Tuscola Jury Awards $6,123.45 In Damage Suit

After deliberating for some five hours, a Tuscola County jury awarded damages totaling $6,123.45 to Cecilia and Francis Derwinski of Caro Wednesday.

The damages were awarded as a result of an accident to Donna Jean Derwinski, 13, in January, 1956.

Donna suffered a fractured leg, shoulder and arm injury and an injury to a big toe which did not heal properly. The young girl was hit as she was walking towards a school bus by an automobile driven by Donald E. Sanborn of Caro.

The jury awarded $1,128.45 to Mr. Derwinski for medical expenses and $5,000 for damages.

Members of the jury were: Robert Dunkel, Arthur Carolan, Huron Thompson, Molly York, Ann Irish, Evans Heusted, Ford Boyne, Joe Bell, Carol Turner, Eleanor Peters, Calvin Monroe and Mrs. Lewis Elliott.

New Fire Hall Discussed by Village Trustees

A future cooperative action of the village and Elkland Township could be the erection of a new building to house all of the fire fighting equipment of the Elkland Township Fire Department.

Village President James Bauer asked trustees to consider it as part of future plans. The first step would be to buy a plot of land for the building.

The fire department does not consider the present arrangement of having the tank truck at the Municipal Building and the remainder of the equipment at the present fire hall satisfactory for efficient operation.

WSC Enjoys Varied Program

Woman's Study Club members enjoyed a varied program at their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. D. Turner in Cass City.

A letter from the State Federation was read, telling that Girls' Town is now a reality. It is at Belleville, Mich. Girls' Town has been a project of the State Federation for three years.

Mrs. Ed Baker discussed motivation. She told of practical things created and used from the atom.

After the meeting, Mrs. A. J. Knapp was escorted to the dining room where a beautiful birthday cake and coffee were served.

Twelve school districts indicated that they would prefer to consolidate with Cass City Schools at a meeting held at the high school Monday evening.

The group listened to George Scutt, a member of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, explain the details of consolidation and to Supt. Willis Campbell, who told about facilities at Cass City Schools.

The school board at Cass City passed a resolution saying that they would annex the following school districts: Dillman, Bird, Winton, Wright, Sand Valley, Hillside, Sunshine, Brown, Remington, McConnell, Heron and Dickout.

Although the official approval has not been received from the state, approval of all these districts except Remington, Hillside and Sunshine is expected to be a formality.

A survey of the three districts in question indicates that over 90 per cent of the electors favor annexing to Cass City. A petition has been sent by the districts to the state department.

The three districts have an assessed valuation of over three-quarters of a million dollars. If the districts are annexed, it will mean about 20 more pupils in the grades and less than that amount in the high school, Supt. Campbell said.

After approval of the consolidation has been received, districts have 90 days to complete the consolidation.

Suggest Committee For Supervision Of Minor Youths

The village council discussed establishing a committee to handle problems of minor children in the village.

The purpose of the group would be to try and set straight youths that are in trouble and to follow through with supervision on youngsters brought before the committee for action.

The committee would work with both youths and their parents to establish a sound basis for corrective work.

No decision was reached at Tuesday's meeting at the Municipal Building.

It was noted that youths are congregating in the poolroom in the village. Trustees ordered Marshal Steve Orto to see that minors under 17 years old are refused admittance.

Council in Busy Meeting Tuesday

One of the busiest sessions of the village council in recent months was held Tuesday at the Municipal Building when trustees wrestled with present and future problems of the community.

Many of the problems remain to be solved. Considerable discussion of the right to move Cass City's branch office of the Secretary of State into the residential district resulted in no decision.

If the office is regarded as only a tax collection agency, it is not a violation of the zoning ordinance. If it is a business, it is not allowed off Main Street.

Trustees instructed Clerk William Fry to ask for a ruling from the Michigan Municipal League to see if the office can be moved to Harold Jackson's home.

Sworn Statement
When the assessor makes his annual visit this year, he will have blanks requiring sworn statements of personal property value for owners to sign. In the past, a verbal statement was taken.

The council asked that taxes reach $32,000 in the village this year. The amount is about $600 more than last year. Increase in property values should account for the increase, Mr. Jackson said, without an increase in the

Panel to Discuss Job Choices at School Monday

Vocational guidance will be the theme when the Home and School Council meets in the high school library Monday evening, Jan. 28, at 8 p. m. Specifically, the program will be concerned with ways in which the home and school, working together, can help boys and girls make wise job choices.

Presentation of the subject will be by a panel of students, teachers and parents. Members of the discussion group are Carol Hoffman, speaking for the students; Miss Patricia Hall and Lyle Clark, from the high school faculty, and Mrs. E. C. Fritz and Maynard McConkey, representing the parents' viewpoint.

An opportunity will be provided for audience questions and participation. Not only parents and teachers but students as well are invited to attend.

Mrs. W. E. Walpole, of the Home and School Council program committee, has been adviser for the group and Arthur Holmberg will serve as panel moderator.

A lunch and social period will follow the program.

tax rate.

Dirty Streets
President James Bauer opened a discussion of a dirty main street. He said that the trouble is that merchants are sweeping trash into the gutters instead of picking it up.

The council is considering buying more containers to place along the street and then cracking down so that they will be used.

