Newspapers are keeping modern. In 1957, over $87,000,000 was invested by newspapers to improve plants, equipment and product.

News is the plural of the word "new." The Greeks' word for it was "nece" and it became in Anglo-Saxon "neowe" and later in middle English "news." It is akin to the French "nouvelles."

More people travel by automobile than by all other means of transportation combined. And more automotive advertising dollars are invested in newspapers than in any other medium.

BULEN TALKS CARs

A TUNE-UP WILL MAKE YOU HUMM, TOO!

A couple of weeks ago, I raised a bit of a fuss with the office staff about coming in late. I kept at it for a few days, just to be sure they all got the habit. Of course, you know what happened... this morning, I slept in! So, I slipped in through the service garage... you could call it sneaking in the back door.

As I came through one of our customers was talking to Jay Dearing, our service manager. His car was stalling, hard to start, missing, getting harder on gas all the time. Jay checked the car over, then turned to our customer, "Well Mr. (I won't mention the name), all you need is a tune-up. Leave it in now and we'll have it ready for you by noon."

I was in the shop when our customer picked up his car. You should have seen his face when he drove away... all smiles and I'll bet he was humming a tune to go along with the purr of his engine.

A tune-up not only makes the engine sound better, it improves efficiency... you get better mileage and less wear on the working parts of your car. Regular tune-ups save you money in the end with fewer and smaller repair bills and greater operating efficiency.

Yes, when your car is tuned-up, you'll find yourself humming a little tune as you drive... and if you come in regularly for our factory recommended tune-up, you'll find your car runs better and more economically while you have it... and when trade-in time comes you'll find it's worth more to you. Why not get the habit now.

News from Holbrook Area

1910 was the first year in this country that automobiles were offered to consumers "completely equipped." In 1917, makers of automotive parts and accessories increased their advertising in newspapers by 141 per cent over the previous year.

In 1922, several makes of cars introduced gasoline gauges on their instrument panels. Last year, gasoline and oil advertisers invested over $80 million in newspaper advertising.

Trouble that looks like a mountain in the distance is usually only a hill when you get to it.

Dear Mister Editor:
I see by the papers where they had to turn out a country school in Georgia last week on account of some feller had stole the pot-bellied stove that kept the kids warm. Science has put out a heap of fancy gadgets for heating a house but America was raised up when a feller steals the one that is keeping kids warm in a country school he has committed a crime that is equal to burning the American flag or spitting in the President's eye. A feller that would do a trick like that ain't above starting a fire with the original copy of the Declaration of Independence.

There ain't never been nothing invented that beats a pot-bellied stove for warming cold hands and drying wet feller. All along the road in American history they is more hardy builders of this nation that has thawed themselves out at a pot-bellied stove than has sung the Star Spangled Banner. More history has been made in the circle of men around a pot-bellied stove than has been made around them fancy heating contraptions in Congress. And they might be a few folks left in this nation like me who can't get warm from something they can't see.

When the final history of this country is wrote I think they ought to have a chapter on the pot-bellied stove. And in it they ought to have a picture of this feller that stole one from a country school—alongside a picture of Benedict Arnold.

I was mighty upset too, Mister Editor, about them Federal agents in Washington pumping out a man's stomach looking for drug capsules. It seems to me that this is not only trial by ordeal but was also a invasion of a man's privacy. A man's stomach is about as private as he can get. And the Constitution don't allow nothing like this. It shows the trend things is taking in this country. More and more folks is losing their personal freedom on account of ever Congress and ever legislature passing more and more laws. It won't be long till officers will be going around carrying a pistol, a blackjack, and a stomach pump.

Our laws is getting too many and too complicated. I was reading in the papers not long ago where the U. S. Supreme Court voted 5 to 4 on 84 cases in the last five year. If a feller on the Supreme Court don't know what the law is in 84 cases, how are us common folks going to know what it is in the 8,444 cases we run into ever day?

