

Groups Protest Halt of Railroad Passenger Service

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce and the village council passed resolutions this week that place the community and local businessmen on record as being opposed to the discontinuation of passenger service by the Grand Trunk Railroad.

The resolutions were presented to the Michigan Public Service Commission Tuesday at Lansing.

The Cass City representatives were joined by delegates from other communities in the Thumb served by the railroad.

Attending from Cass City were Bill Jolly, Clifford A. Croft, Donald McAleer and Herbert Ludlow.

Of primary interest to the communities attending was assurance that there would be no change in freight service on the line.

At the hearing, representatives for the Grand Trunk said that there would be no cut in the service.

Commerce Board Schedules Work Day

Residents of the Cass City community will be asked to observe Sunday, Nov. 27, as a work day to make necessary preparations for the annual Christmas displays in the village.

The Sunday work day, originated by Fred Auten last year, proved to be the most successful yet devised to accomplish a huge amount of work in a comparatively short time.

It will start again this year with a breakfast at 7:30 a. m. at Cass City High School. Following the meal, members will be assigned to a special detail under a chairman who will have arranged the work schedule and acquired necessary tools in advance.

Because of the excellent planning and cooperation last year, crews were finished by noon with jobs that took weeks to accomplish previously on a hit-or-miss basis.

Authorities said that all persons attending will be expected to stop working long enough to attend the church of their choice. Because of different church service hours, the loss of men at staggered intervals did not slow the work last year.

Preliminary work is being done now. Donations of $10 each by businessmen to foot the cost of the project have been requested.

Members of the board report that financial support has been excellent.

Heart Attack Fatal for Miss Thelma Hunt

Funeral services for Miss Thelma J. Hunt, 54, esteemed teacher at Cass City High School, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. in the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City.

Miss Hunt came to Cass City from Roosevelt High School in Ypsilanti. In the more than seven years she taught here, she became a valued member of the school staff and student leader.

School was dismissed Tuesday afternoon so that teachers and friends could attend the final rites. A collection was taken by her students. Part of the money contributed was used for flowers and the remainder will be used for a memorial that will be displayed at the school.

Miss Hunt was born in Cass City, Nov. 29, 1900, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt. She graduated from Cass City High School with high honors and earned Phi Beta Kappa honors at the University of Michigan from where she graduated in 1928. In 1937 she received her MA degree from U. of M.

She had a long, successful career. Following her graduation, she taught at Ida and Ionia before accepting a position at Ypsilanti where she taught from 1935 to 1948.

At Ypsilanti she was a critic teacher and at Cass City she taught English and Latin.

First signs of her fatal illness were reported Thursday, Oct. 27.

She called authorities in the morning, saying she was ill. However, she later decided to go to school anyway. Later in the morning she complained of a pain in the chest and left arm and a physician was called.

She was taken to Pleasant Home Hospital by ambulance, where she died Saturday, Nov. 12.

Miss Hunt was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Presbyterian Guild, Michigan Education Association and Hobby Club. Surviving are: two sisters, Mrs. William (Catherine) Wyman of Trenton and Miss Betty Hunt of Detroit; a brother, Russell, of Birmingham, and an uncle, George Burg, of Cass City.

Rev. Melvin R. Vender, Presbyterian pastor, officiated at the funeral and burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

Ample Supply of Salk Vaccine Now In Cass City

Tuscola County physicians now have an ample supply of Salk vaccine for all children from one to 14 years of age.

A recent decision by the state now allows doctors up to 100 doses at a time. Previously, they had been restricted to six doses in a shipment.

With the recent announcement made in a preliminary government report that the vaccine has sliced paralytic polio this year from 50 to 80 per cent, doctors are hoping that all parents in the area avail themselves of the service.

The vaccine is free, only charges are for administering the shots to patients.

The figures released by the government were compiled by comparing children who had received one shot or more with children who have had none.

Authorities are confident that with second and third shots protection will be even better.

