Wilson Retires After 40 Years of Service

Mason Wilson, Cass City, said that he has a "lot of fishing to catch up on" now that he has retired from the Nestle's Company after nearly 40 years of service with the company.

Retiring with Mr. Wilson will be his wife, who has been a nurse at Cass City and Pleasant Home hospitals for over 25 years.

The immediate plans of the couple call for a winter in Florida and then vacationing this summer in Northern Michigan. The Wilsons have purchased a house trailer and will live in it while vacationing.

Mr. Wilson says that he has no immediate plans to go back to work. "If I get caught up on fishing quicker than I anticipate, I may look for another job," he said.

Mr. Wilson started his career at Nestle's Mar. 10, 1918, when he operated the pan where the milk is cooked. He became assistant superintendent in Cass City in 1924.

In 1929 he spent a year at the Uby plant as an assistant manager. He held a similar position at Brockville, Ont., for two years before returning to Cass City where he worked in the laboratory.

In 1942 he became a fieldman for the company and worked in that capacity in Cass City until the plant closed here. He then transferred to Uby where he closed his career in the same capacity.

Mr. Wilson came to the Cass City plant from Elkton where he made butter and cheese.

The Wilsons have a daughter, Mrs. Carl (Lucille) Stafford of Granite City, Ill., and two grandchildren.

Snow Closes Local Schools Tuesday

Inclement weather closed Cass City Schools Tuesday. Buses were sent home as soon as they arrived at the school. Supt. Willis Campbell said that two of the buses were unable to go out at all because of the weather.

Persons living off main roads reported that the snow was drifting heavily Tuesday morning. It was the first time during the 1957-58 school year that had weather had forced cancellation of school.

21.3 Per Cent More Business Firms in Village in 10 Years

Statistics released by J. H. McDonald, district manager of the Detroit office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reflect the growth of business firms in Cass City during the past 10 years. Figures obtained from a physical count of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book for November 1957, totaled 97 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in this area as compared to 80 listings in 1947—an increase of 21.3 per cent for the period.

The reference book, incidentally, only lists manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. It does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as barber and beauty shops, stock and real estate brokers. Thus the figure for businesses in Cass City would actually be higher than the 97 quoted above.

Adult Farmer Classes Start in Deford Tonight

A series of five adult farmer classes are scheduled this winter at the Deford Community School starting Thursday, Jan. 9, at 8:15 p. m. and continuing each Thursday for the next four weeks.

The classes are designed to bring useful up-to-date agricultural information to farmers. Topics were selected by a committee of area farmers, included Archie Hicks, Gerald Hicks and Robert Phillips, all of Deford, and Maynard McConkey and Keith Charlton, both of Cass City.

Cooperating with the committee are the county agricultural agent's office, Michigan State University specialists, Deford Soil Conservation Board and Supt. Harry Volz.

Classes will last about two hours and topics to be discussed are: weed control and sprayer information, dairy feeding, forage crops, Michigan State Police and farm laws and fertilizer and use of nitrogen.

A talk will be given on farm inheritance laws, father and son partnerships, Social Security and income tax.

There is no charge for attending the classes and authorities urge all farmers and their wives in the area to attend.

The Deford meeting is one of a series in the county. Other classes will be held in Akron.

Honor Gagetownite For Long Service

Harry Densmore of Gagetown, retired fieldman of the sugar beet company at Sebawaing, and John Conkel of Sebawaing, also a fieldman for the company, were honored at a dinner held Thursday night at Cassville.

Mr. Densmore had completed 25 years of service with the company. Appointed to replace Mr. Densmore was Dennis Rocheleau of Gagetown. Frank Stole of Sebawaing replaces Mr. Conkel.

Both men were presented with gifts of luggage.

Slides of foreign countries were shown at the banquet.

Arrange Dates for 3 Square Dance Classes at School

Persons interested in entering any of the three courses offered in square dancing can learn complete details or register for the course by calling Eli Holes, assistant principal at the school.

Present plans call for three classes to be offered this year. Beginners, intermediates and advanced dancers will attend on Thursday or Saturday evenings. Plans call for 32 couples in each class.

Sentence Two To Jackson Prison Friday

Judge T. C. Quinn sentenced two men to Jackson Prison Friday for terms of three to 15 years for breaking and entering a store owned by Helen Cole of Millington.

Clinton Hatton was sentenced with a recommendation of three years and Norman L. Rockefeller was sentenced without recommendation.

Emory Harris, charged with the same offense, appeared before the court and changed his plea from guilty to not guilty. The court accepted the change in plea and appointed Richard Kern as his attorney.

Hatton and Rockefeller had pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Quinn Dec. 11.

Herman Jackson of Flint was sentenced to six months in the Tuscola County Jail for possessing mutual number slips. Jackson is also awaiting trial on the much more serious charge of possessing narcotics. Date for that trial is to be set.

Delbert Strickland of Cass City was back in court for failure to pay alimony. His case was again continued as he promised to continue to pay $10 weekly. He will report back to court Feb. 10.

In the case, John M. Stockwell vs. Edmund Neiman, an oral motion was made to dismiss with prejudice. The motion will be presented in writing. No action was taken.

Sen. Dehmel County Mich. Week Head

Franklin H. Moore, regional chairman for Michigan Week, announced this week that Sen. Arthur H. Dehmel of Unionville has been named as chairman for Michigan Week for Tuscola County.

Mr. Dehmel's appointment was one of several made in the Thumb. Others are: Vincent H. Kellerman of Port Huron, St. Clair County; Robert McVey of Bad Axe, Huron County; Elmer C. Orton of Sandusky, Sanilac County, and R. L. Parsch of Lapeer, Lapeer County.

Soil District Slates Annual Meeting

The Tuscola Soil Conservation District will hold its 14th annual meeting Jan. 15 at the Caro VFW Hall at 8:00 p. m. R. L. Hill, district chairman, announced today. Frank W. Suggett, head of the department of Resource Development, Michigan State University, will be the featured speaker.

