

Parrish, Stirton Make Public Original Song

Roger Parrish of Cass City and J. W. Stirton of California, a former Cass City resident, have collaborated in an original composition, "I'm Longing for My Michigan."

The lyrics were written first by Mr. Stirton, who missed his native state after moving west. The poem was set to music by Mr. Parrish.

The composers would like to have the song published and become adopted as a state song.

It was sung for the first time at the Cass City Rotary Club meeting Tuesday at the New Gordon Hotel. Guests of the club were State Senator Arthur DeMuel and State Rep. Allison Green.

Any move to have the song adopted by the state would have to come through the state government.

The first public rendition of the song was presented at the club by a quartet of local singers, Arthur Holmberg, Robert Richards, Dr. George Carrick and Mr. Parrish.

The song has three verses and a chorus. Each Rotarian received a mimeographed copy of the lyrics.

Santa Claus Due In Village Dec. 18

Santa Claus will make his annual trip to Cass City Tuesday evening, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p. m.

Members of the Cass City Gavel Club, who sponsor Santa's trip, said that he will have a thousand boxes of assorted candy to distribute to boys and girls in the area.

The club dispensed with a program so that members could continue work on the archway at the Cass City Recreational Park.

Write Letters To Santa Claus

It's time to let Santa know just what you want for Christmas. With this in mind, the Chronicle will again send a paper direct to Santa at the North Pole so that he'll be sure to know what all the boys and girls in the Cass City area want under their Christmas tree.

So just address your letters to the Chronicle and we'll print them in one of the papers between now and Christmas.

Breaking and Entering Area Youths Plead Guilty in Court

Robert Wright of Deford and Gerald McAlpine of Gagetown pleaded guilty of breaking and entering the Bertha Brady store in Deford Nov. 10 when arraigned before Judge T. C. Quinn Saturday.

The pair admitted taking some wine and about $20 from the store. Judge Quinn ordered a presentence investigation and will pass sentence Dec. 3.

Tuesday before Judge Arthur M. Bach of Bad Axe, Gerald Endert was sentenced to three years' probation for breaking and entering the Gamble store in Caro.

In addition, he was ordered to pay a fine of $50, costs of $100 and make restitution of $325.47.

He had pleaded guilty when arraigned Nov. 21, admitting entering the store on three separate occasions.

Other Tuesday Cases

Harvey Lamoureux of Kingston was denied damages in his suit against Roger and Pearl Noble of Deckerville. He was seeking money for repairs to his car following an automobile accident in Kingston in May 1954.

The Noble car ran into the rear of his automobile. The no cause for action verdict was given because the evidence indicated that Mr. Lamoureux was guilty of contributor negligence in the accident because he stopped or nearly stopped on the highway.

The State Savings Bank of Caro received a default judgment from Robert and Leora Thayer of Gifford of $652.81 and costs of $46.63.

Edison Case

Wednesday, Nov. 21, Judge Quinn granted a motion of discovery to give five Gagetown area farmers the right to examine the Detroit Edison Company's right of way leases between Bad Axe and Caro in their dispute with the company over the amounts paid for leases on their property.

Delay Enforcing Parking Law In Village

Motorists who park their cars at night on the streets in Cass City will be able to continue to do so for a while longer.

Last spring village trustees passed an ordinance prohibiting the parking of cars on village streets during designated hours at night so that village employees will be unhampered while removing snow from the streets.

The parking regulation was to have been in effect Dec. 1 and last through the winter months each year.

However, signs purchased to warn motorists of the law have not yet arrived. Trustees will not start to enforce the law until the signs arrive and are erected.

Guy Landon Commended For Carrier Service

Guy Landon, who retires today (Friday) after 42 years as a rural mail carrier, received a certificate of honorary recognition from the postal department and a personal letter from Arthur E. Summerfield, postmaster general.

The letter reads: "It is a pleasure to present with this letter a certificate in commemoration of your more than 42 years of service as a rural carrier. Serving the patrons on your route over this long period of time must be a source of considerable satisfaction to you."

"I wish to extend my warm personal greetings on this your last day of service and hope you will have many years of happy and healthful retirement. Sincerely yours, Arthur E. Summerfield, postmaster general."

WSC Entertains Neighboring Clubs

The Woman's Study Club entertained four neighboring clubs at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Church. Sixty-six club women and their friends were present for the luncheon that opened the program.

Miss Helen Harris, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, explained the work in progress by club women in the state. She said that she hopes that the Girls' Town started in Michigan several years ago by club women, will soon be completed. Miss Harris was introduced by Mrs. C. L. Graham.

Mrs. Edward Golding Jr. sang several selections, accompanied by Mrs. Marlette Snover, Gagetown and Kingston clubs were guests at the Tuesday meeting. Mrs. John Ritsema of Sebawing, first vice-president of the State Federation, was a guest.

Air Force Officer Explains Foreign Living Conditions

Frazer C. Foren of Royal Oak, who served for 12 years with the United States Air Force, depicted customs of Korea and Japan with colored slides collected while he served in these countries.

Speaking before Cass City Rotarians Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel, he demonstrated that living standards in Korea are much lower than those in Japan and much less than those enjoyed by the United States.

In his varied service career, Mr. Foren served in the Pacific, in Korea before and during the war, flew the Berlin blockade and was stationed on an island near Greece.

He was introduced by Donald E. McAleer, program chairman.

Edwin Fulcher, 52, who was critically injured Wednesday morning, Nov. 21, is recovering at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw.

Mr. Fulcher was crushed between two freight cars while working at the Michigan Sugar Company plant in Caro. When first taken to the hospital, attending physicians did not expect him to live because of internal injuries. However, emergency surgery was successful and he is now considered out of danger.

Despite his critical condition, Mr. Fulcher received no broken bones in the accident.

VARSITY CAGERS—This squad carries the Thumb B conference championship hopes of Cass City High School. In the back row are the six players most likely to see the majority of action in the first game. They are: Dick Hanby, Bob Martus, John Meininger, Jim Johnson, Forrest Walpole and Chuck Guinther.

