

Community Mourns Loss

Dr. Morris Dies After Heart Attack

From the Editor's Corner

No team in the regional B tournament at Flint's IMA was better supported by fans than Cass City. Despite the fact that they had some 60 miles to travel, the farthest of any group, they exceeded the number of fans watching from any other community.

Guestimates placed the number at over 350 Wednesday night, over 400 Friday night and over 500 Saturday night.

The death of Dr. F. L. Morris is a blow to the community. In his long years of service in Cass City he was always available for any emergency and it was common to see his car on country roads during any hour of the day or night.

A physician of the old school, it was his boast that he had never sent a statement for his services. He will not be easily replaced.

Envelopes containing Christmas cards addressed to Mr. Sontag were found in the rubbish pile.

The fine was assessed by Recorder Gordon Walker of Bad Axe.

Mrs. John Esau was the leader in the afternoon and the lesson emphasized "Strengthen the Church through Sacrifice."

Mrs. Esau presented Mrs. James Maxwell and Mrs. Nelmer Wright, both of Pigeon, who gave a program on Japan. Mrs. Maxwell displayed many souvenirs of the Sunrise Kingdom.

RETIREES—After long service at the Detroit Edison Company and with the village, Mr. Brown this week has announced his retirement from the utility company. Edison officials report that Mr. Brown was one of this district's most valued employees. Photo Courtesy of Tuscola County Advertiser.

Cecil Brown Retires From Detroit Edison

Cecil Brown, general customer serviceman with the Detroit Edison Company, is retiring after 33 years of work with the company, he said this week. His working experience, however, covers a considerably longer period than the 33 years.

Born in Sanilac County, Mr. Brown moved with his mother to Cass City when he was 11 years old, following the death of his father, and he graduated from Cass City High School. He worked for more than a year in a Cass City grocery store and in 1915 took employment with the Cass City municipal light and water works, where he remained for a year and a half.

He then moved to the state of Washington where he was employed by the Pacific Power and Light Company, staying there for a year and a half.

He served in the U. S. Navy in World War I as an electrician, second class, for 17 months, most of the time at the Commonwealth Pier, Boston, and after his discharge from service went to Detroit where he did electrical work for construction contractors for a four-year period.

He then returned to Cass City as superintendent of the light and water works and when the plant was purchased by the Edison Company he was retained in the electrical service work for the company, and served also as a part-time engineer for the village.

He retained the dual jobs until 1950 when he left the village work and became a full-time employee of the Edison Company. He continued to assist the village. When the sewage disposal plant was erected he acted as supervisor until Nelson Willy received his license.

He and Mrs. Brown are the

Hawks Edged in Final Night at Flint's IMA

Employees Feted As Walbro Hits Production Mark

Employees and supporters of Walbro were feted Tuesday afternoon at a coffee and cake period in commemoration of a milestone in the company's history Monday when the plant for the first time produced over 10,000 carburetors in one day.

President W. E. Walpole in a brief address told employees of the firm that it was a team victory for the corporation. "We are truly grateful," he said, "for what you have accomplished."

To achieve a production of 10,210 units in one day, he said, reflects credit on the entire organization. It took careful planning, the right equipment, tools and supplies on hand when needed, in addition to the efforts of the persons actually on the assembly line to achieve our goal.

Going back into the history of the company when it first came to the community he singled out members of the board of directors of the Cass City Development Corporation for helping the company become established in Cass City.

Members of the board, Luke Tuckey, Cliff Croft, Joe Riley, Herb Ludlow and Harry Little, were named and recognized for their part in helping to start the corporation. James Gross, treasurer of the board, was also introduced to members of Walbro.

At the present time, Mr. Walpole told the group, there are over 250 persons, an all-time high, working some 50 hours weekly at the plant. Weekly payroll is now about $20,000.

"What's more," the president said, "it looks as if it will be good for some time to come."

Mr. Walpole pointed out that the good employment at the company was not due to an increase in production in the small engine field. "The reason that employment at Walbro is good is because you people have made a good product at a price that our customers are willing to pay," he explained.

Abraham Wins Property Dispute

Judge T. C. Quinn ruled that land involved in a boundary dispute between Alex Tyo of Cass City and Sylvester Abraham of Pigeon rightfully belonged to Mr. Abraham, it was announced this week.

