

Discuss Friday Night Opening for Stores

Name Sites For Annual Wheat Vote July 20

Charles B. Eckfeld, manager of the Tuscola County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced this week voting locations for the annual wheat quota referendum. Voting will be held Friday, July 20.

Elkland and Novesta township farmers will vote at Damm's Implement Store in Cass City. Kingston, Koylton and Dayton township farmers will go to the Koylton Town Hall in Kingston, while Ellington and Elmwood will vote at the Ellington Town Hall.

Other townships will vote at selected sites throughout the county.

Growers eligible to vote are all those who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest on a farm in 1957. Quotas do not affect those farmers who harvest 15 acres or less of wheat on a farm.

If more than a third of the growers voting disapprove of the quotas, they will not be in effect. Price support will then be available to farmers who have complied with their farm wheat allotments at 50 per cent of parity.

Chronicle's First Builders' Section In This Issue

This year the greatest building and remodeling boom in Cass City's history is under way. New homes, new subdivisions and new business places all are making their appearance in the village and in the surrounding area.

Because of the interest in building and remodeling, the Chronicle this week has devoted a section, pages nine, 10 and 11, to the subject.

In the section will be found stories with tips for home owners, small home plans and advertisements from area merchants.

Historical Group to See Rock Carvings

The Saginaw Valley Chapter of the Michigan Archaeological Society has scheduled a trip to Michigan's only known prehistoric rock carvings at Holbrook Sunday.

The group will meet at 12 noon at the Cass City Recreational Park for a picnic lunch. Following the picnic, Dave Ackerman will guide the group to the rock carvings. Also included in the trip will be interesting pot-holes, glacial features and modern rock carvings. Some of the group will also see a "flood plain forest" located within walking distance of the prehistoric rock carvings.

The society has asked the State Historical Commission, the State Conservation Department and faculty members at Michigan State University to seek state acquisition of the land.

Little is known about the origin of the carvings. They are located a short distance from the fork of the Cass River.

Opening Cass City stores on Friday nights and closing on Saturday nights was heatedly discussed Monday evening at a meeting of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

Ten members of the organization and the board members were at the meeting in which the advantages and disadvantages of the change were brought out.

Joe Riley pointed out that other communities have found the switch successful and said it was "time Cass City became abreast of the times."

Bernard Ross pointed out that store owners he had checked with in surrounding villages found the move successful.

Among the merchants who still favor the present opening hours were R. M. Hunter and Arlan Hartwick. Mr. Hunter said that he has not had one single shopper in his store who has asked why stores in Cass City were not open on Friday evening.

Mr. Hartwick said that his business has increased Saturday evenings since other stores started staying open on Friday evenings.

After hearing the discussion, the Chamber board voted to send a ballot to every member so that they can vote on the question.

The ballot will list three choices: for the new hours, against the new hours, or not concerned with the change.

After the ballots have been returned, the board will take action on the basis of the preference of members.

TILE ARRIVES—Members of the Cass City Gavel Club were working far into the night Tuesday to bring tile for drainage of the track at the Cass City Recreation Park. Club members were using three trucks belonging to Walbro Corporation, Gross & Maier and C. R. Hunt to bring the tile from Caro to Cass City. Present plans call for the addition of the lanes to the track to be completed in time for the 1957 track season. The club will place six-inch tile around the track and eight-inch tile from the track to the sewer. Total cost of the project is expected to be around $2,000. Pictured working with one of the trucks are, from left to right: Lambert Althaver, Lloyd Vyse and William Hoey Jr. On the truck is Warren Wood. A total of 18 members worked Tuesday night.

Jury Awards Moore Damages of $7,191.83

Charles E. Moore was awarded damages of $7,191.83 from Hilbert Schiefer Wednesday in a jury decision in Tuscola County Circuit Court in Caro.

Mr. Moore sued for $25,000 for injuries suffered in an automobile accident May 28, 1955, a mile west of Millington on Millington Road.

Mr. Schiefer was said to have crossed over the center of the two-lane pavement directly in front of the car in which Mr. Moore was riding.

