From the Editor's Corner

Chamber of Commerce President B. A. Calka came into the office this week and asked us to pass along his appreciation to everyone who donated time and equipment to help make this year's Home-coming a success.

We believe kudos are in order to "Curly" for his work on the event. Only those who have served on the Chamber board realize what a tremendous job preparing for the event has become.

For the last two weeks Mr. Calka has devoted most of his time preparing for the show... including much of the time that he could have used in his real estate business. "But I have my shingle again Monday," he said with a grin, "and I'm back in business now."

It's nice to be able to report that Walbro Corporation, already having its best year for steady employment, should get even better with the addition of Autopulse Sept. 1. It's another Concluded on page 12.

Home-coming Events Delight Crowds

It rained on Home-coming day in Cass City for the first time in nine years Thursday, but the light shower did not interfere with the all-day and two-evening program that drew thousands to the Cass City Recreational Park.

Starting with the 4-H and FFA Livestock Show in the morning and continuing through the dance in the evening, each event was viewed by throngs of holiday-minded residents and visitors.

Cars started to line Main Street for the annual parade as early as 10 a. m. and by noon every parking space along the parade line was filled and the sidewalks were lined with persons waiting to see the event.

They were treated to a big parade that included the usual floats, machinery, school band and kids' parade. Added attractions this year included a Scotch band, "crazy" bouncing car, members of the Rodeo on horseback and many others.

Queen Reigns
A change in the program for selecting the queen was made this year. The queen was crowned at noon so that she could reign over the Home-coming instead of in the evening at the end of the program. Honored was Miss Sandra Bryant. Selected, for her court were Miss Janet McConkey and Miss Carole Fisher. All contestants were present at the rodeo Thursday night when gifts were presented to the girls.

Kids' Parade
Director Eli Holes estimated that there were some 100 entries in the kids' parade, including bicycles. Among the entries were many top caliber floats that made judging the top three a difficult decision.

The judges finally awarded the top prize to the Alaskan float of Eric and Mary Esau, Brenda and Mary Powell, Jimmy Allen and Timmy Barnes.

Second place went to the queen of hearts float of Sharon, Margie and Carol Clark. A close third was the Hawaiian float of Kathy Whalin and Tim Knight.

Horse-pulling Contest
As always, the horse-pulling contest was one of the feature events of the day, attracting its usual large crowd. Although there were only eight teams entered, authorities felt that it was one of the best in the history of the event.

A new record was set for the teams of 3,200 pounds and under when Walter Putnam's team from

55 Little Leaguers Feted at Picnic

An estimated 100 parents and their sons attended a potluck picnic dinner at the Cass City Recreational Park Saturday to cap a highly successful first year of Little League baseball in Cass City.

All of the 55 boys who participated in the league were honored and special accolades were given to the Indians who won the record robin schedule with a 7-3 record and the post season tournament. Also honored were the 15 boys selected on the all-star team.

The Indians, behind the tight pitching of young Danny Robinson, ace of the staff, came from behind to win Cass City's first Little League championship with a one-run decision. They were coached by Howard "Baldy" Ellis

Tyo Recovering After Near Fatal Fall at Park

Alex Tyo narrowly escaped death Wednesday evening, Aug. 6, when he fell from a plank platform erected on top of a stock truck that was used to erect the home-coming sign at the gateway to the Cass City Recreational Park.

Dr. E. T. Donahue, who treated Mr. Tyo, said that he was bleeding from both ears from the fall and suffered one of the most severe skull fractures that it is possible to incur.

Dr. Donahue also said that it was miraculous that Mr. Tyo escaped without a broken neck. Witnesses said that he fell on his shoulder and head.

Mr. Tyo was unconscious for a short period and suffered from nausea and headaches for several days after the accident. He was to have been released from the hospital Wednesday. He will be required to spend an additional week in bed at his home.

Little Injured
Jerry Little of Cass City suffered a sprained ankle in another accident Wednesday. Mr. Little was working with wires at Walbro Corporation when the accident occurred.

He was mistakenly informed that the wires he was working on were dead. They proved to be alive and he was grounded on the aluminum ladder he was working with.

He fell some 15 feet. His heel is in a semi-cast, but he was back at work this week, Walbro authorities said.

