Cass City Mfg. Pledges $2,700 to Hospital Fund

The building fund for the proposed community hospital was swelled this week by the announcement of a donation of $2,700 by Cass City Manufacturing Company.

The money will be paid over a three-year period and the first payment of $900 was made with the pledge of the company.

Cass City Manufacturing was the second of area industries to announce gifts to the hospital. Walbro Corporation earlier pledged $5,000.

Another name for the hospital has been received. Mrs. William Anker suggests "Cass Valley Community Hospital."

An official name for the hospital is expected to be decided in the near future so that contracts and other details may be processed.

Two Cases Heard In Circuit Court

B. J. Perry of Vassar, who had pleaded not guilty to statutory rape, changed his plea to guilty in circuit court Saturday before Judge T. C. Quinn.

The court ordered an examination by three psychiatrists before passing sentence.

Mrs. Elmira L. Moffat was granted temporary alimony from James Moffat of Vassar. Mr. Moffat was ordered to pay $100 attorney's fees.

A case from justice court, involving Richard Swartz, 25, of Sebewing is being argued in circuit court. Arraignment will be held Saturday, May 4.

Swartz was found guilty of neglect and cruelty to animals when cattle on his farm were found dead from lack of feed and other neglect. Some had been dead for weeks, veterinarians said.

He paid a $75 fine and was sentenced to five days in jail. A week later he was rearrested on the same charge and pleaded not guilty. He was found guilty in justice court and is now appealing that verdict.

Over 212 community leaders from Michigan attended the meeting. Six panels of committee members reviewed the detailed budget requests of the various agencies. Their recommendations for the allotment of funds will form the basis for local United Fund goals in all of Michigan's communities.

From the Editor's Corner

The Chronicle has received its annual quota of new 1957 official State Highway maps. The maps are free and will be distributed on a first come, first served basis until the supply is exhausted.

The annual value days community-wide sale will be held this year Friday and Saturday, May 17-18. Sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, the event is always looked for by shoppers in the area. This year's sale promises to be one of the best in the history of the event. The bargains will be listed in the May 17 issue of the Chronicle.

Favorable weather has placed farmers far ahead of the corresponding period of a year ago. An article in the May 4, 1956, issue of the Chronicle told how rain and cold weather had held up farm operations... very little had been accomplished by May 4 last year. By contrast, this year most of the oats are drilled and farmers are well along with spring operations. With continued favorable weather, the area could experience a season as good as the bumper crops of 1955.

Library Costs Total $1,755.25 Report Shows

The annual report of the Cass City and Elkland Township Library was received Tuesday evening by the village council. The report showed that total receipts for the year were $3,593.37. Of this amount, $858.99 each was received from the village and from Elkland Township. Expenditures totaled $1,755.25. Largest single expenditure was for books, a total of $589.90. Other major items in the cost of running the library were the librarian's salary, $666.50, and rent, $300.

Cash on hand at the start of the new year, April 1, 1957, was $1,838.12 as compared with $1,700.93 the previous year.

Council Plans for Summer's Work

Plans were completed for a large water main to be extended past Walbro Corporation at a busy session of the Cass City village council Tuesday night at the Municipal Building.

Lambert Althaver appeared before trustees and said that Walbro Corporation is ready to assume its share of the cost of extending the main past the company's location.

According to an agreement reached previously, Walbro will pay for the material and the village will furnish the labor for the extension as it affects the company.

The extension past Walbro will be part of a larger program contemplated for this summer. The new main will start at Pine Street and run on Doerr Road to Garfield Street and on Garfield Street past the Walbro property line.

Walbro is interested in the increased water pressure because they want to install a sprinkling system for a more advantageous insurance rate.

Dust on Road
A delegation from Doerr Road, John McBurney and Frank Mosher, complained of the excessive dust on the road. After discussion, it was decided to place liquid calcium and magnesium chloride on the road as soon as possible. The solution will also be placed on Garfield Road in front of Walbro and Cass City Manufacturing Co.

A check with suppliers indicated it will be the latter part of next week before the dust control solution arrives.

Trustees voted to draw specifications at once so a bid can be let on storm sewer work on Main Street this year. The work is being completed so that curb and gutter can be installed on Main Street.

Other Business
Nelson Willy, superintendent of the sewage disposal plant, will attend a sewer operators' convention at Traverse City May 20-22.

The recent campaign on dogs in the village resulted in the pick-up of 17 dogs in the village in April. Eleven were destroyed, five returned to owners and one given to a new owner. A total of $24 was received in fines.

Jim King was named to act for the village in arranging the annual Memorial Day program in the village. Traditionally, the newest member of the council is appointed to this post.

Leek Ladies' Aid Reunion Held in Ann Arbor April 27

The 26th annual reunion of the Leek Ladies Aid was held Saturday, April 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Agar in Ann Arbor with Mrs. Lucy Agar as hostess, assisted by her three daughters, Thelma, Marion and Ruth.