The jury allowed Mr. Moore $2,191.83 for expenses and $5,000 for suffering incurred by the injuries.

Members of the jury were: Dwight Hill, Charles Seddon, Ellis VanConnet, Bert Green, Rollie Darbee, Robert Kirk, Frank Balcer, Nina Rohls, Eli Thayer, Oscar Sting and Viola Orr.

Thursday, July 5, Judge T. C. Quinn appointed an attorney for Donald and Elwin Steward, accused of breaking and entering the George Moser store in Richville.

Clyde Prestly appeared before the court on a similar count of breaking and entering the Moser store in Richville and pleaded not guilty. Date of trial will be set.

Edward Galston pleaded not guilty of allegedly taking $10 and groceries by force from Sylvia Bennett in Bennett's Store in East Dayton. Trial will be set.

Unit Citation for Dale W. Groth
Dale W. Groth, when on duty with the 136th Engineer Aviation Brigade at Beale Air Force Base in California, was a member of one of the units to receive the outstanding unit award. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groth, Cass City.

The award was given for the service to the communities of Yuba and Sutter counties during the 1955 Christmas Eve flood disaster and the mid-January flood threat.

Col. John J. Livingston, commanding officer, said, "It was your individual efforts coupled with the teamwork of all other personnel assigned to this organization that made this award possible. The enthusiastic manner and cooperative spirit shown by all members of my command during this national emergency has resulted in praise by officials of the national, state and local governments. Your devotion to duty under the most trying of situations has reflected great credit on yourself and the military service."

Mr. Groth was given an outstanding unit ribbon to wear for his part in helping in the flood disaster.

From the Editor's Corner

The steel strike across the nation is expected to have little effect on local industries.

A telephone survey of plants revealed that all of the plants expect to be able to operate indefinitely.

Lambert Althaver of Walbro Corporation said that they use some steel parts but have a satisfactory supply on hand and would not be affected unless the strike dragged on so long that the national economy was down.

R. L. Basset of Cass City Manufacturing Co. said that he had "tons of steel on hand" and that the strike would not hamper their production.

Arnold Screen Cylinder Co. is closed for vacation and were not available for comment Thursday morning.

The steel strike has been felt in Deford where work on the new Deford Community School is halted due to lack of steel for the roof.

Naturally, if the strike drags on for months, everyone in the area will be affected. In the long run, the strike will be felt by all consumers regardless of how quickly it is settled. Higher prices on basic commodities are inevitable when the price of steel rises.

Girl Scouts Return From First Roundup
The Tuscola County troop of senior Girl Scouts returned Tuesday from National Roundup at Milford. They tell many interesting stories of happenings at camp. Each day the food and water had to be carried three times by the girls a quarter of a mile to their section. Cold showers were available at all times, but swimming was two miles away.

July 6th all the girls in their section went by bus to Greenfield Village, Ford Assembly plant at River Rouge and Ford Rotunda.

The local girls were the choral readers for the afternoon program given on the Fourth. That evening everyone enjoyed the program, "Ceremony of Flags," given in the large natural arena.

Sunday one of the most impressive programs, "Scouts Own" was narrated by Dorothy Fields. Some of it was done at the "swap" tent and some among the girls as they became acquainted during the day's work. They had sugar from Michigan Sugar Co., small bags of beans, plastic articles and steel wool which they made into dolls. They collected literature from many states in swap, moonstones from Wyoming, cotton from Georgia, seafood recipes, pins and pennants from many places.

Upon arrival each girl was given an official map with all troop locations, a directory listing all girls present and their place of residence and a diary. The State Police gave them a welcoming picture and Western Union, a date book.

Supervisors Hear County Hospital Problems Aired

Shufford Kirk reported at the regular monthly meeting of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors Monday in Caro, the problems connected with plans for a new county convalescent hospital.

A suggestion was made to the committee in charge that the proposed bond issue for the hospital be changed to include a county general hospital as well.

At a meeting of the committee, Thursday, July 5, members expressed doubts as to the feasibility of trying to pass both measures. At this time no plans are under consideration for changing present arrangements.

