$900 Paint Job For Water Tower Slated in Spring

The municipal water tower will have one of its periodic paintings this spring, it was decided Tuesday night by the Cass City Village Council.

For the first time in history, the traditional black of the tank will be painted in aluminum and the supports will remain black. Samuel Edwards of Vassar, who has painted the tank for many years, said that the village's tank was in the best condition of any in the state for its age. He attributed the condition to adequate preventive maintenance.

For several years the tank was painted every three years. The last two paintings of the tower came at five-year periods.

Mr. Edwards pointed out that the more water used, the shorter the life of the paint.

During the first five-year interval between paintings, a single coat was sufficient to keep the tank in good repair.

An examination this year showed that increased usage has made it necessary to give two coats to the tank.

Cost for two coats for the tank and a single coat for the supports will be $900.

Mr. Edwards told the council that he feels the maintenance of the tower has saved the village thousands of dollars through the years.

In other business, James Colbert and B. A. Calka were appointed to serve on the board of review.

PROGRESSING WELL—Work on the new Tuscola County Infirmary in Caro is proceeding ahead of schedule. Originally slated to be finished in December, the building will be completed in October if construction is not delayed by lack of materials.

The three-level building includes a basement, first and second floors. In the basement, welfare offices, storage rooms and heating and laundry will be accommodated.

The first floor will include rooms for patients who can walk, plus kitchen and dining room facilities and recreation rooms.

The second floor will be restricted to patients who are critically ill.

The building is built in a Y shape so that one nurse seated at the nurses' station has a clear view of every room on the floor.

When completed, there will be 124 beds in the new building. It is being constructed so that it can be easily expanded, if the need should arise.

From the Editor's Corner

We read the other day that a group of sportsmen in Bad Axe are conducting a pheasant feeding program. While the idea behind the effort is laudable, the Michigan Conservation Department says feeding pheasants is unnecessary.

In a recent release, the department reports that low temperatures and snow have little effect on the birds and they survive better than humans in bad weather.

Mr. Ringneck can go without food as long as 30 days in 10-degree temperature and a recent Conservation Department investigation of effects on pheasants indicates no severe food shortages.

So if hunting is poor next fall, don't blame it on the winter weather.

Cass City High School this year has a chance to post a record never before accomplished in the six-year history of the Thumb B Conference... winning the title in each of the four competitive sports that are offered in the league.

Already sewed up are the football and basketball crowns. Prospects are bright in both track and baseball. Cass City should reign as favorites in both sports. If they do make a clean sweep of all four titles, congratulations are in order to the athletes and their coaches.

List DHIA Farmers In State 400 Club

Nine dairymen cooperating with the Tuscola County dairy herd improvement association are listed in the state 400 lb. club, according to Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent. The "400" are the dairy herds tested in DHIA in Michigan that have averaged over 400 pounds of butterfat for the last five consecutive years based on the fact that each yearly herd average must be 400 pounds or more butterfat for the past five testing years.

Listed in the state 400 pound club were: Dolan Sweeney, Ubyly registered Holsteins, 542.2 pounds fat; Herman Kern, Reese registered Holsteins, 497.8 pounds fat; Ruben Rohloff, Reese registered and grade Holsteins, 479.9 pounds butterfat; Elmer Kern, Reese registered Holsteins, 462.0 pounds butterfat; Werner List, Vassar registered Holsteins, 453.2 pounds butterfat; Walter Moderow, Reese registered Holsteins, 451.7 pounds butterfat.

Hawks Top Sandusky For Thumb B Title

Cass City clinched the Thumb "B" Conference championship Friday evening with a 67-51 victory over Sandusky at Cass City High School.

Improving Bob Holcomb led his team in a victory surge that saw the Hawks trail by nine points at the end of the first period and then come charging back for the win.

Holcomb scored 29 points, his high for the season, and played an outstanding floor game.

But it was Cass City's pressing defense that turned the tide in favor of the league champions. In the first period, Sandusky showed a smooth passing and accurate shooting offense and posted 17 points while the Hawks found the range for only eight, six by Holcomb.

Cass City got most of these back in the second period. They started a semi-press and scored 14 points while the visitors netted only six. At the half Sandusky led 23-22.

Cass City used a zone press in the third quarter... a maneuver that Coach Irv Claseman has had the team experimenting with all season.

