

From the Editor's Corner

We were informed this week that a picture we ran two weeks ago describing Cass City's "first" nursery school was not correct. About 45 years ago a school was conducted by Bertha McKenzie. It was a qualified school. Miss McKenzie was later a high school teacher and the school was run much like the one started this year.

It was held in a home at the corner of Houghton and West Streets and among the pupils were Grant Pinney and Alfred West.

Although $890,000 is a lot of money, the need for a new Tuscola County Infirmary is, in our opinion, urgent. Voters should remember that the county must take care of its aged and infirm. The present 90-year-old building cannot be used beyond the end of this year unless an estimated $100,000 is used to prop up the present inefficient hospital quarters. In the words of the supervisors and the Tuscola County Welfare Department, residents will pay for a new hospital whether they get it or not.

We predict that voters will return President Eisenhower to office Tuesday. We think that Gov. G. Mennen Williams will get the nod over Albert Cobo and give the edge to Robert McIntosh over Ira D. McCoy for representative in congress.

Slate Meeting

Roger Parrish, director of the Cass City Area Pageant, announced this week that an organizational meeting for anyone interested in singing in the mass community chorus of the pageant will be held Tuesday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p. m. The meeting will be in room 20, the band room, at Cass City High School.

Cars Damaged In Village Crash Sunday Morning

Mrs. W. E. Walpole and Leo Ware, both of Cass City, escaped injury in an automobile accident Sunday morning in the village. Marshal Steve Orto reported this week.

The crash occurred when Mr. Ware attempted to make a left turn to his home on Main Street while Mrs. Walpole was attempting to pass.

An estimated $500 damage was reported to the Walpole car and some $250 to the truck driven by Mr. Ware.

No tickets were issued in the accident, Mr. Orto said.

Donald Partridge Fined Wednesday

Donald Partridge of Cass City paid a fine of $10 and costs of $5 before Judge Avon Boag Wednesday after he pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident.

Mr. Partridge hit a parked car owned by Hugh Barber on Main Street while attempting to make a right hand turn. The accident occurred Oct. 20.

Damage to the Barber car was estimated to be about $400.

Trustees Approve Erection of New Facilities at Park

Trustees of the village of Cass City approved the erection of public lavatories next to the pool at the Cass City Recreational Park Tuesday night at their regular meeting at the Municipal Building.

Part of the funds for the addition will come from a bequest of $1,500 from the late Miss Lura DeWitt and the remainder of the cost will be borne by the village.

The structure will be nine and a half feet by 25 feet and will be built on the east side of the present pool building.

The report on the structure was made to the council by Mrs. K. L. MacKae and Andrew Bigelow, the committee in charge.

The trustees moved to erect a small building at the disposal plant as a new dog pound. Trustees felt that the location away from the village would not cause disturbances for home owners.

Sewer and water work for the Meadows subdivision and the southeast corner of Cass City was completed Wednesday. A total of 3,700 feet of storm sewer, 1,600 feet of four-inch water main and 1,900 feet of sanitary sewer were installed.

Total cost of the work to the village was about $10,500. The sewer work cost $7,000 and the water main $3,500.

In addition, the village spent about $7,000 for storm sewer on Seeger Street. The work exceeded the anticipated budget for the year by about $6,500. The extra money will be taken from the money set aside for curb and gutter work.

Other Business
The council asked Mr. Kenneth Butler to submit plans and ask for a permit before deciding on a basement home that will be later completed.

The plat for the Gowen subdivision in southeast Cass City was accepted.

Council to Pick Site For Proposed Hospital

President James Bauer appointed a committee to pick a site for the proposed Cass City Community Hospital Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the village council at the Cass City Municipal Building.

Appointed were Andrew Bigelow, B. F. Benkelman and Mr. Bauer. The committee is expected to act on a site in the very near future.

The committee was appointed on the request of M. B. Auten who appeared before the council Tuesday. He reported that there has been considerable criticism of the board for no action on the hospital and that many persons have been asking that a site be selected.

He said that he thought that it might be possible to build a hospital if the complete cooperation of the community is secured.

Mr. Auten pointed out that to take advantage of Hill Burton funds, that will pay up to 55 percent of the hospital's cost, it may be necessary to act very soon.

It is possible that these funds will not be available in a comparatively short period of time. Cass City's share of the cost of the proposed hospital would be about $300,000 of which better than a third is now on hand in cash or property.

Meanwhile, Mrs. James Chamberlain, a recently elected member of the hospital board, has organized plans for a hospital auxiliary to help promote the hospital.

An organizational meeting for all women in the area interested in a hospital for the community has been scheduled for Monday evening, Nov. 12, at Cass City High School.

Audley Rawson reported that a bill will be presented to the legislature to govern the establishment of race tracks in Michigan. The law would require a vote of the persons in the area affected before a track can be established. The council will send representatives to a meeting concerning race tracks in Saginaw Nov. 19.

350 At Church Dedication Service

An estimated 350 persons crowded the newly erected Cass City Church of the Nazarene Sunday for the dedication of the first unit of the proposed three-unit structure, Rev. Earl M. Crane, pastor, said this week.

The crowd taxed the facilities of the new church and a few of the persons attending were unable to get inside of the new building.

At the conclusion of the service, Dr. W. M. McGuire of Detroit laid the cornerstone of the building. He was assisted by L. L. Cox and Andrew Cross, who mixed the mortar.

The many persons attending contributed nearly $1,000 to help pay for the new building, Rev. Crane said.

Record Vote Forecast In Tuscola County

Important local issues and the interest in the presidential race are expected to bring out a record vote of some 18,000 or over Tuesday in Tuscola County.

Registrations are at an all-time peak and competent authorities are predicting a vote that will run 90 per cent or better.

One of the top issues will be the Sunday sale of beer and wine in the county. Both "dry" and "wet" groups have conducted vigorous campaigns. Four years ago the issue was decided by a few hundred votes and the results may be as close Tuesday.

Voters are also studying the proposed $890,000 bond issue for the new Tuscola County Infirmary which will be presented with the other issues Tuesday.

The nonpartisan race for Tuscola County Judge of Probate which pits Irl Baguley, Caro, against Henderson Graham, Caro, is also receiving top priority among voters in the county.

Robert J. McIntosh, Republican, Ira D. McCoy of Bad Axe in the race for representative in congress in the seventh district. McCoy is a sticker candidate since the withdrawal from the race of Jacob P. Theut.