The dispute stemmed from an error discovered when the property was surveyed in 1956. It disclosed that the actual property line between the two lots gave the Abrahams 10 feet of additional land.

Donald McAleer was the attorney for Mr. Abraham and Maurice Ransford represented Mr. Tyo.

Playing great defensive basketball, the Cass City Red Hawks became the surprise team of the 1958 regional basketball tournament at Flint's IMA last week end when they fought to the final minute of the final game before bowing out of the annual spring classic Saturday night after posting victories in the opening two games.

There was credit enough for everyone in the Hawks' victories and in their defeat. Coach Joe Pitcock of Grand Blanc said that Cass City and Forrest Walpole did the finest job of defending All-State Bob Suci of any team that his squad had met all year.

Another All-Stater, J. Beebe, netted only 16 points with Jim Johnson guarding him, while Johnson himself made 16 markers. Fred Leeson contributed valuable buckets and defensive play in the tense struggles and Bob Tuckey more than held his own in the rebounding department, although he faced six-foot, four-inch C. Williams of Flint Tech in the finals.

Bob Holcomb played his usual good floor game and Mike Fritz came off the bench to net key baskets and help his teammates in the clutch, as he has done all year.

Alma Game
Cass City had little trouble advancing to the semi-finals of the tourney as the team took an early lead and went on to defeat Alma 54-41.

With Holcomb hitting from outcourt and Johnson netting five points, Cass City raced into a 17-9 lead at the end of the first period and were never behind.

In the second quarter, the Hawks outscored Alma 12-7 and were comfortably ahead 29-16 at halftime. The team let up a little in the third quarter and Alma registered its only advantage of the game in the period when they gained three points with a 13-10 advantage.

In the final period with Leeson carrying the scoring load with eight points, the Hawks sailed away the game and Coach Irv Clasen used substitutes freely in the last few minutes of the game. Three Hawks were in double figures. Leeson had 16; Johnson and Holcomb each netted 12.

Grand Blanc Game
After losing an early 12-point lead, Cass City rallied to defeat Grand Blanc Friday night 49-47 in the dying moments of a game that had local fans limp with excitement when the final whistle blew.

The Hawks played the first five minutes of the game as if they were going to run Grand Blanc clear off the court. Featuring balanced scoring by the entire team, the Hawks ran up a 10-0 lead and then stretched it to 14-2 before the losers found the range.

But after a time out, Grand Blanc started a pressing defense and started to close the range. It was 16-5 at the end of the initial canto and 25-17 at half time.

A big third quarter for the Blancers left the score at 39-37 at the three-quarter mark.

With about three minutes to go, Grand Blanc moved a point in front only to have Cass City come back with a two-pointer to take the lead.

In the last 30 seconds, the ball changed hands three times with

Homemakers Plan Study of Work

The project leaders of the home demonstration groups will attend a meeting to study the effective use of time and energy. Section I will meet Friday, March 28, and Section II will meet Monday, March 31. Planting Trees Can Pay Big Dividends

With the supply of pine seedlings becoming more available, landowners are encouraged to reforest areas of sand, odd corners, and other non-productive parts of the farm. The Saginaw Valley has seen several thousands of acres planted to trees in the past 15 years, yet the Valley tree planting job is probably less than half done, reports Al Boelter, district forester.

The past few years have seen an ever increasing interest in tree planting, much of this interest being in establishing Christmas tree plantations. There is need, however, to think more in terms of general reforestation and windbreak and shelterbelt planting. This is even more apparent when it is considered that possibly too many trees are being planted for Christmas tree production.

General reforestation is needed to build up the future supply of pine pulpwood and lumber. One must realize, however, that he need not wait until the final timber harvest to obtain a value from his trees. He receives part of this value immediately upon planting with the resulting increase in the value of his land. He continues to realize windbreak, wildlife and esthetic values as the trees grow. It is possible that these values could be greater than the stumpage value at the time the tree is cut.

Our native species are most suited to general reforestation. These are white, red and jack pine and white spruce. Each has its own site requirement, and it is important to plant the tree on the site to which it is best suited. In some areas, the insect problem must be considered so that a minimum amount of damage will result to the tree.

