

From the Editor's Corner

Although this column does not have a guest editor this week, the information given here was furnished by the doctors of the community and reflects their opinion on the new hospital.

The casual observer of the facilities for hospital care may not realize all of the advantages of a new modern hospital. But many of its advantages will affect every family in the community... sooner or later most persons require hospitalization.

Here is a list of six of the more important advantages of the new hospital:

1. Facilities for care of premature babies.
2. Proper oxygen... piped to each room and in the operating and delivery rooms and nursery when needed.
3. An equipped room for major surgery and a room for minor surgery.
4. A blood bank.
5. A laboratory and X-ray diagnostic service.
6. An isolation department... no longer any need to send small children out of the area, away from all family ties.

Doctors and nurses list many other advantages of a new hospital, but most of them are technical and concern easier care for patients from a professional viewpoint.

Although these may not mean too much to the layman, they are vital to doctors. It's important for the area to realize that competition for doctors is keen throughout the nation. Only those with good facilities will attract the top men. While in the seven years that your editor has been in Cass City, we have lost one doctor (Dr. E. H. Starnam), who died, and none have come to replace him. In a shorter length of time, since his hospital was built, Lapeer has doubled the number of physicians in the community. This one fact alone should be reason enough for everyone to be prepared to give all the help possible when the volunteer worker calls for a pledge to the community hospital.

Big Farm Products Exhibit Slated at Saginaw Fair

One of the greatest Farm Products Exhibits in Saginaw Fair history will be offered at the 1957 Harvest Holiday set for the Saginaw Fairground, September 8-14.

Superintendent Chester Weston says over $2,000.00 in premiums are being offered to exhibitors of grain, vegetable and fruit products.

A popular favorite of the Farm Products exhibit are the unique and attractive wall exhibits—murals made of farm crops dressed in their natural harvest colors. Mr. Weston promises the wall exhibits will be bigger and better than ever.

He also announces that some improvements have been made in the table-showing of farm products. Permanent display trays and boxes, permitting a more attractive and safer showing of products, have replaced the temporary table-top facilities used in the past.

Farm Products are exhibited in the "Agricultural Building," one of the largest fair buildings of its type in the country. The size of the building and the variety of exhibits it contains are important factors responsible for the widespread fame of the Saginaw Fair, America's largest county fair—east of the Rockies.

Farmers May Sign Wheat Agreements

Eligible farmers who wish to participate in the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program may sign agreements at the Tuscola County ASC office, Caro. The sign-up period for the winter wheat program extends to Oct. 4.

Rates of payment for individual farms will vary up and down from a county average rate per acre according to the relative productivity of the farms and other factors.

Farmers who are eligible to sign 1958 acreage reserve agreements for winter wheat are those who have "Old Farm" wheat acreage allotments for 1958 and who normally grow winter wheat.

Under the 1958 program, each producer will be responsible for furnishing the County ASC Committee with the production history and other information needed to establish a "Soil Bank Base" for his farm, and this must be done before the agreement may be signed. The required information should be supplied at least 15 days before the end of the sign-up period of Oct. 4. The "Base" will be determined primarily on the basis of the average acreage of land devoted to Soil Bank base crops during 1956 and 1957; the base crops, in general, are all crops produced for harvest on a farm, except hay crops. If a farm already has a "base" established under the Soil Bank's Conservation Reserve program, that base will apply.

Organized Lutheran Church in Cass City

Nuechterlein Feted At Farewell Party

Rev. Otto Nuechterlein, who organized the Cass City Lutheran Church 12 years ago, was honored at a farewell party at the church Friday evening.

Rev. Nuechterlein told the members of the church that he was leaving with a good deal of regret. "But my new post at St. John Lutheran Church at Key-stone, Iowa, is a challenge that I want to accept. Members tell me that the church needs revitalizing and I hope to be able to do the job," he said.

Rev. Nuechterlein then described the organization of the Cass City Lutheran Church. He recalled how he knocked on doors in Cass City prior to starting a church here. Services were held at various places in the early years, he said. Included were the present Ann's Home Restaurant, scout rooms and homes of members of the infant congregation.

Besides organizing the Cass City Church, Rev. Nuechterlein was the pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran Church of Caro, his primary pastorate. He served there for 22 years. Besides preaching at both churches in later years, Rev. Nuechterlein also held services at the county infirmary and the Caro State Hospital.

The Keystone church, where Rev. Nuechterlein is pastor, is in a community of less than 1,000 persons, but the church is larger than either of his churches here. There is a total of 464 communicant members.