Election of officers will be held. The three-year terms of Albert Bauer and Theodore Keinath expire this year. A nominating committee has selected Albert Bauer and Russell LeValley as nominees for the position now held by Bauer. This committee also selected Dayton Davis and Cleon Kester for the position now held by Keinath. Keinath has declined to run again because of the pressure of other business. Bruce Ruggles, district secretary-treasurer, will present a report on the business activities of the district in 1957.

Maynard McConkey, district director and contest chairman, will present trophies to the winning FFA chapters in the land judging contest sponsored by the district. Millington Chapter of Future Farmers of America, under the direction of their instructor, Jake Meachum, will present a demonstration of soil and water conservation practices.

Wilbur Kellogg, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, will give a

FAREWELL GIFTS—Rev. Melvin R. Vender examines a guest book which was signed by everyone attending a farewell party in the Venders' honor Sunday evening. Many Fete Venders At Farewell Party Members of the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City said good-bye to Rev. and Mrs. M. R. Vender Sunday evening at an informal gathering at the church.

Rev. Vender, who has served 14 years as pastor of the church, will preach his final sermon Sunday. When he leaves Cass City for a part-time position as assistant minister at the First Presbyterian Church, Marietta, Ohio, he will have established two firsts in churches of Flint Presbytery. At Croswell, where he served nine years, and Cass City, where he served 14, Rev. Vender has served the longest term of any pastor.

Rev. and Mrs. Vender were presented with a money gift at Sunday's meeting. It was presented on behalf of the session by Arthur Holmberg. Others speaking informally were Jim Wallace, Miss Dian Cardew and Mrs. E. G. Golding Sr.

Rev. John Meyer, pastor of the Fairgrove Presbyterian Church, also spoke briefly. He will serve as moderator of the church in Cass City until a pastor is appointed.

A series of guest speakers will fill the pulpit until a permanent pastor is secured. Plans call for a speaker from Detroit to be in Cass City Sunday, Jan. 19, and a layman from Northern Michigan the following week.

Village to Open Bids for New Truck Jan. 28

Among the purchases okayed for 1958 by the Cass City Village Council Monday evening, Dec. 30, was a two-ton truck.

Trustees voted to advertise for bids and to open the bids at the next regular council meeting, Tuesday, Jan. 28.

Trustee C. R. Hunt was appointed to investigate the water pumps of the village. Tentative plans call for a larger pump to assure an adequate water supply.

Lambert Althaver of Walbro Corporation presented a request for a credit for Walbro for tile salvaged when an eight-inch water main was installed to their plant.

Trustees denied the request and explained to Mr. Althaver that the cost of reclamation makes any refund impossible.

Remove Snow
Village Clerk Wilma Fry was requested to write letters to business concerns on Main Street asking that they keep the snow off sidewalks in front of their buildings.

Trustees also voted to contact Mr. Edwards of Vassar to have the water pressure tank repainted. They recommended that the tank be painted a different color, if possible.

Independent Five Loses to Bad Axe in Huron League

Cass City was unable to overcome a big first quarter margin posted by Bad Axe in a Huron County League game played Friday in Bad Axe and lost a 64-65 decision to even their season's record at 2-2 for the year.

Bad Axe posted 22 points while holding Cass City to 13 to take a lead that was never lost. In a low scoring second period, each team netted eight points.

In the third quarter, Cass City narrowed the margin with a 15-11 advantage and moved to within six points in the final stanza before fading.

Keith Emerson hit the meshes for 16 points for Cass City. He was followed by Bob Wallace and

Lutherans Elect Officers for Year

Officers were elected for 1958 at a voters' meeting of the men of the Cass City Lutheran Church Friday evening. Re-elected as president was Fred Iseler.

Vice-president is John Haire, who will replace Glen Ulrey. The church treasurer, Arlan Hartwick, and secretary, Wesley Frederick, were re-elected for another term.

Named as an elder was Francis Butler. Serving two-year terms as trustees will be Hazen Gunther and Milton Hofmeister.

The officers were installed Sunday morning at the regular worship service.

From the Editor's Corner

Every year about this time we receive a card from Cass Cityites wintering in Florida asking us to print the temperature. We report for their enjoyment that the temperature in recent days has been around zero and that it has snowed . . . and snowed . . . and snowed.

Despite the drifts, the crowd at Tuesday night's basketball game was scarcely affected. A capacity crowd was on hand, although the gym was not quite as packed as it had been in previous years for the game.

The largest cheer of the evening at the cage game came, not after a brilliant play by either team, but at the end of the third quarter when the referee announced that there would be no school Wednesday.

With the aid of the new industrial tractor which employees report is much faster, the village crew removed the snow from Main Street almost as fast as it fell. They are to be commended for a fine job.

Not only is the town benefited by their fast work, but taxpayers should remember that it is all paid for by the state via a maintenance contract between Cass City and the State Highway Department.

Marlette Tops Cass City Tuesday, 53-42

Before the start of the basketball game Tuesday night between Marlette and Cass City, the loud speaker failed to work and the players were not individually introduced as has been the custom this year.

From this bad start things got steadily worse for Cass City as they dropped a 53-42 decision to the Red Raiders and looked bad while doing it.

Cass City scored the opening bucket and then stood helplessly by as Marlette caged 10 straight points with a deliberate offense.

After a time out, Cass City started pressing the Raider guards and the situation improved. At the end of the opening period, the visitors were in front 14-5.

The Hawks whittled away at this margin in the second quarter. They stymied the Marlette offense with only five points, but were unable to hit the hoop themselves with consistency as they chalked up nine points. At the half it was 19-14.

Early in the third quarter, Cass City staged a rally and knotted the score, 23-23, but that was the closest they came to winning.

Marlette stiffened and quickly ran up its lead to seven points at the end of the third period, 34-27. In the final period the margin seasawed between seven and four points. With four minutes to go, Cass City was only five points behind.

But when Cass City was forced into a frantic press, Marlette went in for several dog shots to win going away, 53-42.

