

From the Editor's Corner

Harold Jackson, branch manager for the Michigan Secretary of State's office in Cass City, announces this week that 1956 license plates are now on sale.

He pointed out that there will be no standing in line or waiting for early birds who get there in casses now at his office at Jay's Fix-it Shop. Requirements are the same as always. Applicants must have their title and, if they received one, the prepared registration of their cars, sent to owners by the state.

Motorists across the nation will attempt for the second time to drive a full day without a single traffic death or accident, Dec. 1, which has been designated safe driving day.

Last year Tuscola County went without a fatality but recorded several accidents. Across the nation, deaths were slightly reduced by the drive.

Traffic authorities say that reducing speed and using courtesy on the road are two of the best ways to avoid accidents.

Sandusky Host For First Debates In New League

The members of the newly organized Thumb B Debate League will hold their first tournament, Wednesday, Nov. 30, in Sandusky. Tournaments are arranged so that two debates are held, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, with the host school serving dinner between debates.

Cass City, one of the nine schools in the league, will oppose Millington and Kingston at this November meeting of debaters. Tournaments are also scheduled for Dec. 14 and Jan. 18, engaging Cass City in contests with Sandusky, Crosswell, Reese and Harbor Beach. The remaining schools in the debate league are Almont and Bad Axe.

One of the organizers of the Thumb B Debate League is Willis Campbell, who is presently serving as chairman of the State Forensic Council.

The purpose of the league is to bring the schools together at a central location for their debates, eliminating the necessity of long trips of schools participating in the state schedule set up by the Michigan High School Forensic Association.

Officers of the league are Dorothy Waske of Sandusky, president, and Mrs. Ernestine Patterson of Kingston, treasurer. Candidates for the team this year are Janet Auslander, Dian Carow, Judy Gremel, Carolyn Gress, Mary Ann Hobart, Walter Kloc, Judy MacDonald, Fannie Salas, Peggy Shaw and Suzanne Starmann.

Schott Family Cooperates to Bag Prized Bear

A 225-pound bear brought home this week by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schott and son, Bob, is truly a Michigan trophy. The most prized Michigan big game animal was bagged near Alpena Wednesday, Nov. 16, and the whole family had a hand in bringing it down.

Hunting at the Frutchey Hunting Club, Mrs. Schott first spied the prize. She promptly fired and hit it, but it was not downed. Son, Bob, then fired and scored a hit.

But the wounded bear was not completely finished until Mr. Schott came up and fired to assure the family of the rare trophy.

County Officers to Attend Meeting in Caro Wednesday

The Michigan Institute of Local Government is sponsoring its tenth one-day conference for township officers at the Hotel Montague in Caro, Wednesday, Nov. 30. Registration will start at 9:30 a. m. This conference is for all of the supervisors, township clerks, township treasurers and trustees of the 7th District, as the state has been divided by the State Supervisors' Association, which includes Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac, Lapeer, St. Clair, Genesee and Macomb counties.

The conference will be a practical affair—the supervisors, township clerks, treasurers and trustees will be given the opportunity to talk with and question people experienced in those respective offices.

The program in the morning will deal with the powers and duties of the township board. In the afternoon, there will be a panel for township and city supervisors, dealing with the powers and duties of the county board of supervisors. There will be another section for township clerks considering the problems of that office in connection with elections, records, and all duties of the clerk; and there will be a section for township treasurers, studying tax collections and records of the treasurer's office.

Among the people who will be in attendance from the state associations that are interested will be:

Attend Junior Class Play "Sno Haven" Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 7 and 8, Cass City high school auditorium, 8:15 p. m. Admission 50c and 35c.—Adv. 11-25-55

The Cass City Livestock Club, which has annexed more than twice as many championships and reserve championships as any other club in both the sheep and steer divisions, will make another attempt at championship honors at the Detroit Junior Livestock Show Dec. 6-8.

The largest group of exhibitors in recent years will attend from Cass City, under the direction of club leaders and chaperones. Last year, the Cass City Club took 11 steers and 11 lambs.

Attending from Tuscola County will be the following 4-H members: Norma Bauer, Reese, Angus; Linda Bigelow, Cass City, three Herefords; Sue Black, Akron, Hereford; Dick Foster, Fairgrove, Angus; Gordon Goodall, Cass City, two Angus; Linda Goodall, Cass City, two Angus; Fred Goodchild, Caro, Hereford; Jack Humpert, Reese, Angus; David Matthews, Decker, Angus; Hugh Milligan, Cass City, three Shorthorns; Edward Profit, Cass City, Angus; Arthur Randall, Cass City, two Shorthorns; Gary Randall, Cass City, two Shorthorns; Toni Rossman, Millington, Angus; Lyle Schember, Cass City, two Herefords; Rhnerd Schember, Cass City, Hereford; Leslie Severance, Decker, Shorthorn; Jerry Taylor, Millington, Hereford; Richard Tonkin, Fairgrove, Hereford, and Carl Volmar, Caro, three Angus.