Kruegers Tell of Great Lakes Cruise

A month's cruise on the Great Lakes is the ideal way of taking the strain out of living and relaxing from everyday cares, Mr. and Mrs. Almer Krueger reported this week following their 27-day outing in their 34-foot double cabin cruiser.

Starting at Wallace's cut on Saginaw Bay the Kruegers cruised for 100 hours and covered some 1,200 miles in the trip that took them to Mackinac Island, Tawas City, Presque Isle, Charlevoix, Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Wis., Muskegon and many other points of interest along the way before they returned to their starting point.

Most of the trip was taken in short jaunts, however, on two occasions the couple traveled for eight and a half hours and covered some 120 miles.

To Hire 30 More Walbro Moving Autopulse Here

The Electric Autopulse division of Walbro Corporation is in the process of moving from Ludington to Cass City and will be operating at the plant here by Sept. 1, W. E. Walpole, Walbro president, announced this week.

The move will provide an additional 30 jobs for Cass City area residents, Mr. Walpole said. In addition, it is expected to stabilize the employment of the corporation. "The cycle of sales of autopulse products is somewhat different from that of the carburetors, Mr. Walpole explained. "We are constantly seeking ways to protect our people against seasonal fluctuations and that was one of the primary reasons which prompted us to buy the Autopulse business."

At the present time, Autopulse in Ludington hires from 55 to 60 persons. But due to increased operating efficiency expected in Cass City, the corporation has estimated about 30 extra jobs in Cass City due to the transfer.

Many Changes
The addition of Autopulse to Cass City has required a revamping of the present Walbro building and another 60x100-foot building is planned on the last two and a half acres remaining in the 21-acre industrial site.

Already completed are substantial changes in the parent building, preparing for Autopulse and increasing the operating efficiency of the corporation.

Office space has been increased by some 1,000 feet. There has been a complete division of offices used in conjunction with the manufacturing products and the executive offices.

The space devoted to manufacturing has been increased by some 500 feet.

The extra space for offices and manufacturing was gained by eliminating the space used by the engineering staff.

Rent Building
Temporary headquarters for the engineering, development and experimental staff are in the building owned by Joe Riley on East Main Street in Cass City.

The new building to be erected will be the new headquarters for the combined Autopulse and Walbro engineering, experimental and development staffs when completed.

Home Extension Agent's Corner

Frances T. Clark
County Home Demonstration Agent

The Tuscola County Fair week looms high with everyone in the county. The Fair exhibits committee has made the last of their exhibit material and are ready to assemble the exhibits in the Merchants' Building by Monday a. m. on August 18.

I hope that all of the extension women who visit the Fair this year will stop a minute to see the home demonstration extension women's exhibits. Also, why not let the committee members know your reactions to the exhibits? The following are the women responsible for this year's exhibits: Mrs. Loren Ewald, South Unionville group; Mrs. Don Ewald, Columbia Corners group; Mrs. Robert Schmuck, Unionville group; Mrs. Erwin Van Patten, Gilford group; Mrs. C. N. Van Wormer, Arhela group, and Mrs. Jay Mowry from the Northwest Fairgrove group.

On September 9, the Mayville group will be hostess to the entire home demonstration extension group membership. This meeting will be the Fall Rally and will be held in the Mayville High School auditorium at 8 p. m. The committee has secured an outstanding speaker for the occasion, Mrs. Robert Stratton, a helping teacher in the St. Clair County school system. Mrs. Stratton has been an exchange teacher and spent those years teaching in the schools of the Orient. Her topic is "Women of the Orient."

The fall council meeting will be held on September 12 (Friday) at 2 p. m. in the courthouse. During August's hot days, are you serving lots of salads?

Salads do fit into almost any spot on the menu; but not every salad will fit every spot. There are appetizer salads, accompaniment salads, main dish salads and dessert salads. The appetizer salad is served before the main course. It should be a tangy combination that stimulates the appetite. A tart fruit salad or one of the crisp vegetable salads will do. Fish salads, such as crab, shrimp or lobster are also good, but keep the portions of them small. Remember that the purpose is to stimulate the appetite, not to satisfy it.

An accompaniment salad is served with the main course or to provide a change in taste and texture between the main course and dessert. Keep this salad light and crisp. Here, again, a vegetable salad or a tart fruit salad would be appropriate. Tossed salads are good accompaniment salads.

