Auto Buy Drive Off to Good Start Dealers Report

Car dealers in Cass City reported Tuesday afternoon that the first week of the "Auto Buy Now" campaign was an outstanding success.

"It proves," one dealer said, "that persons in the Cass City area have money and are willing to buy when a concentrated sales effort is made."

Village dealers sold a total of 22 new and used cars in the week the campaign has been on.

All of the dealers said that they were pleased with the results of the campaign that started with all makes of cars placed on the sidewalk and "buy now" stickers placed throughout the village.

They will continue the drive this week with outstanding values in new and used cars.

Burdon Pitches Hawks to Two League Victories

Paced by Paul Burdon, who has pitched shutout ball in the first two conference games of the year, Cass City posted lopsided victories over Marlette and Vassar. Burdon was very effective in the opening game against Vassar as he allowed just two singles and fanned 15 in the 10-0 victory. He was even more effective at Marlette when he pitched a no-hitter in the Hawks' 11-0 decision.

Vassar Game. Burdon's excellent pitching was backed by a fine defense against Vassar Thursday at Cass City. His teammates made only one error and pounded out 12 hits, led by Jim Johnson who collected four for four.

The Hawks were aided by six Vassar errors. In the first inning, Bob Walpole picked up a leg hit and Johnson tripled. Walpole was thrown out at the plate. Johnson was also out at the plate as he attempted to score on a roller by Ray Fox. Fox finally scored the only run of the inning as he galloped home on a double by Perry Hoagg.

In the second, Walpole picked up his second straight infield hit. An error, a walk and Johnson's single brought in two more runs and Cass City was ahead 3-0 at the end of two innings.

The Hawks added two more in the fifth inning. Johnson teed off and collected his second triple and scored on a single by Gary Deering. Gene Wilson doubled him home.

Cass City made a rout of the game in the sixth inning. Johnson tripled and scored when Fox reached first on an error. He moved to second on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Hoagg. Three more errors and a hit by Burdon netted three more markers and the final 10-0 margin for Cass City.

Valuation Increases $190,280 in Village

The Cass City Village Council set village taxes at 15 mills again this year at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the Cass City Municipal building.

A healthy increase in valuation over 1957 will boost village revenue $3,093.50 over the amount collected to date for last year. Total revenue will be $36,140 as compared to $33,046.50.

Harold Jackson, village assessor, reported that total valuation is $2,409,380 of which $1,952,800 is real and $456,580 personal. Also under study are the alleys that run nearest to Main Street.

Overflow Crowd Hears Tripp Speak

An overflow crowd that packed the doorway and assembled outside the door was present Friday night to hear Fred Tripp, chief of the executive division of the Michigan State Highway Department, tell of prospects for an improved road from M-53 to M-19.

According to the official, prospects at this time for a state road are not too bright. "I wish I could tell you that this project is part of our five-year plan or that the plan will be amended to include it," he said. "However, this situation is repeated in nearly every section of the state."

Mr. Tripp told the group that he is aware of the lack of roads running east and west in the Thumb. Our new road plans are based on engineering studies and will be carried out as funds are made available, he said.

He said that a survey of conditions in the area served by Cass City Road will be made and that he will do everything possible to improve the missing link in the Thumb road system.

Father, Son Suffer Fractured Ankles

Joe Harbec and his son, Tom, are recovering from fractured ankles at their home in Cass City.

Joe Harbec suffered his injury while walking along the Cass River last week looking for minnows. His foot turned and his right ankle was fractured.

It was also the right ankle of son, Tom, which was injured. He was playing basketball at Cass City High School gym when his foot slipped.

Both of the ankles were placed in casts by Dr. H. T. Donahue of Cass City.

Band Earns Division Two Rating at MSU

Director Ron Phillips said this week that he was extremely pleased with the performance of the Cass City High School band Saturday at the State Festival at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

The band earned a Division II rating, competing against the best bands in the state. The rating is next to the highest awarded. Mr. Phillips said that Cass City had the smallest band in the state competition.

Two of the four judges, Oscar Stover, assistant director of bands at MSU, and Norman Dietz, director of bands at Central Michigan College, had seen the Cass City band previously.

Each said that they were amazed at the improvement of the band. Mr. Stover, who directed the Cass City band some two years ago, said that he didn't think that a band could improve so tremendously over such a short period of time.

To qualify to compete in the state festival, bands must have received a top, Division I, rating in one of the various district festivals held throughout the state.

Mr. Phillips reported that the band received a Division II rating in each of the various divisions except sight reading in which players were awarded a III rating.

Each band was required to play five numbers. One warm-up, one required composition, two sight-reading selections and one of the band's choice.

Mrs. Ashmore Named "Woman Of the Year"

At the 32nd annual home demonstration achievement day, Mrs. William Ashmore of Gagetown, a member of the North Elmwood group, was chosen the "woman of the year." Mrs. Ashmore has been a member of an extension group in Tuscola County for seven years. She also was a member of a Huron County extension group for three years.

Mrs. Ashmore has been chairman of her group, as well as project leader. When she did not hold an office, she filled in for different officers when their officers were not able to attend meetings. One of the outstanding accomplishments of the North Elmwood group was the village's memorial site for all Gagetown veterans. Mrs. Ashmore took the lead in raising money and giving many hours of her time to get this memorial up, cared for and paid for.

Mrs. Ashmore's interest in extension work does not stop with home demonstration, but goes into 4-H club work. She has been a 4-H leader for 10 years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ashmore live on a farm on the edge of Gagetown. They have three children. Two daughters, Mrs. Richard Schuette and Mrs. Carl Russo, and one son, Richard. The Ashmores have seven grandchildren.

Bell Drive-In. corner M-53 and M-81, will open for season Saturday, May 3.

From the Editor's Corner

Authorities for Michigan Week have compiled a list of origins for names of counties in conjunction with the annual observance May 4-9.

Tuscola County is one of the few in which the origin is obscure. It was organized in 1850 and the name is Indian.

Sanilac County was named after an Indian chieftain and was organized in 1848.