The Hawks showed the effects of their layoff for the vacation holidays. Marlette had scheduled two games during the vacation period.

Cass City was guilty of numerous passing faults and in the first period was unable to come close to hitting the hoop.

Jim Johnson and Fred Leeson netted 10 points each for Cass City. Marlette had four men in double figures, Jim Ruggles was high point man for the evening with 18.

The reserve squad won a hair-raising victory over the Marlette seconds in the last minute of play, 38-37. The score was tied at the half and remained close throughout the game.

Friday, the Hawks play another conference game when they play at Vassar, another top contender for league honors.

Honor Carpenters On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Carpenter, who are spending the winter months at Brantford, Fla., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently.

The reception, which was held for them in the recreation hall at the Sunset Trailer Village, was attended by an estimated 300 friends. Mr. Edward Clouse, owner of the Village, planned the affair as a surprise to the Carpenters.

The anniversary song was sung by the guests, followed by refreshments served by the Grand Mothers' Club of the village.

A gift was given to the couple by their friends and Mr. Clouse furnished an embossed anniversary cake and presented a corsage to Mrs. Carpenter.

MSU Alumni Slate Dinner in Village

The annual Tuscola County Michigan State University Alumni Club dinner will be held this year at the Lutheran Church in Cass City, Kenneth H. Priestley, president, announced this week.

Durward B. "Woody" Varner, vice-president for off-campus education at MSU, will be the featured speaker. He will be assisted by Don L. Mason, assistant director of alumni relations.

Mr. Varner is a native of Texas. He graduated from Texas A & M with many honors in 1940. After working in his native state and serving in the army, where he rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel, Mr. Varner did graduate work in economics and agricultural economics at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Varner has been on the MSU staff for seven years. He served initially as an extension specialist in public affairs in the department of agricultural economics.

In 1952 he became director of the cooperative extension service. He became the first vice-president in the university's 100-year history April 1, 1955.

The meeting is open to alumni and friends of MSU, Priestley said, and tickets will be $2 per person.

Tickets are available from 10 county persons. They are: Mrs. B.

Discuss Problems At Home, School Council Meeting

Adverse weather held down the crowd at a meeting of the Home-School Council Monday evening at Cass City Schools. Parents attending participated in an entertaining and instructive panel discussion of school problems.

A lengthy discussion evolved around the question, "What is Gained by Bringing in More Students From a Larger Area?" Scholaristically, the discussion revealed, students have a larger curriculum. Taxes are reduced because of a broader base for spreading the cost of education.

A discussion was held whether it was advisable to have seventh and eighth grade students move from room to room or stay in one room.

Marking will vary as teachers vary, the panel concluded, after discussing marking at Cass City Schools.

Final discussion topic centered around supervised outdoor play during noon hours for students. With some 400 students at the school at this time, it was felt that the three teachers on duty could not do supervision work. It was pointed out that most of these problems could be solved with increased funds for teaching.

The panel included both teachers and parents. Orion Cardew was the chairman. Others were Supt. Willis Campbell, Grade Principal Mrs. Marie Murray, Mrs. Walter Finkbeiner and Arlington Hoffman.

Following the discussion, a film showing grade school work was shown and refreshments were served.

Weather Delays Search for Lady Believed Drowned

Cold weather has delayed the search for Miss Olive Pappas, 46, a patient at Caro State Hospital, believed to have drowned in the Cass River Saturday afternoon.

Tuscola County Sheriff William Tomlinson and deputies dragged the river through the ice Saturday and Sunday without finding a trace of the missing woman.

Monday, colder weather made the search more difficult and the sheriff's department was able to make a partial search by pushing the boat partially on the ice and then transferring their weight to the front to break the ice.

Tuesday's cold weather made even this difficult search impossible.

Members of the sheriff's department said that the search will be abandoned until the ice on the river thaws.

Tracks, believed to have been those of Miss Pappas, were found leading to the edge of the ice near open water. Miss Pappas has been in the hospital since 1931. She came to the hospital from Kent County, near Grand Rapids. Her nearest relative is a brother in Saginaw.

Acti-dione Combats Fungus Diseases

Chemical variations of an antibiotic drug show promise of providing farmers with a potent new weapon against crop-devastating wheat rust and the fungus infections that attack cherry trees and apples.

A team of research scientists reported to the American Chemical Society that derivatives of the antibiotic Acti-dione, have been successfully used to combat fungus diseases in plants through internal systemic activity within the plants themselves.

Following a report by Drs. Hamilton and Szkolnik at the New York Agricultural Experiment Station, further work with the Acti-dione derivatives conducted by The Upjohn Company, Kalamazoo, Michigan, indicates that the chemicals enter through the leaves and spread throughout the above-ground portion of the plant, killing many fungus infections as they are contacted.

Experimental control of leaf and stem wheat rust, cherry leaf spot and apple scab has been achieved with the new chemicals.

The systemic antifungal chemicals are being tested in experimental greenhouses in two ways. One method consists of placing a plastic bag around the top leaves of the branch, spraying the lower leaves of the same branch with the chemical, and then inoculating the whole branch with the fungus disease several days later. If the top portion of the branch, which did not receive any of the chemical spray is protected from infection, the chemical has apparently traveled from sprayed to non-sprayed leaves, killing the invading fungus as it moves upward within the plant.

New Cattle Diseases Threat to Profits

Three new transmissible diseases of cattle have added their threat to the farm profit picture in recent years, making the disease situation even more confusing, according to a report by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

The similarity in some symptoms of these diseases, and their similarity, also, to several other cattle problems makes prompt diagnosis by a veterinarian doubly important, the Foundation says. The three new diseases are infectious bovine rhinotracheitis, virus diarrhea, and mucosal disease. Clinical or pathological signs of these three may also resemble those of older diseases, shipping fever and malignant catarrhal fever.

Fortunately, the death rate is low, with the exception of malignant catarrhal fever and mucosal disease, which are almost always fatal. All five of the diseases produce a fever of 104 degrees or higher, resulting in depression as another symptom. However, the fever may be present for several days before the depression is noted.