Letter Read
A letter from Walbro Corporation asking that Garfield Street be made a through street was considered by the council. Trustees felt that much of the trouble was excessive speed and voted to place speed limit signs on Garfield and then patrol the road so that the law is observed.

Michigan Week

Trustee B. F. Benkelman attended a regional meeting at Caro for Michigan Week (May 19-25) and reported to the council that the committee would like to see a special emphasis by each community during the week.

During the annual mayors' exchange, the committee urged that several members of the community accompany the mayor on the trip to another Michigan community.

Village Budget Set at $97,225.98

The Cass City Village Council approved a budget calling for expenditures of $97,225.98 in 1957. The amount is less than the 1956 budget of $102,200 set for 1956 and slightly more than the $94,530.09 actually spent last year.

The village this year will spend more than it will receive in anticipated revenue. To cover the deficit, $10,000 set aside for curb and gutter work has been transferred to cash on hand and was used in computing the budget.

Among the larger special expenditures will be $6,000 for water mains. Primary cost will be for an eight-inch main running to the factories. Walbro Corporation has agreed to pay half of the cost of the installation. A new tractor is expected to cost around $2,500 and a new roof for the fire hall will be about $2,200.

Work on storm sewers will cost about $15,000. Much of the money will be spent for work to be done on West Main Street.

New road construction work will cost about $7,500. Number one road project is Doerr Road which will be graveled and repaired for better drainage.

30 at Robinsons' 64th Anniversary

An estimated 30 persons attended a 64th wedding anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of Uby Sunday.

The event was featured by a dinner at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Sara Campbell, with whom the Robinsons have made their home for the past eight years.

A bouquet of gladioli and an anniversary decorated cake centered the dinner table. Mrs. Robinson was presented with a corsage and the couple received many gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married Jan. 18, 1893, in Cumber and have lived in the Uby vicinity all of their lives.

They have three sons: Ira Robinson, Uby, John Robinson, VanDyke, and Otis Robinson, Bad Axe; two daughters, Mrs. Lucy Hamilton, Detroit, and Mrs. Sara Campbell, 19 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

Supervisors Set County Budget

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors hope to increase their cash balance in the general fund in 1957 some $23,891.43, according to the budget approved this week in the annual January meeting.

The anticipated expenditures of the county, as set in the budget, provide for a cash balance of $30,222.86 at the end of the current year.

Despite the increase in the cash balance, the 1957 budget is substantially higher than the 1956 budget, although it is nearly the same as the amount actually spent.

The budget calls for expenditures totaling $494,430.75 as compared with $494,301.20 actually spent in 1956. Costs in 1956 proved to be substantially higher than the $431,716.94 budgeted at the beginning of the year.

Reports
The sheriff's report to supervisors showed that county law enforcement cost a total of $47,178.32, while collections totaled $2,360.64. Money collected in fines and costs and drivers' licenses are not figured in this total, according to the report.

Representatives from the Michigan Tax Commission discussed assessing with supervisors this week. They pointed out that they thought supervisors would gain if they used the state tax manual for guidance. They also explained the formula they used for assessing.

A report from the Saginaw Valley Mental Health Clinic disclosed that the organization spent $11,017.96 and received $12,172.37 from all sources.

The board authorized per diem and mileage expenses for members of the county road commission for special meetings. These members received the following amounts: Roy LaFave, $166.22; George McIntyre, $224.43, and Nick VanPetten, $219.29.

The board also approved the following appropriations: $300 for bee inspection; $467 for membership in the Institute of Local Government; $1,500 for Adult Mental Health Clinic, and $200 for the Saginaw Child Guidance Council.

The second observance will be Sunday, Feb. 10, at the Methodist Church. Scouts will attend services as a group and there will be a special service for the occasion.

Cass City Splits in Two Close Games

Cass City stayed in the thick of the Thumb "B" Conference championship fight Friday night with a last second 53-56 victory over Yale and then blew a three-point lead in the last 15 seconds to lose a non-league encounter at Chesaning, 48-47, Tuesday.

The Hawks' victory over Yale was marked by a tremendous last quarter rally. The Bulldogs led throughout most of the game, only to lose in the final seconds.

The visitors were off to a four-point lead in the opening quarter, although they netted only two field goals. They collected 10 out of 10 free throws for 14 points while Cass City netted only 10 points.

They added two points to their margin in the second quarter for a 30-24 lead at intermission. Cass City started fast in the opening moments of the third quarter and tied the score. But Yale fought back to regain the margin and stretch their lead to 10 points and Cass City's chances of pulling out a victory appeared slim.

But the team staged what Coach Irv Claesman said was their finest effort of the year in the last quarter. They pulled even with Yale with four minutes left in the game.

After that, the lead changed hands several times. With the score tied and less than a minute to go, John Meininger dunked two charity tosses to put the Hawks into the lead.

Moments later Yale duplicated the feat. With about 10 seconds

Holmberg Tells Of Atomic Energy Progress Tuesday

Arthur Holmberg, one of 31 Michigan instructors selected to attend a course in atomic energy at the University of Michigan, reported some of his activities Tuesday noon at the Cass City Rotary Club.

Mr. Holmberg said that he and other educators have been working long hours attempting to arrange a manual for publication to be used in high schools to teach more about atomic power.