A main dish salad makes up the main part of the meal. A good summer main salad is a potato salad with strips of cold meat or hard-cooked eggs. Then by adding protein foods, such as chicken, fish, cheese or egg, you can make a crisp green or vegetable salad into a main dish for a luncheon or supper.

Sweet fruits and rich dressings are the best choice for a dessert salad. In fact, a frozen salad made with whipped cream is particularly suitable for after a dinner meal or, better yet, for a dessert party.

I hope that you are enjoying the season's fresh produce and have a salad with your next lunch or dinner. I know that the rest of your family will also enjoy the salads that you make and serve.

Michigan Mirror News In Brief

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Relentless as the passing of time is the continuing pressure for more school facilities. If Michigan's citizens do not face up to the problem, the natural result will be a steady deterioration of the educational system. If they do, solutions can be developed and the "problem" controlled.

Biggest pinch comes at the college level. Masses of youngsters who clogged grade schools beginning years ago are now preparing for college. Campuses are already crowded; are in pressing need of classroom and other facilities. These take years to build.

Reductions in state college and university budgets in the last session of the legislature meant a moratorium on building programs for this need. It also meant that most of the teaching staff, already on the short end of the salary stick, received no pay increases.

Results: The more competent staff members of the state institutions are hired away by other colleges and universities or by private industry; fewer good teachers to teach more students in increasing crowded space.

Unless ways can be found to finance sound education programs for those who want to attend college, today's high school student may not be able to become tomorrow's college student.

Pressure is still great at grade school level. Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of Public Instruction, recently pointed out that more than a million and a half youngsters are enrolled in public schools. In September about 70,000 more will be attending classes than last year.

Some 11,000 more classrooms are needed now; this despite the 4,130 which were built last year. By 1964 about 29,000 more classrooms will be needed.

The state requires 2,500 to 3,000 more teachers this year than last year. This makes a total of 61,000 teachers and administrators working in school systems.

Records show Michigan will spend about $725 million this coming year for educating its young people. This seems to be a large sum.

Whether it is a large enough sum or not is a decision every parent and every citizen should be anxious to make—after a complete consideration of the facts.

Summer visitors are an important part of Michigan's economy. And some of them offer a resource that has hardly been tapped.

This potential was described by Don C. Weeks, director of the Michigan Economic Development Commission. "Among these vacationers are many manufacturers," he points out. "They like to come to Michigan because they enjoy our lakes, streams, beaches and the quiet comfort of our resort areas. The whole town pitched in to build the plant and now Morley employment is up by about 50 workers."

Mr. Turner didn't know the man nor did he have any idea about what he was speaking. He inquired around until he determined the man's name, his business and address. A trip to see the manufacturer resulted in selection of Morley as the site for a new plant, even at a time when the manufacturer was waiting for replies from several other communities to which he sent inquiries about facilities.

As a result of conversations with "strangers in town" two other small Michigan communities have "live" industrial prospects, relates Weeks. One of them became a prospect because a large catch of fish made him enamored of the area he was visiting.

Michigan farmers are faring at least as well as last year, is the indication as this year's crops ripen for harvest.

Strawberries did the best in many seasons, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The weather was just right to produce a large crop of this tasty fruit.

Raspberries did well too, especially when a large carry-over of frozen berries was on hand from last year.

Grapes might be a problem. This year some 56,000 tons are expected. This compares with 48,000 tons last year. But the catch is the big New York crop which will offer competition. New York will market almost twice the number of grapes as it did last year.

Michigan apples will be on hand in somewhat fewer number than last year. About 10,200,000 bushels should be produced. But the crop will have tougher competition than last year when much of the yield from western orchards was frozen out. This year other states had good growing weather.

Peaches will amount to a 3,000,000 bushel commodity. This year's crop is expected to be especially tasty.

The young live in the future, the old in the past—leaving only a few to live in the present.

Heart and mind may make the man, but a little sunshine greases his way through life.

The man without character has to depend on reputation to pull him through life's battles.

BULEN TALKS Cars

THE "GOOD OLD DAYS" WEREN'T SO GOOD

There's hardly a day goes by that one person or another comes on the used car lot and makes some comment that car manufacturers don't make cars as well as they used to. You know the comments I mean "Back in '32 they made a real car"; "Won't stand up like my old '490'"; "Never was a car that would go as far as an old model T."

A few days ago I was reading in a magazine published for Car Dealers. They were comparing cars of the past with ones made today. There's a difference in quality and lasting ability all right... but it's all in favor of the car on the road today.

