Members of the volunteer team for the 1955 Community Chest drive were to have met Thursday evening at the New Gordon Hotel for the kickoff dinner that annually launches the drive in Elkland Township.

This year, the volunteers will be shooting for a goal of $6,000. The Elkland Chest has always met its quota in past years, Mrs. Andrew Bigelow, president, announced.

In charge of the drive will be Supt. Willis Campbell and James Mark. Mr. Campbell will supervise collections in the village and Mr. Mark will handle the campaign in the rural area.

The drive chairman ask that all persons in the area be ready with their contributions when the solicitor assigned to their area contacts them.

With cooperation of all individuals, industries and businesses, they said, the drive can be easily completed by the end of October, when the campaign is scheduled to be finished.

In 1954, a total of $5,046.24 was collected in Elkland Township.

The meeting will be held in the Saginaw City Auditorium. Included at the meeting will be addresses by prominent educators and commercial and professional exhibits of interest to teachers. The exhibits will be at Saginaw High School.

Most of the top educators in the Thumb will participate in discussion periods. Supt. Willis Campbell of Cass City is the chairman of the discussion, "The Classroom Teacher and Juvenile Delinquency."

Supervisors Raise County Tax Rate

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors set the county mill rate this week at 5.85 mills, based on the state equalized value. The amount represents an increase of about one mill over last year's rate.

Last year the supervisors voted a mill rate of 7.5, based on the county's equalization. The 5.85 based on the state equalized valuation amounts to about 8.5 on the county equalization.

Welfare Department

The County Welfare Department operation was reviewed by Director Irl Baguley who explained the problems of the organization. Costs of operation continue to rise, he said. The department is now working on the budget for 1956 and estimated that the cost would be about $101,000.

This year the supervisors appropriated $87,000 for running the department and later in the year added another $4,000 to bring the total cost to $91,000.

The supervisors adjourned Wednesday to travel to Corunna in Shiawassee County to examine a new county hospital recently built there.

X-ray Unit Report

Authorities for the Saginaw Valley Mobile X-ray Unit presented a financial report for the year. Collections from all sources totaled $8,741.56. Included was $825 given by Tuscola County. Cash on hand Oct. 1, 1954, was $2,534.69. Total receipts amounted to $11,276.25.

The report showed that total expenditures for the year were $6,554.60, with a balance on hand Oct. 1, 1955, of $4,721.65. The unit serves a five-county area. Besides Tuscola, X-rays are taken in Bay, Isabella, Saginaw and Midland counties.

The supervisors also approved a $250 appropriation to the Eastern Michigan Tourist Association and appointed Supervisor Nicholas VanPatten from Gifford Township as the county's representative to the council.

Children's Aid Society

The supervisors heard a report from the Tuscola County branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society. They deferred action on a request for $500 for the organization.

The report showed that five children were cared for in the society's boarding houses and that one child was placed and one supervised in adoptive homes.

The society also made six family inquiries in behalf of children. A total of $1,637.66 was spent in the county.

Stress 3-Point Program for Area X-ray Campaign

The committee in charge of the X-ray drive for all adults in the Cass City area has announced a three-point educational program to be carried out before the mobile unit arrives here Wednesday, Nov. 2, at noon.

The local committee's three-point program is: Explain to every adult that a chest X-ray is safe, swift, sure, reliable and harmless.

Assure every adult that all age groups will be welcome at the unit and that reports on any suspicious findings will be confidential to the health department, family physician and the individual.

Persuade every adult that it's smart to take advantage of this tax-paid service by guarding against having TB without knowing it and by insuring that the tuberculosis germs will not be spread.

Carlisle-Mead Trial Starts Very Slowly Tuesday

The trial of Kenneth Carlisle and Kenneth Mead on charges of kidnapping and attempted rape in circuit court at Caro was off to a slow start Tuesday as the entire day was used in selecting a jury.

A total of 23 jurors were called before the prosecuting attorney and council for the defense found 12 that were allowed to remain.

Wednesday, proceedings speeded up and the victim of the charges was called to testify.

Late Wednesday afternoon, Deputy Clarence Schroeder took the stand and the statements of Carlisle and Mead were received in the record. The statements of both men said that they could not remember any incident involving them with the girl attacked.

Members of the jury selected were: Herman Wenzel, John Howell, Martha VanSteinhouse, Dessie Davison, Ernest Cargill, Norman Fader, Margaret Sheridan, Clarence Turner, Aaron Turner, Ruth Tullock, Archie Lobdell and Roy McLaughlin.