From the Editor's Corner

As president of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, Keith McConkey is responsible for seeing that details of the organization's activities run smoothly.

This week Keith was very worried that the greens used in decorating Main Street that come from Minnesota would not arrive in time for Sunday's workday.

Without the greens it is impossible to do the majority of the decorating work.

The greens had been ordered far in advance and representatives of the company guaranteed that they would arrive in plenty of time.

Yet, as late as Wednesday morning, no notification of the greens arriving had been received. . . . when the shipment reached Ludington the Chamber of Commerce president was to have been called.

A long distance call was placed to try to hurry delivery and the situation was growing tense.

Then Wednesday noon the pressure was off. The greens had arrived in Cass City at 2 a. m. Sunday and no one had discovered them stacked behind the Cass City Municipal Building. The greens are now in a village garage thawing out for Sunday's use.

Claseman Names Starters

Hawks Meet Caro in Cage Opener Tonight

Cass City's basketball team, which has never finished lower than second since the Thumb B Conference was formed six years ago, is expected to be a title contender this year.

The Hawk squad has won three titles and finished second twice in the five previous years of competition.

Despite its lofty record and pre-season pick as a co-favorite with Marlette, Coach Irv Claseman is faced with numerous problems as he prepares his club for its first game with Caro tonight (Friday).

The club is short and will be weak on rebounds. The guard slots, a strong point for the club in the last six or seven years, is an unknown quantity as a unit.

Veteran Bob Martus will start at one of the posts and Chuck Guinther will replace Jack Clara at the other when the opening whistle sounds.

Whether these boys will give Coach Claseman the slick ball handling and driving type guards that are the backbone of his system remains to be seen.

John Meininger, tallest man on the squad, will be at one of the forward spots. Meininger last year showed flashes of brilliance and coaches are hoping that he will become a consistent outstanding player in his senior year.

Southpaw Dick Hanby will be at the other forward position. Hanby has shown an accurate eye in practice and could be a point producer. However, last season his ball handling left a lot to be desired and he was prone to make unnecessary fouls.

Rounding out the starting five will be Jim Johnson. A clever fader in the pivot post, Johnson's trouble has been finding the basket. After eluding his man he has had trouble cashing his two-pointers.

Before the game is too far along, it is very probable that Forrest Walpole and Mike Fritz will see action. Walpole is a guard and Fritz plays a forward or center spot. Sophomore Fred Leeson is also a top prospect at a guard spot.

Completing the squad and ready to step in if the starters falter are: Laurence Hyatt, Dick Hillaker, Tom Hulien and Jack Hartwick.

Bob Walpole will also be dressed but is not expected to see action because of an injury suffered in the football season.

Last year Caro finished strong after a slow start and was one of the three conference teams to defeat the Hawks. The game could be the Hawks' roughest opener in recent years.

Two Gifford Stars Recall Early Days

The new officers of Gifford Chapter OES held their first meeting of the year Tuesday evening, Nov. 20, with Worthy Matron Mrs. Carole Kretschmeyer presiding.

Bessie Davison of Caro, Grand committeewoman of Fraternal Sunshine, and her husband were guests. Mrs. Davison gave an interesting talk concerning the Worthy Grand Matron's work for the year.

Mrs. Anna Kuhn received her life membership to the chapter. The presentation was made by Mrs. Sybil Roth. Both ladies told interesting and humorous highlights of the early days with the chapter.

The annual potluck supper preceded the meeting and was well attended.

Freemans Feted on 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Freeman, residents of Cass City for two years, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary over the week end and this week left from Detroit by plane to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. James Denton, in Las Vegas, Nevada. The Freemans were previously from Detroit and for many years were Gagetown residents.

The couple was surprised in their home Saturday evening when relatives, including their grandson, Brother William Denton of Notre Dame; their daughter, Mrs. John Bliss of Nicholson Hill; their granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Comment of Gagetown, and their grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Bliss, arrived bringing an anniversary dinner.

Patrick Freeman and Miss Henrietta Fournier were married Nov. 25, 1896, at Gagetown by Fr. Krebs, the first priest to conclude on page ten.

Cass City Oil & Gas Plans Opening Of New Addition

Stanley Asher, manager of Cass City Oil and Gas Co., said this week that enlargement of the company's appliance store on Main Street has been nearly completed.

The addition will double the capacity of the store and will help the company more efficiently service the customer growth the company is experiencing.

Mr. Asher said that a grand opening of the enlarged building will be held next week.

Rabideau Brothers Buy Out Father

Announcement was made this week of the purchase of the interest of George Rabideau in Rabideau Motor Sales by his sons, Lee and Wayne Rabideau.

The three had been in partnership in the auto sales business since it was organized in 1945.

The Rabideaus said that no change is planned in the operation of the business.

Effective date of the sale was Wednesday, Nov. 21. Terms were not disclosed.

Livestock Club Ready For Detroit Show

The smallest group in years from the Cass City Livestock Club to enter the Detroit Junior Livestock Show Dec. 4-6 will show 15 sheep and seven steers while competing for the coveted championship in each division.

The club has the enviable record of showing more champion steers and lambs than any other club or organization in the state.

Last year Jack Perry, representing the club, walked off with the champion lamb. Leaders of the club feel that they have sheep good enough to make a very strong bid for a championship again this year.

The club also has some fine steers. This year six club boys will show seven steers, four less than were exhibited in 1955.

Fifty Expected at Annual Work Sunday

Week-end weather forecasts indicate that it will be clear and cold Sunday morning when residents of the community gather at the high school for the annual breakfast and workday.

In past years an estimated 50 persons attended the breakfast and completed many of the projects necessary for the Christmas season.

Representatives from National Geographic will be present to take pictures of both working on the street decorations and home display projects.

Persons who plan to work on displays Sunday are asked to call Cass City Area Pageant Chairman Al Krueger (Cass City 388) and leave their names so that the photographer can be taken to the various sites.