Friday it worked effectively and netted Cass City many easy buckets. Using the press the Hawks outscored the Redskins by nine points for a 46-38 lead at the three-quarter mark.

By the middle of the final quarter, Cass City had placed the game out of reach of the visitors and nailed down another conference championship.

Helped by the many short shots the team picked up when they stole the ball from Sandusky with their pressing defense, the Hawks hit for a percentage of about .400. They converted 13 of 23 gift attempts, while the Redskins had nine of 12 tries.

Besides Holcomb, other Cass City cagers in double figures were Forrest Walpole with 12 and Jim Johnson with 10. Fred Leeson scored nine points.

Friday night the Hawks play their final tune-up game before the district tourney at Cass City. They will play at Crosswell-Lexington and will be favored to win.

Reserve Game

The Cass City second team lost its second conference game of the season. Both of their losses were to Sandusky. Friday the lanky Redskins reserves posted a 55-47 decision.

Small Crowd at Home and School Council Monday

A small crowd estimated at about 75 persons attended the regular meeting of the Home and School Council Monday night at the Cass City elementary gym.

Feature of the evening was an hour-long film, "A Desk for Billy." It was preceded by accordion duet selections by Judy Cleland and Carol Lowe, Orion Cardew was the program chairman.

President Arlington Hoffman appointed William O'Dell, Mrs. Malvina Howarth and Clifford Smith to a nominating committee for new officers.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Alvin Avery, chairman. The next meeting of the organization will be in April.

To Take Bids for M-81 Road Work

The Michigan State Highway Department announced this week that bids will be taken Mar. 19 for work on M-81 near Cass City.

Plans call for 9.3 miles of concrete base widening and bituminous concrete surfacing from a point five miles west of Cass City on M-81 to the junction of M-53.

District Tourney Starts Mar. 5; Last in Cass City

Drawings for the state district basketball tournament to be held in Cass City were to have been held Wednesday afternoon at the school.

Four teams, Vassar, Caro, Bad Axe and Cass City, will be entered. As the host team, Cass City will play on Wednesday night.

Two teams will play Thursday night and the finals will be Saturday night. All games will start at 8 p. m.

It is probable that this year's tourney in Cass City will be the final one here in many years. New facilities at Bad Axe and Caro are expected to be completed next season and it is almost certain that one of the two schools will be selected for next spring's contest.

His enrollment in the school was arranged by the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

For More Police Protection

Marshal to Work Staggered Hours

The Cass City Village Council took steps to provide more police protection for the village in its regular meeting Tuesday night at the Cass City Municipal Building.

The action had been under consideration for some time and Tuesday's action dovetailed with a request by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber petitioned the Council for enforcement of the two-hour parking law on Main Street to stop businessmen and their employees from using the available customer parking spaces.

After considerable discussion, the Council decided to have Marshal Bill Wood work at various times each day.

Present plans call for no set schedule. Mr. Wood will work when it is thought he is needed most. His tour of duty will start at staggered hours. He may start in the morning, afternoon or evening at any time. Mr. Wood will work 12 hours daily, six days a week.

Plans are under way to add a relief man for one day a week, in addition to the one now hired when the marshal has his day off. This man will allow the village to have complete protection on week ends, the time which is believed that protection is needed most.

Letter to Editor

To the People of Cass City, Michigan.

Dear Friends:

First let's get the facts straight.

No matter who is on the Village Council, parallel parking on Main Street is a must in the very near future, to be enforced by the State Highway Department, since we are on a State trunkline.

Several years ago the State participated in the resurfacing of this Main Street, but they would not do so until we agreed to go to parallel parking. Through President Croft's efforts we were permitted to change from a 45-degree to a 30-degree angle until we could obtain off-street parking space. The resurfacing was then completed.

Last summer we appealed to the State and Federal Road Bureaus for aid in constructing storm drains, widening the Main Street and constructing curb and gutter from the Ford Garage west to the village limits and from the Chevrolet Garage east to the village limits. They again informed us that they do not widen for parking area and we would have to change to parallel parking.

Since the change of administration in the State Highway Dept. they have been paying 100 per cent maintenance of our wide street, which includes snow removal which is an expensive operation.

We feel that conceding to parallel parking will save the taxpayers a great deal of money for the needed improvements, as the job will cost 80 to 100 thousand dollars.

The council has considered off-street parking lots and upon investigation finds that available lots run from 25 to 40 thousand dollars. These lots would have to be concluded on page 10.