Huron County was the last of the three Thumb counties to be formed. Organized in 1859, it was named after the Indian tribe of the same name.

Many other interesting historical facts about the state were released. For instance, in 1903, the first Model-T Ford was manufactured. In 1917, Michigan sent about 175,000 men into the armed forces during World War I. In World War II, 673,000 Michigan men and women served and in the Korean "police action," 250,000 residents were involved.

Michigan Week will be observed locally with the most elaborate plans in the history of the affair. The community will observe spiritual foundation day, Sunday, May 4, with local churches cooperating and mayor's exchange day, Monday, May 5, when Mayor and Mrs. C. E. Fisher of Gladstone will be guests. The school will also participate with a special program for local civic clubs.

Andrew Bigelow, chairman of the event this year, is asking all business places to display their flags Monday to greet the visiting mayor and his wife.

County Women to Attend Caro Meet

An open meeting, featuring an address by Mrs. Frank Minnick of Bad Axe, will be held for all Extension women and their friends Monday, May 5, at 2 p. m. on the second floor of the courthouse in Caro.

Mrs. Minnick, who represented Michigan in 1957 at the Tri-annual Conference of Associated Country Women of the World in Ceylon, will tell of her trip and show colored slides.

County supervisors will be entertained at a coffee hour at the close of the meeting.

Arraign Spencers In Court Friday

James John Spencer, 18, of Cass City and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Spencer, were arraigned Friday before Justice Ruth Tennant in Caro on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer pleaded not guilty to the charges and will appear May 2 for trial.

The girl will be petitioned into Probate Court. She was apprehended in Utica after she ran away.

Mrs. Trescott, 43, Injured in Accident

Mrs. Lovina E. Trescott, 43, of Cass City suffered a bump on the forehead last week when her car collided with a car driven by Geraldine Watson, 38, of Marlette at the corner of Kingston and Marlette Roads.

Mrs. Watson suffered face lacerations.

State Police who investigated issued a ticket for excessive speed to Mrs. Trescott. She lost control of her car on a curve and it slid into a ditch and struck utility pole guy wires.

To Discuss Mutual School Problems

Ask Gagetown Board To School Meeting

The proposed consolidation of Gagetown and Owendale school districts will affect some 69 pupils now attending Cass City School, it was revealed this week by school authorities.

For this reason, the Gagetown school board has been invited by the Cass City school board to a joint meeting at the library of the school Tuesday evening, May 6, at 8 o'clock.

Bagwell Slated To Speak in Caro Wednesday

Paul Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor, will be the speaker at an "all voter" rally scheduled in Caro Wednesday evening, May 7, at 8 o'clock. The event will be held at the VFW Hall.

Al Kirkendall, Republican county chairman, said that all voters are welcome and urged that "all men, women and young persons interested in better government attend."

Mr. Bagwell is a professor at Michigan State University, currently on leave to conduct his campaign for governor. He was a candidate for Michigan's auditor general post at the last election and led the ticket in defeat.

Church League Slated at Park This Summer

Trustees granted permission for the church softball league to use the Cass City Municipal softball diamond three nights a week this summer.

The league will be charged only for the electricity it uses, it was decided.

Clinton Law, Lee Hartel and Otis Dorland appeared before the council Tuesday evening. Mr. Hartel said that it looks as if there will be a 12 or 14-team league this summer. He said that he felt the money for the lights, estimated at about $3 nightly, could be raised by passing the hat at games.

The teams expect to play on Monday, Tuesday and Friday during June, July and August.

In another action concerning the park's summer program, it was announced that Arthur Holmberg had been hired again as supervisor for the pool this summer. The life-guard will be Clayton Neiman, who will also assist Mrs. Michael Yedinak with the recreation program in the morning.

Postal Boxes for Mail Only Says Orto

Postmaster Steve Orto reported this week that there have been several instances of unauthorized mail placed in mailboxes in the community.

He reminds residents that only letters or parcels with postage paid are allowed in the boxes.

In recent weeks there have been handbills and brochures stuffed in the boxes, he said.

Carl McPherson Not Guilty Says Jury

Carl McPherson was found not guilty of breaking and entering of Massoll Sales, Inc. at Reese by a Tuscola County jury Thursday. The jury deliberated from 11:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. before reaching a decision.

It was the second trial for McPherson whose first trial resulted in a hung jury.

McPherson, 17, of St. Charles was accused of entering the garage of Clarence Massoll during the night of Sept. 19 or the morning of Sept. 20.

Members of the jury were: Daniel Lincoln, Flossie Elliott, Pearl Reid, Don Lanway, Dorothy E. Baird, Marie Irion, Charlotte McComb, Henry Drews, Mrs. George Aldrich, Kenneth Hobart, Clyde Bellinger and Archie Thane.

Authorities said that inquiries from interested local citizens of both districts have led the Cass City board to feel that mutual interests can best be served by a frank discussion of present school problems.

Meanwhile, authorities for Owendale and Gagetown announced that they had received official approval from Lynn Bartlett, Superintendent of Public Instruction to consolidate the two districts.

They have scheduled an open meeting at Owendale High School Thursday, May 1. At this time they expect to point out the reasons why they want to consolidate.

Authorities at Owendale said they were not ready to make public whether or not they were to build a new high school, if voters should approve the merger.

At the present time, there are about 400 children attending Owendale Schools of which some 135 are high school students. Owendale is currently using 10 mills for operating expenses and three mills for debt service. According to a survey by the Michigan Education Association, the valuation of the Owendale district is about $4,800,000.

Gagetown School

The Gagetown school district has the lowest tax rate in Tuscola County. The district is raising eight mills for operating and one mill for debt. With a valuation of $2,610,191, the district is expected to be out of debt by 1960. There are 149 pupils attending the school, including Ellington Township. W. C. Downing is the president of the school board and Leslie Munro is the secretary.

Cass City District. Cass City has a valuation of $8,686,799. This year the school is raising 7.2 mills for operating expenses and 2.7 mills for debt.