Most of the Chamber of Commerce's work is expected to be completed Sunday. The project facing the workers is erecting Main Street decorations. There will be no displays to erect. The ones owned and erected by the Chamber of Commerce in past years have been given to individuals who are responsible for the erection.

Chorus Progressing

Roger Parrish, music director, reports that there was an excellent turnout at the Tuesday night rehearsal at the high school. The pageant chorus will meet Sunday afternoon and again Tuesday evening. The music will be recorded Dec. 9.

Christmas Stickers

Mr. Krueger reports that the sale of Christmas stickers advertising Cass City's Christmas has been successful. He reminds residents that the stickers are on sale at Leeson's Wallpaper and Paint Store for 25 cents a hundred and asks all residents to place them on their mail to advertise the community's project.

Root and Lefler Named to All-Star League Team

The Thumb B All-League football team was announced this week by coaches of the conference. The team was picked by the players. Each school named an all opponent team and the boys selected the most times were named to the mythical squad.

Cass City placed two boys on the team, both linemen. Don Root was honored at center and Jim Lefler was placed at tackle.

Ends were Ron Groat of Yale, who received the nod of coaches for one of the positions after he tied with teammate Sid Bradley, and Don Pangborn of Bad Axe.

Other linemen named were: Duane Cubbitt, Sandusky; Don Newberry, Crosswell-Lexington, and Fred Reimelt, Sandusky.

Ashmore Home Damaged by Fire

Fire of undetermined origin razed the interior of the Charles Ashmore home, eight and a half miles north of Cass City, Friday night.

The blaze started in the bedroom when the Ashmore children were home and the parents away. Bedroom furniture was completely destroyed and the remainder of the furniture in the house was badly damaged by heat and smoke.

The walls and roof of the building were not hurt. The Ashmores are temporarily living in an apartment in Cass City.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Council in Busy Session Tuesday Night

Arrangements were made to repair the football field Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the village council held at the Municipal Building.

Lester Ross, a member of the school board, appeared before the council and asked that action be taken.

The grass on the field is almost gone. Mr. Ross said that the school would help with expenses.

Because the school pays the village $300 yearly for the use of the park, trustees said that the village will stand the cost of the repair if it does not prove to be excessively expensive.

Wednesday the first work on the field began. A cultipacker was run over the field prior to the addition of loam and fertilizer.

When the ground freezes the field will be seeded.

One of the primary causes of the deterioration of the field has been the lack of water, authorities say. With this in mind, plans were laid for the school to hire a man to water the field at regular intervals to bring the turf into first class shape.

Dog Building

The new dog pound building, authorized at the October meeting of the council, is partially completed. Village Engineer William Schram said that the 12-foot by 12-foot building will cost about $350 to $400. The building is being erected at the sewage disposal plant, west of Cass City. The location was selected to eliminate disturbances within the village.

Site Committee

Plans to enlarge the committee to select a site for the Cass City Community Hospital were rejected after a discussion.

The committee of President James B. and Trustee F. E. Benkelman and Andrew Bigelow will make the site recommendation to the hospital board. They are consulting Mr. C. U. Brown for technical advice.

Retire Bonds

Residents of the village will save some $4,000 in interest payments through an action taken Tuesday. Trustees voted to retire six $6,000 bonds that mature in 1980 at the present time.

The bonds were purchased by the Cass City and Pinney State Banks who are releasing them at par value plus accrued interest at the time they are retired.

Because of Christmas, the Council's next meeting will be a week early on Dec. 18.

Teaching Best Job in Iran Says Foreign Student

A supervisor of English for 20,000 students in Japan and a teacher of Persian literature and English in Iran were foreign student guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Melvin R. Vender over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Both of the students are studying this country's way of teaching English and both are exchange students.

Javad Minoo, 34, of Iran has one of the best jobs in Iran. Teaching in that country is one of the highest paid jobs. He receives about $100 a month . . . which goes a long way when haircuts cost 15 cents and a taxi will take you anywhere for a dime.

Jitsuo Honda, 36, has charge of all English in one of the 46 prefectures in Japan. His district has 300 schools and 20,000 students.

He is very interested in the United States' school system as Japan's system is copied from it.

As is the case with most exchange students now that the program has been in progress for several years, the men know what to expect in this country from talking with students from their countries who had been here in other years.

Both of the students lean towards a democratic form of government. Mr. Honda said that the Democratic party in Japan has a big majority and that the Socialist group is losing ground in congress.

Mr. Minoo reports that Iran has a limited monarchy, much the same as the one in England.

These stores will be open all day Thursday until Christmas: Hulien's, Federated, H. J. Smith, Asher's Men's Wear.

William F. Beardsley Dies In Lapeer

William F. Beardsley, 86, native of Tuscola County and resident here until 1925, when he moved to Lapeer, died in Lapeer County General Hospital Saturday evening after suffering a heart attack. Funeral services were held Tuesday at one o'clock in the Liberty St. Gospel Church at Lapeer, of which he was a member. Rev. F. S. Hemingway officiated and burial was made in Elkland Cemetery.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Beardsley, he was born May 23, 1870. In 1894 he married Miss Nida M. Ware, who died August 24, 1934. Later he married Mrs. Amanda Kenney, who died June 24, 1950. For some time Mr. Beardsley has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Youngs, at 244 W. Howard Street in Lapeer. For a number of years after going to Lapeer, Mr. Beardsley was janitor at the Third Ward School and later at the State Mutual Cyclone Insurance Co.
Surviving are two sons and two daughters, Ernest Beardsley of Cass City and Richard Beardsley, Mrs. Youngs and Mrs. Sam Arms, all of Lapeer, 12 grandchildren, and 28 great-grandchildren.
It would be a lot easier for people to see the error of their ways if they weren't always looking at others.

Public Thanks To Our Lord and Saviour

We at First Baptist Church, Cass City, do hereby publicly testify to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ that HIS Bible is true and can be trusted - - -

"My God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus . . ." (Philippians 4:19)

Last Sunday our Saviour provided thru His people over $1,000. to wipe out our Building Loan indebtedness before it was due. New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!