State Senator Arthur A. Dehmel, Republican, will be opposed by Jacob Gleason and Republican State representative R. Allison Green will be pitted against Carl Sherman.

Presidential Campaign
Michigan is one of the key states in the national election and both parties have sent top speakers into Tuscola County as part of the campaign to win the state's important electoral votes.

The drive has resulted in the most spirited campaign in recent years for county residents' votes.

Republicans are campaigning to run up as big a plurality as possible for President Eisenhower and gubernatorial candidate Albert E. Cobo while Democrats are convinced the traditionally Republican tide is shifting in the county and are making their most determined drive in history for Adlai E. Stevenson, Governor G. Mennen Williams and the party.

On the state level the Democrats present the following candidates: Philip A. Hart, Lieutenant-Governor; James M. Hare, Secretary of State; Thomas M. Kavanagh, Attorney General; Sanford A. Brown, State Treasurer; and Frank S. Szymanski, Auditor General.

The Republicans are countering with: Clarence A. Reid, Lieutenant-Governor; John B. Martin, Secretary of State; Richard C. Vandusen, Attorney General; Frank C. Padzieski, State Treasurer, and Paul D. Bagwell, Auditor General.

Amendment Ballot
Almost forgotten in the excitement of the many issues Tuesday will be a vote on a state constitutional amendment. The amendment, if adopted, will make it impossible for a person who has been convicted of subversion or of a felony involving a breach of public trust to become a member of either house of the legislature.

Pool Attendance Drops This Year

The final financial report for the use of the Cass City pool shows that area residents used the facilities less this year than they did in 1955.

Authorities say that the unusually cool summer was responsible for the loss in attendance.

This year a total of $682.10 was received in admissions. In 1955 the total was a record $1,060.62.

Expenditures dropped this year. Total for 1955 was $2,034.17 as compared to $1,705.67 this year.

Total cost to the village for operating the pool increased slightly. In 1956 the cost after admissions were deducted was $1,024.57. Last year the total cost was $972.55.

Clean Corn Dries Faster in Storage

A little extra effort in harvesting corn to keep it clean will speed up drying in the crib, suggests Don Kebler, Tuscola County assistant agricultural agent. Clean corn will permit a more thorough air flow through the corn for either natural or mechanical drying. Ear corn should normally be down to 25 per cent to keep safely in a six-foot wide conventional crib. If the corn is up to 35 per cent then four-foot wide cribs are the absolute maximum for natural drying. Kebler suggests these storing tips for improving air flow through corn: Use a fan to remove husks and fine and light material. Place the fan to remove the material as it comes off the elevator into the crib. Remove small nubbins, green ears and stalks. Make good use of the provisions your elevator may have for screening out the kernels as the corn moves into the crib. Move the elevator periodically to prevent the accumulation of kernels and fine material in one spot in the crib. If the speeder could see himself as others see him many highway accidents could be avoided. Work brings success—and the more people you have working for you the more success you achieve. It's the experience of every man that he wants a lot he doesn't get and gets a lot he doesn't want. It may be true that haste makes waste, but some people find it out only through costly experience.

You Voted for PEACE . . . AND GOT IT!

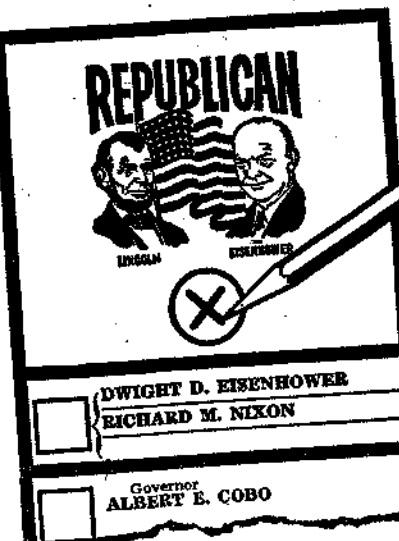

Now Your Vote Is Needed To Protect It!

• President Eisenhower brought us peace. Ike brought us prosperity, too, without having American boys dying on foreign soil to pay for it! You can put your trust in President Eisenhower.

• But, can you trust the future of your children, your home, your job, your country to the Democratic Party that is advocating weakening of our defense? Can you? You be the judge on November 6th at the polls!

• Every man and woman in Michigan should read this editorial from the Detroit Free Press (October 23) before voting:

BACK IKE WITH
MICHIGAN'S BEST

Excerpt from editorial in The Detroit Free Press, Oct. 23, 1956.

"By injecting his own ideas and preferences, Premier Bulganin (of Russia) took sides in the campaign. He currently endorsed Adlai Stevenson's position on the issue, if he did not endorse Mr. Stevenson. But any American is entitled to the opinion that he did.

"The President's reply to Bulganin was an equally well-deserved rebuke to Mr. Stevenson.

"The latter invited Russian interest by raising, in the heat of a political campaign, an issue which is so closely related to the defense of this country that it has no proper place in politics.

"Bulganin took advantage of the opening which Mr. Stevenson provided him; it was as improper as if the Communist leader had offered his advice to the Democratic aspirant about any other phase of United States defense policy, including the size of the Air Force.

"It can hardly be thought that Bulganin's preferences in regard to H-bomb tests would not conform to Russia's interest.

"What Bulganin said in his letter, in effect, was that he would prefer to do business with Mr. Stevenson on the bomb issue, rather than with President Eisenhower.