No Major Changes In Farm Tax Forms

Tuscola County farmers should have an easier time filing their income tax returns this year.

Everett Elwood, farm economist at Michigan State University, reports that there are no major changes in tax forms, laws or regulations affecting farmers this year.

Elwood reminds farmers that there are two possible filing dates. If at least two-thirds of a farmer's gross income is from farming and the taxable year starts January 1, he can file the return and pay the tax by February 15.

Or, he may file an estimate of the tax and pay this amount by January 15. Then he can file the complete return and pay any balance due by April 15.

If the business year does not start January 1, the return may be filed and tax paid by the 15th day of the second month following the end of the taxable year. Otherwise, the farmer can file an estimate within 15 days and a return within three and a half months after the end of the business year.

Farmers who don't get tax return forms in the mail may get them by contacting their local Internal Revenue Service office. Get two copies and keep one on file.

To help with income tax reporting, the Internal Revenue Service has prepared a bulletin entitled, "Farmers' Tax Guide." Copies are available at the county extension office in the Court House at Caro.

New Jobs for Small Farmers Seen as Farm Surplus Cure

Long-term solution of America's farm surplus problem may depend largely on finding an attractive place in industrial society for the small commercial farmer.

That's the opinion of Kenneth E. Boulding, a University of Michigan economist. In the past 10 years, he notes, nearly a million Americans have given up farming for city life. But this has done little to relieve the surplus problem.

The reason: nearly all those who moved were subsistence farmers. They contributed relatively little to the nation's total output. Commercial farmers—those who raise food in volume for a profit—more than made up this loss through increased productivity.

Where farm laborers may not have found it too difficult to enter the industrial work force, however, a commercial farmer with capital of his own may not find the transition as easy. Comments Boulding:

"Of course, no one would expect a farmer to start a steel mill or auto plant. But there are many areas of industry where small capitalists are important: retailing, construction, personal services and the professions, to name a few.

"It seems likely, however, that in the overall distribution of enterprises by size, there is a disproportionate number of small enterprises in agriculture. This may present a real obstacle to the transfer of small worker-capitalists from agricultural to industrial employment."

Pig Disease Has Small Beginning Early Efforts Stop Atrophic Rhinitis

Golfers sometimes kiddingly remark after a bad drive, "It's not how you begin but how you end!"

But researchers at the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine aren't kidding when they describe atrophic rhinitis in pigs as a disease that "begins little and ends big."

These research men point out that atrophic rhinitis is usually noticed when the pigs are two to four months old. During the first year of infection, only a few pigs may be affected. But unless steps are taken to control the disease, it may spread to virtually every pig in the lot by the third or fourth year.

The first year atrophic rhinitis is found it may be controlled by eliminating all affected pigs, plus their littermates and dams. If it is found the second or third year, only breeding sows and gilts that have shown no signs of rhinitis and whose litters have shown no evidence of the disease should be saved. Separate the ones you save from the infected stock.

When most of the herd is affected, it may be most economical to market the entire herd at the first chance and purchase replacements from a disease-free herd. Thoroughly clean and disinfect all houses and equipment before buying clean stock.

The first sign of the disease is violent sneezing, followed by a nasal discharge. Nose bleeding may also occur. Affected animals are stunted and may die of pneumonia.

Strawberry Virus May Be Controlled

A new technique using gibberellic acid, the miracle plant-growth booster, may free strawberry plants of yield-reducing viruses, according to research at the Oregon State college agricultural experiment station.

Ralph Garren, OSC horticulturist, reports that some new plants produced on runners of strawberry plants treated with gibberellic acid have checked out free of virus. He says the new technique may make it possible to produce virus-free plants of strawberry varieties, such as the Northwest variety, which haven't been eligible for certification in Oregon due to virus infections in all known stocks.

In his experiment, Garren used strawberry plants stunted by several viruses that cause reduced yields in the state. Gibberellic acid was injected into the crowns of the plants, stimulating runners to grow rapidly and develop new plants much sooner than usual.

Theory behind the experiment was that gibberellic acid might speed growth to the point where new plants could be produced and separated from the mother plant before viruses could move into the new plants.

To date, it looks like the idea works.

Barbara Lucile Dowell

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dowell of Battle Creek announce the engagement of their daughter Barbara Lucile, to John Wesley Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ellis of Cass City.

Miss Dowell graduated from Battle Creek Central High School and is now a junior at Central Michigan College at Mt. Pleasant. She is majoring in social science in the elementary education curriculum. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

John Ellis graduated from Cass City High School. After four years in the Navy, he entered CMC where he is a sophomore majoring in biology. He is affiliated with Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

The couple plans a late summer wedding.

Outline Keys to Corn Production

What's Needed for 100-Bushel Yield

Here's what it takes to produce 100 bushels of corn per acre, according to Ohio State University extension agronomists:

1—About 420,000 gallons of water, or 16 inches per acre.

2—160 pounds of nitrogen, 80 pounds of phosphate and 120 pounds of potash.

3—About 16,000 corn plants per acre.

4—A well-drained, well-structured fertile soil that lets in air and water and gives growing plants sufficient "root room."

5—Plenty of sunshine, well-spaced rains and favorable temperature.

6—Good management practices that build and maintain the soil's organic matter reserves. These should include well-fertilized meadows, green manure or cover crop in the rotation or the return of large amounts of crop residues.

"To supply a corn crop with 16 inches of water in Ohio, a soil must be able to hold at least 4 inches of available water at the start of the growing season," says Samuel W. Bone, of the Ohio agronomy staff. The soil must also be able to retain 75 per cent of the rain that falls during the average growing season.

"You can increase the soil's fertility level much easier than the moisture level."

Our present crop output can feed as many as 500 million people or it can fail to provide adequately for our present population of 170 million, reports National Live Stock Producer.

These two widely different figures—not enough for 170 million, more than enough for 500 million people—illustrate the elasticity of the nation's food supply.