After explaining, with the use of illustrations, the Phoenix project (UofM's experimental atomic facilities) Mr. Holmberg told why atomic energy is so important.

It comes at a time, he said, when the world's supply of fossil fuels are rapidly becoming depleted. He pointed out that atomic energy is almost inexhaustible. A pound of uranium can produce as much heat as 3,000,000 pounds of coal.

Mr. Holmberg closed his address on a sober note, showing the dangers of the hydrogen bomb.

The present bomb is over 250 times as powerful as the first atomic bomb exploded in Japan, he said, and would cause destruction and death over an area of over 250 square miles.

Nye Speaks at Gavel Club Tuesday

Donald Nye of Cass City, Michigan representative of the Civil Air Patrol group that went on a European trip, discussed the life and customs in Turkey before members of the Cass City Gavel Club, Tuesday evening at Parrott's Dairy Bar.

He showed slides that illustrated primitive farming conditions of the country. One was of a wheat harvest. It showed wheat being thrashed by running a flat board pulled by oxen or horses over the spread out grain. Mr. Nye said that he saw only one combine in the country and that it was cooperatively owned.

He said that Turkish boys enter the army at 13 for two years. Boys leaving before serving the allotted time are shunned by friends and acquaintances where they live, he reported.

County 4-H Leaders Attend Meeting

How often have you heard this question asked recently—"and what is your hobby? And if you were asked this question, what could you reply?"

Perhaps you do have a hobby or at least a lively interest in some activity but lack the time or inclination really to pursue it.

What would be the effect on your family if you were to start a hobby? No doubt some of your energy and ideas would rub off on the other members of the family.

They would probably waste no time in finding hobby horses of their own and in riding them down the road to fun and satisfaction.

Children need new experiences as they are growing in order to give them a background for choosing hobbies. Other people, young and old, may have to set out to find a hobby. The important point to remember is—it is never too late to begin a hobby—why not begin this year?

Project leaders of home economics extension groups of Tuscola County will learn some of the values of hobby hunting at their leaders' training meeting that was held Jan. 22 and 24 at the 4-H Memorial Building beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Don't advertise your faults—others will take care of that.

BULEN TALKS CARS

HORSES AND CARS

The early cars were, of course, called horseless carriages. The influence of the horse died hard.

The advertising appeals of the early car manufacturers were often based on the claim that "if you can afford to stable a horse, you can afford one of our cars."

Perhaps the most abject concession to the influence of the horse was made by the designers of the Horseless Carriage, a car that was turned out in Battle Creek, Mich. It looked much like a horse-drawn carriage, and a reproduction in wood of a large horse's head stuck out in front of the car.

The claim of the manufacturer was that this was one car that wouldn't frighten the horses it met on the road.

The influence of the horse still isn't dead. The names used for old styles of horse-drawn carriages still turn up as style-names in today's cars.

Some designers of custom-made cars for the rich still use reproductions of carriage lamps slung on the side. Those pre-war cars that had the seat for the chauffeur out in the cold with an enclosed part for the passengers were directly inspired by a carriage style.

Style does change in cars, but it's a gradual change. That means a car two or three or four years old can still be right in step if it's been well looked after.

And as a lot of people around here know, "well looked after" is the byword for used cars on our lot. We insist on used cars that have been cared for by their owners, and they get "well looked after" when they're in our shops being completely checked and examined.

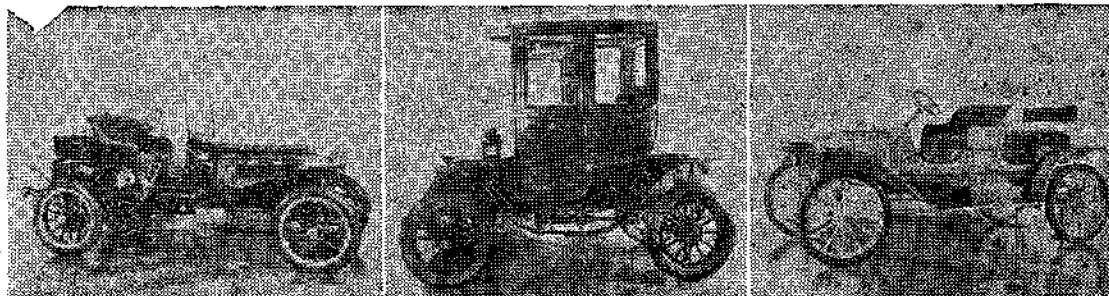

Our Used Car Lot is open every night except Thursday and Sunday for your convenience.

Come in. See our cars and trucks, drive them, make us an offer. We are in a dealing mood. And, whether we make a deal or not, we're always glad to see you.

