

Quinn Sentences Two

Jury Finds No Cause for Action

A Tuscola County jury found no cause for action in a damage suit brought by Edward Lier of Saginaw County against George F. Marshall of Deford.

The case opened Monday, Jan. 26, and concluded Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 28. The case stemmed from an accident Dec. 13, 1957, at 5:14 p. m. Mr. Marshall ran into the back of a beet harvester hauled by a tractor on M-81, two and a half miles east of Reese.

The determining factor in the case was the light on the farm implements. Testimony showed that the machinery was lighted, but not properly. The case went to the jury at 2:45 p. m. and the verdict was returned at 4:05 p. m.

Two men were sentenced Wednesday, Jan. 28, for breaking and entering the Cobb Store, four miles south of Millington on M-15.

Henry Wickings and Wilber Westcott, both of Vassar, were placed on probation for three years. Each was ordered to pay costs of $100 and make restitution of $250, payable at $10 per month.

Seminary and Frankenmuth Fall To Hawks' Attack

Cass City scored its first non-league victory of the year Tuesday night before a sparse crowd held down by the weather at Cass City High School gym. The Hawks whipped Michigan Lutheran Seminary in a free scoring contest 78-66.

To win Cass City was forced to come from behind. They trailed the Cardinals 32-31 at the half but a big third and fourth quarter netted the victory.

The Junior Varsity squad had no trouble posting an easy victory as they hammered out a 68-35 decision to remain undefeated for the year.

Cass City whipped Frankenmuth for the second time this season when they posted a 48-35 victory over their Thumb B rivals Friday night at Frankenmuth.

The game was less one-sided than the opening encounter between the two clubs when the Hawks had little trouble winning a 55-24 decision. Coach Irv Claxman said that the play of both clubs was ragged.

Cass City was guilty of many passing errors and again hit poorly from the field. They converted 29 per cent of their tries while Frankenmuth hit for a 33 per cent average.

The first quarter was extremely slow moving. Both teams netted six points and the score was tied at six all going into the second period.

The Hawk's field goal production didn't improve any in the next quarter. Baskets by Bob Holcomb and Fred Leeson were the only points recorded from the field. But improved accuracy from the charity lane helped Cass City forge in front. The team netted 11 of 15 tries for a total of 15 points. Frankenmuth made just two of 10 tries in the period. The host team trailed at the half 21-12.

In the third period, Cass City found the range and salted the game away. Four baskets by Leeson and a pair by Bob Tuckey sparked a 20-point period and Cass City was far in front, 41-17, at the end of three quarters.

Coach Claxman used his bench strength during the final stanza and Frankenmuth closed that gap by outscoring the Hawks 18-7 to make the final score 48-35.

Reserves Win
Cass City's Junior Varsity was forced to come from behind to keep its undefeated record as they posted a 42-31 victory.

Friday night the Hawks will play an improving Caro team in the Tigers' spacious new gym. It will be the first look at Caro's large new floor for some of the players and many of the fans.

Involved in Fatal Accident

Sentence Two in Caro Justice Court

Two youths involved in a fatal automobile accident Thursday evening were sentenced by Justice Ruth Tennant in Caro Monday.

Edward Porter, 18, of Caro pleaded guilty to drunk driving and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay a fine and costs of $106.25.

Marvin Parker, who was injured in the wreck, pleaded guilty of furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay a fine and costs of $56.25.

The owner of the car, Richard Spencer, 19, of Deford is being held by Tuscola County Sheriff's Department until a decision is reached on whether or not he is to face criminal charges.

In the accident, James J. Osbat, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Osbat of Caro, was instantly killed as the car in which he was riding crashed into a ditch on Chambers road, a mile and a half south of the Caro State Hospital. Death was caused by a crushed chest.

Other passengers in the car who were not injured in the accident were: Daniel Osbat, 19, brother of the dead youth; Wesley Skinner and Miss Dorothy Evans, 19, all of Caro.

Rev. Fish Traces History of Bible
The Woman's Study Club met at the home of Mrs. R. A. Gross Tuesday afternoon. After a short business meeting in which it was agreed to send a donation to the State Federation for their Aid to Nurses project, Rev. John Fish, guest speaker, spoke of the "Bible as Literature."

To study the Bible as literature he stated that it was best to approach it in three ways: from the standpoint of religion, history and literature. Though the Bible has these three distinct features, they cannot be separated as its religious and historic truths are expressed in its literature.

The Bible has been called "The noblest monument of English prose. This seems paradoxical since the Bible is a translation from the Hebrew and Greek and translation generally detracts from the original. The English language is derived from the Saxon and Latin and these languages are suitable for the translation."

Varied Program At Gavel Club
The Cass City Gavel Club discussed fund-raising projects under the direction of Toastmaster Earl Harris in the club's regular meeting held Tuesday night at Parrott's Dairy Bar.

Several projects were suggested. Among them was a square dance which will be held in the spring.

Members voted to continue the Christmas displays for another year and formed a committee to take charge of the project. Members include Chairman Barney Freiburger, Ken Eisinger, Arlan Hartwick, Dick Wallace and Eli Hotes.

