be at the Ronald Opperman farm, three miles east of Vassar on M-38 and one and a half miles south on Craig Road. Opperman is milking 65 cows in a six-stall milking parlor equipped with a pipe-line milker. He has a new pole barn and has just completed a pole type self-feeding hay barn and a 350-ton capacity horizontal silo.

The second stop, scheduled at 2:15 p. m., will be at the Milton Schian farm on M-81, one-quarter mile west of the junction of M-81 and Vassar Road. Here visitors will see a small stanchion barn housing 25 cows. The barn is equipped with a gutter cleaner and a ventilation system. Mr. Schian also has a bulk tank milk cooling system. Mr. Schian is getting excellent production from his herd by feeding a low protein grain ration with good quality hay and corn silage.

The third stop, scheduled at 3:15 p. m., will be at the Howard Foster farm on Hinson Road, one mile south of M-81. This stop will feature a fine herd of registered Holstein cattle housed in a remodeled pen barn. Discussion at this stop will deal with ways of converting stanchion barns to pen barns.

According to Ostrander, the following specialists from Michigan State College will be on the tour: Art Bell, farm buildings specialist, who will discuss barn remodeling and labor saving equipment; and Milton Erdmann, farm crops specialist, will discuss hay and pasture mixtures for good roughage.

WINPOWER ROTARY CULTIVATOR

GIVE CROPS A FASTER START

PAYS OFF WITH BIGGER YIELDS

Knock the weeds out of your growing crops with a Winpower Rotary Cultivator. The off-set "cross-cut" tooth action gives you greater soil disturbance and better cultivation. Break crusts, break clods, pulverize the soil the way you like it. Crops grow faster—stay greener with this type of cultivation.

Come and see for yourself how this tillage tool makes bigger, better crops. See the heavy-duty construction that will give you years of trouble-free service. Give your crops this faster, cleaner start with a WINPOWER Rotary Cultivator.

"CROSS-CUT" ACTION KNOCKS OUT WEEDS
See the off-set "Cross-Cut" tooth arrangement on the rim. That's the secret of better weeding and cultivation. Pat. No. 2,550,859

We wish to announce that we have taken over the sale of Winpower Rotary Cultivators in this vicinity.

We have been seeing this revolutionary method of cultivating row crops thru the use of the WinPower rotary cultivators all over the Corn Belt the past couple years while traveling out through that section buying threshers, and the owners have reported such satisfactory results from the use of these wonderful implements that we have decided to bring them to this part of Michigan.

A lot of us will recall in the mid twenties the wind driven propeller type generator that perched on the ridgepole of our house and furnished current to recharge our radio battery. WinPower Co. furnished a lot of these generators and that is when the Company got started and how it got its name.

Since then this company has made a practice of developing and marketing items of farm equipment that give better results and usually for less money than similar items made elsewhere. Such a development is the WinPower Rotary Cultivator.

We will have these implements on hand and ask that you stop in and look them over, they may be the answer to your row crop cultivating problems. Stop at the shop any week day, always someone around. Or a postcard will bring catalog and price list, without obligation.

State Government reform movements under the "Little Hoover" Commission have taken a new turn.

After five years the State Legislature Committee on State Government Reorganization disbanded; turned over 30 reports to the full legislature.

"Our job is finished and it's now up to the legislature," said Senator Frank Andrews (R-Hillman).

Reforms in every major facet of government were proposed in the study which started with researchers who dug out the facts and passed them on with recommendations to a citizens' advisory committee.

The group of citizens, all leaders in labor, industry, education and business, worked over the reports from the researchers and passed on the modified recommendations to the legislative group.

Lawmakers gave the reports a third screening, then recommended them as statutes.

Major reforms have been few and far between, but both Democrats and Republicans agree that those which did become law have made state government more efficient and have realized some economies.

"An example is the records center, which saves office space and makes old records available in a central filing system," Andrews said. "This alone is saving thousands of dollars each year."

Among important recommendations ignored so far by the legislature are abolition of the elective auditor-general in favor of a legislative auditor; the centering of all administrative power in the governor.

