

From the Editor's Corner

In recent weeks we've heard questions and complaints from various sources about the proposed Cass City Community Hospital.

With a project of this magnitude and long duration there is naturally some confusion and misinformation. These are the facts.

To build a hospital that will meet the needs of the area, representatives in charge of dispensing of Hill-Burton funds feel that the minimum size would be 42 beds.

Present hospital costs range from a little over $10,000 to $15,000 a bed bringing the approximate cost of a hospital to between $400,000 and $600,000.

In addition, the authorities say that about $50,000 cash on hand is needed to handle current receipts, bringing the total needed from $450,000 to $650,000. These figures are exclusive of the land the hospital would be located on.

The Hill-Burton representatives are the people who decide whether or not to contribute up to 55 per cent of the cost of hospitals in the state.

These representatives are more interested in building a hospital in or near Caro to serve an area that includes Cass City. However, if this community had its share of the funds it is likely that they would contribute, although they have not definitely committed themselves.

The Cass City Community Hospital fund now has over $90,000. Figuring the hospital at $550,000 (half way between the high and low figures), the community must still raise about $158,000.

To raise this money, the feasibility of forming a hospital authority in the area served and bonding for the necessary funds was investigated. However, four tenths of one mill is the limit that can be raised by this method ... much too small to help in the construction.

Although these facts do not paint a bright picture, plans for a hospital in the near future are not dead.

Persons close to the picture believe that its construction now hinges on several large donations that may or may not materialize.

Orto Explains Marshal's Job In Cass City

The third in a series of talks about village government by officials of the village was presented to Cass City Rotarians Tuesday noon by Marshal Steve Orto at the New Gordon Hotel.

Marshal Orto explained the duties and jurisdiction of his job. Previously, Rotarians had heard Nelson Willy and C. U. Brown explain the sewage disposal plant and Mrs. Wilma Fry tell of the clerk's and treasurer's jobs.

Mr. Orto said that his normal work week was nine hours a day, six days a week. He stressed that he was on 24-hour call in case of emergencies.

He explained that he was on patrol duty from 7 p. m. to about 1 a. m. daily and that from 1 a. m. to 4 a. m. he walked a beat trying doors of business places.

In the police department, Mr. Orto pointed out, there are himself and two relief men. The department has a patrol car equipped with a two-way radio. The radio can contact the sheriff's departments of Sanilac, Huron and Tuscola counties and the State Police Post in Bay City.

Marshal Orto explained the changes in ordinances in the village since he was hired in 1949 and told how the traffic violation bureau and predetermined fine system were established in the village.

If Quotas Accepted '57 Support Price For Wheat Set at $2 a Bushel

Farmers voting in the wheat marketing quota referendum at selected sites throughout the county Friday, July 20, now have the necessary information to make a decision, Charles B. Eckfeld, county office manager of the Tuscola County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced this week.

Wheat support price for 1957 production has been set at an average of $2 a bushel if marketing quotas are approved. The unit rate for determining payments under the wheat acreage reserve of the soil bank in 1957 has been set at 60 per cent of the national average price support level.

The unit rate payment of the soil bank will be about $1.20 a bushel, if quotas are approved.

If more than a third of the voters disapprove the quotas, the 1957 wheat crop will drop to 50 per cent of parity and the soil bank will pay 60 per cent of the price-support level then in effect.

Both the price support and soil bank payments are the same this year as they have been set, if quotas are adopted for next year.

All growers who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat for grain on a farm in 1957 are eligible to vote Friday. Because growers who produce less than 15 acres are not affected by quotas, they will be ineligible to vote.

Farmers do not necessarily have to be on county ASC registers to be eligible to vote.

Cass City in '07 Recalled By First Class Annual

Editor's note: Buried deep in a forgotten file at the Chronicle we found the first school annual ever produced at Cass City High School. The 76-page booklet contains interesting information about the school and the community. Facts for this story were taken from the annual which may be seen at the Chronicle office.

Way back in 1907 the senior class of Cass City High School, 11 strong, produced the first class annual of the school.

Besides the usual information, such as class mottoes, songs and other related information, the 1907 edition featured poems, an original diary (written to the tune of "Somebody's Waiting for You") and page after page of stereotyped jokes.

Although the class had its work published what they described as with "considerable hesitation," they were proud of producing the first annual and it was strongly supported by local

Burdon Pitches No-hitter in Babe Ruth Loop Game

Southpaw Paul Burdon pitched Cass City to a close 2-1 victory over Sebawaing Tuesday afternoon as he became the first pitcher in the Babe Ruth League to pitch a no-hitter this season.

Burdon struck out 14 and walked a pair in his no-hit performance. Adams from Sebawaing was almost as effective. He limited Cass City to three hits, walked five and struck out 11.