Two domestic cases were heard Wednesday morning while concluded on page 10.

Figures Show Home-coming Cost Members $738.06

A net loss of $738.06 was revealed Monday night when final figures for this year's Home-coming were presented at a meeting of the board of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

Expenditures for the one-day event totaled $1,326.33. A total of $483.27 was received from concessions and rides and an additional $105 from the State for their share of aid in prize money given in the livestock show.

The cost was slightly more than last year and leaves a balance in the treasury of $820.12, Treasurer Arlan Hartwick reported.

Study Club Enjoys Scenic Tour Tuesday

Twenty members of the Cass City Woman's Study Club took a scenic tour Tuesday, Oct. 11. The first stop was Caseville at noon, when a potluck luncheon was enjoyed. A short business meeting followed the luncheon. At the meeting, it was announced the District Federation meeting would be held Oct. 20 and 21 in the Court St. Methodist Church in Flint.

Mrs. Harry Falkenhagen is the district delegate. The journey continued in the afternoon along the lake shore drive.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 25 with Mrs. Robert Gross, hostess.

From the Editor's Corner

With the change in Main Street Christmas decorations this year, the Chamber of Commerce will have 25 of the "Littlest Angels" that at present are not scheduled to be used.

Several persons have suggested that they be placed elsewhere in the village. Suggestions have been made to place them in a row on a street in one of the subdivisions of the village and to give them to home owners to erect.

Either plan has merit. If the decorations are placed low enough and well lighted, their beauty will be more easily seen than they were on Main Street where the height and the street lights kept them from showing the craftsmanship and work that went into making them.

We found that there are lots of good pictures of old Main Street among the souvenirs of village residents this week.

After we explained last week that we were unable to print the picture we had for the purpose last week, several residents said that they had very clear pictures.

We saw two belonging to Warren Wood that would have been reprinted very clearly... they are as clear today as when they were first taken many years ago.

Kirbys to Mark Golden Wedding With Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kirby will celebrate their golden wedding Sunday, Oct. 16, with an open house at their home at 4109 South Seeger Street from one to five p. m.

The former Mary Tesch and Mr. Kirby were married in Snover Oct. 17, 1905. They started married life in this community where Mr. Kirby worked for a construction firm. He is now retired.

Mr. Kirby is 75 years old and was born in Moore Township, Sanilac County. Mrs. Kirby is 68 and was born in Detroit.

The couple has four children: two sons, Clayton of Saginaw and Vernon of Dearborn, and two daughters, Mrs. Aileen Snider of Farmington and Mrs. Ruth Warner of Cass City.

They also have 19 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

At Community Club Dinner

300 Honor Dr. F. L. Morris Tuesday

Members of the immediate family, old friends and members of the Cass City Community Club crowded the Cass City High School gymnasium to pay tribute to Dr. F. L. Morris. An estimated 300 persons attended the dinner and program Tuesday evening.

Jack Esau, toastmaster, presented a few highlights of the doctor's career.

On hand to honor the doctor was Caswell Hunter from Colorado. Mr. Hunter recalled how Dr. Morris broke his arm attempting to show the boys in high school how to pole vault.

Mrs. Ella Vance presented a poem written especially for the occasion.

Several of the doctor's oldest friends sent letters and telegrams. Congratulations were received by letter from Dr. Laferte in Detroit and Dr. Kevin in Unionville.

Telegrams were read from Alice Lommers and Ruth Erskine, former teachers and friends, who expressed regret because they were unable to attend.

Mr. Esau also presented the members of Dr. Morris' immediate family who attended to see him honored. Besides Mrs. Morris, the doctor's three sons, John W. and Frank of Dearborn and Fred of Wayne, were introduced.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a pen set to commemorate the event.

Arthur Holmberg concluded the program singing a solo, accompanied by Roger Parrish.

A turkey dinner was served at tables seating a maximum of ten persons by the ladies of the Lutheran Church.

Presbyterian Church Slates Men's Sunday

In keeping with the National Observance of Men's Sunday, October 16, the Cass City Presbyterian Church will feature the service of worship at 11:00 a. m. with the laymen in charge.

Robert Schuckert, chairman of the Board of Deacons, as program chairman, announces that Mr. Arthur Holmberg will preach the sermon, a men's choir will sing a special number, and others will take part in the order.