Chevy's crack Cameo Carrier made the run in less than 42 hours! Alcan test was supervised and certified by the AAA.

Stop by soon. Whether your job calls for fast work against tight schedules, or big muscles for off-the-road grinds—we've got a Chevrolet Alcan champ to fill the bill!

Here to cut your costs for keeps . . . economy-proved on the Alcan Highway to Alaska!

In a history-making endurance run, six heavily loaded new '57 Chevy trucks covered the 1,520-mile Alcan in less than 45 hours (normally a 72-hour haul)—and with gas mileage up to 18.17 miles per gallon!

Here was a demonstration of the kind of operating efficiency that cuts hauling costs right down to bare essentials!

Chevy's short-stroke V8's put on a power show that turned steep Yukon grades into gentle slopes. As a special test of endurance, two of the engines went all the way without being turned off once!

A Powermatic-equipped heavyweight went the whole 1,520-mile route in a single forward speed range! On downgrades, Powermatic's built-in retarder saved wear on service brakes.

Chassis components passed a test of rutted, rough going. Frames and rear axles withstood hundreds of miles of pounding gravel. Chevy's superb steering and suspension took all the fight out of the most treacherous Alcan stretches.

The Alcan run proved it — new Chevy trucks can whiz through the toughest jobs with time-saving, dollar-saving efficiency!

Proved on the Alcan Highway Champs of every weight class!

WOMAN'S WORLD

Christmas Dinner Can Be Simple, And Yet Festive

THOSE last minute flurrys of shopping, wrapping and trimming may leave you a bit flustered, but you don't have to worry about Christmas dinner if you plan it simply.

Roast pork is simple because you do not have to prepare the meat, and so is baked ham, the easiest of which are the thoroughly cooked canned hams which need only heating and a glaze spread on them during the last half hour of cooking time.

Old-fashioned molasses cookie dough cut in reindeer shapes can trim your Christmas table. The cookie can become Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer with bright maraschino cherries for noses. With scoops of minted cherry ice cream you'll have a perfect dessert.

Serve the relishes in the living room with crackers and chips with cheese dips, if you like. Have a green vegetable, an oven casserole of sweet potatoes, a molded cranberry salad and a minted cherry ice cream with holiday cookies for dessert. All can be done in advance with a minimum of cooking before the meal.

Baked Ham Glazes

Current-Mustard Glaze: Mix together 2 cups current jelly with 1/4 cup creamy mustard and spread over ham during last half hour of cooking, after scoring fat.

Apricot Glaze: Mix 1 1/2 cups apricot jam with 1/2 cup white corn syrup. Add a dash of tabasco sauce to cut sweetness.

Minted Cherry Ice Cream (Makes 1 1/2 pints)
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 1/2 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
1/2 teaspoon salt
Few drops mint extract
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
3/4 cup coarsely chopped maraschino cherries
Green food coloring

Combine sugar and cornstarch; gradually stir in milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover and cook over boiling water for 10 minutes. Beat egg yolks, stir in a little of the hot mixture; add to remaining milk mixture. Cook slowly for 3 minutes. Cool. Beat egg whites until stiff; add salt and fold into custard. Blend in mint extract. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until frozen about an inch from sides of tray. Beat until light and fluffy. Fold in cream and cherries. Tint mixture light green. Freeze until firm, stirring occasionally during freezing.

Add Individuality To Those Gifts

Isn't it a wonderful feeling to get a gift into which you feel someone has put in some creative thought? Then you can be certain that the receiver feels that way about gifts to which you've added something personal.

For example, if one of your friends has a dark basic dress, think how she'll feel if you give her a striped taffeta scarf. You can buy the scarf if you wish, but add some fake red flowers to the ends or iron on some felt snowflakes or other attractive designs.

Scrap books for children and score pads for adults are homely enough gifts, but think how delightful they can be if you cover them with gay holiday paper. They can be sleek and sophisticated with glitter ornaments and sequins glued on or humorous with plain colored paper decorated with cutouts from cards.

Female Frillery

Giving a cookbook? Why not make an oldcloth jacket for it? It may already have a design on it or you can cover it with plain oldcloth and paste on (with rubber cement) a mixing bowl and spoon cut from a contrasting colored cloth.

Stoles are popular and very easy to make. Use 2 1/2 yards of flannel and trim varying lengths of contrasting colored yarn, sewed on to the stole and ending in a fringe.

Nothing ventured, nothing gained may be true—but at least you can keep what you have.

It takes us half of our lives to learn who our friends are—and the other half to figure out ways to keep them.

Final Rites Held for Mrs. Mary McDonald

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary McDonald were held Wednesday, Nov. 28, at 9:30 a. m. at St. Agatha Church, Gagetown, with Rev. Glenn W. Cronkite officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery. Mrs. McDonald died Sunday, Nov. 25, at her home east of Gagetown after being ill for two years. She was 72 years old.

Mary Phelan was born in Elmwood Township Dec. 28, 1883. Her first husband, Leroy Trudeau, died in 1924. In 1930 she was married to Lawrence McDonald, who survives.

Other survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Maynard (Margory) Doerr of Berkley, Mich., and Mrs. Kenneth (Maxine) Maharg of Gagetown; one brother, James Phelan of Gagetown, and six grandchildren, one of whom Thomas Herron, had made his home with her since infancy. One son and one daughter preceded her in death.

Mrs. McDonald was a member of St. Agatha Church and Altar Society.

BULEN TALKS

INSIDE THE OLDS

You've heard of that TV show called 'I've Got a Secret.' Well, I've got a secret too, and I'll give you one minute, or the time it takes to read this column to guess what it is.

Meanwhile, let's talk about a few of the secrets behind the glamorous success of the 1957 Oldsmobile. I've turned these new cars inside out looking at their magnificent new styling—and that's a good place to start, right on the inside.

The new Oldsmobile upholstery is called Tri-lok and I suppose at first glance it just looks like the smartest upholstery on any car today. That's all it looks like. But this Tri-lok upholstery introduces one of the most relaxing features in cars today.