Other Business
Supervisors voted to pay necessary expenses for all county officers attending conventions concerning their offices.

Shufford Kirk, recently-elected president of the Seventh District Association of Supervisors, told supervisors that the next meeting of the organization will be held at Richville and suggested that a committee be appointed to prepare the meeting. Supervisors Mueller, Howell, Woodcock, Slaughter and Jones were appointed.

Ir Baguley discussed zoning before the board and the chairman appointed Supervisors Huston, Graham, Slaughter and Woodcock to study the zoning problem. The annual supervisors' picnic will be held at North Lake Park, Aug. 15.

Legion Auxiliary Elects New Officers
Seventeen members and one visitor were present Monday evening when the American Legion Auxiliary met with Mrs. Frank Alward. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Reatha Hughes and Mrs. William McKinley.

In the business meeting, Mrs. Arthur Little gave a report of the Seventh District meeting held Sunday at Otter Lake.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Lawrence Strace; vice-president, Mrs. Doris Klinkman; secretary, Mrs. David Mathews; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Kelley; chaplain, Mrs. Albert Keller Jr. of Caro; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Luis Salas; historian, Mrs. "Bud" Gruber, and members of the executive committee, Mrs. William Anker, Mrs. Henry Cherry of Caro and Mrs. Arthur Little.

Mrs. Cherry, a past president, will install officers at the August meeting in the Legion Hall. Approximately $15.00 was realized from a white elephant sale.

The door prize went to Mrs. James Stapleton of Caro. The committee served pie almodame and coffee.

Merchants Forfeit Scheduled Game
Because only six members of the team showed up for the game, the Cass City Merchants forfeited a scheduled game with Mayville, July 4.

The loss dropped the team from first place. A game slated Sunday against North Branch was rained out. The Merchants will play at Otisville Sunday and are scheduled to meet North Branch as a part of Cass City's home-coming celebration Aug. 2.

Name First 10 to Pay Village Taxes
Mrs. Wilma Fry this week announced the names of the first 10 persons in the village to pay taxes this year. They are: Wesley Perry, John E. Gruber, Steve Harbec, Dave Ackerman, Mrs. C. Howarth, Mrs. Mary McGillivray, Harold Waldie, Mrs. William Willard, Frank Hegler and Earl Streeter.

Entries are now being accepted for the second annual Cass City home-coming queen contest, Keith McConkey announced this week.

Sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, the event is open to any single girl from 16 through 26 years of age.

Judges will select a queen and two attendants to reign for the day. Prizes will be awarded the queen and her court and gifts will be given to all contestants.

Contestants will be required to wear semiformal dresses and will ride in the annual home-coming parade.

Girls interested in entering the contest should contact Mr. McConkey at his jewelry store on Main Street.

Plans Progressing
At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board Monday evening, final plans were completed for the event. This year Basil Bigham is in charge of concessions which are limited to local organizations.

Persons wishing a concession this year are asked to contact Mr. Bigham so that space can be allotted at the park.

Children planning to enter the annual kids' parade are asked to contact Mike Yedinak for instructions.

Tax Rate Slightly Higher Re-elect All Officers To School Board

Lester Ross was elected to another term on the Cass City school board Monday when 29 persons voted in the annual election. He was unopposed for office.

The annual meeting, held after the polls closed, revealed that a total of $313,814.84 was spent from the general fund by the district in 1955-56. Last year the school spent $286,092.46.

The increase in cost this year was primarily in increased cost for instruction. A total of $197,401.64 was spent as compared to $166,584.06 in 1954-55.

Of the amount spent from the general fund, $10,000 was transferred to a building and site fund. The new grade school boosted the cost of plant operation from $19,702.48 in 1954-55 to $27,926.26 this year.

The district had an operating balance of $19,117.25 to start the new year.

Higher Taxes
School taxes will be .9 of a mill higher this year. Nine-tenths of a mill is 90¢ for each $1,000 of property valuation. Residents will pay six and a half mills for operating expenses and 3.3 mills for debt. The taxes are based on the state's equalized valuation.

Tuition costs for the year have not been set but are expected to be more than they were last year.