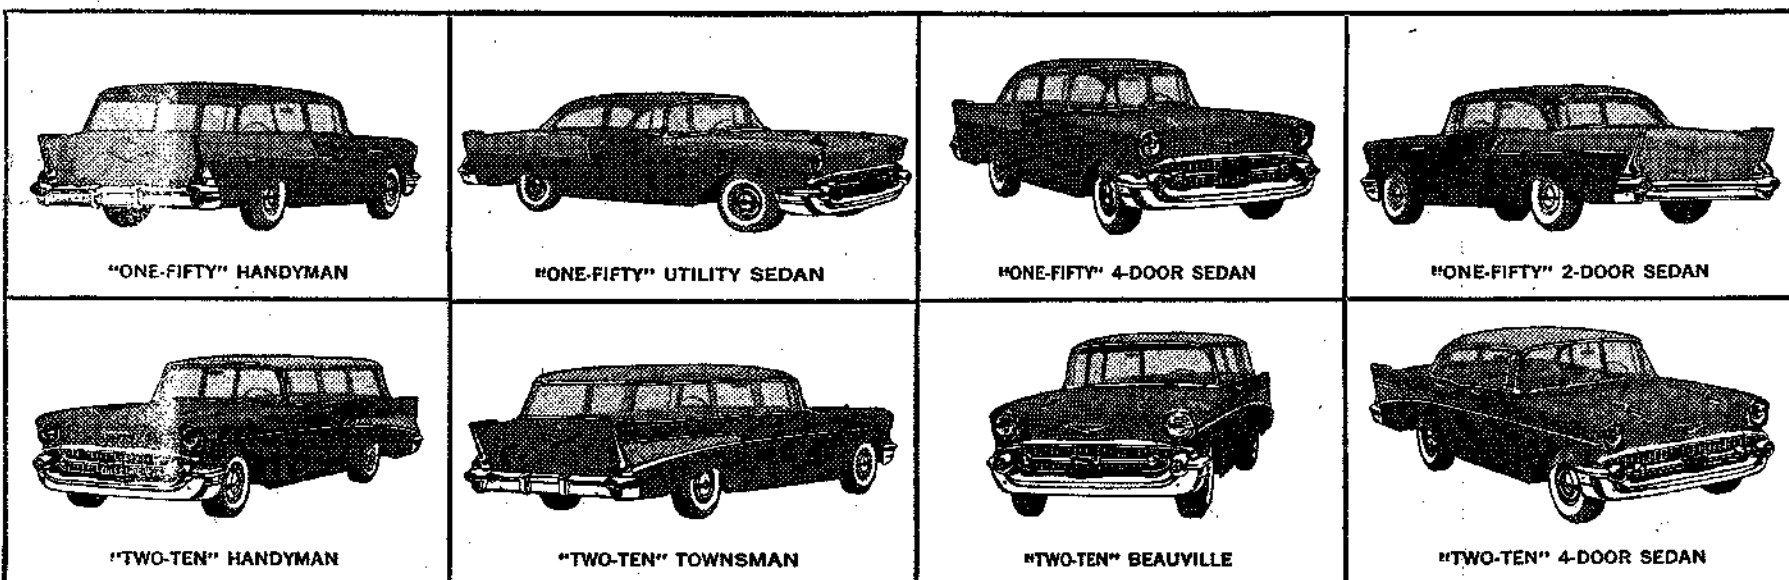

"The implication of this should not be lost on the American voter. Twice before, at Yalta and Potsdam, the Russians dealt with heads of Democratic Administrations on matters which shaped the course of history to the Red's advantage. They have not done so well with the Eisenhower Administration. It is understandable that the Kremlin would be happier dealing again with Democrats in charge of our foreign policy."

Shabbona Home Demonstration Group met Wednesday, Oct. 24, at eight o'clock in the Evergreen Township Unit School with 14 members and one visitor present.

Answer to roll call was, "My family's favorite dish made with dairy products."

Regular order of business was conducted by Chairman Mrs. Harold Peters. A committee was appointed to purchase shades for the school auditorium windows.

The snow shovel will soon be substituted for the lawn mower as a physical culture exercise.

'Golden Boy' Now Cattle Raiser

Gene Tunney Works For Purebred Herd

"The Golden Boy of the Golden Age" now presides as a gentleman farmer over 50 head of commercial Hereford cattle on his 250-acre estate in the rolling hills of Connecticut.

As the master of Star Meadow Farm north of Stamford, James Joseph (Gene) Tunney has added new lustre with age to the "Golden Boy" crown bestowed on him three decades ago when he won and defended the title of heavyweight boxing champion of the world in two 10-round decisions over Jack Dempsey.

The handsome, 58-year-old Tunney—a successful financier and devoted farmer—today strides across his pastures with the same self-assurance and determination that he displayed when he toppled the idol of the boxing world.

Between his financial operations in New York City and his periodic travels abroad, the former champ has sandwiched in enough time with his Herefords to spark the incentive to someday own a quality herd of registered Whitefaces.

In preparing for the day he will switch from commercial to purebred Herefords, Tunney and his farm manager, Herman Zuern, have put a crew to work removing a forest of Ash, Maple and Oak trees from several acres for future pasture land.

As the retired champ outlines his plans for his future in the cattle business, he convinces you that he will put the same type of perfectionism in his herd as he displayed in the ring, and in his mastery Shakespeare and Shaw.

Slate Income Tax

Income tax accountants, lawyers, bankers and anyone advising farmers in filing income tax and social security returns are invited and urged to attend one of two district workshops, advises Alfred Ballweg, Tuscola County agricultural agent. The first one for this area will be held on November 5 from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. in the Saginaw 4-H Building at the Fairgrounds. The second meeting will be on November 6 at Teal's restaurant, Marlette, also from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Everett Elwood, agricultural economics department, Michigan

Workshops for Area

State University, along with a representative of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the social security office, will present the program material.

Any Tuscola County person assisting farmers with this service is urged to attend, said Ballweg.

It's human nature that causes people to be in favor of any tax that the other fellow has to pay.

Never put off until tomorrow the friend who is willing to lend you money today.

YOU CAN WEAR YOUR OPERA HAT

Fred Pinney caught me unaware the other day. He walked in with a kind of half-smile on his face and he said he'd been trying out the new cars and had discovered he didn't need safety belts to protect him.

He'd had some time on his hands while he was out of town the other day and went into look at some new cars before coming in to see our Chev's. "And you know," he said, "I wouldn't need a safety belt; my head fit so snugly up against the roof of that car a ten-ton truck couldn't dislodge me."

He had waited until he got back to our place to look over the new Chevrolets and I really had news for him. He could wear an opera hat (if he owned one) and still have lots of room in these new Chev's. The front seat headroom has been increased on almost all Chev models this year—and that's really news because to look at the new Chev's you'd think they were long and low enough to sink in under the front steps.

They are lower, too, but still there's more headroom. That's just smart engineering, which is what Chev is famous for. It's really a wonderful combination—the long, low sleek look of expensive cars without sacrificing passenger comfort or safety to do it.

In addition to that, legroom in the front seat has been increased in all Chev sedans and coupes. (If you're a basketball player, the only car for you is a Chev; even if you're not you'll have more room to stretch at both ends in this roomiest car in the lowest price field.)

Chevrolet stretches dollars too—which is a story we'll be glad to tell you when you drop around to browse through and drive these great new cars.

