Greenleaf Township Resident Dies

Mrs. Beryl Vincent died Friday, Jan. 10, at Pleasant Home Hospital, where she had been a patient the last 10 days.

Mrs. Vincent was born in Tuscola County, Jan. 19, 1905, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrison. She was married to George Vincent Nov. 11, 1928, in Saginaw, where they lived following their marriage, later moving to Reese. They moved to Greenleaf Township nine years ago.

Surviving are her husband; three daughters, Mrs. James Walker of Kingston, Mrs. Allen Spencer of Deford and Mrs. Edward Newsome of Saginaw; two sons, Ronald of Marlette and Eugene, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Albert Dominick of Clio and Mrs. Frank Knowles of Lansing; two brothers, Charles Harrison of Metamora and Martin Harrison of Lansing, and 18 grandchildren. One son preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held at two o'clock Sunday at Little's Funeral Home, Rev. Howard Woodard officiating. Burial was in Novesta Cemetery.

Our regular service customers know that our shop is equipped with the best modern instruments a garage can buy, stuff that would make Buck Rogers green with envy. But with all those dials and lights and gadgets, there is still no substitute for the real greasy-thumb mechanic who loves cars, respects them and handles a wrench like a magic wand.

I like to tweak a friend of mine, another car dealer, with the story of one of his mechanics who was assigned to find exactly where a rear-end rattle was. After probing around a bit, he decided the only way to track it down was to climb in the trunk while another mechanic drove the car around the block.

So he unlocked the trunk lid, stuck the key in his coveralls and pulled the trunk closed on himself. He found the rattle right away. And the extra half hour he spent in the trunk while a new key was being made wasn't nearly as embarrassing as the ribbing he took when he finally was released.

I don't think any of our mechanics have done time in a luggage compartment, but they have the determination and singleness-of-purpose that led our locked-in hero into distress. And that's a good thing, even if it does lead to occasional red faces.

That determination serves you in two ways. It assures you of a clean, mechanically spic-and-span car when you pick up a used model from our lot. Every car on the lot has been rejuvenated right on the spot by our mechanics.

And then, when the car is yours, those same mechanics who probably know the inside of your car better than you do will get the job of servicing it and keeping it trouble-free all the time you have it.

I don't know of a better way to buy a used car.

We have the best, and most complete stock of "OK Used Cars" in the Thumb, and, I think, and hope, the most satisfied customers too.

Saturday we sold a local man his 6th Used Car. He always comes back, and we do our utmost to give him value. We are especially proud when our old customers come back. We bend over backwards to give the customer the benefit of any doubt, and satisfy 95 per cent.

We would like to satisfy you too? Come in and let us show you what we have, and what we can do?

On their return trip they came up the east coast and visited Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mellendorf and two sons at Norfolk, Va. for a couple days.

Bizarre Deer Story Told This Season

Unusual hunting stories keep popping up in Michigan and the latest comes from the Roscommon area.

Conservation officer Edward Beechem of Houghton Lake related the following tale in his regular report on deer season activity:

"A hunter, alone in a pickup truck, went hunting on the first day of the season. About daybreak, he saw two buck deer standing watching him. He shot one of the bucks, but was so elated he failed to seal the deer or dress it out. The hunter loaded the buck into the rear of the pickup and started for home. After driving a short distance, he heard a noise and looked around in time to see the deer jump over the tailgate of the truck. The surprised hunter stopped his vehicle and followed the deer.

"After trailing the animal for a short distance, he found another hunter had killed the deer and was in the process of dressing it out."

The moral, according to Beechem, is: "Never consider a deer dead until you have his heart in your hands."

Olds Medium Price '58 Sales Leader

Oldsmobile has moved ahead of all competitors in the medium priced class in the sale of new cars since the 1958 models were introduced, according to Oldsmobile's general manager and vice-president of General Motors, J. F. Wolfram.

"I believe this indicates," Wolfram said, "that Oldsmobile will make an even stronger impact on the medium price class market in 1958."

H. M. Bulen, Cass City dealer, confirmed the fact that he has been informed by Mr. Wolfram that Oldsmobile is now the leader in the medium price class since the 1958 cars were unveiled.