If Americans were fed on an Oriental diet of cereals and plants, present crop output would feed three times our present population. But the American diet consists mainly of meat and high protein foods and to produce them we feed about 85% of all harvested and forage crops to live stock.

Meat animals convert about seven pounds of dry matter feeds into one pound of highly nutritious meat products. This 7 to 1 conversion ratio is the key—and the answer to our present farm problem—asserts the magazine.

Here's why. The enormous tonnages of surplus crops which the nation won't consume as cereals can be converted into smaller quantities of live stock products which can be easily consumed by our 170 million meat hungry Americans.

Secures Load

Rope and slip stick may be used as substitute for boom pole and knotted rope to secure load of hay on a wagon. Rope is tied to front of rack, passed over hay and tied to rear of rack. Slip stick is used to tighten rope and secure the load.

Donna Morell

Mr. and Mrs. Cleus Morell of Cass City announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna, of Pontiac to William Lundby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lundby of New Hudson, Mich. A fall wedding is planned.

Couple Living In Alaska Following Recent Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Williams are living in Fairbanks, Alaska, following their marriage at Fairbanks, Saturday, Nov. 16.

The bride is the former Miss Marian Sefton, daughter of Mrs. Lee Sefton of Deford and the late Mr. Sefton. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Williams of Detroit are the groom's parents.

Chaplain Sandrock officiated at the quiet wedding ceremony. Jewell and Margaret Jolley were the couple's attendants.

Slate Adult Farmer Classes in Owendale

The Owendale Adult Farmer class meetings will begin Monday, Jan. 13, Jack Kreiner, agricultural teacher, announced this week.

The first meeting will decide the subjects that will be studied during the next nine meetings. All farmers interested are urged to attend the first meeting to tell authorities what their interests are, Mr. Kreiner said.

Annual Church Meeting Slated

Rev. Melvin R. Vender will preach his final sermon as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Cass City, Sunday. His topic will be "A Commendable Benediction." There will be special music, arranged by Roger Parrish, director of the choir.

The congregation will assemble in the church dining room at 11:45 a.m. for a potluck dinner. This will be followed by the 80th annual congregational meeting. Rev. Vender will preside as moderator. Annual reports are being printed for parishioners.

There will be an election of officers. Several officers of the church will be changed under the two-year rotation plan of the church. Included are: James A. Milligan and Leonard McLean, elders, and Robert Schuckert, deacon. Completing first terms are: Clinton Law, trustee; Orion Carver, elder, and Robert Hunter, deacon.

A report will be given by the pastoral-pulpit committee: Chairman Donald MacLachlan, Robert Schuckert, Robert Richards, Mrs. E. G. Golding Sr. and Mrs. C.M. Wallace.

One trouble with the wheel of fortune is that it has turned many a man's head.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses issued in Tuscola County this week were:

Howard Carl Maurer, 26, of Vassar and Mildred Irma Rogner, 19, of Reese. Hazen Lee Gibbs, 41, of Millington and Wilma Gurnieco Stevens, 26, of Millington. Fred Beckton, 54, of Vassar and Helena M. Hochthamer, 66, of Vassar. Gerald Charles Hile, 23, of Caro and Enid Annette Deering, 17, of Caro.

Engaged

Arlene Ann Wasielewski

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wasielewski of Vassar announce the engagement of their daughter, Arlene Ann, to Leroy Hoag, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoag of Snover.

Wedding plans are indefinite. It even pays to cry over spilled milk—if crying prevents the spilling of more.

Put A Wide-Awake Want Ad To Work For You

SHORT STORY

She Talked Too Much

By K. Brummond

"I DON'T see why father doesn't get well," said Bess to her husband.

Bill had had the answer to that one since fifteen minutes after he and Bess had arrived from Valparaiso to help take care of the old man. But naturally he couldn't tell his wife that the trouble was her mother.

It wasn't that his mother-in-law was a bad sort; but there was just too much of her. She was six feet tall and weighed over two hundred pounds with arms like ham hocks.

Along with all that, she talked too much. Too much and too loud and too long. So how could any sick man get well there? And Father Brunson simply refused to go to a hospital where he might have a little peace and quiet.

"Do you need a prescription for these?" Bill asked.

Then quite accidentally, Bill found himself in a position to do something about it.

He was going down to the drug store for more medicine when Mother Brunson interrupted herself in the midst of a running account of her cousin's wedding to say, "Oh, Bill, get me a box of aspirin, will you dear? I've got a splitting headache. Guess this nursing is getting me down and I—"

"Sure, sure," Bill said and fled down the steps. He had long ago learned that if you stopped her near the end of Mother Brunson's sentences you'd never get gone.

He had to wait in the drug store while the clerk attended to another customer, a woman, and Bill heard her say, "I want a box of those tranquilizing pills—the 4-E's brand."

"Do you need a prescription for those?" Bill asked quickly.

"Not in this state, you don't," the clerk returned.

"Then I'll take some too, a box of those and a box of aspirin," Bill said.

The pills were slightly smaller than aspirin but by adding a little wadding they didn't rattle around too much in the box; and by the time Bill got home with them Mother Brunson was too miserable to notice the difference anyway.

"Better take two," Bill advised solicitously, "here's a big drink of water to down them with."

Bill went early to bed and slept just as soundly all night as though he had not perpetrated a felony. Bess and her mother were at the breakfast table when he went down, both looking wan and sleepy.

"Father had a terrible night," Bess said. "I didn't awaken you because you were sleeping so well. He kept calling for Mother and I had to drag her out of bed a dozen times."

Even as she spoke Father Brunson's voice came from the bedroom. "Where's Ma?" he asked quaveringly.

It was soon apparent that Father Brunson was really in a bad way. He sunk into a state of apathy almost like a coma and when the doctor came he shook his head. "I'll stop by again after dinner," he said, "and if he's no better we'll have to take him to the hospital."

Bill was elected to do up the work and look after the patient while Bess and her mother got some sleep.

Along in the middle of the afternoon Mother Brunson came downstairs. "I'll spell you now, Bill," she said. "First I'll go take another aspirin."