We finally have a '57 Chevrolet Demonstrator now, and we want you to drive it yourself. All new cars LOOK good. You tell the difference when you get behind the wheel. Take it over the roughest roads, nudge the accelerator (but not too hard) on a good stretch, take your hands off the steering wheel and watch it go straight down the road, hit the brakes hands off, for a straight ahead easy stop with no front end "ducking."

That's the way to tell about a car. We'd like you to try it yourself. You'll see why Chevrolet is enjoying its greatest popularity with over two million more Chevrolets on the road than its nearest competitor.

Farmers, it is up to you. Will You Help?

The latest Government Crop Estimate reports the 1956 Michigan Bean Crop at over 5 1/2 million bags. Approximately 2 million bags more than the needs of the domestic market. To dispose of the present bean crop at the highest possible price, surplus must be removed from domestic market.

How Can This Be Done?

By putting surplus beans under:

1. Government Loan
2. Farm Storage Loan
3. Purchase Agreement

These aids are available to protect producers from abnormally low prices when crop is in excess of domestic needs. Refuse to sell your beans below Government Support! Take advantage of the Government Support Program.

Excess 2 Million Bags.

If farmers will put approximately 2 million bags under Government Support, paying prices should strengthen and remain at or above this Support.

Drop in -- Let's talk it over.

Marketing farm crops is our business. We want to help in every way possible to market your beans to the best advantage. Drop in at our office. We will be glad to discuss this matter with you in detail.

VOTE "YES" ON BOTH PROPOSALS FOR A NEW COUNTY NURSING HOME BECAUSE....

The State Fire Marshal, the State Health Department and the State Welfare Department have all indicated that they will not permit or license the continuing use of the present 90-year-old County Home:

This County has 60 patients in that Home that must be cared for, and cared for now:

The money that will be saved by building a new County Home now is your tax money!

ATTENTION!

ALL TUSCOLA COUNTY VOTERS:

'HERE ARE THE FACTS' Regarding the Sunday sale of Beer and Wine, whether continued Prohibition IS IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF TUSCOLA COUNTY.

We want to state the prohibition that has existed for the past 4 years has PROVEN NOTHING WHATSOEVER OTHER THAN AN INCONVENIENCE FOR THOSE WHO ENJOY THE PRIVILEGE OF PURCHASING BEER AND WINE ON SUNDAY, AND ALSO TO DEPRIVE LEGITIMATE BUSINESSMEN OF 52 DAYS OF BUSINESS Per Year.

It would be IMPOSSIBLE for the opposition TO PROVE that their effort has had ANY BENEFIT in regards to the welfare of the community.

Can the opposition honestly claim that with every surrounding county open for Sunday sales that this Law serves any good purpose?

All Beverage Licensees in our county HAVE LOST MUCH REVENUE DUE TO THIS PROHIBITION OF SUNDAY SALES and so have many OTHER BUSINESSES suffered loss of revenue as well.

MANY THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS OF TAX REVENUES ARE LOST BY OUR VARIOUS CITIES, VILLAGES AND TOWNSHIPS ANNUALLY BECAUSE OF THIS RESTRICTION.

Can the sponsors of this Sunday prohibition deny this is a step toward total prohibition for this county?

Or, that they endorse the sale of beer and wine on the other 6 days of the week? The 13 years of prohibition proved beyond any doubt that FORCED RESTRICTIONS DO NOT STOP the consuming of beverages, the 23 years of repeal have proven that the proper SENSIBLE WAY to handle the sale and service of alcoholic beverages IS TO HAVE THEM AVAILABLE FOR THOSE WHO DESIRE THEM' and not subject to "LOCAL OPTION".

THE "DRYS" ARE FORCING PEOPLE TO DRIVE TO ADJOINING COUNTIES BY ASKING YOU TO CONTINUE THIS SUNDAY PROHIBITION.

VOTE NO! ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6t h.

Kelley Home Scene Of Pretty Wedding

Potted palms, greens and arrangements of white mums decorated the fireplace in the Arthur Kelley home Saturday evening for the pretty home wedding of Mrs. Kelley's son, Lawrence Edward Morrison, and Miss Sherry Lorraine Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sawyer of 111 East Myrtle Avenue, Flint.

Rev. M. R. Vender officiated at the double-ring ceremony at seven o'clock in the presence of some 50 relatives and close friends from Saginaw, Flint, Royal Oak, Akron, Uby, Clifford and Cass City.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her cousin, Miss Bonnie Jean Schneider of Saginaw. She entered the living room in the Kelley home from the open stairway to traditional wedding music played by Roger Parrish. Mr. Parrish also sang "Walk Hand in Hand With Me." The bride wore a floor-length family wedding gown of white satin made with a chapel train, fitted bodice and long wrist point sleeves. A pearl tiara held in place her veil of illusion net edged in wide Chantilly lace. An orchid with streamers and lilies of the valley topped the white prayer book she carried.

Her attendant wore a gown of yellow net and lace over taffeta, made with a bolero jacket. Her headpiece was a band of yellow rosebuds. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and white carnations.

Robert Morrison of Saginaw performed the duties of best man for his brother.

The bride's mother chose a dress of black and pink brocaded taffeta with which she wore rhinestone jewelry. Mrs. Kelley, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of aqua chromspun. Both mothers had corsages of white mums.

Following the reading of the ceremony, ice cream, cake and coffee were served. A wedding cake topped with a miniature air force man and bride and an American flag centered the bride's table.

For a going-away outfit the bride wore a princess-styled dress of white corduroy with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

The newly-weds received many lovely gifts.

Angry Kitty

Bobcat hunting has become a favorite winter sport for many Michigan outdoorsmen. This 'cat, backed into a corner, is ready for anything and would probably get his share of eyes, ears and noses if any dogs—or hunters—ventured too close. The Conservation Department has caught, tagged and released a number of bobcats in recent years in a continuing study of this rugged woodland creature.

A Personal Letter To The Voters of Tuscola County

Dear Friends and Voters:

Perhaps during the past weeks I have had the pleasure of meeting you and talking to you about my candidacy for the office of Probate Judge. Then again, perhaps I haven't as Tuscola is a large county and it has been impossible to see everyone living in it.

In either case, I believe that the office of Probate Judge is of such importance that you should know something about the candidates that expect to gain it. I believe that my background and experience has been such that I now have both the necessary qualifications for the office and am old enough to make the proper use of that experience.

By profession I have been a successful businessman and accountant. For 15 years I was a member and Secretary of the Caro Board of Education and later, Supervisor of Indianfields Township. In 1953 as Chairman of the County Finance Committee, I planned, and the Board of Supervisors put into effect a program for taking Tuscola County out of debt which at that time amounted to over $60,000 and was increasing. As a result of my program, Tuscola County will be out of debt at the end of this year.