Trees may be obtained from any number of in and out of state private nurseries, in addition to the Michigan Department of Conservation and Michigan State University. As a service to its cooperators, many County Soil Conservation Districts also have trees for sale. Information concerning the purchase of trees is available from the County Extension and Soil Conservation Service offices, in addition to the district forester's office at Room 6, Merrill Building, Saginaw, Michigan.

Learn About Swine In 4-H Club Work

Project work in breeding or market swine gives Tuscola County 4-H boys and girls an opportunity to learn about selection, care and management of swine.

Any boy or girl 10 years old and not over 21, as of July 1 this year, may become a 4-H swine club member, if he or she is enrolled in a local 4-H Club, says Bill Muller, county 4-H Club Agent. Swine club members begin planning their spring and summer activities right after the semi-annual 4-H & FFA Hog Show, which is held at the Caro Livestock Auction Yards, the second Tuesday of March.

The swine project is among the most profitable and least risky of all 4-H livestock projects. If you are just starting out, you will find that investing in a purebred gilt or sow is a good way to earn money quickly, says the agent.

Besides learning swine management, project members learn to accept responsibility for their animals' care and develop business ability by having their own enterprise. As in all 4-H projects, they learn how to get along with people and gain skill in leadership. The agent states that swine project members have several opportunities to market their hogs and participate in county and state events. 4-H Club members from Tuscola County have participated in the 4-H State Show and Swine Sale at Michigan State University in August, and the Detroit Junior Livestock Show in Detroit early in December of each year in addition to the two semi-annual 4-H and FFA County Shows and Sales.

If you are interested in joining or starting a 4-H Club in your area, contact Bill Muller at your local county extension office, Courthouse, Caro, Michigan.

Michigan Mirror News in Brief

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

If long range employment problems are to be solved with least hardship, it will take some real statesmanship on the part of industry and labor, said Sen.

Robert E. Faulkner (R-Berrien). He was referring to problems caused by increased automation. The senator remarked that it was all right to point to the great number of jobs caused by mechanization in the industrial revolution. "This is true," he stated. "But, there is at least one important difference between the economy then and at present."

Sizable price reductions resulted for the purchaser when the first machines boosted production, he pointed out. When the consumer receives part of the value of automation, it's good for the economy, he continued, because he then has more to spend for other things. Recent automation, Sen. Faulkner reminded, had resulted in no such benefit to the consumer. In fact, prices have increased.

The problem today, the senator indicated, is to pass some of the saving resulting from automation on to the consumer. If labor or industry, or both together, try to keep all the benefit for themselves, the result can only mean fewer jobs and higher prices. While the senator was not optimistic that labor and industry will act now with the long range gain as an aim, he feels sure that there is no other sound and permanent solution.

Jobs for 2,000 more qualified people will open up in September and 11,000 more positions now occupied should be filled with better trained personnel. These job openings are for school teachers.

Michigan's growing birthrate, though it has many economic and social advantages, causes a relentless problem for educators. The enrollment in elementary schools has been growing at the rate of 70,000 students each year. This requires at least 2,000 more classrooms each year plus the space and facilities to service the increase.

Because of a shortage of completely qualified teachers, about 11,000 "partially" qualified people have temporary teaching certificates. According to Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett, these teachers should be upgraded in training so they can be issued regular credentials.

There is a total of 55,000 teachers working in grade and secondary schools of the state, so next year there should be 57,000.

Starting salary for a teacher with a four year college degree and no experience is in the neighborhood of $4,100 for a 10 month year. The teacher who has special training in music, art, etc. can command a beginning rate between $200 and $400 higher. After 15 years, during which time the teacher is expected to have earned a Master's degree, he might earn about $8000 per year.

A high percentage of teachers leave the field after only a few years with a school system. Bartlett referred to a survey by the National Education Association which shows that one half of the teachers who started last year will have left teaching by 1962. Some of these are girls who marry; others leave for better paying work.

A logical place for an ambitious teacher to move is into school administration. Consequently, there is a steady flow of good teachers into ranks of principal and superintendent offices.

Bartlett favors the idea that school administrators have teaching experience, but he is unhappy that a good teacher must leave teaching for administration if he is to receive higher salaries within the framework of the educational system.

To the young person considering teaching as a profession there are two things to think about. Teaching is gradually gaining headway economically. So far few teachers have been replaced by machines.