Tri-lok is a three-dimensional fabric so it allows a free circulation of air between the passenger and the seat. No more sticky, uncomfortable rides. It won't collapse or flatten, even after long rides.

If you take the time to look up under the '57 Olds dashboard you won't find the usual maze of wires. Instead, Olds has printed the electrical circuits by impressing flat copper lines on an insulating board which forms the back of the instrument panel. Leading to the instrument cluster is a single wire, instead of 14.

Its great advantage is in reducing the hazard of short circuiting; it gives more miles of trouble-free service and simplifies maintenance.

My secret, I suppose, is really Oldsmobile's secret. Oldsmobile, the luxury car just outside the lowest price field, is the car on which the great new advances are tried first (like hardtop styling, wrap-around windshields). This year is no different. Oldsmobiles, the ones we have on display now, are packed with important "firsts" that will be standard equipment on other cars only years from now.

Looks like a great Year for Oldsmobile. We are sold out now till January, except for the Super 88 4-Door Sedan we received for a "Sample" which someone will buy soon. They surprised us this time; it doesn't have every option the Factory offers, not even Power Steering and Brakes. It's the new "Copper" colour with Green Trim. If you haven't seen it, won't you come in?

But you didn't know that Oldsmobile now has the Highest Trade-In Value (percentage-wise) of any car on the market, even surpassing Cadillac!

Remember that 1955 Pickup with 6000 miles that I predicted wouldn't last a week? It was sold in less than a half day.

Perlite Is New Soil Conditioner

Tests Reported on Volcanic Material

A common construction material has been found to hold the answer to many garden and lawn problems.

Expanded perlite, a white, feather-light volcanic material chiefly used until now in plaster and concrete, has undergone a series of university tests and has been authoritatively reported to be an "ideal growing medium and soil conditioner."

Because of its unique physical properties, this mineral has been found to help provide plant life with its three basic demands: air, moisture, and soil bacteria.

It can be used for gardens, potted plants, or window boxes. It is particularly useful in transplanting, rooting cuttings, storing bulbs, or in conditioning the soil for lawns, shrubs, and trees. It is inexpensive, lightweight and easy to handle, and lasts for years since it cannot rot or dissolve. Also, it is non-toxic and completely odorless.

In planting new shrubs or trees, bottom of hole is filled in to depth of six inches with mixture of 1/3 perlite and 2/3 soil.

In mixing with soil, perlite's white color makes it easy to tell when soil and perlite have been properly blended. Conditioned areas can be easily identified from non-conditioned areas.

When expanded or "popped" under intense heat, perlite particles take the form of tiny white, cellular grains twelve times lighter than sand. These particles are studded with minute cavities which retain moisture, storing just the right amount of water, but prevent absorption into the particle.

Four C's Important In Making Loans

Character, capital, collateral and capacity.

These are the four C's that a lender looks for when you apply for a loan, according to John Doneth, farm economist at Michigan State University.

The lender is interested in what you are as well as what you have, says Doneth. Your character includes such things as honesty, industry, prompt payment of bills and the way in which you handle your debts.

Your capital position, including your present debts and payments required, is shown in a financial statement requested by most lenders. You should be able and willing to risk some of your assets in a business venture because you are asking the creditor to risk some of his.

Security for a loan is usually in the form of a chattel or a real estate mortgage. The loan's purpose and the collateral offered to support it are important to a lender.

The fourth "C," capacity, is a broad term as described by Doneth. It includes your capacity and ability to pay debts.

No Spilling

Animated Pincushion

Woe to the animal that decides to tangle with this bundle of prickly wildlife, for nature has given the plodding little porcupine a sort of armor plate. The "porcupine" carries about 1600 barbed quills in his tail and 30,000 elsewhere. The quills can't be thrown, but the porcupine can swish his tail sideways when attacked—leaving the loosely held quills imbedded in the attacker.

Many Colleges Offer Short Farm Courses

Jokes about city slickers blundering around on the farm no longer have much basis in fact. Today, smart city boys who want to try rural living can, and usually do, bone up on some phases of farming before hand.

That's the opinion of Westervelt Griffin, assistant dean of Rutgers University's College of Agriculture, who is in charge of a 10-week "short" course in farming.

Intensive training is given in seven different phases of agriculture—dairy farming, fruit growing, vegetable production, animal husbandry, poultry husbandry, turf management and landscape maintenance.

Students for the "short" courses can be classified into three groups, Griffin says. "There are the farmers who come to keep up-to-date in their vocations. Others—often college graduates highly skilled in other lines—definitely want to shift from present work to farming. And there's a third group, mainly city residents not quite sure they want to go into farming. They enroll in one of the short courses to find out."

Brief, intensive courses in specialized farming started in the late 1800's at the University of Wisconsin to train young men in the Babcock test for butterfat in milk.

Double Protection

Shock absorbers which also protect axle handle is provided by nailing strip cut from old auto tire casing behind the bit. This prevents damage to axle handle that frequently occurs when splitting stove wood or fence posts.

Building A Resource

White pine seeds (inset) were being planted at Higgins Lake state nursery this fall in a new, more compact fashion. This planting machine has been rebuilt to allow heavier planting in each seedbed. The growing need for more trees in Michigan stimulated the increased planting program. These seeds will produce young trees, ready for transplanting, in about two years.

SHORT STORY

Big Favor

By Jack James

PATSY was taping his hands when the boss came out of the dressing room with Big Louie and the kid. Louie was laughing at something. He laughed through his teeth, making a big, black cigar bob up and down in front of his nose.

"Every time I look at that punch-drunk old bum you got working for you, I got to laugh," he told the boss. "Don't tell me you're going to let him work the kid!"

The boss looked away. "He's the only one up here," he said. "But, don't worry, he'll give the kid a good workout. Patsy might not be in such hot shape, but he knows the score. Ten years ago he was up there with the best of them."

"I ain't interested in what he was ten years ago! Right now he wouldn't even make a good punching bag."

The kid's face was white and angry, but he charged in on Patsy.

The boss let a little disgust show in his face. "What's the difference?" he said. "You make money off your boys whether they can fight or not."