"In the months of November and December, Oldsmobile retail sales increased by 10 per cent over the same period of 1957."

Award Contracts for Stockpile Gravel

The Comstock Construction Co. of Battle Creek was awarded a contract for 4,500 tons of gravel to be placed in stockpile for Tuscola County at a recent letting held in Lansing, the Michigan Highway Department announced this week.

Best price for the work was $6,550.

The Vern Molesworth Co. of Yale was awarded a contract for 6,500 tons of stockpile gravel in Sanilac County at a bid price of $10,185 at the same letting.

Profit - Witbeck Vows Exchanged

Miss Bonnie Lee Witbeck became the bride of Edward Allen Profit Monday evening in the chapel of the People's Church in East Lansing. Rev. Joseph Porter performed the ceremony at eight o'clock. Only the immediate families attended.

Bonnie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Witbeck of Caro. Mr. and Mrs. William Profit of Cass City are the groom's parents.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She carried white carnations on a white Bible.

Miss Carol Adams of Fowlerville was maid of honor.

Best man was Donald Sly of Wayne.

The couple attends Michigan State University. They live at 4366 South Hagadorn, East Lansing.

Paul D. Mathews Serves in Hawaii

Army PFC Paul D. Mathews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tomes B. Mathews, Route 3, Cass City, is assigned to the 25th Infantry Division in Hawaii.

Mathews, a rifleman in the division's 85th Infantry, arrived in Hawaii in October 1956. He entered the Army in January 1956 and completed basic training at Fort Ord, Calif.

The 19-year-old soldier attended Washington High School in Detroit.

Franzel Named Soldier of Month

No marriage licenses were issued.

Russia seems to have put peace on a war basis.

Gagetown Youth Awarded Junior AGCC Membership

Robert G. Ashmore, Gagetown, has been accepted for junior membership in the American Guernsey Cattle Club. By qualifying as a junior member of the AGCC, Robert will receive a membership certificate and have the privilege of registering his Guernsey at the low member rate. This junior membership will be in effect until the new member reaches 21 years of age.

Nearly 900 young people from all over the United States have been accepted for junior membership in the American Guernsey Cattle Club since this program started in June.

Requirements for junior membership in the AGCC are simple. Young people must be individual owners of one or more purebred Guernseys, and at least one of the animals must be registered or become registered at the time the youngster's application for membership is processed. Applications for membership must be endorsed by a state 4-H club leader, county agricultural agent, vocational agricultural instructor, or an adult member of the AGCC.

Parmer Shows Film To Rotary Club

Noah Parmer of Deford was the guest speaker at the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel. He showed a film produced by the paint company he works for that traced the history of glass and paint manufacturing.

The film showed the beginnings of glass making to the present day when raw materials are placed in a hopper and the finished product emerges.

The film also explained different qualities of paint and their manufacture.

In the business meeting, R. M. Hunter announced committees to work on the club's annual pancake supper. M. B. Auten made a progress report on the Cass City Hospital drive.

Sanilac County Unit Offers Cancer Films For Free Viewing

The Sanilac County unit of the American Cancer Society has available new films showing cancer control. Mrs. C. A. Nilson, publicity chairman, announced this week.

Persons desiring to use the films are asked to contact Oscar Isseler, Applegate, for a date. They are designed to show to groups, including school, church and clubs.

Holstein Breeders To Meet Jan. 20

The Tuscola County Holstein breeders' association is holding its annual meeting Monday, January 20, reports association president Clare J. Carpenter of Cass City.

Prior to the business meeting a ham dinner will be served by the 4-H mothers' club at 12 noon in the Wilber Memorial Building, Caro.

Russ Miller, national fieldman for the Holstein-Friesian association, will be present. Also attending the meeting and speaking on herd improvement and IBM programs will be Dr. Clinton Meadows, a new member of the Michigan State University dairy department staff.

The election of directors and plans for the annual Black and White Show will be some of the business meeting highlights.

All persons owning Holsteins are invited to attend as the meeting is not limited to dairymen with registered herds.