That is a total of 31 steers that are expected to be in the show from Tuscola County.

In the sheep division, where Leslie Severance won the last championship for the Cass City club in 1953, six members of the club have slated entries.

Larry Goodall of Cass City will show and sell a Cheviot Cross. Wilbert Goodall will exhibit a Corriedale. Three Southdowns are entered. Jack Perry, Virginia Perry and Arthur Severance are the representatives from the local club. Showing a Shropshire will be Linda Severance.

Authorities for the Cass City Livestock Club said that they would provide free transportation to Tuscola County for any local steer purchased at the show.

In the 25 years the show has been in progress, Cass City has had either the champion lamb or steer 14 times. Twice they annexed championship honors in both events, the only club ever to do so.

In 1931, Lewis Horner had the champion steer and Dr. Dolbert Rawson the champion lamb. In 1931, Dale Leslie topped the show with his steer and Bill Zinnecker exhibited the champion lamb.

Report School Milk Program Successful In Tuscola County

From the beginning of the 1954-1955 school year, a special milk program has been available for use in county schools. Before this date, schools have taken advantage of the school lunch program.

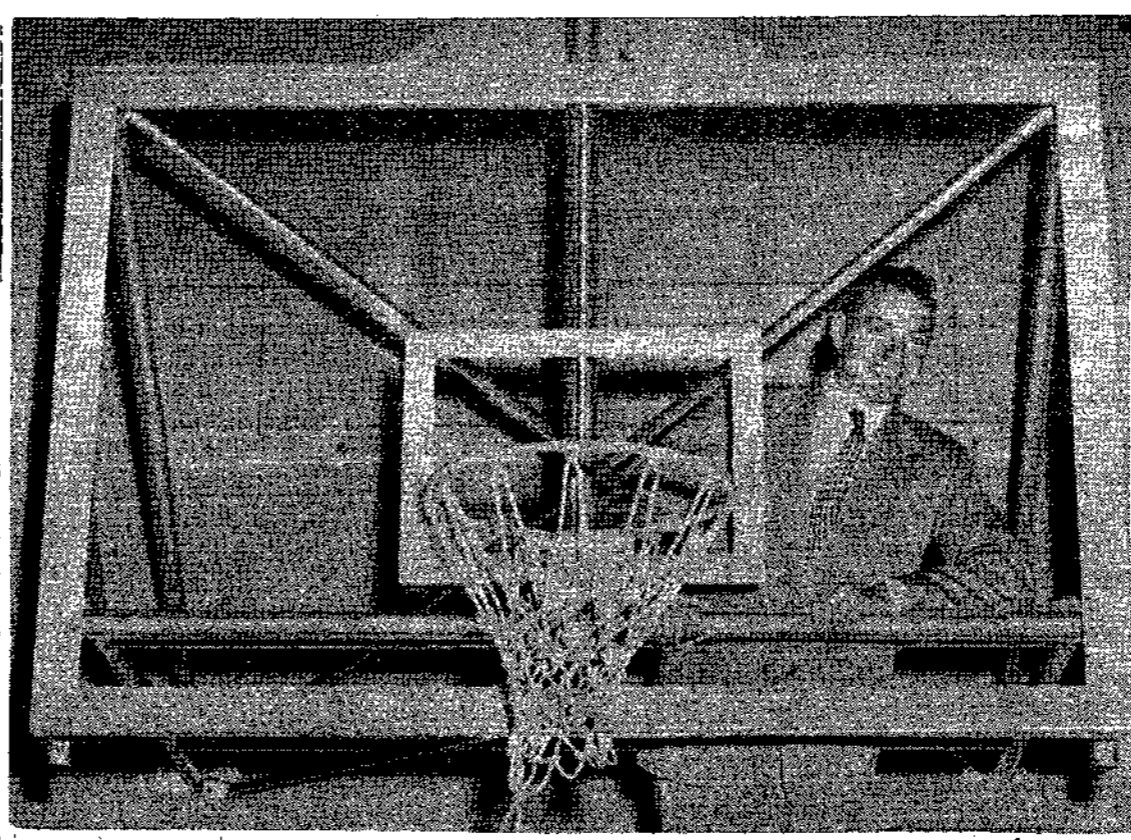

Since this special milk program has been in effect, the children of Tuscola County have increased their school milk consumption, relates the assistant county agricultural agent, Don R. Kebler. Tuscola County superintendent of schools, William Scott, compared the September 1954 and September 1955 school milk records and came up with the following results:

(1) The school milk consumption has been increased by 51% through the use of the special milk program. (2) Out of a total of approximately 40,000 half pints served in September 1954, 13 schools participated but only the Ellington school participated. Concluded on page ten

Lions Vote to Buy Presents for Needy Children

Members of the Cass City Lions Club voted to purchase a Christmas gift for a boy and girl and give them to the Junior Woman's Club of Cass City for distribution.