Michigan week preparations are roaring along as innumerable people on state and local committees all over the state devise plans to promote advantages of this state between May 4 and 10. A double barrel theme has been adopted this year: Education and Water Resources.

The celebration comes earlier this year in order to fit better into school schedules. But moving up the period to avoid examination week also moves it into a time when weather is more likely to be cold enough to prevent outdoor programs which had been held in other years.

The best time for Michigan Week will be decided after this year's celebration when the early period has had an actual trial.

It's next to impossible for people to be happy unless they try to divide it with others.

The man who boasts that he never goes to the races broke often comes home that way.

Toeing the mark is made more difficult each time the mark takes up an advanced position.

Soil Test Will Tell Proper Fertilizer

Three items—the crop to be grown, soil type and soil test—tell you how to select which fertilizer to use, states Don Kehler, assistant county agricultural agent.

Kehler says that when the "right" amount of a fertilizer is being determined, the desired yield of the crop must be considered. Nutrient needs vary with different crops. A 120 bushel per acre corn crop, for instance, requires more than twice the fertilizer needed for a 60 bushel crop.

Soil characteristics such as color, texture, organic matter, structure, drainage and chemical composition have important effects on crops. Chemical and physical properties influence crop production goals and fertilizer response.

A soil test, made from a properly taken soil sample, tells how much nitrogen, phosphate and potash there is available in the soil for plants to use. Knowing this, and considering the level of yield desired, an estimate of how much fertilizer to apply can be included in the recommendation.

The department of soil science and horticulture at Michigan State University have revised Extension Bulletin 159 titled "Fertilizer Recommendation for Michigan Crops." You may pick up a copy at the county extension office in the Courthouse, Caro.

Most people are apt to fall down when it comes to making the best of the worst of it.

Slate Science Fair At Sebewaing

The annual Thumb Fair of Science, Arts and Letters will be held the last week end in March at Sebewaing High School, it was announced this week by authorities in charge.

Exhibits will be placed Friday, Mar. 28, and judging will be Saturday, Mar. 29. The exhibits will be open to the public Saturday from 2 to 9 p. m., Sunday from 3 to 5 p. m. and Monday forenoon.

Prizes will be offered to winning individuals in each class and group prizes will include an engraved plaque to the school of every group entry which receives a superior rating.

Prizes will be awarded in science, art, letters and mathematics.

People who keep harping on the disagreeable things of life should be strung up.

Look for Label on Meats You Buy

When is "barbecued" meat not barbecued? When it's baked or roasted in barbecue sauce, says Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county home demonstration agent.

U. S. Department of Agriculture officials recently noticed the confused usage of the term "barbecued." After investigation, the department ruled that federally inspected meats cannot be labeled "barbecued" unless they have been cooked in real home barbecue fashion -- by direct heat of a hardwood fire or its coals.

Since 1906, the federal meat inspection service has been assuring the consumer that all meat and meat products in interstate commerce are honestly labeled, wholesome products. Its authority extends to all fresh, canned and frozen meat and meat products.

Look at the label when you buy meat. Labels on federally inspected meats carry the round inspection seal. The label must be a clear-cut honest description of the product. And, if the product contains more than two ingredients, they must be listed in order of predominance, Mrs. Clark points out.

Many meat products have minimum standards -- chili con carne must contain at least 40 per cent meat, hash-35 per cent and lamb or beef stew-25 per cent.

You can buy federally inspected meat and meat products with confidence, and be sure the U. S. D. A. inspection program protects your food dollar as well as your family's health.

It's better to be known by your aim in life than by your origin.

The proper way to face the difficulties of life is to turn your back on them.

When money talks in a business deal, don't pin too much faith on what it says.

Here's what J. C. Pickering says about Ford Dealer  Used Cars...

"I HAVE FOUND THAT FORD DEALERS
HONESTLY REPRESENT THE CONDITION OF USED CARS WHEN THEY SELL THEM"

But Mr. Pickering isn't the only one who has found that it pays to buy Ford Dealer  Used Cars...

Joseph Vason, minor, says, "I buy my used cars from my Ford Dealer because the prices are always right and I can always rely on what he tells me."