Forty-eight were present, coming from Detroit, Pontiac, Saginaw, Mayville, Kingston, Deford, Cass City and other points. Among those present were the following:

Hawks Place 10th At Mt. Pleasant

Cass City High School finished 10th in a meet held at Mt. Pleasant Saturday when they picked up 11 1/2 points.

Clayton Neiman finished second in the mile for the top performance by a Cass City entry.

Ed Freeman posted one of his worst days in the pole vault as he was stopped at 11 feet, six inches, which tied him for fifth place. Ed normally is over 12 feet.

In the middle distance relay the Hawks finished third. Running were: Charles Izydorek, Tom Hulien, Larry Malace and Bob Wright.

Cass City also picked up points for finishing fifth in the 440-yard relay. Forrest Walpole, Chuck Auvil, Fred Leeson and John Donahue ran in the event.

Cass City was hampered due to the inability of Bob Martus to run due to an injured leg. The meet was won by Inkster, defending state champions.

Top Contest

What is expected to be one of the best dual track meets of the season for the Cass City Red Hawks will be staged Wednesday night, May 15, at Cass City Recreational Park.

At that time, Cass City will compete against Marysville. The southern Thumb team is reported as having a strong squad and Cass City is regarded as the best in the Thumb B Conference.

The meet will start at 7 p. m.

Gross $830 at Benefit Auction Tuesday Night

Members of the Cass City Gavel Club were pleasantly surprised and grateful to members of the Cass City area who attended their benefit auction sale Tuesday night at Tusco Products Company.

For this group enabled the club to gross $830 at the sale... far beyond their expectations. Club authorities said that they received several cash donations in addition to the sale of the merchandise.

The money will be used to enlarge and modernize the track at Cass City Recreational Park. Arrangements are under way now to complete the work that will give the community the finest facilities in the Thumb.

Club members expressed appreciation to Tusco Products for the use of one of its buildings for nearly a month and for furnishing lights for the sale Tuesday.

Although the net receipts from the sale will not be enough to pay for all of the work remaining at the park, it moves the club much closer to its goal. Members felt that one more fund-raising project will pay off the expenses at the park.

Louis Horner Wins Free Chicago Trip

Louis Horner, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Audley Horner, was one of a group of boys who enjoyed a three-day, all-expense-paid trip to Chicago last week.

Louis won the trip for earning at least 40 points in a contest sponsored by a Detroit newspaper for which he is a carrier. He sells some 100 daily and 300 Sunday papers. Part of his route is handled by David Binder.

Louis left Cass City Tuesday morning by bus to Detroit and went from Detroit to Chicago by train and stayed at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. The trip was the third won by Louis since he became a carrier.

Wednesday the boys enjoyed a guided tour of Chicago and that evening Louis was an overnight guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warner.

Upon his return home, he was met in Inlay City by his parents and sisters, Cathy and Geraldine.

Little Damage In Kitchen Fire

A fire at the William Kitchen farm, three miles south and four miles east of Cass City, was quickly extinguished Tuesday afternoon by the Elkland Township Fire Department.

The blaze broke out in the roof of the Kitchen home after Mrs. Kitchen had been burning trash in her furnace.

Damage was limited to a few shingles on the roof.

1,000 Flock to Edison's Open House Friday

An estimated 1,000 visitors attended the dedication ceremony of the new office of the Detroit Edison Co. in Caro Friday.

Visitors toured the new plant and saw Edison equipment and special electrical displays. Included was the relatively new Weathertron heat pump... the pump heats and air conditions electrically.

Among the new items displayed were radar ranges, electronic clock that runs without winding or wires and a special commercial cookery display.

In one corner of the new office is an all electric kitchen which will be used by Miss Helen Higgins for continuous demonstrations. Included in the ultra-modern unit are an electric dryer, automatic dishwasher, disposal, refrigerator and hot water heater.

Tours of the new office and transformer station were conducted and refreshments served.

The new office has some 11,000 square feet on one floor and is air conditioned. About 40 persons employed with Edison have headquarters in the new building which was in operation Monday.

Better Pastures Mean More Forage

There's no best pasture system for all farms, but there is a best one for every farm, says Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

Pasture is one of the most important feeds the dairyman has, but it is one of the most neglected, according to C. R. Hoglund, Michigan State University farm economist.

A Michigan study showed that less than 20 per cent of cropland pastures rated excellent, although about 50 per cent of the meadows harvested for grass silage and hay rated excellent.

Improved use of fertilizer and different grazing systems are two methods that can be used to improve the productivity of pastures.

The harvesting and storing of more hay silage for mid-summer feeding will boost pasture yields.

Strip grazing, a new pasture system in Michigan, can increase carrying capacity of pastures by 15 to 20 per cent, if well managed.