In 1954, at the request of the welfare committee of the Board of Supervisors, I became County Welfare Director; knowing that this would give me invaluable experience and I became Director with the distinct understanding that I would run for Probate Judge in 1956 if the office became vacant that year.

As Welfare Director I have worked closely with the Probate Court. As a large part of the Probate Court's work concerns children, it is of interest to know that besides successfully raising my own family, I have had many years of experience working with young people in the church, in the school and with the young peoples' program of the American Legion. I am a member of the Township Library Board, the Caro Community School committee and the City Hospital committee. Also, I am a veteran of World War I.

Coupled with this, I believe that I am now at an age where my past experience will greatly benefit the county. I hope that my past record will meet with your approval as it speaks for itself.

If elected, I can honestly promise you that the office of Probate Judge will be capably filled and its duties well performed.

Sincerely yours,

IRL BAGULEY

Form First District 4-H Service Club

Tuscola County's 4-H service club president, Jim White, helped to form the first district 4-H serv-ice club in Michigan.

Presidents and secretaries of several county service clubs met at a special meeting in Lapeer. The purpose of this district club is to join together in common fellowship the service club mem-bers of neighboring counties, and to formulate a program to strengthen and better the service clubs in the district.

A council of representatives from each county will meet periodically and decide the course of action for the club. President Jim White and treasurer Lois McMullen of Mayville will repre-sent Tuscola County's service club.

During the October meeting a full schedule of activities was planned for the remainder of this year. On November 12, a roller skating party will be scheduled at Cass City. Plans are in the mak-ing for service club members and their guests to see the November 24 Michigan State University versus Kansas State football game. The big event of the year will be the Christmas party and initiation of new members on December 20.

Other programs in the planning stage are the annual 4-H leaders' recognition banquet in January and a 4-H officers' training school.

Before the Christmas initia-tion, many 4-H club members will be asked to join the service club. Club sponsor, assistant county agricultural agent Don Keblor, urges all boys and girls notified to join their service club.

Here's the washer with the lint filter built-in! Filter's out of your way—never interferes with loading and unloading. It filters full-time—all during the vigorous agitator washing and the seven (yes, seven!) automatic rinses.

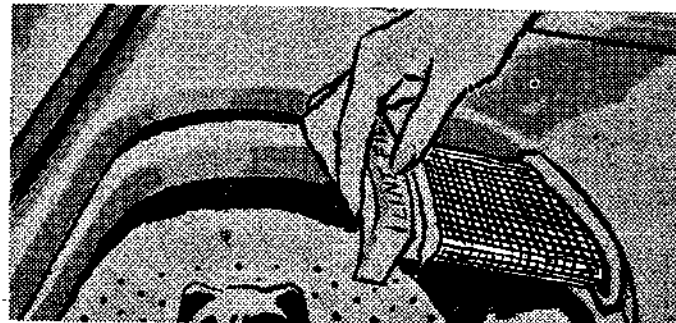

Naturally, your laundry comes out extra clean, extra fresh and lint-free!

You can have any water level, too, automatically—11 to 17 gallons. Three water temperatures and a special cycle for delicate fabrics. In fact, you get everything in this new RCA WHIRLPOOL—even a choice of Matchmaker colors.

Easiest terms.

(Much, much less if you buy dryer to match!)

THE WASHER WITH THE BUILT-IN LINT FILTER

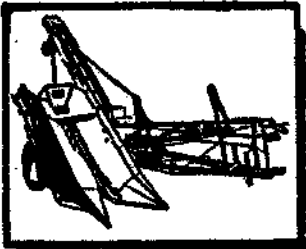

Automatically filters out lint as it washes out dirt. Filter is built in, out of the way—cleans and recleans both wash and rinse water, even with low water level. Traps lint, grit, soap-scum—white specks can't get to dark clothes. Easy to slip out and rinse clean.

SHORT STORY

Jim's Big Jolt

By Allen Wishart

JIM WATSON was a wicked, unscrupulous, self-centered man, disliked by his neighbors and all who knew him. He was exceedingly blasphemous, never uttering a sentence without embellishing it with profanity. Many vowed him an infidel, and he never affirmed or denied the accusation. Old Zeb Tompkins declared that once he slapped his old mother on Mother's Day.

No one could understand why Sarah Watson, nee, Sarah Posey, had accepted him as a mate. As a youngster he was forever in trouble, causing his parents no end of grief. It was predicted time and time again that he would end his days on a hangman's scaffold. Yet, he was still around, mean as ever, but in the best of health and prosperous.

Farmers with land next to his, every year or so, would have crop failures. Still, Jim's cotton and corn would harvest a small fortune. As an old woman said when she kissed the cow: "Thar' jes' ain't no 'countin' fer taste," meaning; Jim Watson's sin's never overtook him.

Jim Watson appeared meaner as the days passed and people avoided him more than ever.

Sarah Watson's mother one afternoon broached the subject, saying:

"What in the world did you see in that man to cause you to marry him?"

"Probably the same motive that caused you to marry father; love."

"Your father is a God-fearing, Christian man, he believes in aiding a neighbor instead of trampling upon him."

"Mother, I judge according to the treatment afforded me," said Sarah. "Jim has never mistreated me, he caters to my whims. The main reason I uphold him is because of his liberality. Never has he denied me anything."

"Well," replied Sarah's mother. "While I condemn his actions, I will admit that he has been kind and considerate of your father and me. Still, I just can't understand his disregard of God and His commands."

"Don't allow it to worry you further, Mother, one of these days Jim will reform and become an upright, Christian citizen, beloved by his fellow men."

"If he does," sniffed Sarah's mother. "The day of miracles will have returned."

"We'll see," smiled Sarah. "Now, let's talk of other matters."

However, Sarah's prediction didn't seem anywhere in the immediate future. Jim Watson appeared meaner as the days passed. People avoided him more than ever.

Came the first day of Spring, when into the settlement moved a man and wife. They rented the old Geiger place, and neighbors called to bid them welcome. The wife was cordial enough, but something was amiss concerning the husband.

The neighbors gathered, discussed the situation. It just couldn't be possible that another Jim Watson had fallen into their midst.

Heretofore, Jim had caused excitement by his rearing and bucking, but this particular day, Thomas Beardon took the play away from him. It was sales day down at the mule barn. Beardon's comments, his gestures, the voluminous expressions loaded with profanity that Jim didn't know had ever existed, had him feeling like a lamb lying beside a wolf.