Rev. Nuechterlein is married to the former Edna Juengel and has four daughters: Anne, 16; Ellen, 14; Faye, 10, and Dawne, 3.

At the farewell party Friday, members of the congregation presented the departing pastor with a check for $150 and about $9 in cash. Rev. Nuechterlein also received a desk clock from members of the church's Walther League.

Although Rev. Nuechterlein has preached his final sermon at Cass City, he will remain at Caro through the end of September before leaving for Keystone.

Meanwhile, members of the Cass City congregation have arranged for Rev. Edwin Russow of Fairgrove to fill in and are contemplating "calling" a full-time pastor to serve the church. At the present time, services are being held in the new 40x80 foot basement as the original church no longer is large enough to accommodate Sunday worshippers.

Members of the church plan to erect a new church on top of the basement as soon as finances permit.

Photos Lost

The Chronicle this week mailed two pictures to its engravers for scheduled publication this week. Somewhere between Cass City and Bad Axe the pictures became lost. Where they went is one of those unsolvable mysteries.

Post office authorities say that they were placed in a pouch that goes direct to Bad Axe. Yet, they are not now at Bad Axe or Cass City Post Offices. If they show up we will publish them next week.

One was a picture of the new teachers and the other of Rev. Otto Nuechterlein receiving a parting gift from Fred Iseler on behalf of the congregation of the Lutheran Church.

Former Resident Tells of Florida Trip

Editors Note: This is the first installment written by Edith Gwilliam. Others will follow as space and time permit.

I was so sure that my family and friends in Alberta, as well as my relatives and friends in around Cass City, Michigan, near where I was born, would like an account of the three months spent in Florida this winter, in company with John Kennedy, my older brother and his wife Cecile, who invited me to accompany them by car to Florida City, Florida, for the winter months. I kept a diary, and am pleased to give the highlights of the wonderful times we had in this fabulous Florida, America's playground, where it's summer the year round.

We left Michigan the first week in January and travelled through Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia.

SHORT STORY

Afraid By Cause

By Anna Yarbrough

WHILE the long line filed past her into the Imperial Theater, Jeanie Thorn watched the man in the faded green sweater who was leaning against a light post and, obviously, watching her.

She tried to quiet her worry by arguing silently with herself: I'm sure the man will leave as soon as this line thins down. Maybe, he's waiting to buy a ticket.

But, now, when she only sold tickets to a straggler now and then, the man stayed by the post with his cold grey eyes fixed on her.

The door at the back of the box-office clicked.

Max Mason, the Theater Manager, came into the box office with a copy of the Daily News held before him. He looked over the paper and said to Jeanie, "Have you been reading about the holdups

Max said, "Jeanie, I don't think it's safe for you to walk home alone."

"We've been having in town lately?" Jeanie wanted to cry out: Yes, I have and I'm afraid right now. I'm afraid that man in the faded green sweater is a hold-up man.

But Max was a big tease, and he'd kid her for days if she were wrong about the man.

She answered without looking at Max. "Yes, Mr. Mason."

Max said, "Jeanie, I don't think it's safe for you to walk home alone at night with so many suspicious characters in town."

Fear rushed through Jeanie, and she held her lips tightly together so that he couldn't see their trembling.

An usher poked his head in the box office, saying, "Mr. Mason, a woman dropped her diamond ring and is stirring up a commotion."

Immediately Max left to assist in the search and to quiet his theater.

She sighed. She liked Max more than she liked to admit, but she had repeatedly refused to let him take her home in his fancy sport car. Max was a playboy. She was afraid to let him take her home.

He was never serious. All of life was a joke to him. He could never be gentle and tender. No matter what happened, it would be a funny thing for him to tell over and over.

Jeanie glanced out across the walk and her teeth began to chatter. The man in the faded green sweater had taken out a knife with a long, bright blade and was whittling on a stick. As he whittled, he watched her.

Jeanie clenched her teeth and made up her mind. The next time that Max came into the box office, she was going to tell him about the man in the faded green sweater watching her.

Max laughed at the commotion of the diamond.

Jeanie tried to smile. She must tell Max about the man. She knew she was trembling, yes, trembling and cold, she began. "Max, the . . . man . . . by the post . . . suddenly the whole box of . . . began to spin around."