4-H Club Week Is Time to Evaluate Past and Future

"4-H Salute to Parents" is the theme for National 4-H Club Week, announces Bill Muller, Tuscola County 4-H Club Agent.

During their March 1-8 week of observance, 2,200,000 members of 4-H clubs will take a look at their past and their future in 4-H clubs and receive recognition for outstanding work.

The week provides members with a special occasion for evaluating past achievements and making plans for future activities on their farms, in their homes and in their communities. The public, especially parents, is informed of the values of 4-H training.

Credit will be given in recognition of the important part played by local leaders. The drive for new members and leaders takes on new enthusiasm as 4-H'ers reflect on their progress in 1957.

Particular recognition is to be given to local leaders who make local groups possible. In Michigan, 10,000 adults are part of 4-

H as volunteer leaders. In addition, 2,600 older club boys and girls assist as junior leaders.

In 1957, club members in Michigan numbering 61,000 carried 100,000 projects to completion. This makes about two projects for each club member. Younger boys and girls usually carry only one project at a time, but as the 4-H'er grows older, he tends to carry more than one. This presents a greater challenge to the older member.

Here in Tuscola County 175 adults volunteer their services to help make the 4-H program a success, declares Muller. Club boys and girls totaling 1250 work to assure their younger friends the training they have enjoyed in 4-H.

Tuscola County plans for the observance of National 4-H Club Week include window displays in the Detroit Edison Offices at Cass City, Caro and Vassar by 4-H Clubs in these areas.

True happiness comes to the person who gets something he wanted, but did not expect.

STORY OF A BARGAIN

We get a lot of people on our lot from time to time - sensible and honest people, including some we're happy to call personal friends - who we just can't seem to satisfy when it comes to selecting a particular used car.

Once they've settled on the car of their choice the conversation usually gets around to what's been in the back of their mind all the time - whether the best possible deal's at our place or whether they should shop around in a bigger city where, they figure, there's a greater selection and more competition among car dealers.

Leadermete Will Open Club Week

Kickoff for National 4-H Club Week, March 1-8, is the 4-H Leadermete, a get-together for nearly 300 local 4-H Club leaders representing every county in Michigan.

On March 1 and 2 four leaders from Tuscola County go to the Michigan State University campus for the second annual 4-H Leadermete, reports Bill Muller, County 4-H Club agent. Those attending are: Mrs. Don Laking, Richville Community 4-H Club; Mrs. Harold Pike, Graham 4-H Club; Bruce Ruggles, Kingston 4-

H Workers, and Norman Crawford of the Novesta Community 4-H Club.

Purposes of the leadermete are to provide discussion on 4-H leadership, to give local leaders recognition, to exchange ideas and to give local leaders inspiration, according to Muller.

Two delegates from every county can attend the two day meeting which is sponsored by the State 4-H Council, the Cooperative Extension Service and the Michigan 4-H Club Foundation. Counties with larger numbers of leaders may send additional delegates.

Held at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State Campus, the leadermete opens Saturday morning, March 1, with an opportunity to meet Paul Miller, director of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service. Afternoon keynote speaker is John Moutt, assistant to the president at Ohio State University. Discussion groups and tours of the campus follow his talk. Campus 4-H Club members are assisting with the tours. The evening banquet features a nationally known speaker, Dr. Carl Byers, sponsored by General Motors Corporation.

Sunday morning worship services are planned, with 4-H and former 4-H members participating. A 12:30 dinner closes the two-day conference.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Five Years Ago
Fire that broke out at the home of Dick Schutte early Tuesday morning destroyed one end of his farm home, six miles north of Cass City, before the Elkland Township Fire Department extinguished the blaze.

A memorial service was held Wednesday afternoon at the M. E. Auten home for their daughter, Miss Carolyn Blair Auten, who died Monday in a New York City hospital.

Musicians from Cass City High School were awarded eight division one ratings and four division two ratings in 12 events entered in the district three solo and ensemble festival held at Bad Axe Saturday.

Elkland Township has asked the Tuscola County Firemen's Association to amend article two of their constitution, so that neighboring towns can be called to assist in fire fighting emergencies without charge. If approved, the request will enable Caro and Cass City to exchange emergency service without charge to either organization.

High school young people of the EUB, Presbyterian and Methodist churches will meet Sunday night at the Methodist Church for their monthly program. Ruth and Julie Knight of Inlay City will describe their visit to United Nations headquarters with a Christian seminar.