Since the middle of May, there has been no evidence that the vaccine used was not safe. Since that time, vaccine used has been produced under revised, tightened safety standards of the government.

Authorities are talking now of postponing second and third shots and giving single shots to all persons under 21 years of age, as the fastest way of preventing polio epidemics.

Fathers Fete Hawk Grid Squad Monday

The 1955 Hawk grid squad was feted at a banquet Monday night at Parrott's Dairy Bar. The event was sponsored for the second straight year by fathers of players on the team.

CHRISTMAS WORK—One of the first signs of the approaching Christmas season and the start of decorations in the village, is the appearance of volunteers who string wires for street decorations. This year, the job was handled by four members of the Chamber of Commerce and William Schram, village employee. Thursday afternoon, Nov. 10, the crew was taking the initial step that will result in decorated Christmas trees along Main Street for the Christmas season. Seated on the tractor is Mr. Schram. Pulling the wire into position is John Bayley, left, and Bill Jolly, Chamber of Commerce president. Seated on the ladder are Keith McConkey, left, and Dale Damm.

Yedinak Awards Letters

Gridders Pick Most Valuable Players

The Cass City High School football team selected Jack Clara and Gordon Drouillard as the most valuable players on the team in a special election held at the school Monday, Nov. 7. Both players received the same number of votes in the balloting.

Clara was the offensive standout on the team. He netted 652 yards in 102 attempts for an average of nearly 6.4 yards each time he received the ball. In total offense he accounted for nearly 1,100 yards.

Drouillard was a standout on the defensive team that enabled the Hawks to post their fine seven won, one lost record for the year.

He made the most tackles in practically every game and was at his best when the competition was toughest. He stood out in the Hawks' lone defeat by Yale.

Other members of the team to receive votes in the election were Ron Behr, Jim Ellis, Dick Hanby and Alvie Evans.

Voting for the team captain was also close between Clara and Drouillard, Clara winning by a slight margin. Ellis, Behr and Evans also received votes for the honor.

Albion Grid Squad Dedicates Game to Tom Schwaderer

The Albion College football team dedicated their football game with Alma to able quarterback Tom Schwaderer, who had been unable to play because of injuries.

Winning the game, 20-13, coaches and players inscribed their names on the game ball and presented it to Mr. Schwaderer Monday in the school's chapel.

Mr. Schwaderer is a senior at Albion. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer, of Cass City.

Arrest was made by the Huron County Sheriff's Department on a complaint filed by Alex McKenzie, friend of the court.

In addition to the fine, Mr. Brown was jailed until Monday morning.

From the Editor's Corner

One of the truly remarkable persons in newspaper work has finally retired. We refer, of course, to Mrs. Sarah A. Mixer, who suspended publication of the Uby Courier in June and sold the paper last week.

Not only because she has published the paper since 1910, but also because she did so under the tremendous handicap of not having a type setting machine.

In order for Mrs. Mixer to set a front page such as the one in this week's Chronicle, it would have been necessary for her to assemble by hand 37,120 individual letters, less than an eighth of an inch wide, ... not counting corrections or changes in stories.

In addition, each piece of type has to be redistributed in a special case before work can start on the next paper.

She richly deserved the community celebration held in her behalf Jan. 28, 1952, when she marked a half century in newspaper work.

Times aren't so bad as they might be said Mrs. John Crawford, after she examined a ledger dating back to 1900-01 that belonged to her father, Samuel Mitchell.

Here are a few of the items gleaned at random from the ledger. Oats were selling for 20 cents a bushel and beans were $1.04 a bushel. Cows sold for $20 each and lambs were bringing four and a half cents a pound.

You could buy your potatoes for a quarter a bushel, a ton of hay brought $8. wool was selling for 20 cents and wheat was worth 72 cents a bushel.

Fritz Neitzel dropped into the Chronicle office this week, justifiably disturbed because his dog had been killed by a car.