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

A REPORT TO DETROIT EDISON OWNERS, CUSTOMERS AND THE PUBLIC

On November 17, Detroit Edison was host once again to its stockholders at the Annual Informational Meeting held at the Henry and Edsel Ford Auditorium in Detroit. The company's management reported to its owners what progress has been made, what plans it has, and how it is continuing to help everyone in Southeastern Michigan to live better electrically. Here is part of the story:

"The continued prosperity of our communities, our State and our Nation depends upon productivity of all kinds resulting from the investment of money, the judicious use of natural resources and the application of the intelligence and skills of people. These have brought to our Nation the greatest industrial capacity and the highest standard of living in the world. We in Detroit Edison will always endeavor to do our part to bring an even brighter future to Southeastern Michigan."

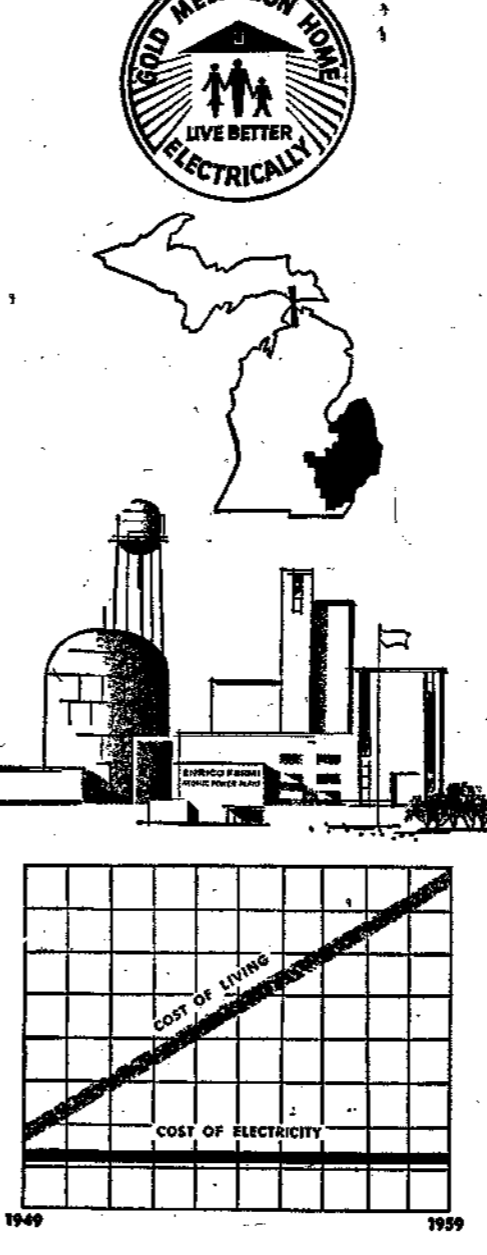

Detroit Edison builds for the future—To meet the demands for more and more electricity, Edison is continually expanding and improving its facilities. On October 20 the third steam turbine-generator at the River Rouge Power Plant went into operation. This new 321,500-kilowatt unit brings the capacity of Edison's electrical system to nearly 3 1/2 million kilowatts. And there is more to come. Two new 325,000-kw. turbine-generators are being added to the St. Clair Power Plant—one in 1959 and the other in 1961. Both are forward-looking projects to permit Edison to supply power in any amount, large or small, to any of its one and a quarter million customers anywhere in its service area.

Modern living is electric living—Those things which make yesterday's dream home today's reality are electric. New comforts, conveniences, work savers are built right in when homes go up. For instance, the Gold Medallion homes—the ultimate in electric living—include electric space heating, the most significant advance in home comfort. Every day in many new ways electricity is proving more and more versatile in the home, in agriculture, in business and industry.

Area development—Detroit Edison will continue to promote broader recognition of our State's exceptional industrial advantages. By working closely with communities in its territory and through a national advertising program, new industry is being attracted to Southeastern Michigan. This means new jobs and increased commerce of all kinds.