Ten Years Ago
Donald Partridge, Jerri Orlovski, Mary Ann Bishop and Grant Glaspele were all seriously injured near Dumville, Ont., about 8:00 a.m. Sunday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a culvert abutment.

The ministers of Cass City have adopted a schedule of systematic visitation in the local hospitals and convalescent home. The program has been designed chiefly for the benefit of out-of-town patients who might not otherwise receive pastoral attention. Participating will be: Rev. O. L. Faupel, Rev. Arnold Olsen, Rev. S. P. Kinn, Rev. Herbert Watkins, Rev. John Safran, Rev. M. R. Vender, Rev. F. Houghtaling and Rev. Gordon Guilliat.

The Lutherans of Cass City will hold their first service in their new house of worship at the corner of Maple and Garfield

Sunday.
Contributions to the Cass City Community Hospital fund have reached $19,058.22 in the present campaign. Roy Kilbourn, a solicitor in Novesta, Township, reports a 100 per cent response in his district.

The campaign for raising funds for the American Red Cross in Elkland Township will start Monday, according to Mrs. Erwin Binder, township chairman. Elkland's quota is $1,290.

Twenty-five Years Ago
About 150 friends and relatives honored Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seeley of Elmwood on their silver wedding anniversary with a surprise party Monday night.

Playing one of its scrappiest games of the year, Cass City took a thrilling battle from Bad Axe, 15-11, Friday night. Rawson, Ward and Kosanke played a brilliant defensive game and Vyse, Maharg, Kilbourn and Rawson kept Cass City out in front most of the way. This victory sends the Cass City team to the Flint regional tournament March 9-11.

Audley Rawson, E. B. Schwadener and Mrs. A. A. Ricker attended the Republican state convention at Grand Rapids. Mrs. Ricker and Mrs. McNaughton of Argyle were re-elected members of the state central committee to represent the seventh district.

Oratorical and declamatory contests were held Tuesday night at the Gagetown PTA meeting. Winners in oratory were: Helen Quinn, first; Maxine Grappan, second; and Cathryn Hunter, third. First place in declamations went to James Secor; second to Helen Fournier, and third to Evelyn Seurynek.

Thirty-five Years Ago
The Chehekelo Camp Fire Girls of Cass City met Thursday evening. Mrs. J. T. Redwine was the speaker and gave instructions in First Aid.

All area farmers are invited to attend a farmers' meeting Friday afternoon at the village council rooms, when Dr. P. M. Harmer of Michigan Agricultural College, John W. Sims, Tuscola County agricultural agent, and E. E. Twing, Huron County agent, will be featured speakers. They will discuss various farm problems.

One hundred sixty men and boys attended the father-son banquet promoted and served by the Woman's Study Club at the M. E. Church Thursday evening.

Rev. William W. Edwards was elected president of the Parent-Teachers Association at a meeting of the group held Wednesday evening. Mrs. G. A. Tindale was chosen first vice-president; Mrs. H. F. Lenzer, second vice-president; Miss Mae Benkelman, secretary; A. E. Goodall, treasurer, and Mrs. I. A. Fritz, reporter.

Michigan State University forest tree nursery is out of the much requested Scotch and Austrian pine seedlings for Christmas tree plantations, reports Don R. Kebler, assistant county agricultural agent.

But a list of private nurseries having these seedlings is available from the MSU forestry department, according to Ira Bull, director of the nursery.

The nursery will have red pine, jack pine and black locust seedlings available until the first of April. These trees are suited for light sandy soils.

The only reason some men are found out of jail is because they haven't been found out.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

The political hatchet is buried when Michigan's Industrial Ambassadors sing praises of the state in an effort to interest other manufacturers, both large and small, in settling in Michigan.

At a kickoff luncheon which sends some 200 of the state's leading industrial leaders "abroad," the emphasis was on a "unity of spirit." It was pointed out numerous times that what Michigan has to offer is much more important than disagreements within the state regarding the labor climate.

These positive factors were listed as: trained people; clean government; free of graft; one of the best educational systems in the world; a good and improving road system; the long coast line and wonderful supply of fresh water.

It was emphasized repeatedly that all Michigan citizens gain when the state secures a new industry; that everyone should be interested in seeing this accomplished.

Michigan's economy is developing as the biggest issue of the 1958 legislative session.