Bill Ruhl was program chairman and talked about bounties on predatory animals. He pointed out that Michigan spends some $200,000 yearly in bounties and that the results are not justifying the expenditures. There is considerable discussion about dropping bounties here, he said.

At its first meeting recently, the club elected the following officers: president, Bill Ruhl; vice-president, Delbert Law; secretary, Clotile Thompson; treasurer, Janis Knight. Mr. Eckhart will serve as sponsor of the group, assisted by other science teachers. Membership in the club is open to all students enrolled in science in the senior high school. In addition to monthly meetings at which varied programs in the science field will be presented, there will be several smaller interest groups meeting at different times. Presently groups are planned in photography, electronics, astronomy and several other areas.

For its first program, the group enjoyed an illustrated lecture on "Nuclear Propulsion" by Lt. Commander Keith L. Sargent. Concluded on page eight.

"Princetons" to Appear on TV Show Sunday

The "Princetons," local quartet, qualified for a television amateur program, "Talent Quest," Monday night when they sang two original songs written by Roger Parrish. The quartet includes Forrest Walpole, Newell Harris, Bob Copeland and Bill Ruhl.

The boys will appear over WJEM-TV at Bay City Sunday, Feb. 8, at 1:30 p. m. and the appearance could mean the start of competition that eventually leads to the national Ted Mack amateur hour.

"Talent Quest" runs for some eight to 10 weeks and the winners return for semi-final and grand final contests.

Judging is by the listening audience and the contestant receiving the most number of cards will be the winner. The group is hoping that many persons in the area will send a card to the following address: "Talent Quest," Box 900, Lansing, Michigan.

Besides winning a spot on the TV show, the "Princetons" have recently recorded two original songs on 45 rpm records. The selections written by Mr. Parrish are "Everything I Say" and "When Evening Rolls Around" and will be submitted to radio and TV disc jockeys and record companies for promotion.

Locally, the boys sang for the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon and school students Tuesday morning.

Science Club Now Active at Cass City School

More than 30 students of science in Cass City High School have recently organized a Science Club. The purpose of the club is to promote the study of science and to give an opportunity for projects and experiences in this area which are not possible in regular class time. The club is affiliated with Science Clubs of America and has received its official charter from this national group.

At its first meeting recently, the club elected the following officers: president, Bill Ruhl; vice-president, Delbert Law; secretary, Clotile Thompson; treasurer, Janis Knight. Mr. Eckhart will serve as sponsor of the group, assisted by other science teachers. Membership in the club is open to all students enrolled in science in the senior high school. From the Editor's Corner

Ron Phillips, band director for Cass City High School, was glowing with pride this week following one of the best performances in history for local students in the District Solo and Ensemble Festival.

"Give the credit to the kids," Ron said. "As a member of the committee in charge, I wasn't even able to be with them as they prepared to play in the festival."

This year's performance by the students capped three straight years of improved work that has resulted in many top flight players in the school.

Their work, of course, is a credit to Mr. Phillips. With Roger Parrish in the vocal department the school now provides outstanding instruction that has resulted in a revival in musical interest. Concluded on page eight.

Mrs. K. McRae Severely Burned

Mrs. Kenneth McRae suffered first and second degree burns Monday morning when a robe she was wearing caught fire when she backed into a space heater.

Mrs. McRae was burned on the back and legs. She was taken to Pleasant Home Hospital where she is expected to remain for about a week.

WOMAN'S WORLD

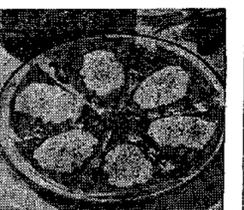

This Savory Pizza Will Win Applause For Any Hostess

DID YOU know that you can serve pizza for dinner or as a snack? For dinner the wedges will be larger and you will need several for each serving with a tossed salad and fruit or sherbet for desserts.

As a snack, pizza is currently without a rival. It's served in small wedges, unless the crowd is a group of teen-agers with apparently bottomless appetites. It's enough with simply a hot beverage.

Pizza is quick to make with the already-prepared biscuit dough. It's variations are endless, and always good.

- Pizza (Serves 6)
- 1 package ready-prepared biscuits
 - 1/2 pound sausage links
 - 1/4 pound Swiss process cheese or Mozzarella
 - 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/4 teaspoon oregano
 - 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
 - Parmesan or Romano cheese (grated)

Entertain the crowd at dinner with pizza. Fast becoming one of America's favorite foods, this quick version can now be made with packaged biscuits as easy, well-seasoned tomato sauce and two kinds of cheese, Swiss or Mozzarella and Parmesan or Romano.

Place biscuits close together on floured board. Roll in rectangle or circle to fit pizza pan or cookie sheet. Slide dough onto greased pan. Form an edge about 1 inch high. Saute sausage links until brown on all sides; drain thoroughly, then break into small pieces. Cut Swiss or Mozzarella cheese into strips. Brush dough with sausage drippings, arrange half of cheese on top of dough.