What bothered Mr. Neitzel most was that the unidentified boy in the car was making an illegal U turn in front of his shop.

He pointed out that the count.

Funeral Services Friday

Gun Wounds Fatal For E. W. Kercher

Funeral services for E. W. Kercher, 67, who ended his life at his home in Cass City Monday afternoon will be held at the Evangelical United Brethren Church at 2 p. m. today (Friday).

According to investigating officers, Mr. Kercher died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds, one in the right shoulder and the other in the stomach. Dr. H. T. Donahue, Tuscola County coroner, investigated.

Mr. Kercher was found by his son, Charles, of Linwood, who had been in touch with his father for five days preceding his death, when he found that he was in a depressed state.

He talked with him at noon Monday and said that he was coming to Cass City again. He found him dead when he arrived.

Mr. Kercher worked for 43 years at the Chronicle, starting in 1909.

He left the Chronicle in the summer of 1952 to set up a commercial printing plant in his home where he could be with his wife, the former Amanda Muck, who was ill at the time. He was married in Cass City in 1909.

Two of Mr. Kercher's three sons are in service. Charles Kercher said that every effort has been made to contact them, without success. Wednesday evening it was not known if they were yet aware of their father's death.

After the death of his wife, Mr. Kercher worked part time in various Thumb newspaper plants, helping out during peak periods. He performed this service in addition to maintaining his printing establishment in the village.

Surviving, besides Charles, are the two sons, Lt. Col. Ferris Kercher, in Japan and Capt. Gerald Kercher, in Germany; a brother, Clarence G. Kercher, of Owosso; nine grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

The body will be at the Douglas Funeral Home until the time of service. Burial will be in Elkland Cemetery.

Junior Woman's Club Accepts Six New Members

The November meeting of the Junior Woman's Club was held at the home of Mrs. Raymond Whallin, Thursday, Nov. 10. Mrs. Hazel McCarty was assistant.

During the business session, the club voted $10 to the local Community Chest and birthday calendars were distributed to members for delivery.

Mrs. Ben Hobart presented the program, discussing and showing slides of her stay in Mexico last summer.

Club members brought donations of sewing materials and notions to the meeting to be sent to the German Youth Assistance program.

The club admitted Mrs. June Ayres, Mrs. J. D. Tuckey, Mrs. Wm. Eberline, Mrs. Robert Stickle, Mrs. Jos. Tracy and Mrs. Kenneth Eisinger as new members.

The annual anniversary Christmas dinner will be the December meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Schuckert.

Plan Adult Classes at Cass City High School

Cass City High School is planning adult education classes at the school starting in January, officials announced this week.

Persons in the area have already asked about classes in typing, speech and Michigan history, which will probably be offered.

Other courses that can be offered, if interest warrants it, are English, French and government.

Persons in charge of the program said that those interested would be helping the program if they called Eli D. Holes at the school and reported any course they are interested in.

Arraign Ray on Rape Assault Charge

One arraignment on criminal charges and several domestic cases were heard Wednesday in Tuscola County Circuit Court before Judge T. C. Quinn.

Harold Ray, 52, late of Flint, pleaded not guilty of a charge of assault with attempt to rape. The offense was allegedly committed in Juniata Township June 27, 1951.

It will be the second trial for Ray on the same charge. In 1927, he was sentenced to life imprisonment on a rape charge in a trial held in Atlanta. He had been released on parole.

Domestic Cases

Charles Smelser was ordered to pay $100 attorney's fees. A half of the money due is to be paid in 30 days and the balance within 60 days.

Mrs. Viola Kibbe was ordered temporary alimony from Robert Kibbe of $40 weekly.

Charles A. Wright's, Cass City, petition to have his driver's license restored was denied. Mr. Wright's license was revoked for 90 days by Justice C. Striffler when he was found guilty of drunk driving in Cass City.