She opened her eyes. She was in Max's arms, he was saying, "Oh, Jeanie, I'm so ashamed. I didn't mean to frighten you like this when I hired that guy to do his act but . . . but . . . she could hardly believe her own eyes. Max's face was white with embarrassment. "You just wouldn't let me take you home . . . I . . . I thought . . . if you were a little scared . . . Darling . . . and he kissed her, gentle and tenderly."

Jeanie smiled. "I'll be glad for you to take me home, Max."

A voice broke into their tender moment, "Hey, break up that smooching, and give me that ticket to the second show, you promised me."

It was the man in the faded green sweater. He was laughing.

Miss Anastasia Grifka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Grifka of Tyre, and Marvin Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Fisher of Uby, were married Saturday in a double-ring ceremony at St. John's Catholic Church in Uby.

Rev. Father Wurm performed the ceremony in front of an altar decorated with gladioli and mums.

The bride wore a princess style gown of Peau de Soie silk, with embroidered imported alencon lace, studded with seed pearls. The long sleeves were wrist point, and the gown had a chapel train. She wore cultured pearls, a gift of the groom. The bride carried a white orchid on a pearl prayer book.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Lillian Krug, sister of the bride from Bad Axe. She wore a light blue crystal-embroidered gown, with dark blue trim, ballerina length gown. It featured the princess style and empire bodice. She carried white carnations in a Colonial bouquet. Bridesmaids were Bernadine Grifka, sister of the bride from Uby; Loretta Grifka, cousin of the bride from Detroit, and Phyllis Treppkowski of Detroit.

The bride wore a cocoa sheath dress and hat and brown accessories to start her wedding trip through the western states. After a three-week honeymoon they plan to make their home in Cass City.

Good - Kisner Vows Spoken at Pigeon

The Rev. Harold Blakely, assisted by the Rev. Murray Willard, performed the rites.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kisner of Pigeon and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Good Sr. of Gagetown.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle with long tapering wristbands. The fitted bodice of lace over satin was enhanced by a hand clipped scalloped sabrina neckline. Her full waist-length skirt had a lace motif in scroll design on tulle. A bridal veil of silk illusion in fingertip length was secured to a tiara of regal styling with seed pearls and cascade sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and white carnations. Her father gave her in marriage.

Mrs. Lyle Truemmer of Cass City was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Sharon and Maureen Kretschmer and Helen Dietzel of Elkton, sister of the bride. Linda Lou Bannick of Elkton, the bride's niece, was flower girl.

The matron of honor wore a shrimp-colored gown of nylon chiffon with moulded bodice in an off-the-shoulder effect with brief cap sleeves. A satin cummerbund at the midriff was tied in a bow at the back with two hem-long streamers. A full bouffant pleated circular skirt was worn over a nylon net underskirt.

Gowns of the bridesmaids were styled identically to that of the matron of honor in romance blue. They carried bouquets of shrimp-colored and blue carnations.

Robert Good of Gagetown, brother of the groom, served as best man. Other attendants were Earl Dietzel of Pigeon, brother of the bride, Lyle Truemmer of Cass City and William Ziehm. Gussie Bannick of Gagetown was ring bearer.

Miss Ann McDonald was pianist, accompanying Mrs. Edwinn Eby.

Junior bridesmaid was Gloria Griffin, sister of the bride from Tyre. Their dresses were the same as the matron of honor's except they were mauve, trimmed in raspberry.

By Elmer E. White
 Michigan Press Association
 Resort experts are checking results of a summer season predicted to be disappointing at the cash register but which has been showing new signs of life.
 At one time it was believed the dollar influx would drop from $6 billion to $5 billion.
 Michigan's Tourist Council, fighting off the effects of a stable appropriation and increasing needs for advertising, has pinched its pennies and stretched its dollars.
 Michigan in recent years has slipped from third to fourth in the rank of states as a tourist-attracting magnet. But its natural attractions are enjoyed by millions.
 Tourists already are flocking to see the nearly-completed Mackinac Straits Bridge.
 Improved highways are attracting more, making speedier the trips to summer vacation meccas. The state's parks are jammed every week end.
 Fall is here, and only the post-Labor Day work of compiling statistics and getting estimates from the experts is needed now to complete the story of 1957's summer resort season.

 Most areas report an upsurge in the number of motel and lake-side resort accommodations. One reason for the increase, if one exists for this season, will be sheer population pressure.
 "When there are more people, there are more of them vacationing," said one state official.
 Michigan has abandoned the idea of sending a lobbyist to Washington to snare federal defense contracts to help ease the state's unemployment crisis.
 Gov. Williams sent a group to Washington to investigate the idea.
 Lee M. Uhl, an official of the State Department of Economic Development, reported back that the federal government was under an economy wave, making the state lobbyist's office "unwise."
 The group reported the state should have key people drop in occasionally at federal offices in Washington, rather than establish an office with a fulltime man in charge.