Tickets for the ham dinner can be obtained from Clare Carpenter and Clinton Law, Cass City; Charles Seddon, Jr., of Kingston; George Foster, Jr., of Fostoria, and Allen Rohls, Fairgrove.

Mr. Carpenter asks all Holstein breeders to take part in this annual meeting and help promote Tuscola County's dairy industry.

DEFORD

A surprise farewell party was given in honor of the Burton Allen family in their home Friday evening by friends from the Deford Methodist Church. The evening was spent in visiting and potluck refreshments were served. The group presented the Allens with a gift and a sum of money.

SHORT STORY

Dedicated Aviator
By Allen Wishert

THE tiny Hummingbird is a bundle of T. N. T. Jet propelled rocket-ship and H-bomb are combined within its small frame. It can rout any bird twenty times its size with a rapier-like bill and jet diving speed.

Bill Chandler watched from the window as the little fellow artfully executed maneuvers with the speed of light, darting from flower to flower. Bill wished he was so equipped, making it possible for him to dart, not from flower to flower, but from girl to girl. However, he loved Janice too well to really consider any such movement. He hadn't twenty, only one to fight.

As for pretty Janice Lawton, she had been so petted and spoiled that she expected everybody, Bill included, to Rock and Roll whenever she mentioned a number. But Bill, who had loved Janice ever since they were big enough to make mud-pie together, was too proud and a little too stubborn to let her run his life.

Bill knew her main reason, although engaged, she had been seen with that well-to-do city fellow.

3-Minute Fiction

The landing gear froze as he hit the runway.

George Wallace, who had taken abode in the village awhile ago. The night of their break-up, the conversation went something like this:

"Janice, why are you so suddenly objecting to my work?"

"It is dangerous, for one thing. Beside I want to look forward to more than just being an aviator's wife."

"When we became engaged you knew I was an aviator. What brought on the sudden change?"

"I - I suppose," Janice faltered - "because lately I've been meeting successful people, like George Wallace. I've stepped into another world, and I must keep stepping."

Bill took the cue. He stepped out of the picture.

Nevertheless, as the days passed, Janice hoped that Bill would make some sort of an overture for a reconciliation, but he remained as silent as a church mouse.

Three weeks from that fateful night, Bill was flying into port, the landing gear froze as he hit the runway, the plane swerved and fell on its side. It didn't crack-up, nor was there any fire, but when they hauled Bill from the cabin his left leg was broken.

An hour later, upon receiving news of the accident, Janice rushed to her mother.

"Mother," she sobbed. "I've just got to go to Bill."

"Very well, dear," replied her mother. "But take into consideration; Mr. Wallace may not approve."

"Then he can disapprove," said Janice briskly. "No man is going to run my life."

When she arrived at the hospital, a nurse indicated the white bed on which Bill was half asleep, his leg hoisted and held in position by weights.

She weaved her way around other white beds and stood over him.

"Ha!" he exclaimed, breathing laboriously. "Strange what a fellow see's when delirious."

Janice sobbingly, leaned over and kissed his lips.

"Gee-ma-nettle," he muttered, a smile was in the making. "That seemed real."

"Darling," quavered Janice. "It was real, really real."

"Then unreal another one." The smile had reached it's peak. Janice obeyed, joyfully.

"Oh, Bill, I didn't think I wanted to marry a flyer, but a little bird kept telling me I couldn't love anybody but you."

"That same little bird has been humming and jet-diving around my ears and heart, too. Listen, honey, shut off the water works and kiss me again."

Again Janice submitted to authority.

"Soon as they unwrap this left hind leg of mine we'll be married. Will I still be flying?"

"Always," blurted Janice. "I've wanted to be the wife of an aviator."

Lutheran Ladies Aid Elects Officers

Mrs. John Haire was named president when members of the Lutheran Ladies Aid elected officers at their regular meeting Friday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Haire replaces Mrs. Olin Bouck. Other officers re-elected were: Mrs. Alvin Avery, vice-president; Mrs. Emerson Kennedy, secretary, and Mrs. Louis Sattelberg, treasurer.