Cars of Yesteryear in Auto Show Again

These three cars, once the hit of auto shows nearly a half century ago, are back in the spotlight at the Detroit Automobile Show this week in the Detroit Artillery Armory, Eight Mile Road near Greenfield. They are part of a 13-car display there from the Henry Ford Museum's collection of more than 175 old cars. The museum's auto show exhibit spans a half century of automobile history, including all three types of motor power—steam, electric and gasoline—and ends with a super-streamlined Italian Ghia Gilda to represent the car of the future. At the left above is a 1906 Packard Runabout. Its four cylinders developed 24 h.p. and there were three forward speeds and reverse. The price tag was $4,000. Center, a two-passenger Baker Electric of 1910 was preferred by those who liked quiet motoring. A 2 h.p. motor had six speeds forward and three in reverse. Luggage was carried under the hood. It cost $2,600. Right, a classy red, two-cylinder 1910 Stanley Steamer Runabout. The boiler was under the hood. The price was $850. Steamers and electrics, despite early popularity, went out in the mid-1920's. The Ford museum display is among the educational exhibits at the show, which runs through Sunday, January 27.

Oven-Baked Stew Yields Savory Meal For Cold Days

THINK of the wonderful freedom you can have from cooking by baking your stew in the oven. It will give you the time to finish sewing or ironing and it will wait if the family is a little late and still be piping hot and fragrant.

Stew is a complete main course in itself with its many vegetables

There's no need to keep an eye on the stew if you cook it in the oven. Onions, beans, pepper, celery and tomatoes add the richness of vegetables to the meat and will give you a main dish complete in the simple manner possible.

and makes an attractive dish when served with boiled noodles or rice. You need serve only with canned fruit in the form of a salad to make it a complete dinner.

You Can Brighten Those Dingy Nylons

White nylon which has become gray or yellow, through washing and wearing isn't very pretty. It's not worn out, but you do wonder whether it shouldn't be tossed out. No, don't discard it. That hand-box freshness can be restored by proper measures if you'll follow these directions. It may take more than one treatment if the material is really badly discolored, but these tips will help you.

Look at Construction

Many nylons which are only slightly discolored because they've had wash basin laundering can probably be brought back to original brightness by using a liquid detergent and the washing machine.

If you're convinced that the garment will hold together but because it may be rather fragile, place in a mesh bag for extra care. Use water in the machine of 160°F. Apply the liquid detergent directly to the garment, rubbing it in all over before you start washing action.

Five minutes of washing is usually sufficient. Make certain that you rinse thoroughly. Rinsing always floats away much of the dirt which has been loosened by the machine.

Bleaching Tips

Badly discolored nylons need to be bleached with a package of commercial color remover. Dissolve this powder in an enameled container, using water at 160°F. If you use water which is hotter it may set wrinkles in the garment that are impossible to remove.

If the whiteness is restored evenly within a half hour, remove garments from the solution and rinse thoroughly in hot water until all trace of the color remover disappears. If garments are not whiteness, let them remain for another half hour in the solution.

After the garments have been rinsed long enough to remove the bleach, rinse in warm water to which a tablespoon of commercial whiteness has been added for each gallon of water used. Let clothing drip dry, then iron with a warm iron or set for rayon and press.

The man who can't make good on his own usually points with pride to his ancestors.

Bargain for Best Price for Wool

It will pay wool producers to bargain for the highest price they can get for their wool this year, even under the government incentive payment program.

Some farmers, according to Tuscola County agricultural agent Alfred Ballweg, think they will get the incentive price of 62 cents per pound no matter what they get for their wool on the open market. This is not true. Payments are based on a percentage of the price received for the wool on the open market, rather than on a flat cents-per-pound rate. So the higher the selling price of the wool, the bigger the incentive payment will be.

Graydon Blank, extension specialist in animal husbandry at Michigan State University, gives this example to demonstrate how the incentive payment is determined.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says the national average price for wool this year will be about 41 or 42 cents per pound. The difference between this open market price, if it is 42 cents, and the incentive payment price, is 20 cents, or 47 per cent of the price paid on the market for the wool.

If the producer sells his wool for 42 cents, he will add 47 per cent of that figure, 20 cents, to the selling price, and come up with the incentive price of 62 cents.

However, if he sold his wool for 43 cents, he would add 47 per cent of that price, 22.5 cents, to the selling price of 43 cents, and he would receive a total of 70.5 cents for the wool.

On the other hand, if he sold his wool for 35 cents per pound, he would add 47 per cent of that 35 cents, or 16.25 cents, and come up with a total of only 51.25 cents per pound for his wool.

Blank suggests using management practices to produce better quality wool that will bring higher market prices.

Oven-Fried Chicken Takes on Blush With Paprika Use

Oven-fried chicken is a favorite of millions, but it doesn't always need to be prepared on top of the range. You can use an oven-frying method for a change with somewhat less effort and still have a crusty chicken with wonderful flavor.

Paprika, that pretty red spice which flavors so tastefully yet deli-

Paprika Oven-Fried Chicken has a rich brown crust with a flavor to match. The chicken is batter-dipped and placed in butter in a baking dish. The oven will do the rest. Serve with succotash in cream for a flavor-rich meal.

cately is an ideal condiment for this method because it will give an agreeable blush to the frying chicken.

Paprika Oven-Fried Chicken

(Serves 4)

- 1/2 cup butter or substitute
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 2 1/2-pound frying chicken, cut

Melt butter in shallow baking pan. Combine flour, paprika, salt, egg and milk. Beat thoroughly. Dip chicken in this mixture and place skin side down in butter. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 45 minutes. Turn chicken and bake 30 minutes longer or until chicken is tender.