Christmas Displays Discussed

Pageant Voted Out by Chamber of Commerce

With representatives from the Gavel, Lions and Rotary clubs as guests, the board of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce laid plans for Christmas decorations Monday evening at the New Gordon Hotel.

A major change in the program decided Monday was that the Christmas pageant will not be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce this year.

The decision was made after considerable discussion. The problem facing the board was that about $500 worth of equipment is on hand for the pageant. What to do with it, if the pageant was dropped, was the concern of members.

According to Harry Little and Ed Baker, who handled the wiring, it is possible to save about half of the equipment... using it on other displays.

However, no disposition will be made of any of the material until it is definitely shown that no other group or organization is interested in sponsoring the event.

According to the resolution, the Chamber of Commerce's equipment is available to anyone who wishes to use it.

Primary reason for the Chamber's decision to abandon the pageant was that it was felt to be too much work during one of the busiest times of the year for members.

Change Decorations

Changes will be made in the street decorations for this year. Replacing the "littlest angels" will be Christmas trees on each light pole. They will be decorated with strings of Christmas bulbs.

Over the middle of four intersections on Main Street, four stars will be erected. Plans call for them to have many lights so that they will be clearly visible from a distance.

Home Decorations

This year, the Chamber has increased the prize money for home decorations with special prizes for projects built that have never before received a cash award.

The new display builders will compete for prizes of $15, $10, $5 and five glass of $1. Persons who have previously won cash awards will not be eligible for these prizes.

The general contest will again feature $120 in prize money. First prize is $25. Second is $20 and third place is worth $15. Fourth place winner will be given $10 and 10 prizes of $5 each will be awarded.

In addition, all winners will be given ribbons to place in front of their displays and keep as souvenirs.

Representatives of the three service clubs said that their plans call for about the same displays as were shown last year. Minor additions and repairs are expected to be made before they are erected.

Bulldogs Lead League

Yale Tops Cass City In Tight Game, 6-0

Yale took over undisputed possession of first place in the Thumb B Conference Friday evening by handing Cass City their first loss of the year, 6-0.

The Bulldogs won the victory with three determined goal line stands and a ground game that picked up 126 yards.

Three times Cass City moved within the Yale five-yard line but was unable to score.

Yale moved in for the score the only time they penetrated the Cass City 15. A bad pass from center on fourth down gave the visitors the ball on the Cass City 47 from where they counted the only marker of the game.

On the first play, Charles McCallum streaked for 15 yards and a first down. The Hawk defense pulled in tight to stop the running attack of Yale and three plays gained only four yards.

With fourth and six, Roger Gardella faked an end run and faked back and threw a looping pass to End Ron Groat for a first down on the Hawk one. Two plays later, Gardella sneaked over for the touchdown.

On the pass play that set up the counter, the end was all alone and had time to wait for the arching pass to come down before a Hawk defender could catch him.

The first of Cass City's scoring chances came in the second quarter. Cass City received a Yale punt on the Yale 30-yard line.

With Jack Clara collecting most of the yardage, the Hawks moved for a first down on the 12-yard line. But four plays netted only nine yards and Yale took over on the three.

An even better opportunity for the Hawks to knot the count was

Anderson Offers 61 Acres to County for Park

Frank M. Anderson has offered to deed 61 acres of land in Fremont Township to Tuscola County, if the county will agree to use and maintain it as a park.

The land, observers say, is ideally situated for a park. It is land that has three gravel pits on it. One of the pits has water reaching 30 feet and one where the depth reaches only three or four feet for children.

The water is clear... coming from springs continuously. The spot is already receiving extensive use by residents of the area, as many as three to five thousand gathering there on some Sundays.

Mr. Anderson is reported not to want the responsibility on his property.

The committee on parks and grounds was asked to investigate the land and make a report at this session.

Pair Celebrate 56th Anniversary

It is quite unusual for a couple to celebrate their 56th wedding anniversary... but it is really news when the couple celebrate their anniversary in the morning and then stand up for a wedding in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bratschi observed their 56th anniversary at High Mass at St. Pancratius Church in Cass City at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

The same day they drove to Davison where the couple acted as best man and maid of honor at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William Harris.

Mr. Bratschi is 85 years old and Mrs. Bratschi is 72.

Farm Prices Rise In September

Have you ever noticed how something you see every day around the house or at work may not register on you at all? A stair may creak or a small hole be torn in the wallpaper and after a little while you never notice it.

But a visitor will walk into the house and notice it first thing.