Suddenly there came a deep cry of rage from the kitchen. "Where did you get this stuff?" Mother Brunson cried. "It isn't aspirin at all!"

Bill sprang to the door. "What's that? What do you mean—it isn't aspirin? Maybe it's a new improved kind."

"It certainly is not! Look here! 4-E's it says, and it doesn't taste a bit like aspirin." With all her old vim and vigor Mother Brunson launched into a tirade and kept it up until Bill fled back to the bed room.

Father Brunson was wide awake. Not only awake but sitting up and smiling.

Some men's idea of harmony is to have things their own way.

Letter to Editor

Dear Sir:

I am quite sure there have been a lot of Cass City folks who have been driving east of town for the past few years the same as I and have looked at the big tree which fell across the Cass River, partly blocking the river and certainly not improving the scenery. Nothing was being done about it. But there was one of our good citizens who did do something. The tree was removed. So the next time you go east of town, slow down and take a look at the wonderful improvement and thank Dr. Donahue.

Sincerely,
Mason Wilson

Navy Recruiter at Local Post Office

Chief Machinist Mate John C. Jones, U. S. Navy Recruiter from Bad Axe, announced this week that he will be at the Post Office in Cass City every Friday morning from 9:30 till 11:00 o'clock.

Jones said the purpose of stopping at the local Post Office and others throughout the county is to make it possible for young men and their families to obtain information about the U. S. Navy and its various enlistment programs without having to travel to the branch station in Bad Axe or other stations farther away. For those who find it impossible to contact him at the Post Office on Fridays, Jones said if they will take one of his cards left at the Post Office and mail it to him, showing the time and place where they wish to be contacted, he will contact them as requested. These cards do not need to be stamped.

During the month of January all men enlisting in the Navy from this area can choose to take their training at either Great Lakes or San Diego, Calif. The period of recruit training is about nine weeks. After recruit training, each recruit is granted 14 days leave before his next assignment.

Home Damaged As Stove Explodes

The Adam Deering home in Gagetown was damaged extensively Friday morning when the furnace exploded. Mr. Deering was along-side the furnace when it exploded. Had he been in front or behind it he would have most likely been seriously injured.

The whole house was blackened by soot. A son, Roger Deering, was knocked from his bed on an upper floor. Estimated damage was about $1,500.

The man who lacks confidence has two strikes against him.

The man who pals around with vice is bound to become its slave.

Find fault with your neighbor and expose one of your own.

The only driving force found in some men is the force of habit.

Slates Assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses of the Caro congregation are preparing to attend their semiannual area assembly at Pontiac, Jan. 24-26, it was announced today. More than 1,500 will attend from 19 congregations in southeast Michigan including Mt. Clemens, Port Huron, Royal Oak, Bad Axe and Berkley.

Mr. David Szekely, local presiding minister, in discussing this announcement, pointed to the need of spiritual understanding in a world turning to materialism and filled with fear, dread and insecurity.

Mr. Szekely will appear on the program Friday evening speaking on the theme, "Keep Watering God's Sheep."

Rev. Robinson Lists Ten Sermon Topics

Rev. Ernest E. Robinson, pastor of the Cass City Methodist Church, this week announces that a series of sermons built around the 10 Commandments are scheduled at the church. The first is "Top Priority" and is slated Sunday.

Others are: Jan. 19, "The Need of Narrowness;" Jan. 26, "A New Kind of Profanity;" Feb. 2, "Are We Men or Angels?" Feb. 9, "What to Do with What You Inherit;" Feb. 16, "A Reverence for Life;" Feb. 23, "Making Marriage Work;" Mar. 2, "The Inside Story of Stealing;" Mar. 9, "The Pleasantest Form of Sin;" and Mar. 16, "A Difficult Skeleton to Clothe."

You'll find that it is a lot easier to be critical than it is to meet the critical.

Choice Beef Grades High And Calf Handling Is Important

Several cattlemen on the Western border of Nevada have one of the most unique arrangements in existence for marketing their produce.

Louis Isola, owner of the Peoples Packing Co., Yerington, Nevada, says "the bulk of our kill is choice beef and one of the biggest factors in getting the cattle to grade this high is how they were handled as calves. Too many cattlemen are forgetting this and it is costing them money." These statements are backed by a good many years of experience.

One of the Hereford breeders who works closely with Louis Isola is Fred Dressler, Gardnerville, Nevada. Dressler runs about 1,600 Hereford cows.

His commercial herd consisted primarily of another breed until Fred Dressler stands beside one of his Hereford carcasses. Dressler's 1,600 pound steers have been dressing from 58 to 62 per cent.

1910 when he started using Hereford bulls. A purebred Hereford herd was started in 1919 and today is noted for its production of top quality serviceable range bulls.

In keeping with Isola's comments concerning care during calving, Dressler says, "we get our best results when we take a calf straight from his mother to the feedlot. We feel that it pays off in more uniform development and higher grading carcasses. You must keep a calf coming on its mother's milk and pasture, never letting it be without feed, then when it goes into the feedlots you won't have the set-back you will expect if you wean a calf over a period of time and then put him in the feedlot."

Mr. and Mrs. Royce Russell and family were New Year's dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Golding of Cass City.

Mrs. Fred Dorsch, who submitted to surgery in Pleasant Home Hospital, returned home last week. Mrs. Shope of Sebewaing is staying at the Dorsch home.

Spectograph Measures Elements in Soil

Researchers at the University of Illinois are using a spectograph to measure amounts of the minor elements in the soil.

Tests have been made on corn and soybean plants from all over the state in the past two years, according to Jim Muntz, Illinois agronomist. Tests so far, along with other research, have shown that most areas of the state have adequate amounts of the minor elements.

This light-splitting instrument is not used in regular soil testing. It's greatest value is for determining a large number of elements in a sample. The Illinois scientists are now able to identify as many as 11 elements in a sample of plant or soil material at one time.