The millage for debt has been reduced in recent years. Last year it was 3.3 mills. This year it was set at 2.7 and next year the board plans to set the rate at 2.5 mills.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Fund Projects

Members learned that the Cass City Community Hospital Auxiliary has paid $3,500 of its pledge of $5,000 to the hospital fund at the auxiliary's regular meeting Monday night in the scout rooms in Cass City.

Mrs. Harold Perry was named chairman of the fruitcake project for the organization this fall. She was the chairman for the successful campaign last year.

The group discussed various projects that would be sponsored at the annual Cass City homecoming.

Several members plan to attend a hospital auxiliary workshop in St. Clair May 21. Among them will be Mrs. Almer Krueger, Mrs. Frank Alward, Mrs. C. M. Wallace, Mrs. Richard Erla, Mrs. James Champion, Mrs. Robert Bassett, Mrs. H. T. Donahue, Mrs. Laurence Hartwick, Mrs. Don Koepfgen and Mrs. Grant Hutchinson.

Mr. Braddock shot out two sides of the stop light at the corner of Main and Seeger Streets in the village. He was tried last week on a charge of careless use of firearms and paid a fine and costs of $32.35.

Marshal Bill Wood, who was one of the arresting officers, said that Mr. Braddock may face still a third charge stemming from his early morning escape. He had led officers on a chase at speeds up to 90 miles an hour and still has the threat of a reckless driving charge against him.

Cass City Tops Marlette, Vassar In Track Meet

Cass City continued to dominate competition in track last Wednesday when they swamped Marlette and Vassar in a triangular meet. Cass City scored 85 points, Vassar 29 points and Marlette 23 points.

Bob Tuckey, who seems to improve with every meet, bettered his own track record in the 880-yard run when he posted a 2:10.7 mark in the event. It was the third time that he has set a new school record.

Fred Leeson again paced the Cass City team with firsts in four events for 20 points. The Hawk squad won 11 of the 13 events.

Teens Add Extras To Wardrobes by Sewing Their Own

SMART teenagers are putting sewing machines to work to achieve pretty wardrobe extras so dear to their hearts. Gay and imaginative accessories and additions to a good basic wardrobe are easily achieved with a sewing machine put to work for a few hours.

For example, here's a pleasant solution for that persistent lingerie problem, the worn-out hem of a petticoat whose body is still perfectly good. It's a nuisance to mend the hem because there's usually yards of it! It's fun, however, say local sewing center experts to cut the ruffle off entirely and substitute brightly colored handkerchiefs to flash beneath the hem of your skirts.

Romance is still in fashion! It's certain to be for the angel in white organdie trimmed with black velvet ribbons. This is easily applied with the zigzag attachment using icicle satin stitch.

After cutting the ruffle off, use the narrow hemmer attachment for the sewing machine to make a hem in the raw edge of the petticoat. Stitch the handkerchief together to make a long band with the gathering foot of the machine before attaching them to the petticoat. Otherwise, just top stitch the handkerchief band above the petticoat hem.

Since handkerchiefs have a finished edge, there's no need to put a new hem on the flounce. In your choice of handkerchiefs, be as whimsical as you please.

Decorative Stitches

Trimming tricks which do so much even for the simplest frocks are becoming easy to do. A commercial pattern of the easy-to-make type might be the basis for a gay dress done in a hobby print. All trimmings can be applied automatically, so to speak, with the automatic swing-needle sewing machine or the handy zigzag device, which makes decorative stitching on most straight or all-slant needle machines.

Beauty Breaks Add Grooming, Charm

Beauty breaks are just as important to the married women who spend their days at home as is the coffee break to their working sisters. Both need a chance to pause in the day's routine so they can come back to work refreshed.

Today's busy homemaker finds that several beauty tasks can be dovetailed into her day's activities in five-minute beauty breaks throughout the day. A dozen or so of these breaks will contribute to her morale and grooming, and add up to charm or what Barrie was pleased to call "the bloom on a woman."

A few minutes during the day is enough to powder the nose, if the powder is handy in the laundry or kitchen, apply a dab of perfume, give the hair a few strokes with the hairbrush or smooth on sun tan lotion before going out to garden.

Budget Your Time

Manicures, for example, can be done a bit at a time. Like so many other beauty jobs. It takes only a few minutes, just before dish washing, to file the nails to desired length. Keep an emery board in the kitchen for this. Then, another few minutes or even seconds, right after dishwashing, sees the softened cuticles pushed back to reveal pretty "moons."

Last minute grooming touches while you wait for dinner to finish cooking can include a quick face change if a cabinet provides cleansing cream, face powder and a supply of cotton balls for applying it. It takes only a few minutes to dampen a cotton ball with astringent to whisk off the day's soil and apply fresh powder and a touch of lipstick.

Brighten Eyes, Hair
 Eyes, too, deserve a break during the day, especially when you've been doing some close work such as sewing. A five minute rest period with sterile cotton balls dampened with warm water and placed on the closed lids while you lie down pays big dividends as an eye brightener. It puts sparkle back into tired orbs and lifts your morale.

It's an easy matter to give advice—the problem is to find people who have faith enough to use it.

Don't fool yourself—most of the people who dwell on easy street arrived there over the hard work road.

GREENLEAF

Fraser Ladies Aid met Wednesday at the church for dinner and quilting. The next meeting will be May 7. The committee in charge of dinner arrangements will be Mrs. Clayton Root, Mrs. Henry McLellan and Mrs. Glen Profit.

Mrs. Doris Mudge and Mrs. Eleanor Morris attended the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mudge held at the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens, in Lapar. A large number of guests were present. A delicious buffet lunch was served by the children and grandchildren. The honored couple received a sum of money.

Miss Evangeline MacRae of Saginaw was a week-end guest of her father, Kenneth MacRae.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sowden and daughter Minnie were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Battel.

When you carry packages, don't always carry them on the same side, suggests Coral Morris, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State University. Spine and shoulder strain may result if you do. It's best if you carry things directly in front of yourself.

According to U. S. Department of Agriculture reports, wool is still the most popular material for rugs and carpets.

BULEN TALKS Cars

HOW ABOUT A "SPRING TONIC?"