The action was taken at the club's regular meeting Monday evening at Parrott's Dairy Bar. After the business meeting, the club was addressed by Dave VanSlater of Leonard Refinery. Mr. VanSlater told members of the everyday use of by-products of the petroleum industry. He illustrated his address with a film. Guests of the organization were Kenneth Eisinger, Ronald Phillips and Ferris Ware.

NEW BACKBOARDS—Every Cass City team that won the right to play in the regionals at the IMA Auditorium in Flint has been hampered by the glass backboards there. When the old wood backboards became worn out at the school, authorities decided to replace them with glass. Cost to the school was limited to the glass only. E. B. Schwaderer donated the new frames that hold the backboards in place.

Winning Season Expected

Hawks Rebuilding for 1955-56 Cage Season

Although Coach Irv Claseman faces a rebuilding job with Jack Clara, the only regular returning from last year's championship quintet, prospects are bright for a good cage season in Cass City.

Although this year's squad does not figure to be as strong as the 1954-55 champions, competition is expected to be lighter.

Bad Axe, Mariette and Crosswell-Lexington, next to Cass City, the class of the league last year, have lost heavily by graduation.

In recent years, the Hawks have been noted for their accuracy from the field and the free throw line. Whether this year's team can measure up to the standard remains to be seen.

"Certainly, early in the year we will not have the shooting percentage racked up by our veteran 1954-55 squad," Coach Claseman said.

He pointed out that the squad this year will definitely be slower and will have less scoring punch. However, the team will be taller than last year's champions.

Gone are Don Simmons and Clare Comment, excellent ball handlers and outstanding shots. Gone, too, are Don Tuckey and Dick Donahue, aggressive board men with scoring punch. Gary Cummings, a first team reserve, was also lost via graduation.

Coach Claseman will replace these men with returning lettermen and a fine group of sophomores and juniors moved up from the reserve squad.

Two of these boys are taller than any of last year's regulars. Jim Ellis is the tallest man on the squad at six feet, three inches. John Meiminger, who has grown to six feet, two inches, is the only other boy on the squad that towers over the six-foot mark. Bob Martus, an accurate shot, stands at an even six feet.

Other returning lettermen are Gordon Drouillard and Dale Iseler.

Coach Claseman said that Brent Connell, a sophomore, could develop into a quick, good shooting guard, given time and practice.

Because the team held its first scrimmage Tuesday, Coach Claseman said that it was impossible at this time to single out any of the players for special praise.

Coach Claseman said that 29 boys have reported for practice this year, about half as many as tried for the squad when the season opened in 1954.

Explain Reserve Law To Local Rotarians

Major Rich of Flint explained the workings of the Reserve Forces Act of 1955 to members of the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel.

Major Rich explained the several programs available now for young men of draft age and answered questions concerning the new law that went into effect Aug. 9, this year.

Erection of the new boards had one disadvantage. Shooting practice was held up for over a week, as the new rims failed to arrive when scheduled.

Athletic Director Irv Claseman didn't seem to be worried about the lost time as he posed for this picture Tuesday morning in the gym.

Residents Ready For Community Work Day Sunday

Bill Jolly, president of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, reports that response from residents has been good for the second annual work day Sunday, Nov. 27.

Many persons in the community have already sent in cards indicating that they will be at the school at 7:30 a. m. for breakfast and the work that follows.

Volunteers will find everything ready for them to go to work. Captains of the various projects have been assigned and tools, trucks and other details of the work have been completed.

Members of the board have been working on brackets for the erection of the lighted Christmas trees on Main Street. The trees are expected to arrive Friday.

Wednesday night a special squad was to have worked placing cables across the four corners at Main and Seeger streets to support the four-foot, double faced plastic star donated to the community by the Cass City Oil and Gas Co.

During the Sunday work day, the Chamber of Commerce expects to erect all of the community owned displays.

Home Displays Home owners are reminded that time is growing short for the erection of their displays. Residents of the community this year can win prizes in two categories. Persons who have not won a prize can compete in the "new display" division and former winners will compete against each other for the grand championship.

Special plaques have been made by the Cass City High School shop class and Lloyd Vise for winners in each division.

Slate Inoculations For Sanilac Youth All children between the ages of five and nine in Sanilac County who have not previously received the Salk vaccine are now eligible to do so, authorities of the county health department announced this week.

Shots will be given at 12 school sites throughout the county next week. Students in the Evergreen area will receive inoculations at the Evergreen Township Unit School.

Besides pupils at the Evergreen School, students from the following schools will be handled in the township school: Fox, Starr, Wheeler, Arzyle, Laing, Cumber, Greenleaf, Stone, Mosier and Wickware.