Of these 11 elements, nine are considered essential for plant growth. They are calcium, magnesium, phosphorus and potassium, classed as major elements; and boron, manganese, iron, copper and zinc, classed as trace elements. The non-essential elements also identified are silicon and sodium.

Muntz reports that about 1,500 samples were tested with the spectograph last year. Most of them were from common field crops.

Wire Hauler
Unrolling barbed wire is safe and convenient this way. Grain scoop is used to carry the spool. Broom handle slipped through the spool forms an axle. Roll of wire is held onto scoop by strands of wire wrapped around ends of the broomstick and the scoop handle.

A few more weeks and more New Year's resolutions will be carried out—and quietly buried. Experience helps a man recognize his mistakes after he makes the same one several times. A dollar in the hand is worth the 100 you expect to borrow.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association Michigan needs $50,000,000 to avoid a red ink budget for next year.

The legislature is back to wrestle with the problem and has before it a number of suggestions from Gov. Williams.

The whole picture is complicated by the eagerness of both parties to please in an election year.

Williams, who has asked state agencies to spend less to save against the anticipated austerity of next year, chopped dozens of choice items out of his budget.

Projects that could wait for a year were held back and others were shelved indefinitely.

Williams then proposed a long-range bond issue for construction.
Higher taxes on intangibles—stocks, bonds and other securities—is another plank in the platform to make ends meet, or come close, before voters go to the polls next fall.

Republicans charge that Williams' wrong guess on anticipated revenue for next year and this year created part of the money crisis.

To tighten the screws on the whole situation, Republicans are pledged to no new taxes until they complete two investigations of the state's financial structure next year.

GOP legislators—Reps. George W. Sallade, of Ann Arbor, and Willard I. Bowerman, of Lansing, had the bond issue idea first.
Williams' is a variation of both.

Sallade came out for the bond issue to build university projects on a full faith and credit basis.
Bowerman would allow students to sign notes, payable after they graduate.

Experts in Lansing predict that the 1958 session of the legislature will be "torrid".

Public safety in an age of atomic energy for both war and peace has developed as a major target for state government.

Labor organizations were the first to protest two years ago when the Entico Fermi Corp., organized by a syndicate of power utilities, planned to build a nuclear reactor at Monroe.

The Atomic Energy Commission in Washington said it would be safe for workers and the community.

Repeated complaints from the unions, however, prompted Gov.
Williams to create a special investigating commission to develop a master plan for atomic safety.

It has come up with a plan for an atomic energy "czar," a director of Atomic Activities who will use the combined talents of six state agencies to formulate plans and to enforce them.

A safety advisory board will develop safety standards. Another on science will seek to find new ways to use atomic energy in the state's economy.

For instance, the department of agriculture will be assigned to determine the uses of atomic energy on the farm.

It will be the state's first attempt to get into the atomic energy field.

Processors, producers, trans-porters and others who come into contact with atomic energy in the state would be required to get a license from the state in addition to the Federal government.

More money for local health departments will be sought from the legislature before spring.

It will be one of the top-priority projects of the state health department which, this year, has an organized pressure group at its elbow.

More than 100 of its leaders met in Lansing late in 1957 to establish the priority list and pledge their support to the health department budget for 1958-59.

Farm laws to be proposed by the governor this year will be highlighted by his Seal of Quality proposal—defeated every year since he took office in the legislature.

The theory is to establish standards of all Michigan farm products and to identify those which meet them with a seal for advertising purposes through the nationwide market.

More support for the "Seal" idea than in the past is evident.
Since many farm organizations have endorsed it for the first time, it has a better chance of becoming law.

There will be a milk-marketing bill in the 1958 legislature, proposing the creation of a special state system for fixing milk prices.

However, the major farm groups are opposed to any state regulation—and it is expected to die.

The chilling weather in the sunny south of a few weeks ago has left its mark on fresh produce. Oranges, tangerines, temples and grapefruit as well as cucumbers, peppers, tomatoes and other vegetables were dealt a severe blow by sub-freezing temperatures. However, supplies of citrus in storage plus oranges and grapefruit from California, Arizona and Texas will mean ample fruit, but prices will certainly be higher.

The quality-conscious Florida Citrus Commission has placed an embargo on citrus shipped from the state in an effort to prevent further frozen fruit from reaching consumers. Not till minimum quality standards are met will shipments of "Florida sunshine" head northward again.

The Michigan apple picture is still a rosy one, lots to eat, beautiful quality, reasonable prices.
Bananas continue plentiful and many are priced from 2 pounds for 25c to 2 pounds for 29c.

1959 Food Budget
How will your food budget fare in 1959? Will there be as much to eat as there was in 1957? And what about cost? Those in the food industry with crystal balls foresee slightly higher food prices at least until mid-1958. Their predictions are based on these facts:

- (1) strong demand for food—the population is still growing and we're accustomed to eating well; (2) slightly decreased food supplies, and (3) higher marketing costs.

On the average, homemakers will provide their families with as nutritious diets in 1958 as they did in 1957. The more clever may manage to improve teenagers' eating habits—they're shamefully poor as indicated by various studies recently completed.

One of the big items in the market regularly is meat. Supplies are expected to be slightly smaller in 1958 than in 1957; retail prices a bit higher. In the second half of the year, pork supplies should increase bringing a price decline. There'll be more pork to eat next spring than last, too, as the fall pig crop was 3 per cent greater than the year before.

The total number of beef cattle is expected to be less than in 1957
—But total pounds of beef to eat may not be greatly different than 1957. Why? There's an abundance of feed grains (priced lower than in '57) and a strong demand for beef is expected to encourage farmers to feed cattle to heavier weights. Retail prices will probably average a little higher than in 1957 with the usual seasonal ups and downs of prices.

We ate a record volume of poultry meats in 1957, and there's every indication that there will be 6 per cent more broilers to enjoy in '58. Prices will probably vary about the same as this year.

Turkey production will no doubt be lower and prices higher than the 15-year-low ones we've enjoyed.