Prior to the Ladies Aid meeting, the Lutheran Women's Missionary League held a brief meeting. Members brought mite boxes for the quarter. Mrs. Glenn Urey is the leader of this group.

In the Ladies Aid business meeting, members voted to have a food shower for a needy family in the area. Projects for January included serving a wedding dinner and a banquet, members reported.

Mrs. Sattelberg was hostess at the luncheon that was served prior to the meetings.

One Way
Edison helps
Tuscola County
grow

Schools receive an important part of the $99,619 tax payments made by Edison in Tuscola County in 1957

For the year 1957 Detroit Edison's total tax payments will be about $98,201,000 to local, state and federal governments. Over half of this sum will stay right here in Michigan with $7,478,014 going to local school districts in our service area.

The balance of these Edison tax dollars helps to build needed public projects and to support police, fire and other vital services in your community.

As your electric company supplying your electric service, and as a corporate citizen paying taxes, we like to think that we are truly partners in the progress and growth of the 400 communities we serve in Southeastern Michigan.

Pigs That Become Your Pork On The Meat Counter
This year's little pig is like any other little pig before him, except he is getting leaner. Did you know that approximately 1/3 to 1/3 of hogs sold for retail use are "lean" or "meat type"? Supplies of meat type hogs are still not sufficient to warrant retail merchandising of lean pork, but some progress is evident.

The purchase specifications may be based on quality standards of individual porkers for their own brands, or on the U. S. Government grade standards for live hogs and pork carcasses (this became effective September 12, 1952).

Although not mandatory, the U. S. grade standards are finding good use in the selection of meat type hogs. Grade identification, as you know, does not appear on retail cuts of pork at present.

Let's look at the grades for pork. There are two bases for the U. S. grade standards for pork. The differences are first, in relative yield of lean and fat cuts, and second, in quality of the meat. The biggest disadvantage is a 200-pound live hog may dress out to a surprisingly different carcass.

There have been established three grades for pork - U. S. choice, U. S. medium and U. S. cull. To date, there is no guarantee that a farmer will get premium price for meat type hogs, because premium prices may depend on volume of hogs marketed and the size of the market operation (where the hogs are sold).

I would like to consider with you the definition of grades of pork.

The U. S. choice grade animals and carcasses produce pork which is firm, of fine texture and adequate finish for acceptable palatability. This grade has three divisions, according to the ratio of lean to fat cuts.

U. S. choice No. 1 carcasses yield about 50 per cent of their weight in the four lean cuts, that is in the ham, loin, picnic and Boston Butts. U. S. choice No. 2 carcasses yield about 45 per cent to 48 per cent of their weight in the four lean cuts. U. S. choice No. 3 carcasses yield usually less than 45 per cent of their weight in the four lean cuts.

The U. S. medium grade animals and carcasses have less finish and higher proportion of bone than the choice grades. The cuts have slightly soft texture and very little marbling.

The U. S. cull grade animals and carcasses are decidedly under finished, with a high ratio of lean to fat. This grade is used primarily in sausage and canned pork products.

All pork has to be inspected before sold to the customer. Federal inspection of pork is carried out by the meat inspection service, U. S. D. A., because the inspection is mandatory for all pork sold in interstate (and foreign) commerce. You will recognize this stamp as a round purple stamp on the carcasses with these letters, INSP'D and P'S'D.

Inspection of pork slaughtered in Michigan for sale within Michigan is carried out by either the state or county. Usually the inspection is done by the county unless the county has no inspection department and in that case, inspection is handled by the state. The standards of sanitation in Michigan are high and the inspection is efficient.

January to June is the cattle grub or warble control period in Michigan. Michigan State University entomologists say to rub rotenone dust of at least one and one-half per cent into the grub opening.

Seven Join County
4-H Service Club

Fifty members attended the Tuscola County 4-H service club annual Christmas party, said club reporter Shirley Stevens from Mayville. Highlighting the party was the initiation of the following new members: Alice Gerou, Caro; Judy Reif, Carol Campbell of Fairgrove; Marrien Rupperecht, Frankenthuth; Susanne Garner, Vassar; Larry Campbell and Lyle Higgins of Akron.