Mrs. Mihalma Adamczyk was granted temporary alimony of $40 weekly from John Adamczyk. Mr. Adamczyk was ordered to pay $100 attorney's fees.

In the case Antoinette Janowski vs. Christian Seeker, a decree was granted to quiet title.

Mrs. Florence L. Cardinley was granted a divorce from Thomas N. Cardinley. Custody of minor children was awarded to Mrs. Cardinley. Because Mr. Cardinley was injured in an auto accident and cannot work, no alimony was awarded at the present time.

In the property settlement, a business started by Mrs. Cardinley was granted totally to her.

Village Receives Third Quarter Highway Money

Cass City's share of the State Motor Vehicle Highway Fund for the third quarter of 1955 was $2,633.53. The money is used for roads in the village.

Total amount collected in the quarter for division among cities, villages and counties in the state was $31,089,738.11. The amount does not include any funds collected under the recently enacted tax law that raised the gas tax from four and a half to six cents per gallon. Money collected under the new law will be divided on the following basis. Seventy-five per cent will go to the State Highway Department for use on designated trunkline highways and the other 25 per cent will be allocated to cities, counties and incorporated villages.

In the distribution of the third quarter tax monies, Tuscola County received $105,931.17. Sanilac County's share was $107,873.00 and Huron County received $101,558.76.

Progress Has Passed Up Small Operators

A farm labor study recently completed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service points up a need for new equipment and handling methods especially adapted for small numbers of livestock. The study shows that it takes almost as much labor now as it did 50 years ago to keep sideline livestock—a cow, a few chickens, or a few pigs. Progress seems to have bypassed this phase of farming. Most of the commercial-type equipment and better handling methods that have been developed for livestock production can be used economically only with large sized herds or flocks.

Progress has bypassed the farmer who keeps sideline livestock to the extent that it still takes as much labor as it did 50 years ago to keep small herds and flocks.

As might be expected, milk cows were found to be big labor users. A hand-milked cow requires 140 man-hours per year, on the average, while a machine-milked cow requires 111 hours. Feed and litter carriers, barn cleaners, stanchion drinking cups, pipeline and bulk handling of milk, and maintenance of large herds and high-producing cows, all make for less work per unit of milk produced.

In hog production, size of herd also makes a big difference in labor requirements. A large herd can use self-feeders, self-waterers, and good pastures economically, whereas small herds cannot. Labor ranges from 14 man-hours per $100 of pork products in the North Central states, where herds are largest, to about 25 hours in the South where herds are smallest.

In poultry raising, labor-saving and cost-saving equipment and management practices begin to be economical with a 200-bird flock, and become even more so as flock size increases.

The ARS concludes that the obvious need for whittling down labor time in small-scale livestock production is a great challenge to agricultural research.

Baby Pigs Prefer High Sugar Rations

Baby pigs have a sweet tooth. A green ration containing 20 per cent cane sugar is the most popular with baby pigs at the University of Illinois, says A. H. Jensen, livestock specialist.

The pigs were given a choice of rations containing dried skim milk, saccharin, and cane sugar. The sugar rations varied in amount from 5 to 20 per cent. The more sugar the ration contained, the better the pigs liked it.

The dried skim milk ration was heavily eaten but was not so well received as the high sugar ration.

The reason for the interest in pig preferences is to increase consumption of creep-feed rations, explains Jensen. A good creep ration means heavier pigs at weaning time, and at lower costs.

Farmers don't usually have the facilities to mix sugar in the ration, Jensen says. But most of the commercial baby pig starters contain sugar in varying amounts.

Faulty Fencing

Faulty fencing can injure or kill both livestock and humans. Homemade or un-approved fence controllers result in the death of many persons each year. In most states, approved electric fencing bears the seal of Underwriters' Laboratories or state industrial commission.

The reindeer, direct from the Bering Straits, were part of the Santa Claus group that toured the southern Thumb this week.