The average car built today will travel some 110,000 miles before it will be ready for the junk heap. In 1923, the average car travelled fewer than 26,000 miles before it found its way to the scrap pile. You not only get more car... but you get a better car today than you ever got before.

Now, you won't find any cars on our lot with 110,000 miles on them. You will find some choice late models with 25,000 and 30,000 miles... and you can be sure that they are the pick of the crop from our trades on new cars. And you can also be sure that we've been over them with a "fine-tooth comb" to see that you get a good car.

You get more miles of trouble free and economical driving when you drive a Bulen Motors used car.

Good Example: Bob Bassett's 1956 Mercury Montclair Sport Coupe (Hardtop). Painted a beautiful Red and White with Black and white Upholstery and Whitewall tires. This car has Power Steering, Power Brakes, Automatic Transmission, Deluxe Radio, Heater and Defroster, many other extras. This car has only 26,000 actual miles on it. Backed by our liberal Guarantee.

55 others to choose from, all makes and models. Come in and browse around?

Financial Report of Cass City Public Schools

We started the year with an enrollment of 538 in the grades, 125 in Junior High, and 461 in Senior High. Because of annexation non-resident students have gone down in grades 7-12, leaving us a balance of approximately 230 non-resident students.

Financially, the school closed with a balance of $18,901.92. Our General Fund balance is $5,871.42, which is below our General Fund as we started the year. We have not had to borrow any money as yet on anticipated receipts for next year. $7,500 was transferred to the Building and Site Fund.

Prospects for next year indicate a slight decrease in high school students and a small increase in the grades.

Per Capita Cost has risen to approximately $130. Last year it was $115.

With our Farm Shop and General Shop operating full time this year and a little more space available as a result of the shop space we look for a better year in these departments.

A curriculum change for this year will be a course in beginning French.

Five new teachers have been added to the staff including another Elementary teacher for grades 5 and 6.

The annual meeting of the Cass City Public Schools No. 5 held in Cass City High School Auditorium was called to order by President Ross.

The minutes of the previous annual meeting were read and approved.

The financial report for the year ending June 30, 1958, as prepared by the Auditor Karl J. Leppan, was given by Treasurer, Elizabeth Walpole. The report showed a balance of $5,871.42 in the General Fund; $8,219.09 in the Building and Site Fund; $33,542.94 in the Debt Retirement Fund; $408.47 in the Hot Lunch Fund; and $8,716.51 in the Student Activities Fund. The report also showed that $8,000 principal had been paid during the year on the 1950 Bond issue, leaving a balance of $54,000 in outstanding bonds; and $9,000 was paid on the 1954 Bond issue, leaving a balance of $152,000. These are offset by a reserve of $29,140. Moved by William O'Dell, seconded by Glenn Tuckey that the treasurer's report be accepted. Motion carried.

Moved by Glenn Tuckey, seconded by Orion Cardew that we transport pupils living one mile in any direction from the school building. Motion carried.

Mr. Campbell gave a report on the disposal of the rural school buildings.

The report of the election held was as follows: 56 ballots cast; James R. Gross 28, Delbert E. Rawson 28.

Two candidates were to be elected. Therefore, James R. Gross and Delbert E. Rawson were declared elected.

Moved by Glen Tuckey that we adjourn. Motion carried, 12 people were present at the meeting.

Final Rites Held For Gerald N. Bullis

Funeral services were held Friday at Little's Funeral Home for Gerald N. Bullis, who died Aug. 5 at Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak. Rev. Robert Weckle officiated. Burial was in Novesta Cemetery.

Mr. Bullis was born in Sanilac County April 12, 1925. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank and Nellie Hillaker Bullis.

In January, 1954, he married Miss Ila McCluggage in Farmington, where they lived after their marriage.

Good Plant Nutrition Aids Insect Control

Malthion Works Better On Well-Fed Plants

Preliminary experiments by USDA scientists indicate the possibility of a correlation between giving plants the nutrients they need for optimum growth and successful control of spider mites at tacking such plants.

The scientists found that spider mites attacking pole lima beans were easy to kill with malthion when the beans were supplied with proper amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium for good growth. But they found mites generally harder to kill on plants receiving either less or more than required amounts of each nutrient.