 The visit, however, did obtain an agreement from the Army, Navy and Air Force to furnish the state with monthly lists of big government contracts, bringing them to the attention of state factories.
 Uhl said there is much confusion about federal defense contracts.
 Areas of unemployment look to such contracts as a cureall, when actually they provide only limited relief from unemployment, he indicated.
 "We will take all advantage we can from the information we get from the Pentagon," said Gov. Williams.
 Meanwhile, Williams' special commission continues its quest for details on unemployment in Michigan.
 Dangerous root rot, brought into Michigan from Prince Edward Island last May, will be under control on five infested areas in Bay County by mid-September.
 Infestation in Michigan was in a shipment of seed potatoes destined for Bay County.
 This set in motion a little-known function of state government which works as a sort of police force to protect the farmer and his crops against natural enemies.
 Word was passed from federal officials to C. A. Boyer, plant husbandry director for the state department of agriculture. "If not controlled and stamped out, the rot could wreck the whole potato crop," he said. He ordered the unplanted potatoes seized and burned.
 Those which already had been planted were "lifted" from the ground in May and destroyed.
 The final step will be a "fumigation" of the soil with a special chemical formula. Then the land will be cultivated five days later to air it and give the chemical maximum effect.
 Boyer passes it off as an everyday chore of his section.
 Some people are so liberal that every time they speak they give themselves away.
 The man who finds constant fault with others is bound to neglect his own shortcomings.
 Right eventually wins, but is mighty slow in asserting itself.
 The man who claims to be blunt usually has the sharpest tongue.

People who can easily pay any price say:

"Pay more...what for?
 Ford's the buy!"

Why? Because this 1957 Ford gives you the advanced features, the solid ride, the effortless handling that you once expected to find only in expensive cars. And when it comes to looks, where can you find fresher styling than in the sculptured-in-steel lines of this new Ford?

Ford's superiority is evident in many places. In the vital rear axle, the pinion gear that turns the rear wheels is straddle-mounted... supported between two anti-friction bearings instead of being "overhung" from a single bearing. This makes operation quieter, smoother and longer-lasting. It's a feature that Ford shares with only one other car maker in the world—Rolls Royce.

Or consider Ford's famous V-8 engine. No other manufacturer in the industry today electronically balances every V-8 engine, while operating under its own power, the way that Ford does. This means you get a smoother-running engine—the finest V-8 in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership.

These are only a few of the important hidden values that are yours in Ford. But they indicate why so many people who can pay almost any price for a car—people who have driven expensive cars for years—are buying Ford today. Action Test this great performing car at your Ford Dealer's just once and you, too, will ask, "Pay more... what for?"

YOU CAN SPEND HUNDREDS MORE... BUT YOU CAN'T BUY BETTER THAN THE NEW KIND OF FORD

Genesee Wheat Gives Best Yield

If you're beginning to think about what variety of wheat to plant this year, yield reports from Hubert Brown, farm crops authority at Michigan State University, should help you, says Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

Those soft white wheats are bringing a premium over soft red winter wheat such as Seneca. Brown suggests that you grow the wheat which is common in your locality, either red or white. Mixing them in an area leads to difficulties in handling, both for the farmer and the elevator.

Certified seed should be used because it is clean, pure in variety, uniform in size, free from weeds and rye, and usually is treated for stinking smut. If you plant seed that is not certified, it should be cleaned, graded and treated for stinking smut with Panogen or Ceresan. Another very important factor is time of planting. The fly-free date in Tuscola County is September 15. Planting before the fly-free date can result in as high as 70 per cent loss. Rate of seed planted should be six to seven pecks, Brown says.

The Want Ads Are Newsworthy Too!

Tuscola Group Slated to Attend Supervisors' Day

The Tuscola County board of supervisors will be represented at a Supervisors' Day at Michigan State University on Friday, September 6, according to Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent. Representing the Tuscola board will be chairman John McIntyre, Mayville, and James Kirk, Fairgrove, James Osborne, Deford, and Grover Laurie, Cass City, all members of the agricultural committee of the board. This will be an opportunity for board members to take a "behind the scene" look at research underway in many phases of agricultural research affecting Michigan agriculture. They will be guests of MSU for a noon luncheon and will hear talks by President Hannah, Dean Cowden and Extension Director Paul Miller.