A LETTER FROM HOME

IN THIS NEWSPAPER

CARS Line

By H. M. Bulen

Should it be snow tires or chains this winter? It may be a question of money, but there are other considerations too.

The great advantage of snow tires is that they are always with you. With chains, you can find yourself stuck after leaving them at home when the snow seemed to be clearing.

Chains, as any experienced winter driver knows, aren't to be sneezed at. In deep snow, the sides of the chains give a lot of extra traction, and chains can batter their way through the ice to get you going on the most impossible road.

That same battering-ram action on the ice works another way. When the chains start pounding the bare pavement you can expect a pretty sorry suspension system in short order.

They've taken the noise out of the newer snow tires, and they give a better grip, too.

The decision between chains and snow tires rests largely with the kind of roads you're going to be traveling: whether the snow is going to stay most of the winter, or pile up off and on.

If you really get stuck, you can usually ease yourself out by letting most of the air out of the back tires — and then crawl along to the next service station.

If you haven't lined up your winter transportation yet, you know where to come for the best selection of snug and well-groomed used cars. And right now is the time to start shopping.

All our "OK Used Cars and Trucks" are completely winterized and completely checked before they are placed on the lot.

We are continuing our Policy of pricing at "wholesale levels" to reduce our Stock. With the already established popularity of the 1956 Model Chevrolet, we'd soon have used cars parked on the roof. Our loss is your gain. Come in. Browse around till you find a car which suits. Drive it. Make us an offer. We hate to turn down a deal.

If you haven't yet driven a '56 Chevrolet, we'd like you to try one today. It's even hotter than the '55 and if you follow the papers you know it "had it."

cit had erected "no U turn" signs on the street to protect children in the area and that the illegal turn might cause a serious accident or loss of life.

Mrs. Charles Randall, who will celebrate her Golden Wedding Sunday, called and asked us to explain that the meal planned for Sunday will be for members of the immediate family. The open house for friends and neighbors will be held immediately following from 3 to 5 p. m.

Charles A. Hargrave of Northville, whose story of lead from an Indian woman we related in this column a few weeks ago, wrote us recently and clarified the story we told.

His story, 70 years ago, he said, was at Elmwood corners and the lead he received from the lady was in pure form. It was not tea the lady received for the lead, as related in the story, he said, but tea lead.

He writes, "In those days groceries were not put up in packages as they are today. Tea was in 65-pound chests. The chest was a well made dovetailed box, lined with lead foil (like tin foil, but much heavier) sealed and soldered, covered with heavy paper and with matting. In each box was about two and a half pounds of the lead foil, hence the name tea lead."

We would like to start our "Buck Luck" column again next week. If area hunters will report their success, we will publish their names, together with the weight and number of points of their buck. Just call the Chronicle.

Sod Mulch Value In Orchards Shown

Patience on the part of scientists at the Michigan State University Experiment Station has shown the virtue of sod mulch.

For many years, fruit growers believed that clean cultivation of orchards would bring the best results. But it took 25 years to prove to everyone's satisfaction that the statement was wrong.

Horticulturists at M.S.U. now report that sod mulch cover was much better than clean cultivation for Bartlett pear orchards.

The sod mulch actually retarded tree growth and fruit production for the first 12 years, however. But from then on the trunks grew larger and trees produced more fruit than did the clean cultivated plot.

At the end of the 25-year test, the fertilized sod mulch had produced 1,186 more bushels of fruit. And the sodded trees had 80 per cent more fruit above two and a half inches during the six years the fruit was under a grading test.

Then, too, the sod mulch cover practically eliminated water loss in the orchard. And the condition of the soil in the cultivated plot got worse as time went on. The compacted soil caused runoff, making a droughty subsoil. So fruit size suffered when rainfall was short.

The horticulturists found essentially the same was true for apple orchards. For cherries they conducted a leaf analysis. This showed a much better fertility level in favor of the sod mulch culture.