Atoms for peace—Detroit Edison is a member of the Power Reactor Development Company which is building the reactor portion of the Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant. The 91-ton reactor vessel, heart of the project, was set into place during April and assembly of related equipment is progressing as planned. Each day the target date for nuclear operation, late in 1960, comes closer—the date when private industry will have made another big contribution to the nation's atomic leadership.

Electric dollars work hard—We will continue to plan for the future to provide even better service at the lowest possible cost. The rates for our service have not changed since January, 1949, except for metal melting and steam service. With continued increases in the cost of equipment, supplies and fuel, in payrolls, and in all other expenses, there may be limitations on our ability to offset rising costs with internal economies indefinitely. We will, however, endeavor to make every dollar work hard for the Company's owners, customers and employes.

Customer-Owners

Of the nearly 100,000 stockholders, 70% live in Michigan and 60% are customers of Edison service. Service is a big word at Edison; for in addition to adequate electric power, it means a complete electric service. Appliance repair, light bulb exchange, advice on industrial and commercial lighting, a new fast recovery hot water supply, tips for homemakers—these are only a few of the special services offered to Edison customers.

School Librarians At Almost Thursday Several students from Cass City High School attended a regional meeting of the Michigan Association of School Librarians at Almont Thursday. They are: Sharon Parrott, Virginia Perry, Cheryl Rice and Mary Helen Ashmore, all student library assistants.

Continued from page one mosaic tile was presented by Mrs. William Ruhl and Mrs. S. Vyse. In the short business meeting, plans were completed for the annual Christmas party slated Dec. 4 when gifts will be exchanged. The club voted to accept two new members and welcomed Mrs. Frank Meiser as a guest for the evening.

YOMAN'S WORLD Hearty Family Meal Combines Beef Stew, Corn Meal Dumplings

SAVE time, dish-washing and temper, if the family is late for dinner, by having a hearty, stick-to-the-ribs meal with a tasty beef stew and cornmeal dumplings, flecked with parsley for flavor and color. This can be prepared in an electric skillet but offers an old-fashioned feast.

- Perfect with this meal would be a fruit salad, relishes, beverage and a scoop of sherbet with cookies. It will be homey, hearty and delicious. Skillet Meal Beef Stew (Serves 6) 1 1/2 pounds beef for stewing 2 tablespoons shortening 2 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper 1 bay leaf 2 1/2 cups water 2 small onions 2 cups cut fresh carrots 1 10-ounce package quick-frozen peas 1 tablespoon flour 1/2 cup cold water Dumplings: 1/2 cup enriched corn meal 1 cup flour 1 teaspoon salt 3 teaspoons baking powder 1 tablespoon parsley flakes 1/2 cup shortening 1 egg, beaten 3/4 cup milk

Fragrant beef stew, made the old-fashioned way with bay leaf for seasoning, peas and carrots, teams with fluffy dumplings made with corn meal and flecks of parsley for a hearty supper dish in a skillet.

For beef stew, brown meat in shortening. Lower heat and add salt, pepper, bay leaf, water and onions. Cook about 1 1/2 hours over low heat. Add peas and carrots; cook 10 minutes. Thicken juice slightly by stirring in flour blended with cold water.

For dumplings, sift together corn meal, flour, salt and baking powder. Add parsley flakes and cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add egg and milk, stirring only until mixture is dampened. Drop by spoonfuls on hot stew, cover and cook 20 minutes. If using an electric skillet, set thermostat at 250°F. to broil meat; reset to 200°F. for remainder of cooking.

Lady-In-Waiting Can Stay Pretty

Mothers-to-be can be at the prettiest if they exude a kind of clean and pastel beauty. The period itself furnishes a happy glow which can be accentuated and highlighted by the new clothes you're wearing and the grooming which is so important to well being.

The clothes this year are wonderful inspirations for maternity apparel designers since they are so similar in style. Thus, you can look for many fashionable details for lady-in-waiting fashions.