Cass City combined one of their hits with a pair of walks in the first inning to score their only two runs of the game. Fox walked and was thrown out at second as Burdon reached first on a fielder's choice. Dave Wilson also drew a base on balls and both runners advanced on a passed ball.

Fred Leeson smashed a sharp single into right to chase both Cass City runners across.

John McCormick, in charge for the absent Iv Claxeman, said that Lou Bishop umpired a very good game in the tight contest.

Although the game was the final of the regular season before the play-offs, McCormick said that a practice session would be held at the Cass City Recreation Park at 6:15 p. m. Friday evening.

A CITY DISAPPEARED:
IN THE EARLY 1900'S A FLOURISHING COMMUNITY IN MONROE COUNTY WAS NAMED CLARK CITY. BY 1917 THE ENTIRE CITY HAD VANISHED. THE ONLY TRACE OF IT REMAINING NOW IS A CEMETERY, WHICH WAS RECOVERED LAST SUMMER ON THE WILKINSON FARM, 12 MILES NORTH OF MONROE.

THE MARTENS ARE COMING:
HIGHLY PRIZED FOR THEIR BEAUTIFUL FUR, THE SMALL "WEASEL-LIKE" MARTEN USED TO roam MICHIGAN'S UPPER PENINSULA, BUT WERE TRAPPED INTO EXTINCTION THIS YEAR THE CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT IS ATTEMPTING TO REPRODUCE MICHIGAN WITH THE ANIMAL. BULEN TALKS Cars

Auto accessories may seem weird sometimes, but you've got to admit they usually fill a need.

In the early days of motoring, when the poor suffering motorist had a lot of unfilled needs, the gadgets came along, and they were just as weird as they are today.

One company proudly advertised a Collapsible Rubber Auto Wash Basin. You propped it up on the fender after getting yourself covered with grease from fixing the car and quick as a flash you could have a thorough wash-up.

When not in use, the basin folded up like an opera hat. It had another advantage, in cold weather you could fill it with hot water and use it as a foot warmer.

There was a big need for heating devices and for many years before the First World War another company did a flourishing business selling metal boxes into which the shivering motorist stuffed charcoal bricks which he heated on the stove at home.

The "rich velvet plush" models cost as much as $10. The need for car heaters is still here, of course, because whatever else we may have improved, we haven't improved the weather.

One of the advantages of buying a used car at our lot is that practically every model already has a heater. Its not an "extra," it won't add a nickel to the price

The only "extras" we add are service, quality and value. Summer is the time for motoring pleasure. If you figure on a New or Used Car later this year, come in now. Let us show you, let you drive your selection, figure with a "Sharp Pencil."

New Car Stock is moving fast. Should the Steel Strike continue, we won't be able to replace them. Don't be disappointed.

If you've passed our Lot lately, you'll agree we have the finest looking bunch of OK Used Cars in this part of the State. Guaranteed too. We'd be proud to show them to you!

FORD TRUCKS

Lowest-priced tandem in its class! New Ford T-80 lets you carry up to 1 1/2 tons more payload than most other 6-wheelers in the 42,000-lb. GVW weight class.

Big-truck loads at light-duty costs! New Ford F-850 is rated for up to 1,000 lbs. more GVW than other "1-tonners." GVW 9,800 lbs. (with dual rear tires).

More loadspace than any other 1/2-ton pickup—up to 19 cu. ft. more! New Ford F-100, GVW 5,000 lbs., now offers full 8-ft. box at slight extra cost. 6 1/2-ft. box is standard.

New 170-in. wheelbase now available on Ford C-600 Cab Forward "2-tonner," for 16- to 18-ft. bodies! Max. GVW 19,500 lbs. Choose from three Short Stroke V-8's

COST LESS

ANY WAY YOU FIGURE IT . . . Ford Trucks cost less. Take initial cost—Ford, based on factory-suggested list prices, has more models priced under competition than any other line.

But low initial cost is only the beginning. Take resale value—it stays high, thanks to the demand for used Fords. Take operating costs—they stay low, with Ford's modern, economical Short Stroke engines. And Ford Trucks cost less to maintain because they last longer. This is a fact certified by independent insurance specialists.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Despite growing concern, narcotics traffic among Michigan young people is not a major problem of law enforcement here, says State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

Few complaints about dope originate in rural areas. State Police estimate that of the 195 cases investigated in 1955, some 85 per cent occurred in the populous parts of Wayne County. Narcotics peddlers remain a chief target of police activity. According to Childs, most dope entering the state is driven in by automobile from Chicago or Cleveland.

"Effective interception of illegal narcotic shipments is a prime objective of our efforts in this area," Childs says. "The detective branch of the State Police has been successful in the past in confiscating large quantities of narcotic supplies."