Big Louie looked indignant. "What are you talking about? I didn't ask the kid to fight for me. I'm doing him a favor!" He turned to the kid, breathing a cloud of black smoke in his face. "Ain't that right, kid? Didn't you come to me?"

The kid choked, blinked, and you could see he was swallowing his anger. "I came to you."

"With the little experience you got, no other manager would take you on. I'm doing you a favor, ain't I?"

"Yes, sir," the kid said. "You're doing me a favor."

"You see?" Big Louie asked. The boss looked at the kid. The kid's face was flushed and his clear, intelligent eyes were obviously troubled. But there was an obstinate set to his jaw.

"I see," the boss said, turning away.

When the kid was ready, Big Louie pushed him through the ropes. "I want to see what you can do, boy," he said. "So don't carry that old bum. If you don't show me something, I might not take you on."

Patsy didn't waste any time. He maneuvered the kid so that his back was to Big Louie. When the kid put out his arms to touch gloves, Patsy hit him on the point of the jaw. He threw two more to the body before the kid could recover.

The kid's face was white and angry. He was dazed, but he charged in on Patsy who easily evaded his wide-swinging blows and countered with short, chopping rights and lefts. Patsy didn't intend to let it go to a second round.

He was setting him up when the kid let go with a round-house right. Patsy heard noises; loud crashing noises accompanied by flashes of searing white light. He ducked, instinctively moving in to tie the kid up so his head could clear. Over the kid's shoulder he could see the big, squat form of Big Louie. He winked, hoping Louie would think the kid hadn't hurt him, couldn't hurt him with his biggest and hardest punch.

With the pain shooting through his head, Patsy stepped back. He didn't miss. He landed solidly to the jaw, the welcome pain from his knuckles shooting up to his shoulder. The kid stumbled to his knees, tried gamely to get up and fell forward on his face and shoulders.

After that it didn't take much to convince the kid that he'd never make a professional fighter. As Big Louie said: "If an old has-been like Patsy could do that to him, what chance would he have against a real fighter?"

Patsy got a bucket of hot water and began scrubbing the canvas. Big Louie and the kid were gone, but the boss was still there, watching silently.

"The kid hurt you, didn't he?" the boss asked.

Patsy didn't say anything. "You won't have to do that again," the boss said. He leaned over on the ropes where he could get a closer look at Patsy's face. "That kid could fight, couldn't he?"

A man seldom feels he has to give up his money while trying to square himself with his conscience.

Meeting to Air Changes in Social Security Law

A disabled person having paid into Social Security may qualify for Social Security disability payments. This new ruling goes into effect under the 1957 Social Security law, points out Tuscola County Assistant Agricultural Agent Don Kebler.

However, only disabled persons 50 years of age or older can qualify. The amount of work required to have payments is always at least as much as would be required for old age insurance payments.

Beginning November 1956 any woman worker entitled to Social Security payments can now retire at the age of 62 instead of 65. However, the payments will be less than if she waits until the age of 65 before retiring.

These and other new changes in the Social Security laws will be discussed in the Dec. 6 barnyard economics meeting. Also to be given are changes in the Soil Bank program that may help to increase the farm net income.

Tied in with these two programs will be suggestions on filling out the farm income tax form for Social Security purposes.

Kebler invites those interested to attend this barnyard economics meeting in the Fairgrove High School auditorium Dec. 6 from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Refreshments will be sponsored by State Savings Bank of Fairgrove, Laethem Farm Service Company, Fairgrove, and George, Ellis and Lyle Aldrich, hybrid seed corn producers, Fairgrove.

Be ready for the approaching holidays by preparing an "emergency shelf." Keep a good variety of foods on hand for unexpected company. Besides canned meats, vegetables, potatoes and fruits, you might keep such snack food as pickles, olives, sardines, spreads, mushrooms, candy and nuts. Of course, crackers and cheese are good keepers, too.

Swenson to Speak At Dairy Banquet

Dr. Richard Swenson, College of Agriculture Michigan State University, will speak on the need for trained personnel in agriculture at the annual Sanilac County dairy banquet at Sanilac High School Thursday.

Richard M. Swenson

Dec. 6. The banquet starts at 7:15 p. m.

"Agri-business" is a term frequently used to express the agricultural concept in our economy today. Although one person engaged in agricultural production produces for about 18 others, about 40 per cent of the nation's employed persons are engaged in fields closely related to agriculture.

Dr. Swenson is expected to elaborate on these facts at the banquet.

BROOKER DEATH

Surviving are: her daughter, Mrs. Burke; a son, James K. Brooker, Bay City; a sister, Mrs. James A. Moore, San Diego, and a brother, Alfred C. Bader, Los Angeles.

Burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

Filletts are the sides of a fish, cut lengthwise away from the backbone. They are practically boneless and require no preparation for cooking. Sometimes the skin, with the scales removed, is left on the filletts; others are skinned.

Save your thumbs when it comes to cracking those large, plentiful Brazil nuts for holiday cake and cookie baking. The best way to remove the shells, say MSU food specialists, is to cover the uncracked nuts with cold water, bring it to a boil and boil three minutes. Then, dry the nuts and crack the shells easily.

The fellow who always puts up a good losing fight receives nothing except a good beating.

Systemics Aiding Disease Control

Systemics are plant disease-control chemicals that are getting attention these days from plant pathologists.

Using a systemic chemical means putting it on the plant or in the soil where it is taken up by the plant to fight off disease.

For example, some fungicidal chemicals are put on the surface of a plant to keep disease organisms from entering from the outside. In contrast, systemics work from the inside of the plant to battle diseases from attacking from within.

Every year plant diseases cause an estimated $3 billion loss to growers in this country. Whittling this figure down to a less staggering total is the task that faces such men as M. B. Linn, head of the department of plant pathology at the University of Illinois.

Many different organisms cause plant diseases, Linn says. Some plant diseases are the work of viruses; others are caused by nematodes, fungi or bacteria. These pests aren't choosy, either; they make their home in almost any plant.