Andrews said he would ask for a special legislative committee to press for all the reforms recommended by the commission.

Prison inmates were given a testimonial turkey dinner for working overtime to finish a $45,000 farm dormitory at Jackson State Prison.

The building was one of several spread over the prison system to ease the overcrowding crisis.

Prison officials wanted the building completed before the year.

They used inmate labor to trim the costs and to speed up the work.

By working overtime and during lunch periods and on their free days, the more than 30 prisoners finished the job well ahead of schedule.

"They worked hard for us and we want to show them that we appreciate it," said John J. Spencer, assistant corrections director in charge of institutions.

The dean of Michigan prisoners, Tony Duley, is starting his 48th year behind bars for a 1907 murder in Oscoda.

He has long since been eligible for commutation of his sentence by the governor, the first step toward freedom. He is 69 years old.

Now feeble and frail, Duley has been promised a home for the rest of his days by a South Haven family, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Baron, who became his first visitors in 10 years in 1952.

There have been roadblocks to Tony's release, but he is still hopeful. Prison officials say he has paid his penalty and law enforcement officers have no objections to his release, probably in June.

Until then, Tony is "just waiting for another chance," hoping it won't come too late.

Michigan is rallying its people for the annual week in which the state's products are promoted, from the crops grown on the farm to the automobiles built in the cities.

Veterans organizations and the state's 1,200 service clubs are the latest to pledge their help.

Merrill Graham of Concord is chairman of the Michigan Week Council of Service Clubs. A regular speaker before service clubs and a Michigan booster, he said:

"We want to mobilize the service clubs throughout the state as a tremendous force in the 1955

Michigan Week Campaign.

"Michigan Week (May 15-21) is intended to build loyalty and pride in our state and greater knowledge of its wonderful advantages. We want to mobilize every county."

Graham started work on his part in the project with top men from the following clubs: Zonta International; Kiwanis International; Altrusa International; Michigan Association of High Twelve Clubs; Toastmasters International; Michigan State Exchange Club; Civitan International; Optimist International; Michigan Business and Professional Women's Clubs; Rotary International; Lions Clubs, and the Michigan Pils Club.

Veterans organizations have been organized to depict the role Michigan has played in keeping America free since the Revolutionary War when the state was a territory.

"The potentialities of the co-operation of these two great groups is almost beyond estimate," said Graham.

Hope may be an excellent tonic, but it makes a poor diet.

Tests show that filberts, almonds and peanuts keep better than pecans and walnuts. All nuts keep best unsalted, at cool temperatures and in tight containers.

The child who does not come when he is called; the child who is restless or inattentive in school; the child who does not follow directions; the child who has a strained facial expression—these children are not necessarily disobedient or naughty; they may be hard of hearing.

Weigh Milk to
Cull Poor Cows

With the start of the new year, it's a good time for farmers to make a profitable resolution for their dairy herds.

That's advice from Tuscola County Assistant Agricultural Agent Quentin R. Ostrander. He says dairy herd improvement association records show that cows producing less than 250 pounds of butterfat seldom return a profit above the cost of feed.

The agricultural agent says that many farmers pick one or two days a month to weigh milk. So for folks not already following that practice now is a good time to get started.

Production records give a much better basis for careful feeding of concentrates, the agent says.

With lower milk prices it is much more important to have some way of knowing the amount of grain to feed. Ostrander says there is always a tendency to overfeed the low producing animals and underfeed the high producers.

Ostrander suggests feeding about one pound of grain for each four pounds of milk produced per day for Holsteins. Slightly larger amounts are needed for the higher testing breeds.

A new publication at the county agricultural agent's office gives details about the social security program for farmers. Ask for Extension Folder F-189.

Farmer Excellent
Risk for Credit
Credit Association
Records Tell Story

Farmers are excellent credit risks says a recent editorial in the National Live Stock Producer, which cites a 20-year-old record with Production Credit Associations to prove the point.