Chopping green grass every day requires the most investment and labor of any system, but can increase the carrying capacity of the pasture land from 25 to 35 per cent.

Making silage and feeding it in the summer is about halfway between strip grazing and green feeding, both in time and money invested, and in increased production per acre.

Perhaps some mixture of these plans will be best for your farm. But you can't afford to pass over a good pasture program.

Booklet Describes Ornamental Shrubs

Shrubs, the beautifying ornamental plants we use in our home landscaping design, represent an investment that encourages thoughtful choice.

According to Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent, shrub buying is all too often an accidental or haphazard arrangement.

And, he points out, unless we know something about the plants we plan to use as an ornamental we might achieve the wrong effect in home yard landscape design.

We have a booklet, he said, that is available without charge. And, this booklet covers many aspects of ornamental shrubs that are adapted to the four zones of Michigan. This booklet describes shrubs and plants listed in alphabetical order, and it also groups those that fall in either of the following categories.

Shrubs that withstand shady growing places; shrubs that do well in moist soils; and shrubs that like dry soils; and shrubs that supply good autumn foliage color.

You can secure your copy of this booklet by merely writing a postcard, or telephoning your local county agricultural agent's office. Ask him for Ornamental Shrubs for Michigan, Miscellaneous Circular E-5, published by Michigan State University.

Michigan borders on four of the five Great Lakes. No place in Michigan is more than 85 miles from an inexhaustible supply of fresh water for industry, recreation and sanitation.

BULEN TALKS Cars

I mentioned recently the changes in car design that the new expressways may bring—sealed windows and air conditioning and the return of the old hand throttle.

But the great innovation of the expressways has been, of course, high speeds. In some of the states these expressways have a speed limit of 60 or 70 miles an hour and traffic conditions pretty well force you to keep up this pace for hours on end.

The greatest mechanical advance which cars need, I think, is a further development of cruising gears, the overdrive of today. The expressway demands a cruising gear that will let the car move along effortlessly at these speeds, combined with a good smoothly-operating kick down gear for passing.

The purpose of a cruising gear is to maintain a steady, fairly high speed at low engine revolutions. This part may surprise you: it's been tried on cars on and off since 1910. Off and on it's been abandoned, too, probably because the roads weren't ready for it.

The automobile engineers say great new developments in this field are coming.

An automobile engineer I know passed this on, as well as the tip that cars will probably continue to get lower and lower to the ground. (Cars have been coming down at the rate of about half-an-inch a year since 1927).

It's the constant looking to the future that makes the car business always exciting. It's always forging ahead—but there's an advantage in looking backwards, too—to the good used cars of just a few years ago. Many of the luxury items of a few years ago are now the items you expect on any good used car. And that, as we all should know by now, is the kind of tested used cars we have on the lot.

OK USED CARS. Best selection ever on our lot. Choice: Arthur Schott's 1955 Chevrolet 2 Door Sedan. V-8 Engine, Air Flow Heater and Defroster; Power Glide Transmission, Radio, Undercoat, etc. Or Ben (Mayor) Benkelman's 1954 Chevrolet 210 4 Door Sedan.

Both very clean, nice cars. And, if you don't like these, we have 45 others to show you. Won't you come in, look around, drive your selection, MAKE US AN OFFER. We're in the mood to DEAL.

Growing Sport

Archery fishing has grown as a sport in Michigan in recent years. MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
An aggressive policy of stimulating Michigan's tourist business will get under way July 1.
The new program, an active plan of "going to the people," will replace the present system of state operated information offices in Detroit and Chicago, says Robert J. Furlong, of the Michigan Tourist Council.

"Vacation salesmen" are key figures in the program. Plans call for hiring two men to actively sell the idea of Michigan vacations. Members of industry, labor groups, transportation and travel agencies, and all others who can enjoy or sell the state's tourist advantages are prime prospects.
The new approach will not cost Michigan taxpayers additional money. Funds saved from the closing of the Detroit and Chicago offices will cover costs of the new plan.

"Instead of waiting for potential tourists to come to us, we will go to them," Furlong commented.
"Experience has shown that the Chicago and Detroit offices don't reach all the people we consider as prospects. Because of many limitations of our present operation, many persons who take yearly vacations never hear about the advantages of a Michigan outing.
"For example the large number of steel and gas company workers around Gary, Ind., are not exposed to our sales ideas. But their unions or personnel offices have vacation committees that recommend and prepare plans for members. With our proposed system we can go directly to these people and add many new prospects."