Arriving home that Saturday evening, weary, showing signs of defeat, he said to Sarah:

"Get out that old black suit of mine and brush it, I'm wearing it to church tomorrow morning."

Jim Watson was the loudest singer in the congregation that Sunday morning.

"Well, it beats me," said Sarah's mother, several days later. "What happened?"

"Quite simple," replied Sarah. "Mr. Beardon is an actor, I engaged him, especially, to put on an act. Broadway never experienced a more successful production. Jim was given the jolt he needed."

THE TRUTH

Thousands of pennies may make a fortune, but no amount of small talk adds up to wisdom.

PAYS AND PAYS

It's true that time hangs heavily on the shoulders of the workman who is just hanging around.

CORRECTION!

Mr. and Mrs. Voter of Tuscola County

We feel that any issue in our American way of life important enough that requires an expression at the polls is worthy of the truth and nothing but the truth regardless of whom it benefits or whom it affects.

FIRST, we wish to correct what we believe to be a misleading title on the part of some of our opposition by stating, this is the first time we have heard a prohibition group use the title of Citizens Committee For Highway Safety when actually they are nothing but a prohibition group and are interested in a limited prohibition and are making an issue of a safety campaign with great emphasis on only one day of the week, namely Sunday. We wish to state that the sole issue regarding the permitting once again of Sunday beer and wine sales is not the selfish interest of the Table-Toppers but is also in defense of the thousands of people who wish the privilege of consuming what they desire every day of the week and not according to the wishes of a "minority pressure group."

How the Committee For Highway Safety can hope for us Tuscola County residents to place any confidence in statistics and quotations from the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee is beyond understanding.

We challenge the Citizens Committee For Highway Safety to secure statistics from the Michigan State Police and also from the Tuscola County Sheriff's department and then tell you the voters what are the true facts here in Tuscola County and not in the state of Massachusetts over a thousand miles away. The Committee for Highway Safety is using devious methods and statistics for only one purpose and that purpose is confusion, the oldest "GAG" in the American political scene. To reply to the charge that we are unwilling to assume financial responsibility for the drinking drivers' accidents, we wish to state for the record that one of the prime requisites of Securing or renewing a license in Michigan is that a LIABILITY POLICY INSURANCE BE FURNISHED UPON THE ISSUANCE OF THE LICENSE. That insurance has proved itself more than adequate to cover the protection of the public WHEN IT WAS NECESSARY. Our best answer to their elaborated claims regarding highway safety and their twisting of facts and statistics is that the National Safety Council, the nation's recognized authority on traffic statistics, lists accidents caused by drivers UNDER THE INFLUENCE is No. 7 on the list of causes of accidents or 3.5% per 100 accidents.

If this Citizens' Committee For Highway Safety is for safety on the highways, WHY HAVEN'T WE HEARD FROM THEM BEFORE and WHY DON'T THEY PROMOTE HIGHWAY SAFETY THE YEAR AROUND EVERY YEAR and NOT ONLY ONCE EVERY FOUR YEARS when this issue is on the ballot?

Mr. and Mrs. Voter of Tuscola County, we respectfully urge you to consider not emotionalism nor facts brought to you from the state of Massachusetts but actually how can your community benefit by again restoring the legal sale of beer and wine on Sunday in Tuscola County.

Does the Citizens' Committee For Highway Safety want to come out in the open and endorse the conduct of this business on the other six days of the week? If not, the words prohibition committee would be more accurate. If drinking on Sunday creates such a tremendous problem, the city of Detroit should be literally over crowded with potential killers (as the opposition calls them) and corpses.

A "NO" vote on the question of the sale of beer and wine on Sunday in Tuscola County IS A VOTE TO RESTORE THE RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES of every individual to enjoy his or her way of life as they wish as long as it is legal and proper,

And here in Michigan it is legal to sell beer and wine on Sunday. A "NO" vote is to allow Sunday SALES.

Hereford Ranch From Small Start Purebred Bulls, Good Judgment Pays Off

Would you believe you could make 86 Hereford cows buy 25,000 acres of New Mexico ranch land? Warren Shoemaker, Watrous, New Mexico started in 1926 to make this dream come true. He bought 26 registered cows at $135.00 per head and in 1933 purchased 60 heifers for $12.75 per head delivered in through using top quality purebred bulls coupled with sound cowman's

Big ranch came from small start with purebred herd.

Judgement he built his commercial herd of today. He bought 25,000 acres from an investment of $11,100.00 in Hereford cows.

The home ranch just outside of Watrous was purchased in 1941. Warren says, "we agreed on a price and I just went out and lined up the number of my cows I figured it would take to bring the money and I sold them. We had 80 cows left and I turned them out on the ranch to start building again. When an additional pasture came up for sale those 80 cows had reproduced and built a herd that made me the money to buy that land."

The Shoemaker ranch breeding program follows certain basic rules set up from years of experience. "I have bought bulls from only 30 men in 30 years," Warren says. "I believe if you buy your bulls bred alike and stick with that bloodline you'll get the uniformity you have to have in your cows and feeder calves. Then you feel you have made the most of a particular bloodlines good features then you can work a change gradually by using a new set of young bulls on your yearling heifers. This gives you a testing program."

The Shoemaker ranch calved 200 head of cows last year and 70 first calf 2-year-old heifers. At calving time there were 4 dry cows and 4 dry heifers. "We cull the cow herd on performance," Warren continued, "the calves have to be uniform and heavy."

Better Breeding Effort Urged by Foundation

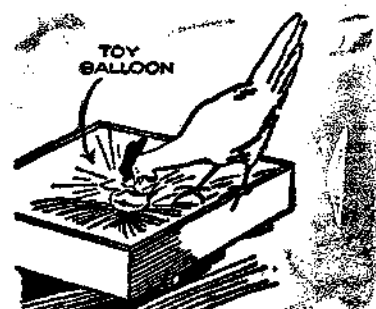

An all-out effort by farmers and stockmen for "marked improvement of breeding efficiency in farm and ranch livestock" has been called for by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

"Sterility and delayed breeding have been estimated to cost dairymen in the United States in excess of $200 million dollars each year," the Foundation said. "Approximately five per cent of all milking cows have to be sold each year because they fail to breed. About 30 per cent fail to conceive easily, resulting in additional losses in income, time and value of stock."