Those taking part in the candle lighting ceremony were president John Tulloch, Vassar; secretary Alice Bradley; treasurer, Barbara Bradley of Fairgrove; Jack Perry, Cass City, and Roy Wightman, Caro. President John Tulloch remarked that only those 4-H members fulfilling achievement requirements are eligible to belong to the 4-H service club.

Quentin R. Ostrander of Reese assisted with the square dancing, recreation and the initiation program.

At the Jan. 16 meeting, elaborate plans will be made for the club to sponsor the annual 4-H leaders' recognition banquet, which will be held February 10. Plans for a day at Silver Valley are being made for late February.

Refreshments were served by Sue Black of Akron.

Farm Wives Buying
More from Stores

The supermarket has found a new customer—the modern rural homemaker, says Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county home demonstration agent. As a result, a greater proportion of the food the homemaker sets before her family comes from the store, not the farm.

Today's rural homemaker is buying more processed and higher priced foods than ever before. The purchase of time-saving foods leaves her more time to spend with her children. These convenience foods also make it possible for the homemaker to work outside the home.

Chances are that many of the fruits and vegetables are still grown at home. Milk is often obtained from the farm, too. Home production of all these things is much lower than it was 15 years ago, however.

Beef is the one food that is more likely to come from the farm now than it was in 1942. Much of the increase in home beef production has been attributed to the addition of home freezers. In 1955, 60 per cent of all farm families owned a freezer.

Fewer home-canned fruits and vegetables and less homemade jams and jellies are found on the modern farm table. Farm families do have more of these homemade foods than their city cousins, though.

Homemakers buy most of the bread eaten by the family, when it comes to biscuits, pies and cakes, it's a different story. The farm kitchen is still filled with appetizing aromas of home baking.

SHORT STORY

Afraid
Of Love

By Maud Welch

WHEN Larry Brent told Penny Edwards that he was afraid after all, he wasn't cut out for marriage, Penny took his ring from her finger, laid it in his hand and folded away her dream of love in some distant corner of her heart. She'd had it. She'd never believe in love again.

She had her job as secretary to elderly Judge Scott, a lawyer, who had been a good friend of her father's. She made up her mind she'd give all her time and thought to her work. In time she'd find it a compensation for all the other things she had missed.

But good old sister Fate always has a few tricks up her sleeve. Judge Scott became ill and had to retire. A young man came to take his place. His name was Steve Deering, and he said he would be very happy if Penny would stay on, and she agreed. She really had no other place to go.

She found Steve to be kind and thoughtful about the work, but rather quiet and restrained. They said good-morning to each other and good night, but little else except for business matters. This was exactly the way Penny wanted it to be.

Then one day Elaine, Steve's niece, came in the office. She was just out of college and she and Penny became friends. They lunched together, went to movies, took long walks.

Surprisingly one afternoon late Elaine told Penny that her Uncle Steve said he would take them to a drive-in and right away Penny said, "I'm sorry. I can't go."

It was Saturday night and Penny and Elaine were having a meal in an uptown hotel when Steve walked in. Elaine asked if he'd take them dancing upstairs in the ball room, where the music had already started, and Steve agreed.

Penny was on a spot. She couldn't refuse this time. It turned out that Elaine met several of her friends and this left Penny and Steve alone. They danced once or twice, and it was strange how well their steps matched. There was enchantment here, Penny knew. "This mustn't happen again. It mustn't," she told herself tearfully after she'd gone home.

A week later Steve sent Elaine to Florida to stay with an elderly relative. A few days later Steve was disturbed. He called Penny into his office. "Penny I sent Elaine away so she'd forget Tommy Durwin. Now he's followed her, and she says they're going to get married." Steve face hardened. "I want you to fly down there and stop it, Penny. You're the only one who can." "Elaine knows nothing about love," he added.

There seemed no way for Penny to get out of going, so she caught a plane. Elaine was delighted to see her. She lost no time in introducing Tommy and telling Penny of their plans. Then she said, "I wish you and Uncle Steve could recognize real love when you see it. I think you're both afraid."