A few years ago when every charity and community organization canvassed for funds separately about the same thing happened. You got so used to hearing about great community service and crying needs that your senses got dulled.

The needy and worthwhile organization that came along just after three or four others had approached you got scant attention.

Then came the Community Chest, and with it the whole picture came into focus. There, once a year, we could see how much great work is done each year, much of it by volunteers, to help the needy, the sick, the underprivileged and just plain citizens who need a guiding hand.

Instead of each group coming along and telling you about the little slice of humanity they had helped, you got the whole dramatic picture of how big and noble the human heart can be.

The Community Chest is a great organization. It not only has brought home the thorough job that publicly-supported charities do, but has put their fund-raising on an efficient and business-like basis.

It costs money to raise money and when you contribute to the Community Chest you know that collection costs are kept to a remarkable minimum because one agency handles it all.

When the volunteer Community Chest canvasser calls on you, I hope you'll dig deep, right to the bottom of your heart.

Her finger-tip veil of nylon tulle was held by a feather bonnet set with rhinestones and her bouquet was white spider mums and ivy.

Similarly attired in gowns fashioned with strapless crystal-latte tops and jackets and skirts of nylon net over satin in cocoa brown, gold, shrimp and mint green, respectively, were the matron of honor, Mrs. Leslie Townsend, Jr., and bridesmaids, Mrs. Charles Ballard, Miss Joyce Krohn and Mrs. John Wolak. The bouffant floor-length skirt cascaded in a long train. Her finger tip veil was held in place by a crown of iridescent pearls, tailored to match the neckline of the bodice. The bride carried two bouquets, one of white mums for the Blessed Virgin Altar and an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Gail Peters, the flower girl, wore a pink silk floor-length gown of the same material and pattern, tailored to match the bride's gown and a picture hat of the same material.

The maid of honor, Ellen Armstead, sister of the groom, wore a waltz-length gown of blue net over satin. The bridesmaid, Joyce Lowe of Mt. Pleasant, was dressed in an aqua blue gown of net over satin. Both wore picture hats of the same material as their gowns and carried small bouquets of yellow mums.

The ring bearer was Ronald Wediak. Richard Peters of Detroit was best man and Richard Perloff of Detroit served as groomsmen.

Some 150 guests attended a reception after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents where a traditional Polish dinner was served. The bridal table held a decorated wedding cake and vases of gladioli and mums were the house decorations.

Nation's Capital

Seeing the sights of the na-recent State A-H Club Show.

Leaving on the six-day educa-

Tuscola County A-Hers. They were Gail Wallace of Kingston and Carol Hickey of Fairgrove.

the future if we fix up a deal so we can do the borrowing instead of the lending.

Farmers are next in line after highway users to reap the benefits of a round-robin attack on state problems.

There are those who will charge that the ideas sponsored by Gov. Williams and his staff of elected state officials are merely investments in the 1958 campaign.

Democrats view them—at least publicly—as their contributions of leadership.

First of those to come up with a special program outside the governor's office was Secretary of State James M. Hare, who drafted the Democratic highway safety program.

It lay in his desk for weeks until it could be "cleared" through Williams, promoted and presented. Now highway safety is to be the main item in a special legislative session.

Republicans look at it this way. People have been killed and maimed on Michigan highways since Detroit's automobile industry put the world on wheels. Those who have survived have tried to stop the slaughter.

Safety campaigns have been conducted and laws have been passed by the legislature, all toward the end of cutting down the "toll of progress."

Statewide speed limits have been proposed. Tougher licensing procedures have been enacted. A former secretary of state created a central driver licensing system with legislative help.

But it's been a slow process.

Some of the state's top newspapers and others have made highway safety a major issue. They have tried to protect people from themselves.

Now comes Hare with a program for the special session, endorsed by Williams. Democrats would like to have it put into effect immediately.

"This is nonpartisan," said Hare.

While the Hare Democratic program is sponsored by a party, it groups together all the dozens of proposals and hopes of Republicans who have pushed individual ideas for years.

In fact, most of Hare's program can be traced to recommendations of the Michigan Safety Commission, a group of intensely interested people who have studied highway safety for several years.

But, as one Republican legislative chieftain said, "if it saves one life, the program will be worth the trouble whichever party proposed it."

Commenting that a new Democrat in office must work harder to hold his job than a Republican in a traditionally Republican state, Hare said:

"The reasons now are more pressing than previously."