Carriage, which is so important for looking well in any clothes, is a prime consideration for maternity apparel. Most obstetricians will tell mothers-to-be that they should tense their abdominal muscles as they go about their daily chores and hold up their chest while squaring the shoulders. This gives that "book on the head" look which is so sought after by models and other women who are interested in looking their best.

Try Showers It's a temptation to skip tub baths as the period of pregnancy gets into later months, as it's no mean feat to get in and down and then up out of a tub that may be slippery. This is a good time for trying showers because they're easy and so cleansing.

Sponge baths morning and evening are a good answer to others, especially when they are made a thorough ritual. Bath salts, lotions that are light and fragrant, dusting powders, and all the aids you can muster are wonderful for morale and make bathing a pleasure.

Drier skins, during pregnancy, are easily treated with lanolin-rich lotions and creams. These same creams may be applied as body lotions, especially on the abdomen where the strain of expansion is most acute.

NO RUDDER People who have no definite aim in their life's work are actually lost before they start.

ON THE SKIDS A man never knows how fast he can go until his career starts on a downward course.

There's little harmony in the home where either parent does all the harping.

Corn Referendum Slated Nov. 25

Tuscola County corn farmers will go to the polls, Tuesday, Nov. 25, to help make the decision on what the corn program will be for 1959 and later years.

The choice is between the present program of acreage allotments and price supports on corn, and a new program in which there would be no acreage allotments and price supports would be determined on a different basis.

A majority vote of the corn producers voting here and in 931 other commercial corn counties will decide the outcome of the referendum. Anyone who had an interest in the 1958 corn crop in the commercial area is eligible to vote. Voting hours in Tuscola County will be 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Voting will be at 14 locations in the county. In the Cass City area, the polls are at the following locations: Elkland, Ellington and Novesta Townships, at Damm Implement Store in Cass City; Elmwood Township, at the council room in Gagelton, and Kingston and Koylton Townships, at the fire hall in Kingston.

If program number one is passed there will be no acreage allotments and designated commercial corn area. Price support will be 90 per cent of the average price for corn in the last three years, but not less than 65 per cent of parity.

Corn under this program would be at a support level for 1959 at about $1.12 to $1.15 per bushel.

Program number two is about the same as has been in effect this year. Corn acreage allotments will continue in the commercial corn area. The price support for corn under this program in 1959 is expected to be from $1.24 to $1.27 per bushel. Corn acreage allotment compliance will be required for this support and for Soil Bank eligibility.

Charles Eckfeld, county office manager, said that any farmer with a question about the referendum should contact his ASC office in Caro for information.

SAME PATTERN Some men turn over a new leaf and it looks just the same on the other side.

Fungus Diseases Found First Time In Horse

A fungus disease common to the southwestern states has been for the first time reported occurring in a horse in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association. Before this report, the Association says, this fungus disease, called coccidioidomycosis, had been chiefly in man, cattle, sheep, dogs, chinchillas and wild rodents.

The disease in the horse caused severe, progressive emaciation, a variable fever, moderate anemia and a peculiar attitude. After an illness of four months, the horse died.

Coccidioidomycosis is a slow developing, chronic disease which is due to a fungus and is seldom transmitted from one animal to another. The organism grows in the soils of dry, arid regions and spores are carried on winds and furred or feathered animals but do not survive in temperate or moist climates outside of a host animal.

The disease has been found in one dog in Iowa and one in Quebec, according to the Association, but the animals had most likely visited in the southwest area where the organism exists.

INDIFFERENCE It seems odd that people will shed their blood for the right to govern themselves, but won't even take time to vote.

About the only people who never fail are those who never try.