Saute onion in 2 tablespoons of sausage drippings. Add tomato sauce and seasonings. Bring to boiling point stirring constantly. Pour mixture over cheese slices, top with sausage pieces, remaining cheese and a sprinkling of the Parmesan or Romano cheese. Bake in a very hot (450° F.) oven 20 minutes or until cheese melts and sauce bubbles. Serve hot.

Variations
Pisn: Use only tomato sauce and cheese, omitting sausage.
Anchovy: Use one or two tins of anchovy filets to replace sausage.
Mushrooms: Use 1 can of sliced mushrooms, drained to replace sausage or in addition to it.
Italian Sausage: This comes sweet or hot. Cook like pork sausage, then break in pieces.

SOME DAY YOU MAY NOT HAVE TO CHANGE OIL

Automobile design engineers in Detroit tell us that the day is coming when the old family bus will lose its radiator and its gear box and we'll all be in for easier motoring with an adaptation of the gas turbine engine.

The gas turbine engine is a lot simpler and a lot more efficient in many ways . . . and when they get it perfected for use in your car it will prove a happy day. Take oil changes for example. Lubrication of the gas turbine is simple because of fewer moving parts . . . and oil is never exposed to contamination.

The piston engine you drive today . . . and probably for the next ten years . . . or so, requires careful attention to internal lubrication. Oil must be changed regularly . . . to remove harmful contaminants. Carbon, dust, water, unburned gasoline . . . all find their way into the oil pan and cause wear, loss of power, repair bills and higher operating costs if left in your oil indefinitely.

And when you bring your car in to trade, you'll find extra care will pay off . . . especially when we've been doing the service in our modern service department. For cars and service you'll always come out ahead when you deal with Bulen Motors.

35,000 MILE WRITTEN GUARANTEE!!! Yes, you read it right. We can guarantee your NEW CAR against failure of working parts, from Engine through to Rear Axle. To qualify you merely change oil and lubricate your car regularly with Quaker State Lubricants, here or from another Quaker Dealer. You pay only the REGULAR PRICE. If you have a failure it will be paid in full. And, most people know there is no better oil than Quaker State.

Letter to Editor

Editor, Cass City Chronicle

Dear Sir:

Would like to call to the public notice how efficient, proficient and considerate your local fire department is so that they may be properly appreciated.

Recently had a fire which was held in check by my very good neighbors until the department arrived. I was amazed when all was over and I went to see the wreckage. In place of finding walls and floors hacked to pieces, windows smashed, rugs and beds soaked, etc., I found quite the contrary.

Rugs were rolled back from water, the furniture moved, even pictures taken down. Just base boards and a few boards were removed and holes made to insert the chemical into walls. Upstairs only paper and cleaning needed due to smoke to be done. Downstairs the very minimum of walls torn down and my daughter and neighbor were able to control water on floors, etc., before damaged. I hope residents of Cass City appreciate them.

I have lived in the city and seen how recklessly places have been demolished by inconsiderate firemen. These men even removed windows to let the dense smoke out. Think what smashed windows would be like in this weather.

I am a widow, ill much of the time, and this consideration meant much to me.

Sincerely,
Ferne M. Thomas

With the close of pheasant and deer seasons, Michigan's most popular game animal—the cottontail—assumes distinction as the most highly-sought prize of hunters. From now until season's end, March 1, hunters will focus sights on Brer Rabbit. In 1957 they recorded a 1,585,000 kill of cottontails.

Tell Services at Methodist Church

Rev. Ernest Robinson, pastor of the Cass City Methodist Church, this week announced that beginning Sunday a series of Lenten sermons based on Bible characters will be held at the church. The characters selected for the series are Elijah, Thomas, Manasseh, Job, Daniel and Jesus Christ.

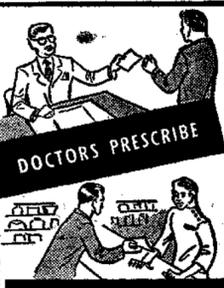

Lenten Sunday evening services will open Feb. 15 at 7 o'clock. Several guest speakers have been arranged including Rev. Grant Dunlap of Marlette, Rev. Robert McLean of Bad Axe, Rev. Leo Burch of Elkton and others. Rev. Robinson will also speak.

The evening services have proved popular in the past two years. They begin with a dessert around tables, followed by informal singing, special music, fellowship and then the address by the guest speaker.

Every organization in the church participates in these services and persons from the entire community have attended in previous years.

The Palm Sunday sermon will be "Shouting With Tears in Your Eyes." Good Friday the annual union service sponsored by the Council of Churches will be at the Methodist Church and the Easter Sunday sermon is titled "There is No Reason to Cry Now."

Even the people who say everything is for the best have a hard time believing it.