For cold evenings you'll like these braised short ribs which have a country-kitchen flavor:

Braised Short Ribs

(Serves 4)

- 1 tablespoon melted fat
- 2 pounds beef short ribs, cut
- 2 tablespoons paprika
- 3 medium-sized onions, cut
- 12 small carrots
- 1 cup water
- 1/4 cup chili sauce
- Salt to taste

Heat fat; add short ribs and cook until browned on all sides. Add paprika, onions and carrots. Mix well and cook until onions are lightly browned. Add water; heat to boiling point. Cover and simmer gently until tender, about an hour. Add chili sauce and salt; mix well. Cook, covered for 15 minutes. Serve on rice or noodles, as desired.

Hot, Tasty Breads Will Pep Meals

There's nothing like a hot bread on a cold day to add real pep to your menus, be they breakfast, lunch or dinner. If you use an easy method, there's no reason why you shouldn't have them often.

Dates and oatmeal go into this loaf which gives a nice bread for sandwiches or a nice bread to serve with a main course. Bake with an oven meal:

Date Oatmeal Loaf

(Makes 1 loaf)

- 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
- 1 cup chopped dates
- 1 1/2 cups scalded milk
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup

Add rolled oats and dates to milk. Let stand for 10 minutes. Add egg, slightly beaten, and corn syrup. Mix and add dry ingredients and add to milk mixture, stirring only slightly. Bake in well greased loaf pan in a moderate (375°F.) oven for about an hour.

Bran flakes often go into cereal bowls for breakfast but they can also go into delectable muffins to serve for any meal. Measure and place the ingredients on a tray and you can have them in the oven within minutes for breakfast:

Bran Muffins

(Makes 12)

- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 3/4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup bran flakes
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together all dry ingredients except bran. Combine egg, milk and shortening. Add to dry ingredients, including bran. Mix quickly but do not beat. Fill well-greased muffin pans 3/4 full and bake in a hot (400°F.) oven for 20 to 30 minutes.

The best way to launder acetate fabrics is to wash in warm water for a short time and avoid wringing. Because it is sensitive to heat, use a low setting when ironing acetate.

Clever people find it pays them to be honest because there is much less competition.

Women's Program

From family relations to fashions and electronic cooking, women attending the 42nd annual Farmers' Week, Jan. 28 - Feb. 1, at Michigan State University will hear about and see the newest and latest in family living.

Climaxing the women's program again this year will be the Thursday afternoon televised fashion show, announces Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county home demonstration agent. Starting at 1:30 in the University auditorium, the style show will take on a new look this year. For the first time, fashions for the whole family will be modeled. In other years coeds have shown ensembles which they had made for themselves in their college home economics courses.

Modeling the family fashions, which are available through a local department store, will be MSU students and staff members and their families.

Responsible for the organization and production of the style show are 75 home economics students who are majoring in retailing. The show is a learning experience for them in the art of producing a fashion show. Chairmen for the event are Dr. Marion Neiderpruem, retailing professor, and Patricia Owen, Chicago senior in retailing.

Another first in the Farmers' Week women's program is the debut of the Home Engineering laboratory in the agricultural engineering building. Visitors to the lab will see a complete kitchen and all brands of laundry equipment. The kitchen will feature a sit-down sink, two types of dishwashers, an electronic range, a variety of storage facilities and up-to-date features on the refrigerator and range.

At Farmers' Week

In the laundry display, there will be an exhibit featuring soft water. Anyone who would like their home water supply tested for hardness can have it done at the exhibit in the Home Engineering laboratory.

Mrs. Clark explains that the Tuesday morning program will feature home mechanization in relation to planning for and managing home equipment. The Tuesday afternoon session will concentrate on family relations with a panel featuring nationally-known specialists.

On Wednesday the first annual Homemakers' luncheon will be held in the University Union ballroom at 12 noon. Dean Thelma Porter of the College of Home Economics, will make an informal presentation of the MSU home economics staff members.

Friday morning will feature mental and physical health. Such subjects as gauging mental health, the physician's check-up and nutrition and stress will be discussed. Climax of the women's program will be the fashion revue. Mrs. Clark urges all Tuscola County women to attend the women's programs.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Do you have more neighbors now than you did 15 years ago? It's entirely probable according to statistics released by Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner.

Michigan's population passed the 7½ million mark in 1956, says Dr. Heustis. What's more, the 8 million mark should be reached by 1960.

More births—less deaths are the biggest factors in the state's spectacular population increases. For each recorded death there are now more than three new babies entering the world in Michigan. In 1956 the birth rate was approximately 27 for every 1,000 residents. At the same time, deaths continued below nine per 1,000.

The birth rate continues to grow according to Dr. Heustis' report. "In 1941," the report states, "births surpassed 100,000 for the first time."

Medical advances continue to make inroads in the death rate. Maternity deaths decreased 90 per cent in the past 30 years. The death rate for newborn infants is down 55.8 per cent.

Among adults, heart disease and cancer continue as the No. 1 and 2 killers.

The "ups-and-downs" of medicine's fight against disease are recorded in the report. On the "good" side of the ledger the fight against infantile paralysis makes the most dramatic showing. With the first full year of immunization shots now past, poliomyelitis cases are not expected to go much higher than 600 for 1956. This is approximately half of the 1,117 cases reported in 1955.