Let's talk turkey since it's about time for Thanksgiving. If you are wondering how much turkey to buy, allow approximately one-half pound ready-to-cook turkey per serving. Large turkeys yield slightly more meat in proportion to bone. If you buy fresh turkey, refrigerate at 36 degrees to 38 degrees-F., loosely wrapped in aluminum foil, parchment, or waxed paper. Use the turkey within two to three days. Just before cooking, wash turkey in cold water, drain and pat dry. If you buy frozen turkey, keep it frozen until it is to be cooked, allowing sufficient time before cooking for defrosting. You can leave the bird in its original body wrap and place it on shelf in refrigerator to defrost. You should frost it. If you want a hurry-up method to defrost your bird, place the unwrapped bird under running cold water and it will be defrosted between two to six hours. As soon as the turkey is sufficiently pliable, remove the giblets and neck. This will speed the defrosting process.

Correct roasting is slow cooking by dry heat, on a rack in an open pan. It requires no water, no basting, no cover and no searing. Low temperature assures better flavor, and appearance, less shrinkage and less loss of juices. For best results, follow these steps:

- 1 - Rub cavity lightly with salt.
- 2 - Put enough stuffing in neck to fill it out nicely and fasten neck skin to back with skewer.
- 3 - Stuff cavity well, but do not pack tightly.
- 4 - Truss bird and place on rack in shallow open pan.
- 5 - Grease skin thoroughly with fat.
- 6 - Cover top and sides of bird with a loose cap of aluminum foil or fat-moistened cheese cloth.
- 7 - Place in preheated oven set at 325 degrees F.
- 8 - Do not sear, cover or add salt.
- 9 - If cloth dries slightly during cooking, moisten it with fat from bottom of pan.
- 10 - Roast until tender. The drumstick will move easily or twist out of the joint when done.

When a meat thermometer is used, it should register 190 degrees F to 195 degrees F placed in center of the inside thigh muscle or in thickest part of the breast. If the thermometer is placed in the center of the stuffing, it should register 165 degrees F.

The wise homemaker will start her bird 20 to 30 minutes ahead of schedule to avoid delay should the turkey take longer to cook than estimated. This also allows time to make gravy, remove trussing cords, and arrange the bird attractively on the platter.

Allow about 1 cup of dressing for each pound of turkey ready to cook weight. Do not stuff your turkey the night before roasting because of the danger of food poisoning.

You can save time by preparing the dry ingredients the day before, then add liquid just before roasting. You can also save time by cleaning the turkey and getting it ready for the oven, assembling skewers and other necessary tools beforehand.

Below is a timetable for cooking your turkey:

Ready-to-Cook Weight	Oven Temp.	Hours Needed
6 to 8 lbs.	325 F.	3 3/4 to 4 1/4
8 to 12 lbs.	325 F.	4 to 5
12 to 16 lbs.	325 F.	5 to 6
16 to 20 lbs.	325 F.	6 to 7 1/2
20 to 24 lbs.	325 F.	7 1/2 to 9

If you buy a dressed turkey, subtract 15 to 20 per cent of the dressed weight to obtain the approximate ready-to-cook weight. I hope you all have a delicious turkey dinner for Thanksgiving.

Michigan - Mirror News In Brief

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Republicans will start the 1959 legislative session stripped of all but a token of the power they held in state government a decade ago.

They still control the Senate, 22 to 12, but the House is evenly divided at 55-55 and all the other state offices are held by Democrats.

The lack of a majority by either party means there is a question about which party will supply the presiding officer and which party shall be represented as chairman of House committees. There are a number of proposed solutions for the problem, but a satisfactory answer has yet to be decided upon.

Both parties shudder at the thought of the 1959 legislative session and the struggle for answers to accumulated fiscal and social problems.

As one observer stated it, the ancient rule of government by compromise will get a lot of practice.

The full impact of the House split is not yet known. It could mean new faces among legislative employees and vastly changed policies. It will certainly mean a harder Democratic voice in committees and on the floor of the House.

Republican caucuses will not necessarily arrive at the final answer on major issues now, even if party leaders can hold their votes on the same side.

Democrats, who for years have come up with their own decisions knowing they would be defeated on a final vote, now can produce a voting majority, so they anxiously shoulder some of the burden of the policies of the House.