Foreign Research Aim Is Expanded Markets
Four-Part Program Is Now Underway

A new program of research in foreign countries is of great potential value to U.S. farmers, says the USDA.
Expanded markets for agricultural products, more productive forests, new crops for U.S. growers, and greater capability of warding off possible future invasions of foreign diseases and insect pests of the U.S. Crops and livestock are among the benefits anticipated from the program.
This research will be paid for with foreign currencies accruing in the various countries to the account of the U.S. from the sale of surplus agricultural commodities under the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, generally known as Public Law 480. The program, aimed in part at reducing surpluses of U.S. agricultural commodities, will thus be paid for by sales of these surpluses abroad.

The research is to be done under contracts or grants by foreign scientists at foreign institutions in four general fields—utilization of farm products, farm production, marketing, and forestry.
Some foreign research has actually started on utilization to find new or expanded uses for U.S. agricultural commodities. The farm production, forestry and marketing by all the radioactivity from the test plots. Cutting and removing sod proved effective. Mowing and collecting growing crops were less effective.

New Dehydrator For Fruit, Vegetable Uses

A new belt-tough dehydrator, developed through USDA research, is improving and broadening the operations of commercial fruit and vegetable processors.
The dehydrator, which features fast, uniform drying, has proved proficient in the conventional drying of fruits and vegetables to low moisture levels. In addition, it is contributing to the commercial use of two new processes in which partial dehydration precedes freezing or canning. The two processes are called dehydrofreezing and dehydrocanning.
The dryer consists mainly of a broad, endless, moving wire-mesh belt that forms a trough. Fresh product is fed into one end of this trough. Heated air is blown upward through a grate beneath the belt. This air and the constant motion of the belt thoroughly and continuously mix the pieces as they move up the inclined side and along the trough.
Partially dried pieces tend to move to new positions and are subjected to further drying. This uniform as well as rapid drying is assured. Both are important. A product that is uniformly dried will dehydrate uniformly.

Field Gate

Field gate constructed in the manner shown above features easily-operated latch, a stout, flexible sapling wired or bolted to post so that ends of the sapling can be bent outward to engage the latching wires. Flexibility makes it easy to open and latch gate, tension holds gate wires tight.

1958 Corn Moving Under Price Support

Corn from the big 1958 crop is moving under price support at a faster rate than a year ago but apparently not so fast as the 1956 crop, according to the latest over-all report received at the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in Lansing.
The report shows that 108.6 million bushels of 1958 crop corn had gone under price support through December 31, 1958. This compares with 80.6 million bushels of the 1957 crop placed under support through Jan. 15, 1958, and 212.3 million bushels of the 1956 crop through Jan. 15, 1957.
As of Dec. 31, farmers in Tuscola County had covered 29,376 bushels of the 1958 crop under the price-support program.
Strategy consists in finding out our competitor's weakness before he finds ours. 2-5-1*

A LIFETIME OF FREE professional beauty care, estimated to have a value of $18,500, is the first prize in a 25 word Essay contest sponsored by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. Entry blanks are available at many of the Association salons in this city. The first prize of a lifetime of free professional beauty care goes to the winner, regardless of her age, and lasts as long as she lives. Enough money is being placed in escrow by the National Association so that funds will always be available for beauty treatments the rest of her life. Other prizes range from free beauty salon service for one year to lesser periods. While the prize is estimated to have the value of $18,500, it may possibly be worth twice that amount if it is won by a young woman who lives a long life. The prize is non-transferable and the services will be available only at NHCA salons. The salon providing the service is paid by the National Association for such services, so winners may patronize any of the 35,000 salon members of NHCA. The Essay Contest is one of the big features of the ninth annual National Beauty Salon Week, from February 8 to 14, during which time NHCA members in the United States will give more than 300,000 free beauty services to women in various types of institutions as a part of its program of institutional welfare. Public Workshops Well Attended

Wintry weather and icy roads are not an inducement for people to get out to meetings but interest and attendance has held up well in spite of weather in the series of public policy workshops which started on January 8, said Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

To date 68 different persons have attended one or several of the series of meetings. There will be no workshop meeting during Farmers' Week at Michigan State University. However, on February 12 the fifth meeting in the series will be held on "Current Farm Programs." The last in the series of meetings will be Thursday, February 19, on "Leadership and Community Development."

The meetings are open to any interested person, said Ballweg.

Big Crowds Report To Farm Meetings

Area farmers are showing big interest in the weekly evening classes held in Tuscola, Michigan. This is the report of Don Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture, as he mentioned that the average attendance per class so far is 80. It is estimated that nearly 130 different farmers have attended one or more of the classes.

Up to the present, the topics covered have been: fertilization, dairy cattle feeding, forage production, chemical weed control and sprayer selection, and feed harvesting and handling.

The last two meetings will be on February 9 and 16 at 8:15 to 10:15 p.m. in the Tuscola elementary school. On Feb. 9 beef and swine buying, marketing, feeding and management will be discussed. On February 16 wills, estates, inheritances, rental agreements and father-son partnership arrangements will be covered.

Anyone is invited to attend these free meetings, remarks Kebler.

Refreshments are served with the following businesses being the hosts: George McIntyre and Son, Millington; McMillan Feed Company, Richville Elevator, and Hart Brothers Elevator.

Bride your tongue if you expect to travel in double harness.