Cover Holder

To prevent hive cover from blowing off in high winds, bore a hole in the side of the cover from the inside and fasten coil spring in the hole with a nail. Turn spring so that outward end of the coil is pointed upward, permitting the cover to be placed over the super without trouble, but also furnishing enough friction to prevent cover blowing off in high winds.

If large eggs sell for more than one-third above the price of small eggs, then small eggs are the better buy per ounce, MSU consumer marketing specialists say.

Fowl Cholera Unpredictable

Symptoms Can Vary, Losses Often Acute

Fowl cholera, one of the most persistent poultry diseases and one that is noticed most often in the fall, is about as unpredictable as the bounce of a football.

It occurs in either chronic or acute form and may produce a variety of symptoms, says Dr. L. E. Hanson of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

The acute form can cause large losses among chickens, turkeys, ducks and pheasants. It may start so suddenly that a poultry owner may find dead birds on the nest. Combs on chickens usually become dark in color, and the birds develop a high fever that makes them appear droopy.

Experts say fowl cholera may produce variety of symptoms.

Dr. Hanson recommends these control measures:

1. Try to keep infection out of your flock by starting with healthy day-old chicks.
2. Keep age groups separated, and keep chickens segregated from other fowl.
3. Get a diagnosis when symptoms of the disease appear.
4. Market an infected flock at the end of the laying season. Then thoroughly clean and disinfect the laying house before you add new birds.

Silo-Fillers Disease Taken Too Lightly

Although farmers have long known that it is dangerous to enter a newly-filled silo, few realize the full extent of the danger, two Minneapolis physicians reported in a recent issue of the AMA journal.

They described the newly-identified "silo-filler's disease" as a serious and potentially fatal respiratory disorder, or "any bronchial or pulmonary condition produced by the inhalation of oxides or nitrogen derived from fresh silage." Because it resembles other lung conditions, such as bronchopneumonia, the doctor must know the patient has been exposed to silage fumes before he can make the proper diagnosis.

The doctors warned that the possibility of exposure to nitrogen dioxide fumes may increase because of the greater use of commercial chemicals containing nitrogen. These are likely to increase production of nitrogen dioxide in silage.

Prevention of the disease is simple, they said: "Allow no one to enter a silo for any purpose from the time filling begins until seven to 10 days after it is finished." Nitrogen dioxide fumes are produced during this period.

In addition, good ventilation about the base of the silo should be provided during the dangerous period so that gases will be carried away.

Good Citizens, These Railroads

OF ALL forms of transportation only the railroads and the pipelines fully pay their way.

The railroads build and maintain their own roadways and terminal facilities.

They have spent millions in the construction of bridges to meet the requirements of waterway navigation, used—without charge—by competing barge lines.

Untold millions of their taxes have gone into the construction and maintenance of highways used by their competitors, the trucks and busses.

They have repaid the Federal Government many times over in reduced passenger, freight and mail rates for the land grants of the 1850s-1860s.

They have repaid practically all loans from the Government and full interest on such loans and those from private investors.

And hundreds of millions of their taxes help support federal, state and local governments, help maintain military establishments and schools, and all other governmental activities.

Since Ernie is the owner of a pure-bred Hereford ranch in Lake County, California.

"I've seen Herefords all my life and ever since I've been old enough to talk about them I've wanted a place of my own to breed Hereford cattle," Ernie says.

In the brief span of seven years Tennessee Ernie Ford has risen from an unknown in the entertainment world to one of the nation's leading television, radio, recording and night club performers.

"You know," he says, "a fellow can't go on forever in this business and I want something to fall back on that is substantial. That's the reason I chose Hereford cattle. I only had experience with milk cows myself but my friends had Herefords and I know they do better at foraging for themselves and they're easier cattle to merchandise since most cattlemen prefer them.

I know I can't raise a lot of cattle on 500 acres of this rough California hill land but I have a lake and a natural irrigation set-up where I can build a small herd of top quality. I have hired a man to help me manage the place and we are working towards that goal," says Ernie.

Tennessee Ernie Is Cattle Man
Breeds Herefords on California Ranch

When television viewers hear a friendly voice say "howdy peapickers" they immediately relax and await a half hour of fun and songs from Tennessee Ernie Ford. This light-hearted philosopher from Bristol, Tennessee has won the praise of royalty and affections of millions of American people with his down-to-earth "home folks" ways.

Hereford breeders across the nation noticed on one of his recent television programs he was talking about Herefords with the easy familiarity he talks about his home town people down South. Nothing could be more natural for him.

Ernie Ford (right) and his manager Gene Cooper are shown with young Hereford calf born on their Lake County, California ranch.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Too many people in too little space. That's the problem the Michigan Department of Conservation must face as it tries to provide adequate park facilities for residents and tourists in the years ahead.

Michigan's 59 state parks are already bulging at the seams. In 1955 some 18 million persons jammed the state's playground areas. According to Gerald Eddy, director of the Department of Conservation, this figure is expected to swell to more than 38 million persons in the next 10 years.

Crowded conditions multiply the problems. Already, parking spaces are often unavailable. Sanitary facilities are inadequate. Picnic tables are difficult to locate. On week ends the problem becomes most acute.

Equipment in parks needs constant replacement. Age, heavy usage, and weather conditions all take their toll.

To do a good job, additional funds are necessary for proper maintenance and an expansion of facilities. According to a report by the Automobile Club of Michigan, the state is falling behind the nation not only in expanding facilities, but in keeping the present park system properly maintained.

Excluding headquarters personnel, there is an average of only one employee for every 400 acres of park land, says AAA. It becomes an impossible task to keep washrooms clean, grounds free from litter, picnic tables and stoves in repair.

State Legislatures have been reluctant to increase appropriations. In 1951, the Conservation Department received approximately $2 million to provide for both maintenance and expansion. In 1955, appropriations were slightly more than $3½ million. During the same period attendance shot up from 12 million to 17 million persons.

In other words, Michigan spends about 14¢ for each park visitor. The national average is 30¢ per visitor.