The schedule calls for the shots to be administered Friday, Dec. 2, at 1:30 p. m. at the Evergreen School.

Notice I'll be taking taxes after Dec. 1 for Novesta Township. Leroy Kilbourn, township treasurer. 11-18-55

While Welding Fuel Tank

Bernard Partlo, 27, Killed in Explosion

Bernard Partlo, 27, a former Cass City resident now living in Akron, was instantly killed Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock when a 250-gallon fuel tank he was welding blew up. The accident occurred in the Partlo garage.

The explosion forced both ends off the drum. One of the ends struck the victim across the side of the face and top of the head, shearing the top of the skull and part of the face.

The force of the explosion was so great that it forced one end of the drum through a garage door into a truck parked on the outside. The end of the drum tore the running board off the truck and dented the truck door, after going through the garage door.

According to members of the family, the tank had been filled with water, emptied and steam cleaned before Mr. Partlo started welding. The tank was to have been used at the Partlo home.

The explosion broke three large plate glass windows in the garage. Mr. Partlo's father, Oliver Partlo, and an employee working in the garage were uninjured by the blast.

Mr. Partlo was well-known in Cass City. While in the community, he made his home with Mrs. Esther Willy. He was a former employee at Bolen Motors.

At the time of his death, he worked at Saginaw Steering Gear in addition to his job in the garage at Akron.

Mr. Partlo was born Feb. 9, 1928, in Akron.

Surviving, besides his father and mother, are: a son, Alan, of Bay City; five brothers, Alvin, of Lansing, and Wilbert, Richard, Keith and Lester, all of Akron; two sisters, Mrs. Patrick Doyen, of Akron, and Mrs. Charles Barry, of Caro; a grandmother, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, but services will be held in Akron.

A total of $9,812,410.65 has been collected for the four-month period, June 1 through Sept. 30. This amount is in addition to the $29,581,000 collected under the previous tax law that was dispersed last week.

The money from the gasoline tax raise of one and a half cents and other tax boosts are kept in a separate fund and divided on the basis of 75 per cent to the State Highway Department and 25 per cent to the counties, cities and incorporated villages.

Hear Three Cases Tuesday in Circuit Court at Caro

Judge Eugene F. Black of Port Huron presided at three cases heard in Tuscola County Circuit Court Tuesday in Caro.

The court awarded a judgment to CIT Credit Corporation for $349.05 and costs of $47.86 from Edward Klingbiel of Mayville. The credit company repossessed an automobile and after the sale of the car, the amount allowed was still owed by Mr. Klingbiel.

Earl Dibble of Kingston appeared in court on a contempt charge. He was ordered to show why he had not made repairs to his building in Kingston as required by the Michigan State Police.

In a previous hearing, he had been ordered to repair the roof, replace broken joists, patch the wall and remove fire hazardous material from the building.

To date he has not complied with the court order. The case was adjourned until Dec. 12.

Judge Black heard the case of Angus Dickerson vs. Oliver Grey. Mr. Dickerson charged Mr. Grey with using about 30 tons of hay that belonged to him and is seeking payment in court.

Previously, Mr. Dickerson had received a default judgment, but the order was set aside after Mr. Grey asked for an opportunity to present his side of the case.

Judge Black ordered both attorneys to file briefs and placed the case under advisement.

Joyce Donnelly Among 4-H's to Take Chicago Trip

Four Tuscola County achievement booth winners from the Tuscola County Fair will take in the sights and entertainment of Chicago Nov. 25 through Nov. 29, reports Bill Muller, county 4-H club agent.

Those making the trip are Gail Wallace of Kingston, Joyce Donnelly of Cass City, George Taggett of Caro and James White of Silverwood. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schantz of Caro will chaperone the group.

Thanksgiving week end is a very busy time in Chicago and some of the more important events that will take place include National 4-H Club Congress, International Livestock Show and the Forty-third Annual Chrysanthemum Show, one of the largest "mum" exhibits in the country, according to Muller.

The group will have an opportunity to visit several TV shows, Don McNeill's Breakfast Club and the Chicago Board of Trade. They will also have an opportunity to see Chicago all decked out in her Yuletide splendor, as Christmas will be in the air everywhere.

This award trip was made possible through the combined support of the various organizations in the county: Wallace and Morley Elevators located in Fairgrove, Akron, Gifford, and Bay Port; Golling and Unionville Elevator Companies; Hart Brothers Elevator Company, Vassar; Richville Elevator; Farm Produce Company, Cass City; Caro Farmers' Elevator; Michigan Bean Company, Caro; The Frutchey Bean Companies located in Cass City and Kingston; Tuscola County Farm Bureau Women and the W. Watch your Step!