"When losses or delays in breeding of beef, sheep and swine are added to the losses experienced in dairy cows, the total amount is very large."

Recommendations suggested to aid in fighting sterility and breeding failure include, accurate breeding records, use of proven feeding, breeding and management practices, and continued consultation with a veterinarian to correct the disease problems associated with breeding failures.

Discourager

Although some poultry men feel that the only way to cure a hen from the habit of eating eggs is to apply an ax, one farmer claims a fowl can be discouraged of this habit by placing an inflated toy balloon in the nest. Noise when the balloon bursts from pecking cures the habit.

Fellow Citizen and Voter:

Did you realize that...

Your vote is just as important as any that will be cast on election day.

If the present governor had his way over half of the voice which Tuscola County now has in State Government would be taken from you and given to the big cities. Under his plan the four populous counties would control all of Michigan.

The present governor opposed and even vetoed legislative highway programs every year until 1955. He at first opposed but later accepted this program which will provide all the money that can be used efficiently over the next few years. With a cooperative governor we could have started this program in 1951.

In spite of all the funds provided by the legislature for mental health and the need for these facilities we find on September 15 at Hawthorn the governor has 75 employees and only 11 patients.

Mayor Cobo has a fine record of public service. His administration has been marked by efficiency, honesty, cooperation, progress, a balanced budget, and reasonable taxation. These qualities are sadly lacking in Lansing.

We urge you to give us a friendly administration in Lansing, one that will work with us and not against us. We urge you to vote straight Republican.

Added Fat Aids Turkey Growth*Gain More Weight Per Pound of Food

Turkeys tend to show higher feed efficiency and faster growth when extra fat is added to their ration, the USDA reports.

In tests at the Beltsville, Md., research center, two varieties of turkeys were fed an all-vegetable-protein diet, plus 8 per cent of stabilized lard (containing an antioxidant to prevent rancidity).

Throughout the experiment, these birds gained more weight per pound of food consumed than the control group, which received no added fat.

Extra growth response to added fat lasted only 6 to 8 weeks in early maturing Beltsville Small White poult. However, Broad Breasted White poult fed supplementary fat made better gains than the control group for as long as 10 weeks.

During the 10-week feeding period, the Broad Breasted Whites fed supplementary fat consumed an average of 13.4 pounds of feed per bird and reached an average weight of 5.6 pounds. In comparison, the control group of the same variety used an average of 15.1 pounds of feed per bird and weighed an average of 5.1 pounds at the end of 10 weeks.

Early maturing Beltsville Small White Poults given added fat consumed an average of 17.9 pounds of feed per bird and weighed an average of 6.2 pounds at the end of a 13-week feeding trial. A control group of the same variety receiving no extra fat used 20.1 pounds of feed per bird and weighed an average of 6.1 pounds 13 weeks.

County Infirmary

One of the Tuscola County Newspapers in last week's edition in commenting on the proposed New County Infirmary made the statement that it costs the county much more to keep patients in a convalescent home than at the County Infirmary. That statement was not true.

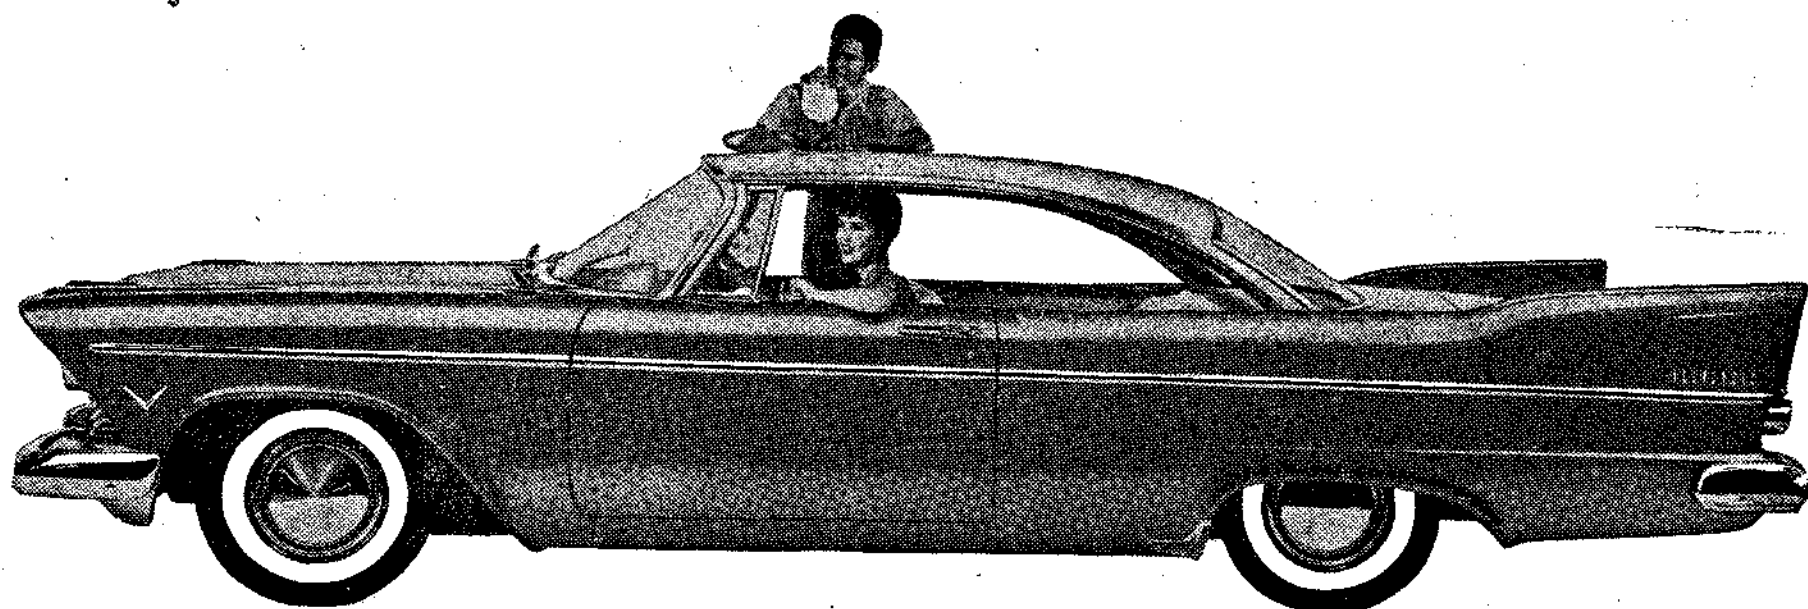

The article further stated that it costs the county about $5.00 a day to take care of a patient in the infirmary. It may surprise many persons to be advised that the nursing homes get $3.83 per day or $115.00 per month to take care of old age pensioners or indigent persons, except in a few unusual situations.