Tuberculosis deaths are apparently leveling off. Last year's deaths are expected to number 600. Some 5,488 new cases were reported.

On the "bad" side, increases in typhoid fever and diphtheria are noted. The number of diphtheria cases is expected to exceed 300, although only 59 cases were reported in 1955. Typhoid's 50 cases are more than double the 1955 figure of 24.

A permanent residence for the governor will be discussed by lawmakers this year as one of the less "knotty" problems requiring their attention. Michigan remains one of the few states without a Governor's mansion.

A site survey report presented to the joint legislative state office buildings committee lists, among others, the novel proposal for a penthouse apartment on top of a new state office building as a possible solution.

While a penthouse differs from the conventional concept of a state mansion, it possesses some important advantages, says James W. Miller, state controller. "It is the only way a residence can be built adjacent to the capitol without the expenditure of approximately $350,000 for land," Miller states.

The proposed mansion would be used to provide facilities for visitors and rooms for official functions as well as living quarters for Michigan's Governor and his family.

"Pay-As-You-Play" proposals to find additional revenue for the upkeep and improvement of state parks and recreational areas are gaining adherents both in the legislature and among sportsmen.

Several proposals, outlined in Michigan Mirror several weeks ago, now seem destined to be placed before the legislature early in the present session. Basically, the Michigan Conservation Commission wants to levy an admittance fee to state parks or sell year-long stickers to park users.

All fees would be used exclusively on park expansion and upkeep.

Opponents of the idea charge that a fee program would be an unfair levy on a few persons. To check the attitude of the people most affected if the plan becomes law—the park patrons themselves—the Conservation Department asked Michigan State University researchers to conduct an extensive survey. The MSU study showed that 85 per cent of the users were willing to pay a fee.

Year-long stickers are finding the most favor within the Conservation Commission. Wayland Osgood, deputy director of the Commission, states that stickers would entail less administrative costs. Individual fees would require that collectors be on hand at all state parks.

The Automobile Club of Michigan was one of the first groups to support the Conservation Department on their fee program for improvement. The Michigan United Conservation Clubs also are backing any plan the legislature adopts.

Jammed playground areas are forcing a decision. Park attendance swelled alarmingly after World War II and now reaches 18 million patrons yearly. Gerald Eddy, director of the Conservation Department, estimates this will continue to grow to some 38 million people in 10 years.

Unless park growth continues to keep pace with this increase, facilities will deteriorate, and space will be cramped.

In a year when the legislature is having trouble paring the budget to meet available revenue, the suggested "user-pays" proposal will be greeted with a sympathetic ear.

A slight jolt knocks the ambition out of some people.

It's the longest, lowest, liveliest and loveliest
Ford ever... yet it's yours at low Ford prices!

New! You bet! There's nothing newer at any price. To begin with, the "Inner Ford" is completely new. The wheelbase is longer. You get a choice of two big new Ford sizes. The frame is wider. The inside is roomier.

And the big new Ford is big in V-8 GO! You have a wide choice of Silver Anniversary V-8's for every horsepower need... or a new Mileage Maker Six. One of the biggest things about Ford is what it did at Bonneville, Utah. Here, the '57 Ford traveled 50,000 miles in less than twenty days! Need any more proof that the new '57 Ford is rugged?

Best of all, big as this new Ford is, the price is still Ford-little. You can see why more than ever it's a car that will stay worth more. Why don't you try the new Ford soon... and see how much you can get for so little.

Review Growth of Demonstration Groups in County

In September of 1923 the state home demonstration leader met at the home of Mrs. W. S. Bell, Fairgrove, to organize the first women's home demonstration extension groups. There were seven women present who represented women from Akron and Fairgrove. Two groups were formed at this time and they were called Group I and Group II.

In 1925 the first county council was formed. Mrs. C. L. Coffeen, Mayville, was named chairman and Mrs. M. H. Oakley, Caro, secretary.

The later part of 1923 Group I changed its name to Fairgrove.

In 1925 two other groups were organized—Dayton Center and North Vassar. In 1927 Bethel was organized and in 1928 Kingston was organized. All of the above groups are still very active in the extension organization. From this time on, more groups were formed. At the end of 1943, there was a total of 250 women who were members of the county extension groups.

In 1944, Miss Mildred Omor was appointed as Tuscola County's first home demonstration agent. At this time there were 16 organized groups. Miss Omor left the county in 1949. By 1949 there were 500 women enrolled in the extension groups, and Tuscola County had its second home demonstration agent, Miss Jean Gillies. Miss Gillies stayed with Tuscola County until 1955.

From 1954 to 1956, the enrollment climbed to include 675 women.

During 1956, four new groups were organized—Wells-Bethel, Brookston, Deford and Unionville. At the present time there are 37 organized extension groups covering every section of Tuscola County. The present home demonstration agent is Mrs. Frances T. Clark.

The activities carried on by the home demonstration program include food and nutrition, clothing, home management, home furnishing, child care, budgeting, health and safety. Special interest lessons include such items as community development, safety in the home and on the highway, family life and hobby interest. The program is diversified enough to interest the very young homemaker as well as the woman that has raised her family.

The 37 extension groups are held together by a county council. Each group has one representative on this council and they meet four times a year.