Be sure you get a Modern Truck

Look for new CONCEALED SAFETY STEPS—a mark of today's most modern trucks that new Chevrolet Task-Force trucks bring you. They stay clear of snow, mud and ice to give you firmer, safer footing. You can see how different they are from the old-fashioned exposed running boards still used on some "new" trucks!

This is just one of the ways you're way ahead with new Chevrolet trucks! They're the most modern trucks built today!

And that holds good under the hood! These handsome huskies offer you the shortest stroke V8's* in any leading truck. That means less piston travel per mile for longer engine life. Or, you can have the most modern valve-in-head six on the market. All engines have a 12-volt electrical system for quicker, surer starting.

You get today's most modern cab, too — with advanced features like the sweeping panoramic windshield, bigger side and rear windows, and High-Level ventilation.

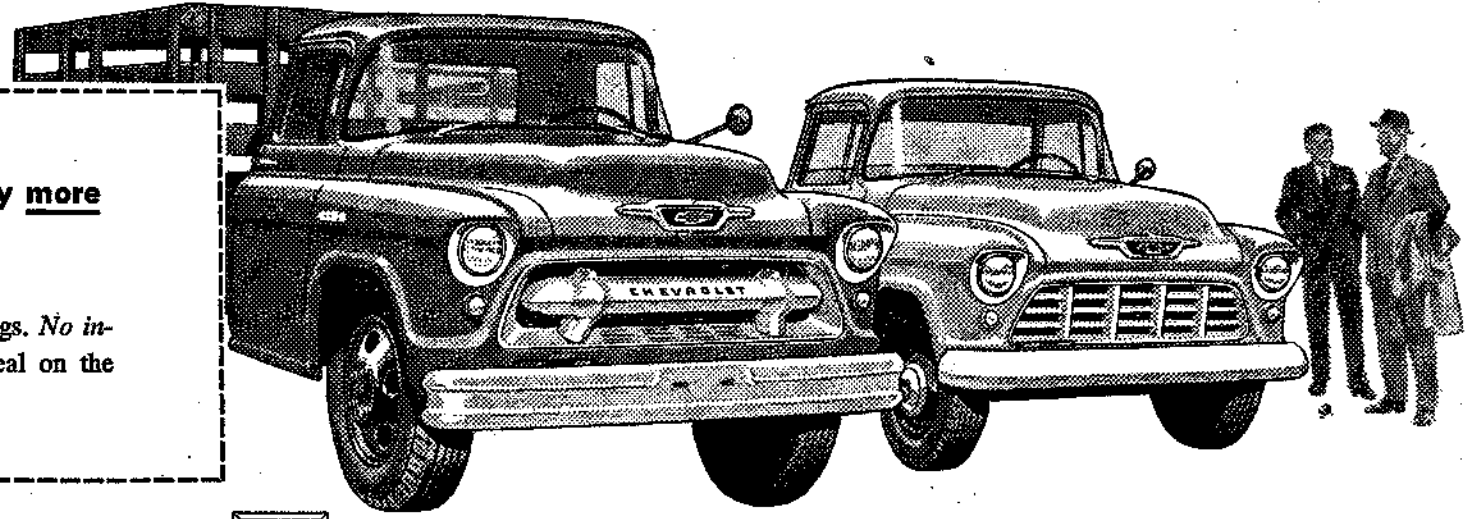

And you get the most modern truck styling going. Work-Styled Chevrolet trucks offer two different styling treatments — one for light- and medium-duty models, another for heavy-duty.

But this is just a quick once-over of the modern advantages you get. Come on in and see why anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

*V8 standard in L. C. F. models, optional in most other models at extra cost.

CARS Line

By H. M. Bulen

More drivers would take loving care of their batteries, we think, if they realized what a safety device the battery can be, as well as the reservoir for the car's electrical system.

When your car has stalled in a tight spot you can move it by turning over the engine with the starter motor and slowly slipping into gear. It's not the best thing for the battery, but it can save your life.

Besides this stand-by emergency role, what a job the battery has to shoulder! The average car today has 20 light bulbs, some models have as many as 38, to say nothing of those power-eaters, the radio, horn and starter.

Looking after your battery is a simple matter of remembering, and it can double your battery's life. Usually, water needs to be added about once a month, but if the battery needs water too often, then charging is too high. If it's only one cell that constantly needs extra water, a leak is the problem.

It's usually pretty obvious why a battery runs down; you've been driving only at night, or using the radio and heater too much. But it can come from hidden things, too, like forgetting to use a light enough oil to ease the load in winter starting.