Elect Officers
After the meeting officers of the board were elected.

All officers were re-elected to the posts they held last year. Officers are: Lester Ross, president; Mrs. H. T. Donahue, treasurer; Dr. D. E. Rawson, secretary, and Luke Tuckey and James Gross, trustees.

Annex District
Holbrook School is now a part of the Cass City School District. It was transferred to Cass City by the boards of education of Sanilac and Tuscola Counties.

The annexation of the district will be followed by many more as new state laws require annexation of districts or opening of schools in the district.

Mrs. Fry Speaks To Local Rotarians
Mrs. Wilma Fry explained the various activities in village government Tuesday noon at the regular meeting of the Cass City Rotary Club at the New Gordon Hotel.

Mrs. Fry explained how she had been hired in 1947 as secretary and recounted her experiences as secretary and treasurer since that time.

She traced the growth of village government and explained the budget for Rotarians. She explained that it cost about $2,000 for the village to maintain the pool and another $1,000 to maintain the park.

She pointed out the increased cost made necessary by the new sewage disposal system and of proposed subdivisions.

She said that her job as clerk and treasurer kept her abreast of activities in the village and has proved "extremely interesting."

Take Car Speakers
Huron County sheriff's officers are investigating theft of 15 car speakers from the Blue Sky Drive-in Theater near Caseville. The speakers were taken over a period of 10 days.

Coming Auction
Saturday, July 21—Mrs. Rexford Nichols will sell cattle and machinery at the farm, four miles east, two miles south and a half mile east of Cass City.

Name Two to Deford School Board Monday

Thirty-seven voted in the annual school election in the Deford consolidated school district Monday evening. Claud Peasley and Louis Babish were elected to full terms. Mr. Peasley is president of the board; Mrs. Grant Fringle, secretary, and Arthur Hartwick, treasurer. The other board member is Stanley Van-Vliet.

Voters authorized the board to sell the Quick, Seelbach, Leek, Greenwood and Ferguson school-houses which are no longer in use.

Work on the new school building, which was to have been ready for the opening of school in September, has been curtailed because of the steel strike. Steel needed for the roof structure is not available.

Swimming Program Recreation Feature
The recreation program for next week includes a swimming carnival slated from 7:30 to 10 p. m. Friday at the pool. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Yedinak announced this week.

Prizes will be offered for winners in many different events. Awards will be given for the best demonstrations of the back stroke, side stroke, breast stroke, American crawl, formation swimming and lifesaving.

Prizes will be given for the funniest dive, best diving form for three different dives and the farthest dive.

Many different races will be staged. They include: across the pool and back, length of pool and back, underwater race and other races.

Contestants will be divided by age to equalize competition and anyone can enter.

The feature of the evening will be a penny scramble.

The recreation department announced that the annual all-day picnic at Sleeper State Park Tuesday was successful. A bus load of children left the playground at 9:30 and returned at 4 p. m. The department was assisted by Mrs. James Ballard who helped chaperone the children.

A complete program each morning for all-age groups. Special evening programs include a pre-dance swim Tuesday from 7 to 8 p. m., followed by a free dance at the tennis courts and adult swimming on Thursday from 7 to 9 p. m.

There's Life In Old Dobbin Yet In Cass City Area
There's life in old dobbin yet! While there's no disputing that the tractor has supplanted horses on most farms, don't think that nobody wants a team anymore.

Two weeks ago Archie Hoagg advertised his team for sale. He dropped into the Chronicle office after the ad had run and reported that no less than 15 persons had come out to the farm interested in buying.

Did he sell the team? Well, he hasn't quite closed the deal yet... still indulging in another of the old favorite pastimes of horse traders anywhere... dicker about the price.

50 Bulk Tanks Now In Use in County

Tuscola county dairymen are converting to bulk handling of milk. County agricultural agent Alfred Ballweg estimates there are 50 in use on farms now, and several are going in each week.

And the trend is statewide. About 1,000 bulk tanks have been installed on Michigan farms thus far, estimates Donald L. Murray, extension dairyman at Michigan State University. He predicts that more tanks will be installed this year than the present total.