Experiments conducted at Beltsville, Md., indicate that resistance to insecticide noted in insects and mites may actually represent changes in susceptibility caused by variations in plant nutrient levels.

Subsequent experiments may help determine the advantages of timing insect control practices with seasonal variations of nutrients in plants. The continued research may also disclose why susceptibility of mites to an insecticide decreases when nutrient levels are above or below plant requirements. Further work will also include study of the possible effects of mite susceptibility of plant-growth variations produced by variations in light and temperature.

"Slide Rule" to Help Conservation of Soil

Research data on soil conservation gathered by USDA scientists over the past 30 years is now readily available for practical use by technicians in the form of a simple "conservation slide rule" which makes possible fast and reliable soil-loss estimates right in the field.

This slide rule, developed from information compiled by the Agricultural Research Service, is in use by soil-conservation technicians in the nine Corn Belt States to help farmers protect their land. It was designed by Dr. J. J. Pierre of the Soil Conservation Service, using information previously available to soil conservation technicians only in tabular and chart form.

The rate of erosion caused by storms depends on the force with which raindrops stir up soil and the amount and speed of the runoff water. Erosion is also affected by the kind of soil, kind and amount of soil cover, and steepness and length of slope, as well as soil-management and conservation practices.

With enough experimental data on hand to give accurate relative values for these various factors, mathematical methods can be used to estimate or predict soil loss on a particular farm.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

There's rumors going around about some Congressmen working on Saturday's so's they could hurry and get through. Of course, I'm using the term "working" in its lighter sense here.

Now, Mister Editor, I don't get alarmed as a rule over things that happens more'n a few miles from my house, because by the time a man keeps his own place from getting into the hands of the banker or the Sheriff and figgers out enough answers to his old lady's questions and gets used to having his taxes reduced by the politicians in ever campaign and raised after ever election, he ain't got much time left to get alarmed about things taking place very far from home.

But I think this thing of Congressmen working on Saturday is heading us fer complete ruin. It has took me years and years to convince my old lady that working on Saturdays is unthinkable and un-American. When we was first married and I wanted to go to town on Saturday I had to claim I was going to the courthouse to get some farm papers signed, or the cultivator needed a new point. I recall that one I even forged a jury summons to get to town on Saturday. But a couple wars come along and us men folks got bolder and finally got it down to where if we want to go to town on Saturday we just put on our other shirt and tell the old lady we'll be back in time fer church Sunday morning.

Now, if Congress, a outfit I figured we could depend on to stand back of things, a sort of last refuge agin change and un-American ideas, is going to start working on Saturdays, then things is getting in bad shape back here at home.

We got three kinds of Congressmen in Washington, the good ones, the bad ones, and those that is too lazy to show a marked trend in either direction. Up to now the good ones and the bad ones has been wrassling it out to a tie. If them lazy ones pitch in and start working on Saturdays, things is going to the dogs fer certain. A heap of folks might say that it ain't going to hurt nothing if them Congressmen do a little work once in a while on Saturday. If you give some fellers a inch they'll take a foot, but you give a Congressman a inch and he'll take the shirt off'n your back and pass a law putting you in jail fer going naked.

I would appreciate it no end, Mister Editor, if you'd write our Congressman and nip this Saturday business, in the bud.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Past work by the Michigan State Police, Dr. H. T. Donahue and Glen McCullough may result in saving the life of George Curtis, 2, of Deford, who is in Pleasant Home Hospital suffering from tetanus. Dr. Donahue immediately diagnosed the case Tuesday and Mr. McCullough called Parke-Davis who sent anti-tetanus toxin via a state police car.

As a feature of Thursday's home-coming, the Cass City Alumni baseball team defeated the Cass City High School Red Hawks at the park, 14-9.

A representative from a screen cylinder manufacturing plant will be at Brinker Lumber Co. Friday and Saturday to interview ladies in the area interested in securing employment. If enough help is available in the area, a new plant will be brought to Cass City.

and daughter Charlotte drove nearly six miles from the Hazen Walker farm near Howard City when they heard a peculiar sound. Stopping to investigate, they discovered the Walkers' 14-month-old daughter lying on the running board of the car clutching a nursing bottle. The baby had remained on the running board in spite of many turns made by the car.

Thirty-five Years Ago

He had apparently received a heavy blow on the head and he died at five a. m. in Bad Axe Hospital. Authorities are investigating in an effort to determine what took place.