The man who has a yen to mind other people's business should be paid an efficiency expert and get paid for it.

KNOWS IT ALL

The man who is sure he is right is sure to make a great number of enemies.

Brucellosis Can Be Eliminated

Brucellosis can be licked. For proof just look at the trend in the number of reactors slaughtered last year.

In January 1,425 reactors were slaughtered. By July, the number slaughtered per month had dropped to 1,000. And in November only 425 reactors were slaughtered.

Now that the disease is on the run in Michigan, George Parsons, dairy specialist at Michigan State University, warns that the big job is to keep the disease out. He suggests the following steps: Get heifer calves vaccinated. Some areas are doing good but Parsons points out that there are a lot of future cows with no protection against the disease.

If you must buy cattle, make sure they are blood tested first. Parsons winds up with this thought: "The local auction market may be a good place to sell slaughter cattle. But it is not a good place to buy replacements for the dairy herd."

Free Zoning Bulletins Available

Michigan's communities are rapidly changing and it's up to residents to guide these changes in the directions they want. That's the advice offered by Louis A. Wolfanger, extension specialist in land use at Michigan State University.

Writing in two newly published extension folders, Wolfanger says that people can't stop the changes that are taking place in their local communities but they can guide them. Wolfanger urges that residents study Michigan's rural planning and zoning laws and learn how a community can work out a good blueprint for its development.

These two extension folders available at the county extension office can help county residents think about planned development, believes Alfred Ballweg, county extension director. One folder is called "What is Happening in Your Community." It describes the changes that are taking place in farm communities, suburban communities, lakes and river-side communities, unincorporated villages and northern Michigan rural communities.

"Rural Zoning in a Nutshell" is the second folder written by Wolfanger. In it he points out that any township or county is permitted by Michigan law to plan and zone its rural or unincorporated area. This includes that "fringe" area around the cities as well as the more outlying lands.

The Michigan State specialist states that zoning is not intended to exclude any legitimate or appropriate use of land or property. A good zoning ordinance, he says, tends more to "zone in" than "zone out" land uses—to invite in or encourage those for which a zoning district seems best suited.

Wolfanger compares zoning and land use planning to that of planning a house. Some space is set aside for certain family activities in the most appropriate and convenient fashion and likewise a township or county should arrange its land in a planned manner. Copies of both folders may be obtained from the Tuscola county extension office located at the courthouse, Caro.

lation of Hebrew and Greek. It's significant, too, that the King James translation was made in the Elizabethan era, the golden age of English literature. The King James version is a translation that is the evolution of about a century of translations, from that of William Tyndale in 1536 to 1611, the date of the King James version. Until a decade ago this was the translation commonly in use.

The Bible has had a great influence on the literature, art and music of the world. Milton, Michelangelo, Raphael and Mendelssohn were all inspired by the Bible. In modern times, Lincoln, Patrick Henry and William Jennings Bryan often quoted the Bible.

Our every day speech has many phrases taken from the Bible as "a drop in the bucket", "by the sweat of his brow" etc.

The Bible is really a library of 66 books written by more than 50 men from 1000 BC to 200 AD. In it can be found poetry, history, parables, teachings, drama, love stories. It appeals to the most learned and the most humble, and above all is the source of the Christian religion.

The revised standard version is very similar to the King James version, being revised only where modern English has changed the meaning and use of words or where further study has disclosed errors in translation or copying.

Seek To Protect Soil From Atomic Fallout

USDA Tests Ways To Remove Contamination

Radioactive contamination is being "harvested" on experimental areas at the USDA Beltsville, Md., research center.

USDA engineers and soil scientists are trying to find effective methods of removing radioactive fallout from agricultural land in case such removal becomes necessary in the future. Accidental contamination, and fallout from enemy atomic or hydrogen bombs, are potential dangers.

Test plots are sprayed with low concentrations of short-lived radioactive materials. Rays emitted by these isotopes are detectable yet far less lasting than the rays of strontium 90—an important isotope in the fallout from atomic and hydrogen bombs—which are capable of contaminating farm-lands for years.

Thus far, the scientists have evaluated several cultural practices. Soil treatments are being evaluated.

Tests to determine to what extent certain crop and land uses act as shields against soil contamination by fallout and as aids to effective removal of contamination have shown none of the methods completely prevented radioactive isotopes from reaching the soil.

Raking and removing heavy and medium mulch layers—the method that proved best—cleaned up near-research programs are in the planning stage.

Program in Carolinas To Eradicate Witchweed

An intensive effort to eradicate witchweed, a parasitic plant that attacks corn and some other crops is underway in the Carolinas.

This destructive foreign weed has invaded six counties of northeastern South Carolina and 12 adjoining counties in southeastern North Carolina. Farmers in the area are being asked to use or permit witchweed-killing practices on their land, beginning next spring. The cooperative eradication campaign will extend over some 75,000 acres of cultivated land and some 20,000 acres of uncultivated land on 3,404 farms in the 18 counties.

Eliminating witchweed from the Carolinas will protect farmers everywhere in the United States, particularly growers of corn, sorghum, and sugarcane, principal hosts of the parasite. These crops are worth $5 billion a year in this country.