It's been estimated that the value of white pine lumber cut in Michigan exceeds by 10 times all the gold ever taken out of Alaska and triples the value of all the gold dug in California.

Smelt catches in Michigan often reach unbelievable sizes. In one case 15 tons of the small fish were hand-dipped from a Michigan stream in 10 minutes.

West Elkland 4-H Club Names Officers

The November meeting of the West Elkland 4-H Club was held Tuesday evening at the home of Heather Milligan. The winter meetings were planned and an election of officers to fill vacancies was held with the following results: president, Beverly Russell; vice-president, Heather Milligan, and secretary, Elaine Lounsbury.

Joyce Donnelly was made a club leader. She has been in 4-H club work since May 1947 and has completed 63 projects.

Names were drawn for the Christmas party to be held at the home of Elaine and Rosemary Lounsbury. Following the business meeting, the girls made yarn doll lapel pins and Mrs. Milligan served lunch.

Word has been received here that Rev. William Richards, a retired member of the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Church, and a former Methodist pastor here in Cass City, died at Northville Sunday, Oct. 23.

About a month previously, the First Methodist Church at Northville had rededicated its church house the "William Richards Fellowship Hall" in his honor.

Michigan Mirror News Briefs

Locally-elected school officials have won the fight to determine how a $13,500,000 bonanza in sales tax money will be divided into salaries for teachers and other employees.

But it was a long fight, pitting Republicans and Democrats on opposite sides of the arena.

It was discovered that the money had piled up from record sales tax collections. Law requires that two thirds of these funds go to schools.

So, as part of the special legislative session, there was the question of how it would be divided into teacher salaries—a proposal in different forms pushed by both parties.

Then came the scramble.

Gov. Williams wanted it specifically earmarked for $200 raises for each of Michigan's 51,000 teachers. Republicans wanted to turn it over to local boards with instructions to use it for wage hikes.

Then came the teacher organizations, which claimed that a $7 per pupil earlier increase in state money intended for raises was in some instances spent for other purposes, and pay increases ignored.

"We know that in Hamtramck, teachers got nothing and some areas in Detroit the increases were uneven," said Williams.

Non-teaching employees also asked for a raise from the latest chunk of cash. Republicans included them, and Williams said he would go along at $145 each if the legislature accepted his version.

Republicans flatly rejected the idea. "I think it is improper for me to come down here and assume I know more about local school conditions than the men elected to run them," said Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville).

GOP men argued that local boards could put the money to best use, rewarding teachers with experience—without putting all teachers on the same level regardless of training or talent.

Williams figured the teachers wouldn't get it at all. Also that districts operating inefficiently—with large classes—would benefit more from the $9 per pupil distribution than those who had a smaller teacher to pupil ratio.

Republicans won the battle in the legislature and Williams indicated he would accept it.

Fighting about toll roads in Michigan is a continuous process, and may be for some time. There are those who think the most telling blows about the Toledo-Saginaw proposal have got to be struck.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has been cussed and discussed in the toll road picture, for the most part because he had been most reluctant to endorse the proposed plan. There is much to be said for his position.

Many critics of the Commissioner do not seem to realize the tremendously complicated factors involved in a state road system. Laws, some of them passed years ago, provide that fixed percentages of the commission's income from certain sources be spent in certain places. These are not necessarily in accordance with most serious needs. In fact, there is little correlation.

Ziegler's position in the toll road hassle may prove to be a very sound one when all the facts are known. At present the Commissioner feels he will be "cursed if he does and cursed if he doesn't." So he is holding out for what makes sense to him.

Main argument will also make sense to many people who use north-south highways in eastern Michigan. The point is taken from a report written by an engineering firm. In short it amounts to this: In order for the proposed toll road to pay its way, Ziegler must not improve roads which might be conceived to compete with it. This includes as far west as US 27. It also includes routes 10, 15, 16, 23, 24, 83 and 150.