"Let George do it," the familiar catch-phrase denoting escape from an unpleasant job, is being capitalized into the newest of Michigan's summer festivals. "George" will receive "his" day of honor at Corunna, county seat of Shiawassee County.

Town fathers have proclaimed Aug. 11 and 12 "George Do It Day." They plan a festival complete with street dances and barbecue honoring the mythical man of many talents.

Everyone attending the festivities will lose his given name for the day. All men are to be called "George" while the women will be known as "Georgia."

Idea for the new festival came about when Corunna started a campaign for city improvement.

"As little as one year ago Corunna was as dead as a town could be, all because 'George' was supposed to do it," Frank Dunham, editor of the Shiawassee News comments. "Then things began to happen. Slow at first, as is always the case, then in a steady tempo. More new buildings went into construction than ever before in Corunna's history. A $890,000 sewer program was passed by the city council."

Unique attractions provide Michigan visitors with special entertainment throughout the summer. "George Do It Day" should join the many special summer events, including the Ionia Free Fair and the Lowell and Chesaning Showboats, as the "something extra" that both residents and tourists enjoy seeing.

An efficient system of alert fire spotters is doing its part in holding Michigan forest fires to a minimum again this year, ac-ording to the State Conservation Department.

Noting that the state has not experienced a severely destructive fire in years, the department is keeping its fingers crossed as they hope to extend the record through the 1956 danger period.

Camping season, luring thousands of tourists and residents to northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, adds to the threat of a possible blaze.

"We have had our share of good luck," spokesmen for the department said. "It cannot last forever unless we can count on complete public cooperation."

The biggest danger lies in unattended camp or picnic fires. A disaster can begin with a few sparks blown into dry grass.

Empty bottles are not commonly thought of as a hazard involving forest fires. However, the conservation department warns that bottles strewn carelessly on the ground can concentrate the sun's rays the same as a magnifying glass, causing a blaze to ignite.

"Campers using common sense are our greatest ally," department spokesmen say. They recommend that all camp fires be properly drenched with water or covered with dirt; bottles or other glass containers be left in waste cans or specified dumps; care be used with cigarettes and matches.

Only one amendment to the state constitution will be brought before the voter in the fall elections.

All groups desiring amendments failed to file the required number of petition signatures by the July 6 deadline.

As a result, only the single proposal submitted by the state legislature last spring will come to the voter's attention.

This amendment specifies a minimum age of 21 for all legislators and disqualifies persons convicted of felonies involving a breach of the public trust or subversion from being a member of the legislature.

Nominating conventions for both Michigan political parties will be held in Grand Rapids late in the summer.

Democrats meet first on Aug. 25 to select their state ticket. Republicans invade the city a week later on Sept. 1.

Both parties must hurry from their respective national conventions to set up state tickets. Democrats meet in Chicago Aug. 14. Republicans hold their national convention in San Francisco Aug. 20.

The theory that it is never too late to mend our ways influences some people to coddle their bad habits.

Habits are either bobbers or sinkers on the sea of life—they either hold you up or hold you down.

Dye Treated Seed, New Law Says

Farmers and others who have treated seed on hand should have it dyed a contrasting color so there is no danger of mixing it with food grains or allowing it to be sold as animal feed or for human consumption.

That's the law passed by the last session of the Michigan legislature, points out Don R. Keller, assistant county agricultural agent. It applies to small grains, corn, peas or beans.

The reason for the law is that a considerable amount of treated seed has contaminated feed grain. The law allows no mercury compounds in food. And several carloads have been seized by Michigan Department of Agriculture officials because of the contamination. The new law makes a misdemeanor the possession or sale of such treated grain without an identifying dye.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture indicates that officials are not particular what color is used for the dye, just so it contrasts with the natural color of the grain.

The act doesn't apply to the bin treatment of grain which is for killing insects.

Why not buy in quantity when your grocer has "specials" on frozen foods? Doing so amounts to a double saving. You spend less money per package—spend less time shopping. And frozen vegetables, like tender green peas, stay garden-sweet for months in a home food freezer or two-in-one refrigerator-freezer.

TFA FIELD CULTIVATOR

The TFA field cultivator is specially designed for digging out tough deep-rooted and shallow-rooted weeds like quack grass and bindweed. Sturdy, all-steel construction assures best possible penetration. Rigid frame prevents teeth from moving sideways when striking tough weeds or hard clumps of soil. Fast-acting power lift raises or lowers TFA cultivator and a lever controls cultivating depth. Tire tracks are removed.

Normal 6-inch spacing of spring teeth can be changed to 9-inch spacing for working trashy fields. Regular spring teeth have 2-inch double-pointed reversible shovels; six-inch duck-foot points are optional. Smooth-riding 26-inch steel wheels are regular equipment; pneumatic tires are optional. Two sizes: 21 tooth, 10 1/2 ft.; 17 tooth, 8 1/2 ft.