The "personal touch" is expected to play an important role in the program. In addition to going out to the potential tourist, the new vacation salesmen will contact radio and TV stations and resort editors throughout the state promoting the use of Michigan films and material on statewide tourist travel. Department stores with trip planning facilities and travel agencies will also receive individual visits.
"We are convinced," said Furlong, "that a large part of our

SHORT STORY

Other Cheek
By Lonnie E. Legge

THE NEW circuit rider, preaching his first sermon at the church in the Little Bethel Community had caused quite a stir, especially among the men folks. The Rev. Samuel Bing had preached on "Human Kindness." He said among other things: "Turn the other cheek! If your neighbor comes along and smites you on the right cheek, instead of getting mad and peeling off your coat and hitting him back; we ought to just fold our arms and turn our left cheek to the neighbor and tell him in a soft, meek voice to go ahead and hit the other cheek also."
Hiram Peterson voiced the opinion of most of the men next day at the country store in the presence of a dozen or more by saying: "Kindness is a good thing at the right time, but in my opinion there is such a thing as pushing it too dogged far. It's all right to be kind to some animals, and to love our neighbor as ourself, no matter how much we love ourself. But, dangit! If a man slams you on the cheek, he's just naturally not a neighbor and needs slugging right back. 'Course, I realize we should always be full of the milk of kindness, rather than being full of corn liker or home-brew, which is just about as intoxicating, but there's some varmints that just won't take to kindness."

Said the Reverend, "It pains me sorely to see you treat a poor innocent creature so poorly."

The week following the sermon, the Rev. Bing and Hiram Peterson were sitting on the woodpile back of Hi's house, where Hi had been cutting his winter wood. Rev. Bing had dropped by to talk to Hi about his spiritual welfare.

As they talked and drowsed in the warm sun, Hi aimed a stream of tobacco juice at a big, bald-faced hornet that was chasing flies on a log. It must have riled the hornet considerably for it left off pursuing a fly and began buzzing round Hi's head. Hi knew hornets had a mean disposition and meant business when they buzzed in that high C tone. He jerked off his wide-brim straw hat and began swatting at it.

He finally connected with the hornet, knocking it heels over head into a tin can half full of water, which he had brought from the well to drink while working. The hornet buzzed his bedraggled wings in a vain attempt to right itself only to sink deeper.

"My dear brother," said the Reverend, "it pains me sorely to see you treat a poor innocent creature so badly. A creature, who evidently is pursuing its bounded duty in garnering food, without doubt, for a multitudinous brood. I will rescue it before it dies an ignoble death by drowning and leaving its numerous progeny motherless or fatherless."

The Rev. Bing slipped his forefinger gently under the insect and lifted it out. It immediately repaid his kindness by jabbing its poisonous stinger into the finger. With a blood-curdling yell of anguish the Reverend jerked his hand so violently, he slipped the hornet right into Hi's whiskers, where it stung him three or four times before he got it combed out, along with a handful of whiskers and squashed it under his cowhide boot-heel. In the ruck he swallowed the cud of tobacco, which had been raised in new-ground and was strong enough to take the hair off a tomatcat.

The Rev. Bing left at once for his boarding place; even refusing the chaw of tobacco Hi offered to chew up for him as a poultice for the stung finger. Hi said, "Unless I'm terribly mistaken I heard the parson, when the hornet stung him, say a word under his breath which was not becoming to a minister of the gospel."

As for Hi, he didn't deny breaking forth into a stream of profanity, "a yard long, right in the parson's presence." And even now, he swears every time he thinks about the incident or hears a buzzing sound.

Rev. Lathem Speaks At Rotary Club

Rev. Lynn Lathem, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Caro, spoke to Cass City Rotarians of the "New Spiritual Awakening" Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel.

He outlined the defensive feeling of religion in the 1920's as compared to the confidence in religion experienced now.

He said this new leaning on religion and prayer can be traced to man's feeling of his own inadequacies due to changing world conditions and the threat of total annihilation with the hydrogen bomb.

Fish Get Sick, Too

Certain fish diseases often come to plague production of trout and warm-water fish at Michigan Conservation Department hatcheries. Here, Dr. L. N. Allison, stationed at Grayling hatchery, studies a few diseased fish in a laboratory tank. The studies continue throughout the year to provide healthier fish and a more efficient hatchery system for Michigan's angling public.

The awakening of Emily Wade

Emily Wade was a girl who had always dreamed of buying a new car.

Emily watched her pennies so when she saw a "medium-priced" car advertised for "only a few dollars more" than Ford she went to see it.

"My heavens," she gasped when she saw the car, "it doesn't even have automatic transmission; that's one thing I particularly need. And I do think power steering and power brakes are a must."

So Emily's dream evaporated.

Then Emily stopped in to see her Ford Dealer, an amiable fellow, who showed her how to buy a luxurious

Fairlane 500 with all the extras she wanted

—and at a lower price than the stripped-down model of the "medium-priced" make.

"This is a car a girl like me really wants," said Emily. And she bought it right then and there. Now you know what Emily knows... for a luxury car, plus extras, at a sensible price, logic directs you to Ford.