He calls his program the "Three E's of Safety: Education, Enforcement and Energy." He said that more than 2,000 will die on Michigan highways this year.

Be prepared to learn about a "Democratic State Farm Program." It was drawn by Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, whom Williams nicknamed, "Farmer Brown" during the last election campaign.

Brown disclosed at a Democratic State Central Committee meeting that he was preparing the program, but refused to go into detail. He will submit his plan to Williams.

Tying in with Brown's announcement, the Michigan Commission of Agriculture and the State Agricultural Marketing Council met jointly and informally.

Afterward, members were mum. They said they were preparing a "White Paper" for Williams. Observers in the capitol figure they were laying the groundwork for Brown or waiting to develop plans further.

One official cautioned about expecting too much. "After all," he said, "some mighty good men have been wrestling with the agriculture problem in Washington for several years. It isn't likely we are going to sit down and solve the whole thing in a few weeks."

First, Hare gets the go-ahead on his highway program and he shares the spotlight with Williams. Next it will be Brown.

Observers are scratching their heads to figure what Williams has in store for Auditor General Victor Targonski and Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh.

Kavanagh's office is one which normally carries its own attractions publicity-wise. He is the state's top law enforcement officer and things come his way through the force of gravity.

Targonski's is much the same. His office audits the books of all state agencies, suggests changes. But maybe it could use a little something extra. Michigan will know before the next campaign.

It's a fact that people who hit the bull's eye are those who've spent a lot of time trying.

The man who builds his own character often does a job no other man would take off his hands.

Colleges are maintained to teach students facts, but some youngsters are more interested in dates than data.

This is the season when the "gun that wasn't loaded" trades places with the "water that wasn't too deep."

WCTU Meets—

Members and friends of the Deford Women's Christian Temperance Union gathered at the Roblin home for the October meeting Thursday, Oct. 6.

Mrs. Fern Thomas, the county soldiers and sailors director, showed samples of sunshine bags, bed bags, pillow tops, etc., to be filled and sent to disabled war veterans for Christmas. She also named several articles to place in these bags as shaving creams, lotions, stationery, stamps, pencils, tracts, gum, candy, games, money and several other items. Articles for this project are to be brought to the November meeting or money will be accepted to purchase them. Further information can be secured from Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Hazen Warner or Mrs. Earl Rayl, Sr.

For the lesson, excerpts were given from a booklet, "Alcohol and Lawlessness," by Sheep, police chemist of Columbus, Ohio, from the "Union Signal" and from "The Voice," all temperance papers. A poem, "It," was read by Mrs. Harriet Rayl, who was the program chairman for this meeting. Slate Demonstration At Walter Farm

There will be a metal roofing demonstration on the Arthur Walter farm Tuesday, October 18, says Tuscola County assistant county agent, Don R. Keblor. This demonstration is sponsored by the American Zinc Institute working with the Michigan State University Agricultural Engineering Department. The American Zinc Institute is an association and is not directly interested in the sale of their product.

Mr. Walter has a one story metal-roofed barn. A portion of the roof is to be painted and the remainder will be left as is for comparison purposes. Other topics to be discussed will be: values of good roofs, good nailing, grounding for lightning protection, the use of proper nails in the application of roofs, and repairing new roofs.

This demonstration will take most of the day and will contain a wealth of information to persons having a metal roof barn needing paint or are thinking about putting on a new metal roof.

Mr. Walter's farm is located in the northeast corner of section 6 in Juniata Township, or the southwest corner of the South Kirk and Van Geisen cross roads.

with new Thunderbird Styling... with new Lifeguard Design

A glance tells you that the '56 Ford has the long, low lines... the dazzling beauty of the Thunderbird.

But wait till you touch the gas pedal! Ford goes like the Thunderbird, too. With the new 202-h.p. Thunderbird Y-8 engine, available in Fordomatic Fairlane and Station Wagon models, you'll pass with new confidence, smile at hills.

And there's even bigger news—Lifeguard Design! With the cooperation of universities, medical associations and safety experts, Ford found that most accident injuries were caused by the driver being thrown against the steering post, occupants being thrown forward against hard surfaces, or from the car. So, Ford developed a new steering wheel with a deep-center structure to help protect you from the post... double-grip door locks to give added protection from doors opening under shock... optional cushioning for instrument panel and sun visors, to help lessen injury from impact... optional seat belts that help keep occupants in seats.

Come in! See the '56 Ford, drive it, learn what Lifeguard Design means for the greater safety of you and your family.