Putting on your windshield wiper can be like sticking out your tongue—a pretty good sign of how the system is inside.

Most windshield wipers, as you know, operate off engine vacuum and engine vacuum is a direct measure of engine efficiency. We have fancy, expensive machines to measure vacuum, but you can gauge it too by watching the windshield wipers.

The wipers will slow down or stop when you climb a steep hill or accelerate quickly. That's fine, but have you noticed lately that the wipers are stopping more than they used to, or slowing down for easy bursts of acceleration?

If so, your built-in vacuum gauge, the windshield wiper, is telling you it's time for an engine tune-up. No better time than this for a tune-up, with the season of driving-for-fun just ahead when you want the old bus to be at its best.

Speaking of windshield wipers, do you know the right time to replace the wiper blade? Might be an idea to inspect them next time you're out. They should look fresh and dark, not gray and dried out. The wiping edges should be square and sharp.

New blades are really cheap, yet poor blades can be such a strain and a nuisance, to say nothing of how dangerous they are.

There may be a lot of little things on your mind about the family car, funny habits it's developed through the winter, items it may need for a Spring Tonic (like wiper blades).

Drop around and let us have a look. One thing's for sure, we never tire of talking to people about cars.

Spring's here! The grass is turning green, trees are leafing out and the Stock Market is rising. Thanks to positive action it appears the Recession will soon be only a memory.

Buying NOW, what you need and can afford, makes work, puts money into circulation, helps everyone. Let's not listen to the pessimist. The Economy is sound. Let's continue to "Accent the Positive, Eliminate the Negative."

County-Water Wonderland

One of the reasons "It's Great to Live in Michigan" is because it's a "Water Wonderland" and Tuscola County qualifies for this distinction, a water resource survey indicates.

The Cass River headlines county streams. It drains about 445 square miles of land. Even native residents may be surprised to learn that there is a total of 184 miles of streams within the county.

One of the most important features of the county, and one that most folks scarcely give a second thought, is the substantial supply of ground water. This ground water supplies the water for all of the major cities and villages in the county via wells. Served by wells are Cass City, Caro, Gagetown, Kingston, Mayville, Millington, Vassar, Caro State Hospital, Unionville and Akron. All of these wells are supervised by the State Department of Health.

Weather Stations
It's probable that very few persons who live in the county know that there are two United States weather bureau stations in the county. One is at Caro and the other at Millington. Statistics from these stations reveal that it rains more in the Millington area than it does in the Caro area.

Average annual precipitation at Millington is 31.64 inches per year and at Caro 28.16 inches per year.

The county boasts 18 miles of Great Lakes shoreline and uses irrigation. Twelve systems in the county irrigate a total of 328 acres.

Tuscola County, like many other areas in Michigan, is blessed with a very great source of wealth and enjoyment because of its ample water supply, experts have concluded.

Dr. Lockwood Offers Free Consultations

Dr. E. Paul Lockwood, Cass City, announced this week that Correct Posture Week has been set by Congress and President Dwight D. Eisenhower for May 1-7.

During the week, Dr. Lockwood is offering free consultation to anyone suffering from back conditions, functional or structural distortions, he said.

Clinical evidence proves that correct posture in childhood and maturity is beneficial to the health of the individual, Dr. Lockwood concluded.

Little Completes Basic Training

Army Pvt. Thomas V. Little, whose wife, Norajan, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Little, live on Route 3, Cass City, completed basic combat training April 19 with the 2d Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex.

The 20-year-old soldier is a 1956 graduate of Cass City High School.

Feature Horning at Annual Scout Fair

"Uncle Otto" C. Horning, with his amazing display of scouting skills, will be one of the featured booths of the 1958 Scout Fair of the Valley Trails Council of Boy Scouts, Saturday afternoon and evening, May 10, and Sunday afternoon, May 11.

Otto C. Horning

Cass City will have a booth at the fair and will demonstrate first aid at the show at the Saginaw County Fairgrounds.

"Uncle Otto" is credited as the original Scoutmaster of Troop one in Auburn, N. Y., in 1908 and was actively engaged in Scouting before the Boy Scouts of America was officially formed in 1910.

He has a world record for demonstrations of fire lighting by flint and steel and has carved hundreds of bone neckerchief slides which he presents as gifts to scouts and leaders who have achieved outstanding service in scouting.

"Uncle Otto" has citations from national as well as local units of government for his service. Tickets for the event are available from local Cub and Boy Scouts.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage license application received in Tuscola County this week was:

Alfred Martin Petiprin, 25, of Unionville and Kay Signa Conway, 21, of Caro.

Marriage licenses issued were: John Paul Hlavacek, 27, of Millington and Virginia Szatkowski, 26, of Flint.

William F. Stahlbaum, 22, of Cass City and Lillian May Decker, 17, of Cass City.

Donald Eugene Taylor, 23, of Mayville and Alberta Kay O'Neil, 20, of Mayville.

Wilbert William Wirth, 24, of Vassar and Arlene Marie Hecht, 22, of Vassar.

HAWKS WIN TWO

Marlette Game
Burdon fanned 14 and walked just three in his no-hit effort Monday at Marlette. He displayed a lightning fast ball, fine curve and good control. The lefty is looking more and more like a real pitching prospect.

Burdon was again backed up by good glove work from his teammates, who committed just two throwing errors in the game.

The game was much tighter than the final 11-0 score indicated. Until the final inning Cass City had only a narrow 3-0 margin.

Neither team was able to score until the third when Cass City pushed across a run on a walk to Burdon, who advanced to third and scored on an error. Bob Walpole collected the only hit of the inning.

In the fourth Wilson opened with a double and scored when the Marlette second sacker booted a ground ball.

In the fifth, the Hawks also took advantage of an error and a single by Bob Holcomb to score again.

The Hawks made a runaway of the game in the top of the seventh when they scored eight times.

Here's the way the scoring went: Fox walked, Hoagg singled, Deering walked and Wilson was hit by a pitched ball forcing Fox across. Holcomb then singled in Hoagg and Deering and Severance received a life on an error, Wilson scoring. Burdon doubled home Holcomb and Severance.