County boards of supervisors are one of the three cooperating agencies in carrying on the work of the Cooperative Extension Service, said Ballweg. The other two are Michigan State University and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Five Years Ago.
Total enrollment in the Cass City grades, junior high school and high school is 987 pupils, as compared with 917 students last year.

Angus MacCallum severely injured his right hand Tuesday while working with a hay chopper on his farm in Greenleaf.

Forty-nine hopefuls turned out for the first football practice of the 1952 season on Labor Day. Four from this area who reported for induction in the armed forces are: Irving Parach and Bruce A. Little, both of Cass City; Paul Carolan, Gagetown; Ronald R. Phillips, Deford. The West Elkland 4-H Club has completed another very successful summer as proven by the results at the Tuscola County Fair and the State 4-H show at Lansing. Of the 18 projects completed by the group, 15 received blue ribbons, two received red ribbons and the Sears garden took third place in a group of 12.

Ten Years Ago.
Mack Little and sons were winners of champion awards and Billy Zinnecker won the reserve champion in the 4-H Angus division at the State Fair.

Found by researchers after he failed to return from a pasture where he had gone to get horses, Herbert Lloyd McKee, 14, died Thursday afternoon, Aug. 28, of injuries suffered when he was kicked in the head by a horse.

Extensive improvements have been made in the sales department and workroom of the Sommers Bakery and new equipment.

Watch Those Cellar Steps for Safety

Watch those cellar stairs! They can be a hazard to your family's safety—especially to elderly people.

Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county home demonstration agent, suggests you check your cellar steps. Many are poorly lighted, steep and cluttered and are a special hazard to those whose eyesight is not as keen as it once was or whose step is not steady.

For safer stairs, try: a strong handrail the full length of the stairs; good light on every step; keeping steps in good repair so that the tread is firm and even—painting top and bottom steps white as a reminder; keeping stairs free of any sort of clutter, and never using the stairway for storage.

Mrs. Clark urges that until good lighting can be installed, a flashlight on a shelf at the top of the stairs may help light the way safely.

About the time a man feels he has reached a lofty position someone calls him down.

Never anticipate tomorrow's troubles and those of today won't be half the burden.

Men have been known to cultivate a friend in the hope that they might raise a loan.

You can't expect people to see their own faults when there are so many others around.

Thirty-five Years Ago.
Ruby Wood, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood, who live near Brookfield, died at her home on Wednesday of last week as the result of a fall from an apple tree.

A temporary mail truck service has been established from Cass City and Gagetown to Owendale on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

The electric storm on the morning of Sept. 1 was the severest ever in this locality. Citizens of Deford saw the light of four lightning burned barns at the same time.

The Gagetown public school began August 28 and a larger number of pupils than ever before was present.

John Mosher who lives near Novesta Corners lost his second barn by fire within three years.

Mr. Silverthorn of Deford is putting the double garage up in Cass City for the Farmers' Oil Co.

S. G. Benkelman and Walter Mark were slightly injured when the scaffolding on which they were working at the Sandham cottage at Oak Beach gave way and dropped them to the ground.

Doing nothing turns out to be the hardest job in the world—you can't stop and rest.

Marketing beans cooperatively is just good common sense. That's been demonstrated over and over again by your Michigan Cooperative Bean Marketing Association. The MCBMA, through its marketing agency—the Michigan Elevator Exchange—has served thousands of farmers, helping them to get higher prices than if they had marketed their crop individually. Last year, despite the large volume of beans handled, the average price paid to MCBMA pool members was 8 to 9 cents higher than the price received by growers who placed their beans under price support.

The Association now is advancing $6 per hundredweight while your beans are waiting in the pool to be sold for the best price. You get the rest later. So, deliver your pool beans to:

Remember... AT IGA
it's the "TOTAL"
that counts!

Hi Neighbor!

Yes, neighbor... for proof of IGA's low every day prices we urge you to make the IGA "TOTAL TEST." We are quite sure you will be amazed at the results. We realize that those two or three price leaders do look inviting but check and see for yourself that the savings are in the total when you check out. Shop and compare IGA's TOTAL, you will then see the difference. Your IGA SUPER MARKETS not only give you PRICE-QUALITY SERVICE, but a big PLUS... a FRIENDLY atmosphere to shop in, which will make every shopping trip a genuine pleasure instead of one of those things that you have to do time after time.