Stop in and see the sturdy and versatile Minneapolis-Moline TFA field cultivator.

If a man boasts of his past after reforming it's a sign he hasn't learned his lesson yet.

Rain Fall Nears Total of Last Year

Rain and cold weather has affected more than farmers in Tuscola County. Just about everyone has been in a foul mood as continued rain with day after day of dark, cloudy skies and abnormally cool temperatures has dominated the weather pattern all spring and summer.

"Guess yesterday was it," is a comment you hear quite often following one of those rare days when the sun shines all day and the thermometer soars to make people think of picnics, baseball and swimming. Of course, they are constantly referring to the "short summer."

Rain has been coming down in buckets ever since April although May was a little lower than a very heavy rainfall recorded in the same month last year. But the drop was so slight the average citizen couldn't appreciate it.

Even with April and May extra damp, people could keep looking forward to summer. But when summer came, the rains got worse.

According to the conservation department's records, it has rained 21 days since June 1. Nor did these rain days represent little sprinkles. It really came down.

With three and a half months of rain weather still to go (the department doesn't measure rain in November), the area is fast approaching the inches that fell all last year, with the heavy fall rains yet to be recorded.

Temperatures have been low. Following last summer's torrid heat, it seems particularly cold this year. Highest temperature recorded in July has been 82 degrees. Most of the time the thermometer has hovered in the sixties. There have been days when it never reached 60 and most furnaces have been on all summer.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Clever Patching Makes Child's Togs Like New Again

If you have been looking at your children's summer wardrobe in rather woebegone fashion, you may be amazed at the new tricks that can be employed to give them real first aid as well as fit.

"But nothing can lengthen those blue jeans the children have outgrown," you say. "I'll simply have to replace them."

If a child needs long jeans to protect his legs, you may well have to buy newer and longer ones, but don't discard those too-short jeans quite yet. Cut them down. Outgrown jeans and slacks can be made into shorts, and nice ones, too. You can use strips from the cut off portion of the jeans for making cuffs for the shorts, or add a contrasting material from some other discarded clothing for cuffs and a pocket.

Call them fancy pants or pedal pushers, they're one of summer's best outfits for play. Colorful cotton poplin that's sanforized will continue to look nice through countless washings and will maintain its fit. Kick-rack braid in a trio of colors is used for bright accent.

Make Patches Smart

Thin knees on long pants can be re-inforced with all sorts of nice looking patches. What about a teddy bear for patches on little girl's pants? How about baseball on the thinned knees of a little boy's pants? Baseball stitching adds strength and carries out the idea. Children love clever patches, and will delight in showing them to friends.

Three-cornered tears on garments can be covered nicely with an embroidery design. Repeat this somewhere else on the garment and few will ever know it was not planned that way. Many of the newer sewing machines can be used for embroidery effects so no hand sewing is actually needed.

Embroidery done on the machine usually requires the material feeder to be lowered and the presser foot removed. An embroidery hoop holds the material.

Plan to Barbecue Your Summer Meals

The cooking of food out-of-doors has become increasingly popular every year. Everyone will agree that food tastes so good when cooked over an open fire.

In addition, it's a simple way to prepare meals because you need serve only a few foods, though in good quantity. The man of the family frequently likes to take over the job of chef when there's grilling to be done, and that, too, is to his advantage because men do like to cook.

Roasting on a grill can be done, though it does take longer than hamburger or weiners. Plan to turn the meat several times, as it cooks. It's a wonderful idea if you are serving a crowd.

- Barbecued Lamb
- 1 tablespoon salt
 - 1 tablespoon sugar
 - 1 tablespoon dry mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon marjoram or oregano
 - 1 cup tarragon vinegar
 - 1 teaspoon tabasco sauce
 - 1 leg of lamb, 6-7 pounds
 - 1 cup olive oil
- Mix salt, sugar, mustard, marjoram or oregano, vinegar and tabasco. Make a number of slashes on each side of meat and pour vinegar mixture over it. Let stand for several hours. Drain. Brush with oil. Grill meat some distance from coals and continue basting with oil as lamb cooks. Turn often. Use meat thermometer inserted when lamb starts cooking, to test for doneness, or prick deeply with a fork. The lamb will be done when the juice from the meat is no longer red.
- Potatoes in Foil
- Scrub medium potatoes and wrap neatly in two thicknesses of foil. Make certain the foil is not punctured or cracked in wrapping. Place on top of coals in grill for 12 minutes, turn and cook for 12 minutes longer. Remove from coals and keep in foil until ready to serve. Then open foil envelope, dot with butter, sprinkle with paprika and salt or serve with soured cream in which chopped chives have been mixed.

Life proves that the things you don't do bring as much happiness as the things you do.

Habits are either bobbers or sinkers on the sea of life—they either hold you up or hold you down.