Johnson was safe on an error and Fox walked. Hoagg then smacked his second hit of the inning to score Johnson and Fox to complete the rout.

The line score:

C	C	0	0	1	1	0	8	R	H	E
Important Game

Thursday, May 1, the Hawks will play at Caro. In pre-season estimates Caro was expected to be Cass City's biggest competition for the title. Coach Clasen regards the game as one of the most important of the season.

The Hawks are scheduled at home Monday when they entertain Crosswell-Lexington.

Deadline Nears for Disposal of Excess Wheat by Farmers

Any Tuscola County farmer who has planted wheat above the farm's acreage allotment should be alert to the deadline of June 10 for disposing of this excess wheat, Charles B. Eckfeld of the Tuscola County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office said today.

If the "excess acreage" is not disposed of within the permitted time, Mr. Eckfeld said, the farmer will not be eligible for wheat price support or Soil Bank payments.

Notices have been sent to all growers who have excess wheat acreage which must be disposed of before the deadline. Farmers who have any questions about disposal are urged to get in touch immediately with the County ASC office for further information and advice.

A new law just passed by Congress provides that the wheat acreage history for 1958 will not be reduced where farmers have exceeded their wheat acreage allotment. The new law delays the law passed in 1957. It does not affect marketing quota provisions. Farmers who exceed quotas will be subject to penalties.

Starting with the 1959 crop, farmers who overplant wheat allotments will not receive history credit for the excess. The history is used to determine the allotment for future years.

Disabled Should Check for Social Security Payments

June 30, 1958, is a very important date for many disabled people, Fred Globig, field representative of the Saginaw Social Security office, said today.

Many persons who are disabled have neglected to apply under the Social Security disability provisions, Globig said. Workers, both men and women, who have been disabled for over a year have until June 30 to file application for the disability freeze or for disability benefits if they are 50 or older. Those who have been disabled for a prolonged period and wait until after June 30 may forfeit their rights to disability benefits at age 50, to maximum old-age benefits, and to benefits for their survivors.

Globig pointed out that there is no deadline for those who file within a year from the time they become disabled. The June 30 deadline applies only to those who have been disabled for a prolonged period.

For more information, pamphlets on the disabled benefits available under Social Security, contact your Social Security office today.

No matter how good we build our highways there will still be many people traveling in the wrong direction.

Garnish macaroni, noodle or spaghetti casseroles so they'll be attractive to serve. You can arrange meat like sausages or meat balls on top or garnish with chopped parsley, parsley sprigs, sliced olives, sliced hard-cooked eggs, diced or sliced green pepper, mushrooms or silvered almonds.

Dollar May Shrink Again This Year Mrs. Clark Says

Many things in your home have value far beyond the price you pay for maintaining your home, says Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county extension agent in home economics. In fact, you can hardly put a dollar value on education, learning to live with others, and experiences you and your family share.

The maturing of each member of your family—physically, emotionally, intellectually, socially and spiritually—has no price tag, but it does take money to maintain a home where this maturing may occur.

Rising prices seem to make your family dollar shrink, Mrs. Clark points out. You needed $1.26 in 1957 to buy what $1 would buy in 1947, according to Lucile Ketchum, Michigan State University extension specialist in home management. This year you will probably need about three cents more, or $1.29 to buy what your 1947 dollar would buy—at least on the average over the year.

This is the "educated guess" of economists. They say, though, that exactly how much your 1958 dollar will be worth depends upon the strength of pressures from various sources during the year. Developments on the international scene and decisions about our national defense needs will be important. So will the amount of spending by state and local governments. And your own decisions about spending—along with decisions of other consumers—will have their effect on the value of your dollar.

There's uncertainty about how much "dollars" will be worth as well as uncertainty as to how many of them you'll have to spend. This raises a great many questions for families. How can we plan for the future? Can we (or should we) get an automatic washer in the budget? Does it pay a homemaker to take another job? How can we help children to learn to manage money? How much credit can we afford?

Asking the question is the first step toward finding answers. We expect to see Tuscola County home demonstration group members looking for some of the answers together as program plans shape up for their 1958-59 year, points out Mrs. Clark.

Slate National Home Demonstration Week

Your home helps build tomorrow's world—and Tuscola County's home demonstration program can—and does—serve you by joining the 6½ million other women who will observe National Home Demonstration Week May 4-10, suggests Mrs. Frances T. Clark, your county extension agent in home economics.

Tuscola County will celebrate the week by having achievement exhibits displayed in store windows throughout the county.

During National Home Demonstration Week, a special thank you will go to all of the county's volunteer leaders. These homemakers make it possible for hundreds of other women to keep up-to-date on the latest homemaking methods and ideas.

Home demonstration work today is aimed at helping families adjust to the changing times. How the program is carried out, however, depends on each county council. Every county has special needs and desires, and these are taken into consideration when the program for the year is planned.

If you would like to join a home demonstration group, or if you have any questions about your role as a homemaker, Mrs. Clark suggests you contact Tuscola County extension office located at Caro in the Courthouse.

23 Grads At Caro State Hospital

Graduation exercises for 23 members of the attendant nurses' training course of the Caro State Hospital will take place at Murray Hall on the hospital grounds Wednesday evening, April 30. This is the sixth class to be graduated since the "in-service" training program was inaugurated in 1953.

Speaker at the event will be Roger M. Howell, M. D., Director of Continuation Education at the Lafayette Clinic of Detroit. His subject will be "Patients, Hospitals and the Community."

The advanced training offered under the program is on a purely voluntary basis for attendant nurses who have successfully completed a 25-hour basic course and are interested in further training. With this class of 23 graduating, half of the attendant nurse employees have now received the advanced training. The training course is under the direction of Dr. W. W. Dickerson, Caro State Hospital Superintendent; Miss LuVerne O'Connor, R. N., Director of Nursing, and Mrs. Evelyn Wells R. N., instructor. The training course, requiring more than six months for completion, represents many hours of classroom instruction, lectures and demonstrations. The members of the medical staff and department heads at the hospital have an active part in the success of the course. The purpose of the course is to better equip attendant nurses with the specialized knowledge and skills required to meet the increasing needs of patients under the hospital's care.