The barn of Ira K. Reid, north and west of town, was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. A large quantity of oats and hay and all the farm implements but the tractor were lost.

A new domestic science course will be offered at Cass City School next year to be taught by Avis Smith. The following other instructors will teach next year: H. W. Holmes, superintendent; Harry Huller, principal; Ellen Palm, Kate Burgett, Earl Brooks, Margaret Horner, Alberta Bishop, Willis Campbell, Alvina Lang, Hazel Brooks, Blanche Ferguson, Reva Schultz, Margaret Hurley, Marie Tindale, Dora Fritz and Zora Day.

Mississippi Land Produces Herefords

Otherwise Barren Land Feeds 3,000 Per Year

The Delta Pine and Land Co., Scott, Miss., has put the levees of the Mississippi River, and fields ruined for cotton by floods, to profitable use by grazing with 1,500 commercial Hereford cows. These Herefords are using land which would otherwise be barren.

The commercial herd started in 1939 and was built on replacement heifers from the company's herd. Steer calves were sold at weaning until 1951. That year a small group was fed out, successfully. From then on, a feeding operation has grown until the company now feeds more than 3,000 steers each year. About 20 per cent of these are home bred with the remainder being purchased privately, or at sales.

Home raised steers are weaned in July and August and are sent to pasture if it is available. If necessary they are fed silage and cotton meal. They run on a pasture of winter oats, rye grass and wheat until the middle of May. The steers are then turned into native pastures of red clover and hop clover until July. Those weighing 750 pounds and up are then cut out and put in the feedlots while the lighter ones are carried until September or October.

Ray Means, supervisor of the livestock division says steers will generally make choice in about 151 days. "The commercial Hereford herd will produce a calf crop of about 90 per cent using one mature bull for every 25 cows," he says

Keep Your Horizontal Silage Tightly Covered

Silage needs to be tightly covered in order to keep well in a horizontal silo.

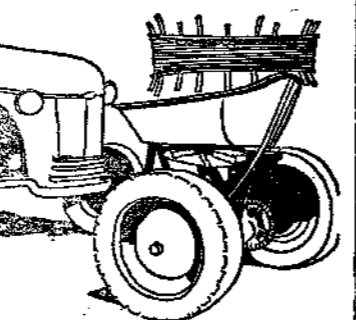

Dr. D. G. Jedele, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that most of the disappointing results farmers have had with trench, bunk and other horizontal silos and stacks come from poor packing and air leaks.

Modern plastic sheeting is one good way to seal off air and keep spoilage to a minimum, says Jedele. USDA experiments, for instance, have shown nearly as good results with tightly sealed horizontal silos as with upright silos.

Only five per cent spoilage resulted in one test stack covered with a four-millimeter polyethylene sheet with heat-sealed seams.

Neoprene-coated nylon and vinyl sheets also worked well when tightly sealed. One vinyl plastic cover failed because the seams were sealed only with pressure-sensitive tape. The seams puckered with time, and 31 per cent of the original silage was lost. However, most plastic sheets are now available in wide sheets so that seams are unnecessary.