It should be further noted that the County receives $90.00 per month from the state for each patient who is an old age recipient or is on direct relief. Who pays the balance of the $5.00 per day cost?

The actual cost to the county for most patients in nursing homes is $12.50 per month plus one-half of the medical expenses. How does this compare with the $5.00 per day cost per patient in the county infirmary?

This advertisement is published solely for the purpose of correcting the statements made last week in one of the Tuscola County newspapers.

Granddaddy of Voting Machines

Millions of Americans will be casting ballots in the Presidential election next week, many on the latest smooth-working voting machines, but how many know that it was Thomas A. Edison who first mechanized the vote casting process? Betty Dul shows a device perfected by Edison called an electrographic vote-recorder and register, now in the Henry Ford Museum's Edison collection, Dearborn, Mich. The patent, granted him on June 1, 1889, was the first in his long inventive career. Designed as a time-saver, Edison said its purpose was to record and register "in an instant, and with great accuracy," the votes of legislative bodies. But it was shelved after a committee of the National House of Representatives decided after a demonstration that it would put an end to filibustering, and who wanted to see that happen? Wound by a key, the clock-work mechanism rotated on a drum containing names in metal type that were imprinted on chemically prepared paper by means of an electric current. A switch on a legislator's desk was moved to either of two positions for an affirmative or negative vote. Edison placed the switches that would be used by the legislators at the front of the stand in this working model.

Clothing Expert Slated in County

Do new fabrics and finishes require new methods of care and sewing? Do they make our work easier, or add to our problems? Home demonstration groups of Tuscola County are looking forward to finding some answers to these questions. Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county home demonstration agent, announces that Miss Lola Belle Green, clothing specialist from Michigan State University, will meet with the leaders of Section 1 on Thursday, November 8, and Section 2 on Friday, November 9, for a lesson on modern methods of clothing care and sewing on today's fabrics. The meetings will be held at the 4-H club building, Caro, beginning at 1 p. m.

Miss Green will give practical suggestions for keeping white nylons white, removing stubborn soiled spots from the newer types of fabrics, and preventing the wrinkles that are so hard to remove. The use and care of blends will also be discussed. The present trend toward materials made of a combination of fibers makes this an important item of clothing care. The average wife has the ability to praise her husband to other women without believing one word she says. The quiet man is not necessarily wise—but usually the wiser man is quiet.

VOTE STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN

Michigan Mirror News in Brief

A clean bill of health was accorded the State Liquor Control Commission at a recent Senate hearing held in Lansing.

Climaxing a three month investigation which drew charges of "politics" from Democratic leaders, the Republican staffed committee issued an interim report. It said the commission was a victim of "harmless and vicious" rumors.

Early Democratic outcries, calling the hearings a "GOP plot" to embarrass Gov. Williams' controlled Liquor Commission, proved completely off base. Hearings, headed by Senator John Minnema (R-Traverse City), dealt with the singular purpose of "clearing the air" of unproven charges leveled at the commission. Members of both parties expressed satisfaction with procedures.

Basically the investigation proved that allegations against the commission were unfounded. Perhaps of greater future value were recommendations for improving commission procedures.

One committee suggestion is to increase the commission from three to five members, with two of them assigned to judge liquor violation cases. This received the support of Commissioner Kenneth J. Daniels of Jackson. At present, hearings of violations are running about four months behind in some areas of the state. Under the proposed system, Daniels states, the offices of examiners could be abolished, with the number of appeals to the full commission effectively reduced. Work could be speeded up about 50 per cent.

Special licensing of real estate brokers who deal in bar also received committee support.

According to Walter Nowack, head of the commission's enforcement division, there is much concern about the problem created by persons who claim they have influence to get an assignment of liquor licenses.

Direct supervision by the commission would wipe out this vicious racket, Nowack states.

Virtually eclipsed by candidates and issues in the coming campaign is a proposition which may surprise voters who learn of it for the first time when they reach the polls.

Citizens will be expressing approval or disapproval of an amendment to the state Constitution. The proposal would set new qualifications for candidates seeking election as state Senator or Representative.

Initiated by the Legislature, the amendment requires that a candidate must be 21 years old and never convicted of subversion or of a felony involving a breach of the public trust.

Two considerations are involved in this single proposal. First—the age restriction. Second—the ban on persons convicted of certain felonies.

Present wording of the state Constitution states that a legislator must be "a qualified elector of the district he represents." This means he must be 21 years old.

The actual numerical age of "21" is proposed in anticipation of future actions which could lower the voting age to 18. In such an event, 18-year-olds would become qualified electors under the present constitutional provision and eligible to hold legislative seats.

The change in wording, would set a permanent age limit of 21 for legislators, even if the voting age limit is lowered.

Both houses have the right to refuse to seat any of their elected members. This power is much broader than the proposed constitutional change.

However, when they exercise that power there is apt to be considerable controversy. It happened in 1954 when the Senate refused to seat Anthony J. Wilkowski, a Hamtramck Democrat. He was convicted 20 years earlier on a vote fraud charge. When the Republican Senate refused to seat him after his re-election in 1954, Democrats charged that the move was strictly political.

Legislators would no longer decide the question. The court conviction would automatically bar such a person from being elected. There could be no recurrence of the 1954 fight with overtones of "politics."

Michigan's censorship law banning "obscene books" will soon be tested in court to determine its validity. According to opponents of the law, it is too vague to be properly enforced.

The current problem stems from a Detroit police department action banning the sale of certain paper backed books from newsstands where they would be readily available to minors.

The present law reads that publication or sale of any book containing obscene, immoral, lewd or lascivious language tending to incite minors to violence or depraved or immoral acts is banned.

Much of the argument is concerned with an interpretation of the word "obscene." The difficulty arises when trying to define which specific books and under what specific conditions books can be described in this manner.

Behind the local conflict there are several basic issues. For example: How far can censorship go in a country that provides freedom of speech and yet must recognize social responsibility? What factors must be considered to determine if a book should be banned? Who shall have the power to ban books? How great will this power be? These are the real questions the courts must decide.

IMPOSSIBLE TASK

No matter how plainly the way is marked some people still travel in the wrong direction.