The Michigan Milk Producers' Association estimates that their membership is installing one a day on the average.

Here are some advantages and disadvantages farmers should consider when they plan bulk milk handling, suggests Ballweg.

The initial cost for a bulk tank is much larger than new can facilities would be in order to handle the same volume. The investment cost per gallon of capacity is high for a small bulk tank, but it decreases rapidly for the larger sizes.

Can lifting can be eliminated and time washing cans takes more time than cleaning a bulk tank.

Although the time saving may be important on many farms, it is not likely to permit a reduction of the labor force. The result of converting to bulk milk handling may be a shorter working day, however. And the facilities could make it easier to attract and hold skilled workers.

A farmer with a bulk tank won't have as much loss of butterfat and milk because of stackage, the saving over the loss on cans may be as much as one per cent in milk and more in butterfat.

Some farmers get as much as 15 cents per hundredweight premium for bulk milk. But this probably won't last indefinitely.

And off-flavor milk could be a problem unless there is careful management. An entire tank of milk might be off-flavor because of the milk from only one cow. The problem, however, is not serious, Ballweg says, and good milking practices will solve it.

More information on bulk tank handling of milk is available at the county extension office. Ask for a free copy of F-173, "Bulk Tank Cooling of Milk on the Dairy Farm."

Slate Conference For Homemakers

On July 17 homemakers from all over Michigan will assemble on the beautiful campus of Michigan State University for the 29th annual homemakers' conference, according to Mrs. Francis T. Clark, county home demonstration agent.

The program features such speakers as Tennyson Guyer, director of public relations, Cooper Tire and Rubber Company, Findlay, Ohio; Donald Buck, safety director, office of transportation, Department of Army; and Coral Lane, Shell Oil Company.

There will be time to sing, visit and enjoy meeting old friends and making new friends.

BULEN TALKS Cars

THE FIRSTEST WITH THE MOSTEST

A few people have known the Oldsmobile's well-kept secret for a long time. I think everybody should know. Most Oldsmobile owners have already guessed it.

The Olds for a number of years has been the car where the innovations have been introduced first. The whole idea behind its planning has been to produce a luxury car—with all the luxury features—at a medium price.

Who introduced the four-door hardtop? Oldsmobile. Who introduced the curved windshield? Oldsmobile. There's been a lot of talk this year about padded dashboards. Who had them in 1953? Oldsmobile.

This year there are many, many things to talk about in the Olds, and I usually do. In my enthusiasm I remind myself of the proud Texan who was asked if it was really true they had 365 days of sunshine a year in Texas. Yes, he drawled, and that's a pretty conservative estimate.

Perhaps you've noticed how automatic transmissions in other cars bump and jerk when you shift up or down. You practically need a doctor's stethoscope to hear the Old's jet-away Hydramatic transmission make a shift.

There's no lurch when the car slows down for a traffic light and the gears shift down, as I've noticed on other cars. The Hydramatic transmission came out on top in comparison tests with other systems on fuel economy, too.

The technical reason for the elimination of that lurching feeling is that an additional fluid coupling and two clutches have been worked into the system. You can't see it, but you can sure feel it—the smoothness of take-off gives the advertising boys every right to use that word 'Jet-away' I think.

TRADE-IN VALUE. Latest figures reveal that Oldsmobile carries the HIGHEST TRADE-IN VALUE OF ANY CAR. That is, you receive a larger percentage of the original price when you trade in an Olds, surpassing even its older "Cousin Cadillac."

Since the Rocket Engine was introduced in 1949 Oldsmobile has really come to the fore. It is now in 5th place in sales, only a few thousand behind the 4th place car, a so-called "Low Priced Car."

Come in and drive an "88," then let us price one to suit. You'll be surprised how little more will put you in an Olds.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

A law to "save your life" will be advocated by Secretary of State James M. Hare to state legislators when they reconvene on July 17. Designed to remove "bad drivers" from Michigan highways, this legislation will deny license renewals to proven poor driving risks.

During the last 12 months 25,000 licenses were denied drivers applying for renewals according to the Secretary of State. About 15,000 rejections were based on bad driving records.

