smallest acreage grown in nearly 40 vears. In our opinion, the Soil Bank was organized only as a vote producing measure for the Republican Party. Experts predicted it would fail to control surpluses and it has. It's only result has been to cost taxpayers billions of dollars yearly. With the increased cost of defense now coming, it would be nice if they started paring the budget with the Soil Bank but that probably would be political suicide and we don't expect the administration even to consider it. Nor do we expect the Democrats to be too outspoken against the measure. Both parties tread lightly wheneve votes are concerned. At the request of Mrs. A. J

Stevens, school health nurse, we will reprint an editorial from the Detroit Times because it points out a need in our community. The editorial is titled "Note to Parents."

"It wouldn't seem it should be necessary to urge parents to have their children immunized against diphtheria yet another outbreak of the disease is reported among children who haven't had the simple shots.

"Last winter's epidemic ir which five died and 151 were infected, doesn't seem to have been sufficient warning.

"During a period in which a nation is alarmed about our scientists failing to produce the first Sputnik, when it is pretty evident the scientists aren't to blame at all, we might think of the futility and frustration of medical rerearchers in their laboratories.

'Men with years of education and years of background spend still more years of tireless effort to produce a serum which will save the life or protect the health of some child they never knew. Then the parents of that child

Bulletin Shows How To Build Decorations

Make your home look festive all through the holidays with Christmas decorations you and the whole family can have fun making. There are lots of ideas for wreaths, centerpieces, tree ornaments, and other bright pieces in the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service bulletin "Christmas Decorations for Fun and Profit", E-305.

Pictures of many materials are shown, with ways to put them together for miniature trees, an "evergreen ball", and even a kissing ring". There is a "recipe" in the bulletin for treating cones and wood with a chemical mixture that will make them brighten your fireplace fire with colored flames. You can pick up one of these free bulletins from your county home demonstration agent, located at the courthouse, Caro, in time to decorate for this Christmas.