The present officers of the Extension County Council are: Mrs. William Tonkin, Moreland group, chairman; Mrs. Joe Young, Northwest Gifford group, vice chairman, Mrs. Merrill Birdsall, West Caro group, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Hunt, Dayton Center group, secretary, and Mrs. Joseph Wells, North Vassar group, community chairman.

One portal that never gets jammed is the door to success.

SHORT STORY

Cup of Coffee

By F. L. Rowley

JENNIE sighed as she surveyed the row of empty counter-stools. Business had been dropping off ever since the new highway had gone through. Only a handful of loyal truckers dared travel the old dirt road to reach her place. The road was dry now, but when the snow came it would be all over. A man couldn't be expected to risk his job by miring his loaded truck in three feet of mud—not for a cup of the best coffee in the world.

A warm light came into her eyes as she thought of big Ben Smith and the promise he had made yesterday. "Jennie," Ben had said stoutly, "as long as there's a drop of coffee in that there urn old Ben'll keep stopping in—road or no road!"

She knew Ben meant it. Ben hadn't missed a working day in three years now, not since the chilly day when he'd first come in to beg a free cup of coffee. She could tell by his eyes that he wasn't a real bum. After she had given him a hot meal Ben had insisted on sweeping the floor. That's what he was doing when Art Hennessy found him—and Art had changed Ben's way of life on the spot.

Jennie shook her head grimly. How fortunes change. Ben was now a man of means while she teetered on the brink of bankruptcy.

"How about a cup of coffee for old times sake?"

The door bell jangled. It was Bill Ward, driver for Happy Bakeries.

"Hi Jennie!" he boomed. Then, after a pause: "Afraid I got some bad news for you."

Jennie raised her eyebrows. "My order too small?" she asked.

"This is worse than going to a funeral," sighed Bill.

Jennie held out her hand and grinned. "You've been swell. Bill. How about a cup of coffee for old times sake?"

"Sure Jennie—and thanks. What do you plan to do now that things are—"

"Washed out?" Jennie said bluntly. "Maybe I can get a job as a waitress in town—if I'm not too old."

"Shucks, you're not old Jennie. And you're pretty."

"It's the truth. Ask Ben Smith. He thinks you're a knockout."

"He does? Really?" Jennie was aware of a warm glow.

The glow vanished. Jennie's hands went to her throat. "What's happened to Ben?"

"Take it easy, Jennie. It's nothing serious. Besides, I thought you knew. Ben and Art are going to form a big trucking outfit on the coast; we just won't be seeing them around here much longer, that's all."

"That's all?" Jennie's attempt to smile was a failure. She had taken it for granted that Ben planned to build his new company on familiar ground. It wasn't like Ben to keep things from her. She turned her back on Bill.

He took the hint and left quietly. It began to snow—a fitting climax to a miserable day. With a sigh she decided to lock up and go home. At the door she paused. A real storm was stirring. Perhaps it would be wiser to remain in the shack. Jennie had removed her coat when there was a loud rap on the door—a well-known rap that made her heart leap.

She flicked the light switch and the glow was with her again—inside and out. Ben was grinning at her through the glass.

Ben rolled in with a gust of wind. "What a day!" he cried. "I got big news, Jennie! I tried to call you but the line was dead."