Wire Winder

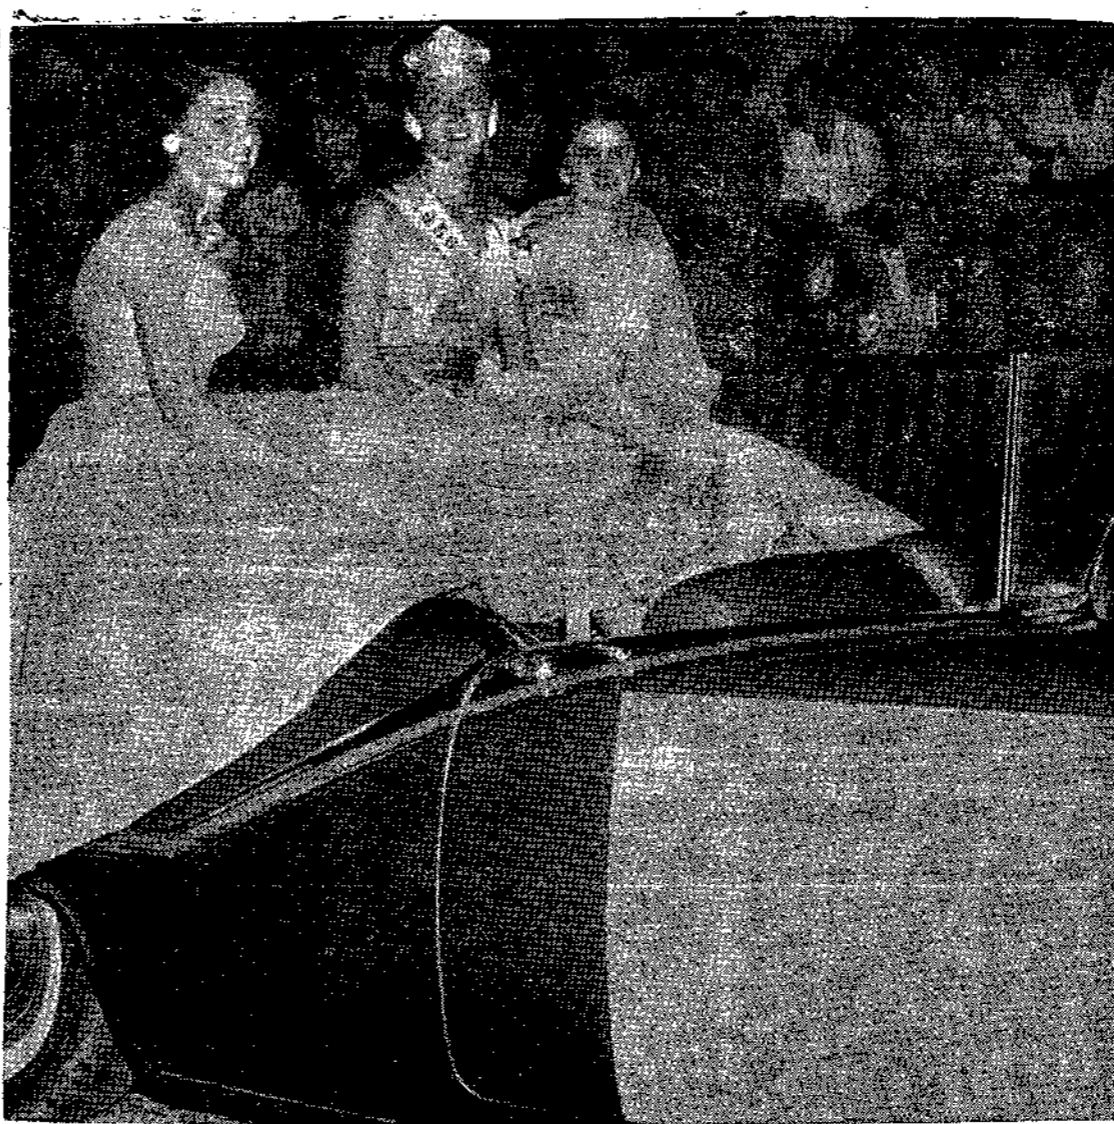

Winding and unwinding barbed wire is a tiresome and tiring task, but one farmer found a way to make it easier. He winds wire on a planter wheel attached to his spreader agitator as shown above. When spreader is out of gear, wheel turns freely, unrolling wire.

Ignorance ceases to be bliss to those seeking information.

Easy money sometimes puts a man on Easy Street—his biggest problem is to remain there.

REIGNING BEAUTIES—Competition for Home-coming queen was keen this year when lovely Miss Sandra Bryant, center, was selected as the 1958 queen from among 22 entries. Small Owners Must Meet Timber Needs

Own Three-Fourths Of Commercial Lands

Farmers and other small forestland owners hold the key to meeting future timber needs of the nation, believes Gary Sander, extension forestry products marketing specialist at Oregon State college.

Three-quarters of the commercial forest lands in the nation are now privately owned and under the control of 4.5 million owners, he says. Nearly 3.5 million of these owners are farmers, with most of their woodlands under 100 acres in size.

Right now, much of this forest land is producing far less than it could. An extensive survey by the U. S. forest service in 1952 showed that about one-fourth of the nation's forest lands are poorly stocked with trees. More than 40 million acres of these lands have less than 10 per cent as many trees as they are capable of growing, and another 73 million acres were found to be only 10 to 40 per cent fully stocked.

Even if this forest land were put to full use, it might still be difficult to meet future needs for forest products, Sander said. USDA specialists predict a rising demand for timber, and say that 25 to 40 per cent more timber products will be needed by 1975.