The appellation was upset last month when Judge Marvin Salem of Ingham County ruled that at present, the Department of State does not have power to deny license renewals because of "bad driving" records. Hare now hopes to widen the scope of the law to cover these persons.

What effect does this decision have on people who were refused renewal because of bad driving records?

"In effect," Hare states, "Judge Salem's decision requires that we conduct hearings in each case.

So 15,000 hearings must be held. "This places an exceedingly heavy load upon examiners," comments Hare. "It will be impossible for us to screen out the worst drivers."

There are an estimated 3,000,000 good drivers in Michigan. According to Hare this change in the law is asked to protect these drivers. Nothing in the present statute will be altered. The right of appeal to hearings before local boards and the courts will remain protected.

"It should be clearly understood that we do not have the slightest desire to harass the great majority, who are good drivers," Hare states. "We want to remove from the road that tiny minority which is the great cause of our highway accidents."

Does your community need help in securing industry for future expansion? One of the services offered by the Michigan Department of Economic Development provides expert assistance in surveying community facilities and evaluating them for industry.

Six industrial agents work full time to bring new industry to Michigan.

"Community service is an important phase of their job," says Director Don C. Weeks. "We want to show Michigan towns and cities how to help themselves. Our industrial agents are experts in surveying facilities and aiding in setting up local industrial development programs."

Another aspect of the industrial agent's activity is contacting manufacturers throughout the nation to secure new industry for Michigan. A list of Michigan communities fitting the requirements of the manufacturer's needs are presented to him and trips to these towns are arranged.

More than 50 Michigan communities have already formed local industrial development corporations.

Much Interest in Pulpwood Meeting

Considerable interest was shown at the Tuscola county pulpwood marketing meeting held July 2, remarks assistant county agricultural agent Don R. Kehler.

Owners, sawmill operators and buyers of aspen pulpwood learned good management and marketing practices from district forester Allen Boelter. The buyers of two paper mills were present and indicated their companies' desire to buy pulpwood.

Following the meeting the groups visited the pulpwood logging operation in the Deford state game area.

In brief, pulpwood harvesting consists of the following management practices:

- (1) Pulpwood can be sold either peeled or unpeeled.
- (2) Bolts are bought in either 50 or 96 inch lengths, (3) Harvesting is best done during the months of late March through August at the time that the bark peels the best. Unpeeled logs can be harvested any time, (4) Both the peeled or unpeeled bolts must be stacked but not allowed to become too dry, (5) Bolts having less than 4-inch inside bark diameter will not be bought, (6) Aspen trees reach a maturity between the ages of 30 to 50 years. Generally all the trees in a grove are of the same age, regardless of size, (7) Usually it is best to clear-cut the grove if possible.

An owner can either harvest his own pulpwood, or buyers will harvest it for him. These buyers will pay for the cords of wood cut, and sell it to the paper manufacturers.

Kehler urges all owners of aspen to investigate this source of income. However, a good practice to follow is to make out an agreement between the cutter and the owner before harvesting begins.

Further information can be obtained by either contacting the area district forester or your county agricultural agent's office.

For the past 18 years, our proved reserves of crude oil have been equal to 13 times the amount produced.

Build a Barbecue For Better Living

There's nothing like a backyard fireplace for cooking delicious hamburgers, hot dogs or charcoal steaks. And as a spot around which to plan your outdoor activities it can't be beaten.

Unfortunately, many a home maker has felt that building a stone fireplace was one job he wasn't able to tackle. Actually, building a barbecue is not as difficult as one might think. The introduction on the market of packaged, stock outdoor fireplaces, with the proper amount of stone cut to the exact size, and numbers has put this project within easy reach of almost any do-it-yourself mason.

The oven, grill and metal work no longer pose a problem. A number of sizes and styles are now available which will fit practically any size barbecue you might want to build.