Regulatory and research scientists of USDA and the cooperating States are convinced that now is the time to attack this pest, before it spreads to farm areas where its host crops are grown more intensively. Surveys in the Carolina and in other States have failed to reveal any infestation outside the 18-county area where witchweed is now confined.

Safe Tether

A discarded hay-rake tooth puts a spring in tether that absorbs shock when animal stretches the tether suddenly, and at the same time allows rotation around the stake without winding up. Tether stake is driven into ground through coiled portion of tooth, tether is secured through eye formed in other end.

Mich. Farm Income Below Average for United States

United States agriculture in 1958 enjoyed the highest income since 1953, but Michigan farmers as a group did not share fully in the rise, reports an agricultural economist at Michigan State University.

Lower milk prices, loss of outside income and higher production costs influenced Michigan farm income statistics which are analyzed by Dr. Dale E. Hathaway in the first issue of Michigan Economic Record, a publication of M. S. U.'s Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Sale of dairy products accounts for nearly 30 per cent of cash receipts from Michigan farming, Dr. Hathaway points out. And though the state dairy herd was the smallest (845,000 head) in over 20 years, a climbing milk production rate per cow increased 1958 output by 5.4 billion pounds over 1957, a two per cent gain.

"However, during 1958 the sales of fluid milk failed to increase in Michigan," the article relates, "perhaps because of continued high levels of unemployment in most major industrial centers in the state. As a result more of the milk had to be used as manufactured milk products such as cheese and ice cream which return a lower price to the producer. Beginning in April 1958, the price support level for manufactured dairy products was lower from the 1957 level.

"The difficulties of many dairy producers were added to by early weather conditions. Moisture conditions were generally inadequate throughout the state early in the growing season as a result of record low spring rainfall. While this did not reduce crop output generally, it did significantly reduce the early hay crop and resulted in poor early summer pasture conditions."

The 1958 Michigan parity ratio—a comparison of prices received by farmers to their farm production costs—was only about 76 as compared to 84 for the United States.

This difference, the author maintains, "reflects the heavy weight of fluid milk prices in Michigan compared to the U. S. It also explains why many Michigan farmers have not shared in the general optimism regarding 1958 farm income. At the end of the year items used in production averaged nearly 4 per cent higher in price than at the end of 1957.

"In addition to the reduction in fluid milk sales that were probably due in part at least to Michigan unemployment during 1958, farm families were hurt by the recession in another way. Many farm operators and their families depend upon non-farm employment to supplement farm income. However, during 1958 many of these families were forced to depend solely upon farm income as other job opportunities were limited by substantial industrial unemployment."

Dr. Hathaway points out that average statistics are deceiving and some Michigan farmers probably enjoyed their highest income from farming in years, if not in history.

"The producers of meat animals received their highest prices in nearly five years," he said. "This, together with large feed supplies and consequent low feed prices, resulted in good margins of profit.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where the U. S. Army and Navy is our biggest owners of fine grazing land. The Army has got three million acres and the Navy one hundred thousand acres. The Army has did away with the cavalry so I reckon they're holding on to that grazing land for retired Generals. I don't know what the Navy aims to do with theirs unless they're getting ready to retire battleships to pasture. It's a sight in this world, Mister Editor, some of the things them fellers in Washington git away with.

I think one of the things that's wrong with this country today is that this generation ain't got no whittlers left in it. Back when I was a boy a feller always carried his knife and whittled while he was thinking or making a deal. I recollect once when my grandfather bought a armchair at a auction sale that had one arm whittled plum off. It had come from a bank and folks set in it while they was dickering fer terms with the banker. I think the country would be better off if them Congressmen did a little whittling on that expensive furniture they got up there. A armchair now and then would cost the taxpayers less than three million acres of grazing land. We had a little social note come to light up at the country store Saturday night. Ed Doolittle and his wife is celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary next week. Ed said he told her he'd kill a nice fat calf fer the occasion but his old lady allowed as how she didn't see no reason fer killing a innocent calf fer a mistake they made 35 years ago.

Some of the fellers Saturday night was mighty worried about inflation and saying them Congressmen ought to do something about it. In my opinion, they don't know no more about it than the rest of us. The manufacturer blames it on labor and labor blames it on the manufacturer, and the retailer blames it on the wholesaler and the wholesaler blames it on Russia, which is where me and you and Congress come in and there ain't nothing left to do but enlarge the stadium and hope fer the best.

All I know about inflation is that I ain't no better off under it than I was before, in fact I ain't been no better off since I can remember, but it's my opinion that prices is going to stay high just as long as folks has got any money or credit left. If the folks in this country would follow my lead and git rid of their money, we'd git rid of high prices. What else we'd git rid of in the process, I ain't so shore.

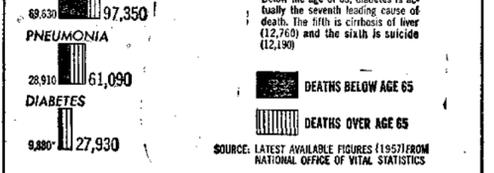

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

Camps for youths as the first major step in preventive criminology are being planned in Michigan.