Records show that thousands have been out of work in industry and the pinch of decreased buying power is being felt by businessmen on many streets.

Effect on state government is difficult to assess, because of conflicting claims of rival parties.

Republican finance experts are working to develop a policy which makes sense to them: when the people are forced to tighten their belts, state government should do the same.

Senator Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) has charged that too many of Michigan's 30,000 employees are abusing coffee breaks and having breakfast on the job. He says the practice costs the state $15,000,000 per year. Other GOP leaders have suggested that the number of state employees can be reduced by not replacing those who retire.

Administrators deny abuses; point out that the cost of corporate operation is upwards and the same must be expected in the case of public administration.

Labor unions are fighting against new controls in Michigan. There are bills in the legislature to prohibit the use of union dues money for political purposes, to outlaw the secondary boycott and to require audits of their funds, including pension and welfare money.

In the interests of partisan peace in an election year, most of the bills are expected to die—though nothing ever is certain in the legislature.

The audit of union funds bills are direct reflections of the Washington hearings which attacked Dave Beck, former Teamsters Union president.

The ban against the use of union funds for political purposes dates back to the 1956 election campaign when Republicans charged that Democrats used dues money improperly. Democrats and labor leaders have denied the charge, claiming that no dues money is spent for political candidates or campaigns without a vote of the membership.

Right-to-know legislation is now in the House after passing the Senate with only one dissenting vote.

The bill as it passed to the House requires all state and local governing bodies, boards and commissions, to hold public meetings.

It permits "executive sessions" while public officials iron out "delicate" questions in private, but requires that all final decisions be made in public.

Price fixing on milk is all but dead for the 1958 session of the legislature.

Once a major question, it has evaporated as an issue before the outspoken opposition of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association and other powerful farm groups.

Sentiment for price-fixing came following the milk strike two years ago, when relations with dairies were strained by two major factors—the low price to farmers and the high price to consumers.

Since that time, farmers have gotten along with the dairies though they feel the middleman is taking too much of a share from the product.

Solid arguments to those who attack the American education system were advanced recently by Dr. John A. Hannah, president of MSU, and J. Montgomery Curtis, director of the American Press Institute at Columbia University. Both men touched on this subject when addressing a meeting of newspaper people at the Michigan Press Association.

Said Curtis: We should be careful in copying an education system which twice during our lifetime did not prevent a population from a leader directly into a world war.

Hannah pointed out that the same education system, which some people now refer to as inadequate, is the same one which made the U. S. the most productive nation in the world and has provided the highest standard of living. This is the system, he said, from which has come the power of the atom, sulfa drugs, Salk vaccine and many other scientific advantages.

Hannah stated that educators in the United States had been neither asleep nor standing still. The record would show, he said, that they had been trying to get public support for improved teaching of science and mathematics; had been trying to gain support for revising their programs.

Though he did not state it, the implication was clear that launching of Sputnik had awakened the public to a new interest in the steps educators had been trying to take for some time.

Useless is a plan to work unless you expect to work the plan.

Teenagers Have

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles written on the problems of the "between-ers"—young people between childhood and adolescence, between elementary and high school. The author is associate professor in the department of vocational education at Michigan State University.

By Dr. Mary Lee Hurt
Money matters offer problems for most Americans, especially to those "between-age" youngsters, the 11 to 14-year-olds.

In a recent survey of this age group in three Michigan communities, youngsters were asked, "Are you earning some of your own money?" and "Do you have an allowance?" and "Do you have to ask your parents for your spending money?"

Answers to these and other questions showed that the "between-ers" need help in finding ways to earn money and in making their money stretch to cover newly acquired wants. Asking parents for money becomes more difficult for these young people who are just on the verge of adolescent independence.

Money Troubles

Some goals which parents and teachers could work toward in helping these "between-ers" might be to:

1. Help them appreciate how much they cost their families and how they can contribute their share to family living in ways other than money.
 2. Appreciate that different families have different ways of providing the money needed by their children.
 3. Help them appreciate what is most important when deciding how to spend money.
 4. Help them get their money's worth when spending money and later judging how well the plan worked.
 5. Help them secure and keep jobs, like baby-sitting.
 6. Learn to talk over money problems with the family.
- Keeping records of spending for one or two weeks would help them become aware of how much they are spending and problems they are having in saving or spending.
- Encouraging these young people to help save the family income by caring for their own clothing, turning out lights, planning for inexpensive snacks, at home rather than eating out, making simple repairs at home and by not wasting food. All of these will help to stretch the family pocketbook.
- (Next week: Problems of the baby sitter.)