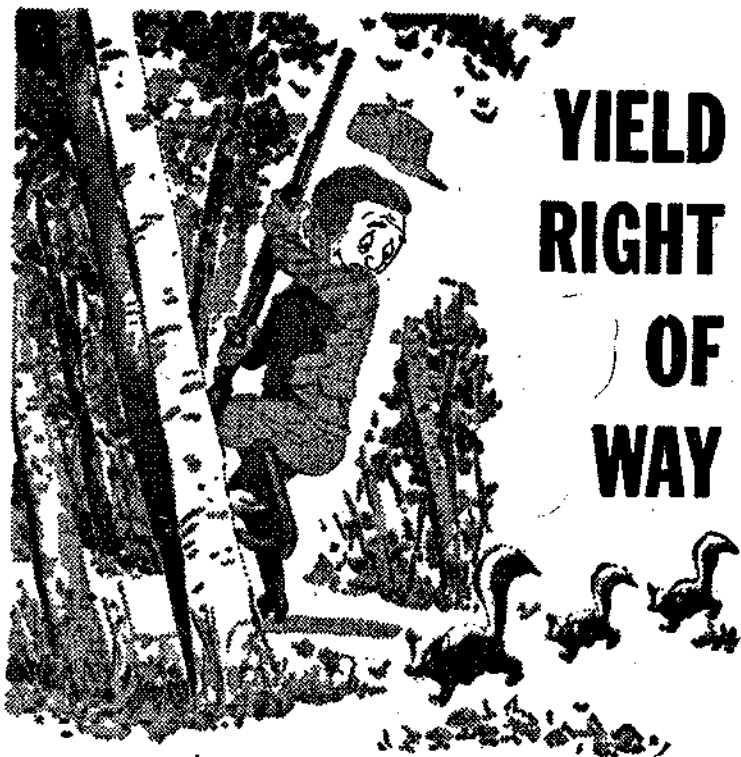

We can tell you in a jiffy the shape your battery is in. And you'll notice the cars on our used car lot start in an instant. The battery is one of the many things we check before any car goes out for sale.

Speaking of batteries, lights, etc., we often hear people say, "I wouldn't buy a car that colour because it can't be seen." If they would only turn on their parking lights when it gets dusk, it wouldn't matter what colour the car was, it would be seen.

The Law says lights must be turned on at sundown but many people fail to conform. The good driver turns on his lights when the light starts to fail, regardless of the hour. On a really dull day, in fog, snow, or a hard rain, turn on your lights. It won't hurt your battery, and it may save your life.

Feeding Roughage To Farm Animals High Energy Feeds Help Digestion

High energy feed supplements help sheep digest low-quality roughage. Sheep can digest two-thirds to three-fourths of the nutrients in a feed mixture containing 50 per cent of either ground corn cobs, sugarcane bagasse, or low quality hays, plus 50 per cent of high-energy feed supplements. Use of high energy supplements in this mixture increases the digestibility of the roughage by more than 10 per cent, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

ARS scientists determined this improved digestibility of low-grade roughages combined with half and half supplements in tests at Beltsville, Md. They fed three lots of sheep a concentrate composed of 10 per cent blackstrap molasses, 20 per cent alfalfa meal, 30 per cent ground corn, 30 per cent distiller's grain with solubles, 18 per cent soybean oil meal and 2 per cent salt. Each lot of sheep was also fed an equal weight of roughage—cobs, sugarcane bagasse, or poor grass hay.

The high-energy supplement makes for rapid multiplication of bacteria in the sheep's rumen (first stomach). The bacteria work on the roughage celluloses, breaking them down into volatile acids. Sheep digest the acids, and most of the high-protein bacteria as well. Cobs proved the most efficient of the three roughages. Crude fiber and dry matter in bagasse and poor grass hay was less well digested. Cattle and goats, like sheep, have an extra stomach that predigests rough feeds. The scientists believe that feed for these animals represents a large and potentially valuable outlet for roughage that now has little market value.

Iowa Program to Aid Heart Disease Victims

The first program designed to help farmers with heart disease continue to lead productive lives is under way in Iowa, under the sponsorship of the American Heart Association and its affiliate, the Iowa Heart Association.

The "Cardiac-In-Agriculture" project is a one-year pilot study among farmers of Iowa's Washington County and it is hoped that findings here will provide a pattern for similar projects throughout rural America.

Objective of the Iowa project is to determine the physical capacity of farmers who have heart disease and to help them through medical and social counseling, to remain active within their physical limitations.

As a forerunner of the Iowa study, a five-year research project was launched last year at Purdue University. Its purpose is to determine energy requirements for various farm tasks to provide information on time and work-saving short cuts for the cardiac farmer. Enrollment in the Iowa study will be limited to persons at least 16 years of age who are employed in agriculture and suffering from coronary, hypertensive, rheumatic, congenital or other heart disease.

MAN-MADE
Much of married women's unhappiness comes from her trying to improve on the work of nature.

History proves that any question settled by force, rather than reason, always comes up for re-settlement.

A good many people stir up a hornet's nest just for the sake of being insulted.