From now through March, egg supplies may be only slightly smaller than they were last year.
But through spring into summer, egg supplies will be about 5 per cent smaller than they were in the spring of '57.

Homemakers to Meet at MSU

This year again homemakers from all over Michigan have a chance to meet Michigan State University home economists during Farmer's Week held on campus January 27 to 31.

All Michigan women are invited to the "get acquainted" luncheon on Wednesday, Jan. 29, in the Kellogg Center Big Ten Room,
according to Mrs. Frances T.
Clark, county home demonstration agent. Mrs. Clark says the luncheon program will feature Mrs.
Evelyn Duvall, of the American Institute of Family Relations, speaking on "Living With Our Differences".

Prior to the luncheon women may want to visit the home economics research exhibit in the stadium concourse or the departmental exhibits on the ground floor in the home economics building.

You can make your reservation by sending your name, address and check or money order to the office of the dean of the Home Economics at MSU, East Lansing.
Tickets for the luncheon are $1.75 per person.

Tickets can be picked up at the Kellogg Center Conference desk between 9 a.m. and 12 noon, Jan.
29. (Checks or money orders should be made payable to Michigan State University.)

For more details on the women's part of the program during Farmer's Week, consult Mrs.
Clark in her office in the Court House, Caro.

Soil Building Is Worthy Effort

Have Your Cake And Eat It Too

A sound system of soil manage-ment can help a farmer "have his cake and eat it too" reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. Soil building investments often pay back the very first year in higher crop yields, the committee says. And after that the farmer can have carry-over profits in fu-ture years from bigger yields on more fertile soil. Wisconsin tests bear this out, says the committee. A 60-bushel increase in grain yields, the first year more than paid for all the fertilizer applied. Then in two years following, increases of 2 tons per acre in hay yields boosted profits further. The committee suggests these steps for keeping farm soil in top shape physically and chemically for higher crop yields: 1—Supply the soil with a well-balanced ratio of nitrogen, phosphate and potash fertilizer to feed growing crops; 2—Build up soil tilth and structure by plowing under legumes and re-turning manure and crop residues to the soil; 3—stay off the land when it is wet; 4—Don't work the soil too much. Once-over tillage often produces the best crops.

It's an old saying that you can't "have your cake and eat it too", but soil experts say that the farmer can come mighty close to such an achievement through a soil-building investment plan which guarantees top first year yields and serves as a foundation for carry-over profits in future years.

Defoliant Will Be Used More Widely

Research that is defining proper application rates for the promising cottonplant defoliant and regrowth inhibitor, amino triazole, should lead to better and more extensive grower use of this organic chemi-cal this year, U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists believe. Cooperative studies between US-DA's Agricultural Research Ser-vice and the State Experiment Sta-tions serving the Mid-South Cotton Belt show that: 1. When used alone as a defoliant (to remove the leaves for easier boll picking and less trashy har-vests), 3 pounds or more of amino triazole per acre is needed to get effective cotton leaf drop. 2. When used alone as a regrowth inhibitor (to prevent new plant growth after defoliation and before harvest is completed), at least 1 pound per acre of the active chemi-cal is needed. 3. When used in combination with other defoliants, such as sodium chlorate-sodium metaborate or magnesium chlorate, addition of amino triazole at the rate of 0.75 pound per acre allows the grower to reduce by half the dosage of the other defoliant normally re-quired when used alone. In carefully measured studies in the Mississippi Delta during 1955, cooperating scientists found that amino triazole, used alone as a defoliant at a 1-pound-per-acre rate, caused only about 70 percent defoliation. When the dosage was tripled to 3 pounds per acre—about 80 percent defoliation re-sulted.

Hog Trough

Here is an economical, easy to empty and clean trough that will not burst if liquids freeze in it. Made from half an oil drum, it is pivoted at corners between stakes firmly driven in to the ground. This makes it easy to overturn for emptying.

If things don't come your way check and see if you are on the right road. As a rule the path that leads to success is pretty well strewn with thorns. Ideas usually replace ideals as the average man grows older.

News from Kingston

Rey. H. C. Rickner of Port Huron was a caller in town Fri-day. Mr. and Mrs. Will D'Arcy of Cass City attended the wedding of Charlene D'Arcy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D'Arcy of Big Rapids, to Lehman Eaton of Williamston, Saturday, Jan. 4, at Congregational Church, Almont. Rev. Dean Starr of Mandan, coun-sin of the bride, officiated. Mrs. Will D'Arcy gave appropriate readings at the reception, which followed the ceremony.

Gifted Girls Make Very Good Scientists

If America is interested in pro-ducing more scientists, the coun-try should take a closer look at its gifted girl students, declared an education specialist at Michi-gan State University. Girls have shown the same ability as boys to do high level work of a scientific nature, ac-cording to Dr. Elizabeth Monroe Drews, who made a four-year study of gifted children in Lan-sing.

In a sampling of 150 top stu-dents, tested in mathematics, language skills, reading, critical thinking and other subject areas, the girls did as well as the boys. In these pre-Sputnik era tests, three-fourths of the gifted boys said they planned careers as scientists or engineers. All indi-cated they planned to graduate from college and two-thirds of them expected to do graduate work, Dr. Drews pointed out. With the girls, however, it was a different story, she commented. Although they matched the gifted boys in scientific ability, the gifted girls chose occupations which were about the same as those of the average girl. "Often girls do not take the courses to prepare them for scientific careers and there seems to be very little encouragement in our society for them to go on to work in that area," the MSU re-searcher remarked. She foresees little change in the future. Demands to get married and conforming to society were sug-gested as two reasons why girls do not continue work in the scientific or advanced intellectual level.

Appoint Committees At Altar Society

The Altar Society of St. Pan-cratius Church held its first meet-ing of the year Monday in the church club rooms. Work committees for the en-tire year were assigned. Named chairmen were: June Ayres, Mar-garet Demo, Jean Quinn, Maxine Maharg, Ellen McCormick and Marilyn Clasenman. It was decided to have one group provide entertainment at future meetings.