Strategists await Gov. Williams' message to the Legislature this January with great anticipation. Republicans privately wonder whether his demands will change their tenor now that there is a chance the legislature will be stalled until they are met, and that more of them might be approved.

In the past, Republicans say the strategy worked this way: Williams would make demands that he and other Democrats knew the state could not afford without imposing burdensome new taxes, or reversing policies that existed for decades.

When Republicans controlling the legislature balked, he would take to the campaign trails charging they were hurting the cause of mental health, public health, and other vital state services.

Legislators, seeing merit in some of Williams' ideas, sometimes would go part of the way. The Democratic charge then would be that it was too little or it came too late, or that even if the legislature did put a program into action, it was a Democratic idea.

Speculation is rife, as the political writers say, about Williams' future after defeating Republican Candidate Paul D. Bagwell by 143,000 votes Nov. 4 and running fifth on his own ticket.

Some are writing Williams off the Democratic slate in 1960 when delegates gather to pick a national ticket.

Williams defeated the late Albert E. Cobo two years ago by 290,000 votes and Democrats were predicting gains up to 450,000 by this year.

They reason that had he won by an overwhelming vote, national party leaders couldn't ignore him despite their apprehension about his labor organization ties.

Now, some observers are predicting the governor will try for U. S. Senator Patrick V. McNamara's seat in 1960.

This would complete the cycle started four years ago when Democratic strategists were forced to accept McNamara when their No. 1 comeback candidate was former Senator Blair Moody who died before the election.

Williams said he was more happy at the increases in Democratic-held offices this year than he was disappointed at the lesser majority he, himself, achieved.

He said he was happy that Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart defeated the incumbent Republican Senator Charles E. Potter; that more Democratic house members were elected and other victories scored.

But, out of the post-election as a new and stronger factor emerged Secretary of State James M. Hare, a former professor, who led the Democratic ticket.

Republicans say that Hare with others rode into office on Williams' coattails four years ago. Now, with Hare stepping up, there is a chance the party will have to revamp its long-term plans to take into consideration his vote-getting power. Hare, who has not always agreed with party policy, has more weight to support his position within the closely knit circle of Democratic high command.

"... We Need 'em Fast!"

THE SCENE IS the traffic department of any of the hundreds of manufacturing plants in Michigan. The time is 4:00 p.m. on any day of the week. The traffic manager is talking long distance to a supplier in another state about some parts needed for production.

"Send 'em by truck," he says, as he prepares to hang up, "we need 'em fast!"

He knows from experience that motor transport is the fastest link between shipping and receiving. He knows he can depend on it. In fact, he and thousands of his fellow traffic managers have been the men most responsible for the rapid growth of motor transport. Once they experienced the efficiency and speed of trucks, there was no satisfying them with anything less—and today their companies could not operate successfully without truck transport!

That's something for every wage earner in Michigan to think about.

Buttontails Can Beautify Garments
 Tailored buttonholes can enhance even further the beauty of a garment made of wool, spun rayon, or other wool-like fabrics, says Mrs. Frances T. Clark, County Extension agent in home economics. The "tucked" buttonhole is one type of tailored buttonhole which is simple to make and attractive to look at.
 Before making these buttonholes, fit the garment and put the interfacing or reinforcement on the wrong side. They should be made before applying the front facings and, if possible, before stitching the shoulder seams.
 In choosing the length of your buttonhole, keep in mind the fact that a buttonhole should be as long as the diameter-width across the button-plus its thickness. Holes for ball or odd-shaped buttons must be made to fit the particular type of button.
 It's a good idea to make a sample buttonhole in a scrap of your fabric and if you change the garment in any way during fitting, check the buttonhole marks to make sure they are still right.
 If you would like to know how to make "tucked" buttonholes, you may obtain Extension folder F-140 entitled "Tailored Buttonholes." This bulletin prepared by Extension specialists in clothing at Michigan State University gives easy-to-read, step-by-step directions on how to make this type of buttonhole. Simply come in or write your Cooperative Extension Agent in home economics. The office is in the Courthouse at Caro.