They will not be for the boy who is already in trouble with the law, but for the neglected and aggressive lad who is a potential menace to society.

The idea came out of a committee on juvenile delinquency headed by Rep. Harry DeMaso (R-Battle Creek) which held a series of hearings on the subject last summer.

At the start of the 1959 legislative session, Rep. E. D. O'Brien (D-Detroit) introduced the measure to set up a pilot camp for 60 youths.

The pattern is taken from the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) program of the depression era when young men found themselves with time on their hands and no jobs.

Changed slightly to fit the needs of modern youths, the camps would be for those whom probate judges feel should have a change of environment before their existing circumstances cause them trouble.

Other plans of the DeMaso committee include a "family court" to gather together all the social problems of a family for solution together.

inmates on welfare rolls. This total cost will almost double by 1970 unless the system of preventive penology is altered in Michigan, the council said.

Washington reports indicate that Senator Philip A. Hart is going to be independent of the Democratic majority leadership.

One report told of Senator Hart getting a private and friendly lecture from a veteran in the Senate, to the effect that freshman lawmakers can make or break themselves easily.

"Don't count on me," Hart was quoted as replying.

Hart showed a little of his independent streak in Michigan when, as a protégé of Gov. Williams, he served two terms as lieutenant governor.

There was some talk of dissent during his last two years.

State park fees will be proposed again in the 1959 legislature.

Gov. Williams vetoed a $2 a year park fee once because, he said, the $1,500,000 estimated yield was intended by the Republican legislature to erase the need for additional appropriations.

State parks got nothing for expansion, improvement and additional land acquisition.

Legislators say the plan this year will be a $2 sticker for a full season, or 25 cents a day for those who do not want to pay the price for the full tag.

Some people think it is silly to put off until tomorrow the things they can get others to do for them today.

Is steak your family's favorite meat?

There is a good reason for steak being expensive. A live steer which weighs about 1,000 pounds will yield about 590 pounds of edible retail cuts. Of this 590 pounds, the porterhouse section weighs about 37 pounds and the rib steaks approximately 20 pounds. There remains, therefore, 533 pounds of the less favorite and less tender cuts which must be sold.

One of these less tender cuts is the chuck. Chucks are sold as blade or arm roasts and are generally cooked with moist heat. Yet, you can have broiled steak from part of a chuck roast.

The blade chuck is cut from the part of the shoulder next to the ribs. Many butchers have the sixth and seventh ribs in this chuck portion. These ribs contain the tender muscle which makes the porterhouse and rib steaks and roasts such favorites.

If your butcher has blade chuck roast with the sixth and seventh ribs remaining, he will cut the roast and remove the tender eye muscle which can be broiled. The remaining portion can be a roast and the trimmings ground. The ground meat will usually have enough fat so it would be better to use as a base for a casserole dish.

A four to five pound chuck roast cut and trimmed in this manner will provide a roast which will weigh about 3 1/2 pounds, the portion for broiling will weigh about 1 1/4 pounds, the trimmings about 3/4 pound and the bone which will weigh about 1/2 pound, and is good cooked for stock base for homemade vegetable soup.

The cost of the meat per pound after being boned will average about 52c if the original price has been around 47c. In contrast, porterhouse will range from $1.09 to $1.29 per pound.

One suggestion I would like to make - do not overcook any meat. Overcooking dries the meat out, causes more shrinkage and destroys some of the fine meat flavor.

Pork will also be a good buy since the 1958 fall pig crop is up an expected 14 per cent.

If you purchase a whole loin, your butcher will cut it to suit your needs such as roasts, thin or thick chops.

Another food item that is in heavy supply is fats and oils, and there will be specials for them during the rest of the winter.

Lard is all fat and that is why it gives plenty of shortening power. That is the reason why your pie crust and biscuits are so flaky and tender when you make them with lard.

Whether you store the fats and oils in the refrigerator or in the cupboard, be sure to keep them covered, because fats and oils are "collectors" of flavors and odors of foods that are near them. Then when you use them for cooking, the cooked food will have those flavors picked up by the fat. Another reason for keeping fats and oils covered is this, light hurries fats in getting stale. So, covered and dark is a good way to store fats.

Brilliant Silks
Add Exciting Color
To New Fashions

THE GLITTER and gaiety of the new fashions will gain momentum because of the brilliantly-colored silks that decorate the scene. New dress-up clothes take their cue from a wealth of exotic prints, interestingly-woven textures and clear vivid colors that only silk affords.

Dress designers have matched wits with fabric creators to create a fabulous merger of exciting silhouettes and colorful, luxurious silk fabrics.

Loading off a gala parade of new silks on the fashion scene are the big-spaced prints which remind you of the bold Poirat prints of the 20's or a Roualt painting. They appear actively in the new silhouette, high-waisted, full-flowing or even the short-rounded ones.