Bulletin Tells Way To Arrange Flowers

Help perk up your winter-weary home with flowers arranged by you.

You can find lots of helpful hints that apply to just a few blooms, as well as suggestions for large bouquets, in the new Michigan Cooperative Extension Service bulletin E-346, "Arranging Flowers." Pictures in this bulletin show the different materials you need to arrange flowers effectively, and the diagrams will help you give your arrangements balance.

Choosing colors for your flower arrangements will be much easier if you know and understand the terms used in talking about color. Many of these terms are defined for you in the bulletin, and a color wheel is included to help you pick the right colors for effective arrangements.

Containers make a big difference. They can be any size or shape—tall or short, wide or narrow. Photographs show you what type of arrangement is best for many different containers. The types of flower holders, or frogs, are also mentioned, and they, too, each do a better job in some types of arrangements than in others.

Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county home demonstration agent, located at the Courthouse, Caro, can give you a free copy of E-346, "Arranging Flowers." Or you can write for it to the Michigan State University Bulletin Office, Room 10, Agricultural Hall, East Lansing.

Home Extension Agent's Corner

Frances T. Clark
County Home Demonstration Agent

The home demonstration extension council meeting will be held in the Courthouse on Thursday, March 13; the time, 2 to 3:30 p. m.

At the December council meeting the attendance was the lowest in three years due to a bad storm on the day of the meeting. I hope all council members will be out to this meeting because the final plans for home demonstration women's Achievement Day will be made and all groups should be represented.

Read Labels
When you are shopping for food, do you read the labels? What is in a can, or box or bag is no secret because it's on the label. The net contents of each can and box and bag we buy for our market basket must be indicated plainly for us to read. Many shoppers heed not this information so important to wise food buying, but throughout the state, inspectors are constantly checking these labels for accuracy to protect our pocketbooks.

Correct measurements begin with accurate measuring devices. The "unsung heroes" of the Division of Foods and Standards of the Michigan Department of Agriculture regularly inspect scales for accuracy. Approval is indicated by a seal: disapproval by a "condemned" label.

Liquid measurements must meet specifications too. A quart of milk is a quart, a gallon of vinegar is a true gallon, a six-ounce bottle of soft drink measures a full six ounces. Small variances in weight and measures may not seem important, but pennies quickly add up to dollars. The dollars saved each year by these officials help us better feed our families.

Violations of the weights and measures laws are often unintentional and most food handlers are glad to have errors brought to their attention. A few try to defraud and deserve the lack of sympathy shown them by the law.

The wrapping materials cannot be included in the weight of meat, chicken, produce or any object for sale. This is very important when you realize that just one ounce of paper included in a pound weight boosts the cost of that item six per cent. That is the reason why the weights and measures officials are so vital to our economy.

Weights and measures on a label are there to help consumers spend their food dollars more wisely. "Read the label" is a slogan, as important a shopping habit as a food shopper can acquire, so make it your companion as you do your buying.

Mrs. Blasy Dies At Health Center

Formerly Barbara Erhardt, she was born Oct. 20, 1892, in Austria-Hungary. She was married to John Blasy May 13, 1913. They moved to Huron County from St. Louis, Mo., 36 years ago. Mr. Blasy died Oct. 1, 1957. Mrs. Blasy was a member of the St. Agatha Church, Gagetown.

Surviving are three sons, John and Julius of Midland and Tony of Bay City; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Descho of Sebawaing and Mrs. Joannarina Putehoff of St. Louis, Mo., and 12 grandchildren.

Rosary devotions were held Thursday evening at the Hunter Funeral Home, Gagetown. Rev. Glenn W. Cronkite officiated at the funeral services at St. Agatha Church Friday morning. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Money seems to be the root of all necessities—and most evils.

be purchased from the general fund of the village and not from road money. Would you vote for a bond issue for this?

The council has never gone on record as being in favor of the installation of parking meters. It has been casually discussed at several meetings only as a source of revenue for the purchasing of parking lots. Meters would also give the shoppers advantage as it would keep the streets free of long-period parking.

The council has been advised many times that we need 24-hour police protection. Perhaps this is true, but the only means we would have of financing this would be revenue from the meters. Our budget does not allow more than we are spending on police.