Michigan Mirror News Briefs

Plight of state Republicans was outlined in Muskegon last week by D. Hale Brake, who spent more than 20 years as an elected official in government.

"It won't be easy to regain control of Michigan's government," he said. "It looks like Gov. Williams will seek a fifth term, and he'll be hard to beat," he continued. "The Republicans will have to put up a top flight candidate, and even then, it won't be easy."

Recalling that "there hasn't been a majority candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket since 1938," Brake feels it would be advantageous if Republicans could reach agreement on a gubernatorial candidate who could command support from a majority of Republicans.

At present three names pop up as possible candidates. Mayor Albert Cobo, Detroit; Representative Gerald R. Ford, Jr., Grand Rapids; and Alvin M. Bentley, Owosso.

Cobo is given much attention on grounds he could pull a heavy Wayne County vote. Republicans hope to gain substantially there while polling usual majorities outstate. But it is also said that his health prevents him from running; that he wishes to retire. Ford is considered a strong possibility with personality advantages. But he holds an office in Washington which might be lost to Democrats if he should win in Michigan. His financing is believed rather limited so that he would be hard pressed, should he lose.

Bentley, who announced that he would step aside if either of the other two entered the race, looks to many like the strongest possibility. Bentley's home area is more solidly Republican, reducing danger of a Democrat gaining his seat should he leave the House in the Nation's Capitol for the governor's desk in the State Capitol.

Hoping for peace within the party, Brake warned that the GOP cannot stand a bitter primary battle next year. "There were no animosities among candidates after the 1954 primary," Brake pointed out, "but there was feeling among backers of the losing candidates, and the election campaigns lacked interest."

"The Republicans can't afford the luxury of a primary fight," commented Bentley.

The GOP spring convention will take place in Detroit May 5. In the fall they will meet in Grand Rapids on Sept. 1.

Primary election takes place Aug. 7 and the general election on Nov. 6.

It took a long time, but Storey finally won.

Workmen dug out the tall shrubs and put back some cushion yews, a small evergreen variety which look best trimmed to knee height.

"Now people can read of the accomplishments of one of Michigan's great governors," said Storey.

Storey has a special interest in old wars and warriors—he is 76, and a veteran of the Spanish-American War. He played cor-net in an army band, and was younger than the army thought.

Michigan will observe S-D Day Dec. 1.

It is one day during the year when police, motorists and the public generally attempt to live and let live for 24 hours with no accidents on the highways.

Funds to bring more industry to the state will be sought by the Michigan Economic Development Commission. A request for $125,000 will be submitted to next year's legislature. Specifically the money will be used to advertise advantages of locating industry in Michigan.

Biggest share of the sum, about $60,000, would be used for space in national business magazines. Smaller amounts will be budgeted for an industrial promotion television film, a Michigan supplement of the New York Times, exhibits at manufacturers' conventions and a national publicity campaign.

Other states are spending $3 million this year in attempts to lure Michigan industries to other localities. Dan Gerber, president of Gerber Baby Foods and Commission member, announced.

If granted, the $125,000 will become the first appropriation by the state to promote itself in this manner. Some promotion has taken place, but most of it was privately financed by power or transportation companies.

Recent figures show 234 plants in 119 Michigan Communities looking for new tenants. The fall edition of the Economic Development's Available Plant Summary, Twenty-five Years Ago.

Jim Milligan, a member of the Cass City Livestock Club, who, for four years in succession, exhibited a grand champion steer in club classes at the Michigan State Fair, has been selected by the club department of Michigan State College to represent Tuscola County at the National Boys' and Girls' Congress in Chicago Nov. 29 to Dec. 5.

Tuscola County's snow fighting equipment has been increased one third over that of last season, according to Godfrey Schultz, county road commissioner.

A social gathering was held at the Evangelical Church Monday evening to welcome the new pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Smith.

The season's total for deer hunters' licenses in Tuscola County was 736, over 100 more than for last year. Applicants' ages ranged all the way from 16 to 82 years.

Joseph Murray of Bad Axe, Democrat, will be the next sheriff of Huron County, according to the unofficial recount of the Nov. 4 vote which was completed last Thursday.

Thirty-five Years Ago.

Rev. Father Patrick J. Dwan, for many years pastor of St. Agatha's Church at Gagetown, has been transferred to a new parish in Detroit. Rev. William Henigan, assistant at Holy Trinity, Detroit, will be the new pastor at Gagetown.

James K. Brooker and Earl F. Gowen of Cass City are two of the outstanding freshmen athletes at MAC, discovered in the fall's football and track try-outs.

The new Baptist minister, Rev. A. G. Newberry, and his family of Omaha, Neb., will arrive in Cass City the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Agnes Parker, who came to Elkland Township 42 years ago, died Saturday evening at the Fred Parker farm where she and her husband settled in 1878. Mrs. Parker was 93 years old.