The course is approved by the State Civil Service Commission and the State Department of Mental Health. Among the graduates are:

Maxine Albrant, Caro; Alice L. Anderson, Caro; William H. Bailey, Caro; Hazel A. Case, Caro; Carlton J. Chambers, Caro; Dorolyn Davis, Caro; Nora M. Dodge, Caro; Wildrex English, Caro; Loretta M. Enos, Caro; Ronald Iseler, Caro; Gladys Koch, Caro; Laurence Martin, Caro, and Ireta M. McCoon, Caro.

Agent Asks Families To Share Home

Young men and women from foreign lands will be journeying to the United States, Michigan and perhaps Tuscola County this summer relates Bill Muller, County Extension Agent in 4-H Club-work.

The International Farm Youth Exchange program under which families host these men and women is now entering its 12th year.

This I.F.Y.E. program can contribute much to the host family and be enriching and satisfying to each individual.

In the past I.F.Y.E. students from Turkey, England, and Ecuador have visited Tuscola County. Last year the Fred Janks family of Ellington, hosted Ricardo Rosa of Uruguay for three weeks in September. Other families can have the opportunity of sharing experiences with an I.F.Y.E. by contacting the County 4-H Club Agent's office in Caro.

New Lawns Need Plenty of Water

Newly seeded lawns need lots of water. In fact, the most important step in caring for a newly seeded lawn is to make certain that the surface layer of soil always contains enough moisture to keep little seedlings alive after the seeds germinate.

Don R. Keblor, county extension agent in agriculture, advises watering the lawn as often as is necessary to keep the surface moist. Use a fine spray to avoid washing the soil. You may need to sprinkle the new seeding two or three times daily.

After the grass is one inch tall, you can water by soaking the soil to a depth of four or five inches. Then allow it to dry until the grass shows signs of wilting.

Begin mowing the lawn as soon as the grass is three inches tall. A sharp mower is essential for cutting new seedlings. Set the cutter bar to a height of two inches and maintain the grass at this height. More information on making and caring for the new lawn is contained in a Michigan State University extension folder available at the Tuscola County extension office. A copy is free for the asking. The number of folder is F-211.

When you shop for spring and summer clothes you'll find many are made of blends. Dacron-and-cotton blends come in many weights from sheers to suitings. Dacron-and-linen is a popular blend for spring costumes. Some blends contain natural fibers; some combine natural with synthetic fibers. Arnel, alone or in blends, is being used in spring clothing.

The low-waistline two-piece effect in spring cottons is new and youthful, especially in the "middy" look.

SECOND-HAND

The things that come to the man who waits seldom turn out to be what he was waiting for.

SHORT-SIGHTED

The man who stands in his own light imagines that the whole world is in the dark.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I can always tell when spring gets here official. My old lady starts house cleaning and rearranging the furniture. For instance, I've moved that sofa in the parlor ever spring for 30 years. I've wore a place in the upholstery off the darn thing pushing it from one corner of the room to the other. But it ain't no use arguing with the old lady when spring gets here. It's better to just listen—even if you ain't hearing nothing.

Of course, I ain't complaining about spring, just about the way wimmen abuse it. It's mighty nice ever year to come to the end of the longest, nose-blowingest, disagreeable winter you can remember. It means it won't be long till you'll be enjoying the longest, driest, hottest summer you have ever saw, including the mosquitoes. Adam and Eve made several mistakes, but the worst they made was not swatting them two mosquitoes in the Garden of Eden. And I don't think much of Noah's judgment for taking a pair of 'em aboard the Ark.

In spring it's mighty good to see the trees putting out, the calves getting frisky, and the grass getting green. But I try not to get too poetic about these things, try to use restraint. Long ago I come to remember that if the buttercups is in bloom, the weeds can't be far behind. Any piece of farming land looks mighty pretty in the spring, when it's just broke and there ain't a weed in sight. But spring is like a politician at election time. It sounds good and most folks fall for it, but spring and politicians with their promises run out, summer comes with hot weather and flies and weeds in the crops and taxes getting higher, and no more paved roads than you had before the election. And I never forget that summer brings fruit canning time, the time when my old lady can screw on a fruit jar top so tight it'll take a can opener, a chisel, a hammer, and 20 minutes for me to get it off next winter.

I see by the papers where Poland upped her defense budget 80 million dollars for the coming year, the exact amount of our "aid" to that country. You can't beat that system for keeping taxes down—in Poland.

Here at home news is lean. Ed Doolittle's son and daughter-in-law has separated again. They fall out about twice a month, so that ain't news. Ed's boy says he loved Hattie enough to eat her up when they was married, and after living with her 15 years he wished he had.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

SHORT STORY

He Who Has Ears

By Don Wood

BILL BROWN tugged again at the collar of his shirt and tried to hide his work-grimed knuckles in the pocket of his Sunday suit. Around him in the outer office of the General Manager sat three other men. I'm out of place here, Bill told himself.

Any one of these men stands a better chance of becoming Superintendent than I. His fist crumpled a sheet of paper in his pocket as he reflected on his years of service to Atlas Motors. Ten happy years as a master machinist. Until the note had been pinned on his time card last evening he had given little thought to promotion.

His chances still were mighty slim. The other three applicants all had as much shop experience as he, and some management time as well.

Ellen had been wildly excited when he showed her the note last Grabbing a grease gun, he shot the lubricant home to the thirsty bearing.

night. She had read it, and re-read it. . . . "You are requested to be at Mr. Mather's office at 9:00 am tomorrow to be interviewed in connection with the placement of a new plant superintendent."

In vain Bill had tried to keep Ellen's hopes from soaring.

"Pooch, Bill Brown. Why shouldn't Atlas want you for the job? Aren't you the best man they have?"

She had still been enthusiastic this morning as she kissed him on his way to the shop. "Call me as soon as you know," she had whispered.

One by one the others entered the inner office for their interview, and returned to await Mr. Mather's decision. He was going to be the last.