Therefore, the council does not consider that parking meters are an issue at this time, it is just a natural means to progress as the parallel parking comes.

It is up to you people of Cass City to decide whether or not you want extra parking space and the extra police protection and if so, do you want to be taxed directly or do you want meter revenue?

Signed
The Village Council

More Families Buy Frozen Vegetables

Vegetable eating has changed considerably in the last 10 to 15 years, says Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county home demonstration agent. According to U. S. Department of Agriculture statistics, the shift has been toward more processed vegetables—often at the expense of fresh vegetables.

The most striking change is the large increase in the use of frozen vegetables. In 1939 frozen vegetables held only 1 per cent of the market, but by 1955 they increased to 7 per cent and they're still rising!

Frozen products are replacing part of our fresh market for green vegetables such as snap beans, asparagus, lima beans and peas. However, all three forms of corn, fresh, canned and frozen, are increasingly popular.

A real change has been noted in the canned forms of tomatoes. While consumption of whole canned tomatoes has declined a fourth, most other tomato items have increased in use. Juice is up 68 per cent and pulp, puree and sauce are up 159 per cent—mostly because of the present popularity of Italian style dishes.

Peas are another vegetable that have changed in form used. Frozen peas have brought about a decline in the use of both fresh and canned products. As consumer preferences have changed, growing of vegetables for processing has increased about 50 per cent while that for fresh marketing only about 25 per cent, says Mrs. Clark.

More Grain Boosts Beef Production

Increasing the grain in the beef ration will help speed up gains and improve finish on cattle set for August and September markets, according to Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

The agriculturist recalls that many Michigan farmers bought 400 to 450 pound calves last fall. And now that they are around 600 pounds. Bill Finley, Michigan State University beef specialist, suggests farmers raise the grain content in the ration to where cattle will be getting about one and a half pounds of grain for each 100 pounds of live weight.

Ground ear corn or corn mixed with other farm grains will do the job, Finley thinks.

In about another 60 days, the grain should be increased again, Ballweg says. Finley suggests the ration should contain about two pounds of grain per 100 pounds of live weight.

Also, Finley recommends giving each head about two pounds of at least a 32 per cent protein supplement per day to balance the ration.

Steers will need four to five pounds of legume hay a day even though they are getting extra grain along with the silage.

Provide plenty of fresh water, trace mineral salt and steamed feeding bone meal free choice to help speed gains. A dry, well ventilated, barn will add comfort for these fattening steers, adds Finley.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:
Great landmarks was falling fast in the nation last week. Smith Brothers cough drops went from a nickel to a dime. That was the last stronghold of the American nickel. The year gold was discovered in California these brothers put their beards together and set the price of their new cough remedy at a nickel.

Buffalo roamed the prairies, the Civil War came and went, railroads was built, Dan McGrew was shot, more and bigger wars came and went, telephones, televisions, jets, electric razors, but the Smith Brothers held fast. Last week up in upstate New York the directors had a meeting and decided it couldn't go on forever. It was a sad day.

About the same time, in downstate New York, Sophie Tucker, known everywhere as "the last of the red hot mamas," announced her retirement. Another old landmark fell.

Then in Washington, President Ike stated again he was holding steady fer that five-cent postage stamp on mail out of town. Congressman Barratt of Illinois suggested that the first series of these new stamps ought to carry a picture of two pirates. I would suggest that the second series have a picture of Jesse James with his horse and gun.

But while things seemed to be falling apart everywhere, there was one ray of hope. Up in West for his money wins in a walk.

Sand Lake, N. Y., the West Sand Lake Association for Protection Against Horse Thieves held its 109th annual meeting. Now there's a group of fellers that's got the proper determination. If we had more like 'em Smith Bros. cough drops would still be a nickel and Sophie Tucker would be announcing her plans fer 1970.

Well, I set down when Congress convened and wrote my Congressman a letter. I told him, in a nutshell, that I wanted more farm relief and less taxes. I finally got a letter back from him yesterday. It was a masterpiece in business, ifness, and however-ness. He promised a little tax reduction but mixed the promise in with a little business, and the ifness and howeverness completely outweighed the less taxes. Them fellers can write more and say less than anybody this side of eternity or on the other side of ifness.

But I think the soil bank program is safe fer another two year. I see where Ike got $2009.60 fer not farming 46 acres on his Gettysburg plantation. That's the first time Ike's ever got his hands on some good farm relief money, and it's a mighty catching disease.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