University of Michigan numerals have been given to two Cass City boys, Wm. Bien, 14, who made the freshman football team and who was taken on one trip by the regular team, and Ray Yakes, 14, who was fifth in a cross country run in which there were 60 participants.

SHORT STORY

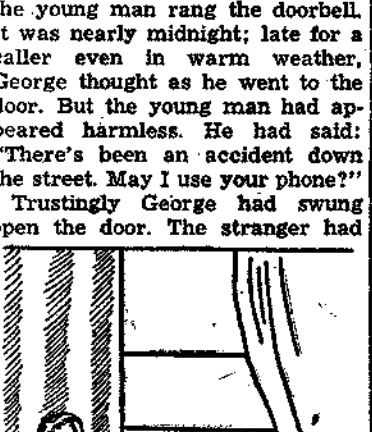

Midnight Caller

By William L. Roper

GEORGE WASSON, a small, blue-eyed man with sandy hair and bushy eyebrows, coolly eyed the thin-faced young man with the gun. George acted as though he had not seen the blue steel of the revolver in the man's right hand or knew that its barrel was pointed at his chest.

Yet despite his outward calm, George was frightened. In the bedroom behind his study, his wife, Marilyn, and their eight-months-old baby were asleep. What would happen to them, if the stranger killed him?

George had been reading in his cozy, air-conditioned study, when the young man rang the doorbell. It was nearly midnight; late for a caller even in warm weather, George thought as he went to the door. But the young man had appeared harmless. He had said: "There's been an accident down the street. May I use your phone?" Trustingly George had swung open the door. The stranger had

"What I don't get," George said, "is why you've decided to kill me." pushed past him, shoving the gun barrel against his back.

Now they were seated in George's study.

"What I don't get," George said, keeping his voice calm, "is why you've decided to kill me. I've never done anything to harm you and I can't see how murdering me is going to help you in any way."

The young man smiled knowingly and stroked his thin pointed chin. "I don't mind telling you," he said, "since you'll never be able to tell anyone. My girl friend, Susan Crawford, works at the bank. You know Susan. Well, she took twenty thousand dollars and doctored up your accounts. If I kill you and make it look like suicide, they'll suspect you, not Susan. Now do you get it?"

Clumily George nodded. "Would you mind telling me what Susan did with the money?"

"She turned it over to me, you sap. It's our nest egg." Again the young man grinned at George tauntingly.

"You mean you got her to take the money?" George persisted.

"Sure, but what's that got to do with it?"

"I just asked the question for the record," George said. "You see, I've got this room wired with an automatic recorder. When I heard you at the door, I switched it on because I thought you were a man I was expecting to discuss a deal. Everything you've said is now recorded, so when you murder me, you'll be sure to get the death sentence."

George paused, watching the effect of his words on the young man's thin face, then added: "Listen, you can hear the recorder. It makes a faint whirring noise."

The young man's narrow face paled and his hand holding the gun trembled violently. "I hear it," he said in a low voice. "I'm going to force you to hand me the record, so I can destroy it." He swung up the barrel of the revolver so that it pointed at George's face.

"The recording mechanism is locked in my wall safe," George said, "and if you destroy anything in this room, you'll only add to the incriminating evidence. It certainly won't look like suicide."

"Get that record for me." The young man's voice was desperate and George could see the terror in his eyes.

"You've only got one chance to escape," George's tone was calm and deliberate. "You and Susan might beat the rap if you make a run for it. But if you shoot me, you'll both end up in the gas chamber—and that's not a nice way to die. Unless you're crazy, you'll—"

Seizing the telephone cord, the young man tore it from the wall. Then keeping George covered, he backed toward the door.

When the front door had slammed behind his midnight visitor, George Wasson got up and crossed the room to an electric wall switch. He smiled and his hand shook a little as he switched off the light. The low, whirring hum ceased. He must remember to have an electrician check that noisy fluorescent light tomorrow. Might be dangerous.

Second—its getaway—with the double-action take-off of the new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—is spectacular even at only part throttle—and comes with a new boost in gas mileage to boot.

Third—on ride, this new SPECIAL is more than great—what with all-coil springing, and torque-tube stability, and a new deep-oil cushioning, and a whole new front-end geometry that adds a wonderful "sense of direction" to the car's travel.

Fourth—on room, luxury, interior finish—there's never been a Buick SPECIAL like this before. From the big, broad seats to the stunning new instrument panel—there's new decorator smartness and quality throughout.

in the special milk program. They served 378 units. (3) In September 1955, 35,000 half pints were served in 32 participating schools. Of this amount, 43,500 units were served by 27 schools participating in the special milk program.

The advantages of this special milk program compared with the school lunch program are: (1) Any amount of milk can be served at any time during the school day under the special milk program.