Perspiration stood out on his forehead, and a glance passed among the others as he wiped it away.

His heart beat in time with the vibrations of machinery coming up from the shop floor below. Bill frowned as a new whine added to the din. He glanced at the others. They had not noticed.

That whine could mean only one thing. A big thrust bearing in the new lathe was running low on grease. It had better be oiled QUICK.

"Mr. Brown. MR. BROWN! Mr. Mather will see you now."

The office girl held the inner door ajar, waiting.

Bill's heart hit bottom. He knew what he must do. Yet, it meant he must give up his chance for an interview.

He bolted past the startled girl, ran the length of the shop stairs. Grabbing a grease gun he shot the lubricant home to the thirsty bearing.

The high thin whine ceased. He leaned against the warm gray machine and looked down at the grease spots on his white shirt. Most of all, he dreaded the phone call he must make to Ellen, telling how he had missed his chance.

"Couldn't you hear that bearing talking to you?" he demanded of the machine operator.

"Sure did, Bill! It almost drove me crazy. I was hoping you would get here soon."

A hard hand landed with a slap on Bill's shoulder.

"Don't blame the operator, Bill. I told him to let that bearing squeal a few minutes." Bill turned to see the grin of the general manager.

"Figured one of you four men would hear that noise. Wanted to know which one of you could have our interests at heart over your own."

Turning to the men around the machine, Mr. Mather said, "Boys, here is your new Superintendent."

His hand squeezed hard on Bill's shoulder.

The manager handed Bill a rag, and pointed to the spots on the white shirt. "Come up to my office when you get cleaned up. And . . . uh . . . if you'd like to use my phone . . ."

The harsh rag bit into Bill's hands. He grinned. "That I would, sir."

THE TRUTH HURTS
Don't worry about the falsehoods people tell about you—just be thankful they don't tell the truth about you.

Plenty of Color In Spring Clothes

The color picture for spring and summer fashions shows a wide variety of colors creating new and interesting effects in their combinations, says Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county extension agent in home economics.

Many sports clothes have a nautical look—they're using the red-white-blue of sailing flags in both costume fabric and as trimming. The bright, clear colors of the Marine insignia are often seen as trim.

Small checks, stripes and plaids in blue, gray and brown similar to combinations usually seen in men's clothing have been translated into feminine versions. They're being shown in light, sheer fabrics for summer.

Misty colors add feminine flattery this season. You'll see delicately muted beiges and silvery grays, some tinged with a hint of green, or a mere breath of pink or blue.

Red has taken on flower tones for summer. It ranges from the delicate pink of wild rose to deep peony red. Some shades with traces of blue or orange take on the bright, bold colors of the zinnia.

Sunny colors add a bright, gold-tinge to the picture. You'll see many shades and values of coral, tangerine, melon, marigold and vivid yellow. Nautical blues are popular along with the blue-greens to remind you of the sea. Some blues have a touch of mauve like grape hyacinth, French lilac and delphinium blue.

Muted and grayed greens are most popular in colors like sage, olive or almond.

Weed Control No
Gamble-It Pays

Chemical weed control is not a gamble -- it is a sound, economical practice. But to get good control of weeds, you should follow these basic principles, says Don R. Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture.

Weeds are killed most easily when the weather favors weed-seed germination and rapid plant growth. Chemicals recommended for selective weed control kill best when weed seeds are germinating or when plants are young. Use the recommended rate of application.

Do not disturb the soil in the crop row after applying chemicals. If you disturb the area near the plants, you destroy the chemical layer. Rates differ with soil type. In general, use the lower recommended rates on light or sandy soils. Rates recommended for mineral soils may not be effective on muck soils.

Know your weed species. This is important because several chemicals are effective on certain species only.

Know the chemical's limitation. Beware of the wind drift and volatility of the chemical. Use only low volatile forms of 2, 4-D on vegetable and fruit farms. Be careful not to spray herbicides near sensitive crops such as grapes and tomatoes.

Full details on chemical weed control for vegetable and small fruits are available in a new Michigan State University extension folder just received in the county extension office. Copies are free. Ask for F-241.

Nitrogen Spacing
Values Studied*Various Applications
Don't Affect Yields

Different spacings of liquid and gas nitrogen fertilizer applications had little or no effect on wheat yields last year at the Oregon State college Sherman branch experiment station at Moro.

Bill Hall, station superintendent, said Rio wheat yields from test plots were comparable for both anhydrous ammonia and aqua ammonia nitrogen when fertilizer applicator shanks were spaced 16, 24, and 32 inches apart.

Depth of application, tested at 3 inches and 6 inches, for various spacings also gave no yield differences. However, the shallow depth is more difficult to apply since nitrogen may escape if applicator shanks cross depressions in the field.

The Moro test plots were treated with 40 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre prior to seeding last September. Yields from all treatments were approximately 23 bushels per acre compared to 28 bushels from a check plot receiving no nitrogen.

A further check against results was application of ammonium nitrate—a dry form of nitrogen broadcast on top of the soil—that yielded the same as the other treatments when applied at the 40-pound rate.

The findings were further supported by 1955 trials at the Moro station when equal wheat yields were obtained with shank spacings of 10, 16, and 22 inches and depths of 3, 6, and 9 inches. Similar results have been reported from the Pendleton branch experiment station.

Wheat Curl Mite Pest of Wheatlands

A 3-year search for insects and mites that could spread the highly destructive wheat streak-mosaic virus has revealed that the wheat curl mite is probably the only carrier of this virus in the Great Plains region, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

The search was made in cooperation with the Kansas and Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Stations by R. V. Conlin of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, and R. Staples of the Nebraska Station.

The wheat curl mite was implicated as the carrier of this virus in Canada by Dr. J. T. Slykhuis in 1953.

Wheat streak-mosaic has been especially destructive to winter wheat in western Kansas and has caused severe damage in Nebraska, Colorado, and South Dakota. Some loss to the disease is reported also in Wyoming and western Iowa, and at scattered points elsewhere in the United States.