Chiffons, Satins
 Chiffons will flutter or ripple at the hemline while floral silk tafetas will bell, bubble or balloon at the knees. Some chiffons are softly textured with a crinkle effect while many prints are vividly stylized in a riot of pink and aqua.

A separate back panel adds grace and movement to an afternoon dress of shimmering Paisley-printed silk crepe. It features a high draped bodice, marked by a wide cummerbund from which falls a flatteringly-curved slim skirt.

flowers, royal blue or tangerine brush prints and other dramatic contrasts.

Silk satin provides a gleaming accent especially when combined with sheers or laces in the form of brief jackets, capes, wide cummerbunds or sashes.

Beads, paillettes or sequins adorn many of the dressed-up dresses. Look also for back panels to create a romantic, windblown effect to give grace and movement to many a dress.

Roses are popular as a print on many of the dresses, especially the large roses done with big spaces.

Pastel silk organdies are used by some designers for the young with delicate all-over embroideries and huge lantern sleeves.

Turkey Provides Leftover Treats

There's nothing so wonderful as having some turkey leftover from your big dinner. These two delectable recipes will prove it, if you need such proof. In the absence of turkey, from your own roast, you might use the already canned product for a quick and easy dinner.

Turkey Thermidor (Serves 5-6)

- 1 small onion
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups light cream
- 2 cups light cooked turkey
- 1 (2 1/2-ounce) can mushrooms
- 1 cup sharp grated American cheese
- 1 large avocado

Chop onion fine and cook slowly in butter until transparent. Blend in flour and salt. Stir in cream and stir until mixture cooks and thickens. Blend in turkey and mushrooms. Stir in half the cheese. Turn into shallow baking dish. Cut avocado in halves and remove seed and skin. Slice it over the top of the casserole and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in a slow (300°F.) oven 5 to 10 minutes or until cheese melts. Serve at once.

Turkey and Noodles Supreme (Serves 6-8)

- 3/4 cup ripe olives
- 8 ounces noodles
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup thinly sliced celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1 cup grated American cheese
- 1 1/2 cups diced turkey

Cut olives in large pieces. Cook noodles in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Melt butter, add celery and onion and cook slowly 10 minutes. Blend in flour. Add milk, salt and cook and stir until thickened. Blend in cheese, turkey, olives and drained noodles. Cook slowly until heated through.

Homemade Breads Satisfy Appetites On Coldest Days

WHEN children come bounding home from school on cold days, they can be well satisfied with fruit and nut breads made at home. These quick breads satisfy the sweet tooth, and yet are not as sweet as some other foods like cookies, cake or candy.

Use these breads, also, for sandwiches to give variety to the lunch box.

- Cherry Fruit Loaf (Makes 1 9x5x3 loaf) 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour 1/2 cup sugar 3 teaspoons baking powder 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup shortening 1 egg 1 cup milk 2 teaspoons lemon extract 1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries 1/4 cup candied fruit 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Combine egg, milk and lemon extract; mix well. Beat egg mixture into flour mixture. Fold in cherries, mixed candied fruit and lemon rind. Turn into greased loaf pan (9x5x3-inch). Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for about 70 minutes.

Date-Nut Bread (Makes 1-pound loaf) 1 egg, beaten 1 cup buttermilk 1/2 cup brown sugar 1 cup sifted flour 1 teaspoon soda 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup oats, quick or old-fashioned 1 cup chopped dates 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine egg and buttermilk; add sugar. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Add all at once to egg mixture. Add rolled oats, dates and nuts, stirring only enough to combine. Fold in melted shortening. Bake in a greased paper-lined loaf pan in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 50 to 60 minutes. Store in bread box for one day for easier slicing.

How To Have Fun Using Cosmetics Leave the dishes in the sink. Let the dust fall where it may. You can clean those things later and much better, believe it, after your morale has been restored.

If you think that the only thing that will restore your morale is a cruise in warm sunny oceans, you're wrong. You can have a wonderful time right at your dressing table. Bring out all your cosmetics, settle in front of a mirror, and make up your face as though you were a professional model.

Prepare the Skin Skin should be freshly scrubbed. That in itself will give you a wonderful lift and may even induce you to do it several times a day. Dab tinted liquid make-up on forehead, nose, cheeks and chin. Blend it with the fingers until evenly distributed.

Apply compressed powder in a shade that matches the liquid make-up. Pat it on with puff or cotton balls and apply generously. This is the best way to get coverage. The subsequent wiping off of excess will leave you looking more natural.

Have some ice cubes and water? Soak a folded tissue or cotton pad in this and tap the skin briskly with it to set the make-up. Do this lightly and don't pound so enthusiastically so you're left with a wet face. The face should be moist rather than damp and dry in a few seconds.

Eye-brow Magic Have some brown eye-brow pencil? Draw a dot about the size of a small fingernail on each cheek! Pull the mouth down to an O and blend the pencil into the hollowed area with the fingertips. Keep blending until it almost disappears and becomes what would pass as a natural shadow, with the light of the lamp behind you.

The above is a trick used by models to slim down a plump face and give it the hollow hungry look which appears to go with high fashion.