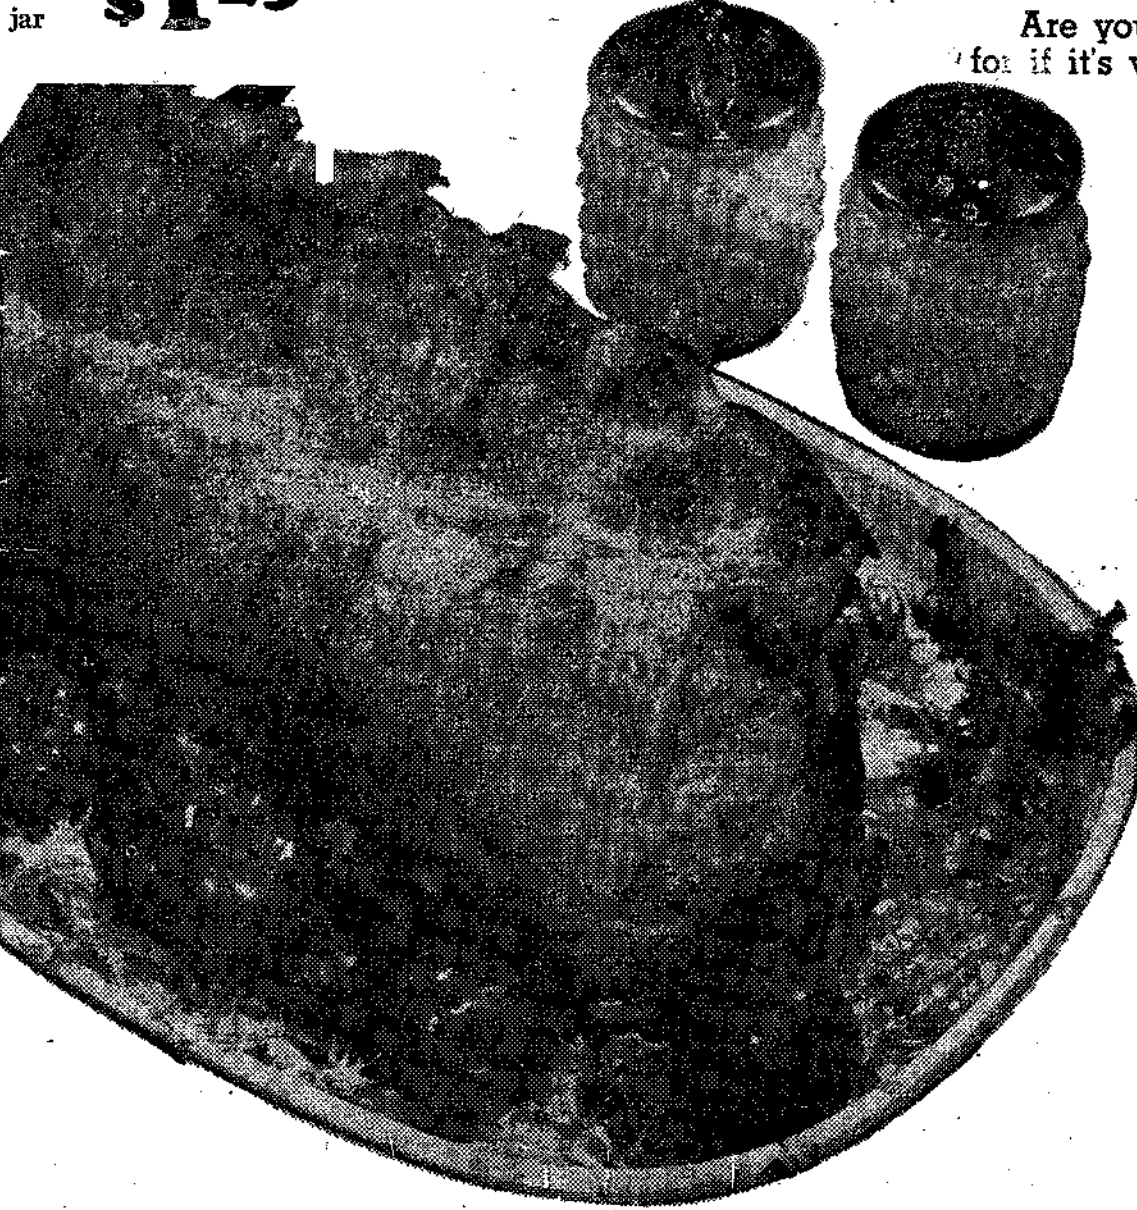

"I've heard about you forming a company on the coast and I'm glad for you, Ben. It was darn nice of you to stop in to say good-bye."

Ben's face clouded. "I—I don't know exactly how to say this Jennie, but—well, you and I shouldn't say good-bye—ever. Ever since you gave me that first cup of coffee I've been in love with you. Why do you think I've been working so hard? Would—would you marry me, Jennie?"

Then she was clinging to him and watching the rain beat against the glass. She had sold her last cup of coffee.

New Name for Farm Bureau Group

The Elkland Farm Bureau met with Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall Jan. 16 when 10 families were represented.

Alfred Goodall gave an interesting report on a meeting held in Caro when representatives from Tuscola Farm Bureau met with State Rep. Allison Green and State Senator Arthur Dehmel to discuss various legislative matters.

Mr. Goodall also reported changes to be made in the Blue Cross program in the future. Mrs. Clare Carpenter was elected to serve as Blue Cross secretary when these changes are completed.

A new name was chosen for the group as recommended by the county office. "Cassland" Farm Bureau was the name selected.

Mrs. Mary Schell reported on a recent meeting held in Lansing for the roll call captains.

During the discussion, led by Edward Golding Sr., the group made recommendations for agricultural research. Members also gave opinions on what should be done to help improve the acceptance of Michigan farm products by consumers.

The next meeting will be held at the William Bliss home, Feb. 11.

park in the state.

The idea has the merit of passing on some of the cost of the park program to the users and puts a slight tax on out-of-state users who otherwise would not bear any of the cost of park upkeep.

The parks are sorely in need of added revenue for repairs and upkeep and the park use tax seems to us an ideal way of collecting the money.

Another reason you're better off with Blue Cross Blue Shield.

"All I did was show my Blue Cross card..."

The hospital never asked for a deposit"

You can expect to be asked for a deposit the next time you're admitted to a hospital... unless you're a Blue Cross member. At any participating hospital (there are over 200 in Michigan alone), being a Blue Cross member makes you someone "special."

The hospital knows that you are entitled to all the services covered in your Blue Cross contract... that Blue Cross will pay their entire cost.

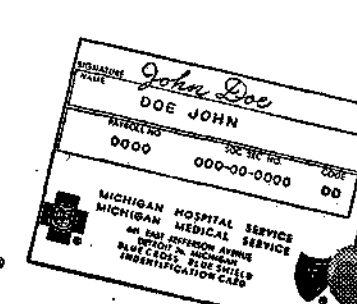

When you're ready to leave, you can just walk out of the door, probably with no bill to pay at all. It happens in 4 out of 5 cases!

Now—for that doctor bill that's sure to go along with your hospital bill, there's Blue Shield offering medical-surgical coverage which doctors themselves recommend.

Protection worth having? Just ask someone who has Blue Cross • Blue Shield!