Penny left on the next plane. When she got to the office, she wrote out her resignation and laid it on Steve's desk.

"What's this about?" he demanded when he'd read it. "You can't count on my loyalty. I didn't try to influence Elaine. I knew she and Tommy had found real love and that they have courage and faith and are not—not afraid."

Steve moved nearer her desk. "We're the ones who are afraid, aren't we, Penny?" he said surprisingly. "A girl hurt me once. I made up my mind I'd never fall in love again. But I have, Penny. I love you." He stopped a moment, then said, "We could find a straight, shining path together, darling."

She looked up in his face, happy tears suddenly glimmering in her eyes. "I'm not afraid any longer, Steve."

Quite suddenly Penny knew the truth, Larry Brent was just a man she'd been silly enough to dream about, but Steve's love was a thing of reality, substance and beauty.

Special oils can be used to help keep egg quality high. Michigan State University poultry specialists suggest that farmers look into some of the newer quality preserving practices to help hold and build markets for eggs.

The want ads are newsworthy too.

NOW...for you...quality PURINA CHOWS

Famous laboratory-designed, farm-tested Purina Chows and Concentrates are now available in this community.

Here are just a few of the efficient Purina products we have for you, each specifically formulated for the birds or animals you feed.

PURINA CHOWS
FOR SPECIAL NEEDS

Special rations, such as those for baby animals, are best handled in complete form. Complete rations are also needed by feeders who do not have their own grain.

Nursing Chow and Calf Starters
Help calves grow up to half way to breeding weight in 4 months.

D & F Chow
A quality body ration for dry cows and heifers.

Baby Pig Chow
Gets pigs started fast.

Purina Pig Starters
Helps pigs make low-cost early gains.

Fat Calf Chow
For fast efficient gains.

Beef Chow
The Grand Champion of Fitting rations.

Chick Starters
Gives baby chicks a "flying start".

Chick Growers
Builds vigorous, uniform pullets FAST.

Milking Rations
Ask us about complete milking rations designed for this milkshed.

Sow Chow
Gives a sow what she needs to develop husky litters.

Hc2 Fatena
A complete fattening ration.

Omolene
Palatable, energy-packed... a great conditioner.

Purina Laying Rations
Help hens produce a dozen eggs on 4 lbs. of feed or less.

Meat Poultry Rations
Ask about rations for broilers and turkeys.

PURINA CONCENTRATES
TO HELP MAKE YOUR GRAIN PAY

Grain is the base of most rations. Purina Concentrates contain nutrients grain lacks. Check-R-Mixed with grain, they build well-balanced rations for production of meat, milk and eggs.

Cow Chow Concentrate
Designed to make a top quality, well-balanced milking ration from typical farm grains. Far more than just a "protein supplement."

Bulky-Las
Multi-purpose Bulky-Las is the "cow's best friend." Adds palatability, bulk, vitamins, body-building nutrients.

Hog Chow
Fed with your grain on the Purina Program, Hog Chow helps you build market weight hogs in less than 5 months.

Steer Fatena
With or without stilbestrol, steer rations with Steer Fatena save grain, help cattle make fast efficient gains.

Creep Chow
For heavier calves at weaning.

Chicken Chowder
Both growing and laying rations can be built with Chicken Chowder and your grain. Our Purina formulas tell us how much to use.

We also carry concentrates to help you get the most from your grain with broilers and turkeys.

CHECK-R-MIX
Service

Our Check-R-Mix emblem means we have back of us the nation's most experienced grain-balancing program. Our grinding and mixing accuracy is tested regularly by Purina laboratories. This sign is your assurance of quality rations from your grain.

In addition to the poultry and livestock Chows above, Purina makes dog, goat, rabbit, pigeon, guinea pig, game bird, laboratory animal, etc. rations.

ELKLAND ROLLER MILLS

YOUR PURINA FEED DEALER

BRING IN YOUR GRAIN
Our grinding and mixing equipment is designed to handle your grain speedily and well. Ask us about the many grain handling services we can perform.