During the past 20 years, it is reported, farmers borrowed $12.4 billion in 4,830,000 loans through PCA. Losses, including a set aside for reverses, have been less than 1/4 of 1 per cent.

Records established over a 20-year period indicate that the American farmer is one of the best credit risks in the nation. Arrangements which set up Production Credit Association have proved profitable both for the farmer and the national economy.

The PCA system was created in 1934 with $90 million in federal funds and authority to borrow 10 times that amount. The purpose was to loan money to farmers for short term needs such as feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock and machinery.

Borrowers became members of PCA and invested 5 per cent of the amount of their loans in stocks leading to eventual farmer ownership of the entire system.

The arrangement proved profitable both for the government and the taxpayers. All but $4,610,500 of the original $90 million has been repaid with interest. Only 217 per cent of the original capitalization has not been amortized. In addition, local PCA's have built up over $85.7 million in reserves with total borrowing power of $1.7 billion.

Farm Enlargement
Trend Continuing

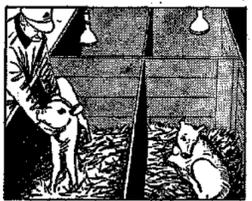

Although the number of farms in the United States is dwindling each year, the farm enlargement trend continues, which means that, though there are fewer farms, there are bigger farms.

Continuation of the trend toward farms of a more economic size, which between 1935 and 1950 helped to reduce the number of American farms by nearly one and one half million or 20 per cent, is disclosed in the latest survey of the farm real estate market by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This study reports that nearly a third of the farms which changed hands in the year ended last March were acquired to enlarge existing farms. This proportion exceed that of any previous year. The farm-enlargement trend was most pronounced in the Wheat and Corn Belts, where the high degree of mechanization of production has made larger scale farming particularly advantageous.

In the wheat areas alone, more than two-fifths of the farms acquired in recent years have been for consolidation purposes.

Draft-Free Pens

One farmer who decided it was costly to lose food heifer calves designed the above draft-free pens. Pens are about three feet deep, three feet wide, and about five feet long. Sides are solid, so that opening and closing of barn doors while doing chores doesn't cause drafts. Heat lamps hung over the pens when calves are young and when it's extremely cold, help prevent pneumonia and other winter calf killers.

In case you have so quickly forgotten, we want to mention that "Pappy" Landon threw those games together for a nice fat total of 583 to hold the top spot in this department for the evening. PHONE RATES

Spokesmen for the phone company said that they have been using the money to improve and expand telephone service in the territory it serves.

They said that the number of applicants waiting for phone service had been reduced 45.6 per cent, although there are still some 1,942 applicants waiting for service in the company's territory.

Before the last rate increase in 1953, persons from many of the exchanges had appeared before the commission and protested the lack of service given by the company.

CHOSEN—Marion Pike, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pike, Fairgrove, who was selected as International Farm Youth Exchange Delegate for 1955. She is one of four Michigan youth to receive the award.

Need Good Fleeces
For Best Price

Tuscola County wool growers will be wise to market good quality, well put-up fleeces and get the best possible price for them, even though the government guarantees 62 cents a pound.

That's a tip from Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. The government will average the prices paid all growers during the year. Then the payment made will be the difference between the average price and 62 cents.

But if a grower can get the best possible price for his fleeces, he may get more than 62 cents a pound, Ballweg explains.

Donald H. Stark, a Michigan State College agricultural economist, puts it this way:

If the government says the average price is 50 cents a pound, growers would get the difference between 50 cents and 62 cents a pound for the wool they sell. That's the difference of 24 per cent.

So if a grower received 60 cents a pound for his wool on the market, he still would get an additional 24 per cent government payment. That would mean more than 74 cents a pound total.

But if a grower sold wool of lesser quality and got only 40 cents a pound, the 24 per cent government payment would peg the total price per pound at only a little more than 49 cents.

The government payment is made only if the grower makes final settlement for his wool after April 1, 1955. Two copies of the account of sale go to the county agricultural stabilization and conservation office if the grower wants payment.