The disease has wiped out entire wheat crops in some areas. The virus invades and grows within the wheat plant, destroying the all-important green pigment, chlorophyll, and causing plant leaves to become streaked, spotted, or mottled with yellow. Growth of the plant is hampered or halted.

If your dairy cows have been troubled with bloat, you may want to feed them penicillin during the pasture season, suggest dairy researchers at Michigan State University.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Problems that plagued Michigan when the 1958 legislature convened last January are still unsolved.

Most of the state's problems have dollar signs and all are tied to the economic illness a-broad in the land.

The legislature will return May 15 for a two-day adjournment session at which six of the 1958-59 budget bills will get final action.

Warnings three months ago that slump in tax revenue and general resistance to new levies would mean cutbacks were borne out with heavy impact as the regular session ended.

Higher education was hardest hit. Michigan State University was cut $1,011,000 under current expenditures; the University of Michigan $900,000. Smaller colleges got smaller reductions.

Difficult administrative problems result from the cutbacks. Colleges and universities are trying hard to prepare for the "tidal wave" of students which has been moving through grade and high schools. Officials indicated they would be forced to "borrow from the future" by postponing purchases, slowing down programs, maintaining present pay schedules, reducing personnel in some categories.

cutting back on building maintenance.

At MSU a way will have to be found to keep in existence the Traffic Safety Center and the Labor Management Relations Institute or they will die. Neither program was provided for in this year's budget. The same is true at U-M's Human Resources Institute.

In closing hours pressure developed quickly and heavily on the legislature to make adjustments. The Republican party in the House held firm for the final vote on the education bill, retaining the cuts.

"If we gave ground on education, we would have to relax on everyone else," said one House member.

Various estimates gauged budget cuts as between 2.5 per cent and 10 per cent among the 114 agencies of state government. Republicans said it would mean layoffs of employees.

Reasons for the cutbacks lay in the general economic slump. When sales fall off, sales tax revenue declines. Business, which pays a good share of the state's revenue, pays on the rate of business volume.

"Wait 'til next year,"

That's the prediction of legislators of both parties. They now base their guesses on national forecasts that the slump will end by mid-summer and refer to revised state tax, structure recommendations that should be ready in 1959.

Two committees of the legislature are hard at work trying to find the answers. An intangibles tax boost, part of one tentative study report, became a major factor in the 1958 session.

Shortly after the report was made and tax experts were studying how it could be applied, Gov. Williams took it over.

The governor's proposal: the tax be imposed this year to pour $20,000,000 into the sagging state treasury. Republicans rebelled and bottled it up in the House.

Next year, it will be embraced in a package of other proposals—in an attempt to bail Michigan's government out of a sea of red ink.

Increases in the cost of driver's licenses were enacted by the 1958 session.

They will boost original licenses from $2.50 to $3; renewals from $1.50 to $2 and chauffeur's licenses from $1.25 to $1.50. The $1 fee for minor's restricted licenses will be unchanged.

Biggest part of the increase will be to raise $700,000 for driver education in the high schools, and 25 cents of the total increases will go for identification photographs on licenses.

The legislature ruled that the photograph could not be added until money is appropriated—delaying the effectiveness of the new law until 1959.

Labor has two major items at stake when the legislature comes back to Lansing in May.

Still dangling are an unemployment compensation emergency benefit program and a proposal to require labor unions to make annual financial reports to the labor mediation board.

Both are controversial. Democrats charge that the $1 a week increase and maximum 14-week extension of benefits on a percentage of original benefits are temporary, while other benefits to industry are permanent. Unionists charge that the "tell-all" bill requiring financial reports is the first step toward a "right-to-work" law—the ban of labor unions everywhere.

Hog prices this fall should stay high enough to make farmers a profit providing consumer buying doesn't dip any more than is currently predicted, thinks a Michigan State University farm economist.

Putting forage up as grass silage can help cut field and storage losses of nutrients by as much as 60 per cent, believe Michigan State University economists. Only about two-thirds of the potential feed nutrients from an acre of alfalfa-brome grass harvested as field-cured baled hay reach the cow.

Specialist Speaks to Saddle Club Leaders

All six 4-H Saddle Clubs of Tuscola County were represented at a Tuesday evening meeting last week, reports Bill Muller, County 4-H Extension Agent.

Ralph Morrow, Extension Specialist in Animal Husbandry, met with the leaders and discussed the 4-H Saddle Program in Michigan and stated that in 13 years the project has grown from 250 members to over 2400. Practically every county in Michigan, the Upper Peninsula included, has members enrolled in this popular recreational project. Tuscola County now enrolls 120 youngsters in the six organized 4-H Saddle Clubs covering the county.

Faye Loss, saddle club chairman, opened the meeting on our program of work planning a county 4-H Saddle program, and developing the saddle club section for the Tuscola County Fair Book followed.

Faye also stressed the importance for monthly county meetings in order that all clubs and clubmembers would have an equal opportunity to learn the fundamentals that go with this project.

Plants Can Have Medical Value

Old wives' tales and folklore about medical properties of plants have some basis in fact about 90 per cent of the time, reports a professor of horticulture at Michigan State University.

Dr. E. H. Lucas has investigated some 600 species of plants mentioned in folklore as therapeutic drugs. Among his more promising findings are cancer-inhibiting agents in some mushrooms and a bacteria-killing substance in St. John's-wort.

A researcher's chances of finding effective new drugs in plants are three times better if he uses folklore as a guide than if he selects plants at random, he estimates.

Many scientists, Dr. Lucas stated, have investigated a few plants mentioned in folklore, but have given up in disgust because their experiments showed no positive results.

"Many folk tales," he explained, "stem from ancient civilizations such as those of Egypt, Babylon and China, thousands of years before Christ. Remedies were taken from specific plants and prescribed for uniform populations. Man has changed since then and so have many of the plants. Plant names have changed too."

Instead of testing a folk remedy as described in a tale, Dr. Lucas searches for its basis. He tests the plants thoroughly.

As a 20th century scientist, Dr. Lucas has high regard for the men who originated the cures handed down in the old tales. "They must have been remarkable men," he said. "Though their names have been lost, their knowledge has survived dark periods in man's history."