"The money I've saved on Ford Dealer Used Cars has helped me buy many things a man needs to raise a family," says Robert E. Hill, chemical company employee.

Maurice K. Brown, foreman, has bought several used cars from his local Ford Dealer because "I'm firmly convinced that the very best buy is an A-1 Used Car."

"I buy used cars from my Ford Dealer because he has always stood behind every used car he sells me," says Charles Simmons, truck driver.

Ask for A DEMONSTRATION
Of any of this Equipment

Here's new forage harvesting speed and economy that gets your forage crops ready for the silo in peak condition... with less work than ever before! It's the new Minneapolis-Moline Uni-Forgor attachment for the MM Uni-Tractor... with interchangeable heads for hay or corn crops.

MM advantages cut your work and help you do a clean, fast, one-trip job: Adjustable, spring-loaded upper feed roll and mineral-surfaced lower feed roll for smooth, positive feed; reversing lever for cleaning rolls right from the seat; heavy-duty cutting head with four 16" hardened steel knives... chops row crops and windrowed crops without leaf loss or stem shattering; powerful blower and big diameter pipes for big capacity in any forage crop.

HAY and ROW CROPS... the UNI-FORGOR HANDLES BOTH!

Row crops go from field to cutter knives in jig time when you harvest them with this row crop head. Simple height adjustments get more of your crop. Positive feed keeps cutter full.

This hay pickup does a fast, clean job of picking up windrowed crops—in any field! Features: 56" wide pickup drum; roller-bar feed; two speeds for green or dry hay.

STOP IN SOON AND SEE THE NEW MM UNI-FORGOR AND THE COMPLETE LINE OF HARVESTING ATTACHMENTS FOR THE MM UNI-TRACTOR.

MM model 11A disc harrow turns in as small a radius as any row-crop tractor. Tension springs hold the gangs in a level position so that the harrow penetrates at a uniform depth over its full width. With this construction the harrow is flexible for good work on uneven ground, and one side or the other does not dig in on turns.

Ease of angling is another outstanding feature. A touch on MM's new hydraulic control, called Uni-Matic Power, makes adjustment of disc angle on the go a simple matter. If your old harrow needs replacing, drop in to see us. We think MM harrows offer you the most in good performance, economy, and dependability.

Clark, county demonstration agent, in announcing the forthcoming sixth annual tourist and resort institute to be held at Michigan State University, March 24, 25 and 26. The institute will be the sixth in a series to provide resort, food service and motel people with new and improved methods.

In addition, members of the staff of the school of hotel, restaurant and institutional management of Michigan State University, will assist on the program. These include Evelyn Drake and Gertrude Blaker, food service experts, George Bedell, menu planning, Joseph O'Leary, C. P. A. on cost controls and accounting, and director Donald Greenaway on the philosophy of successful operation of tourist and resort businesses.

Other subjects to be included are: building community tourist attractions, how to get a loan, analyzing insurance needs, training employees, grounds improvement, guest entertainment ideas, advertising methods and deer and the resort business.

For those having food service, there will be discussions on food preparation, new ideas on cooking, standard portions and cost, good food buys, and waitress training.

Look for Changes In Dairy Farming

Dairy farming 1968 will be considerably different from today's typical operation, believes Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

Changes probably won't be spectacular but they'll be pretty definite, feels the agent.

One of the first things we can expect to see will be larger and fewer herds. Present technology points to at least two-man farms with 25 to 35 cows per man or 50 to 70 cow herds.

Along with this there will be almost complete mechanization of materials handling. Mechanical handling of hay, bedding, feed, milk and manure can be expected.

According to L. H. Brown, farm management specialist at Michigan State University, one of the tightest bottlenecks dairymen will have to squeeze through will be "hidden delays."

Brown includes in this work habits that slow down the operations. He cites research studies which show that there can easily be differences of a minute or more per cow between two men milking the same herd.

Also, changes in routine will cause a farmer to milk at a different rate without knowing he changed.

More specialization in dairy production can be expected, too, Ballweg says. Included will be custom milking and heifer production separate from cow herds. There will probably also be more purchasing of services like feeding, grinding and mixing and record keeping and analysis.

The small dairyman will feel the pinch most. Frequently, a seemingly innocent change can lead to changes which may easily get a farm family in deep water both with reference to financial and managerial requirements.