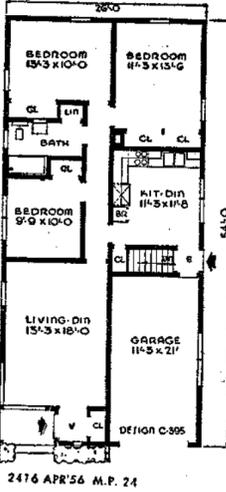

Many stone dealers carry these stock pre-cut fireplaces, but if your local dealer does not have them available, he can supply you with the necessary stone as well as complete directions for building an attractive barbecue. Chances are if you haven't visited a stone yard before, you'll be amazed at the variety of colors and types of natural stone which are available. There is a stone which will harmonize with any garden setting, from rustic to the most formal. And you'll find that almost all types of stone are cut in an easy-to-handle four-inch thickness.

But when you decide to build your backyard barbecue, don't take all the fun out of it by attempting to build it all in one day. Pace yourself. Make it a family affair and enjoy it even before it's ready for those delicious steaks and franks.

Americans will spend about 130 million dollars this year for 50 million gallons of household and commercial insecticides, most of which are derived from oil.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-395

DESIGN C-395. A narrow lot usually presents problems of planning, especially if an attached garage with a front drive-in is required. In this case the garage is incorporated under the main roof and results in a narrow rectangular plan. Designs call for frame construction, hip roof, wide siding, picture window, covered front entrance and brick planter.

There is a full basement, except under the garage, and the first floor consists of vestibule, living room, three bedrooms, bath, and a large, well-arranged combination kitchen-dinette.

Storage space is provided for in large wardrobe closets, linen cabinet, broom closet and two coat closets.

Floor area is 1131 sq. ft. and cubage is 21,489 cu. ft., not including garage.

Design Fences for Privacy, Comfort

You can have an air-conditioned yard with plenty of privacy if you design your fences to allow for a free flow of breezes. Many new designs add charm to your red cedar fences while still keeping you cool. You can use fence boards set as louvers, or alternate flat boards on either side of top and bottom rail and many other styles.

Lots of Color Will Improve Your Home

Looking for a "sure way" to give your home a distinctive touch, one that's different from the neighbors?

Try color. Lots of it. That's the advice of Mrs. William Johannesen, who has been decorating the houses her husband has been building for 35 years in Seattle, Wash.

With "thousands of homes" to cite as experience, Mrs. Johannesen urged women to be "more imaginative" in paint and wallpaper selections. She said:

"Too many women lack the homes. There isn't a color in the world you can't use if you keep it soft."

Mrs. Johannesen's particular favorites are coral, turquoise and shades of brown. But she emphasized that she used all hues except those that are harsh or green. She said:

"Green has been overdone. It needs a rest."

The interior decorator also pitches in with ideas to incorporate in the building plans—ones she "knows a woman would like."

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-291

DESIGN C-291. First floor has L-shaped living room, combination kitchen-dinette, three bedrooms, bath.

Plumbing costs are reduced by grouping kitchen, bathroom and laundry piping in one wall. A full basement with furnace is in center of house.

Wardrobe closets are used in bedrooms and extra coat and linen closets are provided. Front vestibule is easily reached from kitchen.

Exterior finish includes shingle siding, asphalt shingles, brick planting area, picture window and covered entrance. Floor area is 1242 sq. ft. Cottage 23,595 sq. ft.

For further information about DESIGN C-291, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

To get the greatest possible use from your basement, it is wise to plan its future uses carefully when you are building, suggests the Better Basement Institute.

Pointing out that a full basement, often costs less than a small storage space built above ground, the institute says that modern basements are used for recreation rooms, TV rooms and even bedrooms, as well as for storage, laundry and workshop.

Even if you do not plan to make full use of basement space immediately, the institute suggests that you include wide windows for adequate light and a direct outside entrance to make the basement more accessible.

Planning your future basement expansion when you build will enable you to place plumbing lines, heating ducts and electrical wiring between the basement ceiling joists so that they will be hidden when basement rooms are finished.

Mr. Gray was employed as general manager of the Moczak Tool and Die Company of Bad Axe.

Surviving are his wife; one son, Dayton Gray of Bad Axe; his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Evans of Dryden, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home with Rev. Melvin Vender officiating. Burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Shagena of Detroit spent the week end at their farm home here.