Ziegler says he cannot become involved in such a plan. If the toll road were built, and if improvements already planned for highways on the "competitive list" were completed; if the predicted financial difficulty came into existence, Ziegler could get the blame.

If he did not provide improvements, he could suffer much abuse too. In the meantime he is just waiting and watching.

Commissioner Joseph A. Childs is wasting no time recruiting men to fill 200 new troopers' uniforms.

He started the night that the legislature, in special session, approved 200 new troopers as part of a package plan to step up highway safety in Michigan.

Childs is going to divide up the recruit school, giving mass instruction to the entire group in the first steps, then separating them into two sections for the final six weeks of advanced work.

With this method, he said he would be able to have the extra troopers on highway patrols before the next big summer driving push on Memorial Day.

He urged that young men apply and said they could get information at any Michigan State Police post.

Recruits have been hard to get since World War II when candidates marched away to war. Some came back to the ranks, but, with the Korean conflict, the pickings have been slim.

Because of high State Police standards, Childs said that he would be forced to recruit many more than the 200 he needs as finished, polished law enforcement officers.

Appointees of Gov. Williams to state jobs will get a close check during the interim by Senate committee members.

The Senate Business Committee asked for the right to operate between sessions to look into the qualifications of appointees so that the Senate could make a better judgment on confirmations.

Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) denied it would be an inquisition or a sub-rosa method of disposing of political pals of the governor who were appointed to positions in government.

"We feel this will be as much a benefit to the appointee as to the Senate," he said. "Often we hear disparaging remarks about an appointee, and we would either prove them or set them at rest."

Hutchinson's committee must pass on the qualifications of appointees before they are taken before the full Senate for a vote of confirmation.

He said the committee would hold no public hearings or announce results.

Remember that even a pick-pocket is obliged to keep in touch with the public.

It is much better for a person to be over-anxious than it is to be over-confident.

Brucellosis Test Slated in County

Retest of the cattle in Tuscola county for Bang's disease (Brucellosis) will get under way the middle of December under the cooperative program of the Michigan and U. S. Departments of Agriculture.

The initial county-wide test of Tuscola County cattle for Bang's disease was made in 1953. Results of this test indicated a herd infection rate of 9.37 percent and a cattle infection rate of 2.39 percent.

Since this initial test a program of retesting in infected and suspect herds has been carried out to aid in controlling the infection. Calfhood vaccination has also been offered to owners of infected herds.

This year's test will again make use of the "milk ring" test as a preliminary screening procedure. A mobile testing laboratory will be located in the county. These samples will be tested at the laboratory and the owners informed of the results by mail.

Herds showing suspicious milk samples will be blood tested to determine if any infected animals are present. Blood testing will be done wherever possible by local veterinarians working in cooperation with the Departments of Agriculture.

Reactor animals will be permanently identified as such, and quarantined until sold for beef. A new addition to the program this year will be the offering of indemnity payments to owners of infected herds who elect to sell all their reactors for immediate slaughter through authorized sales yards or slaughterhouses. Such indemnity is in addition to the salvage value of the animal for beef. The beef value of an animal is not affected by the presence of Brucellosis.

This year's test will again be under the supervision of Dr. R. H. Fish, of Caro, area veterinarian for the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Dr. Fish will work in conjunction with the local veterinarians and with A. P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

Everything You Do!

FROM THE MOMENT you awaken until you go to bed, almost everything you do is closely dependent upon the operation of trucks. In fact, even while you're asleep, trucks are working for you. (Beds arrive by truck, too, of course.)

Without trucks, your favorite food market would have empty shelves. Without trucks, you wouldn't find gas stations located conveniently almost everywhere you turn. Without trucks, the building of new homes, factories, and stores would slow to a walk and businesses of all kinds everywhere would suffer.

Sooner or later, everything you eat, wear, or use depends on trucks for transportation. Eventually, everything has to get to you — the consumer. So, when you consider that trucks haul three times the tonnage handled by all the other forms of transportation combined, you realize how very important they are to you!