The agriculturist concludes that a small dairyman confronted with expansion problems should do a lot of figuring before he spends his money.

Champagne Loses Barn in Fire

Extensive property loss was caused by a fire which destroyed a 40x80 barn owned by Virgil Champagne of Sheridan Township in Huron County Thursday night about 10 p. m.

Destroyed by fire were a combine, corn binder and grain drill owned by Peter Champagne; some 800 bales of hay owned by A. Steinbaugh, and 350 bales of hay and a quantity of bean straw belonging to Virgil Champagne.

The fire was discovered by Gerald Willis, who lives across the road from the barn. The Ubyly fire department was called but the fire was beyond control when the fire fighters arrived.

Satchell Chairman Of DHIA Board

Frank Satchell, Caro dairyman, was elected chairman of the board of directors of the Tuscola County dairy herd improvement association at their annual meeting on Thursday, March 13. Elected to serve as vice-chairman was Ernest Keimath of Millington. Serving as secretary and treasurer of the association will be Mrs. Harold Blaylock of Vassar. Retiring as president for the past year was Don Stoll of Unionville.

Due to some reorganization within the county program, the regular DHIA testing program will be represented by eight directors. Two additional directors making a total of ten were elected to represent a growing number of farmers interested in owner-sampler testing, also a part of the county DHIA program, said Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

in the first period with an 11-9 margin. They kept slightly in front until the dying moments of the first half when Johnson poured in two quick buckets and a gift toss to give Cass City a 27-24 half-time margin.

Leeson and Holcomb both netted two buckets in the third period to account for all of Cass City's points while Tech scored twice from the field and four of five charity tosses as both teams scored eight points to keep Cass City's lead intact at the end of three quarters of play.

Cass City remained in the lead until the final three minutes. Beebe hit twice from around the foul line and a sudden press by the winners resulted in two stolen passes and easy buckets that eventually provided the winning 45-41 margin for Tech and the end of the tourney trail for Cass City.

Johnson scored 16 points and Leeson netted 10 for the Hawks. These figures were matched by Beebe (16) and R. Gates (10) for Tech.

Plenty of Money Left for Program

Only about a half million dollars of the more than $6 million allocated to Michigan has been used in the 1958 Conservation Reserve program, the county ASC office announced this week.

Farmers may sign contracts under the program until April 15. There have been several changes in the program this year that should make it more attractive to farmers, authorities said.

Full details are available at the county ASC office in Caro.

The testing was supervised by Michigan State University.

Doctor Tells of New Artery Surgery

Dr. Peter McGee of Bay City told members of the Cass City Rotary Club of one of the newest techniques in the surgical world, replacing worn out or diseased arteries with grafts or mechanical transplants. Speaking Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel, he told members of the history and advancements of the surgery.

Presently synthetic materials such as nylon are used to replace arteries that are removed. At one time, arteries from deceased humans were used, but discarded because they failed to hold up well and were expensive to keep.

He said that in many types of diseases to arteries, successful work can be done. He said that improvements in X-ray, blood transfusions, antibiotics and materials used has greatly increased the chance for success.

In the business meeting, a letter from Park Young Ja, foster child of the club from Korea, was read and several pamphlets telling of various careers turned over to the school library. The pamphlets were purchased by Keith McConkey.

Pine Seedlings Still Available in County

Pine seedlings are still available in limited quantities from the Tuscola Soil Conservation District, Bruce Ruggles, district secretary, said today. While most of the available trees have been ordered, growers can still obtain some species if orders are placed in the near future.

Austrian pine, red pine, Scotch pine and white pine are still available at $18.00 per thousand, according to Ruggles.

Order blanks can be obtained from the district directors or at the Soil Conservation Service office in the courthouse at Caro.

The Austrian Pine is especially recommended for windbreak planting on the heavy clay soils in the Tuscola District.

Orders should be sent to Bruce Ruggles, Kingston.

Insurance Firm Boasts Big Year

State Farm Mutual Insurance Company nearly doubled its nearest competitor in the amount of insurance written in 1957, according to Wrayburn Krohn, local agent.

The insurance firm is in its 16th year as the number one car insurer in the United States, Krohn said.

The year's highest accident rate boosted the company's claims and claim expenses 17.4 per cent over the preceding year.