Newer Dwellings Have More Rooms

Houses are getting larger, says the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Two-thirds of all homes started in the first quarter of last year had three bedrooms or more, the bureau reports, and the average floor area of 1,140 square feet was five per cent larger than houses built in 1951.

Durable and popular frame construction was used in 82 per cent of the one-family houses started throughout the country, and variations by regions ran from 76 per cent in the south to 89 per cent in the northwest, the survey shows.

Of the new houses with frame construction, 38 per cent used wood facing, like the popular siding patterns of fir, hemlock and red cedar. Only 40 per cent of new five-or-more family apartments had more than one bedroom, the survey points out, and even in this category frame construction accounted for 45 per cent of the total apartment dwelling units started.

American farmers today have nearly 20 billion dollars worth of equipment that needs fuel and lubricants from the oil industry.

Currently it costs the oil industry an average of $1.08 to find each new barrel of oil in the ground.

Tells How to Repair Your Furniture

"Something old, something new" is not just a bridal tradition, but rather, a modern concept of a charming home.

When blending the past with the present, however, antiques should not appear worn and neglected. They must gleam with care, and be deliberately placed to accentuate their own beauty. Do not classify them as cast-offs that will be used "until we get something new."

Woods such as cherry, walnut, mahogany, maple and oak have grains and colors that should be emphasized. Woods that are not lovely in themselves should be painted or enameled.

If you're going to rejuvenate your furniture, follow the directions in "Refinishing Furniture," extension bulletin 295.

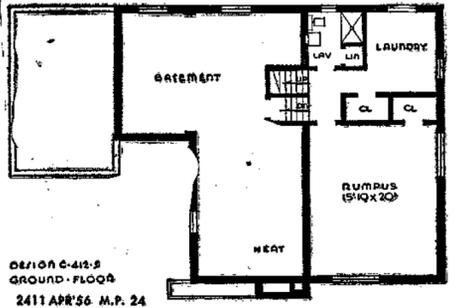

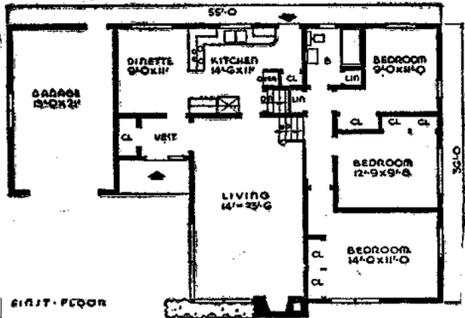

Instructions are given for removing old finish and suggestions are offered for proper types of finish remover. If your old pieces have surface defects, there are remedies for eradicating them. Often, stains and dark spots can be eliminated and small holes can be filled with a shellac stick.

Two of the most essential factors toward enhancing a child's appreciation of music is that he be exposed to good music and the music be presented by someone who is enjoying it.

Landscape Survey Needed for Yard

Any buyer of a new home will tell you that the cost does not end with the house. There still is the yard to be seeded or sodded and trees and shrubbery to be planted.

Landscape planning is the frame for the picture which is your home, and as much knowledge should go into its planning as went into the house itself.

In "Landscape Planning for Residential Properties," written by MSU's Cooperative Extension Service, you'll find sketches and detailed information on the subject.

After you purchase your property and build your home, you'll begin a landscaping survey. You'll need an accurate and complete description of the area involved—information that includes the location of property lines, buildings of all types, with entrances and windows indicated, fences, walks, driveway, trees, septic tank, telephone poles, slope of the land and views from the property.

You'll want to consider the fact that low, ranch-type homes should have smaller trees, lower shrubs than have the two-story models. You'll analyze your outdoor requirements, such as work- and play areas, patios, fences and outdoor grills.

To make your home as attractive on the outside as it is on the inside, read circular E-2, "Landscape Planning for Residential Properties," available from MSU.

Pottery, china and porcelain all are types of ceramics; the difference lies in the translucency of the three. Pottery has none at all; china is more or less translucent; and porcelain is highly translucent.