To spearhead a $25 million program, the Conservation Department is asking the legislature to allot $6 million for parks in 1957. One-half of this amount would be spent for new land—the rest for maintenance and improvements. In subsequent years more of the money would be spent for park improvement, less for land.

If successful, the appropriations must be spread over a five-year period. This means several future legislatures must act favorably on the bills.

What are the alternatives? The AAA makes four proposals in addition to increased legislative appropriations.

1. Sell windshield "stickers" that would permit a car to visit any state park in the system as often as desired during the year of issue, regardless of the number of people in the car.
2. Charge a parking fee.
3. Charge an admission fee for cars and passengers.
4. Sell a bond issue, to be retired out of park concession returns and oil, gas and other mineral royalties.

One final alternative: Withhold the money, let the parks decay because of high taxes and labor costs "have either been unfounded or grossly exaggerated," Rosman states.

The survey indicates that Michigan is continuing to grow in industrial strength and is holding its own against competition from other states. Charges that industry is moving out of the state because of high taxes and labor costs "have either been unfounded or grossly exaggerated," Rosman states.

"Michigan has one of the most outstanding industrial developments in the nation, and I feel it's important to show every individual that he has a stake in it."

New Cattle Diseases Closely Related

There is considerable speculation among veterinarians as to whether two relatively new and serious problems of the cattle industry, virus diarrhea and mucosal disease, are the same or closely related conditions.

Two Purdue University veterinarians, Drs. W. R. Pritchard and R. G. Carlson, have told the American Veterinary Medical Association that the two diseases resemble each other both clinically and pathologically.

Virus diarrhea may be acute or chronic. It is a contagious and infectious disease of cattle characterized by fever, nasal discharge, cough, diarrhea, dehydration, inflammation of the mucous membranes of the alimentary canal, and swelling of the lymph nodes.

Under natural conditions only cattle are known to be susceptible to this disease. It is readily transmitted from animal to animal and is caused by a virus. It has been found in New York, Maine, California and Indiana and is believed to have occurred in many other states, the report said. It strikes from 80 to 100 per cent of the cattle exposed, and the death rate varies greatly ranging up to 50 per cent of those stricken.

share in it," Rosman concludes.

Here we go again! With the embers of the last election still glowing, both political parties are busy collecting new fuel for the spring elections, April 1.

The stakes are high. Posts to be filled include State Highway Commissioner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, members of the Board of Regents and Board of Agriculture (governing bodies of the University of Michigan and Michigan State University) and one Supreme Court Justice.

Winners in this election will hold control over state highways, schools and the judicial system. Biggest plum falls to the next Highway Commissioner. Many roads planned for years will soon be opened. With almost unlimited building funds available in the near future, whoever holds the post is certain to reap more glory and fewer tears.

All these jobs are currently held by Republicans with the exception of the Supreme Court post. Charles M. Ziegler is expected to seek re-election as highway commissioner. The Democrats will probably oppose him with Carl McMonagle, a former member of Ziegler's staff, now working on highway safety program at Michigan State University.

Clair L. Taylor, currently State Superintendent of Schools, will run again according to capitol sources. Democrats have not named his opponent.

The people who sponge their way through life seldom wipe out their obligations.

Leftover Pork Is Versatile Meat With Many Uses

THERE seems to be no end to the number of savory ways in which leftover pork can be served. If you're looking for a quick supper, try it skillet style with apples and sauerkraut.

Heat it in the gravy from the roast of pork and serve with steamed rice, if you like another easy way of preparing it. With mushrooms, celery and turnip, it can be turned into another skillet supper with an Oriental flavor.

Sauerkraut is a year-round favorite but it tastes especially good in the fall when served with pork and apples. Prepare it skillet style in this simple recipe which is wonderful for busy days.

Monday Skillet Supper
(Serves 4-6)
1/4 cup butter or substitute
1 large apple, cored and sliced
2 medium onions, sliced
1 can (1 lb. 11oz.) sauerkraut
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 cups diced leftover pork
Melt butter over low heat. Add apple and onion slices and saute until almost tender. Remove apple slices. Combine sauerkraut, brown sugar and pork; toss lightly. Turn into skillet on top of sauteed onions. Top with apple slices. Cover and cook over low heat for 30 minutes, then serve immediately.

Chinese Skillet Supper
(Serves 4)
3 tablespoons fat
1 1/2 cups thinly sliced roast pork
1 minced clove of garlic
1 medium onion, sliced
1 teaspoon bottled meat sauce
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 3-ounce can mushrooms, drained
1 cup sliced celery
1 1/2 cups raw turnips
Place all ingredients in skillet in order given. Cook for 10 minutes or until turnips are tender.

Let Dining Room Be Triple-Purpose

Are you lucky enough to have a dining room? If so, then let it play several roles in your family life. Proper decoration and arrangement can make the dining room most practical.

The roles other than eating which a dining room can play include being a second sitting room, probably less formal than your regular living room, a television or recreation room or even a sewing center.

When you assign new duties to the dining room, the rest of the home will seem larger and you can relieve pressure on other living areas by getting more than a few hours a week out of the dining room.

How to Arrange
If you have a drop leaf table in the dining room, it helps make the room wonderfully practical. Use the table with leaves dropped as a divider for the room.

A corner cabinet in the room is also excellent because it takes little space but will house many dishes as well as table linens.

For those who are concerned about seating arrangements, padded benches are ideal for extra guests when dining and at the same time, they may also be used for watching television or may be shifted to the table for game time.

Padded benches can be shifted from the table to several areas. You might like to keep one at the table while another one rests under a window. If you have two matching windows, then both benches might be placed underneath them.

Conversation Area
If one of the corners in the dining room includes a small drum table, then put a good lamp on it. The lamp should match the style of furnishings you already have, of course. Two small chairs can be placed in the corner at the table for a small, intimate conversation area.

When the room is to be used for television, the chairs at the round table can be turned around easily to be utilized for that purpose.

A small loveseat or couch can be placed in the living area of the room, right next to the drop leaf table. This may also be used for a conversation area or for viewing.