Beef Performance Said To Be Highly Inherited

Good performance in beef animals is fortunately a highly inherited characteristic.

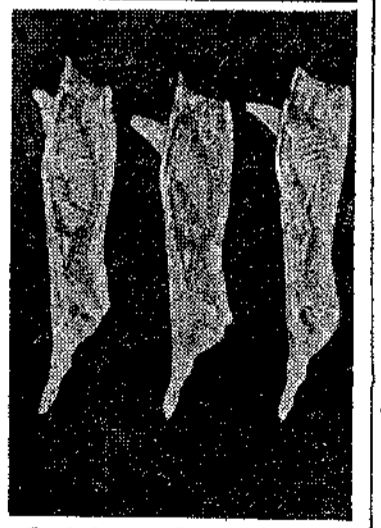

R. G. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture reports on studies showing that weaning weight, rate of gain and its related economy of feed use and type are all inherited qualities.

Two bulls from the same herd can show big differences in performance, Carlisle points out. Records on two bull calves sired by the same bull and handled in the same way clearly show the difference. Their owner is enrolled in a beef performance testing project.

Weaning weights and weaning types scores were 490 pounds and top choice on one bull and 536 pounds and low fancy on the other. The first bull, however, gained 3.56 pounds a day after weaning compared with 2.39 pounds a day for the other.

Their yearling type scores were the same as before. But the first bull had gained 130 more pounds than the other in the first 110 days after weaning. The more rapid gainers in beef cattle almost always make more efficient use of their feed, according to the livestock specialist.

Feed Does It

Feed does make a difference. Dutch carcasses from the same litter evidencing the effect of three pigs fed three different ways in Holland. Photo secured by P. J. Geertlings as part of research on the effect of feeds and feeding on the quality and quantity of lean meat in hogs.

Officers were elected. Cecil Furness is president. Other officers are: Clifford Furness, vice-president; Mrs. Alice Gilbert, treasurer, and Mrs. Alameda Green, secretary.

Guests attended from Detroit, Cass City, Gageton, Avoca, Caseville, Kinde and Elkton.

Another reunion will be held next year at Sleeper State Park at a date to be selected.

KRUEGER TRIP

The most harrowing experience occurred in a fog on the way to Mackinaw. Visibility was less than 50 feet and Mrs. Krueger was at the helm.

Suddenly an island loomed out directly in front of the ship and rocks were apparent in front of the cruiser.

Quickly stopping the cruiser, Mr. Krueger threw the anchor to avert disaster. They learned later that a search light that normally operates to warn ships was out of commission and caused them to come within a few feet of a shipwreck.

When they started again towards Mackinac Island they found one engine was out of commission, but limped into port without trouble.

On the trip from Manistee to Ludington the Kruegers were caught in the back lash of a tornado because of the heavy seas it took them three and a quarter hours to travel 18 miles... a distance they would normally travel in an hour and a quarter.

Both of the sailors were impressed with the tremendous visibility on the water on a clear day. They were able to see objects from 30 miles away as they approached Charlevoix.

Well Equipped

The Kruegers were well equipped for their cruise. Their ship travels about 14 to 16 miles per hour. It is equipped with a ship-to-shore radio and a depth sounder.

They are planning more cruises on the Great Lakes, reporting that it will take a great many years to visit all of the spots available to boats of the size they own.

Autopulse History

Walbro purchased certain Autopulse assets, patents and trade name last October. Since then it has operated in a rented factory in Ludington. The directors of Walbro decided in July to move to Cass City for a more efficient operation.

For slightly more than 30 years Autopulse has manufactured an electric fuel pump for car, truck, boat and stationary gasoline engines. It is sold both in the United States and abroad.

It replaces the mechanical fuel pump and one of its principal advantages is the elimination of "vapor lock".

More recently Autopulse began manufacturing a fuel lifter, a high precision electrical pump. The pump drops oil from a distant tank to space heaters, ceiling furnaces and similar appliances.

forward step by the corporation and the community.

Since industry came to Cass City a few years ago they have all become valued assets... and not only for employment.

They have become boosters of all civic projects and persons in charge do the list of nearly all civic organizations in the community. The factories were all substantial subscribers to the community and all have fulfilled their promises of hiring nearly all local labor.
